Whom the king of Babylon roasted in the fire!

With brief Allusions to Israel's Sin and Punishment are given glowing Promises of her Deliverance, Healing, Return, and Permanent Rest, the Appearance of her Illustrious Ruler, the Inclusion of Samaria and Ephraim, the Consoling of Weeping Rachel, and finally a Refrain of Coming Days when there shall be a re-sowing of both Israel and Judah with Men; and a making, with both, a New Covenant, which, even in its outward Provisions, is confirmed by reference to the Stability of the Ordinances of Heaven.*

God of Israel, saying,—

Write thee all the words which I have spoken unto thee, in a scroll;

<sup>3</sup> For lo! [days are coming],

Declareth Yahweh,

when I will turn the captivity of my people Israel and Judah,

Saith Yahweh,—

and will bring them back into the land which I gave to their fathers, that they might possess it.

<A voice of trembling> have we heard,
Dread, and not welfare!

<sup>6</sup> Ask, I pray you, and see, whether a male [travailleth with child]!

Why' have I seen

Every man with his hands upon his loins, like a woman in travail, and Every face turned into ghastliness?

<sup>7</sup> Alas! for ||great|| is that day, so that none is like it,*—

Yea [a time of anguish] it is' for Jacob,
But <out of it> shall he be saved.

<sup>8</sup> And it shall come to pass, in that day,

Declareth Yahweh of hosts,

That I will break his yoke from off thy neck,

And <thy bonds> will I tear off,—

And foreigners [shall use him as a slave no more];

<sup>9</sup> But they shall serve Yahweh their God,—and David their king, whom I will raise up unto them.

<sup>10</sup> ||Thou|| therefore, do not fear, O my Servant Jacob, Urgeth Yahweh,

Neither be thou dismayed, O Israel,

For behold me! saving thee from afar,

And thy seed out of the land of their captivity,—

Then shall Jacob return, and rest<sup>b</sup> and be quiet,

And there shall be none to make him afraid;

<sup>11</sup> For <with thee> am I,

Declareth Yahweh,

To save thee,—

<Though I make an end of all the nations whither I have scattered thee><sup>c</sup>

Yet' will I not <of thee> make an end,

But will chastise thee in measure, not holding thee ||guiltless||!<sup>d</sup>

<Healing bandages> hast thou none:

<sup>14</sup> ||All thy lovers|| have forgotten thee,

<Thyself> do they not seek,—

For <With the wounding of an enemy> have I wounded thee.

[With the correction of one who is cruel],

Because of the abounding of [thine iniquity], [Because] numerous' have been thy sins.

§ 26. When requested by King Zedekiah to say why he had been prophesying against Jerusalem and the King, Jeremiah narrates how he had, under Divine Guidance, redeemed his Family's Property at Anathoth: this enables him to return to his Royal Questioner a circumstantial though indirect Reply.

Yahweh, in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah,—[the same] was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar; <sup>2</sup> and [then] [the forces of the king of Babylon] were besieging Jerusalem, —and [Jeremiah the prophet] had been shut up in the guard-court, which was in the house of the king of Judah; <sup>3</sup> whom Zedekiah king of Judah [had shut up], saying,—

Why<sup>4</sup> art thou<sup>5</sup> prophesying, saying,—

[Thus] saith Yahweh,

Behold me! giving up this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall capture it; <sup>4</sup> and [Zedekiah king of Judah] shall not be delivered out of the hand of the Chaldeans,—for he shall be [wholly given up] into the hand of the king of Babylon, and shall speak—the mouth of the one to the mouth of the other, and the eyes of the one <into the eyes of the other> shall look; <sup>5</sup> and <into Babylon> shall he lead Zedekiah, and [there] shall he remain, until<sup>6</sup> I visit him. Declareth Yahweh,— <though ye fight with the Chaldeans> ye shall not prosper?

The word of Yahweh came<sup>7</sup> unto me, saying:

hath come unto thee, saying,—

Buy thee my field that is in Anathoth, for [thine] is the right of redemption,
to buy it.

<sup>8</sup> So Hanameel son of mine uncle [came unto me], according to the word of Yahweh, into the guard-court, and said unto me.

Buy, I pray thee, my field that is in Anathoth, which is in the land of inheritance, and [thine] the redemp-xxiii. 4.

So I knew that <the word of Yahweh> it was'.<sup>a</sup> And I bought the field from Hanameel son of mine uncle, that was in Anathoth,—and weighed him the silver, <seventeen shekels> was the silver;
 10 and I wrote in the scroll, and sealed it, and took in attestation [witnesses],—and weighed the silver in the balances.
 11 Then took I the scroll of purchase, both that which was sealed—the title and the conditions—and that which was open;<sup>12</sup> and gave the scroll of purchase unto Baruch son of Neriah<sup>a</sup> son of Mahseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine uncle[s] son,<sup>b</sup> and in the sight of the witnesses, who subscribed<sup>c</sup> the scroll of purchase,—in<sup>d</sup> the sight of all the Jews, who were sitting in the guard-court.
 13 Then charged I Baruch, in their sight, saying:

14 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,

Take thou these scrolls, this scroll of purchase, even that which is sealed, and this scroll that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel,—that they may remain many days.

15 For
 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel:

||Again|| shall houses and fields and vineyards, be bought, in this land.

16 Then prayed I unto Yahweh,—after I had delivered the scroll of purchase, unto Baruch son of Neriah, saying:—

17 Alas! My Lord, Yahweh!

Lo! ||thou thyself|| didst make the heavens, and the earth, by thy great might, and by thine outstretched arm,—

There is [nothing] ||too wonderful for thee||:

22 And didst give unto them this land, which thou hadst sworn to their fathers to give unto them,—a land flowing with milk and honey;

23 And they came in and took possession of it, But hearkened not unto thy voice, Nor <in thy law><sup>a</sup> did they walk, <Nought of what thou hadst commanded them to do> did they do,— And so thou hast caused to befall them, [all this calamity].

24 Lo! the earthworks! they have entered the city, to capture it, And ||the city|| hath been given into the hand of the Chaldeans, who are fighting against it, because of the sword and the famine and the pestilence,—

Shall set this city on fire, and 16-25), but took in as well the answer of Yahweh (verses 27-44): in which case it is easy to conclude that the pronoun "me" must have originally appeared (in verse 26) where "Jeremiah" now stands; and where "me" still stands in Sep. and Vul.

Declareth Yahweh;

31 For <According to mine anger, and According to mine indignation> hath been to me this city, from the day when they built it, even unto this day,—that I should pull it down from before my face: <sup>32</sup> because of all the wickedness of the sons of Israel and the sons of Judah, which they have done to provoke me to anger, ||they, their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem||:

33 Thus have they turned unto me the back, and not the face,—

Causing |Judah| to sin!

36 Now therefore|| <because of this>—

||Thus|| saith Yahweh, God of Israel,—

Concerning this city, whereof ye' are saying, It hath been delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, by sword, and by famine, and by pestilence:

37 Behold me! gathering them out of all the lands, whither I have driven them—

In mine anger, and

In mine indignation, and

In great vexation,—

And I will cause them to return into this place,

And will make them dwell |securely|;

38 And they shall become my' people,—

And ||I|| will become their God;

39 And I will give them one heart, and one way,

That they may revere |me|, all the days,—

For the good of them, and of their children after' them;

40 And I will solemnise to them, an age-abiding covenant,

That I will not turn away from following them, to do them good,—

But <the reverence of myself> will I put in their heart, so that they shall not turn away from me.

41 And I will rejoice over them, to do them good,—

And will plant them in this land, |in truth|, ||with all my heart, and with all my soul||.

42 For ||Thus|| saith Yahweh, <Like as I have brought upon this people' all this great calamity>

||So|| am I' bringing upon them all the good that I' am speaking concerning them.

43 Therefore shall fields be bought in this land,—whereof ye' are saying,

It is ||a desolation||,

Without man or beast,

It hath been given into the hand of the Chaldeans:

44 <Fields—for silver> shall men buy,

And write in scrolls,

And seal them,

And take in attestation ||witnesses||,

In the land of Benjamin, and

In the places round about Jerusalem, and

In the cities of Judah, and

In the cities of the hill country, and

In the cities of the lowland, and

In the cities of the South,—

For I will cause them of their captivity to return, Declareth Yahweh.

§ 27. More Consolation through the Imprisoned Prophet: Promises (with striking Change of Refrain) directed to both Israel and Judah, concerning David's Righteous Offspring, and concerning the Fulfilment of both the Davidic and Levitical Covenants—confirmed by the Covenant of Day and Night.

1 And the word of Yahweh came unto 33 Jeremiah, the second time, when he' was yet' imprisoned in the guard-court, saying:

2 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh, who doeth it,— |Yahweh|,<sup>a</sup> who fashioneth it, to establish it,

||Yahweh|| is his name:

3 Call unto me, that I may answer thee,—and tell thee things great and inaccessible, which thou hast not known.

Concerning the houses of this city, and concerning the houses of the kings of Judah,—which are thrown down against the earthworks and against the sword:

Them of the captivity of Judah, and
Them of the captivity of Israel,—
And I will build them, [as at the first];

§ 28. Two further Messages to King Zedekiah—the Latter based upon the Breach of Covenant by Princes and People as to letting their Bond-servants go free. The Solemnity of Covenanting portrayed.

34 1 The word which came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh, — when Nebuchadnezzar* king of Babylon and all his force and all the kingdoms of the earth the dominion of his hand, and all the peoples, were fighting<sup>b</sup> against Jerusalem and against all her cities, saying:

2 ¶Thus saith Yahweh
God of Israel,

Go and speak unto Zedekiah, king of Judah, —and say unto him—

¶Thus saith Yahweh,
Behold me! giving this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he will burn it with fire;

3 And <thou> shalt not escape out of his hand,
For thou shalt be <taken>,
And <into his hand> shalt thou be delivered,—

And <thine own eyes> <into the eyes of the king of Babylon> shall look,
And <his mouth> <with thy mouth> shall speak.

And <Babylon> shalt thou enter.

4 <Nevertheless> hear the word of Yahweh,
O Zedekiah, king of Judah,—

¶Thus saith Yahweh,
Concerning thee,

Thou shalt not die by the sword;

5 <In peace> shalt thou die.
And <with> the burnings made for thy fathers, the former kings who were before thee> <so> shall they make a burning unto thee,

And <with an Alas lord! shall they lament thee,—

Because of the word <I> have spoken,
Declareth Yahweh.

6 Then spake Jeremiah the prophet, unto Zedekiah king of Judah, all these words, in Jerusalem; 7 when <the force of the king of Babylon> was fighting<sup>a</sup> against Jerusalem, and against all the cities of Judah that were left,— against Lachish and against Azekah, for <they> remained among the cities of Judah, as fortified' cities.

8 The word which came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh, — <after that King Zedekiah had solemnised a covenant with all the people who were in Jerusalem, proclaiming unto them <liberty>: 9 that every man should let his servant and every man his handmaid, <being a Hebrew or a Hebrewess> <go free>,—so that no man should use them as slaves<sup>b</sup> <to wit a Jew his brother>; 10 so then they hearkened—even all the princes and all the people who had entered into the covenant, that every man should let his servant and every man his handmaid <go free>, so as not to use them as slaves<sup>b</sup> <any longer>,—yea they hearkened, and let them go, 11 howbeit they turned, after that, and brought back the servants and the handmaids whom they had let go <free>, and brought them into subjection as servants and as handmaids> 12 So then the word of Yahweh came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh, saying:

13 ¶Thus saith Yahweh,
God of Israel,—

<I myself> solemnised a covenant with your fathers, in the day when I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slaves, saying:

14 <At the end of seven years> shall ye let go, every man his brother, <being a Hebrew>, who shall sell himself unto thee, and serve thee <six years>, then shalt thou let him go <free> from thee.
Howbeit your fathers hearkened not unto me, neither inclined their ear.

15 And <though <ye> just now turned, and did that which was right in mine eyes, by proclaiming liberty, every man to his neighbour,—and solemnised a covenant <before me>, in the house on which my Name hath been called> 16 yet have ye turned and profaned my Name, and brought back, every man his servant, and every man his handmaid, whom ye had let go <free>, <at their own desire>,—and have brought them into subjection, to become your servants and handmaids. 17 <Therefore>—

¶Thus saith Yahweh,

<Ye> have not hearkened unto me, in proclaiming liberty, every man to his brother and every man to his neighbour:

Behold me! proclaiming <to you> .

- <sup>21</sup> <Zedekiah king of Judah also, with his princes> will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them who are seeking their life,<sup>b</sup>—even into the hand of the force of the king of Babylon, who are going up from you. <sup>22</sup> Behold me! giving command. Declareth Yahweh, and I will bring them back unto this city, and they will fight against it, and capture it, and consume it with fire,—and <the cities of Judah> will I make too desolate to have an inhabitant.<sup>c</sup>

§ 29. The Rechabites. Their Persistent Obedience to their father Jonadab used for reproving Judah and Jerusalem, and as a ground of Promise to themselves.

- 35 <sup>1</sup> The word which came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh,—in the days of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, saying:

We will not drink wine,—for ||Jonadab son of Rechab, our father|| laid command upon us, saying,

Ye shall not drink wine, ||ye, nor your sons||, unto times age-abiding; <sup>7</sup> nor <house> shall ye build, nor ||seed|| shall ye sow, nor <vineyard> shall ye plant, neither shall ye have<sup>h</sup> them, —but <in tents> shall ye dwell, all your days, that ye may live many days, on the face of the soil<sup>i</sup> where ye are sojourning.

- <sup>8</sup> So we have hearkened unto the voice of Jonadab<sup>a</sup> son of Rechab, our father, in all that he commanded us,—not to drink wine<sup>j</sup> all our days, ||we, our wives, our sons, nor our daughters||; <sup>9</sup> and not to build houses for us to dwell in,—and so <vineyard or field or seed> have we none; <sup>10</sup> but we have dwelt in tents,—and have hearkened and done, according to all that Jonadab our father commanded<sup>k</sup> us. <sup>11</sup> And so it came to pass, when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came up into the land, that we said,—

Let us ||even enter|| Jerusalem, because of the force of the Chaldeans and because of the force of the Syrians:

So have we dwelt in Jerusalem.

- <sup>12</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jeremiah, saying:

<sup>13</sup> ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,

Go and say to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem,—

Will ye not receive correction, by hearkening unto my words? Demandeth Yahweh:

- <sup>14</sup> Confirmed<sup>l</sup> are the words of Jonadab<sup>a</sup> son of Rechab—which he commanded his sons, that they should not drink |wine|, and they have not drunk, until this day, for they have hearkened unto the command of their father.

But ||I|| have spoken unto you, |betimes| speaking, and ye have not hearkened |unto me|.

- <sup>15</sup> And I sent unto you all my servants the prophets, |betimes| sending, saying,

Return, I pray you—every man from his wicked<sup>m</sup> way.

And amend your doings.

And do not go after other<sup>n</sup> gods to serve them,

So shall ye remain on the soil, which I gave to you, and to your fathers,—

but ye have not inclined your ear, nor hearkened |unto me|.

- <sup>16</sup> <Because the sons of Jonadab<sup>a</sup> son of Rechab have |confirmed| the commandment of their father, which he commanded them,—whereas ||this people|| have not hearkened |unto me|>

- <sup>17</sup> |Therefore|

||Thus|| saith Yahweh, God of hosts, God of Israel, Behold me! bringing in against Judah, and against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, all the calamity, which I have spoken concerning them,—

Because I spake unto them, and they did not hearken,

And I called to them, and they did not answer.

<sup>18</sup> But <to the house of the Rechabites> said Jeremiah:

||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,
God of Israel,

<Because ye have hearkened unto the commandment of Jonadab<sup>a</sup> your father, and have kept all his commandments, and done<sup>e</sup> according to all that he commanded you>

||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,
God of Israel,—

Jonadab son of Rechab shall not want one to stand before me, [all the days]!

§ 30. By Divine Command, Jeremiah, through Baruch, writes in a Scroll all the Words he has hitherto spoken concerning Israel, Judah and the Nations; after which Baruch reads the Scroll first to all the People, then to the Princes; next, Jehudi begins to read it to King Jehoiakim, who, having heard a Portion, angrily cuts up the Scroll and consumes it in the Fire; for which he is denounced by Yahweh, and the Scroll is rewritten—with Additions.

from the day I began to speak unto thee, from the days of Josiah, even until this day:

<sup>3</sup> |Peradventure| the house of Judah will hearken unto all the calamity, which I am devising to execute against them,—to the end they may return, every man from his wicked<sup>c</sup> way, whereupon I will forgive their iniquity, and their sin.

||I|| am hindered, I cannot<sup>f</sup> enter the house of Yahweh;

<sup>6</sup> ||Thou|| therefore shalt enter, and read in the roll which thou hast written from my mouth, the words of Yahweh, in the ears of the people, in the house of Yahweh, on the day of a fast,— moreover also <in the ears of all Judah who are coming in out of their cities> shalt thou read them:

<sup>8</sup> So then Baruch son of Neriah did<sup>i</sup> according to all which Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of Yahweh, in the house of Yahweh. <sup>9</sup> And it came to pass in the fifth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, in the ninth month, that all the people of Jerusalem, and all the people who were coming in out of the cities of Judah, into Jerusalem, [had proclaimed a fast before Yahweh]; <sup>10</sup> Baruch, therefore, read in the book, the words of Jeremiah, in the house of Yahweh,—in the chamber of Gemariah son of Shaphan—the scribe, in the upper court, at the opening of the new gate of the house of Yahweh, in the ears of all the people.

So Baruch son of Neriah<sup>o</sup> took<sup>p</sup> the roll in his hand, and came in unto them. <sup>15</sup> Then said they unto him, <sup>16</sup> Sit down, we pray thee, and read it in our ears.

So Baruch read<sup>q</sup> it in their ears. <sup>17</sup> And it came to pass <when they heard all the<sup>r</sup> words> that they turned with fear one to another,—and said unto Baruch,

We must ||surely tell|| the king, all these words!

Tell us, we pray thee, |How| didst thou write all these words at his mouth?

<With his own mouth> used he to proclaim unto me<sup>t</sup> all these words,—and I kept on writing in the book, |with ink|.<sup>u</sup>

Go hide thee, [thou and Jeremiah], and let [no man] know where ye [are]!

<sup>20</sup> Then went they in unto the king, into the court, but <the roll> had they put in charge, in the chamber of Elishama the scribe,—so they declared, in the ears of the king all the words. <sup>21</sup> [The king], therefore, sent [Jehudi], to fetch the roll, and he fetched it out of the chamber of Elishama the scribe,—and Jehudi read' it in the ears of the king, and in the ears of all the princes, who were standing near the king.

<sup>22</sup> Now [the king] was sitting in the winter house, in the ninth' month,—[with the fire-stove before him burning]. <sup>23</sup> So then it came to pass <when Jehudi had read three or four columns, that he cut it up into fragments with a scribe's knife, and cast them into the fire that was in the stove,—until [all the roll] was consumed on the fire that was on the stove. <sup>24</sup> Yet were they not in dread, neither rent they their garments,—[the king, nor any of his servants that were hearing all these words]. <sup>25</sup> [Nevertheless] [Elnathan and Delaiah and Gemariah] interceded with the king, not to burn the roll,—but he hearkened not unto them.

<sup>26</sup> Then did the king command Jerahmeel son of the king, and Seraiah son of Azriel, and Shelemiah son of Abdeel, to fetch Baruch the scribe, and Jeremiah the prophet,—but Yahweh had hid' them.

<sup>27</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jeremiah,—after the king had burned the roll, and the words which Baruch had written from the mouth of Jeremiah, saying:

<sup>28</sup> [Again] take thee another' roll, and write thereon, all the former' words which were on the first roll, which Jehoiakim king of Judah hath burned.

<sup>29</sup> But <unto Jehoiakim king of Judah> shalt thou say,

[Thus] saith Yahweh,— [Thou] hast burned this roll, saying,
Why' hast thou written thereon—saying,
The king of Babylon shall [certainly come] and lay waste this land, and cause to cease therefrom, man and beast?

[Thus] saith Yahweh
Concerning Jehoiakim king of Judah,—
He shall have none to sit upon the throne of David,—

And [his dead body] shall be cast out—to the heat by day, and to the frost by night;

<sup>31</sup> And I will visit upon him' and upon his seed' and upon his servants' the punishment of their iniquity,—and will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and against* the men of Judah, all the calamity, which I have spoken against them, but they have not hearkened.

<sup>32</sup> So [Jeremiah] took another roll' and gave it unto Baruch son of Neriah, the scribe, who wrote thereon, from the mouth of Jeremiah' all the words of the book, which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned' in the fire,—and further' were added thereunto, many words [like unto them].

§ 31. *King Zedekiah, at the Beginning of his Reign, asks for Jeremiah's Prayers; and, in answer, is warned not to count on Nebuchadrezzar's permanent Departure from Jerusalem. During a temporary Withdrawal of the Chaldeans, Jeremiah is caught going out to Anathoth, falsely accused, smitten, and cast into Prison.
The King, secretly consulting the Prophet, reduces his sentence to Confinement in the Guard-court, appointing him a Cake per Day while Bread lasted in the City.*

instead of Coniah son of Jehoiakim, whom Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon [made king] in the land of Judah. <sup>2</sup> But neither he, nor his servants, nor the people of the land, had hearkened' unto the words of Yahweh, which he had spoken' through' Jeremiah the prophet. <sup>3</sup> And King Zedekiah sent

Jehucal son of Shelemiah,* and Zephaniah son of Maaseiah the priest, unto Jeremiah the prophet, saying,—

Pray thou, I beseech thee, in our behalf, unto Yahweh, our God.

<sup>4</sup> Now [Jeremiah] was coming in and going out in the midst of the people, for they had not put him into prison. <sup>5</sup> And [the force of Pharaoh] had come forth out of Egypt,—and <when the Chaldeans who were besieging Jerusalem heard the tidings of them> they went up from Jerusalem. <sup>6</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jeremiah the prophet, saying:

[Thus] saith Yahweh,
God of Israel,

[Thus] shall ye say unto the king of Judah, who sent you unto me to enquire of me,—

Lo! [the force of Pharaoh, which is coming out to you to help] is about to return to its own land, [to Egypt];

<sup>8</sup> Then will the Chaldeans come back, and fight

For <though ye had smitten all the force of the Chaldeans who are fighting with you, and there had remained of them only desperately wounded' men> yet <every man in his tent> should have arisen and burnt this city [with fire].

Now it came to pass <when the army of the Chaldeans [had gone up] from Jerusalem,—because of the force of Pharaoh> <sup>12</sup> then went forth Jeremiah out of Jerusalem, to go into the land of Benjamin,—to receive a portion from thence in the midst of the people. <sup>13</sup> And so it came to pass

<he' being in the gate of Benjamin, and there being there' a ward-master whose name was Irijah son of Shelemiah son of Hananiah> that he seized Jeremiah the prophet, saying, <Unto the Chaldeans> art thou' falling away!

<sup>14</sup> Then said Jeremiah,

False! I am not falling away unto the Chaldeans!

Howbeit he hearkened not unto him,—so Irijah seized Jeremiah, and brought him in unto the princes. <sup>15</sup> Then were the princes wroth' against Jeremiah, and smote him,—and put him in prison, in the house of Jonathan the scribe, for <that> had they made the prison. <sup>16</sup> <When

Jeremiah had entered into the dungeon-house and into the cells, and Jeremiah [had remained there] many days> <sup>17</sup> then sent King Zedekiah—and fetched him, and the king [asked him], in his own house, [secretly], and said,—

Is' there a word from Yahweh?

And Jeremiah said,—

There is, for (said he),

<Into the hand of the king of Babylon> shalt thou be delivered!

What sin have I committed against thee, or against thy servants, or against this people, that ye have delivered me' up into prison?

<sup>19</sup> [Where], then, are your prophets, who prophesied unto you, saying,—

The king of Babylon [shall not come] against you, nor against this land?

Let my supplication, I pray thee, fall prostrate before thee, and do not cause me to return unto the house of Jonathan the scribe, lest I die there!

<sup>21</sup> Then King Zedekiah gave command, and they committed Jeremiah into the guard-court, and [said] that there should be given him a cake of bread daily, out of the bakers' street, until all the bread out of the city [should be spent]. So Jeremiah remained' in the guard-court.

<sup>1</sup> And <when Shephatiah son of Mattan, and Gedaliah son of Pashhur, and Jucal son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur son of Malchiah, heard' the words which Jeremiah' was speaking unto all the people, saying:

[He that remaineth in this city] shall die, by sword, by famine, or by pestilence,—whereas [he that goeth forth* unto the Chaldeans] shall live, so shall he have his life<sup>b</sup> for a spoil, [and shall live].

This city shall [surely be given] into the hand of the force of the king of Babylon, and he shall capture it>

<sup>4</sup> Then said the princes unto the king,—

Let this man, we pray thee, [be put to death], for <in this way> is he' weakening the hands of the men of war who are left in this city, and the hands of all the people, by speaking unto them' such words as these; for [this man] is not' seeking [prosperity] for this people, but [misfortune].

<sup>5</sup> Then said King Zedekiah,—

Lo! he' is in your hand; for [the king] is not' one who is able to do anything' against' you.

<sup>6</sup> Then took they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon<sup>c</sup> of Malchiah<sup>d</sup> son of the king, which was in the guard-court, and they let Jeremiah down with ropes,—now <in the dungeon> was no' water, [only mire], so Jeremiah sank' in the mire.

<sup>9</sup> My lord, O King! wickedly' have these men done all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, whom indeed they have cast into the dungeon,—since he would have died where he was, because of the famine, for there is no' bread any longer' [in the city].

Take with thee<sup>a</sup> from hence, thirty men, and lift Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon, before he die.

Put, I pray thee, the pieces of cast-off clothes and the old rags, under thine arm-joints, under the ropes.

And Jeremiah did<sup>c</sup> so. <sup>13</sup> Then drew they Jeremiah, with the ropes, and lifted him up out of the dungeon,—and Jeremiah remained in the guard-court.

I am going to ask thee a thing, do not hide anything<sup>g</sup> from me.

<sup>15</sup> Then said Jeremiah unto Zedekiah, <When I tell thee> wilt thou not surely put me to death<sup>h</sup>?

And <when I counsel thee> thou wilt not hearken unto me.

<By the life of Yahweh, who made for us, this soul><sup>i</sup>

I will in no wise put thee to death, Neither will I deliver thee into the hand of these men, who are seeking thy life.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>17</sup> Then said Jeremiah unto Zedekiah—

||Thus|| saith Yahweh,

God<sup>k</sup> of hosts, God of Israel—

<If thou wilt ||indeed go forth|| unto the princes of the king of Babylon> then shall thine own soul live, and ||this city|| shall not be burned with fire,—but thou shalt live, ||thou, and thy house||.

<sup>18</sup> But <if thou wilt not go forth unto the princes of the king of Babylon> then shall this city be delivered into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they shall burn it with fire, and ||thou|| shalt not escape out of their hand.

<sup>19</sup> Then said King Zedekiah, unto Jeremiah:

I am afraid of the Jews, who have fallen away unto the Chaldeans, lest they deliver [me] into their hand, and they maltreat me.

They shall not deliver!<sup>l</sup>—

Hearken, I pray thee, unto the voice of Yahweh, in what I am speaking unto thee, that it may be well with thee, and thy soul live<sup>m</sup>.

The men thou wast wont to salute<sup>o</sup> |have goaded thee on, and prevailed upon thee|,—

<Thy foot<sup>b</sup> |having sunk in the mire|> they have turned away |back|.

Do not let ||any man|| know of these words, and thou shalt not die.

<sup>25</sup> But <when the princes hear<sup>q</sup> that I have spoken with thee, and they come in unto thee and say unto thee—

Do tell us, we pray thee, what thou didst speak unto the king, do not hide it from us, so will we not put thee to death,—and what spake ||the king|| unto |thee|?>

I was causing my supplication to fall prostrate before the king, — that he would not cause me to return to the house of Jonathan, [to die there].

<sup>27</sup> Then came in all the princes unto Jeremiah, and asked him, and he told them, according to all these words which the king |had commanded|,<sup>r</sup> —so they turned in silence from him, for the matter |had not been reported|.

<sup>28</sup> So Jeremiah remained in the guard-court, until the day when Jerusalem |was captured|; ||thus|| it fell out, when Jerusalem |was captured|.

§ 33. *After an eighteen Months' Siege, Jerusalem is taken; King Zedekiah flees to the Waste Plains of Jericho, is captured, brought to Nebuchadnezzar at Riblah, his Sons and Nobles are slain in his presence, his Eyes are put out, and he is taken in Fetters to Babylon. <sup>4</sup> And it came to pass <as soon as Zedekiah king of Judah and all the men of war saw them> that they fled, and went forth by night out of the city, by way of the king's garden, through the gate between the two walls,—and he<sup>b</sup> went forth by way of the waste plain.<sup>c</sup>

<the house of the king, and the houses<sup>g</sup> of the people> did the Chaldeans burn with fire,—and <the walls of Jerusalem> brake they down;<sup>h</sup> and <the remnant of the people who were left in the city, and the disheartened, who fell away unto him, and the remnant of the people who were left> did Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners,<sup>i</sup> take captive to Babylon.<sup>j</sup> But <of the poor people, who had [nothing]> did Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners, leave remaining in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards and ploughed fields, [on the same day].

<sup>12</sup> Take him, and <thine eyes> set thou upon him, and do not unto him any<sup>l</sup> harmful thing,—but <just as he shall speak unto thee> [so] shalt thou do with him.

<sup>15</sup> Now <unto Jeremiah> had come the word of Yahweh, while he was yet shut up<sup>p</sup> in the guard-court, saying:

<sup>17</sup> But I will deliver thee in that day, and thou shalt not be given up into the hand of the men<sup>q</sup> from the face of whom [thou] mightest shrink with fear.

§ 36. Nebuzaradan giving Jeremiah his Choice, of going down to Babylon or remaining in the Land, the Prophet decides to dwell at Mizpah with Gedaliah, who had been appointed Governor of the Cities of Judah.

<sup>2</sup> So then the chief of the royal executioners<sup>v</sup> took Jeremiah,—and said unto him, and that he had committed to him men and Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan, sware'

Do not be afraid of serving the Chaldeans,— dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babylon, that it may be well with you.

<sup>10</sup> But <as for me> behold me! remaining in who may come unto us.

||Ye|| however, gather ye wine and summer fruits and oil, and put [them] in your vessels, and dwell in your cities which ye have seized.

<sup>11</sup> [Likewise also] ||all the Jews, who were in

<when they heard that the king of Babylon had set in charge over them, Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan> <sup>12</sup> yea, then returned all the Jews, out of all the places whither they had been driven, and came into the land of Judah, unto Gedaliah, in Mizpah,—and gathered wine and summer fruits, in great abundance.

<sup>13</sup> But ||Johanan son of Kareah, and all the princes of the forces which were in the field|| came unto Gedaliah, in Mizpah, <sup>14</sup> and said unto him—

Dost thou ||at all know|| that ||Baalis,* king of the sons of Ammon|| hath sent Ishmael son of Nethaniah, to smite thee to death?<sup>b</sup>

But Gedaliah son of Ahikam [believed them not]. <sup>15</sup> Then ||Johanan son of Kareah|| spake unto Gedaliah [secretly, in Mizpah], saying,—

Let me go, I pray thee, and smite Ishmael son of Nethaniah, and not ||a man|| shall know it,—wherefore' should he smite thee to death,<sup>b</sup> and all Judah who have gathered themselves unto thee, be dispersed, and the remnant of Judah perish?<sup>c</sup>

<sup>16</sup> Then said Gedaliah son of Ahikam, unto Johanan son of Kareah,

Thou mayest not do this thing,—for ||falsely|| art thou speaking against Ishmael.

that Ishmael son of Nethaniah son of Elishama of the seed royal and chiefs of the king, and ten men with him, [came in] unto Gedaliah son of Ahikam, at Mizpah,—and they did there' eat bread together, in Mizpah. <sup>2</sup> Then arose Ishmael son of Nethaniah—and the ten men who were with him, and they smote Geda-liah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan—with the sword, and slew him' whom the king of Babylon [had set in charge] over the land. <sup>3</sup> And Ishmael smote ||all the Jews who were with him, even with Gedaliah in Mizpah, and the Chaldeans who were found there, the<sup>c</sup> men of war||.

<sup>4</sup> And it came to pass <on the second day, after he had slain Gedaliah, not ||a man|| knowing it> <sup>5</sup> that men came in from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria,—eighty men, with beards shaven and clothes rent, who also had cut themselves, with a meal-offering and frankincense in their hand, to bring them into the house of Yahweh. <sup>6</sup> Then went forth Ishmael son of Nethaniah to meet them, out of Mizpah, weeping all along as he went,<sup>d</sup>—and it came to pass <when he fell in with them> that he said
unto them,

Come ye in unto Gedaliah son of Ahikam.

Do not put us to death, for we have secret treasures in the field, wheat and barley and oil and honey.

So he forbore and put them not to death in the midst of their brethren. <sup>9</sup> Now <the pit, whereinto Ishmael cast all the dead bodies of the men whom he had smitten> was a large pit,* which King Asa had made for fear of Baasha king of Israel, — [the same] did Ishmael son of Nethaniah fill with the slain. <sup>10</sup> Then did Ishmael take

<sup>16</sup> Then did Johanan son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces who were with him, take all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Ishmael son of Nethaniah out of Mizpah, after he had smitten Gedaliah son of Ahikam,—mighty men, men of war, and women and children, and eunuchs, whom he had recovered out of Gibeon; <sup>17</sup> and they departed, and dwelt in the khan<sup>b</sup> of Chimham,<sup>c</sup> which is near Bethlehem,—that they might go to enter Egypt; <sup>18</sup> because of the Chaldeans, for they were afraid of them,—because Ishmael son of Nethaniah had smitten Gedaliah son of Ahikam, [whom the king of Babylon had set in charge over the land].

<sup>8</sup> Then called he for Johanan son of Kareah, and for all the princes of the forces who were with him,—and for all the people, [from the least even unto the greatest];

<sup>9</sup> and said unto them,

[Thus] saith Yahweh, God of Israel,—unto whom ye sent me, to cause your supplication to fall prostrate before him:—

<sup>10</sup> <If ye will [indeed abide] in this land> then will I build you up, and not pull [you] down, and plant you, and not uproot [you],—for I have compassion, as touching the calamity which I have caused you. <sup>11</sup> Do not fear the face of the king of Babylon, of whose face ye are afraid,—do not fear him.

- for <with you> am I', to save you, and to deliver you out of his hand: <sup>12</sup> that I may grant you compassions, and he may have compassion upon you,—and suffer you to return unto your own soil.
- <sup>13</sup> But <since ye' are saying,—
We will not dwell in this land,—nor hearken' unto the voice of Yahweh your God: <sup>14</sup> saying,—
No! for <into the land of Egypt> will we go, where we shall not see war, nor <the sound of a horn> shall we hear,—nor <for bread> shall we be famished,—there then will we dwell>
- <sup>15</sup> ¶Now therefore, ¶for this cause¶ hear ye the word of Yahweh, O remnant of Judah,— ¶Thus saith Yahweh of hosts,
God of Israel,—
<If ye' do indeed set your faces, to enter Egypt, and do enter to sojourn there> <sup>16</sup> then shall it come to pass that ¶the sword which ye' are fearing¶ shall [there] overtake you, in the land of Egypt,—and [the famine which ye' are dreading] shall [there] lay fast hold of you, [in Egypt], and [there] shall ye die. <sup>17</sup> So shall it be with all the men who have set their faces to enter Egypt, to sojourn there, they shall die, by sword, by famine, or by pestilence,—and they shall have neither survival nor escape, from the face of the calamity' which I' am about to bring in upon them. <sup>18</sup> For—
¶Thus saith Yahweh of hosts,
God of Israel,—
<Just as mine anger and mine indignation [have been poured out] upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem> ¶so shall mine indignation be poured out upon you' when ye enter into Egypt,—thus shall ye become a curse, and an astonishment, and a contempt, and a reproach, and ye shall no more see [this place].
- <sup>19</sup> Yahweh hath spoken' concerning you, O ye remnant of Judah,
Do not enter into Egypt:
¶Know certainly¶ that I have taken you to witness to-day. <sup>20</sup> For ye have deceived yourselves at the cost of your lives,* for ¶ye yourselves¶ sent me unto Yahweh your God, saying,— Pray thou in our behalf, unto Yahweh our God,—and <according to all that Yahweh our God shall say'> ¶so tell us, and we will do it.
- <sup>21</sup> Therefore have I told you to-day,—and yet ye have not hearkened unto the voice of Yahweh your God, ¶even in any thing for which he hath sent me unto you¶.
- <sup>22</sup> ¶Now therefore, ¶know ye certainly¶, that

<by sword, by* famine, or by pestilence> shall ye die,—in the place whither ye have desired to go, to sojourn.

- <sup>1</sup> And it came to pass <when Jeremiah had 43 made an end' of speaking unto all the people all the words of Yahweh their God, with which Yahweh their God had sent' him unto them,—even all these words> <sup>2</sup> then spake Azariah son of Hoshaiah, and Johanan son of Kareah, and all the proud men,—saying unto Jeremiah—¶Falsely¶ art thou speaking,
Yahweh our God [hath not sent thee] to say,
Ye shall not enter Egypt, to sojourn there;
<sup>3</sup> but ¶Baruch son of Neriah¶ is goading thee on against us,—that he may deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, to put us to death, or take us away captive to Babylon.
- <sup>4</sup> So Johanan son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, and all the people, [hearkened not] unto the voice of Yahweh,—by remaining in the land of Judah; <sup>5</sup> but Johanan son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, took' all the remnant of Judah, who had returned, out of all the nations whither they had been driven, to sojourn in the land of Judah: <sup>6</sup> both the men and the women and the children, and the daughters of the king, and every soul that Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners [had left] with Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan,—and Jeremiah the prophet, and Baruch son of Neriah; <sup>7</sup> and entered the land of Egypt, for they hearkened not unto the voice of Yahweh,—yea entered as far as Tahpanhes. <sup>8</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jeremiah, in Tahpanhes, saying:
¶Thus saith Yahweh of hosts,
God of Israel—
Behold me! sending and fetching Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, my servant, and I will set his throne' over these stones, which I have hid,—and he shall spread his canopy over them. <sup>11</sup> And <when he entereth> then will he smite the land of Egypt [and deliver]
Him who is for death' to death, and Him who is for captivity' to captivity, and Him who is for the sword' to the sword.
- <sup>12</sup> So will I kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burn them and carry them away captive,—and shall wrap the land of Egypt about him, just as a shepherd [wrappeth about]

And <the houses of the gods of Egypt> shall he burn with fire.

§ 39. Against Jeremiah's Denunciation of his Countrymen's renewed Idolatries in Egypt, they perversely defend themselves; calling forth from the Prophet a Crushing Reply by reference to the Fate of Jerusalem, and a specific Prediction of the Capture of Pharaoh-hophra King of Egypt.

44 <sup>1</sup> The word which came to Jeremiah, against all the Jews who were dwelling in the land of Egypt,—who were dwelling in Migdol and in Tahpanhes, and in Noph, and in the land of Pathros, saying:

¶Ye yourselves saw all the calamity<sup>1</sup> which I brought in upon Jerusalem, and upon all the cities of Judah,—and there they are, a desolation, this day, and there is not in them an inhabitant: <sup>3</sup> because of their wickedness<sup>2</sup> which they committed, provoking me to anger, by going to burn incense, to serve other<sup>3</sup> gods,—whom they had not known, ¶they, ye, nor your fathers; <sup>4</sup> yet I sent unto you all my servants the prophets, betimes sending them, saying,—

Do not, I pray you, commit this abominable thing, which I hate!

<sup>5</sup> but they hearkened not, neither inclined their ear, by turning from their wickedness,—so as not to burn incense to other<sup>6</sup> gods. <sup>6</sup> Therefore were mine indignation and mine anger poured out, and a fire was kindled in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem,—and they became waste and desolate, [as at this day]. <sup>7</sup> ¶Now therefore,

¶Thus saith Yahweh, God<sup>b</sup> of hosts, God of Israel—

reproach<sup>f</sup> among<sup>g</sup> all the nations of the earth? <sup>9</sup> Have ye forgotten the wicked ways of your fathers, and the wicked ways of the kings of Judah, and the wicked ways of his wives,<sup>h</sup> and your own wicked ways, and the wicked ways of your own wives,—which they committed in the land of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem?

<sup>10</sup> They have not been crushed, unto this day; neither have they been afraid, neither have they walked in my law,<sup>e</sup> and in my statutes, which I set before you, and before your fathers. <sup>11</sup> Therefore

¶Thus saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,

Behold me! setting my face against you, for calamity,—even to cut off all Judah; and I will take the remnant of Judah who did set their faces, to enter the land of Egypt, to sojourn there, and they shall all be consumed, <in the land of Egypt> shall they fall by the sword, <by<sup>i</sup> famine> shall they be consumed, [from the least even unto the greatest], <by sword and by famine> shall they die,—so shall they become a curse, and an astonishment, and a contempt, and a reproach; <sup>13</sup> and I will bring punishment upon them who are dwelling in the land of Egypt, just as I brought punishment upon Jerusalem,—by sword, by famine, and by pestilence; <sup>14</sup> and there shall be neither escape nor survival, unto the remnant of Judah, who have been entering, to sojourn there, into the land of Egypt,—that they should return to the land of Judah, even when they are lifting up their soul to return to dwell there, for none shall return, [saving fugitives].

<sup>16</sup> <As touching the word which thou hast spoken unto us, in the name of Yahweh> we are not going to hearken unto thee; <sup>17</sup> but ¶we will certainly do the whole thing that hath gone forth out of our own mouth, by burning incense to the queen of the heavens, and pouring out to her drink-offerings, just as [we and our fathers, and our kings and our princes] did, in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem,—then were we filled with bread, and became prosperous, and <calamity> saw we none; <sup>18</sup> whereas <from the very time we ceased burning incense to the queen of the heavens and pouring out to her drink-offerings> we have lacked [everything],—and <by sword and by famine> have we been consumed.

19 And <though we' are burning incense to the queen of the heavens and pouring out to her, drink-offerings> is it ||without our men|| that we have made to her sacrificial cakes as images of her, and poured out to her, drink-offerings?

20 Then spake Jeremiah unto all the people,—against the men, and against the women, and against all the people who had been making any answer unto him, saying:

21 Was it not <the very incense which ye burned in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, ||ye, and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land||> was it not ||those very things|| that Yahweh did remember, and that came up on his heart;<sup>a</sup> <sup>22</sup> so that Yahweh could' no' longer<sup>b</sup> forbear, because of the wickedness of your doings, because of the abominations which ye committed,—and your land became<sup>c</sup> a desolation, and an astonishment, and a contempt, without inhabitant—|as at this day|?

23 <Because that ye burned incense, and that ye sinned against Yahweh, and hearkened not unto the voice of Yahweh, and ||in his law<sup>c</sup> and in his statutes and in his testimonies|| did not walk> ||for this cause|| did this calamity befall' you—|as at this day|.

24 And Jeremiah said' unto all the people, and unto all the women,—

25 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,

God of Israel, saying,

||Ye and your wives|| have both spoken with your mouth and <with your hands> have ye fulfilled, saying,

We will ||certainly perform|| our vows which we have vowed, to burn incense to the queen of the heavens, and to pour out to her, drink-offerings:

the women ||will certainly confirm|| your vows, and ||certainly perform|| your vows.

26 |Therefore| hear ye the word of Yahweh, all Judah, who are dwelling in the land of Egypt,—

Behold me! I have sworn by my great Name, Saith Yahweh,

That my Name |shall no more| be invoked by the mouth of any man of Judah, saying—

By the life of My Lord, Yahweh,<sup>d</sup> in all the land of Egypt.

27 Behold me! watching<sup>a</sup> over them |for calamity, and not for blessing|,—so shall all the men of Judah who are in the land of Egypt |be consumed| by sword and by famine, until there be an end of them. <sup>28</sup> Yet ||the fugitives of the sword|| shall certainly return' out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah, men easily counted,—that all the remnant of Judah who are entering Egypt to sojourn there |may know|, ||whose word|| shall stand, ||mine or theirs||!

29 And ||this|| <to you> shall be the sign, Declareth Yahweh, that I' am about to bring punishment upon you in this place,—that ye may know that my words shall ||certainly stand|| against you, |for calamity|:

30 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,

Behold me! delivering up Pharaoh-hophra king of Egypt, into the hand of his enemies, yea into the hand of them who are seeking his life,<sup>b</sup>—just as I delivered Zedekiah king of Judah, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon his enemy, and one seeking his life.

46 <sup>1</sup> So much of the word of Yahweh as came unto Jeremiah the prophet, concerning the<sup>b</sup> nations.

Concerning the force of Pharaoh-necho, king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates, in Carchemish,—which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon [smote], in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah :—

<sup>3</sup> Prepare ye buckler and shield,
And draw near to battle:

<sup>4</sup> Harness the horses, and mount ye horsemen,
Stand forth in helmets,—
Polish the lances, put on the coats of mail.

[They] <panic-struck> are drawing back,
Yea [their heroes] are crushed,
Yea they have [fled],<sup>e</sup> and not turned,— Terror round about!<sup>d</sup> Declareth Yahweh.

Nor let the hero [escape],— <Northward, beside the river Euphrates> have they stumbled, and fallen.

<sup>7</sup> Who is it that is like the Nile when it riseth,
Like rivers when his waters are tossed?

<sup>8</sup> [Egypt] was like the Nile when it riseth,
And like rivers, when the waters are tossed:
So he said—

I will rise,
I will cover the earth,
I will destroy the city, and the dwellers therein.

<sup>9</sup> Mount the horses,
And drive the chariots madly on,
So let the heroes [go forth],—
Ethiopians and Libyans that grasp the buckler,
And Lydians that grasp—that tread—the bow.

<sup>10</sup> But [that day] belongeth to My Lord, Yahweh of hosts<sup>e</sup>—
A day of avenging, to avenge him of his adversaries,
When the sword shall devour<sup>f</sup> and be filled, and be sated with their blood,—
For [a sacrifice] hath My Lord, Yahweh of hosts,<sup>g</sup>
In the land of the North,
Towards the river Euphrates.

<sup>11</sup> Go up to Gilead, and fetch balsam,
O virgin, daughter of Egypt!

<In vain> hast thou multiplied remedies,
<Healing> there is none<sup>h</sup> for thee.<sup>a</sup>

And [thine outcry] hath filled the earth,—
For <hero against hero> have they stumbled,
<Together> have fallen [the twain]!

<sup>13</sup> The word which Yahweh spake, unto Jeremiah the prophet,—as to the coming of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, to smite the land of Egypt :—

<sup>14</sup> Tell ye it in Egypt,
And let it be heard in Migdol.
Yea let it be heard in Noph, and in Tahpanhes,—

Say ye—
Stand thou forth, and prepare thyself,
For a sword hath devoured round about thee.

He hath made no stand, because [Yahweh] hath driven him back:

<sup>16</sup> Hath made many a one to be stumbling,
Yea fallen<sup>k</sup> is every one against his neighbour,
So they have said—

Arise and let us return to our own people,
And unto the land of our birth,
From the face of the sword of the oppressor.

[Pharaoh, king of Egypt]—a Sound!
He hath overstepped the time appointed!

<sup>18</sup> <As I live> saith the King, [Yahweh of hosts] is his name:
<[Though]
Like Tabor<sup>l</sup> among mountains,
Like Carmel>
Into the sea shall he go!<sup>d</sup>

<sup>19</sup> <Baggage for captivity><sup>e</sup> prepare thee,
O inhabitress, daughter of Egypt;
For [Noph] shall become [a desolation],
And be burned, without inhabitant.

[The gad-fly] <out of the North> cometh—cometh.<sup>g</sup>

fatted calves,

Because of the unnerving of their hands;

waste all the Philistines,
To cut off from Tyre and Zidon, every

For Yahweh [is laying waste] the Philis-

The remnant of the Coastland of Caphtor.

5 [Baldness] hath come [upon Gaza], given it a charge,—against Ashkelon, and

§ 43. The Nations:—Moab.

1 ||Of Moab||— 48

||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,
God of Israel,—

Alas for Nebo, for it is laid waste,
Put to shame'—captured', is Kiriathaim:
Put to shame' is Misgab, and dismayed.

2 <No more> is the praise of Moab, <In Heshbon> have they devised against her, [calamity],
Come, and let us cut her off from being a nation,—

Even' thou ||Madmēn also|| shalt be silenced,
<After thee> shall march the sword.

3 A voice of outcry, from Horonaim,— Wasting and great destruction!

4 Moab is broken:
Her little ones [have caused to be heard an outcry].

5 For <the ascent of Luhith> [with weeping] one ascendeth—with weeping,—
For ||in the descent of Horonaim|| <the distress of the outcry of destruction> have they heard:

6 Flee, deliver your own lives,— Then shall the women be as a shrub in the desert.

7 For <seeing thou hast trusted in thy works and in thy treasures>
||Thou too|| shalt be captured,—
Then shall Chemosh go forth into captivity,
||His priests and his princes together||.

- 8 And the spoiler shall enter into every city,
And not [a city] shall escape,
Then shall perish the vale,
Then be destroyed the table-land,—
[As Yahweh hath said].
- 9 Give wing to Moab,
For she must [fly away];
And [her cities]
    <To desolation> shall be turned,
    [With no inhabitant therein].
- 10 [Accursed] be he that doeth the business of Yahweh, [carelessly];
And, [accursed] be he that withholdeth his sword [from blood]!
- 11 Moab [hath been at ease] from his youth,
And [settled] is he upon his lees,
And hath not been poured out from vessel to vessel,
Nor <into captivity> hath gone,— [For this cause] hath his flavour stood still within him,
And [his scent] is unchanged.
- 12 [Therefore] lo! [days are coming],
                    Declareth Yahweh,
When I will send to him tilters, and they shall tilt him,—
And <his vessels> shall they empty,
And <their jars> shall they dash in pieces.
- 13 Then shall [Moab] be ashamed, of [Che-mosh],—
Just as [the sons of Israel] were ashamed of [Bethel, their confidence].
- 14 How can ye say,
    [Heroes] are we? and Men of might for the war?
- 15 Spoiled is Moab,
And <her cities> hath he ascended,
And [the choice of his young men] have gone down to the slaughter,— Declareth The King,
                    [Yahweh of hosts] is his Name.
- 16 Near is the doom of Moab, to come,—
And [his calamity] hathest [greatly].
- 17 Lament ye for him—
    All that are round about him, and
    All that know his name,—
Say, How is broken—
    The staff of strength!
    The rod of beauty!
- 18 Come down from glory, and sit in thirst,
O inhabitress, daughter of Dibon;
For [the spoiler of Moab] hath come up against thee,
He hath laid in ruins thy strongholds.
- 19 <Near the way> take thy stand and keep outlook,
O inhabitress of Aroer:
Ask— Him that fleeth, and
    Her that hath escaped,
Say, What hath happened?
- 20 Confounded is Moab! For it is broken down!
Howl and make outcry,— Tell ye in Arnon,
    That Moab [is spoiled];

E.O.T.

- 21 And [judgment] hath come Upon the country of the table-land,— Upon Holon, and Upon Jazer, and Upon Mephaath; <sup>22</sup> and Upon Dibon, and Upon Nebo, and Upon Beth-diblathaim; <sup>23</sup> and Upon Kiriathaim, and Upon Beth-gamul, and Upon Beth-meon; <sup>24</sup> and Upon Keriioth, and Upon Bozrah,— Yea [upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far, and near].
- 25 Cut off is the horn of Moab,
Yea [his arm] is broken,—
                    Declareth Yahweh.
- 26 Make ye him drunken,
Because <against Yahweh> hath he
magnified himself;
So shall [Moab] stagger <sup>a</sup> [into his own vomit],
And shall become a derision, [even he]!
- 27 And was it not [a derision] that Israel [became to thee]?
And was it not <among thieves> he was found?
For <as often as thou didst speak of him> thou didst wag the head! <sup>b</sup>
- 28 Leave ye the cities, and dwell in the cliff,
Ye inhabitants of Moab;
And become ye as a dove, that maketh her nest in the further-side of the fissure's mouth.
- 29 We have heard the arrogance of Moab—proud exceedingly:
His loftiness and his arrogance and his majesty, and his elevation of heart!
- 30 [I] know—                    Declareth Yahweh,
His passion—that 'tis Unjust!
[His boastings], that Untrue have they made [them]!
- 31 [For this cause] <over Moab> will I howl,
And <for all Moab> will I make outcry,—
    <For the men of Kir-heres> must one <sup>c</sup> moan!
- 32 <Beyond the weeping of Jazer> will I weep for thee, O vine of Sibmah, <sup>d</sup>
[Thy tendrils] have gone over the sea, <sup>e</sup>
    <Unto the sea of Jazer> have they reached,
    <Upon thy summer fruits,
And upon thy vintage> [the spoiler] hath fallen.

- 33 So shall be withdrawn gladness and exultation—
From the fruitful field, and
From the land of Moab,—
And <wine from the vats> have I caused to fail,
They shall not tread with shouting,
||The shouting|| shall be no' shouting!
34 <From<sup>a</sup> the outcry of Heshbon,
Even unto Elealeh,
Even unto Jahaz> have they given forth their voice,
<From Zoar even unto Horonaim> the third<sup>b</sup> Eglath,—
For ||even the waters of Nimrim|| <to utter desolation> have been turned:
35 Then will I cause to cease, from Moab,
Declareth Yahweh,—
Him that offereth at a high-place, and
Him that burneth incense to his gods.
36 |For this cause| ||my heart, for Moab|| <like flutes> shall make plaintive sounds,
Yea ||my heart, for the men of Kir-heres||
<like flutes> shall make plaintive sounds,
|Because| ||the abundance he hath gotten|| is lost!
37 For ||every<sup>c</sup> head|| is baldness,
And ||every beard|| clipped:
<Upon all hands> are gashes,
And <upon the<sup>d</sup> loins> |sackcloth|!
38 <Upon all the housetops of Moab,
And in her broadways> it is all lamentation,—
For I have broken Moab—
Like a vessel wherein is no' pleasure,
Declareth Yahweh.
39 <How' it is broken down!>
They have howled,
How' hath Moab turned the back |for
shame|,—
So shall Moab become a derision and a terror, to all round about him.
40 For ||thus|| saith Yahweh,
Lo! <as 'an eagle> shall one dart
along,—
And shall spread out his wings towards Moab.
41 Captured' is Kerioth,
And ||the fortresses|| are seized,—
Then shall the heart of the heroes of Moab become in that' day,
As the heart of a woman in her pains.
42 Then shall |Moab| be destroyed |from being

Because <against Yahweh> hath he magnified himself.

44 ||He that fleeth from the face of the terror||
Shall fall into the pit,
And ||he that getteth up out of the pit||<sup>b</sup>
Shall be captured by the snare,—

The year of their visitation,
Declareth Yahweh.
45 <In the shadow of Heshbon> stand |strength-

47 Yet will I bring back the captivity of Moab,

§ 44. The Nations:—The Sons of Ammon.

- 1 ||Of the sons of Ammon||—
||Thus|| saith Yahweh:
Hath Israel no' ||sons||?
Hath he no' ||heir||?
Why hath |Malkam|<sup>g</sup> taken possession' of
|Gad|,
Or have ||his people|| <in the cities thereof>

2 |Therefore| lo! |days are coming|,
Declareth Yahweh,

Rabbah of the sons of Ammon, |an alarm
of war|,
So shall she become a mound of desolation,
And ||her villages||<sup>h</sup> <with fire> shall blaze,—
Then shall |Israel| inherit them' who inherited him',
Saith Yahweh.
3 Howl, O Heshbon, for Ai is spoiled,
Make outcry, ye daughters of Rabbah,
Gird you with sackcloth, Lament ye, and run to and fro among the fences,—
For ||Malkam||<sup>i</sup> <into captivity> shall go,

Who' shall invade [me]?
5 Behold me! bringing upon thee, terror,

hosts,
From all who are round about thee,—
And ye shall be driven out every man before
it,
And there shall be none to bring home the wanderer;
6 But <afterwards> will I bring back the captivity of the sons of Ammon,<sup>d</sup>

§ 45. The Nations:—Edom. (Cp. Isa. lxiii.)

||Of Edom||—

- ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,
Is there [no longer] wisdom in Teman?
Hath counsel perished from the discerning?
Is ||their wisdom|| corrupt?
8 Flee ye, turn, go down deep to dwell, O inhabitant of Dedan,—
For <the doom of Esau> have I brought in upon him,
The time of his visitation.
9 <If ||grape-gatherers|| came to thee>
Would they not leave [ gleanings ]?
<If ||thieves in the night||>
Would they not have taken away what sufficed them?
10 But ||I|| have stripped Esau bare,
I have uncovered his secret places,
And <to conceal himself> shall he not be able!
Spoiled are his seed, and his brethren, and his neighbours, and he is' not.
11 Leave thy fatherless children
||I|| will preserve them alive,—
And ||thy widows||
<In me> let them trust.
12 For ||thus|| saith Yahweh—
Lo! ||they who had not been adjudged to drink the cup|| ||shall surely drink||,
And art ||thou|| the one to go ||unpunished||?
Thou shalt not go unpunished, but ||shalt surely drink||.
13 For <by myself> have I sworn,
Declareth Yahweh,
That [Bozrah]<sup>e</sup> shall become ||an astonishment, a reproach, and a desolation, and a contempt||,—
And ||all her cities|| shall become age-abiding desolations.

15 For lo! ||Small|| have I made thee among the nations,—
Despised among men!
16 ||Thy monstrous thing||<sup>a</sup> hath deceived thee,

19 Lo! <like a lion> will he come up from the majesty of the Jordan, unto the pasture<sup>f</sup>

Surely the little ones of the flock |shall drag
them away|,
Surely he will cause their fold<sup>h</sup> to be astounded over them.
21 <At the noise of their fall> hath trembled the earth,
||At the outcry|| <in the Red Sea> was heard its<sup>i</sup> noise.
22 Lo! <as an eagle> he shall mount and dart,

§ 46. The Nations:—Damascus.

23      ||Of Damascus||

Turned pale' have Hamath and Arpad,
For  have they heard—
they tremble,—

<In the sea> is anxiety, it cannot ||rest||.

24      Enfeebled' is Damascus.

She hath turned to flee,

But ||terror|| hath seized her,—

||Anguish and pangs|| have seized her, as a woman in childbirth.

25      Alas! is she not forsaken*—

The city so praised!

The citadel I rejoiced in!

26      |Therefore| shall her young men fall' in her broadways,—

And ||all her men of war|| shall be silent in that day,      Declareth Yahweh of hosts;

27      Then will I kindle a fire in the walls of Damascus,—

And it shall devour the palaces of Ben-hadad.

§ 47. The Nations:—Kedar.

28      ||Of Kedar||

And of the kingdoms of Hazor

Which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon smote—

||Thus|| saith Yahweh,—

Arise ye, go up against Kedar.

So shall they spoil the sons of the East:

29      <Their tents and their flocks> shall they take,

And <their curtains, and all their baggage,<sup>b</sup> and their camels> shall they carry off for themselves,—

And shall cry out unto them,

Terror round about!<sup>c</sup>

30      Flee, remove far away, go deep to dwell,

Ye inhabitants of Hazor,

Urgeth Yahweh;

For Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon—

|Hath counselled against you| a counsel,

And devised against you<sup>a</sup> a device.

31      Arise ye, go up against a nation at ease—dwelling securely,

Commandeth Yahweh,—

Having neither doors nor bars,

<Alone> do they dwell:

32      So shall |their camels| become |a prey|,

And |the throng of their cattle| |a spoil|,

Then will I scatter them to every wind, even the clipt-beards,—

And <from all sides of him> will I bring in their doom,      Declareth Yahweh.

33      So shall Hazor become

A habitation of jackals.

abiding:

There shall not dwell there—a man,

Nor sojourn therein—a son of the earth-born.

§ 48. The Nations:—Elam.34      So much of the word of Yahweh as came unto Jeremiah the prophet.

Against Elam,—

in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying:—

35      ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,—

Behold me! breaking the bow of Elam,—

The beginning' of their might;

36      Then will I bring in against Elam four winds, from the four quarters of the heavens,

And will scatter' them to all these winds,—

And there shall be no nation' whither the outcasts of Elam |shall not come|;

37      And I will cause Elam<sup>a</sup> to be dismayed

Before their enemies,

Even before them who are seeking their life,<sup>b</sup>

So will I bring upon them calamity,

Even the glow of mine anger.

Declareth Yahweh,—

And will send after them the sword, until I have made an end of them;

38      And I will set my throne in Elam,—

And will destroy, from thence, king and princes,      Declareth Yahweh;

39      But it shall come to pass,

In the after-part of the days,

That I will bring back the captivity of Elam,
Declareth Yahweh.

§ 49. The Nations:—Babylon.

51      The word which Yahweh spake

Against Babylon,

Against<sup>c</sup> the land of the Chaldeans, through<sup>d</sup> Jeremiah the prophet:

52      Tell ye among the nations,

And let it be heard,

And lift ye up a standard,

Let it be heard, do not conceal:

Say ye—

Confounded' is Bel,<sup>a</sup>

Confounded' are her images,

3 For there hath come up against her—a nation out of the North.
||The same|| shall make her land an astonishment,
And there shall be none to dwell therein,— ||Both man and beast|| have removed—have gone!

4 <In those days, and at that time>
Declareth Yahweh,
Shall the sons of Israel come in,
||They|| and the sons of Judah' |together|:
<Weeping as they travel> so shall they journey on,<sup>a</sup>
And <Yahweh their God> shall they seek;
5 <To Zion> shall they ask the way, <Hitherward> their faces!<sup>b</sup>
Come and let us join ourselves unto Yahweh,
In a covenant age-abiding, which shall not be forgotten.

6 <Wandering sheep> have |my people| been,

<On the mountains> they seduced them,<sup>c</sup>
<From mountain to hill> have they gone,
|They have forgotten their couching-place.

7 ||All who found them|| devoured them,
And ||their adversaries|| said—
We shall not be guilty,—
Because they have sinned Against Yahweh, the pasturage of righteousness,<sup>d</sup>
Yea ||the hope of their fathers—Yahweh||.

8 Remove ye out of the midst of Babylon,
And <out of the land of the Chaldeans> come ye forth.<sup>e</sup>—

And become ye like he-goats before the flock;
9 For lo! I am rousing and bringing up against Babylon, a gathered host<sup>f</sup> of great nations, out of the land of the North,
And they shall array themselves against her,
<From thence> shall she be captured,—
||His arrows|| are as of a hero making childless,<sup>g</sup>
None shall return |empty|.

10 So shall the Chaldeans become a spoil,—
||All her spoilers|| shall be satisfied.

Declareth Yahweh;
11 Because they used to be glad,
Because they used to be uproarious,
When plundering mine inheritance,—
Because they used to caper about as a heifer at grass,
And bellow like bulls.

13 <Because of the vexation of Yahweh> she

18 |Therefore|
||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,

Just as I brought punishment against the king of Assyria.

19 So will I bring back Israel unto his own

And he shall feed upon Carmel and Bashan;
And <in the hill country of Ephraim and
Gilead> shall |his soul| be satisfied<sup>f</sup>.

20 <In those days, and in that time>
Declareth Yahweh,

*The avenging of Yahweh our God,
The avenging of his temple.*<sup>d</sup>
- 29 Publish against Babylon, ye chiefs of all who tread the bow—Encamp against her round about,
Let there be none<sup>e</sup> to escape,
Recompense to her according to her work,<sup>f</sup>
<According to all which she did> do ye to her,—
For <Against Yahweh> hath she acted presumptuously.
[Against the Holy One of Israel].
- 30 [Therefore] shall her young men fall in her broadways,—
And [all her men of war] be silenced in that day.
Declareth Yahweh.
- 31 Behold me! against thee, most insolent one,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh<sup>g</sup> of hosts;
For thy day [hath come],
Thy time for punishment;
- 32 So shall the most insolent one stumble' and fall,
And he shall have none' to lift him up,—
And I will kindle a fire in his cities, which shall devour all who are round about him.
- 33 [Thus] saith Yahweh of hosts—
Oppressed' were the sons of Israel and the sons of Judah, [together],—
And [all who took them captive]
Held them fast,
Refused to let them go:—
- 34 [Their Redeemer] can hold fast,
[Yahweh of hosts] is his name,
He will [thoroughly plead] their plea,—
That he may quiet the earth,
And disquiet the inhabitants of Babylon.
- 35 [A sword] is over the Chaldeans.
Declareth Yahweh,—
And against the inhabitants of Babylon,
And against her princes,
And against her wise men:
- 36 [A sword] is against the praters,
And they shall be shewn to be foolish,—
[A sword] is against her heroes,
And they shall be dismayed:
- 37 [A sword] is against his horses and against his chariots, and against all the rabble that are in her midst,
And they shall become women,—
[A sword] is against her treasures,
And they shall be made a prey:
- 38 [A drought] is against her waters,
And they shall be dried up,—
For <sup>h</sup> it is',
And <with their shocking things><sup>i</sup> they act as men who are mad:
- 39 [Therefore] shall the [criers] dwell with [the howlers], Yea ostriches [shall dwell therein],—
So shall it be dwelt in no more for ever,
Neither shall it be inhabited, unto generation after generation.
- 40 <Like the divine overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah<sup>j</sup> and her neighbours>
Declareth Yahweh,—
There shall not dwell there—a man,
Nor sojourn therein—a son of the earth-born.
- 41 Lo! a people coming in from the North,—
Yea [a great nation, and many kings] shall be roused up out of the remote parts of the earth:
- 42 <Bow and javelin> shall they grasp,
[Cruel] are they' and will not have compassion,

||Their voice|| <like the sea> will roar,<sup>a</sup>
 And <on horses> will they ride,—
 Set in array, as one man, for battle,
 Against thee, O daughter of Babylon!
 43 The king of Babylon hath heard' the report of
 them,
 And unnerved' are his hands,—
 ||Anguish|| hath seized him,
 ||Writhing pain||, as a woman in child-birth.
 44 Lo! <as a lion> shall he come up from the majesty of the Jordan,<sup>b</sup>
 Unto the pasture perennial,
 But I will wink—I will make them run away
 therefrom,
 Who' then shall be the Chosen One whom <against it> I may set in charge?<sup>c</sup>
 For who' shall be like unto |me|?
 And who' shall appoint |me| a |time|?
 And who' is' the Shepherd that shall stand
 before |me|?
 45 |Therefore| hear ye
 The counsel of Yahweh, which he hath counselled against Babylon,
 And his devices which he hath devised against the land<sup>d</sup> of the Chaldeans,— Surely the little ones of the flock |shall drag
 them away|,
 Surely he will cause the pasture to be astounded over them.
 46 <At the noise of the taking of Babylon> the earth' trembled,—
 And ||the outcry|| <among the nations> was heard.
 51<sup>1</sup> ||Thus|| saith Yahweh—
 Behold me! stirring up against Babylon,
 And against the inhabitants of the centre<sup>e</sup> of them who rise up against me,<sup>f</sup>—
 A wind that destroyeth;
 2 And I will send to Babylon winnowers,
 And they shall winnow her,
 And shall empty her land,—
 For they are against her round about, in the day of calamity.
 3 Let not the archer tread his bow,
 Nor lift himself up in his coat of mail,<sup>g</sup>—
 And do not spare her young men,
 Devote to destruction all her host.
 4 So shall they fall wounded, in the land of Chaldea,—
 Yea thrust through, in her streets,
 5 For Israel and Judah have not been widowed<sup>h</sup>
 Of their God,
 Of Yahweh of hosts,—
 But ||their land|| hath been filled with punishment for guilt, from the Holy One of Israel.

6 Flee out of the midst of Babylon,
 And deliver ye every man his own life,<sup>a</sup>
 Be not cut off in her punishment,<sup>b</sup>—
 For it is Yahweh's ||time of avenging||,
 <A recompense> is he' repaying unto her.
 7 <A cup of gold> was Babylon, in the hand
 of Yahweh,
 Making drunk all the earth,<sup>c</sup>—
 <Of her wine> have the nations drunk,
 |For this cause| have the nations been acting as men who are mad.
 8 ||Suddenly|| hath Babylon fallen, and been broken,—
 Howl ye over her,
 Fetch balsam for her pain,<sup>d</sup>
 |Peradventure| she shall be healed!
 9 We would have healed Babylon, but she is not healed,
 Leave her, and let us go every one to his own land,—
 For her judgment |reacheth unto the
 heavens|,
 And mounteth as far as the skies.<sup>e</sup>
 10 Yahweh hath brought forth our righteousnesses,—
 Come and let us relate in Zion, the work of Yahweh our God.
 11 Polish the arrows,
 Lay hold of' the shields,— Yahweh hath roused the spirit of the kings of the Medes,
 For <against Babylon> his purpose is, to destroy her,—

 Strengthen ye the watch,
 Station the watchmen,
 Make ready the ambuscades,— performed' that which he had spoken against the inhabitants of Babylon.

 13 O thou who dwellest upon many waters,<sup>g</sup>
 Who aboundest in treasures,—
 Come! hath thine end!
 The measure of thine unrighteous gain!
 14 Yahweh of hosts |hath sworn|, by his own with locusts,

- 15 <He that
Made the earth in his might,
Established the world in his wisdom,—
And <in his understanding> stretched out the heavens>
16 <By the voice that he uttered> there was a tumult of waters in the heavens,
And he caused vapours to ascend from the end of the earth,— <Lightnings for the rain> made he,*
And brought forth wind out of his treasures.
17 Every son of earth had become too brutish to know,—
Every goldsmith |hath been put to shame|
by a graven image,—
For  is his molten image,
Seeing there is no breath in them :
18 <Vanity> they are',
A handiwork of mockeries,— <In the time of their visitation> shall they perish.
19 <Not like these> is the portion of Jacob,
For <the fashioner of all things> is he !<sup>b</sup>
And the portion<sup>c</sup> of his inheritance,—
||Yahweh of hosts|| is his name.
20 <A war-club> art thou' for me,
Weapons of war ;
Therefore will I
Beat down with thee—nations, and Destroy with thee—kingdoms ;<sup>21</sup> and Beat down with thee—the horse and his rider,— and Beat down with thee—the chariot and its rider ;<sup>22</sup> and Beat down with thee—man and woman, and Beat down with thee—elder and youth, and Beat down with thee—young man and virgin ;<sup>23</sup> and Beat down with thee—the shepherd and his flock, and Beat down with thee—the plowman and his yoke ;— and Beat down with thee—governors and deputies :
24 So will I recompense to Babylon,
And to all the inhabitants of Chaldea,
All their wickedness which they have committed against Zion before your eyes,—
Declareth Yahweh.
25 Behold me ! against thee, O destroying mountain, Declareth Yahweh,
That destroyest all the earth,—
Therefore will I stretch out my hand over thee,
And roll thee down from the crags,
And make of thee a burning' mountain :
26 So shall they not fetch from thee,
A stone for a corner, nor
A stone for a foundation,—
For <desolations age-abiding> shalt thou become, Declareth Yahweh.

- 27 Set ye up an ensign in the earth,
Blow ye a horn among the nations,
Hallow against her—nations,
Summon against her the kingdoms of Ararat,
Minni, and Ashkenaz,*—
Set in charge against her a marshal,
Bring up cavalry like hairy locusts :
28 Hallow against her—nations,
With the kings of Media,
With<sup>b</sup> her governors and all her deputies,—
And with all the land of his dominion :
29 Then did the land tremble, and was in pain,—
For the plans of Yahweh |had been established against Babylon|,
To make the land of Babylon an astonishment,
without inhabitant.
30 The heroes of Babylon have ceased' to fight,
They have remained in the strongholds,
Parched' is their might,
They have become women,—
They have set fire to her habitations,
Broken' are her bars !

To tell the king of Babylon,
That captured' is his city at the end !
32 and
||The fords|| have been seized, and
<The reeds> have they burned with fire ; and
||The men of war|| are dismayed !

God of Israel,
||The daughter of Babylon|| is like a threshing-floor, at the time of treading her :
<Yet a little> and the time of harvest shall overtake her.
34 Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon—
Hath devoured me,<sup>c</sup>
Hath vexed me,<sup>c</sup>
Hath set me down as an empty vessel,
He hath swallowed me<sup>c</sup> like a sea-monster,
He hath filled his belly with my dainties,—
He hath driven me<sup>c</sup> away !
35 ||The violence done to me and to my flesh||<sup>d</sup>

Shall the inhabitress of Zion say',—
Yea ||my blood|| be upon<sup>e</sup> the inhabitant of Chaldea !
Shall Jerusalem say'.

36 [Therefore] ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
 Behold me! pleading thy cause,
 So then I will execute the avenging of thee;
 And will dry up her sea,
 And make dry her spring:
 37 Thus shall Babylon become—Heaps,
A habitation of jackals,
An astonishment, and
A hissing,
Without inhabitant.
 38 [Together] <like wild lions> shall they roar,—
They have growled like lions' whelps.
 39 <When they are heated> I will spread their banquets,
And let them drink that they may become uproarious,
So shall they sleep an age-abiding sleep and not wake,— Declareth Yahweh.
 40 I will bring them down
As fat lambs to slaughter,—
As rams, with he-goats.
 41 How' hath Sheshach<sup>a</sup> [been captured]!
 How' hath the praise of all the earth [been seized]!
How' hath Babylon [become an astonishment among the nations]!
 42 The sea [hath gone up over Babylon],—
<With the multitude of its rolling waves> is she covered.
 43 [Her cities] have become [an astonishment],
A land parched up, and a waste plain,—
A land wherein shall no man dwell,
Nor [pass through them] a son of the earth-born!
 44 So will I bring punishment upon Bel<sup>b</sup> in Babylon,
And will bring forth what he hath swallowed' out of his mouth,
And the nations [shall stream<sup>c</sup> unto him no more],—
||Even the wall of Babylon|| hath fallen!
 45 Come ye forth out of her midst, O my people,<sup>d</sup>
And deliver ye every man his own life,<sup>e</sup>—
Because of the glow of the anger of Yahweh.
 46 And let not your heart be timid', nor be ye afraid,
Because of the report that is reported in the earth<sup>f</sup>
When there shall come <in one year> the report,
And <after that, in another year> the report,
With violence in the earth, and ruler upon<sup>g</sup> ruler.

47 [Therefore] lo! [days coming] when I will bring punishment upon the images<sup>a</sup> of Babylon,
And ||all her land|| shall turn pale,—
Yea ||all her wounded|| shall fall in her midst.
 48 Then shall shout over Babylon—heavens<sup>b</sup> and earth, and all who are therein,—
For <out of the North> shall come to her the spoilers, Declareth Yahweh.
 49 Not only' hath ||Babylon|| caused the fall of the slain of Israel,—
<By Babylon> also' have fallen the slain of [all the earth].<sup>c</sup>
 50 Ye that have escaped the sword, depart, do not stand still,— Remember, from afar, Yahweh,
Let ||Jerusalem|| come up on your heart:<sup>d</sup>—
 51 We have turned pale, for we have heard a reproach, [Confusion] hath covered' [our faces],—
For aliens have entered upon the hallowed places of the house of Yahweh!
 52 [Therefore] lo! [days are coming],
Declareth Yahweh,
When I will bring punishment upon her images;<sup>e</sup>
And <throughout all her land> shall the pierced' one [groan].
 53 <Though Babylon should mount' the heavens,<sup>f</sup>
And though she should fortify her strong high-place>
<From me> should come spoilers unto her, Declareth Yahweh.
 54 A voice of outcry from Babylon!
And a great crash from the land of the Chaldeans!
 55 For [Yahweh] is spoiling' [Babylon]
And will destroy out of her the loud voice,—
Though their waves have roared like many<sup>g</sup> waters,
Been uttered the loud boast of their voice.
 56 For there hath come upon her—upon Babylon—a spoiler,
And captured' are their heroes,
And broken' are their bows,—
For  is Yahweh,
He will ||surely repay||.
 57 Then will I make drunk—
Her princes and her wise men,
Her governors, and her deputies, and her heroes,
And they shall sleep an age-abiding sleep, and not wake,— Declareth the King, § 50. Seraiah commissioned to take a Scroll, containing all the Prophecies of Jeremiah against Babylon, and on his Arrival in that City to attach a Stone and cast it into the Euphrates, as a Symbol of Babylon's Fate.

60 The word which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah<sup>b</sup> son of Neriah son of Mahseiah, when he went with Zedekiah king of Judah into Babylon, in the fourth year of his reign,—now [Seraiah] was travelling-marshal. 60 So Jeremiah wrote<sup>c</sup> all the calamity which was to come unto Babylon, in one scroll; even all these words which have been written against Babylon. 61 Then said Jeremiah unto Seraiah,—

<When thou comest into Babylon> then shalt thou look out and read<sup>d</sup> all these words; 62 and thou shalt say—

O Yahweh! [thou thyself] hast spoken against this place, to cut it off,
 That there be in it no inhabitant,
 Neither man nor beast,—
 But <desolations age-abiding> shall it become!

63 And it shall be <when thou hast made an end of reading this scroll> that thou shalt bind thereunto a stone, and cast it in the midst of the Euphrates. 64 Then shalt thou say,— <In like manner> shall Babylon sink and not rise.
 Because of the calamity which I<sup>e</sup> am about to bring thereupon:
 So shall they perish.<sup>e</sup>

<Thus far> are [the words of Jeremiah].

in the eyes of Yahweh,—according to all that [Jehoiakim] had done. 3 For it was <because [the anger of Yahweh] had come against Jerusalem and Judah, until he had cast them<sup>e</sup> out from his presence> that Zedekiah rebelled<sup>f</sup> against the king of Babylon.

4 And it came to pass <in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth of the month> that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came, [he and all his force] against Jerusalem, and encamped against it,—and he built against it a siege-wall [round about]. 5 And the city [came into] the siege,—until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah.

6 <In the fourth month, on the ninth of the month, when the famine had become severe<sup>g</sup> in the city,—and there had come to be no bread for the people of the land> 7 then was the city [broken up], and [all the men of war], beginning to flee, went forth out of the city by night, by way of the gate between the two walls which was by the garden of the king (the Chaldeans being near the city round about),—and they went the way towards the Waste Plain. 8 And the force of the Chaldeans pursued<sup>h</sup> the king, and overtook Zedekiah in the Waste Plains of Jericho,— and [all his force] was scattered from him.

9 So they seized the king, and brought him up unto the king of Babylon at Riblah, in the land of Hamath,—and he pronounced upon him sentences of judgment. 10 And the king of Babylon slew<sup>i</sup> the sons of Zedekiah, before his eyes,— moreover also <all the princes of Judah> slew he in Riblah; 11 and <the eyes of Zedekiah> put he out,—and bound him with fetters of bronze, and the king of Babylon took<sup>j</sup> him to Babylon, and put him in prison—until the day of his death.

12 And <in the fifth month, on the tenth of the month, [the same] was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon> came Nebuzaradan, chief of the royal executioners,— who stood before the king of Babylon, into Jerusalem; 13 and he burned the house of Yahweh, and the house of the king,—yea <all the houses of Jerusalem, even every great man's house> burned he with fire; 14 and <all the walls of Jerusalem round about> did all the force of the Chaldeans who were with the chief of the royal executioners, [break down]. 15 And <some of the poor of the people, and the residue of the people who were left in the city, and the disheartened who had fallen away unto the king of Babylon, and the residue of the multitude> did Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners, [carry away captive]. 16 But <others of the poor of the land> did Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners, leave<sup>k</sup>, for vinedressers and for husbandmen.

17 And <the pillars of bronze that pertained to the house of Yahweh, and the stands, and the sea of bronze which was in the house of Yahweh> did the Chaldeans [break in pieces],—and they carried away all the bronze of them, to Babylon; 18 and <the caldrons

and the shovels and the snuffers and the dashing bowls, and the spoons, even all the utensils of bronze wherewith ministration used to be made > did they take away; <sup>19</sup> and <the basins and the censers and the dashing bowls and the caldrons and the lamps and the spoons and the cups, which were of gold, in' gold, and which were of silver, in' silver> did the chief of the royal executioners |take away|. <sup>20</sup> <As for the two pillars, the one sea, and the twelve oxen of bronze which were under the stands' which King Solomon had made for the house of Yahweh> ||without weight|| was the bronze of all these things. <sup>21</sup> Now <as for the pillars> ||eighteen cubits|| was the height' of each' pillar, and ||a line of twelve cubits|| compassed it about,—and ||the thickness thereof|| was four fingers' breadth—hollow; <sup>22</sup> and there was |a capital| upon it |of bronze|, and ||the height of each' capital|| was five cubits, with lattice-work and pomegranates upon the capital round about—||the whole|| was of bronze,—and <like these> were the second pillar and the pomegranates. <sup>23</sup> And the pomegranates were ninety-six on a side,—||all the pomegranates|| were a hundred, upon the lattice-work, round about.

sixty men of the people of the land, who were found in the midst of the city. <sup>26</sup> And <when Nebuzaradan, chief the royal executioners, had taken' them, and brought them unto the king of Babylon, at Riblah> <sup>27</sup> then did the king of Babylon smite' them and put them to death at Riblah, in the land of Hamath,—thus carried he Judah captive, away from off their own soil.

<sup>31</sup> And it came to pass <in the thirty-seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-fifth of the month> that Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the year he began to reign, |lifted up| the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and brought him forth out of prison; <sup>32</sup> and spake with him comfortable words,—and set his throne above the throne of the kings who were with him in Babylon; <sup>33</sup> so he changed his prison garments,—and used to eat bread before his face continually, all the days of his life. <sup>34</sup> And ||his allowance|| was a continual' allowance, given him from the king of Babylon, the portion of the day upon its own day, until the day of his death,—all the days of his life.

THE L A M E N T A T I O N S.

18 <sup>1</sup> How' is seated alone, the city that abounded with people, Hath become as a widow,—
She who abounded among the nations,
Was a princess among provinces,
Hath come under tribute.*

22 <sup>2</sup> She ||weepeth sore|| in the night, and ||her tear|| is on her cheek,
She hath none to comfort her, of all her lovers,—
||All her friends|| have betrayed her,
Have become her' foes.

* Chapters i. —iv. alphabetical: p. 607, ante.

2 <sup>3</sup> Carried away captive' is Judah—
Because of oppression; and Because of great servitude,
||She|| hath remained among the nations,
Hath found no place of rest,—
||All her pursuers|| have overtaken her, between straits.

7 <sup>4</sup> The ways to Zion|| are mourning,
Because none come to her appointed feasts,
||All her gates|| are desolate,
||Her priests|| are sighing,—
||Her virgins|| are grieved,
And <she> it is bitter for her'.

- ¶ <sup>5</sup> Her adversaries' have become chief,
 ¶ Her foes are at ease,
 For ¶ Yahweh hath grieved her, because of the multitude of her transgressions,— ¶ Her children have gone into captivity, before the adversary.
- ¶ <sup>6</sup> Thus hath gone forth from the daughter of Zion,
 All that adorned her,— Her princes' have become like harts' that have found no pasture,
 And have gone strengthless before the pursuer.
- ¶ <sup>7</sup> Jerusalem hath remembered'
 In the days of her humiliation and her fleeings—
 All her precious things, which have existed from the days of old,— <Now that her people have been falling into the hand of the adversary, with none' to help her>
 The adversaries have seen' her, have mocked over her sabbath-keepings.
- ¶ <sup>8</sup> Jerusalem hath grievously sinned||, ¶ For this cause <unto exile> hath she been delivered,—
 ¶ All who used to honour her|| have despised her, for they have desecrated her unseemli-
 ness,
 Yea ||she herself|| hath sighed, and turned back.
- ¶ <sup>9</sup> ¶ Her impurity|| is in her skirts,
 She hath not remembered her hereafter,
 Therefore hath she come down wonderfully,
 None to comfort her,—
 Behold, O Yahweh, my humiliation,
 That the foe' hath made himself great|.
- ¶ <sup>10</sup> <His hand> hath the adversary spread out, over all her precious things,—
 For she saw that ||the nations|| entered her sanctuary,
 As to whom thou didst command' they should not enter—in the convocation—unto thee!
- ¶ <sup>11</sup> ¶ All her people|| are sighing, seeking bread,
 They have given their precious things for food,
 to bring back life,<sup>a</sup>— Behold, O Yahweh, and discern, that I have become worthless.
- ¶ <sup>12</sup> Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by?
 Look around and see, whether there is' pain like my pain, which is severely dealt out to me,—
 In that Yahweh hath caused grief|, in the day of the glow of his anger?<sup>b</sup>
- ¶ <sup>13</sup> <From on high> sent he fire, among my bones, and laid them prostrate,—
 He spread out a net for my feet, he made me turn back,
 He made me desolate, <all the day> faint.
- <sup>14</sup> The yoke of my transgressions hath been bound| by his hand—
 They have intertwined themselves, have come up on my neck, it hath paralysed my strength,—
 My Lord hath delivered me| into the hands of those against whom I cannot rise up.
- <sup>15</sup> My Lord hath flouted at all my magnates| in my midst,
 He hath called against me a host,<sup>a</sup> to crush
 my young men,—
 <A vinepress> hath My Lord trodden, to<sup>b</sup>
 the virgin, the daughter of Judah.
- <sup>16</sup> <For these things> am ||I|| weeping,
 ¶ Mine eye, mine eye|| is running down with waters,
 For <far from me> is any who could comfort, could bring back my life,—
 My sons are amazed, for strong' is the foe.
- <sup>17</sup> Zion hath spread forth| her hands, there is
 none' to comfort her,
 Yahweh hath given command|, respecting Jacob, unto them who surround him—his adversaries,— Jerusalem hath become as a removed woman,
 in their midst.
- <sup>18</sup> Righteous' is Yahweh, for <against his bidding> had I rebelled,— Hear, I pray you, all ye peoples, and see my pain,<sup>a</sup>
 ¶ My virgins and my young men|| have gone into exile.
- <sup>19</sup> I called to my lovers, ||they|| deceived me,
 ¶ My priests and mine elders|| |in the city|
 have breathed their last,—
 For they sought them food, that they might bring back their life.
- <sup>20</sup> See, O Yahweh, that I am in distress,
 ¶ Mine inward parts|| are<sup>a</sup> in ferment,
 My heart is turned within me,
 For I have ||obstinately rebelled||,—
 <Without> bereaveth the sword, <Within> is like death!
- <sup>21</sup> They have heard—that |sighing am| I, [and am
 saying]—
 There is none to comfort me,
 ¶ All my foes||—having heard of my calamity—
 have rejoiced,
 Because ||thou|| hast done it,—
 Thou hast brought in the day thou didst proclaim,
 So let them become like me.
- <sup>22</sup> Let all their wickedness |come in| before thee,
 And deal thou severely with them',
 According as thou hast dealt severely with me,<sup>f</sup> for all my transgressions;
 For many' are my sighs, and ||my heart|| is sick.

- 2 <sup>1</sup> How<sup>a</sup> could My Lord, in his anger, | enshroud in gloom |
The daughter of Zion ?
Have cast from the heavens to the earth,
The beauty of Israel ?
And not have remembered his footstool,<sup>a</sup>
In the day of his anger ?
- 3 <sup>2</sup> My Lord hath swallowed up—without pity—
All the pastures of Jacob,
Hath laid waste—in his indignation—
The strongholds of the daughter of Judah,
Hath brought them down to the ground,— Hath profaned the kingdom, and the princes thereof.
- 4 <sup>3</sup> He hath broken off—in the glow of his anger—
The whole horn of Israel, Hath turned back his right hand, from the face of the foe,—
And hath kindled against Jacob, a very fire of flame,
Devouring round about.
- 5 <sup>4</sup> He hath trodden his bow like a foe,
His right hand erect<sup>a</sup> as an adversary,
And hath slain all them who delighted the eye,— <In the home<sup>b</sup> of the daughter of Zion> hath he poured out, as fire, his indignation.
- 6 <sup>5</sup> My Lord<sup>c</sup> hath become like a foe<sup>c</sup>, Hath swallowed up Israel,
Hath swallowed up all her<sup>c</sup> castles, ruined his strongholds,— and Hath caused to abound, in the daughter of Judah, lamentation and mourning.
- 7 <sup>6</sup> Thus hath he destroyed, like a garden,<sup>d</sup> his pavilion,
Hath laid waste his place of assembly,—
Yahweh | hath caused to be forgotten |, in Zion,
The appointed assembly and the sabbath,
And hath spurned, in the indignation of his anger,
The king and the priest.
- 8 <sup>7</sup> My Lord hath rejected<sup>e</sup> his altar,
Hath abhorred his sanctuary, Hath delivered, into the hand of the foe, the walls of her castles,—
<A voice> have they uttered in the house of Yahweh,
As on the day of an appointed assembly.
- 9 <sup>8</sup> Yahweh hath devised<sup>f</sup> to lay in ruins,
The wall of the daughter of Zion,
He hath stretched out a line,
He hath not turned back his hand
From swallowing up,— Thus hath he caused to mourn—rampart<sup>g</sup> and wall,
Together<sup>h</sup> have they languished !

- 9 Her gates | have sunk in the earth |,
He hath destroyed and broken in pieces, her bars,—
||Her king and her princes|| are among the nations,
There is no instruction,
||Even her prophets|| have found no vision,
from Yahweh.
- 10 Seated on the ground, in silence,
Are the elders of the daughter of Zion,
They have lifted up dust on their head,
Have girded themselves with sackcloth,—
Bowed down to the ground is the head,
Of the virgins of Jerusalem.<sup>a</sup>
- 11 Blinded with tears<sup>a</sup> are mine eyes,
In ferment<sup>b</sup> is my body,<sup>b</sup>
Poured out to the earth<sup>c</sup> is my grief,<sup>c</sup>
For the sore hurt of the daughter of my people,—
When child and suckling are swooning,
In the broadways of the city.
- 12 <To their mothers> they keep saying,
Where are corn and wine ?
Swooning off, like one thrust through,
In the broadways of the city,
Pouring out their life<sup>d</sup>
Into the bosom of their mothers.
- 13 How shall I solemnly admonish thee ?
What shall I liken to thee,
Thou daughter of Jerusalem ?
What shall I compare with thee, that I may comfort thee,
Thou virgin, daughter of Zion ?
For <great as the sea> is thy grievous injury,
Who can heal thee ?
- 14 ||Thy prophets|| have had visions for thee,
False and foolish,
And have not unveiled thine iniquity,
To turn back thy captivity,—
Yea they have had visions for thee,
Oracles of falsehood, and enticements !
- 15 All passing by, | have clapped, over thee, their
hands |,
Have hissed and wagged their head
Over the daughter of Jerusalem,—[saying]
Is ||this|| the city, of which men used to say—
The perfection of beauty !
A joy to the whole earth !
- 16 All thy foes | have opened wide, over thee, their
mouth |,
They have hissed, and gnashed their teeth,
They have said—
We have swallowed [her] up !
Surely ||this|| is the day for which we have waited,
We have found ! We have seen !

Than the slain of the famine,—
For ||these|| pine away, stricken through,
Wanting the produce of the field.

Have cooked their own children,—
They have served as nourishment to them,
In the grievous injury of the daughter of my people.

Hath poured out the glow of his anger:
And hath kindled a fire in Zion,
Which hath devoured her foundations.

inhabitants of the world, [believed]
That an adversary or an enemy [should

The iniquities of her priests,—
Who have been pouring out, in her midst,
The blood of the righteous!

Have defiled themselves with blood;
So that men may not touch their gar-

Have they cried to them,
Turn aside! Turn aside! Do not touch!
<Because they have fled, yea, wandered>

They will not again' tarry;

He will look them out no more:
<The persons of the priests> they have not

- 17 Still' shall our eyes fail',
For our help that is vain:
<In our watchtower><sup>c</sup> have we watched—
For a nation that will not save.
- 18 They have laid snares for<sup>d</sup> our steps,
That we cannot walk in our own broadways:
Drawn near' hath our end, Fulfilled' are our days,
Yea arrived' hath our end.
- 19 Swifter' are our pursuers, than the eagles of the after us,

<In the wilderness> have they lain in wait for us.

Thou inhabitress in the land of Uz,— <Even unto thee> shall the cup' pass
along,
Thou shalt be drunken, and expose thy shame.

Zion,

THE BOOK OF THE PROPHET EZEKIEL.

§ 1. A Lightning Throne seen by the River Chebar.

- 1 <sup>1</sup> And it came to pass <sup>h</sup> in the thirtieth year, in the fourth month, on the fifth day of the month, I' being in the midst of them of the captivity, by the river Chebar, that the heavens were opened, and I saw visions of God.<sup>i</sup> 2 <sup>2</sup> On the fifth of the month, that was the fifth year of the captivity of King Jehoiachin, <sup>j</sup> in very deed came the word of Yahweh, unto Ezekiel son of Buzi, the priest, in the land of the Chaldeans, by the river Chebar,—yea the hand of Yahweh came on him there.

4 So then I beheld, and lo! a tempestuous wind coming out of the North, a great cloud, and a fire catching hold of itself,<sup>a</sup> and it had a brightness round about,—and <sup>h</sup> out of the midst thereof as burnished copper<sup>b</sup> to look upon, out of the midst of the fire; <sup>i</sup> and <sup>j</sup> out of the midst thereof a likeness of four living ones,—and this was their appearance, <sup>k</sup> the likeness of a man had they; <sup>l</sup> and <sup>m</sup> four faces each, and <sup>n</sup> four wings each had they; <sup>o</sup> and <sup>p</sup> their feet were straight feet,—and <sup>q</sup> the sole of their feet was like the sole of the foot of a calf, but sparkling, as shining bronze to look upon; <sup>r</sup> and <sup>s</sup> the hands of a man were under their wings, on their four sides,—and <sup>t</sup> their faces and their wings|| belonged to the four of them: <sup>9</sup> <joined to each other> were their wings,—they turned not when they went, <each one straight before him> did they go; <sup>10</sup> and ||the likeness of their faces|| was the face of a man, with the face of a lion to the right of the four of them, and <the face of an ox, on the left> of the four of them,—<the face of an eagle> also had they four; <sup>11</sup> and ||their wings||<sup>a</sup> were spread<sup>b</sup> |above|,—||two of each|| joined one another, and ||two|| covered their bodies; <sup>12</sup> and <each one, straight before him> did they go,—<whithersoever the spirit was minded to go> they went, they turned not when they went. <sup>13</sup> <As for the likeness of the living ones> ||their<sup>c</sup> appearance|| was like live coals of fire, burning up like the appearance of torches, ||the same|| went to and fro between the living ones,—and the fire had ||brightness||, and <out of the fire> went forth<sup>d</sup> lightning. <sup>14</sup> And ||the living ones|| ran and returned,<sup>e</sup>—like the appearance of a flash of lightning.

<sup>18</sup> <As for their rings> they were so high, that they were terrible,—and <their rings full of eyes round about> had they four. <sup>19</sup> And

<when the living ones went> the wheels went |beside them|,—and <when the living ones were lifted up from the earth> the wheels were lifted up: <sup>20</sup> <whithersoever the spirit was minded to go> they went—||thither|| was the spirit minded to go,—and ||the wheels|| would be lifted up along with them, for ||the spirit of the living one||<sup>h</sup> was in the wheels: <sup>21</sup> <when they went> these<sup>i</sup> went, and <when they stood> these<sup>j</sup> stood,—and <when they were lifted up from off the earth> the wheels were lifted up |along with them|, for ||the spirit of the living one|| was in the wheels.

<sup>24</sup> And I heard the sound of their wings, as the sound of many waters, as the sound of the Almighty, |when they went|, the sound of a storm, as the sound of a host,—<when they stood> they let down their wings. <sup>25</sup> And there was a voice above the expanse that was over their head,—<when they stood> they let down their wings.

§ 2. One who Speaks sends Ezekiel to Them of the Captivity.

<sup>1</sup> And he said unto me,—
Son of man,

Stand upon thy feet, that I may speak with thee.

<sup>2</sup> Then the Spirit entered into me, as soon as he spake unto me, and it caused me to stand upon my feet,—and I heard one speaking unto me. <sup>3</sup> And he said unto me—

Son of man,

I' am sending thee<sup>i</sup> unto the sons of Israel, unto rebellious<sup>j</sup> nations, which have rebelled against me,—||they and their fathers|| have transgressed against me, until this very day; <sup>4</sup> and it is <unto such<sup>k</sup> sons—of shameless face, and emboldened heart> that I' am sending thee,—therefore shalt thou say unto them,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>5</sup> And ||they|| <whether they will hear or whether they will forbear, for ||a perverse<sup>c</sup> house|| they are> shall then know that ||a prophet|| hath been in their midst.

<sup>6</sup> But ||thou, son of man||

Be not afraid of them,

Nor <of their words> be afraid,

<Though ||thorns and thistles|| are about thee,

And <amongst prickly plants> thou dost dwell>

<Of their words> be not afraid, nor

<At their faces> be thou dismayed,

For  they are!

7 Thou shalt therefore speak my words unto them, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear,
For <perverse><sup>a</sup> they are!

8 ¶Thou, therefore, son of man, hear what I' am speaking unto thee, become not perverse, like the perverse house,—open thy mouth, and eat that which I' am giving unto thee.

9 So I looked, and lo! a hand' put forth unto me,—and lo! therein, a scroll; <sup>10</sup> and he spread it out before me, and ¶it was written: on the front and the back,—and there were written thereon, lamentation<sup>b</sup> and sighing, and wailing.

3 ¶Then said he unto me,
Son of man,
<What thou findest> eat,—eat this roll, and go speak unto the house<sup>c</sup> of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth,—and he caused me to eat this roll. <sup>3</sup> Then said he unto me,

Son of man,
<Thy belly> cause thou to eat, and <thy bowels> fill thou with this roll, which I' am giving unto thee.

So I did eat, and it became <in my mouth> as honey for sweetness. <sup>4</sup> Then said he unto me,—

Son of man,
Go get thee unto the house of Israel, and thou shalt speak with my words, unto them. <sup>5</sup> For <not unto a people deep of lip and heavy of tongue> art ¶thou sent — [but] unto the house of Israel: <sup>6</sup> ¶not unto many peoples, deep of lip and heavy of tongue, whose words thou couldst not understand,—surely <if ¶unto them I had sent thee> ¶they would have hearkened unto thee. <sup>7</sup> But ¶the house of Israel will not be willing to hearken ¶unto thee, for they are not willing to hearken ¶unto me,—for ¶all the house of Israel are ¶bold of forehead and hard of heart. <sup>8</sup> Lo! I have made thy face bold, like as their faces,—and thy forehead bold, like as their forehead. <sup>9</sup> <As an adamant, harder than flint> have I made thy forehead,—thou shalt not fear them, neither shalt thou be dismayed at their faces,

For  they are!

10 Then said he unto me,—

Son of man,
<All my words which I shall speak unto thee> receive thou into thy heart, and <in thine ears> hear thou: <sup>11</sup> then go get thee unto them of the captivity, unto the sons of thy people, and thou shalt speak unto them, and say unto them,

¶Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh,— whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear.

12 Then the Spirit ¶lifted me up, and I heard behind me the sound of a great rushing,—

Blessed be the glory of Yahweh,
From his place!<sup>a</sup>

13 Yea the sound of the wings of the living ones, gently touching each other, and the sound of the wheels, along with them, ¶even the sound of a great rushing.

14 So ¶the Spirit ¶lifted me up, and took me away,—and I went bitterly, in the rage of my spirit, but ¶the hand of Yahweh upon me was ¶strong.

15 Thus came I unto them of the captivity, at Tel-abib, who were dwelling towards the river Chebar, and I dwelt where<sup>b</sup> ¶they were dwelling; ¶yea I dwelt there seven days, ¶stunned in their midst. <sup>16</sup> And it came to pass <at the end of seven days> that the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:

17 Son of man,
<A watchman> have I appointed thee, to the house of Israel,—and thou shalt hear, at my mouth, a message, and shalt warn them' ¶from me. <sup>18</sup> <When I say to the lawless man—

Thou shalt ¶surely die, and thou hast not given him warning, neither hast spoken to warn the lawless man from his lawless way, to save himself alive> ¶the same lawless man ¶in his iniquity shall die, but <his blood> ¶at thy hand I will require. <sup>19</sup> Whereas <when ¶thou hast warned a lawless man, and he hath not turned from his lawlessness, and from his lawless way> ¶he ¶in his iniquity shall die, but ¶thou hast delivered ¶thine own soul.

20 And <when a righteous man hath turned' from his righteousness, and committed perversity, and I have suffered a stumbling-block to be laid before him> ¶he shall die, —<though thou hast not warned him> ¶in his sin shall he die, neither shall be remembered, his righteous deeds<sup>c</sup> which he hath done, but <his blood> ¶at thy hand I will require; <sup>21</sup> whereas <when ¶thou hast warned a righteous man,

That a righteous man ¶must not sin, and ¶he hath not sinned> he shall ¶surely live ¶in that he took warning, and ¶thou hast delivered ¶thine own soul.

<sup>a</sup> So in Cod. Mugh. In some cod. (w. 3 ear. pr. edns., Aram., Sep. and Syr.): "a perverse house." Cp. vv. 5, 6—G-n.

<sup>b</sup> So read; and so both written and read in some cod. (w. 3 ear. pr. edns.). [M.C.T. writes: "and unto where"]—G-n.

<sup>c</sup> Written: "his righteousness"; but read: "righteousnesses" (or "righteousdeeds" [pl.]). In some cod. (w. 1 ear. pr. edn.) both written and read in the plural—G-n.

<sup>22</sup> Then came upon me there, the hand of Yahweh,—and he said unto me, Arise, go forth into the valley, and <there> will I speak with thee.

<sup>23</sup> So I arose, and went forth into the valley, and lo! there, the glory of Yahweh standing, like the glory which I saw, by the river Chebar,—and I fell upon my face. <sup>24</sup> Then the Spirit [entered into me], and caused me to stand upon my feet,—and he spake with me, and said unto me,

Go in, shut thyself up, in the midst of thine own house. <sup>25</sup> And <thou—O son of man> lo! they have put upon thee bands, and they will bind thee therewith,—so that thou go not forth in their midst; <sup>26</sup> <thy tongue also> will I cause to cleave unto the roof of thy mouth, so shalt thou be dumb, and not be to them a reprover,<sup>a</sup>—

For  they are!

<sup>27</sup> But <when I speak with thee> I will open thy mouth,<sup>b</sup> and thou shalt say unto them,

||Thus|| saith My Lord Yahweh,—
<He that is minded to hear> let him hear,
And <he that is minded to forbear> let him forbear!

For  they are!

§ 4. A Miniature Symbol of the Siege of Jerusalem.

Take thee a tile, and lay it before thee,—and portray thereon a city, even Jerusalem.

<sup>2</sup> Then shalt thou lay siege against it,
And build up against it a siege-wall,
And cast up against it, a mound,—
And set against it camps,
And place against it battering-rams round about.

<sup>3</sup> ||Thou|| therefore, take thee a pan of iron, and set it for a wall of iron, between thee and the city,—then shalt thou direct thy face against it, and it shall come into siege, and thou shalt lay siege to it,  shall it be to the house of Israel.

<sup>5</sup> ||I|| therefore, have appointed thee the years of their punishment, by the number of days, a hundred<sup>c</sup> and ninety days,—so shalt thou bear the iniquity of the house of Israel.

<sup>7</sup> Thus then <unto the siege of Jerusalem> shalt thou direct thy face, with thine arms made bare,—so shalt thou prophesy against it. <sup>8</sup> And lo! I have laid upon thee bands,—and thou shalt not turn thee from thy one side to thine other, until thou hast ended the days of thy siege.

<sup>9</sup> ||Thou|| therefore, take thee wheat and barley and peas and lentils and millet and spelt, and put them in one vessel, and make them ready for thee as bread,—<during the number of days which thou art lying on thy side, a hundred<sup>a</sup> and ninety days shalt thou eat it; <sup>10</sup> and ||thy food, which thou shalt eat|| shall be by weight, two shekels a day,—<from time to time> shalt thou eat it; <sup>11</sup> and <water, by measure> shalt thou drink, the sixth part of a hin, from time to time shalt thou drink; <sup>12</sup> <as a barley cake> shalt thou eat it,—and <the same, with dung proceeding from man> shalt thou bake, before their eyes.

<In like manner> shall the sons of Israel eat their bread defiled,—among the nations, whither I will drive them.

<sup>14</sup> Then said I,
Ah! My Lord, Yahweh, lo! ||my person> hath not been defiled: <neither of what hath died of itself, nor of what hath been torn in pieces> have I eaten from my youthful days even until now, neither is there come into my mouth the flesh of a man or of a beast.

<sup>15</sup> So then he said unto me,
See, I have granted thee, cow's dung man's dung,—and thou shalt prepare bread thereupon.

<sup>16</sup> And he said unto me,
Son of man,
Behold me! breaking the staff of bread in Jerusalem,
So shall they eat bread by weight, and with anxious care,
And <water, by measure, and in astonishment> shall they drink:

<sup>17</sup> that they may lack bread and water and be astonished one with another, and pine in their punishment.<sup>c</sup>

 [A third part] <in the fire> shalt thou burn, in the midst of the city, when the days of the siege [are fulfilled],—and thou shalt take a third part, thou shalt smite it with the cutting instrument round about it, and  shalt thou scatter to the wind, and  will I<sup>b</sup> make bare after them; <sup>3</sup> and thou shalt take from thence, a few in number,—and shalt bind them in thy skirts; <sup>4</sup> and <of them> again take, and cast them into the midst of the fire, and burn them in the fire,—<therefrom> shall go forth a fire, unto all the house of Israel.

[Therefore]
 ¶Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 <Because ye have become more rebellious than the nations who are round about you,
 <In my statutes> have not walked,
 And <my regulations><sup>c</sup> have not done,
 And <according to the regulations<sup>c</sup> of the nations which are round about you> have not<sup>d</sup> done>:

[Therefore]
 ¶Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 Lo! I am against thee, [even I]
 Therefore will I execute in thy midst, judgments, in the eyes of the nations;
 Yea I will execute upon thee that which I have not executed,
 And like unto which I will not execute again,—
 Because of all thine abominations.
 ¶Therefore [fathers] will eat [sons] in thy midst,
 And [sons] will eat [fathers],—
 And I will execute upon thee judgments,
 And will scatter the whole remnant of thee, to every wind.

¶Therefore <as I live>
 Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,—
 Surely <because <my sanctuary> thou hast defiled, with all thy detestable things, and with all thine abominations> ¶Even I also will cut off<sup>e</sup> and mine eye [shall not spare], ¶Yea even I will not pity.

¶The third part of thee [by pestilence] shall die, and <by famine> be consumed in thy midst,

And [the third part] <by the sword> shall fall round about thee,—

And [the third part] <to every wind> will I scatter, and  will I make bare after them.

So shall mine anger [have an end],
 And I will cause mine indignation [to find rest] upon<sup>a</sup> them, and will console myself,—
 And they shall know<sup>a</sup> that [I, Yahweh] have spoken in my jealousy, when mine indignation [hath come to an end] upon them.

And I will deliver thee up to desolation and reproach, among the nations that are round about thee,—in the eyes of every passer-by.

So shall it become a reproach and an insult, a warning and an astonishment, to<sup>b</sup> the nations that are round about thee,—in that I have executed upon thee judgments, in anger and in indignation, and in rebukes of indignation.

¶I, Yahweh have spoken:
 In that I have sent the malignant arrows of famine among them, which<sup>c</sup> were for destruction, which I will send to destroy you,—and <famine> will I increase upon you, and will break for you the staff of bread. <sup>17</sup> So will I send upon you famine and mischievous beast, and they shall bereave thee,—and [pestilence and blood] shall pass through thee,—and  will I bring in upon thee,

¶I, Yahweh have spoken.

§ 6. Against the Mountains of Israel.

1 Then came the word of Yahweh, unto me, 6 saying:

2 Son of man,
 Set thy face against the mountains of Israel,—and prophesy unto them; <sup>3</sup> and say,
 Ye mountains of Israel, hear ye the word of My Lord, Yahweh,—

¶Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh—
 To the mountains and to the hills, to the hollows and to the valleys,— Behold me!

I am bringing upon you a sword,
 And I will destroy your high places;

 And your sun-pillars [shall be broken in pieces],—

- <sup>5</sup> And I will lay the carcases of the sons of Israel, before their<sup>a</sup> manufactured gods,—
And will scatter your bones round about your altars.
- <sup>6</sup> <In all your dwelling-places>
||The cities|| shall be laid waste, and
||The high places|| shall be made desolate,—
To the end your altars |may be laid waste and become desolate|,
And your manufactured gods |be broken in pieces and cease|,
And your sun-pillars |be cut down|,
And your handiworks |be abolished|.
- <sup>7</sup> And the slain |shall fall| in your midst,—
So shall ye know' that ||I|| am Yahweh.
- <sup>8</sup> Yet will I leave a remnant,
In that ye shall have such as are escaped of the sword throughout the nations,— when ye are scattered throughout the lands.
- <sup>9</sup> Then shall they who have escaped of you remember' |me|, among the nations
whither they have been carried captive,
In that I have broken<sup>b</sup> their adulterous heart, which hath turned aside from me,
And their eyes which have adulterously gone after their manufactured gods,—
So shall they become loathsome in their own sight, for the wicked things which they have done in all their abominations.
- <sup>10</sup> Then shall they know' that ||I, Yahweh||,— —<not in vain> had threatened to bring upon them this calamity.
- <sup>11</sup> ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Smite with thy hand, and stamp with thy foot, and say, Alas! regarding all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel,—in that <by sword, by famine, and by pestilence> shall they fall:
- <sup>12</sup> ||He that is far off|| <by pestilence> shall die, and
||He that is near|| <by the sword> shall fall, and
||He that is left and is besieged|| <by the famine> shall die;
- Thus will I make an end of mine indignation against them.
- <sup>13</sup> So shall ye know' that ||I|| am Yahweh,
In that their slain are in the midst of their manufactured gods, on every side of their altars,—
Upon every high hill,
In all the tops of the mountains, and Under every green tree, and Under every tangled oak,
The place where they offered a satisfying' odour to all their manufactured gods.
- <sup>14</sup> Thus will I stretch out my hand upon them, and make the land a greater waste and devastation than the desert toward Diblah,<sup>a</sup> throughout all their dwelling-places,—

And they shall know' that ||I|| am Yahweh.

- <sup>1</sup> And the word of Yahweh came unto me, 7 saying:
- <sup>2</sup> ||Thou|| therefore, O son of man,
||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
<To the soil of Israel> there is an end,—
The end |hath come| upon the four skirts of the land.
- <sup>3</sup> ||Now|| is the end upon thee,
Therefore will I send mine anger against thee,
And judge thee according to thy ways,—
And lay upon thee all thine abominations;
- <sup>4</sup> And mine eye |shall not shield thee|,
Neither will I pity,—
For <thy ways—upon thee> will I lay<sup>b</sup>
And ||thine abominations|| <in thy midst> shall be found,
So shall ye know' that ||I|| am Yahweh.
- <sup>5</sup> ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh:
<A calamity, a sole calamity><sup>c</sup> lo! it hath come.
- <sup>6</sup> ||An end|| hath come,
Come' hath the end,
It hath roused itself up against thee,—
Lo! it hath come.
- <sup>7</sup> The circle |hath come round| unto thee, O inhabitant of the land,—
The time |hath come|,
The day of consternation |hath drawn near|,
And not the joyful shout of the mountains.
- <sup>8</sup> ||Now shortly|| will I pour out mine indignation upon thee,
And will bring to an end mine anger against thee,
And will judge thee according to thy ways,—
And will lay upon thee all thine abominations.
- <sup>9</sup> And mine eye shall not shield thee,
Neither will I have pity,—

Lo! it hath come,—
The circle |hath gone forth|,
The sceptre |hath blossomed|,
Insolence |hath sprouted|:
11 ||Violence|| hath risen up as a sceptre of lawlessness,—
There are none of them,
And none of their multitude,
And none of their throngs,
And no lamentation over them.<sup>a</sup>
- 12 The time |hath come|,
The day |hath arrived|,
<The buyer> let him not rejoice, and
<The seller> let him not mourn,—
For ||indignation|| is against all her multitude.

as the doves of the valleys, ||all of them||
cooing,—each one in his punishment.<sup>e</sup>

||All knees|| shall be weak as water.<sup>f</sup>
18 Therefore shall they gird themselves with sackcloth,
And shuddering shall cover them,—

And <in all their heads> baldness,
19 ||Their silver|| <into the streets> shall they cast, and
||Their gold|| <for throwing away> shall serve,
||Their silver and their gold|| shall not be able to deliver them, in the day of the wrath of Yahweh,
<Their craving><sup>g</sup> shall they not satisfy,
and
<Their belly> shall they not fill,— For  hath their iniquity become.

had |in majesty| placed>
Then <the images> of their abominations,

||For this cause|| have I delivered it up to them for removal;
21 Yea I will deliver it
Into the hand of foreigners' for a prey,
And to the lawless ones of the earth' for a spoil,
And they will profane it;
22 And I will turn away my face from them,
And they will profane my cherished place,—
Yea there will enter it violent men,
Who will profane it.
23 Prepare thou a chain,—
For ||the land|| is full of the crime of bloodshed,
And ||the city|| is full of violence.
24 So then I will bring in the wicked ones of the
nations,
And they shall take possession of their houses,—
And I will cause to cease the pomp of the strong ones,
And their holy places |shall be profaned|.
25 ||Destruction||<sup>b</sup> hath entered,—
And they shall seek welfare, and there be' none.
26 ||Disaster upon disaster|| shall come,
And ||report after<sup>c</sup> report|| shall arise,—
Therefore shall they seek a vision from a prophet,
And ||law||<sup>d</sup> shall perish from priest,
And counsel' from elders.
27 ||The king|| shall mourn, and
||The chief|| shall clothe himself with astonishment, and
||The hands of the people of the land|| shall be wrung in anguish,— <After their own way> will I deal with them, and
<With their own sentences><sup>e</sup> will I sentence
them,
And they shall know' that ||I|| am Yahweh.

- 1 And it came to pass <in the sixth year, in 8

<sup>3</sup> Then put he forth the similitude of a hand, and took me by the forelock of my head,—and the Spirit [lifted me up] between the earth and the heavens, and brought me to Jerusalem in the visions of God, into the opening of the inner gate that looketh toward the north, where was the seat of the Statue of Jealousy, that provoketh to jealousy; <sup>4</sup> and lo! <there> the glory of the God of Israel, like the appearance which I had seen in the valley. <sup>5</sup> Then said he unto me,

Son of man,

Lift up, I pray thee, thine eyes, the way toward the north.
So I lifted up mine eyes the way toward the north, and lo! <on the north, by the gate of the altar> this Statue of Jealousy, in the entrance. <sup>6</sup> Then said he unto me,

Son of man,

Canst thou see what they are doing,—the great abominations which [the house of Israel] are committing here, that I<sup>a</sup> should go far away from my sanctuary? Howbeit <yet again> shalt thou see great abominations.

<sup>7</sup> So he brought me into the opening of the court,—and I looked, and lo! a single<sup>b</sup> hole, in the wall. <sup>8</sup> Then said he unto me,

Son of man,

Break, I pray thee, through the wall.
So I broke through the wall, and lo! a single opening. <sup>9</sup> Then said he unto me,—

Go in, and see the wicked abominations, which they are committing here.

<sup>10</sup> So I went in, and looked, and lo! every similitude of creeping thing, and detestable beast, and all the manufactured gods of the house of Israel,—poutrayed upon the wall, round about on every side; <sup>11</sup> and [seventy men of the elders of the house of Israel, with Jaazaniah son of Shaphan, who stood in their midst] were standing before them, even every man with his censor in his hand,—and the fragrance of the cloud of incense, ascending.
<sup>12</sup> Then said he unto me,

Hast thou seen, Son of man, what [the elders of the house of Israel] are doing in the dark, every man in his image-chambers? for they are saying—

Yahweh doth not see us!<sup>c</sup>

Yahweh hath forsaken the land!<sup>d</sup>

<sup>13</sup> Then said he unto me,—

<Yet again> shalt thou see great abominations, which they are committing.

<sup>14</sup> So he brought me into the opening of the gate of the house of Yahweh, which was toward the north,—and lo! <there> women sitting,

Hast thou seen, O son of man?

<Yet again> shalt thou see greater abominations than these.

<sup>15</sup> So he brought me into the inner court of the house of Yahweh, and lo! <at the opening of the temple of Yahweh, between the porch and the altar> about twenty-five men,—[their backs] towards the temple of Yahweh, and [their faces] eastward, and they were bowing down eastward, unto the Sun. <sup>17</sup> Then said he unto me,

Hast thou seen, O son of man?

Is it too small a thing for the house of Judah, to be committing the<sup>b</sup> abominations which they have committed here,—that they have filled the land with violence, and have again provoked me to anger, and there they are! putting the branch to my<sup>c</sup> nose.

<sup>18</sup> Therefore [even I] will act with indignation, Mine eye [shall not shield],

Neither will I pity,—

<Though they have cried in mine ears, with a loud voice> yet will I not hear them.

Draw near, ye that have charge of the city,—even every man with his weapon<sup>d</sup> of destruction in his hand.

Pass along through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem,—and set thou a mark<sup>h</sup> upon the foreheads of the men who are sighing and crying over all the abominations that are being done in her midst.

have ye pity: <sup>6</sup> <elder, young man and virgin, and little ones and women> shall ye slay utterly, but <unto any man who hath upon him the mark> do not ye come near, and <at my sanctuary> shall ye begin.*

So they began with the elder men, who were before the house. <sup>7</sup> And he said unto them,

Defile ye the house, and fill the courts with the slain,—go ye forth!

So they went forth, and smote in the city.

<sup>8</sup> And it came to pass <while they were smiting them—I' being left remaining> that I fell upon my face and made outcry, and said,

Alas! My Lord, Yahweh! art thou about to destroy all the remnant of Israel, in that thou art pouring out of thine indignation upon Jerusalem?

<sup>9</sup> And he said unto me,

||The iniquity of the house of Israel, and Judah|| is ||exceeding|| great, and the land is filled' with shed blood,<sup>b</sup> and ||the city|| is full of over-reaching,<sup>c</sup>—for they have said,

Yahweh hath forsaken' the land,<sup>d</sup>— and, Yahweh doth not' see.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>10</sup> Therefore <as for even me>

Mine eye ||shall not shield||,

Neither will I pity,—

<Their way upon their own head> have I rendered.

<sup>11</sup> And lo! |the man clothed in linen, having the inkholder by his side|, bringing back word, saying,—

I have done, according to all which<sup>f</sup> thou didst command me.

<sup>12</sup> Then looked I, and lo! <in the expanse which was over the head of the cherubim, as a sapphire stone> ||as the appearance of the likeness of a throne|| appeared over them. <sup>2</sup> Then said he unto the man clothed in linen—then said he,

Go in between the whirling wheels, even under the cherub, and fill both thy hands with live coals of fire from between the cherubim, and throw<sup>h</sup> over the city.

So he went in before mine eyes. <sup>3</sup> Now

||the cherubim|| were standing on the right side of the house, when the man went in,—and ||the cloud|| filled the inner court. <sup>4</sup> Then

arose the glory of Yahweh from off the cherub, unto the threshold of the house,—and the house was filled' with the cloud, and ||the court|| was filled with the brightness of the glory of

Yahweh. <sup>5</sup> And ||the sound of the wings of the cherubim|| was heard, as far as the outer court,—like the voice of the Almighty God<sup>a</sup> when he speaketh. <sup>6</sup> So then it came to pass—<when he commanded the man clothed with linen, saying,

Take fire from between the whirling wheels, from between the cherubim> then went he in and stood beside the wheel.

<sup>7</sup> And the cherub put forth his hand from between the cherubim, unto the fire that was between the cherubim, and took up [thereof] and gave into the hands of him who was clothed with linen,—who took [it] and went forth. <sup>8</sup> Now the cherubim appeared to have, the likeness of the hand of a man, under their wings.

<sup>9</sup> Then looked I, and lo! four wheels' by the cherubim—one wheel by one cherub, and another wheel by another cherub,—and ||the appearance of the wheels|| was to look upon like a Tarshish stone;<sup>b</sup> <sup>10</sup> and <as for their appearance> ||one likeness|| had they four,—as might be a wheel in the midst of a wheel.

<sup>11</sup> <When they went> ||upon their four sides|| they went, they turned not when they went,—for <to the place whithersoever the head<sup>c</sup> turned> ||after it|| they went, they turned not when they went. <sup>12</sup> And ||all their flesh, and their back, and their hands, and their wings,—and the wheels|| were full of eyes round about, ||even their wheels which they four had||<sup>d</sup>

O whirling wheel!<sup>e</sup>

in mine ears. <sup>14</sup> And ||four faces|| had each one,—||the first face|| was the face of a cherub, and ||the second face|| was the face of a man, and ||the third|| was the face of a lion, and ||the fourth|| was the face of an eagle. <sup>15</sup> Then arose the cherubim,<sup>f</sup>—||the same|| was the living one,<sup>g</sup> which I had seen by the river Chebar. <sup>16</sup> <When the cherubim went>

then went the wheels beside them,—and <when the cherubim lifted up their wings, to arise from off the earth> ||the wheels themselves|| turned not from beside them; <sup>17</sup> <when they stood> these' stood, and <when they' arose> these' arose with them,—for ||the spirit of the living one|| was in them.

<sup>18</sup> And <when the glory of Yahweh went forth from off the threshold of the house,—and stood over the cherubim> <sup>19</sup> then the cherubim uplifted' their wings and arose from the earth, before mine eyes, as they went forth, the wheels also in unison with them,—and it stood at the opening of the gate of the house of Yahweh that was toward the east, with the glory of the God of Israel over them, |above|. <sup>20</sup> ||The same|| was the living one<sup>h</sup> which I saw under the God of Israel.

- 8 <A sword> have ye feared, —

And  will I bring in upon you,

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

- 9 So will I take you forth out of her midst, and will deliver you into the hand of foreigners, — and will execute upon you judgments.<sup>e</sup>

- 10 <By the sword> shall ye fall,

<Upon the boundary of Israel> will I judge you, —

So shall ye know<sup>f</sup> that [I] am Yahweh.

- 11 [This city]<sup>g</sup> shall not serve you for a caldron, Neither shall [ye] serve in the midst thereof, for flesh, —

<Near the boundary of Israel> will I judge you.

- 12 So shall ye know<sup>f</sup> that [I] am Yahweh,

<In whose statutes> ye have not walked, And <whose appointments> ye have not executed, —

But <according to the appointments of the nations that are round about you> have ye done.

Alas! My Lord, Yahweh!

<A full end> art thou making of the remnant of Israel?<sup>h</sup>

- 14 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:

- 15 Son of man,

[Thine own brethren, thine own brethren,<sup>i</sup> the men of thy kindred,<sup>j</sup> even all the house of Israel, all of it<sup>k</sup> are they to whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said,

[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,

<Although I have removed them far away among the nations,

And although I have dispersed them throughout the lands>

Yet have I become to them a sanctuary for a little while, in the lands which they have entered.

- 17 [Therefore] say,

[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,

Therefore will I assemble you<sup>l</sup> from among the peoples,

And gather you<sup>l</sup> out of the lands wherein ye have been dispersed, —

And will give you the soil of Israel.

- 18 So shall they come in thither, — and take away all her detestable things, and all her abominations, out of her;

- 19 And I will give them another<sup>m</sup> heart,

And  will I put within you,<sup>n</sup>

And will take away the heart of stone out of their<sup>o</sup> flesh, and give them a heart of flesh:

- 20 To the end that <in my statutes> they may walk,

And <mine appointments> they may keep, and do them, —

So shall they become my<sup>p</sup> people,

And [I] will become their<sup>q</sup> God.

- 21 But <as for them who, having a heart for their detestable things, and for their abominations, <after their own heart> do walk>

§ 8. By a Series of Symbolic Acts the Prophet emphasises Predictions of immediately impending Exile.

12 <sup>1</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:

<In the midst of a perverse house> dost thou dwell,—

Who have eyes<sup>a</sup> to see—and have not seen,
Ears<sup>a</sup> have they to hear—and have not heard,

For  they are'.

Prepare thee baggage for exile, and exile thyself by day, before their eyes,—so shalt thou exile thyself out of thy place unto another place, before their eyes, |peradventure| they will consider,<sup>a</sup> though  they are'.

<Upon the shoulder> shalt thou lift it,

<In thick darkness> take it forth,

<Thy face> shalt thou cover, so that thou see not the land;

For  have I appointed thee to the house of Israel.

<sup>7</sup> And I did so, just as I was commanded, <My baggage> took I forth as baggage for exile, by day, and <in the evening> I brake forth by myself through the wall, by force: <in the twilight> I took it forth—<on to my shoulder> I lifted it, before their eyes. <sup>8</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, in the morning, saying:

<sup>9</sup> Son of man,

Have not the house of Israel, the perverse house, |said unto thee|,—

What art thou<sup>a</sup> doing?

<sup>10</sup> Say unto them,

[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,—

<[For] the Bearer<sup>b</sup>> is this burden, in Jerusalem,<sup>a</sup> and [for] all the house of Israel, such as are in their midst.

[I] am your sign:

<As I have done> [so] shall it be done to them,

<Into exile—into captivity> shall they go.

<Upon his shoulder> shall lift it.

<In thick darkness> shall he go forth,

<Through the wall> shall they break, to bear forth through it,—

<His face> shall he cover, to the end that [his own eye] may not see the land.

<sup>13</sup> Then will I spread my net over him, and he shall be taken in my snare;

And I will take him to Babylon, in the land of the Chaldeans,

<The which> indeed, he shall not see,

And yet <there> shall he die!<sup>c</sup>

<sup>14</sup> And <all who are round about him to help him, and all his troops> will I scatter to every wind,—and  will I make bare after them.

<sup>15</sup> So shall they know<sup>d</sup> that [I] am Yahweh,—

By my dispersing them among the nations,
And scattering them throughout the lands.

<sup>16</sup> Yet will I leave remaining of them, men easily counted, from the sword, from<sup>d</sup> the famine and from the pestilence,—that they may recount all their abominations among the nations whither they have come,
So shall they know<sup>d</sup> that [I] am Yahweh.

<Thy bread, with trembling> shalt thou eat,—

And <thy water, in agitation and in fear> shalt thou drink.

<sup>19</sup> Then shalt thou say unto the people of the land,

[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh, concerning the inhabitants of Jerusalem,
upon the soil of Israel,

<Their bread, with anxious care> shall they eat,

And <their water, in astonishment> shall they drink,—

That her<sup>e</sup> land [may be deserted] of her fulness, because of the violence of all them who dwell therein:

<sup>20</sup> Yea [the cities that are inhabited] shall be laid waste,

And [the land] shall become [an astonishment],—

So shall ye know<sup>d</sup> that [I] am Yahweh.

Therefore shall every vision [come to nought]?

23 [Therefore] say unto them,
[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,
I will cause this proverb [to cease],
And they shall use it as a proverb no more, in Israel,—

But speak unto them,

And the substance* of every vision.

24 For there shall no more be—
Any vision of falsehood,

In the midst of the house<sup>b</sup> of Israel.

25 For [I, Yahweh]<sup>c</sup> will speak whatsoever word I please to speak,<sup>d</sup>
And it shall be done,
It shall not be delayed any more,—<sup>e</sup>
For <in your own days> O perverse house, will I speak a word, and perform it,

26 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:

27 Son of man,

Lo! [the house of Israel] are saying,

6 They have had Visions of falsehood, and Divinations of lies,

Who say, Declareth Yahweh, when [Yahweh] hath not sent them,—
Yet have they waited for a fulfilling of the word.

7 Is it not
 ye have seen, and  ye have spoken, Since ye are saying. Declareth Yahweh!
when [I] have not spoken?

8 [Therefore]
[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,
<Because ye have spoken falsehood,
And have had visions of lies>
[Therefore] behold me! against you,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

9 So then my hand shall be against the prophets who have Visions of falsehood, and who divine Divinations of lies,— <In the council of my people> shall they not be found,

So shall ye know' that ||I|| am Yahweh.

15 Thus will I bring to an end mine indignation against the wall, and against them who were coating it with whitewash, § 10. Against the Oracle Women.

17 And ||thou||, Son of man,

Set thy face against the daughters of thy people,

Those who are prophesying out of their own heart,—

And prophesy thou against them; <sup>18</sup> and say,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

Alas! for the women

Who sew oracle-cases on all elbows,

And prepare wraps upon the head of every stature to hunt souls,—

||The souls ye hunt|| are those of my people, Whereas <your own [souls]> ye keep alive.

19 Thus have ye profaned me unto my people, for handfuls of barley and for pieces of bread,

Putting to death the souls that should not die, and Keeping alive the souls that should not live,—

By your lying to my people, |who hearken to lies|.

20 |Therefore|

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

Behold me! against your oracle-cases where-with ye' are hunting the souls, to make them fly,

And I will tear them off your arms,—

And let go the souls of them whose souls ye' are hunting as birds;

21 And will tear off your wraps,

And deliver my people out of your hand,

And they shall be no longer in your hand, to be hunted;—

So shall ye know' that ||I|| am Yahweh.

22 <Because of the paining of the heart of the righteous man with falsehood, whom ||I|| have not pained,—

And strengthening the hands of the lawless man, that he should not turn from his wicked way, by letting him live>

23 |Therefore|— <of falsehood> shall ye have no vision,

And  shall ye not divine any more,—

So will I deliver my people out of your hand,

And ye shall know' that ||I|| am Yahweh.

§ 11. Rebuke of Idolatrous Inquirers, and of the Prophets who aid their Double Dealings.

1 Then came there unto me, men, of the elders <sup>14</sup> of Israel,—and sat before me. <sup>2</sup> And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:

3 Son of man,

||These men|| have brought up their manufactured gods, upon their heart,<sup>a</sup>

And <their stumbling-block of iniquity> have they set straight before their face,—

Shall I be ||at all enquired of|| by<sup>b</sup> them?

4 |Therefore| speak unto them and say unto them,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

<Any man whatsoever of the house of Israel,

Who shall bring up his manufactured gods upon his heart,

And set ||his stumbling-block of iniquity|| straight before his face,

And then come in unto the prophet>

||I, Yahweh|| have myself answered him [thereby].<sup>c</sup>

||By the multitude of his manufactured gods||:

5 To the end the house of Israel may be taken by their own hearts,—in that they have estranged themselves from me, through their manufactured gods— [all of them]!

6 |Therefore| say thou unto the house of Israel,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

Turn ye—and make good your return—from your manufactured gods;

And <from all your abominations> make good the turning away of your faces.

7 For <what man soever of the house of Israel Or of the sojourners who sojourn in Israel,

Who shall estrange himself from following me,

And who shall bring up his manufactured gods, on his heart,

And <whose stumbling-block of iniquity> he shall set straight before his face,—

And then come in unto the prophet, to enquire by him of me>

||I, Yahweh|| will myself answer him |on my own account|;

<sup>c</sup> So written; but read: "he hath come with the multitude," etc. Gl.: "have myself answered him on my own account," as in ver. 7—G.n.

- 8 And will set my face against that man,
And will make of him a sign and a proverb,<sup>a</sup>
And will cut him off out of the midst of my people:

So shall ye know that ||I|| am Yahweh.

- 9 <Yea ||the prophet himself|| when he suffereth himself to be deceived, and speaketh a word,
||I, Yahweh|| have suffered that prophet to be deceived>

Then will I stretch forth my hand against him, and destroy him out of the midst of my people, Israel:

- 10 So shall they bear their punishment, <As' the punishment of him that enquireth>

So' shall [the punishment of the prophet] be:

- 11 That the house of Israel [may no more go astray] from following me,
And no more defile themselves by any of their transgressions,—

But may become my' people,
And ||I|| may become their' God,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

§ 12. For a Treacherous Land, not even Noah, Daniel and Job could be heard.

- 12 And the word of Yahweh came unto me,
saying:

- 13 Son of man,

<When ||a land|| shall sin against me by committing treachery, and I shall stretch out my hand against it,
And break for it the staff of bread,
And send thereon famine,
And cut off therefrom man and beast>

- 14 Then <should these three men be in the midst thereof, Noah, Daniel, and Job>
||They|| [by their righteousness] should deliver their own lives—<sup>b</sup>

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

- 15 <If  I suffer to pass through the land, and that beast bereave' it, so that it become too desolate for any man to pass through, by reason of the wild beast>

- 16 [Were] these three men in the midst
thereof>

||As I live||

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,
Surely <neither sons nor daughters> should they deliver,
||They alone|| should be delivered,
But ||the land|| should become a desolation.

- 17 <Or  I should bring upon that land, and should say, O sword! thou shalt go through the land, and so

||As I live|| Saith My Lord, Yahweh, daughters,—

For ||they alone|| should be delivered.

- 19 <Or <pestilence> I should send into that land,—and should pour out mine indignation thereon in blood, to cut off therefrom, man and beast>

- 20 <Were Noah, Daniel and Job in the midst
thereof>

||As I live||

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Surely neither <son nor daughter> should they deliver,

||They||, [by their righteousness] should deliver [only] their own lives.

- 21 For ||thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
How much less [should they avail] when <my four calamitous judgments, sword and famine and mischievous wild beast and pestilence>

I have sent against Jerusalem,—to cut off therefrom, man and beast?

- 22 Yet lo! there hath been left therein, a remnant of fugitives to be brought forth —sons and daughters,—

There they are! coming forth unto you,
And so ye shall see their way, and their doings, and be consoled, over the calamity which I have brought in upon Jerusalem, even all that I have brought in upon
her.

- 23 Yea they shall console you, when ye see their way and their doings,—

So shall ye know that <not without cause> have I done, anything that I have done with her,

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

§ 13. Parable of the Vine—Useless for Secondary Work.

- 1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, 15
saying:

- 2 Son of man,

What can the vine-tree be more than any other tree,—any ||branch|| which hath been found among the trees of the forest?

- 3 Shall there be taken from it wood, to be made into any work?

Or will men take therefrom a peg, to hang thereon any vessel?

- 4 Lo! <into the fire> it is given up for fuel,—
<The two ends thereof> doth the fire devour,

And ||the middle thereof|| is charred,
Is it fit for any work?

5 Lo! <while it was yet whole> it could not be made into any work,—
How much less, when [the fire] hath devoured it, and it is charred, can it still be made into any work?

6 [Therefore]

[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,

<As a vine-tree among the trees of the forest, which I have given up to the fire for fuel> [so] have I given up the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

7 Therefore will I set my face against them,
<Out of one fire> have they come forth,
But <another fire> shall devour them,—
So shall ye know that [I] am Yahweh, by my setting my face against them;

8 I will therefore give up the land as a desolation,—because they have committed treachery, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

16 1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:

2 Son of man,

Let Jerusalem know her abominations,

3 Therefore shalt thou say—

[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,
To Jerusalem,

[Thine origin and thy birth] were of the land of the Canaanite,—

[Thy father] was the Amorite,

And [thy mother] a Hittite,

4 And [as for thy birth] <in the day thou wast born>

Thy navel-cord was not cut,

And <in water> wast thou not bathed, to cleanse thee,—

And <as for being salted><sup>a</sup> thou wast not salted,<sup>a</sup>

And <as for being bandaged> thou wast not bandaged.

5 No eye [threw a shield over thee], by doing for thee one of these things, taking pity on thee,—

But thou wast cast out, on the face of the field,
Because thy person<sup>b</sup> [was abhorred], in the day thou wast born.

6 And I passed by thee, and looked upon thee, thrusting about thee in thy blood,
And said to thee—

<Despite<sup>c</sup> thy blood> live!

Yea I said to thee—

<Despite<sup>c</sup> thy blood> live!

7 <Into myriads—like the bud of the field> made I thee,

And thou didst increase, and become well-grown, and didst attain to most excellent adornments,—

[Thy breasts] were well-formed,<sup>d</sup>

And [thy hair] was grown,

But [thou thyself] wast utterly naked.

8 And I passed by thee, and looked upon thee, and lo! [thy time] was the time for endearments,

So I spread my skirt over thee, and covered thy shame,—

And took an oath to thee,

And entered into covenant with thee,

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,

And thou didst become mine.

9 And I bathed thee in water, and rinsed thy blood from off thee,

And anointed thee with oil;

10 And clothed thee with an embroidered dress,
And sandalled thee in red leather,—

And wrapped thee about with fine linen,

And put over thee a mantle of silk.

11 Then decked I thee with ornaments,—

And put bracelets upon thy hands,

And a neckchain upon thy throat;

12 And put a nose-jewel upon thy nose,
And earrings in<sup>a</sup> thine ears,—

And a crown of adorning upon thy head.

13 Thus wast thou adorned with gold and silver,
And [thy raiment] was of fine linen and silk,
and embroidered work,

<Fine flour and honey and oil> didst thou eat,—

And so thou becamest exceedingly<sup>c</sup> beautiful,
And didst attain unto royalty.

14 Then went forth thy fame<sup>b</sup> among the nations, for thy beauty,—

For <perfect> it was—in my splendour which I had put upon thee,

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

15 Then didst thou trust in thy beauty,

And become unchaste, because of thy fame,—

And didst pour out thine unchastity upon every passer-by, his<sup>c</sup> it was!

16 Yea thou didst take of thy raiment and madest thee high places of hangings,

And didst commit unchastity thereon,—

Which ought not to have befallen,

And not to have come to pass.

17 But thou didst take thine adorning<sup>c</sup> jewels,

Of my gold and of my silver, which I had given thee,

And didst make thee images of the male,—<sup>c</sup>

And didst act unchastely with them;

18 And thou didst take thine embroidered raiment, and cover them,—

And <mine oil and mine incense> didst thou set before them;

19 And my food<sup>c</sup> which I had given thee,

Fine flour and oil and honey wherewith I fed thee,

And didst set it before them for a satisfying<sup>c</sup> odour,

Yea so it was,—

Saith My Lord, Yahweh.

When thou wast utterly naked,
When thou wast | thrusting about thee in thy blood|!
- 23 And it came to pass <after all thy wickedness>
Woe! Woe! to thee,
Exclaimeth My Lord, Yahweh;
- 24 That thou didst build thee a brothel,<sup>a</sup>—
And didst make thee a height, in every broadway:
- 25 <At the head of every road> didst thou build thy height,
And bring thy beauty into disgust,
And open thy feet to every passer-by,—
So didst thou make thine unchaste ways to abound.
- 26 Then didst thou extend thine unchaste acts unto the sons of Egypt—thy neighbours, great of flesh,—
And caused thine unchaste ways to abound, provoking me to anger.
- 27 Lo! therefore, I have stretched out my hand against<sup>b</sup> thee,
And diminished thine allotted portion,—
And have delivered thee up unto the desire<sup>c</sup> of them who hate thee,
The daughters of the Philistines, who are ashamed of thy lewd way.
- 28 Thou didst also extend thine unchastity unto the sons of Assyria, because thou wast insatiable.
Yet <though thou didst behave unchastely with them> yet ||even so|| couldst thou not be satisfied,
- 29 Thou didst therefore cause thine unchaste ways to abound unto the land of Canaan, as towards Chaldea.
Yet <even herewith> wast thou not satisfied. <sup>30</sup> How weak was thy heart!
Exclaimeth My Lord, Yahweh,—
That thou couldst have done all these things,
The doing of a lewd woman,<sup>d</sup> without shame:<sup>e</sup>
- 31 That thou couldst have built thy brothel<sup>a</sup> at the head of every road,
And <thy height> couldst have made in every broadway,—
Yet becamest not as a harlot, to lay claim to a harlot's hire.
- 32 ||A wife who committeth adultery|| instead of her husband' accepteth strangers'.
- 33 <To all harlots> they give a present,—
But ||thou|| didst give thy' presents to all thy lovers,
And didst bribe them' to come in unto thee from every side, |in thine unchastity|!
- 34 And so there came about <in thee> the reverse of women, in thine unchastity,
In that they' did not follow thee' for purposes of lewdness,—
And in that thou' gavest a present, while ||no present|| was given to thee',
So didst thou become |the reverse|.
- 35 |Therefore| O harlot, hear thou the word of Yahweh;
- 36 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,—
<Because thy money<sup>b</sup> |was poured out|, and thy shame |was uncovered|, in thine unchastity, unto thy lovers,—and unto all thine abominable manufactured gods, even as<sup>c</sup> the blood of thy children, whom thou didst deliver up unto them>
- 37 |Therefore| behold me! gathering together all thy lovers, unto whom thou didst make thyself pleasant,
Even all whom thou lovedst,
With all whom thou hatedst,—
Yea I will gather them' together unto thee from every side,
And will uncover thy shame unto them,
And they shall see all thy shame.
- 38 So will I judge thee, with the judgments meted out to adulteresses and shedders of blood,—
And will repay thee with the blood of indignation and jealousy;
- 39 And will deliver thee' into their hand,
And they shall pull down thy brothel,<sup>d</sup>
And break in pieces thy heights,
And strip thee of thy raiment,
And take away thine adorning' jewels,—
And leave thee utterly naked.
- 40 Then will they bring up against thee a gathered host,<sup>e</sup>
And they will stone thee with stones,—
And cut thee to pieces with their swords;
- 41 And burn up thy houses with fire,
And execute upon thee judgments, before the eyes of many women,—

§ 15. Parable of the Two Eagles.

17 <sup>1</sup> And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:

<sup>2</sup> Son of man,

Put thou forth a riddle.

And speak thou a parable,—

Unto the house of Israel:

<sup>3</sup> So then thou shalt say,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,—

||A great eagle, with large wings of long pinion, full of plumage, which had divers colours|| came unto Lebanon, and took the highest branch of the cedar:

<sup>4</sup> <The crown of its young twigs> plucked he off, and brought it into a land of traffic, <in a city of merchants> he set it.

<sup>5</sup> So he took of the seed of the land, and planted it in a field for seed,—
He took it near mighty waters,
<Like a willow-tree> he set it.

<sup>6</sup> And it shot forth, and became a spreading vine of lowly stature,

Its branches turning towards him,

And ||its roots|| |under him| spread,—

So it became a vine,

And brought forth shoots,

And sent forth boughs.

<sup>7</sup> And it came to pass, that there was another great eagle, with large wings, and abundant plumage,—

And lo! ||this vine|| stretched its roots hungrily towards him,

And <its branches> sent it forth unto him,

That he might cause it to drink, out of the beds where it was planted:

<sup>8</sup> <In a goodly field, by mighty waters> was it<sup>1</sup> planted,—

That it might bring forth boughs, and bear fruit,

That it might become |a splendid<sup>1</sup> vine|.

<sup>9</sup> Say thou,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

Shall it thrive?

<Its roots> will he not tear up?

<Its fruit> will he not cut off, that it wither?

||All the fresh leaves it hath caused to spring forth|| shall wither, without a strong arm, or many people, to pull it up by its roots.

<On the beds where it sprang up>, will it not wither?

<sup>11</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:

<sup>12</sup> Say, I pray thee, unto the perverse house, Know ye not what these things are?

Say thou,

Lo! the King of Babylon entered<sup>1</sup> Jerusalem,

And took her king and her princes,

And brought them unto him in Babylon;

<sup>13</sup> Yea took of the seed royal,

And solemnised with him a covenant,—

And brought him into an oath,

Also <the mighty ones of the land> did he take.

<sup>14</sup> That |the kingdom| might be |abased|, so as not to lift itself up,—

<By the keeping of his covenant> might be made to stand.

<sup>15</sup> But he hath rebelled against him, by sending his messengers to Egypt, that there should be given to him horses, and much people.

Shall he thrive?

Shall he escape that doeth these things?

Shall he break a covenant<sup>1</sup> and escape?

<sup>16</sup> <As I live>

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,

Verily! <in the place where dwelleth the king that made him<sup>1</sup> king,

Whose oath he hath despised,

And whose covenant he hath broken>

<With him, in the midst of Babylon> shall he die.

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

<As I live>

|Surely it is mine oath| which he hath despised,

And |my covenant| which he hath broken,

Therefore will I bring it upon his own head:

<sup>20</sup> And I will spread over him my net,

And he shall be taken in my snare,

And I will bring him into Babylon and will enter into judgment with him there, as to his treachery wherewith he hath been treacherous against me;

21 And ||all his fugitives, throughout all his bands|| <by the sword> shall fall,
And ||they who are left|| <to every wind> shall be scattered,—
So shall ye know that ||I, Yahweh|| have spoken!

22 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Therefore will ||I, myself|| take, of the highest branch of the lofty cedar, and set it,—

<Of the crown of its young twigs>  will I pluck off, and ||I, myself|| will plant it upon a mountain high and terraced,

23 <In the mountain of the height of Israel> will I plant it,
And it shall put forth boughs,
And bear fruit,
And become a majestic cedar,—
And every bird of every wing shall dwell under it,
<In the shade of its branches> shall they dwell.

24 So shall all the trees of the field know that ||I, Yahweh||
Have laid low the high tree,
Have exalted the low tree,
Have dried up the moist tree,
And have caused to flourish the tree that was dry,—
||I, Yahweh|| have spoken, and performed.

§ 16. The Ultimate Divine Dealing with Individuals.
(Cp. chaps. iii., xxxiii.)

18 1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:

2 What occasion have ||ye|| to be using this proverb, concerning* the soil of Israel, saying,—

||Fathers|| eat sour grapes,

And ||the children's<sup>b</sup> teeth|| are blunted?

3 <As I live>

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,
Surely ye shall have occasion no longer to use this proverb, in Israel.*

4 Lo! <as for all persons><sup>d</sup> ||mine|| they are,

10 But he hath begotten a son

<Who is a violent man,

A shedder of blood,—

Who doeth the like of* any of these things;

11 Whereas ||he|| <none of those other things> doeth,

For indeed' <upon the mountains> he hath eaten,

And <the wife of his neighbour> hath defiled;

12 <The oppressed and the needy> hath treated with violence,

Hath ruthlessly plundered,

<The pledge> hath not restored,

But <unto the manufactured gods> hath lifted up his eyes,

<Abomination> hath wrought;

13 <Upon interest> hath put out

And <increase> hath accepted,—>

And shall he ||live||?

He shall not live,

<All these abominations> he hath done,

He shall ||surely be put to death||,

||His blood> <upon himself> shall be.

14 But lo! he hath begotten a son,

<Who hath considered all the sins of his father, which he hath done,—

Yea he hath considered, and not done like them:

§ 17. A Dirge for the Princes of David's House.

19 <sup>1</sup> ||Thou||, therefore, take up a dirge, for the prince<sup>a</sup> of Israel; <sup>2</sup> and thou shalt say—

How was [thy mother] a lioness!
<Between lions> she lay down,—
<In the midst of young lions>

She nourished her whelps;

<sup>3</sup> And she reared up one of her whelps—

<A young lion> he became,
And he learned to rend prey,
<Men> he devoured.

<sup>4</sup> Then nations [heard of him],

<In their pit> was he caught,—
So they brought him with hooks,
Into the land of Egypt.

<sup>5</sup> And she saw she had waited,

Lost' was her hope,
Then took she another of her whelps,
<A young lion> she made him.

<sup>6</sup> Yea he went to and fro amidst lions,

<A young lion> he became,—
And he learned to rend prey,
<Men> he devoured;

<sup>7</sup> And he injured<sup>b</sup> his widows,

And <their cities> laid waste,—
And deserted' was the land, and its fulness,
At the noise of his roaring.

<sup>8</sup> Then [set upon him] the nations round about,

From the provinces,—
And spread over him their net,
<In their pit> was he caught;

<sup>9</sup> And they put him in a cage with hooks,
And brought him to Babylon's king,<sup>c</sup>—

They brought him into strong-holds,
That his noise might be heard no more,
Among the mountains of Israel.

<sup>10</sup> ||Thy mother|| [was] like a vine of thy vineyard,<sup>d</sup>

<By waters> was planted,— <Fruitful and full of branches> she became,
By reason of waters abundant;

<sup>11</sup> And they served her as staves of power,

For the sceptres of rulers,
And high' became the stature thereof,
With its interwoven foliage,—
And it was seen by its height,
By its multitude of branches.

<sup>12</sup> Then was she uprooted in indignation,

<To the ground> was she cast,
And [an<sup>e</sup> east wind] dried up her fruit,— [Broken off and withered] were her staves of power,
<A fire> devoured them.

<sup>13</sup> ||Now|| therefore, is she planted in a desert, —

In a land parched and dry;

<sup>14</sup> And there hath gone forth a fire out of her staves of rods,

<Her fruit> hath it devoured,

And there is in her no staff of power,
As a sceptre to bear rule.

<A dirge> it is, and hath been made [a dirge].

§ 18. The Prophet recounts Israel's past Treacheries, and protests that she shall not be suffered to become like other Nations.

Speak thou with<sup>a</sup> the elders of Israel, and say unto them,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

<To enquire of me> are ye' coming in?

<As I live> verily I will not be enquired of by you,

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

<sup>4</sup> Wilt thou judge them, wilt thou judge,<sup>b</sup> O son of man?

<The abominations of their fathers> let them know;

<sup>5</sup> So then thou shalt say unto them,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

<In the day when I made choice of Israel> then lifted I up my hand, to the seed of the house of Jacob, and made myself known to them, in the land of Egypt,— Yea I lifted up my hand to them, saying,

||I, Yahweh|| am your God.

<sup>6</sup> <In that day> lifted I up my hand to them, to bring them forth out of the land of Egypt,—into a land that I had looked out<sup>c</sup> for them, flowing with milk and honey,

- Therefore spake I of pouring out mine indignation upon them, to bring mine anger to an end against them, [in the midst of the land of Egypt].
- 9 Howbeit I wrought with effect, for the sake of mine own Name, that it might not be profaned—before the eyes of the nations, in whose midst they were,—before whose eyes I made myself known unto them, by bringing them forth out of the land of Egypt.
- 10 Therefore brought I them forth out of the land of Egypt,—and caused them to come into the desert.
- 11 Then gave I unto them my statutes, And <my regulations> caused I them to know,—
By the which the man [that doeth them] shall live.
- 12 Moreover also <my sabbaths> gave I unto them, to become a sign betwixt me and them,—that it might be known that ||I, Yahweh|| was hallowing them.
- 13 But the house of Israel [rebelled against me] in the desert,
<In my statutes> walked they not,
<And my regulations> they rejected,
By the which the man [that doeth them] shall live,
<My sabbaths also> they profaned exceedingly.
- Therefore spake I of pouring out mine indignation upon them in the desert, to make an end of them.
- 14 Howbeit I wrought with effect, for the sake of mine own Name,—that it should not be profaned in the eyes of the nations, in whose eyes I had brought them forth.
- 15 Yet ||even I|| lifted up my hand to them, in the desert,— That I would not bring them into the land which I had given to them,<sup>a</sup> flowing with milk and honey,
<The beauty> it was, of all lands:
- 16 Because <my regulations> they had rejected,
And <as for my statutes> they had not walked therein,
<My sabbaths also> had they profaned;
For <after their manufactured gods> [their heart] had been going.
- 17 Nevertheless mine eye [threw a shield] over them, that they should not be destroyed;
So I made not of them a full end, in the desert.
- 18 But I said unto their children, in the desert,
<In the statutes of your fathers> let it not be that ye walk,
<And their regulations> let it not be that ye observe,—
<And with their manufactured gods> let it not be that ye defile yourselves.
- 19 ||I, Yahweh|| am your God,
<In my statutes> walk ye,—
<And my regulations> observe ye and do them;
- 20 <My sabbaths also> hallow ye,—
And they shall become a sign betwixt me and you,
That it may be known that ||I, Yahweh|| am your God.
- 21 Notwithstanding, the children rebelled against me,
<In my statutes> walked they not,
<And my regulations> observed they not, to do them,
Wherein the man [who shall do them] shall live,
<My sabbaths><sup>a</sup> they profaned.
- Therefore spake I of pouring out mine indignation upon them, to bring mine anger to an end against them, [in the desert].
- 22 Howbeit I withdrew my hand, and wrought with effect, for the sake of mine own Name,—that it should not be profaned before the eyes of the nations, before whose eyes I had brought them forth:
- 23 Even ||I||<sup>b</sup> lifted up my hand to them, in the desert,—
That I would disperse them throughout the nations,
And scatter them throughout the lands;

And <my statutes> they had rejected,
<My sabbaths also> they had profaned,—
And <after the manufactured gods of their fathers> were their eyes [turned].
- 25 ||I myself|| indeed, suffered<sup>c</sup> them [to walk in] statutes which were [not good],—
And regulations, in which they could not live.<sup>d</sup>
- 26 Yea I let them defile themselves with their gifts, when they caused every firstborn to pass through [the fire],—that I might make them desolate.
- To the end they might know that ||I|| am Yahweh.
- 27 [Therefore] speak thou unto the house of Israel, Son of man, and say unto them,

had become mine||,<sup>f</sup>

And lusted after her lovers,
For Assyrians, so warlike,

<sup>6</sup> Clothed in blue,
Governors and deputies,
Attractive young men, all<sup>g</sup> of them,—
Horsemen, riding on horses.

<sup>7</sup> So she bestowed her unchastities upon them,
The choicest men of Assyria, all<sup>g</sup> of them,—
And <with whomsoever she lusted after—with all their manufactured gods> she defiled herself.

<sup>8</sup> And <her unchaste doings from the time she was in Egypt> had she not forsaken,
For <with her> had they lain in her youth,
Yea ||they|| had pressed her virgin<sup>d</sup> bosoms,— and had poured out their unchastity upon her.

<sup>9</sup> |Therefore| did I deliver her into the hand of her lovers,—

Into the hand of the sons of Assyria, after whom she lusted:

<sup>10</sup> ||They|| disclosed her shame,
<Her sons and her daughters> took they away,

And <herself—with the sword> they slew,—
Thus became she a by-word among women, when <judgments> they had executed upon her.

<sup>11</sup> And <though her sister Oholibah<sup>h</sup> saw> Yet became she more corrupt in her lust than the other,—

And ||her unchaste doings|| exceeded the unchaste doings of her sister.

<sup>12</sup> <After the sons of Assyria> she lusted,
Governors and deputies so warlike,
Clothed in splendid array,
Horsemen, riding on horses,—
Attractive young men, all<sup>g</sup> of them.

<sup>13</sup> So I saw, that she defiled herself,—
<One way> had they both.

<sup>14</sup> Yet did she add, unto her unchaste doings,— when she saw men portrayed upon the wall, likenesses of Chaldeans, Portrayed with vermillion:

<sup>15</sup> Girded with waistcloths upon their loins,
With overhanging high turbans upon their heads,
<In appearance> knights, all<sup>g</sup> of them,—
The likeness of the sons of Babylon of Chaldea, the land of their birth.

<sup>16</sup> Then lusted she after them, as soon as her eyes beheld them,—
And she sent messengers unto them, to Chaldea.

<sup>17</sup> Then |came in unto her| the sons of Babylon into the bed of endearments, and defiled her with their unchaste doings,—
And she<sup>i</sup> defiled herself with them<sup>j</sup>,
And then was her soul torn from them.

<sup>18</sup> Thus disclosed she her unchaste desires,
And disclosed<sup>k</sup> her shame,—
So my soul was torn from her,
Just as my soul had been torn from her sister.

<sup>19</sup> Yea she multiplied her unchaste desires,— calling to mind the days of her youth, when she was unchaste in<sup>l</sup> the land of Egypt;

<sup>20</sup> So she lusted after their courtiers,—
Whose flesh was ||the flesh of asses||, and
Whose issue was ||the issue of horses||.

<sup>21</sup> Yea thou didst look about for the lewdness of thy youth,—
When were pressed, by the Egyptians,
thy bosoms,
When they handled<sup>m</sup> thy youthful breasts.

- 22 |Therefore| O Oholibah,
 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 Behold me! rousing up thy lovers against thee,
 Even them from whom thy soul hath been torn,—
 And I will bring them against thee from every side:
- 23 The sons of Babylon and all Chaldeans, Pekod and Shoa and Koa,*
 All the sons of Assyria, with them,—
 Attractive young men,
 Governors and deputies, all' of them,
 Knights and men of renown,
 Riders on horses, all' of them;
- 24 And they shall come upon thee—
 With battle-axe,<sup>b</sup> chariot and wheel,
 And with a gathered host<sup>c</sup> of peoples,
 <Shield and buckler and helmet> will they array against thee, on every side,—
 And I will put before them, judgment,
 And they shall judge thee with their judgments;
- 25 <When I set forth my jealousy against thee>
 Then will they deal with thee, in indignation, <Thy nose and thine ears> will they remove,
 And ||that which is left of thee|| <by the sword> shall fall,—
 ||They|| will take away ||thy sons and thy daughters||,
 And ||that which is left of thee|| shall be devoured by the fire;
- 26 And they shall strip off thy raiment,—
 And take away thine adorning' jewels!
- 27 Thus will I cause thy lewdness to cease' from thee,
 Even thine unchastity [brought] from the land of Egypt,—
 So that thou shalt not lift up thine eyes unto them,
 And <Egypt> shalt thou not call to mind any more.
- 28 For ||thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 Behold me! delivering thee up, into the hand of them whom thou hatest,—
 Into the hand of them from whom thy soul hath been torn;
- 29 And they shall deal with thee in hatred,
 And take away all thy labour,
 And leave thee utterly naked,—
 And thine unchaste' shame [shall be disclosed], with thy lewdness and unchastities,
- 30 These things shall be done' to thee,—
 In that thou hast gone unchastely after the nations,
 Because thou hast defiled thyself with their manufactured gods.

- 31 <In the way of thy sister> hast thou walked,
 Therefore will I put her cup into thy hand.
- 32 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 <The cup of thy sister> shalt thou drink,
 The [cup] deep and large,
 Thou shalt become a laughingstock and derision,
 ||Much|| doth it contain!
- 33 <With drunkenness<sup>a</sup> and grief> shalt thou be filled,—
 The cup of astonishment and desolation,
 The cup of thy sister Samaria;
- 34 Yea thou shalt drink it and drain it out,
 <And the sherds thereof> shalt thou gnaw,<sup>b</sup>
 And <thy breasts> shalt thou tear out,
 For ||I|| have spoken,
 Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
- 35 |Therefore|
 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 <Because thou hast forgotten me', and cast me' behind thy back>
 ||Thou also thyself||, bear thou thy lewdness and thine unchaste doings.
- 36 And Yahweh said unto me,
 Son of man,
 Wilt thou judge Oholah, and Oholibah?
 Then declare thou unto them, their abominations.
- 37 For they have committed adultery,
 And ||blood|| is on<sup>c</sup> their hands,
 Yea <with their manufactured gods> they committed adultery,
 And <even their own children whom they have bare unto me> have they set apart for them,<sup>d</sup> to be devoured.
- 38 |Yet more| ||this|| have they done to me,—
 They have defiled my sanctuary, [in the same day],
 And <my sabbaths> have they profaned,
 Yea <when they had slaughtered their children, to their manufactured gods> then entered they into my sanctuary [on the same day], to profane it,—
 And lo! ||thus|| have they done, in the midst of mine own house.
- 40 ||Yea verily|| that ye must needs [be] men, ready to come in, from afar,— in that ||a messenger|| was sent unto them, and lo! they came,
 For whom thou didst bathe thyself,
 Paint thine eyes,
 And deck thyself with ornaments.
- 41 Then satest thou upon a glorious couch,
 With a table prepared, before it,—
 And <mine incense and mine oil> didst thou set thereon.

And <besides men out of the mass of mankind> there were brought in drunkards,<sup>b</sup> out of the desert;
And they put bracelets upon the hands of both women,
And crowns of adorning upon their heads.
- 43 Then said I, of her that was worn out with adulteries,
Will they [now] join in her unchaste doings, [even hers]?<sup>c</sup>
- 44 Yet came they<sup>d</sup> in unto her, as men go in unto a woman that is a harlot,— ||So|| came they in unto Oholah, and unto Oholibah—the lewd' women!
- 45 But <righteous men> ||they|| shall judge them,
With the judgment of adulteresses, and
With the judgment of women that shed blood,— Because <adulteresses> they are'
And ||blood|| is on their hands.
- 46 For ||thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,—
There shall be brought up against them a gathered host,<sup>e</sup>
Then shall they be delivered up, for a terror and for a prey,
- 47 Yea a gathered host<sup>f</sup> shall stone them with stones, and despatch them with their swords,

And <their houses—in the fire> shall they consume.
- 48 So will I make an end of lewdness out of the land,—
And all women [shall be disciplined], and shall not do according to your lewdness.
- 49 Yea the judges<sup>g</sup> shall set your lewdness upon you,
And <your sins with manufactured gods> shall ye bear;

§ 23. The Prophet, bereft of his Wife, becomes a Pathetic Object-Lesson to Israel.

15 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:

16 Son of man,
Behold me! taking away from thee the delight of thine eyes, with a stroke,<sup>a</sup>—
But thou shalt not lament,
Neither shalt thou weep,
Neither shall come—thy tears:
17 <To groan> forbear;
<Over the dead—no mourning> shalt thou make,
<Thy chaplet> bind thou on thee,
And <thy sandals> put thou on thy feet,
And thou shalt not cover thy beard,
And <the bread of [other] men><sup>b</sup> shalt thou not eat.

18 So I spake unto the people, in the morning, and my wife died<sup>c</sup> in the evening,—and I did, in the morning, as I had been commanded.
19 Then said the people unto me:

Wilt thou not tell us what these things are to us, that thou shouldst be acting [thus]?

20 So I said unto them:

¶The word of Yahweh<sup>d</sup> hath come unto me, saying: <sup>21</sup> Say to the house of Israel,

¶Thus<sup>e</sup> saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Behold me! profaning my sanctuary,
The pride of your strength,
The delight of your eyes,
And the object of the tender regard of your soul,—

And your sons and your daughters whom ye have left behind<sup>f</sup> <by the sword> shall fall.

22 Then shall ye do, as I have done,—
<The beard> shall ye not cover,
And <the bread of [other] men> shall ye not eat;

23 And your chaplets<sup>g</sup> shall be on your heads,
And your sandals<sup>h</sup> on your feet,
Ye shall neither<sup>i</sup> lament, nor weep,—
Yet shall ye pine away in your iniquities, and shall groan, one to another.

24 So shall ¶Ezekiel<sup>j</sup> become [to you] a wonder,
<According to all that he hath done> shall ye do:

25 ¶Thou<sup>m</sup> therefore, Son of man, Shall it not be—

<In the day when I take away from them

The delight of their eyes,
And the desire<sup>n</sup> of their soul,
Their sons and their daughters>

So shalt thou become to them a wonder,

§ 24. Against the Sons of Ammon.

1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, 25 saying:

2 Son of man,
Set thy face against the sons of Ammon,— and prophesy against them.

3 So then thou shalt say to the sons of Ammon,
Hear ye, the word of My Lord, Yahweh:<sup>a</sup>
¶Thus<sup>b</sup> saith My Lord, Yahweh:<sup>a</sup>

<Because thou saidst Aha!
Against my sanctuary when it was profaned,
And against the soil of Israel when it was laid waste,

And against the house of Judah, when they went into exile>

4 ¶Therefore<sup>c</sup> behold me! delivering thee up to the Sons of the East for a possession,
And they shall set their encampments in thee,

And place in thee their habitations,
¶They<sup>d</sup> shall eat thy fruits,
And ¶they<sup>e</sup> shall drink thy milk;

5 And I will make of Rabbah a home for camels,
And the sons of Ammon a couching-place for flocks,
So shall ye know<sup>f</sup> that ¶I<sup>g</sup> am Yahweh.

6 For ¶thus<sup>h</sup> saith My Lord, Yahweh,
<Because thou didst clap thy hands, and stamp with thy foot,—and didst rejoice with all thy contempt, in thy soul, against the soil of Israel>

7 ¶Therefore<sup>i</sup> behold me!
I have stretched out my hand over<sup>j</sup> thee,
And will deliver thee for a prey to the nations,
And will cut thee off from among the peoples,
And will cause thee to perish from among the lands,—
I will destroy thee,

I Therefore| behold me! laying open the side of Moab out of the cities,

To the Sons of the East [when they come] against the sons of Ammon, and I will deliver it up for a possession,—to the end the sons of Ammon [may not be remembered] among the nations:

Also <upon Moab> will I execute judgments,—
So shall they know' that ||I|| am Yahweh.

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
<Because of what Edom hath done' in taking vengeance on the house of Judah,—so that they have become guilty again and again, and have taken vengeance upon them>

I Therefore|

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
I will therefore stretch forth my hand over Edom, and will cut off therefrom man and beast,

And will deliver it up as a desolation, from Teman,

And ||they of Dedan|| <by the sword> shall fall,

And I will put forth mine avenging against Edom, by the hand of my people Israel,

And they shall deal with Edom, according to mine anger and according to mine indignation,—

So shall they know mine avenging,

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,

§ 26. Against the Philistines.

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
<Because of what the Philistines have done' by way of vengeance,—

In that they have taken vengeance, with contempt, in the soul, to destroy, with the enmity of age-past times>

I Therefore|

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Behold me! stretching forth my hand over the Philistines,

And I will cut off the Cherethim,—
And will cause to perish, the remnant of the coast of the sea;

And I will execute upon them great vengeance, with rebukes of indignation:

So shall they know' that ||I|| am Yahweh,
when I put forth mine avenging against them.

§ 27. Against Tyre (chaps. xxvi., xxvii.).

26 And it came to pass <in the eleventh year, on the first of the month> that the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:

<Because Tyre hath said' concerning Jerusalem,

Aha!

She is broken' that was the doors of the peoples,

She is turned unto me,—

I shall be filled,

She is laid waste>

<sup>3</sup> |Therefore|

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

Behold me! against thee, O Tyre,—

So then I will bring up against thee many nations,

As the sea bringeth up its rolling waves;

<sup>4</sup> And they shall destroy the walls of Tyre,

And break down her towers,

And I will scrape clean her dust from off her,—

And make of her the glaring face of a cliff:

<sup>5</sup> <A place for the spreading of nets> shall she become, in the midst of the sea,

For ||I|| have spoken.

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,—

And she shall become a prey to the nations.

<sup>6</sup> And ||her daughters that are in the field||<sup>a</sup> |with the sword| shall be slain:

So shall they know' that ||I|| am Yahweh.

<sup>7</sup> For ||thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

Behold me! bringing against Tyre, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon out of the North, a king of kings,—with horses and with chariots and with horsemen, and a gathered host<sup>b</sup> and much people.

<sup>8</sup> <Thy daughters in the field—with the sword> shall he slay,—

And shall set against thee a siege-wall,

And cast up against thee an earthwork,

And set up against thee a large shield;

<sup>9</sup> And <the stroke of his attacking-engine> will he direct against thy walls,—

And <thy towers> will he break down, with his axes.<sup>c</sup>

<At the noise of horseman and wheel and chariot> shall thy walls tremble', when he entereth into thy gates,

Just as they' do who enter a city broken open.

<Thy people—with the sword> shall he slay, And ||thy pillars of strength|| <to the earth> shall go down.

<sup>12</sup> And they shall spoil thy wealth,

And make a prey of thy merchandise,

And break down thy walls,

And <thy pleasant' houses> shall they lay in ruins;

And <thy stones and thy timber and thy dust—in the midst of the waters> shall they lay.

And I will cause to cease the hum of thy songs; And <the sound of thy lyres> shall not be heard any more.

And I will make of thee the glaring face of a cliff.

<A place for the spreading of nets> shalt thou become,
Thou shalt not be built any more,—
For ||I, Yahweh|| have* spoken it,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
to Tyre:

Shall it not be, that,

<At the sound of thy fall
With the groan of thy pierced one
With the slaughter made in thy midst>
The Coastlands ||shall tremble||?

Then shall come down from off their thrones,
all the princes of the sea,

And shall lay aside their robes,
And <their embroidered' garments> shall strip off,—

<With tremblings> shall they clothe themselves.

<Upon the ground> shall they sit,
And shall tremble every moment, and be astonished over thee.

Then shall they take up<sup>b</sup> over thee, a dirge,
And say to thee,—

How' hast thou perished,
And ceased<sup>c</sup> from the seas,—

The city renowned, which was strong in the sea.

She and they who dwelt in her,
Who imparted their terror
To all who dwelt in her!

||Now|| shall tremble' the Coastlands,
In the day of thy fall,—

And shall shudder' the isles that are in the sea.

At thine exit!<sup>d</sup>

For ||thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
<When I make thee a desolate city,

Like cities which cannot be dwelt in,—
When I bring up over thee the roaring deep,
And the mighty waters cover thee>

Then will I bring thee down with them that go down into the pit.

Unto the people of age-past times,
And cause thee to dwell in the earth below,
Among the desolations from age-past times.

With them that go down into the pit,
That thou mayest not be dwelt in,— Nor yet present thyself<sup>e</sup> in the land of the living.

||To carry on thy traffic||

10 ||They of Persia and Lûd and Phât||
in thine army,
Thy men of war,—

<Shield and helmet> hung they up
thee,

||They|| set forth thy splendour:

11 ||The sons of Arvad|| <with thine were upon thy walls, round
And ||valorous|| [in thy towers],

<Their shields> hung they up walls, round about,

||They|| perfected thy beauty:

¶ Tarshish|| was a trader of thine,

For the abundance of all wealth,—

<With silver, iron, tin, and lead>

Took they part in thy traffic:

<Javan, Tubal and Meshech>

¶ They|| were merchants of thine,—

<With the persons of men, and vessels of bronze>

Shared they in thy barter:

¶ Some of the house of Togarmah|| <with horses and horsemen and mules>

Took part in thy traffic:

¶ The sons of Dedan|| were merchants of thine,

¶ Many isles|| took the merchandise of thy hand,—

<Horns of ivory and ebony> gave they back to thee, in exchange:

¶ Syria|| was a trader of thine,

For the abundance of thy manufactures,—

<With carbuncle and purple and embroidery and fine linen and coral and rubies>

Took they part in thy traffic:

<Judah and the land of Israel>

¶ They|| were merchants of thine,—

<With the wheat of Minnith and the sweets of pannag and honey and oil and balsam>

Shared they in thy barter:

¶ Damascus|| was a trader of thine,

For the multitude of thy manufactures,

For the multitude of all wealth,—

With the wine of Helbon and white wool:

¶ Wedan and Javan|| <from Uzal><sup>a</sup>

Brought into thy traffic,—

¶ Steel, cassia and calamus||

Were [in thy merchandise]:

¶ Dedan|| was a merchant of thine,—

With spreading wraps, for riding:

<Arabia and all the princes of Kedar>

¶ They|| were traders at thy service,—

<With lambs and rams and he-goats>

¶ With these|| were they traders of thine:

<The merchants of Sheba and Raamah>

¶ They|| were merchants of thine,—

<With the chief of all spices, and with every kind of precious stone, and gold>

Took they part in thy traffic:

¶ Haran and Canneh and Eden, the merchants of Sheba,—Asshur, Chilmad||

Were merchants of thine:

¶ Those|| were thy merchants, for gorgeous garments, for wrappings of blue and embroidery, and for treasure-chests of variegated cloth,—for cords, twisted and strong, in thy market:

¶ The ships of Tarshish|| were thy masts,

Carrying on thy barter,—

So wast thou filled, and becamest very glorious,
In the heart of the seas.

26 <Into mighty waters> have they brought thee,
¶ The rowers||—[even thee],—

¶ The east wind|| hath broken thee,

In the heart of the seas:

27 ¶ Thy wealth and thy wares, thy merchandise, thy mariners, and thy sailors,—thy calkers and the barterers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of war who are in thee, and in<sup>a</sup> all thy gathered host<sup>b</sup> which is in thy midst||

Shall fall into the heart of the seas,

In the day of thy fall.

28 <At the sound of the outcry of thy pilots> the coasts [shall quake]:

29 Then shall come down from their ships, all that handle the oar, mariners, all the sailors of the sea,—

<Upon the land> shall they take up their station;

30 And make loud [lament] over thee, with their voice,

And make bitter outcry,—

And shall lift up dust on their heads,

<In ashes> shall roll themselves;

31 And shall make bald for thee a baldness,

And gird them with sackcloth,—
And shall weep for thee in bitterness of soul,

A bitter lamentation;

32 And shall take up for thee, in their wailing,<sup>c</sup> a dirge,

And shall chant over thee,—

Who is like Tyre?

Like the Silent One in the midst of the sea?

33 <By the going forth of thy commodities out of the seas>

Thou didst satisfy many peoples,

<By the multitude of thy wares and of thy merchandise>

Thou didst enrich the kings of the earth.

34 ¶ Now||<sup>d</sup> thou art wrecked out of the seas,

In the depths of waters,—

¶ Thy merchandise and all thy gathered host||<sup>b</sup>

<In thy midst> have fallen.

35 ¶ All the dwellers in the coastlands||

Are astounded over thee,—

And ¶ their kings|| have been made to shudder a shuddering,

To be troubled in countenance.

<A terror> hast thou become,

And [art not],

Unto times age-abiding.

28 <sup>1</sup> And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:

<sup>2</sup> Son of man,

Say to the Prince<sup>a</sup> of Tyre,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh—

<Because <lofty> is thy heart, and thou hast said,

<A God><sup>b</sup> am I,

<In the seat of God><sup>c</sup> have I taken my seat,

In the heart of the seas;

Whereas ||thou|| art a man, and not a God,<sup>b</sup>

But hast set thy heart as the heart of God:<sup>c</sup>

<No secret> have they hidden from thee:

<sup>4</sup> <In thy wisdom and in thine understanding> hast thou gotten thee wealth,—

And hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures:

<sup>5</sup> <By the greatness of thy wisdom and by thy traffic> hast thou multiplied thy riches,—

And thy heart [hath become lofty] in thy riches>

<sup>6</sup> |Therefore|

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,—

<Because thou hast set thy heart as the heart of God><sup>c</sup>

<sup>7</sup> |Therefore| behold me! bringing upon thee aliens,<sup>d</sup>

The terrible ones of the nations,—

And they shall unsheathe their swords over the beauty of thy wisdom,

And profane<sup>e</sup> thy splendour:

<sup>8</sup> <To the pit> shall they take thee down,—

And thou shalt die the deaths of one thrust through,<sup>f</sup>

In the heart of the seas.

When ||thou|| art a man and not a God,<sup>b</sup> in the hand of them who are piercing<sup>h</sup> thee?

<sup>10</sup> The <deaths of the uncircumcised> shalt thou die, by the hand of aliens,—

For ||I|| have spoken,

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

<Of every precious stone> was thy covering—

Sardius, topaz, and diamond,

Chrysolite, beryl, and jasper,

Sapphire, carbuncle, and emerald,—

And <of gold> was the work of thy timbrels and thy flutes, within thee,

<In the day thou wast created> were they prepared:

<sup>14</sup> ||Thou|| wast the anointed cherub that covered,—

<When I appointed thee> <in the holy mount of God> thou wast,

<Amid stones of fire> thou didst walk to and fro:

<sup>15</sup> <Complete> wast thou' in thy ways, from the day thou wast created,—

Until perversity was found' in thee.

<sup>16</sup> <By the abundance of thy traffic> they filled thy midst with violence,

And thou didst sin,—

So I cast thee as profane<sup>a</sup> out of the mountain of God,

And destroyed thee, O covering cherub, from amid the stones of fire:

<sup>17</sup> <Lofty> was thy heart, in thy beauty,

Thou didst corrupt thy wisdom, because of thy splendour,—

<Upon the earth> did I cast thee,

<Before kings> did I set thee,

That they might look at thee:

<sup>18</sup> <Owing to the abounding of thine iniquities, In the perversity of thy traffic>

Thou didst profane thy sanctuaries,<sup>c</sup>—

Therefore brought I forth fire out of thy midst,

Before the eyes of all beholding thee:

§ 31. Against Pharaoh King of Egypt, and against his Land (Chaps. xxix.-xxxii.).

29 1 <In the tenth year, in the tenth month, on the twelfth of the month> came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
2 Son of man,
Set thy face against Pharaoh, king of Egypt,—
And prophesy against him, and against Egypt [all of it]:
3 Speak, and thou shalt say—
Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Behold me! against thee, O Pharaoh, king of Egypt,
The great Crocodile that lieth along in the midst of his rivers:
Who saith—
My river is [mine own],
Since [I myself] made it me!
4 Therefore will I put hooks in thy jaws,
And cause the fish of thy rivers to stick fast in thy scales,—
And will bring thee up out of the midst of thy rivers,
And [all the fish of thy rivers] [to thy scales] shall stick fast;
5 And I will stretch thee out towards the desert,
[Thee, and all the fish of thy rivers],
<On the face of the field> shalt thou lie,
Thou shalt not be carried away, nor shalt thou be gathered, <To the wild beast of the earth, and to the bird of the heavens> have I given thee for food.

6 So shall all the inhabitants of Egypt know<sup>c</sup> that I am Yahweh,—
Because they were a staff of reed to the house of Israel:
7 <Whosoever they took hold of thee by the<sup>a</sup> hand> thou didst run through, and tear open for them every hand,<sup>b</sup>—
And <whosoever they leaned upon thee> thou didst break, and caused all their loins [to halt].<sup>c</sup>

8 [Therefore]
Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Behold me! bringing upon thee a sword,—
And I will cut off out of thee, man and beast;
9 And the land of Egypt shall become an astonishment and a desolation,
So shall they know<sup>c</sup> that I am Yahweh,—
Because he said—

[The river] is mine own,
Since [I myself] made it!<sup>d</sup>
10 [Therefore] behold me! against thee, and against thy rivers,—
And I will make the land of Egypt, to be most desolate, an astounding desolation,
From Migdol to Syene, even up to the boundary of Ethiopia:

11 The foot of man shall not pass through it,
Nor shall [the foot of beast] pass through it,
Neither shall it be inhabited, forty years:
12 So will I make the land of Egypt a desolation in the midst of lands made desolate,
And <her cities—in the midst of cities that have been laid waste> shall become a desolation, forty years,—
And I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations,
And scatter them throughout the lands.

13 For [thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,—
<At the end of forty years> will I gather the Egyptians from among the peoples whither I had dispersed them;
14 And I will turn the captivity of the Egyptians,<sup>e</sup>
And will cause them to return
To the land of Pathros,
Upon the land of their nativity,—
And they shall become, there, a kingdom abased:

15 <More than [any of] the kingdoms> shall she be abased,
And shall lift herself up no more over the nations,—
Yea I will make them too small, to rule over the nations.

- 16 So shall it become no more unto the house of Israel, a security, Calling to mind iniquity, by their turning to follow them,—
And they shall know that I am The Lord, Yahweh.<sup>a</sup>
- 17 And it came to pass <in the twenty-seventh year, in the first month, on the first of the month> that the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
- 18 Son of man,
Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath made his army undergo a long service against Tyre, Every head hath been made bald, and Every shoulder worn bare,—
But <pay> hath he had none, nor hath his army, out of Tyre, for the service wherewith he hath served against it.
- 19 [Therefore]
Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Behold me! giving <to Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon> the land of Egypt,—
And he shall carry off her multitude,
And capture her spoil,
And seize her prey,
So shall she become pay for his army.
- 20 <As a reward for his labour wherewith he hath served> have I given to him the land of Egypt,—in that they wrought for me,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
- 21 <In that day> will I cause to bud a horn for the house of Israel,
And <to thee> will I give an opening of mouth, in their midst,<sup>b</sup>

Then shall fall the supporters of Egypt,
Then shall come down the pride of her strength,—
<From Migdol to Sewenah> [by the sword] shall they fall therein,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
- <sup>7</sup> So shall they be made desolate in the midst of lands that are desolate,—
And <his cities>—in the midst of cities that are laid waste> shall be found.

- <sup>9</sup> <In that day> shall messengers go forth from before me, making haste,<sup>a</sup> to cause dread unto Ethiopia so confident,—
And a pang shall be upon them, in the day of Egypt,

- <sup>10</sup> Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh,— Therefore will I cause to cease the multitude of Egypt, by the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon.
- <sup>11</sup> He, and his people with him, the terrible ones of the nations are about to be brought in to destroy the land,—
Therefore shall they unsheathe their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slain;

Therefore will I destroy the manufactured gods, and Cause to cease the worthless gods, out of Noph,
<And prince out of the land of Egypt> shall none arise any more,—
And I will cause fear in the land of Egypt.
- <sup>14</sup> Then will I bring desolation upon Pathros, and Set a fire in Zoan, and Execute judgments upon No: and
- <sup>15</sup> Pour out mine indignation upon Sin, the stronghold of Egypt, and Will cut off the multitude of No.<sup>d</sup>

- 26 So will I disperse the Egyptians among the

- 31<sup>1</sup> And it came to pass <in the eleventh year, in

- that the word of Yahweh came unto me,
saying:
- 2 Son of man,
Say unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and unto his multitude,— Whom<sup>1</sup> art thou like in thy greatness?
- 3 Lo! ¶Assyria<sup>a</sup> was a cedar<sup>a</sup> in Lebanon, Beautiful in bough and Dense in foliage, and Lofty in stature,— and <Among the clouds> came to be his top:
¶The waters| made him great,
¶The roaring deep| made him high,—with its currents going round about the place where it was planted,
<Its channels also> it sent forth unto all the trees of the field.
- 5 ¶For this cause| <higher> was his stature, than any of the trees of the field,—
And multiplied<sup>1</sup> were his boughs,
And lengthened<sup>1</sup> were his branches,<sup>b</sup>
By reason of the mighty waters, when he shot forth shoots.
- 6 <Among his branches> all the birds of the heavens |made their nests|,
And <under his boughs> all the wild beasts of the field |brought forth|,—
And <in his shade> dwelt all the mighty
nations.
- 7 Thus became he beautiful in his greatness,
In the length of his waving branches,— Because his root had gone<sup>1</sup> towards mighty waters.
- 8 ¶Cedars| hid him not, in the garden of God,
¶Fir-trees| were not like unto his boughs,
Nor ¶plane-trees| like his branches,—
¶No tree in the garden of God| was like unto him, in his beauty.
- 9 <Beautiful> I made him in the abundance of his waving branches,— Therefore was he envied by all the trees of

- 10 |Therefore|
¶Thus| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
<Because thou hast become lofty in stature,
And he hath stretched his top among the clouds,
And his heart is exalted<sup>1</sup> in his loftiness> Let me then deliver him into the hand of the chief of the nations,—
He shall ¶effectually deal| with him!
<According to<sup>c</sup> his lawlessness> have I driven him out:
- 12 Therefore have foreigners, the terrible of the

And abandoned him,— <Upon the mountains, and in all valleys> have fallen his waving branches,
And broken<sup>1</sup> have been his boughs in all the river-beds of the land,

With them who were thrust through by the sword.
||The same|| is Pharaoh' and all his multitude,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
32 <sup>1</sup> And it came to pass <in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, on the first of the month>
that the word of Yahweh came' unto me,
saying :
<sup>2</sup> Son of man,
Take up a dirge, over Pharaoh king of Egypt, and thou shalt say unto him,
<The young lion of the nations> thou didst deem thyself,—

Whereas ||thou|| wast like the crocodile in the seas,<sup>a</sup>

And didst cause thy streams to burst forth,
And didst trouble the waters with thy feet,
And foul their rivers.

- <sup>3</sup> ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Therefore will I spread over thee my net,
With a gathered host<sup>b</sup> of many<sup>c</sup> peoples,—
And they shall bring thee up in my net :
<sup>4</sup> And I will stretch thee out on the land,
<Over the face of the field> will I fling
thee,—
And |will cause to settle upon thee| all the birds of the heavens,
And will satiate, with thee, the wild beasts
of all the earth ;
<sup>5</sup> And I will lay thy flesh on the mountains,—
And fill the valleys with thy blood ;
<sup>6</sup> And will soak the earth with thy blood,<sup>d</sup> amongst the mountains,—
And ||the channels|| shall be filled with
thee.
<sup>7</sup> And <when I quench thee>
I will cover the heavens,
And obscure their stars,—
<The sun—with a cloud> will I cover,
And ||the moon|| shall not shed her light ;
<sup>8</sup> <As for all the light-bearers in the heavens>
I will obscure them over thee,—
And will stretch out darkness over thy land,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
<sup>9</sup> And I will aggrieve the heart of many peoples,— when I bring them who are broken off from thee, among the nations, unto lands which thou hast not known.
<sup>10</sup> Yea I will cause amazement, over thee, unto many peoples,
And the hair ||of their kings|| shall stand on end over thee, when I brandish my sword over their faces,—
And they shall tremble every moment, every man for his own life,
In the day of thy fall.

- <sup>11</sup> For ||thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh :—
||The sword of the king of Babylon|| shall reach thee.
<sup>12</sup> <With the swords of mighty men> will I cause thy multitude to fall,
||Terrible ones of the nations, all' of them||,—
And they shall spoil the pride of Egypt,
And all her multitude |shall be destroyed|, <sup>13</sup> And I will cause to perish all her beasts, from beside the many waters,—
And the foot of man |shall not trouble them|
any more,
Nor shall ||hoof of beast|| trouble them.

<sup>a</sup> Or: "by my causing."

xvi. 40, etc.

<sup>f</sup> Ml.: "will cause the earth thee out of thy blood."

14 ||Then|| will I make their waters |subside|,
And <their streams—like oil> will I cause to flow,— Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

15 <When I make the land of Egypt an astonishment,
A land laid bare of its fulness,
When I cut off all that dwell therein>
Then shall they know<sup>a</sup> that ||I|| am Yahweh.

16 <A dirge> it is<sup>a</sup>,
And they shall chant it,<sup>a</sup>
||The daughters of the nations||
Shall chant<sup>b</sup> it:
<Over Egypt and over all her multitude>
Shall they chant<sup>b</sup> it,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

17 And it came to pass <in the twelfth year, on the fifteenth of the month> that the word of Yahweh came<sup>c</sup> unto me saying:

18 Son of man,
Wail thou over the multitude of Egypt, and cause it to descend—||her and the daughters of the famous nations||—into the earth below, with them who descend into the pit.

19 <Than whom> art thou more precious?
Descend and be laid low with the uncircumcised:

20 <Into the midst of them who were thrust through by the sword> let them fall,—
<To the sword> hath she been delivered up,
Lay ye hold of her, and all her multitudes.

21 The chiefs of the mighty |shall speak to him| out of the midst of hades, with his helpers,—

They have descended. They have lain down,
The uncircumcised!
Thrust through by the sword!

22 <There> is Assyria, with all her gathered host,<sup>e</sup>

<Round about him> are his graves,
||All of them|| thrust through,
The fallen by the sword:

23 Whose graves |have been set|
In the recesses of the pit,
And so her gathered host<sup>e</sup> is round about her grave,
All of them thrust through,
Fallen by the sword,
Who caused terror in the land of the living.

24 <There> is Persia, with all her multitude, round about her grave,—

||All of them|| thrust through,
The fallen by the sword,

Who have descended, uncircumcised, into
the earth below,

Who made themselves a terror in the land
of the living,

And so they have borne their confusion, with them who descend into the pit:

25 <In the midst of them who were thrust through> have they have placed a couch for her, with all her multitude,
<Round about it> are her graves,—
||All of them|| uncircumcised,
Thrust through with the sword,
For that their terror was caused in the land
of the living,
And so they have borne their confusion,
with them who descend into the pit,
<In the midst of them who were thrust through> hath it<sup>a</sup> been placed.

26 <There> are Meshech-Tubal and all her
multitude,
<Round about it> are her graves,—
||All of them|| uncircumcised,
Who were thrust through with the sword,
For that they made themselves a terror in the land of the living;

27 Therefore shall they not lie with the mighty men,
The fallen ones from age-past times,<sup>b</sup>—
Who descended into hades with their
weapons of war,
And their swords were placed under their heads,
But their iniquities have come upon their bones,
Because of the terror of the mighty, in the land of the living.

28 ||Thou|| therefore <in the midst of the uncircumcised> shalt be overthrown,<sup>c</sup>
And shalt lie low with them who were thrust through by the sword.

29 <There> are Edom, her kings and all her princes,
Who have been delivered up in their might,
With them who were thrust through by the
sword,—
||They|| <with the uncircumcised> shall lie
low,
Even with them who descend into the pit.

30 <There> are the princes of the North, |all of them|, and all the Zidonians,
Who have descended with them who were thrust through,
<By reason of the terror they caused> <of their might> are they ashamed,
So they have lain down uncircumcised,
With them who were thrust through by
the sword,
And they have borne their confusion, with them who descend into the pit.

31 <Them> shall Pharaoh |see|, and be grieved over all his multitude,— <Thrust through with the sword> shall be Pharaoh and all his army!

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Lit.: "broken."

- 32 For I have suffered<sup>a</sup> his<sup>b</sup> terror to be in the land of the living,
Therefore |shall be laid low|
<In the midst of the uncircumcised,
With them who were thrust through by the sword>
||Pharaoh and all his multitude||
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

§ 32. Divine Dealing with Individuals
(cp. chaps. iii., xviii.).

- 33 <sup>1</sup> And the word of Yahweh came<sup>c</sup> unto me, saying:

<sup>2</sup> Son of man,
Speak unto the sons of thy people, and thou shalt say unto them,

<||A land||—when I bring upon it a sword,—
And the people of the land shall take<sup>c</sup> one man out of their whole number, and appoint him for them, as watchman;

- <sup>3</sup> And he shall see the sword coming upon the land,—and shall blow with the horn, and warn the people>

- <sup>4</sup> Then <as for him who ||really heard|| the sound of the horn, and took not warning>

The sword indeed |hath come| and taken him away,—

||His blood|| |upon his own head| shall remain:—

- <sup>5</sup> <The sound of the horn> he heard, but took not warning,

||His blood|| |upon himself| shall remain,—

Whereas <had |he| taken warning> <his own soul> he should have delivered.

- <sup>6</sup> But as for the watchman—

When he seeth the sword coming,

And hath not blown with the horn,

And ||the people|| have not been warned,

And the sword |hath come| and taken away from among them any person>

||He|| |for<sup>e</sup> his iniquity| hath been taken away,

But ||his blood|| |at the hand of the watchman| will I require.

- <sup>7</sup> ||Thou|| therefore, Son of man,

<A watchman> have I appointed thee, to the house of Israel,

So then thou shalt hear, at my mouth, a message, and shalt warn them<sup>c</sup> from me.

- <sup>8</sup> <When I say to the lawless man,
O lawless man, thou shalt ||surely die||,
And thou have not spoken to warn the lawless man from his way>

||He, the lawless man|| |for<sup>e</sup> his iniquity| shall die,

But <his blood — at thy hand> will I demand.

- <sup>9</sup> But <as for ||thyself||,
When thou hast warned a lawless man from his way, to turn therefrom,
And he hath not turned from his way>
||He|| |for<sup>a</sup> his own iniquity| shall die,
But ||thou|| hast delivered ||thine own life||.<sup>b</sup>

- <sup>10</sup> ||Thou|| therefore, Son of man,

Say unto the house of Israel,

||Thus|| have ye spoken, saying:

<When ||our transgressions and our sins|| are upon us,—and <for<sup>a</sup> them> we<sup>c</sup> are melting away>

How<sup>c</sup>, then, can we live?

- <sup>11</sup> Say unto them,

<As I live>

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,

Surely, I can take no pleasure in the death of the lawless man,

But that the lawless man turn<sup>c</sup> from his way, and live,—

Turn ye, turn ye, from your wicked ways,

For wherefore<sup>c</sup> should ye die, O house of Israel?

- <sup>12</sup> ||Thou|| therefore, Son of man

Say unto the sons of thy people—

||The righteousness of the righteous man|| shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression,

And <as for the lawlessness of the lawless man>

He shall not stumble thereby,<sup>c</sup> in the day of his return from his lawlessness,—

Nor shall ||the righteous man|| be able to live thereby<sup>c</sup> in the day of his sin.

- <sup>13</sup> <When I say of the righteous man, He shall ||surely live|| but ||he|| hath trusted in his righteousness and committed perversity>

||None of his righteous deeds||<sup>d</sup> shall be mentioned,

But <by<sup>a</sup> his perversity which he hath committed—thereby><sup>c</sup> shall he die.

- <sup>14</sup> And <when I say to the lawless man,

Thou shalt ||surely die|| but he shall turn from his sin, and do justice and righteousness:

- <sup>15</sup> <The debt-pledge> the lawless man shall restore,

<Plunder> shall pay back,

<In the statutes of life> hath walked, so as not to commit perversity>

He shall ||surely live||, he shall not<sup>e</sup> die:—

- <sup>16</sup> ||None of his sins<sup>f</sup> which he hath committed|| shall be called to mind against him,— <Justice and righteousness> hath he done,
He shall ||surely live||.

- 17 And can the sons of thy people |say|,
The way of The Lord* will not be equal?
Nay! but <as for them> ||their way|| will not be equal!
- 18 <When the righteous man shall turn' from his righteousness, and commit perversity>
Then shall he die for<sup>b</sup> them;
- 19 But <when the lawless man shall turn' from his lawlessness, and do justice and righteousness>
<Upon them> shall he' live.
- 20 And can ye then say,
The way of The Lord* will not be equal?
<Every man—according to his own ways>
[so] will I judge you, O house of Israel!
- 21 And it came to pass <in the twelfth<sup>c</sup> year, in the tenth month, on the fifth of the month, of our exile> that there came unto me one that had escaped out of Jerusalem, saying, Smitten' is the city!
- 22 Now ||the hand of Yahweh|| had come unto me, in the evening, before the coming of him who had escaped, and he had opened my mouth, by the time that he came to me in the morning,
—so my mouth |was opened|,<sup>d</sup> and I was dumb no longer. <sup>23</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
- 24 Son of man,
||These inhabitants of waste places, on the soil of Israel|| are saying thus,
<One> was Abraham,
Yet he inherited the land,—
But ||we|| are many',
<To us> is the land' given as an inheritance.
- 25 |Wherefore| say unto them,
||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh.
<With the blood> ye do eat,
And <your eyes><sup>e</sup> ye do lift up unto your manufactured gods,
And <blood> ye do shed;
And <the land> shall ye inherit?
- 26 Ye men' have taken your stand by your
sword,
Ye women<sup>f</sup> have wrought abomination,
And <every man—with the wife of his neighbour> have ye defiled yourselves;
And <the land> shall ye inherit?
- 27 ||Thus|| shalt thou say unto them,
||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
||As I live|| surely ||they who are in the waste places|| <by the sword> shall fall,
And ||him who is on the face of the field|| <to the wild beast> have I given to be devoured,<sup>h</sup>—
And ||they who are in the mountain holds

- and in the pits|| <by pestilence> shall die;
- 28 And I will make the land a desolation and an
astonishment,
|So shall be made to cease| the pride of her strength,—
And the mountains of Israel shall be too desolate for any' to pass through.
- 29 So shall they know' that ||I|| am Yahweh,—
When I make<sup>a</sup> the land a desolation and an astonishment, because of all their abomi-nations which they have committed.
- 30 ||Thou|| therefore, Son of man,
||The sons of thy people who are talking against thee||
<Near the walls and in the entrances of the houses> are speaking one with another, every man with his brother, saying,
Come in, we pray you, and hear, what is the word that is coming forth from Yahweh;
- 31 That they may come unto thee as people do'
come,
And may sit before thee, [as] my people,
And they will hear thy words,
But <the words themselves> will they not do,— though <fond with their mouths>
||they|| seem to be,
<After their unjust gain> |their heart| is going.
- 32 And lo! thou art to them—
As a bewitching song,<sup>b</sup>
Of one with a beautiful voice,
And skilfully touching the strings,—
So will they hear thy words,
And yet be going to do none' of them.
- 33 But <when it cometh Lo! it is coming!>
Then shall they know' that ||a prophet|| hath been in their midst.

§ 33. Against the Shepherds of Israel. The True Shepherd judges both betwixt Classes and Individuals.

- 1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, 34
saying:
- 2 Son of man,
Prophecy against the shepherds of Israel,— Prophecy, and thou shalt say unto them, even to the shepherds—
||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh—
Alas! for the shepherds of Israel who have been tending |themselves|!
Is it not ||the flock|| that the shepherds should tend?

<sup>a</sup> Or: "By my making."

<sup>b</sup> As "a love-song"—O.G.

<sup>c</sup> So it shd be (w. Sep. and Vul.)—G.n.

- <The well-fed> ye do sacrifice,<sup>a</sup>
 <The flock> ye do not tend:
- 4 <The weak> have ye not strengthened,
 And <the sick> have ye not healed,
 And <the torn> have ye not bound up,
 And <that which was driven out> have ye not brought back,
 And <that which was straying> have ye not sought out;
 But <with force> have ye ruled them, and with rigour.
- 5 And they were scattered, because there was no shepherd;
 And they became food for every wild beast of the field.
 So were they scattered.
- 6 My sheep did wander' through all the mountains,
 And over every high hill,—
 And <over all the face of the land> were my sheep scattered,
 And there was none' to inquire,
 And none' to seek out.
- 7 |Wherefore| ye shepherds, hear ye the word
 of Yahweh:
- 8 <As I live>—
 Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,
 Surely <because my flock became a prey,
 And my flock became food for every wild beast of the field, through having no' shepherd,
 Neither did my shepherds inquire after the flock,—
 But |the shepherds| tended |themselves|.
 And <my flock> they tended not>
- 9 ||Therefore| ye shepherds, hear ye the word
 of Yahweh:
- 10 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 Behold me! against the shepherds,
 So then I will require my flock at their hand,
 And will cause them to cease tending the flock,
 Neither shall |the shepherds| any longer' tend'
 |themselves|,
 But I will deliver my flock out of their mouth,
 that they may not be their' food.
- 11 For
 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,—
 Here am ||I myself||
 Therefore will I inquire after my flock, and seek them out:
- 12 <As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day he is in the midst of his sheep that are scattered>
 ||So|| will I seek out my sheep, and will deliver them out of all the places where they were scattered in the day of cloud and thick darkness;
- 13 And I will bring them out from among the peoples,
 And will gather them out of the lands,
 And will bring them upon their own soil,—
 And will tend them Upon the mountains of
- Israel, In the ravines,<sup>a</sup> And in all the habitable places of the land:
- 14 <In good pastures> will I feed them,
 And <on the mountains of the height of Israel> shall be their fold,— <There> shall they lie down, in a fold that is good,
 And <on pasture that is fat> shall they feed,
 among the mountains of Israel.
- 15 ||I myself|| will tend my flock,
 And ||I myself|| will cause them to lie down,
 Declareth My Lord, Yahweh:
- 16 <That which is straying> will I seek out,
 And <that which hath been driven away>
 will I bring back,
 And <that which is torn> will I bind up,
 And <the weak> will I strengthen,—
 But <the fat and the strong> will I watch,<sup>b</sup> I will feed them with justice.
- 17 And <as for you, O my flock>
 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh:
 Behold me! judging between one kind of small cattle and another, as well the rams as the he-goats.
- 18 Is it too small a thing for you that <on the good pasture> ye feed,
 But <the remainder of your pastures> ye must needs trample down with your feet?
 Or that <of the pure waters> ye drink,
 But <the waters left remaining>—with your feet> ye must needs foul?
- 19 And ||my flock||
 <On what hath been trampled down by your feet> may feed,
 And <of what hath been fouled by your feet> may drink?
- 20 |Therefore|
 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh, unto them:
 Here am ||I myself||,
 Therefore will I judge between fat' sheep and lean' sheep,
- 21 <Because <with the side and with the shoulder> ye do thrust,
 And <with your horns> ye do push all the sick,—
 Until ye have scattered them abroad>
- 22 Therefore will I bring salvation<sup>c</sup> to my flock, and they shall be no longer a prey,—but I will judge' between one sheep and another,
- 23 And I will raise up over them one shepherd
 And he shall tend them,
 Even my servant David,—
 ||He|| will tend them,
 And ||he|| will become to them a shepherd;
- 24 And ||I, Yahweh|| will become to them a
 God, ||my servant David|| being a prince<sup>d</sup>
 in their midst,—
 ||I, Yahweh|| have spoken;
- 25 And I will solemnise for<sup>e</sup> them a covenant of prosperity,
 And will cause to cease the mischievous
 wild-beast out of the land,

<sup>a</sup> That is, for eating. Cp. O.G. 257; also Lu. xv. 23, 30.

And they shall dwell in the wilderness,
securely,

And shall sleep in the forests;

26 And I will make them' and the places round about my hill' a blessing,—

And I will cause the abundant rain to come down in its season <abundant rains of blessing> shall they be;

27 And the tree of the field shall yield his fruit,
And [the land] shall yield her increase,
And they shall remain on their own soil, in security,—

So shall they know' that [I] am Yahweh,
When I have broken* the bars of their yoke,
And shall deliver them out of the hand of them who have been using them as slaves.

28 And they shall be no longer a prey for the
nations,

Nor shall [the wild beast of the earth] devour
them,—

But they shall dwell securely, with none' to put them in terror.

29 And I will raise up unto them a plantation for fame,<sup>b</sup>—

And there shall be no longer the destroyed of hunger in the land,

Neither shall they bear any longer the reproach of the nations.

30 So shall they<sup>c</sup> know' that [I] Yahweh their God am with them,—

And that [they] are my people, the house of Israel, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

31 [Ye] therefore, [my flock, the flock of my pasture] are [men],—

[I] am your God,<sup>d</sup>
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

§ 34. Against Mount Seir (Edom). (Cp. § 25.)

35 <sup>1</sup> And the word of Yahweh came' unto me,
saying:

<sup>2</sup> Son of man,

Set thy face against Mount Seir,—and prophesy against it; <sup>3</sup> and thou shalt say to it,

[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Behold me! against thee, O Mount Seir,—

Therefore will I stretch out my hand against
thee,

And I will make thee a desolation and an
astonishment:

<sup>4</sup> <Thy cities> will I lay waste',

<Since [blood] thou hast not hated><sup>a</sup>

Therefore [blood] shall pursue thee,

<sup>7</sup> So then I will deliver up Mount Seir, to desolation after desolation,—

And will cut off therefrom, him that passeth
by and him that returneth,

<sup>8</sup> And I will fill his mountains with his slain,— <As for thy hills and thy hollows and all thy channels> [they who are thrust through by the sword] shall fall therein:

<sup>9</sup> <Desolations age-abiding> will I make thee,
And [thy cities] shall not be inhabited,<sup>b</sup>—

So shall ye know' that [I] am Yahweh.

<sup>10</sup> <Because thou hast said,
[The two nations, and the two lands]

[mine] shall become, that we may possess it>

Whereas [Yahweh] had been [there]>

<sup>11</sup> [Therefore] <as I live>

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,
I will even deal according to<sup>c</sup> thine anger, and according to<sup>d</sup> thine envy, wherewith thou hast dealt, out of thy hatred, with them,—

So will I make myself known among them, as soon as I shall judge thee!

<sup>12</sup> And thou shalt know' that [I] Yahweh] have heard all thy revilings, which thou hast uttered against the mountains of Israel
saying,

They have become desolate,—
<To us> have they been given for food;

<sup>13</sup> And so ye have magnified yourselves against me' with your mouth,

And have caused to abound against me' your words,—

[I] have heard!

<sup>14</sup> [Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,—
<When all the earth is rejoicing> [a desolation] will I make thee:

<sup>15</sup> <As thou didst rejoice over the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it had become a desolation> [so] will I do unto thee,—

<A desolation> shalt thou become, O

Mount Seir,

And all Edom, [all of it],

So shall they know' that [I] am Yahweh.

- 2 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 <Because the enemy hath said concerning you,
 Aha! ||Even the high places of age-past times|| for a possession| have become ours>
- 3 |Therefore| prophesy, and thou shalt say,
 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,—
 <Because, even because, they have desolated and panted for you, on every side,
 That ye should become a possession to the rest of the nations,
 And ye have come up into the talk of the tongue and the slander of the people>
- 4 |Therefore| ye mountains of Israel, hear ye the word of My Lord, Yahweh,—
 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,<sup>a</sup>
 To the mountains and to the hills, to the channels and to the valleys, and to the desolate waste places, and to the cities that are forsaken, which have become a prey and a derision, to the rest of the nations, which are on every side:
- 5 |Therefore|
 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 Surely <in the fire of my jealousy> have I spoken against the rest of the nations, and against Edom [all of it].—
 Who have given my land to themselves for a possession,
 In the rejoicing of all the heart,
 In contempt of soul,
 To make of its produce a prey.
- 6 |Therefore| prophesy, concerning the soil of Israel,—and say to the mountains and to the hills, to the channels and to the valleys,
 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 Behold me!
 <In my jealousy and in mine indignation> have I spoken,
 Because <the insult of the nations> ye have borne;
- 7 |Therefore|
 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 ||I myself|| have lifted my hand,—
 Surely ||the nations which are yours<sup>b</sup> round about|| ||they|| <their own shame> shall bear:
- 8 But ||ye, O mountains of Israel||
 <Your boughs> shall ye shoot forth,
 And <your fruit> shall ye bear. For my people Israel,
 For they have drawn near to enter.
- 9 For lo! I am towards you,
 Therefore will I turn towards you,
 And ye shall be tilled, and sown;
- 10 And I will multiply upon you—men, All the house of Israel, All of it,
 Then shall the cities |be inhabited|,
 And ||the waste places|| shall be built,
 And I will multiply upon you—man and beast,
 And they shall multiply and be fruitful,—

<sup>a</sup> Or as two proper names:
 "Adonay, Yahweh."

<sup>b</sup> This would seem the most natural rendering of the Hebrew, and the result may prove of value elsewhere.

- And I will cause you to be inhabited as in your former estates,
 And will do you more good than at your beginnings,
 So shall ye know<sup>c</sup> that ||I|| am Yahweh;
- 12 And I will bring upon you—men, even my people Israel,
 That they may possess thee,
 So shalt thou be theirs, as an inheritance,—
 And thou shalt no more again<sup>d</sup> make them childless.
- 13 ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
 <Because they are saying to you,
 <A devourer of men> thou art',
 And <one that didst make childless thy nations> hast thou been>
- 14 |Therefore| <men> shalt thou not devour any more,—
 And <thy nations> shalt thou make childless<sup>e</sup> no more,
 Declareth My Lord, Yahweh;
- 15 And I will not suffer to be heard against thee, any more, the insult of the nations,
 And <the reproach of the peoples> shalt thou not bear any more,—
 And <thy nations> shalt thou not cause to stumble any more,
 Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

§ 36. The Evil Effects of Israel's Dispersion are to be removed by her Restoration and Abundant Blessing.

- 16 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
- 17 Son of man,
 |The house of Israel| were dwelling upon their own soil,
 But they defiled it, by their way, and by their doings.
 <Like the defilement of her that is removed> became their way before me.
- 18 So I poured out mine indignation upon them,
 Because of the blood which they had shed upon the land,—
 Yea <with their manufactured gods> had they defiled it.
- 19 So I dispersed them among the nations,
 And they were scattered throughout the lands,—
 <According to their way and according to their doings> I judged them.
- 20 But <when they<sup>b</sup> entered among the nations where they did enter> then profaned they my holy Name,—in that it was said of them,
 <The people of Yahweh> these!
 Yet <from his land> have they come forth!

<sup>c</sup> Written: "cause to fall"; but read: "made childless." Some cod. (w. 3 ear. pr. eds., Aram., Sep., Syr., Vul.) both write and read: "make childless"—G.n.

<sup>b</sup> [Lit. in M.C.T.: "he" (or "it"). "They" in sp. v.r. (sevir); and in some cod., both written and read (w. Aram., Sep., Syr. and Vul.)—G.n.]

- 21 So then I had tender regard for my holy Name,—
Which the house of Israel [had profaned], among the nations, where they had entered.
- 22 [Therefore] say thou to the house of Israel,
[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,
<Not for your sakes> am I working, O house of Israel,
But for my holy Name, which ye have profaned, among the nations where ye have entered;
- 23 Therefore will I hallow my great Name, that hath been profaned among the nations, which ye have profaned in their midst,—
So shall the nations know that I am Yahweh.
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,
When I have hallowed myself in you,<sup>a</sup> before their<sup>b</sup> eyes.
- 24 Therefore will I take you from among the
nations,
And gather you out of all the lands,—
And will bring you upon your own soil;
- 25 And I will throw<sup>c</sup> upon you clean water, and ye shall be clean,— <From all your uncleannesses and from all your manufactured gods> will I cleanse you;
- 26 And I will give you a new heart,
And  will I put within you,—
And I will take away the heart of stone, out of your flesh,
And will give you a heart of flesh;
- 27 And <my spirit><sup>d</sup> will I put within you,—
And will cause
That <in my statutes> ye shall walk,
And <my regulations> ye shall observe,
and do;
- 28 And ye shall dwell in the land which I gave to your fathers,—
And ye shall become my people,<sup>e</sup>
And I will become your God;<sup>f</sup>
- 29 And I will save you, out of all your uncleannesses,—
And will call for the corn, and will increase it,
And will not lay upon you, famine;
- 30 And I will multiply
The fruit of the tree, and
The increase of the field,—
To the end that ye may not receive any more,
the reproach of famine, among the nations.
- 31 Then shall ye call to mind
Your ways that were wicked, and
Your doings that were not good,—
And shall become loathsome in your own sight.
For your iniquities, and
For your abominations.

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,

Turn ye pale and then blush for your ways, O
house of Israel.
- 33 [Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,
<In the day when I cleanse you, from all your iniquities>
Then will I cause the cities to be inhabited,
And the waste places [shall be built];
- 34 And [the land that was made desolate] shall be tilled,—
Whereas it was a desolation, before the eyes of every passer-by;
- 35 And they shall say [This land that was made desolate] hath become like the garden of Eden,—
And [the cities that were waste and deserted and thrown down] <now fenced> are inhabited;
- 36 So shall the nations that may be left remaining round about you know that I
Yahweh]—
Have built that which was thrown down,
and
Have planted that which was made desolate,—
[I, Yahweh] have spoken, and performed.
- 37 [Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,
<Even yet—for this> will I be prevailed upon by the house of Israel, to work for
them,—
I will multiply them—
Like a flock—with men :
<Like a flock of holy offerings,
Like the flock of Jerusalem, in her appointed feasts>
[So] shall the waste cities be filled with flocks of men,—
And they shall know that I am Yahweh.

§ 37. The Prophetic Vision of the Dry Bones.

- 1 <The hand of Yahweh [being upon me]> he 37 carried me forth in the spirit of Yahweh, and set me down in the midst of a plain,—and [the same] was full of bones; <sup>2</sup> and he caused me to pass near them, round about on every side,—and lo! they were very many on the face of the plain, and lo! they were very dry. <sup>3</sup> Then said he unto me,
Son of man,
Can these bones [live]?
And I said,
My Lord, Yahweh, [thou] knowest!
<sup>4</sup> Then said he unto me,
Prophecy over these bones,—and thou shalt say unto them,
Ye bones so dry! hear ye the word of Yahweh!
<sup>5</sup> [Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Unto these bones,— Lo! I am about to bring into you—spirit, and ye shall live;

6 Yea I will lay upon you—sinews,
And bring up over you—flesh,
And cover over you—skin,
And put in you—spirit,
And ye shall live,
Then shall ye know that ||I|| am Yahweh.

7 And <when I prophesied, as I was commanded> then was there a noise, as I prophesied, and lo! a rattling, and the bones [came near], each bone unto its own bone. <sup>a</sup> And <when I looked> then lo! upon them were sinews, and ||flesh|| had come up, and there had spread' over them skin, above,—but <spirit> was there none' within them.

<sup>9</sup> Then said he unto me,
Prophecy unto the spirit,—
Prophecy, Son of man, and thou shalt say unto the spirit,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh—
<From the four winds> <sup>a</sup> come thou, O spirit, <sup>b</sup>
And breathe into these slain,
That they may live.

10 And <when I prophesied, as he commanded me> then came into them the spirit, and they lived, and stood upon their feet, an exceeding' great army. <sup>11</sup> Then said he unto me,

Son of man,
||These bones|| are [all the house of Israel],—
Lo! they are saying,
Dried' are our bones, and lost' is our hope,
We are quite' cut off!

12 ||Therefore|| prophecy and thou shalt say unto them,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Lo! ||I myself|| am going to open your graves,
And will cause you to come up out of your graves, O my people,—
And will bring you upon the soil of Israel.

13 So shall ye know that ||I|| am Yahweh,—
When I open<sup>d</sup> your graves,
And cause<sup>e</sup> you to come up out of your graves, O my people,

14 And I will put my spirit within you, and ye shall live,
And I will settle you upon your own soil,—
So shall ye know that ||I, Yahweh|| have spoken and have performed.

Declareth Yahweh.

§ 38. The Reunion of Judah and Joseph (Israel) foretold under the Symbol of Two Sticks becoming One.

15 And the word of Yahweh came' unto me, saying:

<sup>b</sup> Or: "wind"; but it is a "breathing," "life-giving" wind; and it is the same word that is rendered "spirit" in ver. 14. The English reader may well regret that he has, in his mother-tongue, no single word which with equal aptness means either "wind" or "spirit." That is the inimitable felicity of the Hebrew of this passage.

<sup>c</sup> So O.G. p. 516.
<sup>e</sup> Or: "by my causing."

16 ||Thou|| therefore, Son of man,
Take thee one stick, and write upon it,
For Judah, and for the sons of Israel his companions,<sup>a</sup>—

Then take thou another stick, and write upon it,

For Joseph, the stick of Ephraim, and all the house of Israel, his companions.

17 Then bring them near—the one to the other—for thee, into one stick,—

And they shall become united in thy hand.<sup>b</sup>

18 And <when the sons of thy people [speak unto thee], saying,—

Wilt thou not tell us, what' these things are' to thee?>

19 speak unto them,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Lo! ||I myself|| am going to take the stick of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel, his companions,<sup>a</sup>—

And I will place them upon it, even upon the stick of Judah,

And will make of them one' stick,
And they shall become one, in my hand.

20 And the sticks whereon thou shalt write shall remain in thy hand, before their eyes.

21 Therefore speak thou unto them,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Lo! ||I myself|| am going to take the sons of Israel from among the nations, whither they have gone,—

And I will gather them from every side,
And will bring them in upon their own soil;

22 And will make of them one' nation in the land, among the mountains<sup>c</sup> of Israel,
And <one king> shall they all' have, for king,—

And they shall remain no longer' two nations,

Nor shall they be divided into two kingdoms ||any more||.

23 Neither shall they defile themselves any more With their manufactured gods, or With their detestable things, or With any of their transgressions,—

But I will save them out of all their dwelling-places<sup>d</sup> wherein<sup>e</sup> they have sinned,

And I will cleanse them,
And they shall become my' people,<sup>f</sup>

And ||I|| will become their' God.<sup>g</sup>

24 And ||my servant David|| shall be king over them,

And <one shepherd> shall they all' have,—

And <in my regulations> shall they walk,
And <my statutes> shall they observe, and do them.

||They, and their children, and their children's children||
Unto times age-abiding,
And ||David my servant|| shall be prince<sup>a</sup> unto them,
Unto times age-abiding.
- 26 And I will solemnise to them a covenant of prosperity,<sup>b</sup>
<A covenant age-abiding> shall it be with them,—

And multiply them,
And set my sanctuary in the midst of them,

people Israel, like a cloud covering the land,—

<In the afterpart of the days> shall it be, that I will suffer thee to enter upon my land,

To the end the nations [may know me], when I hallow myself* in thee before their eyes, O Gog!

17 ¶Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh,
Art [thou] he' of whom I spake in days aforetime, by the hand of my servants the prophets of Israel, who kept on prophesying in those days, for years,—
That thou shouldst be suffered to come against them?

So then shall it come to pass in that day,
<In the day when Gog entereth' upon the soil of Israel,

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh>
That mine indignation [shall come up] into my nostrils;

19 Yea, <in my jealousy, in the fire of mine outburst> have I spoken,— Surely <in that day> shall there be a great trembling upon the soil of Israel:

20 Then shall tremble before me
* The fishes of the sea, and

The wild beast of the field, and Every creeping thing that creepeth on the ground, and
All the men, who are on the face of the ground,— and
The mountains [shall be torn asunder], and ¶Every wall [to the earth] shall be thrown.

21 Then will I call against him, every terror,<sup>b</sup>
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,
¶The sword of every man [against his brother] shall be;

22 Then will I contend with him, by pestilence and by blood,—
And <an overflowing downpour and hail-stones, fire and brimstone> will I rain Upon him, and Upon his hordes, and
Upon the many peoples who are with him.

23 So will I
Magnify myself, and Hallow myself, and
Make myself known,
Before the eyes of many nations,—
And they shall know' that [I] am Yahweh.

39 <sup>1</sup> ¶Thou therefore, son of man,
Prophecy against Gog, and thou shalt say,
¶Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh:
Behold me! against thee, O Gog,
Prince<sup>c</sup> of Rosh, Meshech and Tubal.

2 Therefore will I turn thee about, and lead on, and cause thee to come up out of remote parts of the North,—
And will bring thee in upon the mount of Israel;

3 And I will smite thy bow, out of thy hand,—
And <thine arrows — out of thy hand> will I cause to fall.

4 <Upon the mountains of Israel> shalt fall,
¶Thou and all thy hordes, and the people who are with thee,—
<To birds of prey of every wing, and the beast of the field> will I give thee food:

5 <Upon the face of the field> shalt fall,—
For [I] have spoken,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,

6 And I will send a fire into Magog,
And among them who are dwelling in the Coastlands, securely,—

7 So shall they know' that [I] am Yahweh!
And <my holy' Name> will I make known, in the midst of my people Israel,
And will not suffer my holy' Name profaned any more,—

So shall the nations know' that [I] am Yahweh,
Holy in Israel.

8 Lo! it is coming, and shall be brought to pass,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,—
¶The same [is the day whereof I had spoken,

9 Then shall go forth the dwellers of the cities of Israel, and shall make fires of the weapons and burn them,
Both buckler and shield, bow and arrow, and handstaff and spear,—

10 And shall make fires of them, seven years;
And they shall not take wood out of the field, Neither shall they cut down out of the forests,—

For <of the armour> shall they make fires,—
So shall they spoil those who spoiled them',
And prey on those who preyed on them',
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

11 And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will give to Gog a place of memorial<sup>d</sup> for burial in Israel, even the valley of them that pass through east of the sea,
And it shall be enough to keep back them who would pass through,— and they shall bury there, Gog and all his multitude, and shall call it, Ge-ham-on-gog.
[That is "The valley of the multitude of Gog."]

12 So shall the house of Israel bury them [that they may cleanse the land],— seven months;

XXXVIII. 22—G.n.
<sup>d</sup> So it shd be (w. Sep. and Vul.)—G.n.

13 Yea all the people of the land shall bury, and it shall become to them a memorial,—the day that I get myself glory,
Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

14 And <men to keep at it constantly* > shall they tell off. Men to pass throughout the land, who, with the passers-by, shall continue burying them who have been left on the face of the land, to cleanse it,— <At the end of seven months > shall they make search.

15 And <when any of the passers-by, in going through the land, shall see a human bone > then shall he set up near it a sign,—until the buriers have buried it, in Ge-hamon-Gog.

16 Moreover the name of a city shall be Hamonah ["To the multitude"], so shall they cleanse the land.

17 [Thou] therefore, son of man,

[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,

Say to the bird of every wing,

And to every wild beast of the field,

Assemble yourselves and come,

Gather yourselves from every side, unto my sacrifice which I am sacrificing for you. A great sacrifice, on the mountains of Israel,—

And ye shall eat flesh, and drink blood :

18 <The flesh of mighty men > shall ye eat, And <the blood of the princes<sup>b</sup> of the earth > shall ye drink.—

Rams, well-fed lambs and he-goats, bullocks, Fatlings of Bashan, all of them ;

19 And ye shall eat fat till ye are sated, And drink blood till ye are drunken, Of my sacrifice which I have sacrificed for you ;

20 So shall ye be sated at my table, with horse and chariot team, mighty man, and every man of war,—

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

21 Thus will I set my glory among the nations,— And all the nations shall see |

My judgment, which I have executed,—and My hand, which I have laid upon them.

22 So shall the house of Israel know<sup>c</sup> that [I, Yahweh] am their God,—from that day and forward ;

23 And the nations shall know<sup>d</sup>

That <in<sup>e</sup> their iniquity > were the house of Israel exiled<sup>f</sup> because they had committed treachery against me, And so I hid my face from them,— And gave them into the hand of their adversaries, And they fell by the sword, [all of them].

24 <According to their uncleanness and according to their transgressions > dealt I with them,— And so I hid my face from them.

25 [Therefore]—

[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,

[Now] will I bring back them of the captivity of Jacob,

And have compassion upon all the house of Israel,—

And will be jealous for my holy Name ;

26 And they shall bear their confusion, and the punishment of all their treachery,<sup>g</sup> where-with they have committed treachery against me,—

When they dwell upon their own soil securely, with none<sup>h</sup> to make them afraid ;

27 When I have brought them back from among the peoples,

And gathered them out of the lands of their enemies,—

So will I hallow myself in them, before the eyes of the many nations ;

28 And they shall know<sup>i</sup> that [I, Yahweh] am their God, When I have carried<sup>j</sup> them into exile among the nations, And shall then gather them upon their own soil,— And shall no more leave any of them there.

29 Neither will I any more hide my face from them,— In that I have poured out my spirit,<sup>k</sup> upon the house of Israel,

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

§ 40. An Extraordinary Vision (chaps. xl.—xlviii.) of Restored Land, Tribal Portions, Temple, Priests, and Sacrifices, as to which the Conditioning Force of chap. xliii. 7—11 should not be overlooked.

1 <In the twenty-fifth year of our exile, at 40 the beginning of the year, on the tenth of the month, in the fourteenth year, after the city [was smitten] > <on this selfsame day > came upon me the hand of Yahweh, and he brought me thither: <sup>2</sup> <In the visions of God > he brought me into the land of Israel,—and set me down upon an exceeding high mountain, and <thereupon > was, as it were, the structure of a city, on the south. <sup>3</sup> And <when he brought me thither > then lo! a man, whose appearance was like the appearance of bronze, with a flax-cord in his hand, and a measuring reed,—and he<sup>4</sup> was standing in the gate. <sup>4</sup> And the man [spoke unto me] [saying],

Son of man,
See with thine eyes,
And <with thine ears > hear thou,
And apply thy heart<sup>5</sup> to whatsoever I am about to show thee,
For <to the intent it might be shown thee > hast thou been brought hither,—

Declare all that thou<sup>6</sup> seest unto the house of Israel.

5 And lo! a wall on the outside of the house, round about on every side,—and <in the hand of the man> was the measuring reed, six cubits by the cubit, and a handbreadth, so he measured the breadth of the enclosing-wall, one reed, and the height, one reed.

<sup>6</sup> Then came he unto the gate that looked toward the east, and went up by the steps thereof, and measured the threshold of the gate, one reed broad, and the other threshold, one reed broad. <sup>7</sup> And [the lodge] was one reed long, and one reed broad, and <between the lodges> was a space of five cubits, and [the threshold of the gate from beside the porch of the gate inwards] was one reed. <sup>8</sup> Then measured he the porch of the gate inwards, one reed.<sup>a</sup> <sup>9</sup> Then measured he the porch of the gate, eight cubits, and the projections<sup>b</sup> thereof, two cubits, and [the porch of the gate] was within. <sup>10</sup> And [the lodges of the gate that was towards the east] were, three on this side, and three on that side, <one measure> had they three, and <one measure> had the projections, on this side and on that side. <sup>11</sup> Then measured he the breadth of the entrance of the gate, ten cubits—[the length<sup>c</sup> of the gate], thirteen cubits. <sup>12</sup> And [the space before the lodges] was one cubit, and <one cubit> the space on that side; and [the lodge itself] was six cubits on this side, and six cubits on that side. <sup>13</sup> Then measured he the gate, from the roof of this lodge to the roof of that, a breadth of twenty-five cubits,—entrance over against entrance. <sup>14</sup> [Then measured<sup>d</sup> he the porch, twenty<sup>e</sup> cubits,—even unto the projection of the court, the lodges<sup>f</sup> of the gate round about on every side; <sup>15</sup> and <from<sup>g</sup> the face of the gate outwards, unto the face of the porch of the inner gate> was fifty cubits. <sup>16</sup> And [latticed windows] had the lodges, even towards their projections within the gate, round about on every side, and [so] had the recesses, and windows round about on every side inwards, and <against each projection> palm-trees.

ing to the measure of the first gate, [fifty cubits] the length thereof, and [the breadth] twenty-five, by the cubit. <sup>22</sup> And [the windows<sup>k</sup> thereof and the recesses<sup>l</sup> thereof and the palm-trees<sup>m</sup> thereof] were according to the measure of the gate that looked toward the east,—and <by seven steps> they ascend it, and [their recesses<sup>n</sup>] were within.<sup>d</sup> <sup>23</sup> And [the gate to the inner court] was over against the gate, to the north and to the east,—so he measured from gate to gate, one hundred cubits.

<sup>24</sup> Then he took me toward the south, and lo! [a gate] toward the south,—and he measured the projections<sup>o</sup> thereof, and the recesses<sup>p</sup> thereof, according to these measures. <sup>25</sup> And [windows] were there to it, and the recesses<sup>q</sup> thereof round about on all sides, like these windows,—[fifty cubits] in length, and <in breadth> five-and-twenty cubits. <sup>26</sup> And [seven steps] the ascents thereof, with its recesses<sup>r</sup> within,<sup>d</sup> and it had [palm trees] one on this side and one on that side, against<sup>t</sup> the projections<sup>o</sup> thereof. <sup>27</sup> And [a gate] had the inner court, towards the south,—so he measured from gate to gate, toward the south, a hundred cubits. <sup>28</sup> Yea <when he brought me to the inner court through the south gate> then measured he the south gate, according to these measures; <sup>29</sup> and [the lodges<sup>s</sup> thereof, and the projections<sup>u</sup> thereof, and the recesses<sup>v</sup> thereof] were according to these measures, and [windows] were there to it, and to the recesses thereof, round about on every side,—[fifty cubits] in length, and <in breadth> twenty and five cubits; <sup>30</sup> and [there were] recesses, round about on every side,—[in length] five and twenty cubits, and [in breadth] five cubits;<sup>b</sup> <sup>31</sup> and [the recesses<sup>w</sup> thereof] [reached] unto the outer court, with [palm-trees] against<sup>t</sup> the projections<sup>u</sup> thereof, and [eight steps] were the ascents<sup>x</sup> thereof.

tions<sup>a</sup> thereof, and the recesses<sup>b</sup> thereof, with ||windows|| to it round about on every side,—||in length|| fifty cubits, and ||in breadth|| five and twenty cubits; <sup>37</sup> and ||the recesses<sup>c</sup> thereof|| [reached] unto the outer court, with ||palm-trees|| against the projections thereof, on this side and on that side,—and ||eight steps|| were the ascents<sup>d</sup> thereof. <sup>38</sup> And there was a chamber with its entrance, within the projections<sup>e</sup> at the gates,—<there> shall they rinse the ascending-sacrifice. <sup>39</sup> And <in the porch of the gate> were two tables, on this side, and two tables, on that side,—to slay thereon the ascending-sacrifice, and the sin-bearer, and the guilt-bearer. <sup>40</sup> And <at the side without, in ascending to the entrance of the north gate> were two tables,—and <at the other side which pertaineth to the porch of the gate> were two tables. <sup>41</sup> ||Four tables|| on this side and ||four tables|| on that side, by the side of the gate,—||eight tables|| whereupon they shall slay.

<sup>42</sup> And ||the four tables for the ascending-offering|| were of hewn stone, <in length> one cubit and a half, and <in breadth> one cubit and a half, and <in height> one cubit,—that <thereon> they may lay the instruments wherewith they shall slay the ascending-offering and the sacrifice. <sup>43</sup> And there were ||hooks of one hand-breadth|| fastened within, round about on every side,—and <upon the tables> the flesh of the offering. <sup>44</sup> And <on the outside of the inner gate> were the chambers<sup>f</sup> of the singers, in the inner court, which<sup>g</sup> was at the side of the north gate, and ||their front||<sup>h</sup> was toward the south,—||one|| at the side of the south<sup>i</sup> gate, fronting<sup>h</sup> toward the north. <sup>45</sup> Then spake he unto me [saying],

||This chamber, whose front is toward the south||, is for the priests' keeping the charge of the house; <sup>46</sup> and ||the chamber whose front is towards the north|| is for the priests keeping the charge of the altar,—||the same|| are the sons of Zadok<sup>k</sup>—who draw near, from among the sons of Levi, unto Yahweh, to wait upon him.

<sup>47</sup> Then measured he the court, ||the length|| a hundred cubits, and ||the breadth|| a hundred cubits, foursquare,—with the altar before the house.

<sup>48</sup> And <when he brought me unto the porch of the house> then measured he the projection of the porch, ||five cubits|| on this<sup>j</sup> side, and ||five cubits|| on that<sup>j</sup> side,—and ||the breadth of the gate||<sup>l</sup> was three cubits on this<sup>j</sup> side, and three cubits on that<sup>j</sup> side; <sup>49</sup> ||the length of the porch|| was twenty cubits, and ||the breadth|| twelve<sup>l</sup>

cubits, and by ten steps<sup>a</sup> they ascend into it,—and there were pillars against the projections, ||one|| on this<sup>j</sup> side, and ||one|| on that<sup>j</sup> side.

<sup>1</sup> Then he took me unto the temple,—and <sup>41</sup> measured the projection<sup>b</sup> six cubits broad on this side and six cubits broad on that side, the breadth of the tent. <sup>2</sup> And ||the breadth of the entrance|| was ten cubits, and ||the sides of the entrance|| were five cubits on this<sup>j</sup> side, and five cubits on that<sup>j</sup> side—and he measured the length thereof, forty cubits, and the breadth, twenty cubits.

<sup>3</sup> Then went he inwards, and measured the projection of the entrance, two cubits,—and ||the entrance itself|| was six cubits, and ||the sides<sup>c</sup> of the entrance|| seven cubits: <sup>4</sup> so he measured the length thereof twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits, at the front of the temple. <sup>5</sup> Then said he unto me,

||This|| is the holy of holies.

Then measured he the wall of the house six cubits,—and the breadth of the side-chamber, four cubits round about on every side of the house, round about. <sup>6</sup> And ||the side-chambers, one over another|| were three, and that thirty times, and they entered into the wall which pertained to the house for the side-chambers round about on every side, that they might have support,—and yet not have support in the wall of the house itself. <sup>7</sup> And there was a broadening and a winding about higher and higher to the side-chambers, for ||the circuit of the house|| was higher and higher round about on every side of the house, ||for this cause|| was there a broadening of the house upwards,—and <from<sup>d</sup> the lower> one ascended to the higher, by that which was in the middle. <sup>8</sup> Then saw I that the house had a height round about on every side,—the foundations of the side-chambers, a full reed, six cubits, to the joining.

<in length> a hundred cubits. <sup>14</sup> And the breadth of the front of the house and the secluded place toward the east, a hundred cubits.

<sup>15</sup> And he measured the length of the building against the front of the secluded place which was over the hinder part thereof and the galleries thereof on this side and on that side, a hundred cubits,—with the inner<sup>a</sup> temple and the porches of the court: <sup>16</sup> the entrance spaces and the latticed windows and the galleries round about their three stories, over against the entrance spaces wainscoted with wood, round about on every side,—and from<sup>b</sup> the ground up to the windows, and the windows were covered; <sup>17</sup> unto the space above the entrance even unto the inner house and without and against all the wall round about on every side within and without were the measures.

<sup>18</sup> And it was made with cherubim and palm-trees,—with a palm-tree between cherub and cherub, and two faces had each cherub; <sup>19</sup> and the face of a man was toward the palm-tree on this side, and the face of a young lion was toward the palm-tree on that side,—[thus was it] made unto all the house, round about on every side. <sup>20</sup> <From the ground as far as the space above the entrance><sup>c</sup> were the cherubim and the palm-trees made.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>22</sup> The altar was of wood, three cubits in height, and the length thereof two cubits, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the walls thereof were of wood,—then spake he unto me [saying],

[This] is the table, which is before Yahweh.

<sup>23</sup> And there were <two doors> to the temple, and to the holy place; <sup>24</sup> and two leaves to the doors,—two folding leaves, two to the one door, and two to the other door. <sup>25</sup> And there had been made unto them, unto the doors of the temple, cherubim and palm-trees, like as had been made to the walls,—and thick beams of wood unto the front of the porch without. <sup>26</sup> And there were latticed windows and palm-trees on this side and on that side, unto the sides of the porch,—and unto the side-chambers of the house and the thick beams.

thirties; <sup>4</sup> and <before the chambers> was a walk ten cubits in breadth inward, a way of one cubit,—and their entrances were to the north.

<sup>5</sup> Now the highest chambers were shortened,—because the galleries took away therefrom, more than from the lowest or from the middle, in structure. <sup>6</sup> For <three stories> they were; and had not pillars like the pillars of the courts; <for this cause> it differed from the lowest and from the middle, from the ground.

<sup>11</sup> And the way before them was like the appearance of the chambers which were toward the north, <as was their length> so was their breadth,—and all their exits were both according to their regulations, and according to their entrances. <sup>12</sup> And <according to the entrances of the chambers which were toward the south> was the entrance at the head of the way—the way in the face of the covered wall, the way toward the east in entering them.

<sup>13</sup> Then said he unto me,

<The chambers of the north, the chambers of the south, which face the secluded place> they are the holy chambers where the priests who draw near to Yahweh shall eat the most holy things; <there> shall they lay the most holy things, and the meal-offering and the sin-bearer and the guilt-bearer, for the place is holy.

<sup>14</sup> <When the priests enter them> then shall they not go forth out of the holy place into the outer court, but <there> shall they lay their garments wherein they minister, for holy they are, and shall put on other garments, and so draw near unto that which pertaineth to the people.

<sup>15</sup> And <when he had ended the measurings of the inner house> then he brought me forth by way of the gate which looked toward the east,—and measured it, round about on every side.

hundred, and [in breadth] five hundred,—to make a separation between the holy and the common.

- 43 <sup>1</sup> Then he took me unto the gate,—even the gate that looked toward the east; <sup>2</sup> when lo! [the glory of the God of Israel] coming from the way of the east,—and [the sound of him] was as the sound of many waters, and [the earth] shone with his glory. <sup>3</sup> And it was like the appearance of the vision which I had seen, like the vision which I saw—when I came in to destroy the city, also [the visions] were like the vision which I saw by the river Chebar,—so I fell upon my face. <sup>4</sup> And [the glory of Yahweh] entered into the house,—by way of the gate which looked toward the east. <sup>5</sup> So then the spirit [lifted me up], and brought me into the inner court,—and lo! the glory of Yahweh filled the house. <sup>6</sup> Then heard I one speaking unto me, out of the house,—and [a man] there was standing beside me. <sup>7</sup> Then said he unto me,

Son of man,

[This is] the place of my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, where I would dwell in the midst of the sons of Israel, to times age-abiding,—

But the house of Israel [must no more defile] my holy Name. [They, nor their kings] by their unchastity, and by the carcasses of their kings, in their high places.<sup>a</sup>

- <sup>8</sup> <When they placed—

Their threshold by my threshold, and their door-post beside my door-post, With only [the wall] between me and them> then defiled they my holy Name by their abominations which they committed,

Wherefore I devoured them, in mine anger.

- <sup>9</sup> [Now] let them remove their unchastity, and the carcasses of their kings, far from me,—
So will I make my habitation in the midst of them, to times age-abiding.

- <sup>10</sup> [Thou] <sup>b</sup> son of man,

Declare the house [unto the house of Israel], That they may be put to the blush for their iniquities,—

Then let them measure the pattern.

- <sup>11</sup> And <when they have blushed for all that they have done> then—

<The form of the house,

And the arrangement thereof,

And the exits thereof,

And the entrances thereof,

And all the forms <sup>c</sup> thereof, and all the statutes thereof,

<Upon the top of the mountain> [all the boundary thereof round about on every side] [shall be] most holy,
Lo! [this] shall be the law of the house.

- <sup>13</sup> And [these] shall be the measures of the altar, in cubits, [a cubit] being a cubit and a handbreadth; and [the hollow] shall be a cubit, and [a cubit] the breadth, and [the boundary thereof unto the edge thereof round about] shall be a single span.

And [this] shall be the upper part <sup>a</sup> of the altar.

- <sup>18</sup> Then said he unto me,

Son of man,

[Thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,

[These] shall be the statutes of the altar, in the day when it is made,—for offering up thereon—an ascending-sacrifice, and for dashing <sup>b</sup> thereon—blood.

<sup>19</sup> So then thou <sup>c</sup> shalt give unto the priests the Levites, those who are of the seed of Zadok, who approach unto me, thou shalt bring near a young bullock without defect, and a ram out of the flock, without defect; <sup>24</sup> and shalt bring them near before Yahweh,—and the priests shall cast over them salt, so shall they cause them to go up as an ascending-sacrifice to Yahweh. <sup>25</sup> <Seven days> shalt thou offer a sin-bearing goat, for each day,—and  shall they offer. <sup>26</sup> <Seven days> shall they put a propitiatory-covering over the altar, and shall purify it,—and shall consecrate it.<sup>a</sup> <sup>27</sup> <When the days shall be accomplished> then shall it be, <on the eighth day and forward> that the priests shall offer upon the altar your ascending-sacrifices, and your peace-offerings.

<sup>22</sup> And <on the second day> shalt thou bring near a kid of the goats without defect, as a sin-bearer,—and they shall cleanse the altar from sin,<sup>e</sup> just as they cleansed it from sin with the bullock.

And I will accept you.

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

44 <sup>1</sup> Then he brought me back, toward the outer gate of the sanctuary, which looked toward the east,—but [it] was shut. <sup>2</sup> Then said Yahweh unto me,

||This gate|| <shut> shall remain.

It shall not be opened.

And ||no man|| shall enter thereby,

Because ||Yahweh, God of Israel|| doth enter thereby,—

Therefore shall it remain—shut.

<sup>3</sup> The prince! <as prince> ||he|| shall sit therein,

To eat food, before Yahweh,—

<By way of the porch of the gate> shall he go in, and

<By way thereof> shall he<sup>b</sup> come out.

<sup>4</sup> Then he brought me in by way of the north gate, unto the front of the house, and I looked, and lo! [the glory of Yahweh] filled [the house of Yahweh],— so I fell upon my face. <sup>5</sup> And Yahweh [said unto me],

Son of man,

Apply thy heart,

And see with thine eyes,

And <with thine ears> hear thou,

All that I am speaking with thee,

As to all the statutes of the house of Yahweh, and

As to all the laws<sup>c</sup> thereof,—

And thou shalt apply thy heart

To the entering in of the house,

With all the exits of the sanctuary.

<sup>6</sup> So then thou shalt say unto the perverse [house], unto the house of Israel,

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh:

Let it more than suffice you,

Out of all your abominations, O house of Israel:

<sup>7</sup> That<sup>a</sup> ye brought in the sons of the foreigner,

Uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh,<sup>b</sup>

To be in my sanctuary. So that he profaned my house,—

That ye brought near as my food, the fat and the blood, And so they<sup>c</sup> brake my covenant—Among<sup>d</sup> all your abominations;

But ye did set [men] to be keepers of my charge in my sanctuary, for your own pleasure.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>9</sup> ||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,

No son of a foreigner,

Uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh,<sup>b</sup> shall enter into my sanctuary,—of any son of a foreigner, who is in the midst of the sons of Israel.

<sup>10</sup> But <as for the Levites,

Who went far from me, when Israel went astray,

Who went astray from me, after their manufactured gods>

Therefore shall they bear their iniquity.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>11</sup> Yet shall they remain in my sanctuary

As attendants in charge at the gates of the house,—

And attending upon the house,—

||They|| shall slay the ascending-offering, and the sacrifice of the people,

And ||they|| shall stand before them, to wait upon them.

<sup>12</sup> <Because they used to wait upon them, before their manufactured gods, and became to the house of Israel a stumbling-block of iniquity>

||For this cause|| have I lifted up my hand concerning them.

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,

and they shall bear their iniquity;

<sup>13</sup> So then they shall not come near unto me.

To minister as priests unto me,

Nor come near unto any of my holy things, As regardeth things most holy,<sup>g</sup>—

But they shall bear their rebuke, and their abominations<sup>h</sup> which they have committed;

<sup>14</sup> Yet will I make them keepers of the charge of the house,—

As to all the labour thereof, and

As to all which shall be done therein.

¶They|| shall draw near unto me, to wait upon me,—

And shall stand before me, to bring near unto me the fat and the blood.

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh:

16 ¶They|| shall enter into my sanctuary, and ¶They|| shall draw near unto my table, to wait upon me,—

So shall they keep my charge.

17 And it shall be <when they shall enter into the gates of the inner court>

¶Garments of linen|| shall they put on,—

Yea there shall come upon them no wool, when they minister in the gates of the inner court, and within:

18 ¶Chaplets of linen|| shall be upon their head, and

¶Breeches of linen|| shall be upon their loins,—

They<sup>a</sup> shall not gird themselves, so as to perspire.<sup>b</sup>

19 And <when they go forth into the outer court, into the outer court unto the people>

They shall put off their garments, wherein they<sup>c</sup> do minister, and lay them in the chambers of the holy place,—

And shall<sup>e</sup> put on other garments, That they may not hallow the people by their garments.

21 And <wine> shall no priest drink,—when they enter into the inner court.

But <virgins of the seed of the house of Israel,

Or a widow who shall be the widow of a priest> shall they take.

And <between the unclean and the clean> shall they cause them to distinguish.

¶They|| shall stand up for justice,<sup>e</sup>

<With my judgments> shall they judge it,—

And <my laws and my statutes in all mine appointed assemblies> shall they observe,

And <my sabbaths> shall they hallow.

Save that <for father or for mother or for son or for daughter, for<sup>a</sup> brother, or for sister who hath belonged to no husband> they may defile themselves.

26 Yet <after he is cleansed> ¶seven days|| shall they count to him.

27 And <in the day when he entereth into the sanctuary, into the inner court to minister in the sanctuary> He shall bring near his sin-bearer,

Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

28 So shall it become to them an inheritance, ¶I|| am their inheritance,—

And <possession> shall ye not give them in Israel, ¶I|| am their possession.

29 <As for the meal-offering and the sin-bearer and the guilt-bearer> ¶they|| shall eat them,—

And ¶everything devoted in Israel|| <to them> shall belong.

30 And ¶the first of all the firstfruits of everything, and every heave-offering of everything, from among all your heave-offerings|| <to the priests> shall it<sup>e</sup> belong,—

<The first of your meal> shall ye give to the priest, To cause a blessing to rest upon thy house.

31 ¶Nothing that died of itself or was torn in pieces, of bird or of beast|| shall be eaten<sup>f</sup> by the priests.<sup>g</sup>

1 And <when ye shall by lot divide the land 45

as an inheritance> ye shall offer up as a heave-offering to Yahweh a holy portion out of the land, <in length> five and twenty thousand long, and <in breadth> twenty<sup>e</sup> thousand,—¶holy|| shall it be throughout all the territory thereof, round about.

<sup>2</sup> There shall be, <out of this, for the holy place> five hundred by five hundred, four-square round about,—and fifty cubits, as an open space to it, round about.

<sup>3</sup> And <out of this measure> shalt thou measure, a length of five and twenty thousand, and a breadth of ten thousand,—and <therein> shall be the sanctuary, the holy of holies: <sup>4</sup>  it is, <for the priests who wait in the sanctuary> shall it be, who draw near to wait upon Yahweh,—so shall it be theirs, as a place for houses, and a sanctuary, for the sanctuary.

<sup>5</sup> And <five and twenty thousand> in length, and <ten thousand> in breadth,—and it shall be for the Levites who wait upon the house, theirs as a possession of cities to dwell in.<sup>f</sup>

in<sup>a</sup> all the appointed meetings of the house of Israel,—¶he shall offer the sin-bearer, and the meal-offering, and the ascending-sacrifice, and the peace-offerings, To put a propitiatory-covering about the house of Israel.

<sup>18</sup> ¶Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh, <In the first month, on the first day of the month> shalt thou take a young bullock, without defect,—and shalt cleanse the sanctuary from sin; <sup>19</sup> then shall the priest take of the blood of the sin-bearer, and put upon the door-posts of the house, and upon the four corners of the ledge of the altar, and upon the door-posts of the gate of the inner court. <sup>20</sup> And ¶so shalt thou do in the seventh of the month,<sup>b</sup> for any man that wavereth or is of feeble mind,—so shall ye cleanse the house by propitiation.

<sup>19</sup> Then he brought me in through the entrance which was by the side of the gate, into the chambers of the holy place for the priests, those facing the north, — and lo! there<sup>h</sup> a place, in the hinder parts westwards. <sup>20</sup> Then said he unto me, —

[This] is the place where the priests [shall boil] the guilt-bearer, and the sin-bearer, — where they shall bake the meal-offering, that one may not carry them forth into the outer court, to hallow the people.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>21</sup> So he caused me to go out into the outer court, and then made me pass through into the four corners of the court, — and lo! [a court] in each corner of the court: <sup>22</sup> <in the four corners of the court> were courts covered over, forty long and thirty broad: <of one measure> were those four.<sup>j</sup> <sup>23</sup> And there was an enclosure round about in them, round about to those four, — and [boiling places] had been made under the enclosures, round about. <sup>24</sup> And he said unto me, —

shall grow up on the bank thereof, on this side and on that side, every tree for food, the leaf whereof [shall not fade]—neither shall fail' the fruit thereof, <by its months> shall it break forth, for [as for the waters thereof] <out of the sanctuary> are they' coming forth,—and [the fruit] thereof shall be [for food], and [the leaf] thereof [for healing].

[This] shall be the boundary whereby ye shall take your inheritances in the land, according to the twelve tribes of Israel,—[Joseph] shall have portions. <sup>14</sup> So shall ye inherit it, each man like his brother, as to which I lifted my hand to give it to your fathers,—so shall this land fall' to you, as an inheritance.

<sup>15</sup> [This] then shall be the boundary of the land,—<on the north side> from the great sea by the way of Hethlon, to the entering in of Zedad; <sup>16</sup> Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is between the boundary of Damascus, and the boundary of Hamath,—Hazerhatticon, which is by the boundary of Hauran. <sup>17</sup> Thus shall there be a boundary, from the sea, Hazar-enin the boundary of Damascus, even the north northward, and the boundary of Hamath,—even<sup>a</sup> the north side. <sup>18</sup> And <for the east side> from between Hauran and Damascus and from between Gilead and the land of Israel, the Jordan, <from the boundary by the sea eastward> shall ye measure—even the east side. <sup>19</sup> And <for the south side southward> from Tamar as far as the waters of Meriboth<sup>b</sup>-kadesh, towards the torrent-bed, unto the great sea,—even<sup>c</sup> the south side southward. <sup>20</sup> And <for the west side> the great sea, from the boundary as far as over against the entering in of Hamath—

[this] is the west side.

<sup>21</sup> So then ye shall apportion this land to you by the tribes of Israel. <sup>22</sup> And it shall come to pass, that ye shall divide it by lot as an inheritance, to yourselves and to the sojourners who are sojourning in your midst, who have begotten children in your midst,—so shall they be to you as a native among the sons of Israel, <with you> shall they cast lots for an inheritance, in the midst of the tribes of Israel. <sup>23</sup> And it shall be, that <with whatsoever tribe the sojourner hath become a sojourner> [there] shall ye give his inheritance,

THE BOOK OF DANIEL.

§ 1. Daniel, in his Youth, carried Captive to Babylon, and there Trained for the Service of the King.

- 1 <sup>1</sup> <In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah> came Nebuchadnezzar* king of Babylon to Jerusalem, and laid siege against it; <sup>2</sup> and the Lord<sup>b</sup> gave into his hand Jehoiakim king of Judah, and a part of the vessels of the house of God, and he brought them into the land of Shinar, into the house of his gods,—and <the vessels> brought he into the treasure-house of his gods.
- <sup>3</sup> Then did the king give word to Ashpenaz, the chief of his eunuchs,—that he should bring in <of the sons of Israel, even<sup>c</sup> of the seed royal, and of the nobles> <sup>4</sup> youths in whom was no blemish, but comely of countenance, and skilful in all wisdom, and possessed of knowledge, and able to impart instruction, and who had vigour in them, to stand in the palace of the king,—and that they should be taught the learning and the tongue<sup>d</sup> of the Chaldeans. <sup>5</sup> And the king appointed them the provision of each day upon its day, out of the delicacies of the king and out of the wine which he drank, and so to let them grow three years,—and <at the end thereof> that they should stand before the king.
- <sup>6</sup> Now there were, among them, out of the sons of Judah,—Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah; <sup>7</sup> and the ruler of the eunuchs gave them names,—yea he gave to Daniel<sup>e</sup> the name of Belteshazzar, and to Hananiah<sup>f</sup> of Shadrach, and to Mishael<sup>g</sup> of Meshach, and to Azariah<sup>h</sup> of Abed-nego. <sup>8</sup> But Daniel laid it upon his heart,<sup>e</sup> that he would not defile himself with the delicacies of the king, nor with the wine which he drank,—therefore sought he of the ruler of the eunuchs, that he might not defile himself. <sup>9</sup> But <although God had brought Daniel into lovingkindness and tender compassion, before the ruler of the eunuchs>

- <sup>10</sup> yet said the ruler of the eunuchs unto Daniel, I' do fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your food and your drink,—for why' should he see your faces more sad<sup>a</sup> than those of the youths of your own age? so should ye bring me under the penalty of mine own head unto the king.

<sup>11</sup> Then said Daniel, unto the overseer<sup>b</sup> whom the ruler of the eunuchs had appointed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah:

- <sup>12</sup> I pray thee—prove thy servants, ten days,—and let them give us vegetable food, that we may eat, and water that we may drink: <sup>13</sup> then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenances of the youths who have been eating the delicacies of the king,—and <as thou shalt see> deal thou with thy servants.

<sup>14</sup> So then he hearkened unto them, according to this word,—and proved them ten days; <sup>15</sup> and <at the end of ten days> their countenances appeared more comely, and fatter in flesh,—than any of the youths who had been eating the delicacies of the king. <sup>16</sup> Thus it came about that the overseer<sup>b</sup> continued taking away their delicacies, and the wine appointed them to drink,—and kept on giving them vegetable food.

- <sup>17</sup> And <as for these four youths> God [gave them] knowledge and skill, in all learning and wisdom,—and ||Daniel|| had discernment, in all visions and dreams.

king [spake with them], and there was not found from among them all, one like unto Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah,—therefore stood they before the king; <sup>20</sup> and <in any matter of wisdom and <sup>a</sup> discernment as to which the king [enquired of them]> he found them ten times better than all the sacred scribes—the<sup>b</sup> magicians, who were in all his realm.

§ 2. Daniel tells and explains to Nebuchadnezzar that Monarch's Dream of the Great Composite Image and its Overthrow.

<A dream> have I dreamed,—and my spirit is troubled' to know the dream.

O king <to the ages> live!

Tell the dream to thy servants,<sup>e</sup> and <the interpretation> we will declare.

<sup>5</sup> The king answered' and said to the Chaldeans,

[The word from me] is unalterable: <If ye shall not make known to me the dream and the interpretation thereof> ye shall be cut in pieces, and [your houses] <into a dung-hill> <sup>f</sup> shall be turned; <sup>g</sup> but <if [the dream and the interpretation thereof] ye will declare> [gifts and a present and great dignity] shall ye receive from before me,—[therefore] <the dream and the interpretation thereof> declare ye unto me.

<sup>7</sup> They answered again and said,—

Let [the king] tell [the dream] to his servants, and <the interpretation thereof> we will declare.

<sup>8</sup> The king answered' and said,

[Of a certainty] I know, that <time> [ye] would gain,—merely because ye see that <unalterable from me> is the word: <sup>9</sup> That <if [the dream] ye shall not make known to me> [one and the same] is the decree, and  have ye agreed to speak before me, that meanwhile the time may be changed,—[therefore] <the dream> tell ye me, so shall I know that <the interpretation thereof> ye can declare for me.

There is not' a man upon the earth, who can declare [the matter of the king],—[although indeed] there is no king, chief or ruler who  hath asked of any sacred scribe or magician or Chaldean; <sup>11</sup> and [the thing which the king hath asked] is difficult, and [none other] is there, who can declare it before the king,—saving the gods whose dwelling is [not with flesh].

<sup>12</sup> <For this cause> [the king] was provoked and exceedingly indignant,—and gave word to destroy all the wise men of Babylon; <sup>13</sup> and [the decree] went forth, that [the wise men] should be slain,—and they sought Daniel and his companions that they might be slain.

<sup>14</sup> Immediately' [Daniel] made answer with prudence and discretion, to Arioch, chief of the executioners of the king,—who had come forth to slay the wise men of Babylon: <sup>15</sup> he began to speak and said to Arioch, the king's captain,—

<For what cause> is the decree raging forth from before the king?

Then did Arioch make the matter known unto Daniel. <sup>16</sup> So Daniel entered in, and desired of the king,—that <an appointed time> he would give him, and then <the interpretation> he would declare unto the king.

<sup>17</sup> Then Daniel <to his own house> departed,—and <to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, his companions> made the matter known; <sup>18</sup> that <tender compassion> they might seek from before the God of the heavens, concerning this secret,—that Daniel and his companions [might not be destroyed], with the rest of the wise men of Babylon.

<sup>19</sup> Then <unto Daniel—in a vision of the night> the secret was revealed,—whereupon [Daniel] blessed the God of the heavens:

<sup>20</sup> Daniel responded,<sup>a</sup> and said,

Let the name of God be blessed from age to age,—

In that [wisdom and might] to him belong;

<sup>21</sup> And [he] changeth times and seasons,

Removeth kings, and setteth up kings,—

Giving wisdom to the wise,

And knowledge to them who are skilled in understanding:

<sup>22</sup> [He] revealeth the deep things, and the hidden,— Knoweth what is in the darkness,

And [light] <with him>, doth dwell.

<sup>23</sup> <Unto thee, O God of my fathers> do I render thanks and praise,

In that <wisdom and might> thou hast given unto me,—

Yea [already] hast thou made known to me, that which we desired of thee,

For <the matter of the king> hast thou made known unto us.

24 [Therefore] Daniel entered in unto Arioch, whom the king had appointed' to destroy the wise men of Babylon,—he went in, and <thus> he said unto him,

<The wise men of Babylon> do not thou destroy, bring me in before the king, and <the interpretation—unto the king> will I declare.

25 Thereupon' [Arioch—with haste] brought in Daniel before the king,—and <thus> he said to him—

I have found a man of the sons of the exile of Judah, who <the interpretation—unto the king> will make known.

26 The king answered' and said unto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar,—

Art' thou able to make known unto me the dream which I have seen, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered' before the king, and said,—

<The secret which the king hath asked> [the wise men, the magicians, the sacred scribes, the astrologers]<sup>a</sup> are not able to declare unto the king; <sup>28</sup> but there is' a God in the heavens, who revealeth secrets, and hath made known to King Nebuchadnezzar, what shall come to pass, in the afterpart of the days:

[Thy dream and the visions of thy head upon thy bed] are [these]:—

29 <As for thee, O king> [thy thoughts upon thy bed] arose regarding what should come to pass hereafter; and [he that revealeth secrets] made known to thee what shall come to pass.

30 But <as for me—not for any wisdom that is in me, more than any of the living> is [this secret] revealed to me,—[therefore] it is in order that <the interpretation—unto the king> they should make known, and that <the thoughts of thy heart> thou shouldst get to know.

31 <As for thee, O king> thou wast looking, when lo! a great image, [this image, being mighty, and the brightness thereof surpassing] was standing before thee,—and [the appearance thereof] was terrible.

32 <As for this image> [its head] was of fine gold, [its breast and its arms] were of silver,—[its belly and its thighs] of bronze; [its legs] of iron,—and [its feet] [part of them] of iron, and [part of them] of clay.

34 Thou didst look, until that a stone tare itself away, [not by the aid of hands], and smote the image upon its feet, which were of iron and clay,—and they were broken in pieces.<sup>b</sup> <sup>35</sup> Then' they were broken in pieces at once, the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver, and the gold, and became like chaff out of the summer threshing-floors, and the wind [carried them away], and [no place] was found for them,—but [the stone that smote the image] became a mighty rock, and filled all the land.<sup>a</sup>

36 [This] is the dream, and <the interpretation thereof> we will tell before the king.

37 [Thou, O king] art the king of kings,—for [the God of the heavens] hath given unto thee [the kingship, the might, the power and the dignity]; <sup>38</sup> and [wheresoever the sons of men do dwell] <the wild beasts of the field and the birds of the heavens> hath he given into thy hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all. [Thou] art the head of gold.

39 And <after thee> shall arise another kingdom, inferior to thee,— and another— a third kingdom, of bronze, which shall bear rule throughout all the earth.

40 And [the fourth kingdom] shall be hard as iron,— <in like manner as iron breaketh in pieces and crusheth all things,—even as iron which bringeth to ruins all these> shall it break in pieces and bring to ruins. <sup>41</sup> And <whereas thou sawest the feet and the toes, part of them of potter's clay, and part of them of iron> [the kingdom] shall be [divided], and <of the hardness of the iron> shall there be in it,—forasmuch as thou sawest [the iron] combined with the miry clay; <sup>42</sup> and <the toes of the feet> [part of them] iron, and [part] of clay,—[some part of the kingdom] shall be strong, but [a part thereof] shall be brittle; <sup>43</sup> and <whereas<sup>b</sup> thou sawest [the iron] combined with the miry clay> they shall be combined with the seed of men, but shall not cleave firmly one to another,—lo! as iron is not to be combined with clay.

44 And <in the days of those kings> shall the God of the heavens [set up] a kingdom, which <to the ages> shall not be destroyed, and [the kingdom] <to another people> shall not be left,—it shall break in pieces and make an end of all these kingdoms, but [itself] shall stand to the ages. <sup>45</sup> <Forasmuch as thou sawest that [out of the rock] a stone tare itself away, but not with hands, and brake in pieces the clay, the iron, the bronze,<sup>c</sup> the silver and the gold> [the mighty God] hath made known to the king what shall come to pass hereafter.

Exact' then is the dream.

And trusty' its interpretation.

46 Then' [King Nebuchadnezzar] fell upon his face, and <unto Daniel> paid adoration; and  gave he word to

<Of a truth> ||your God|| is a God of gods, and a Lord of kings, and a Revealer of secrets,—seeing thou wast able to reveal this secret.

<sup>48</sup> Then' ||the king|| exalted [Daniel], and <many large presents> gave he unto him, and set him to be ruler over all the province of Babylon,—and chief of the nobles, over all the wise men of Babylon.

<sup>49</sup> And ||Daniel|| desired of the king, and he appointed—over the business of the province of Babylon—Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego,—but ||Daniel himself|| was in the gate of the king.

§ 3. Nebuchadnezzar, making an Image of Gold to be Worshipped on Pain of Death, casts Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, for refusing to worship, into a Furnace of Fire; from which, however, they are Miraculously Delivered.

3 <sup>1</sup> ||Nebuchadnezzar the king|| made an image of gold, [the height thereof] sixty cubits, [the breadth thereof] six cubits,—he set it up in the valley of Dura, in the province of Babylon.

<sup>2</sup> And ||Nebuchadnezzar the king|| sent to gather together the satraps, the nobles and the pashas, the chief judges, the treasurers, the judges, the lawyers, and all the rulers of the province,—to come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchadnezzar the king [had set up]. <sup>3</sup> Then' were gathered together, the satraps, the nobles and the pashas, the chief judges, the treasurers, the judges, the lawyers, and all the rulers of the province, to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up,—and they stood before the image, which Nebuchadnezzar [had set up]. <sup>4</sup> And ||the herald|| proclaimed aloud,—

<To you> is given the word, O ye peoples, races, and tongues: <sup>5</sup> <At what time ye shall hear the sound of the horn, the pipe, the lyre, the harp, the psalter, the bagpipes, and all kinds of instruments of music> ye shall fall down and adore the image of gold, which Nebuchadnezzar the king hath set up; <sup>6</sup> and ||whosoever shall not fall down and adore|| shall ||instantly|| be cast into the burning furnace of fire.

O king! <for ages> live!

<sup>10</sup> ||Thou thyself, O king||, hast made a decree, that ||any man who shall hear the sound of the horn, the pipe, the lyre, the harp, the psalter, and the bagpipes, and all kinds of instruments of music|| shall fall down and adore the image of gold; <sup>11</sup> and ||whosoever shall not fall down and adore|| shall be cast into the burning furnace of fire.

<sup>12</sup> There are' certain Jews whom thou hast set over the business of the province of Babylon, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego,—||these men|| have made thee, O king, of no account, <thy god> they serve not, and <the image of gold which thou hast set up> do they not adore.

<sup>13</sup> Then' ||Nebuchadnezzar— with anger and wrath|| gave word to bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, then <these men> brought they before the king. <sup>14</sup> Nebuchadnezzar spake' and said unto them,

Is it <with design> O Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego,—that <my god> ye' are not serving, and <the image which I have set up> are not adoring? <sup>15</sup> Now ||if ye be ready|| <at what time ye shall hear the sound of the cornet, the pipe, the lyre, the harp, the psalter, and the bagpipes, and all the instruments of music> ye shall fall down and adore the image which I have made, but <if ye shall not adore> ||instantly|| shall ye be cast into the midst of the burning furnace of fire,—and who is the god that shall deliver you out of my hands?

O Nebuchadnezzar! we are not accounting it needful, [concerning this] to answer thee.

<sup>17</sup> <If it is> ||our God, whom we' serve|| is able to deliver us,—<out of the burning furnace of fire, and out of thy hand> O king, he will deliver. <sup>18</sup> But <if not> be it known' to thee, O king,—that <thy god> will we not' serve, and <the image of gold which thou hast set up> will we not adore.

<sup>19</sup> Then' ||Nebuchadnezzar|| was filled with wrath, and ||the likeness of his countenance|| was changed, against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego,—he spake and gave word to heat the furnace seven times hotter than it was ever seen heated; <sup>20</sup> and <to men, who were the mightiest men in his army> gave he word to bind fast Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego,—to cast them into the burning furnace of fire.

|| those very men who took up Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego || were slain by the flame of the fire; <sup>23</sup> and || these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego || fell down into the midst of the burning furnace of fire, fast bound.

<sup>24</sup> Then || Nebuchadnezzar the king || was amazed, and rose up in haste: he spake and said to his nearest friends—

Where they not three men, we cast into the midst of the fire, fast bound?

They answered and said to the king,

Surely, O king!

<sup>25</sup> He answered and said,

Lo! || I || see four men, unbound, walking in the midst of the fire, and <injury> there is not in them, and || the appearance of the fourth || is like to a son of the gods!

<sup>26</sup> Then did Nebuchadnezzar [draw near] to the door of the burning furnace of fire, he spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, ye servants of the most high God, step forth and come hither.

Then stepped forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, out of the midst of the fire.

<sup>27</sup> And—being gathered together —[the satraps, the nobles, and the pashas and near friends of the king], saw these men, over whose bodies the fire had [no power], nor was || a hair of their head || singed, neither were || their trousers || disfigured,—nor had || the smell of fire || come upon them.

<sup>28</sup> Nebuchadnezzar spake and said,

Blessed' be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, who hath sent his messenger, and delivered his servants, who trusted in him,—when <the word of the king> they transgressed, and delivered up their bodies, that they might not serve nor adore any god, saving their own God.

<sup>29</sup> Therefore do I make a decree, that || who-soever of any people, race, or tongue it be that shall charge any error<sup>a</sup> upon the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego || shall be cut in pieces, and || his house || <into a dunghill><sup>b</sup> shall be changed; because there is no' other' God, who is able to deliver, like this!

<sup>5</sup> <A dream> I saw, and it made me afraid,—and || fancies upon my bed, and visions of my head || terrified me.

<sup>6</sup> Therefore made I a decree, to bring in before me, all the wise men of Babylon,—who <the interpretation of the dream> should make known to me. <sup>7</sup> Then came in the sacred scribes, the magicians, the Chaldeans, and the astrologers,<sup>c</sup>—and <the dream> told I' before them, but <the interpretation> could they not make known to me. <sup>8</sup> Howbeit <at last> came before me—Daniel, whose || name || was Belteshazzar, after the name of my god, and in whom is the spirit of the holy gods; and <the dream—before him> I told [saying]:

<sup>9</sup> —O Belteshazzar, chief of the sacred scribes, <because I know that [the spirit of the holy gods] is in thee,—and no secret giveth thee trouble> [therefore] <the visions of my dream which I have seen, and the interpretation thereof> do thou tell.

<sup>10</sup> The visions then of my head upon my bed [were these],—

I was looking, when lo! a tree in the midst of the land.<sup>d</sup>

And || the height thereof || was great.

<sup>11</sup> The tree [grew], and became strong,—

And || the height thereof || reached unto the heavens,

And || the view thereof || unto the end of all the land:<sup>d</sup>

<sup>12</sup> || The foliage thereof || was beautiful.

And || the fruit thereof || abundant,

And there was food for all therein,—

<Under it> the wild beast of the field found shade,

And <among its branches> dwelt the birds of the heavens,

And <therefrom> was well fed [all flesh].

<sup>13</sup> I was looking, in the visions of my head, upon my bed, when lo! [a watcher and holy one] <out of the heavens> coming down. <sup>14</sup> He cried aloud, and <thus> he said—

Hew ye down the tree,

And lop off its branches,

Strip off its leaves,

And scatter its fruit,—

And <with the dew of the heavens>

And <with the wild beasts> be its earth;

And let seven seasons pass over it.

know| that the Most High |hath dominion| over the kingdom of men, and <to whomsoever he pleaseth> he giveth it, and <one low among men>
he setteth up over it.
18 <This dream> have ||I, King Nebuchad-

||Thou, therefore, O Belteshazzar|| <the interpretation> do thou tell, foras-much as ||all the wise men of my kingdom|| are unable <the interpreta-

||thou|| art able, because ||the spirit of the holy gods|| is in thee.
19 Then ||Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar|| was astonished for about one moment,<sup>d</sup> and ||his thoughts|| troubled him. The king<sup>e</sup> spake<sup>f</sup>
and said,
O Belteshazzar, let neither ||the dream, nor
the interpretation|| trouble thee.
Belteshazzar answered<sup>g</sup> and said,
My Lord,
||The dream|| be for them<sup>f</sup> who hate thee,
And ||the interpretation|| for them<sup>f</sup> who are thy foes.

And <grass—like oxen> will they suffer
||thee|| to eat,
And <with the dew of the heavens> will
they suffer ||thee|| to be drenched,
And ||seven seasons|| shall pass over thee,—
Until that thou come to know, that the Most High |hath dominion| over the kingdom of men,
And <to whomsoever he pleaseth> he giveth it.
26 And <whereas they gave word to leave the stock of the roots of the tree> ||thy kingdom|| <unto thee> is sure,—after that thou

- <sup>33</sup> <Immediately> [the word] was fulfilled upon Nebuchadnezzar, And <from among men> was he driven forth. And <grass-like oxen> did he eat. And <with the dew of the heavens> his body was drenched,—until that [his hair] <like to eagles' feathers> was grown, and his nails, like birds' claws.

- <sup>34</sup> And <at the end of the days> [I, Nebuchadnezzar], [mine eyes<sup>a</sup> unto the heavens] did uplift,

And [mine understanding] <unto me> returned,

And <the Most High> I blessed,

And <to him that liveth age-abidingly> I rendered praise and honour,—

And [his kingdom] lasteth from generation to generation;<sup>b</sup>

And <for the dignity of my kingdom> [my majesty and my brightness] returned unto me,

And <unto me> [my nearest friends and my nobles] did seek,—

And <over my kingdom> was I restored,

And <surpassing greatness> was added unto me.

- <sup>37</sup> Now [I, Nebuchadnezzar] am praising and extolling and honouring the King of the Heavens,

[All whose works] are truth,

And [his ways] right;

And <them who walk in pride> he is able to abase.

§ 5. To King Belshazzar, while dishonouring the Sacred Vessels, is Handwriting put forth, which Daniel interprets, and which is swiftly fulfilled.

- 5 <sup>1</sup> [Belshazzar the king] made a great feast, to a thousand of his nobles,—and <before the thousand> was drinking [wine]. <sup>2</sup> [Belshazzar] gave word, at the flavour of the wine,<sup>e</sup> to bring the vessels of gold and silver, which Nebuchadnezzar his father [had brought forth] out of the temple which was in Jerusalem,—that the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines [might drink therein].

- <sup>3</sup> Then brought they the vessels of gold which had been taken out of the temple of the house of God, which was in Jerusalem,—and the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines, [drank therein]:<sup>4</sup> they drank wine,—and praised the gods of gold and silver, bronze, iron, wood and stone.

- <sup>5</sup> <Immediately> came forth the fingers of the hand of a man, and wrote over against the chandelier, upon the plaster<sup>a</sup> of the wall of the palace of the king,—and [the king] saw the part of the hand<sup>b</sup> which was writing. <sup>6</sup> Then <as for the king> [his bright looks] changed in him, and [his thoughts] terrified him,—and [the joints<sup>c</sup> of his loins] were loosed, and [his knees] smote [one against another]. <sup>7</sup> The king began crying out amain, to bring in the magicians, the Chaldeans and the astrologers,<sup>d</sup>—the king spake' and said to the wise men of Babylon,

[Whosoever it is that shall read this writing, and <the interpretation thereof> shall declare unto me],

<With purple> shall he be clothed,

And have a chain<sup>e</sup> of gold upon his neck,

And <as the third in the kingdom> shall he have dominion.

- <sup>8</sup> Then were coming in all the wise men of the king,<sup>f</sup>—but <the writing> could they not read, nor <the interpretation> make known to the king.

<sup>9</sup> Then [King Belshazzar] was greatly<sup>g</sup> terrified, and [his bright looks] were changed upon him,—and [his nobles] were perplexed. <sup>10</sup> [The queen] <by reason of the words of the king and his nobles> [into the house of banqueting] entered,—the queen spake' and said,

O king! <for ages> live!

Let not thy thoughts [terrify thee], and <as for thy bright looks> let them not be changed.

- <sup>11</sup> There is<sup>h</sup> a man in thy kingdom in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and <in the days of thy father> [light, and intelligence, and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods] were found in him,—and [King Nebuchadnezzar thy father] appointed him [chief of the sacred scribes, the magicians, the Chaldeans, and the astrologers]—[thy father, O king!]<sup>i</sup> <sup>12</sup> <Forasmuch as [a distinguished spirit, and knowledge and intelligence, ability to interpret dreams and solve riddles and unravel knotty points] were found in the same Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar> now let [Daniel] be called, and <the interpretation> will he declare.

- 14 Then I have heard concerning thee, that ||the spirit of the gods||<sup>a</sup> is in thee,—and ||light and intelligence and distinguished wisdom|| are found in thee.

- 15 ||Now||, therefore, have been brought in before me, the wise men, the magicians, that <this writing> they might read, and <the interpretation thereof> might make known unto me,—but they were not able <the interpretation of the thing> to declare.

- 16 ||I|| however, have heard concerning thee, that thou art able, <interpretations> to unfold, and <knotty points> to unravel,—
Now <if thou be able [the writing] to read, and [the interpretation thereof] to make known unto me> [with purple] shalt thou be clothed, and [a chain of gold] shalt thou have upon thy neck, and <as the third in the kingdom> shalt thou have dominion.

- 17 Then spake Daniel, and said before the king,
<As for thy gifts> thine own let them remain,
And <thy presents> [on another] bestow,—
Howbeit <the writing> will I read to the king,

And <the interpretation thereof><sup>b</sup> will I make known to him.

- 18 <As for thee, O king> ||the Most High God|| gave [kingship and greatness and honour and majesty] unto Nebuchadnezzar thy father;<sup>19</sup> and <for the greatness that he gave him> ||all peoples, races and tongues|| used to tremble and to withdraw falteringly from before him,— <Whom he would> he slew,

And <whom he would> he kept alive,

And <whom he would> he set up,

And <whom he would> he put down.

- 20 But <when uplifted> was his heart and ||his spirit|| became obstinate so as to act arrogantly> he was put down from the throne of his kingdom, and <his dignity> took they from him;<sup>21</sup> And <from among the sons of men> was he driven. And ||his heart|| <to a wild beast's> became equal, And <with the wild asses> was his dwelling, And <grass—like oxen> they suffered him to eat, And <with the dew of the heavens> [his body] was drenched,—until that he came to know that the Most High God [hath dominion] over the kingdom of men, and <whomsoever he pleaseth> he setteth up over it.

- 22 And yet ||thou, his son|| O Belshazzar! hast not humbled thy heart, though <all this> thou knewest;<sup>23</sup> but <against the Lord of the heavens> hast uplifted thyself, and <the vessels of his house> have they brought before thee, and ||thou, and thy nobles, thy wives and thy concubines|| have been drinking ||wine|| therein, and <gods of silver and gold, of bronze, iron, wood and stone, which see not nor hear nor know> hast thou praised,—whereas <God, in whose hand thy breath<sup>a</sup> is and whose are all thy ways> ||him|| hast thou not glorified.

- 24 Then was there put forth from before him the part of the hand,—and ||this writing|| was inscribed:

- 25 And this is the writing which was inscribed, M'nê, M'nê, T'kêl, u-Pharsin.

- 26 ||This|| is the interpretation of the thing,—

M'nê [= "Reckoned-up"], God hath reckoned up thy reign, and ended it;

- 27 T'kêl [= "Weighed"],—thou art weighed in the balances, and found wanting;

- 28 P'rês [= "Snatched-away"],<sup>b</sup>—snatched away is thy kingdom, and given to the Medes and Persians.

- 29 Then Belshazzar [gave word], that they should clothe Daniel with purple, and put a chain<sup>c</sup> of gold upon his neck,—and should make a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler over the kingdom.

- 30 <In that night> was slain—Belshazzar, the king of the Chaldeans.<sup>d</sup>

§ 6. Darius the Mede, unwearily Signing an Interdict against Prayer, consigns Daniel to the Lions' Den, from which the King gladly welcomes him back Unharméd.

- 31 And ||Darius the Mede|| received the kingdom,—when about sixty-two years of age.

- <sup>1</sup> It was pleasing before Darius, that he 6 should set up over the kingdom, a hundred and twenty satraps,—that they should be over all the kingdom; <sup>2</sup> and <over these> three confidential ministers, of whom ||Daniel|| was first,—that <to them> these satraps should render an account, and ||the king|| not be suffering loss. <sup>3</sup> Then ||this Daniel|| signalled himself, above the ministers and the satraps, because ||a distinguished spirit|| was in him, and ||the king|| thought to set him up over all the kingdom.

- <sup>4</sup> Then ||the ministers and the satraps|| began seeking to find [occasion]<sup>e</sup> against Daniel, in respect of the kingdom,—but <no occasion nor wickedness> could they find, inasmuch as [faithful] was he, and [neither error nor wickedness] could be found against him.

- <sup>5</sup> Then ||these men|| were saying,

We shall not find against this Daniel, any occasion; unless we find it against him in respect of the law of his God.

That ||whosoever shall ask a petition<sup>b</sup> of any God or man, for thirty days, save of thee, O king|| shall be cast into the den of lions.

- 8 Now, O king! wilt thou establish the interdict, and sign<sup>c</sup> the writing, that it may not be changed—according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which may not be abolished.

- 9 Wherefore' ||King Darius|| signed the writing and the interdict.

- 10 But ||Daniel|| <when he knew that the writing [was signed]> went to his own house, and <the windows being opened to him, in his chamber, toward Jerusalem> ||three times a day|| was he kneeling upon his knees, and praying and giving thanks before his God, in like manner as he had been doing aforetime.

- 11 Then ||these men|| crowded together,<sup>d</sup> and found Daniel,—praying and making supplication, before his God.

- 12 Then drew they near, and began to speak before the king, concerning the royal interdict, Didst thou not sign [an interdict].

That [any man who should petition of any God or man, for thirty days, save of thee, O king|| should be cast into the den of lions?

The king answered' and said,

Certain' is the thing—according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which may not be abolished.

- 13 Then answered they and were saying before the king,

||Daniel, who is of the sons of the exile of Judah|| hath made thee, O king, of none account, also the interdict which thou hast signed,—but <three times a day> is asking his petition.<sup>e</sup>

- 14 Then ||the king|| <when he heard [the matter]> was sorely' displeased with himself,<sup>f</sup> and <upon Daniel> set his heart, to deliver him,—and <until the going in of the sun> was striving to rescue him.

- 15 Then ||these men|| crowded<sup>d</sup> unto the king,—and were saying to the king,

Know, O king, that the law of the Medes and Persians is, that ||no interdict nor statute which the king establisheth|| may be changed.

- 16 Then ||the king|| gave word, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the den of lions. The king spake' and said to Daniel,—

<Thy God, whom thou' art serving continually> ||he|| will deliver thee.

- 17 And there was brought a certain stone,<sup>a</sup> and laid upon the mouth<sup>b</sup> of the den; and the king sealed' it with his own signet-ring, and with the signet-ring of his nobles, that nothing might be changed, as to Daniel.

- 18 Then the king departed to his palace, and spent the night fasting, and no [table]<sup>c</sup> was brought in before him,—and ||his sleep|| fled from him.

<sup>19</sup> Then the king rose early, with the dawn,<sup>d</sup>—and <hastily>—unto the den of lions> departed; <sup>20</sup> and <when he drew near to the den> <unto Daniel, with a distressed voice> made he outcry,—the king spake' and said unto Daniel,

O Daniel! servant of the Living God!

<Thy God, whom thou art serving continually> hath he been able to deliver thee from the lions?

- 21 Then ||Daniel|| <with the king> spake,—O king! [for ages] live!

- 22 ||My God|| hath sent his messenger, and hath shut the mouth of the lions, and they have not hurt me; forasmuch as <before him> rectitude<sup>e</sup> was found in me, moreover also <before thee, O king> no ||crime|| had I committed.

- 23 Then ||the king|| was exceedingly glad concerning him, and gave word to take up ||Daniel|| out of the den. So Daniel [was taken up] out of the den, and ||no manner of hurt|| was found in him, for that he had trusted in his God.

- 24 And the king [gave word] that they should bring those men who had accused<sup>f</sup> Daniel, and <into the den of lions> they cast them—them, their children, and their wives,—and <they had not reached the bottom of the den> when the lions [seized them], and <all their bones> brake they in pieces.

- 25 Then ||Darius the king|| wrote to all the peoples, the races, and the tongues who were dwelling in all the earth,

Your prosperity abound! <sup>26</sup> ||From

before me|| is appointed a decree that <throughout every dominion of my kingdom> men tremble and withdraw falteringly from before the God of Daniel,—for that ||he|| is the Living God, and abiding for ages, and ||his kingdom|| that which shall not be destroyed, and ||his dominion|| is unto the end: <sup>27</sup> who delivereth and rescueth, and worketh signs and wonders, in the heavens, and in the earth,—for that he hath delivered Daniel out of the power of the lions.

§ 7. Daniel here goes back to record his own Dreams. And, first, that of Four Wild Beasts coming up out of the Great Sea, with the Interpretation of which he is favoured.

7<sup>1</sup> <In the first year of Belshazzar, king of Babylon> ||Daniel|| beheld [a dream], and visions of his head upon his bed,—then <the dream> he wrote, <the sum of the matters> he told. <sup>2</sup> Daniel spake<sup>a</sup> and said,

I was looking, in my vision [which came] with the night,—when, lo! ||the four winds of the heavens|| bursting forth upon the great sea; <sup>3</sup> and four large wild beasts, coming up out of the sea,—diverse, one from another:—

<sup>4</sup> ||The foremost|| like a lion, having [the wings of an eagle],—I looked until the wings thereof [were torn out], and it was lifted up from the earth, and <upon its feet, like a man> was it caused to stand, and <the heart of a man> was given to it.

<sup>5</sup> And, lo! another wild beast, a second, resembling a bear, and <on one side> was it raised up, with three ribs in its mouth, between its teeth,—and <thus> were they saying to it, Rise! devour much flesh.

<sup>6</sup> <After that> I was looking, and lo! another, like a leopard,<sup>b</sup> and ||it|| had four wings of a bird upon its back,—and <four heads> had the wild beast, and ||dominion|| was given to it.

<sup>7</sup> <After that> I was looking in the visions of the night, when lo! a fourth wild beast, terrible and well-hipped<sup>c</sup> and exceeding strong, and it had ||large teeth<sup>d</sup> of iron||, it devoured and brake in pieces, and <the residue—with its feet> it trampled down,—and ||it|| was diverse from all the wild beasts that were before it, and it had ||ten horns||. <sup>8</sup> I was considering the horns, when lo! ||another horn, a little one|| came up among them, and ||three of the former horns|| were uprooted from before it,—and lo! ||eyes, like the eyes of a man|| in this horn, and ||a mouth|| speaking great things.

<sup>10</sup> ||A stream of fire|| was flowing on and issuing forth from before him, ||a thousand thousand|| waited upon him, and ||ten thousand times ten thousand|| <before him> stood up,—||Judgment|| took its seat, and ||books|| were opened. <sup>11</sup> I continued looking, <then> because of the sound of the great words which the horn was speaking>, I continued looking, until that the wild beast [was slain], and his body

[destroyed], and given to the burning of the fire. <sup>12</sup> <As concerning the rest of the beasts> their dominion [was taken away],<sup>a</sup> —but ||a lengthening of life|| was given to them, until time and season.

<sup>13</sup> I continued looking in the visions of the night, when lo! <with the clouds of the heavens> ||one like a son of man|| was coming,—and <unto the Ancient of days|| he approached, and <before him> they brought him near; <sup>14</sup> and <unto him> were given dominion and dignity and kingship, that all peoples, races and tongues, <unto him> should do service,—||his dominion|| was an age-abiding dominion, which should not pass away, and ||his kingdom|| that which should not be destroyed.

<sup>15</sup> The spirit of ||me, Daniel|| was grieved in the midst of the sheath,—and ||the visions of my head|| terrified me. <sup>16</sup> I drew near unto one of them who stood by,<sup>b</sup> and made exact enquiry of him, concerning all this,—so he told me, and <the interpretation of the things> made he known unto me.

<sup>19</sup> Then desired I to be sure, concerning the fourth wild beast, which was diverse from all of them,—exceeding terrible, whose ||teeth|| were iron, and ||his claws||<sup>d</sup> of bronze, he devoured, brake in pieces, and <the residue—with his feet> he trampled down; <sup>20</sup> also concerning the ten horns, which were in his head, and the other, which came up, and there fell—from among them that were before it—three,—and this horn which had ||eyes||, and ||a mouth|| speaking great things, and ||his look|| was more proud than his fellows; <sup>21</sup> I continued looking, when ||this horn|| made war with the holy ones,—and prevailed against them; <sup>22</sup> until that the Ancient of Days [came], and ||justice||<sup>e</sup> was granted to the holy ones of the Highest,—and ||the time|| arrived, that the holy ones should possess<sup>f</sup> the kingdom. <sup>23</sup> [Thus] he said,

||The fourth wild beast|| is a fourth kingdom which shall be in the earth, which shall be diverse from all the kingdoms,—and shall devour all the earth, and shall trample it down, and break it in pieces.

§ 8. Daniel's Second Vision—of the Ram and of the He-goat: which is explained by the Angel Gabriel.

- <sup>8</sup> <sup>1</sup> <In the third year of the reign of Belshazzar the king> a vision appeared unto me Daniel, after that which appeared unto me at the beginning.<sup>2</sup> So then I saw, in the vision, and it came to pass, when I saw, that I was in Shusan<sup>f</sup> the fortress, which is in Persia the province,—yea I saw it in a vision, when I was by the river Ulai.<sup>3</sup> So then I lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and lo! a ram, standing before the river, and it had two horns,—and the two horns were high, but the one was higher than the other, and the higher had come up last.<sup>4</sup> I saw the ram, pushing strongly westward and northward and southward, so that no wild beast could stand before him, and none could deliver out of his hand,—but he did according to his own pleasure, and shewed himself great.

<sup>5</sup> Now I was observing, when lo! a he-goat coming in out of the west, over the face of all the earth, but it meddled not with the earth,—and the goat had a conspicuous horn between his eyes.<sup>6</sup> So then he came up to the ram having the two horns, which I had seen, standing before the river,—and ran unto him, in the fury of his strength.<sup>7</sup> Yea I saw him coming close upon the ram, and he was enraged at<sup>g</sup> him, and smote the ram, and brake in pieces both his horns, and there was no strength in the ram to stand before him,—but he cast him down to the ground, and trampled him underfoot, and there was none could deliver the ram out of his power.<sup>h</sup> <sup>8</sup> But the he-goat shewed himself very great,—and <when he had become mighty> the great horn [was broken in pieces], and there came up afterwards<sup>a</sup> four, in its stead, towards the four winds of the heavens;<sup>9</sup> and <out of the first of them> came forth a little horn,<sup>b</sup>—which became exceedingly great, against the south and against the east, and against the beautiful [land];<sup>c</sup> <sup>10</sup> yea it became great as far as the host of the heavens,—and caused to fall, to the earth, some of the host and some of the stars, and trampled them underfoot;<sup>11</sup> <even as far as the ruler of the host> shewed he his greatness,—and <because of him> was taken away the continual [ascending-sacrifice],<sup>d</sup> and the place of the sanctuary [was cast down];<sup>12</sup> and a host was set over the continual [ascending-sacrifice], by transgression,—and faithfulness [was cast down]<sup>e</sup> to the ground, and so he acted with effect, and succeeded.

- <sup>12</sup> Then heard I a certain holy one, speaking,—and another holy one said<sup>f</sup> to that certain holy one who was speaking—

How long' is the vision of the continual [ascending-sacrifice] as taken away,<sup>g</sup> and the transgression which astoundeth,<sup>h</sup> for both sanctuary and host to be given over to be trampled underfoot?<sup>i</sup>

- <sup>14</sup> And he said unto him,<sup>1</sup>

Until two thousand and three hundred evening-mornings,—then shall the sanctuary [be vindicated].

- <sup>15</sup> And it came to pass, when I Daniel had seen' the vision,—and had sought discernment, that lo! there was standing before me, as the appearance of a man.<sup>16</sup> Then heard I a human voice, between [the banks of] the Ulai,—which cried out, and said,

Gabriel! cause this man to understand the revelation.

- <sup>17</sup> So he came near where I stood, and <when he came> I was terrified, and fell upon my face,—but he said unto me, Understand, O son of man, that <to the time of the end><sup>k</sup> belongeth the vision.

- <sup>18</sup> And <when he spake with me> I fell stunned upon my face, to the earth,—but he touched me, and caused me to stand up where I was.<sup>19</sup> Then said he,

Behold me! causing thee to know, that which shall come to pass in the afterpart of the indignation,—for <at an appointed time> shall be an end.

§ 9. Encouraged by Jeremiah's prophecies, Daniel makes Intercession for his City and his People. Gabriel despatched with a direct and intelligible Revelation.

9 <sup>1</sup> <In the first year of Darius son of Ahasuerus, of the seed of the Medes,—who was made king over the kingdom of the Chaldeans: <sup>2</sup> in the first year of his reign> ||I, Daniel|| perceived by the writings,—the number of the years, as to which the word of Yahweh came<sup>h</sup> unto Jeremiah the prophet, to fulfil the desolations of Jerusalem, seventy years.<sup>i</sup> <sup>3</sup> So I set my face unto the Lord God,<sup>j</sup> to seek [him] by prayer, and supplication,—with fasting, and sackcloth and ashes; <sup>4</sup> yea I prayed unto Yahweh my God, and made confession,—and said—

I beseech thee, O Lord, the God great and to be revered, keeping the covenant and the lovingkindness,<sup>k</sup> to them who love him, and to them who keep his commandments. <sup>5</sup> We have sinned and committed iniquity, and been guilty of lawlessness and been rebellious,—even departing from thy commandments, and from thy regulations; <sup>6</sup> and have not hearkened unto thy servants the prophets, who spake in thy name, unto our kings, our rulers, and our fathers,—and unto all the people of the land.

7 <To thee> O Lord, belongeth righteousness, but <to us> the shame of faces, as at this day,—to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to all Israel, the near and the far off, throughout all the lands whither thou hast driven them, in their treachery, wherewith they had been treacherous against thee.

8 O Yahweh<sup>a</sup> <to us> belongeth the shame of faces, to our kings, to our rulers, and to our fathers,—in that we have sinned against thee. <sup>9</sup> <To the Lord<sup>b</sup> our God>

belong compassions, and forgivenesses,—for we have rebelled against him; <sup>10</sup> and have not hearkened unto the voice of Yahweh our God,—to walk in his instructions which he set before us, through means of his servants the prophets; <sup>11</sup> yea ||all Israel|| have transgressed thy law, even going away, so as not to hearken unto thy voice,—therefore |were poured out upon us| the curse and the oath which had been written in the law of Moses the servant of God, because we had sinned against him. <sup>12</sup> Thus hath he confirmed his words<sup>c</sup> which he had spoken against us, and against our judges who had judged us, by bringing in upon us a great calamity,—as to which there had not been done, under all the heavens, as hath been done unto Jerusalem.

13 <Even as written in the law of Moses> hath ||all this calamity|| come in upon us,—yet entreated we not the face of Yahweh our God, by turning away from our iniquities,<sup>d</sup> and by getting intelligence in thy truth,<sup>e</sup>

14 Therefore hath Yahweh |kept watch| for the calamity, and brought it in upon us,—for righteous<sup>f</sup> is Yahweh our God concerning all his deeds which he hath done, seeing that we had not hearkened unto his voice.

15 ||Now|| therefore, O Lord our God, who didst bring forth thy people out of the land of Egypt with a firm hand, and didst make for thyself a name, as at this day,—we have sinned, we have been guilty of lawlessness.

Authorities are agreed that the primary meaning of hathak is "to divide"; and it is a sound rule that, where the primary sense may well stand, another meaning shd not be sought for.
An actual division of the "weeks" here undeniably presents itself: division first, "seven"

weeks; division second,
"sixty-two" weeks; division third, "one" week.
On that last week the shadow of a covenant-breaker falls. Does not the Book of Daniel disclose who that covenant-breaker is? The "divided" weeks are ipso facto "determined," so that nothing is really lost by paying chief regard to the primary sense;
how much may be gained,
who can tell?

To put an end to the transgression.<sup>a</sup>

And fill up the measure of sin.<sup>b</sup>

And put a propitiatory-covering over iniquity,

And bring in the righteousness of ages,<sup>c</sup>

And affix a seal to<sup>d</sup> vision and prophecy,

And anoint the holy of holies.<sup>e</sup>

25 Thou must know, then, and understand:

<sup>7</sup> And ||I, Daniel, alone|| beheld' the revelation, and ||the men who were with me|| beheld not the revelation,—in truth' ||a great terror|| had fallen upon them, and they had fled while hiding themselves. <sup>8</sup> ||I|| therefore, was left alone, and beheld this great revelation, and there remained in me no strength,—but ||my freshness|| was turned upon me into disfigurement, and I retained no strength. <sup>9</sup> So then I heard the sound of his words,—and <when I heard the sound of his words> then ||I myself|| came to be in a deep sleep upon my face, with ||my face|| to the earth. <sup>10</sup> And lo! ||a hand|| touched me; and roused me up on my knees and the palms of my hands. <sup>11</sup> Then said he unto me,

O Daniel! man greatly delighted in! have understanding in the words which ||I|| am about to speak unto thee, and stand up where thou art,<sup>c</sup> for ||now|| have I been sent unto thee.

And <when he had spoken with me this word> I stood up trembling. <sup>12</sup> Then said he unto me,

<sup>15</sup> And <when he had spoken with me such words as these>,—I set my face towards the earth, and was dumb. <sup>16</sup> Then lo! <like the similitude of the sons of men> one was touching my lips,—so I opened my mouth, and spake, and said unto him who was standing before me,

O my lord!

<By the revelation> my pains have seized' me, and I retain no strength. <sup>17</sup> How then can the servant of this my lord speak with this my lord,—seeing that <as for me—henceforth> there remaineth in me no strength, and no ||spirit|| is left in me?

<sup>18</sup> Then again' there touched me one like in appearance to a son of earth, and he strengthened me. <sup>19</sup> And he said,

Do not fear, O man greatly delighted in! peace to thee, be strong, yea be strong!<sup>e</sup>

And <as he spake with me> I gained strength, and said,

Let my lord speak' for thou hast strengthened me.

<sup>20</sup> And he said,

Knowest thou wherefore' I am come unto thee? But ||now|| must I return to fight with the ruler of Persia; ||I|| therefore am going forth, and lo! ||the ruler of Greece|| is coming. <sup>21</sup> Howbeit I will tell thee that which is inscribed in the writing of truth,<sup>f</sup>—but there is no' one who holdeth strongly with me concerning these things, save Michael your ruler.

Lo! there are ||yet' three kings|| to arise—belonging to Persia, and ||the fourth|| will amass greater riches than they all, and <when he hath strengthened himself in his riches> the whole |will stir up| the kingdom of Greece. <sup>3</sup> And so a hero king |will arise|,—and wield great authority, and do according to his own pleasure; <sup>4</sup> but <when he hath arisen> his kingdom |shall be broken in pieces|, and be divided, toward the four winds of the heavens,—but not to his own posterity, nor according to his own authority which he wielded, for his kingdom |shall be uprooted|, even for others besides these.

<sup>5</sup> But a king of the south |will become strong|, even from among his rulers,—and will prevail against him, and have authority,  shall his authority be.

<sup>6</sup> And <at the end of years> they will league together, yea ||the daughter of the king of the south|| will go in unto the king of the north, to make peace,—but she shall not retain strength of arm, neither shall he stand, nor his arm, but she shall be delivered up—||she herself|| and they who brought her in, and he who begat her, and he that strengthened her in the times.<sup>h</sup>

- 13 Then will the king of the north again raise a multitude, greater than the first,—and <at the end of the times<sup>d</sup>—some years> he will come on and on<sup>e</sup> with a great army, and with great substance. <sup>14</sup>And <in those times> [many] will rise against the king of the south,—and [the sons of the oppressors<sup>f</sup> of thy people] will exalt themselves to confirm the vision, but will be overthrown.
- 15 Then will come in the king of the north, and cast up a rampart, and capture a city of strongholds,—and [the arms of the south] will not rise, nor the people of his chosen ones<sup>g</sup> and there shall be no strength to rise. <sup>16</sup>So shall he that cometh against him do according to his own pleasure, and [none] shall stand before him,—therefore will he take his stand in the beautiful land, and it will languish and be exhausted in his hand.<sup>h</sup>
- 17 Then will he set his face to enter, with the might of all his kingdom, and <equitable terms with him> will make,<sup>i</sup>—and  will he give him to corrupt her, but she will not remain, nor <his> shall she become.
- 18 Then will he turn<sup>k</sup> his face to the Coastlands, and will capture many,—but a commander [will bring to an end] his reproach against himself, that [his reproach] return not unto him. <sup>19</sup>Therefore will he turn his - face towards the fortresses of his land,—but he shall stagger and fall, and shall not be found.
- 20 Then will rise up in his stead, one causing an exactor to pass through the ornament of the kingdom,—but <in a few days><sup>a</sup> shall he be broken in pieces, [not with anger,<sup>b</sup> nor in battle].
- 21 Then will rise up in his stead, one despised, and they will not lay upon him the dignity of the kingdom,—but he will come in unexpectedly, and strengthen the kingdom by flatteries; <sup>22</sup>and [the arms of an overflowing flood] will sweep all before him, and they shall be broken in pieces,—moreover also, the prince of a covenant;<sup>c</sup>
- 23 and <by reason of the leaguings against him> he will work deceitfully,<sup>d</sup> and will come up and become strong, with a small nation. <sup>24</sup><Unexpectedly, even into the rich places of the province> will he enter, and will do what neither his fathers nor his fathers' fathers had done, <prey and spoil and substance—among them> will he scatter,—and <against strongholds> will he devise plots even until a (convenient) time.
- 25 Then will he stir up his strength and his heart, against the king of the south, with a great army, and [the king of the south] will wage war<sup>e</sup> with a great and exceedingly mighty army,—but will make no stand, for they will devise against him plots; <sup>26</sup>and [they who have been eating his delicacies] will break him in pieces, and [his army] will be overwhelm like a flood,—and many wounded [will fall].
- 27 Now <as for the two kings> [their heart] will be set on acting wickedly, and <at one table> will they speak [falsehood],—but it shall not succeed, for yet<sup>f</sup> is the end for an appointed time.
- 28 So then he will return to his own land, with great substance, with [his heart] set upon a holy covenant; yea he will act with effect, and return to his own land.
- 29 <At the appointed time> will he again enter the south,—but it shall not be like the former, nor like the latter.
- 30 Then will come in against him the ships of Cyprus,<sup>g</sup> and he will be disheartened, and again<sup>h</sup> have indignation against a holy covenant, and will act with effect,—and again gain intelligence, concerning them who are forsaking a holy covenant.
- 31 And [arms] <from him> will arise,—and will profane the sanctuary, the fortress, and will set aside the continual [ascending-sacrifice],<sup>i</sup> and place the horrid abomination<sup>j</sup> that astoundeth. <sup>32</sup>And <them who are ready

- <sup>1</sup> And <at that time> will Michael, the great ruler who standeth for<sup>b</sup> the sons of thy people, |make a stand|,<sup>c</sup> and there will be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation, up to that time,—and <at that time> shall thy people |be delivered|, every one found written in the book; <sup>2</sup> and ||many of the sleepers in the dusty ground|| shall awake,—||these|| [shall be] to age-abiding life, but ||those|| to reproach, and age-abiding abhorrence; <sup>3</sup> and ||they who make wise||<sup>d</sup> shall shine like the shining of the expanse,—and ||they who bring the many to righteousness|| like the stars to times age-abiding and beyond.

HOSEA.

PART I.—The Prophet, by a Series of painful Matrimonial Experiences, is caused to enter into Fellowship with Yahweh's unrequited Love for Unfaithful Israel (chaps. i.—iii.).

Go take thee a woman of unchastity, and the children of unchastity,<sup>b</sup> for <unchastely indeed> hath the land<sup>c</sup> been going away from following Yahweh.

<sup>3</sup> So he went and took Gomer, daughter of Diblaim,—and she conceived and bare him a son. <sup>4</sup> Then said Yahweh unto him, Call his name Jezreël:<sup>c</sup> for <yet a little> and I will visit the bloodshed of Jezreël upon the house of Jehu, and will cause to cease<sup>d</sup> the kingdom of the house of Israel.

<sup>5</sup> And it shall come to pass <in that day> that I will break the bow of Israel, in the vale of Jezreël.

<sup>6</sup> Then conceived she again<sup>e</sup> and bare a daughter, and he said to him,

Call her name Lo-ruhamah [<sup>a</sup> "Uncompassionated"],—for <not again<sup>b</sup> any more> will I have compassion upon the house of Israel, that I should [forgive] them; <sup>7</sup> but <on the house of Judah> will I have compassion, and I will save them, as<sup>d</sup> Yahweh their God,—but will not save them by bow, or by sword, or by battle, by<sup>e</sup> horses, or by horsemen.

And <when she had weaned Lo-ruhamah> she conceived, and bare a son. <sup>9</sup> Then said he,

Call his name Lo-ammi [= "No people of mine"],—for ye<sup>a</sup> are Lo-ammi [<sup>a</sup> "No people of mine"], and [I] will not be yours.

<sup>10</sup> Yet shall the number of the sons of Israel become like the sand of the sea, which can neither be measured, nor numbered,—and it shall come to pass <in the place where it used to be said to them <No people of mine> are ye<sup>a</sup> > it shall be said to them Sons of a Living God!

And unto your sisters, O Ruhamah [= "O compassionated one"]:

<sup>2</sup> Contend ye with your mother,<sup>c</sup> contend,

For she<sup>d</sup> is no wife of mine,

And I<sup>e</sup> am no husband of hers,

Let her then put away her paramours, from before her,

And her partners in adultery, from her embraces:<sup>d</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Lest I strip off her under-clothing, And set her forth to view, as in the day she was born,—

And make her like a wilderness,

And render her like a land that is parched,

And suffer her to die of thirst;

<sup>4</sup> And <on her children> not have compassion,—

Because <the children of paramours> they are<sup>e</sup>.

<sup>b</sup> Prob. = "a woman who will prove to be unfaithful, some of whose children will not be thine own"—so at least context and circumstance suggest.

'children' being the individual members"—Driver, Intro. O.T., 303. <sup>d</sup> ML: "from between her breasts."

For she said,

Let me go after my lovers! who used to give my bread, and my water, my wool, and my flax, mine oil, and my drink.

<sup>6</sup> [Therefore] behold me! hedging up her way, with thorns,—

And I will wall her in, and <her footpaths> shall she not find.

<sup>7</sup> And <when she shall pursue her lovers, and not overtake them,

And shall seek them and not find>

Then will she say,

Let me go my way now! and return' unto my first' husband,

For it was better with me [then] than [now]!

<sup>8</sup> But [she] owneth not, that [I] gave her—the corn, and the new wine and the oil,—<silver> also increased I unto her, and gold—[which] they offered to Baal!<sup>b</sup>

[Therefore] will I again' take away my corn, in the time thereof,

And my new wine, in the season thereof,—

And will recover my wool and my flax [given] to hide her shame.

<sup>11</sup> Now, therefore, will I expose her unseemliness,<sup>c</sup> before the eyes of her lovers,—

And no [man] shall deliver her out of my hand!

And I will cause to cease all her mirth,

Her pilgrim-festival, her new moon and her sabbath,—and her every appointed meeting;

And will lay waste her vine and her fig-tree,

As to which she hath said,

<A present> are they' for myself, which my lovers' [have given me],—

And I will make of them a thicket, and the wild beasts of the field shall devour' them.

<sup>13</sup> So will I visit upon her' the days of the Baals,

Unto whom she used to burn incense, and decked herself with her nose-ring and her jewelry, and went her way after her lovers,—

Whereas <me> she forgot,

Declareth Yahweh.

<sup>14</sup> [Therefore] lo! [I] am going to persuade her, And <though I conduct her forth into a wilderness>,

Yet will I speak unto her heart.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>15</sup> Then will I give to her her vineyards from thence,

And the vale of Achor [= "trouble"]<sup>e</sup> for a door of hope,—

And she will respond there,

As in the days of her youth,

And as in the day when she came up out of the land of Egypt.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>16</sup> And it shall come to pass <in that day>

Declareth Yahweh,

That she will call me Ishi [= "My husband"].

And will not call me<sup>a</sup> any more, Baali [= "Mine owner"].

<sup>17</sup> So will I take away the names of the Baals, out of her mouth,—

And they shall not be called to mind any more, by their name.

<sup>18</sup> And I will solemnise to them a covenant, in that day,

With the wild-beast of the field,

And with the bird of the heavens,

And the creeping thing of the ground,—

And <bow and sword and battle> will I break in pieces out of the land,

So will I cause them to lie down, in security.

Yea I will take<sup>b</sup> thee unto myself, in righteousness and in justice, and in lovingkindness, and in abounding compassion:<sup>c</sup>

<sup>20</sup> Yea I will take<sup>b</sup> thee unto myself, in faithfulness,—

So shalt thou know<sup>d</sup> Yahweh.

<sup>21</sup> And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will respond,

Declareth Yahweh,

I will respond to the heavens,—

And [they] shall respond to the earth;

<sup>22</sup> And [the earth] shall respond to the corn, and to the new wine and to the oil,—

And [they] shall respond to Jezreel [= "Whom GOD scattereth," "Whom GOD soweth"].

<sup>23</sup> So will I sow her unto me in the land,

And will have compassion upon the Uncompassioned one [= "Lo-ruhamah"].—

And will say to him who was No-people-of-mine [= to "Lo-ammi"] <My people> thou art,

And [he] shall say, My God!

<sup>1</sup> Then said Yahweh unto me,

<Once more> go love a woman who loveth<sup>a</sup> a friend, and is an adulteress,—according to the love of Yahweh' unto the sons' of Israel, though they' keep turning away unto other gods, and love [idolatrous] raisin-cakes.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>2</sup> So I secured<sup>b</sup> her to me, for fifteen pieces of silver,—and a homer of barley, and a half-homer of barley;<sup>c</sup> and I said unto her,

<Many days> shalt thou tarry for me,

Thou shalt not be unchaste,

Neither shalt thou become another man's,—

PART II.—Fragmentary Reminiscences of Hosea's Prophetic Ministry to the Corrupt and Doomed Kingdom of Northern Israel; with Occasional References and Appeals to Judah.

- 4<sup>1</sup> Hear the word of Yahweh, ye sons of Israel,—
That  hath Yahweh with the inhabitants of the land,
Because there is no faithfulness, nor loving-kindness, nor knowledge<sup>d</sup> of God, in the land:
2 ||Cursing<sup>e</sup> and lying, and killing and stealing, and committing adultery|| have broken forth,
And ||blood-shedding|| <unto blood-shedding> doth extend.
3 |For this cause| shall the land mourn,
And everyone who dwelleth therein shall languish,
With the wild beast of the field and
With the bird of the heavens,—
|Moreover also| ||the fishes of the sea|| shall be withdrawn.
4 Howbeit let ||no man|| contend,
Nor let him rebuke another,—
Since ||thy people|| are as they who contend against a priest:
5 So shouldst thou stumble in the daytime,
And even the prophet<sup>f</sup> stumble with thee, in the night,<sup>g</sup>—
And I should destroy<sup>h</sup> thine own mother.
6 My people |are destroyed|<sup>h</sup> for lack of knowledge,—
<Because ||thou|| hast rejected |knowledge|>
Therefore will I reject thee from ministering as priest unto me,
And <because thou hast forgotten the law<sup>i</sup> of thy God>
||I also|| will forget thy children.

- 7 <As they were magnified> ||so|| they sinned against me,—
<My glory—for what was contemptible> did they exchange.<sup>a</sup>
8 <The sin<sup>b</sup> of my people> they do eat,—
And <unto their iniquity><sup>c</sup> lift they up every man his<sup>d</sup> desire.<sup>e</sup> 9 So doth it come to be—
||Like people, like priest||,—
Therefore will I visit upon him his ways,
And <his doings> will I bring back to him;
And they shall eat, and not be satisfied,
They have encouraged unchastity, yet have not been making increase,—
For unto <Yahweh> have they left off giving heed:—
11 Unchastity, and wine, and new wine, take away the heart.<sup>f</sup>
12 ||My people|| <of their Wood> do ask,—
Let ||their Staff|| then tell them,—
For ||the spirit of unchastity|| hath led them astray,
And they have unchastely departed from under<sup>g</sup> their God.
13 <On the headlands of the mountains> they sacrifice.
And <on the hills> burn they incense,
Under oak and poplar and terebinth,
Because |pleasant| is the shade<sup>h</sup> thereof:
||For this cause|| do your daughters' |become unchaste|,
And ||your brides|| commit adultery.
14 I do not bring punishment upon your daughters when they become unchaste,
Nor upon your brides, when they commit adultery,
For ||the men themselves||<sup>h</sup> <with unchaste women> do seclude themselves,
And <with the common women<sup>i</sup> of the shrine> do offer sacrifice,—
And |a people who will not discern| must be ruined.
15 <Though unchaste<sup>j</sup> art thou, O Israel>
Let not Judah<sup>k</sup> |become guilty|,
Neither let them enter Gilgal,
Nor go up to Beth-aven,<sup>k</sup>
And [then] swear, By the life of Yahweh!

12 But ||I|| was like a moth to Ephraim,— And like rotten wood, to the house of Judah.

13 <When Ephraim' |saw| his injury', And Judah' his wound'> Then went Ephraim' unto Assyria', And [Judah] sent unto a hostile king,<sup>b</sup>— Yet ||he|| cannot heal you, Nor will the wound |remove from you|.

14 For ||I|| will be as a lion unto Ephraim, And as a young lion to the house of Judah,— ||I, I|| will tear in pieces, and depart, I<sup>c</sup> will carry off, and none' be able to rescue.

15 I will depart, will return' unto my place! Till what time they acknowledge their guilt, and seek my face,— <In their trouble> will they make for me diligent search.

1 Come, and let us return unto Yahweh! 6 For ||he|| hath torn, that he might heal us,— smitten, that he might bind us up.

2 He will bring us to life, after two days,— <On the third day> will he raise us up, that we may live before him.

3 Then let us know—let us press on to know—Yahweh, <Like the dawn> is his coming forth assured,— That he may come Like a down-pour upon us, Like the harvest-rain, [and] the seed-rain of the land.

4 What can I do unto thee,<sup>d</sup> O Ephraim? What can I do unto thee,<sup>d</sup> O Judah? For<sup>e</sup> ||your lovingkindness|| is like a morning' cloud, Yea ||like the dew, early' departing||!

5 ||For this cause|| have I hewn them in pieces by the prophets, I have slain them by the sayings of my mouth,— And ||my justice||<sup>f</sup> as a light' goeth forth.

6 For <lovingkindness> I desired, and not sacrifice,— And the knowledge of God<sup>g</sup> more than ascending-offerings.

- 7 But ||they|| <like Adam> have transgressed a covenant,—
<There> have they dealt treacherously with me.
- 8 ||Gilead|| is a city of workers of iniquity,— tracked with blood.
- 9 And <like liars in wait for a man, in troops>
is a band of priests,
<On the road> will they murder towards Shechem,— Because <sup>a</sup> they have done.
- 10 <In the house of Israel> have I seen a horrible thing,— <There> the unchastity of Ephraim, Defiled' is Israel.
- 11 ||Judah too!! a harvest is appointed for thee,<sup>b</sup>—
In that I will bring back the captivity<sup>c</sup> of my people.
- 7 <sup>1</sup> <When I would have brought healing to Israel>
Then was disclosed the iniquity of Ephraim,
And the wicked doings of Samaria,
For they have wrought falsehood,—
<When ||a thief|| would enter> a band
|roamed about| outside,
- 2 And they say not to<sup>d</sup> their own hearts,
That <all their wickedness> I remember,
||Now|| have their doings |beset them about|,
<Right before my face> have they been done.
- 3 <By their wickedness> they gladden a king,
And <by their flatteries>—rulers.
- 4 ||They all|| are adulterers,
Like an oven too hot for the baker,—
Who leaveth off stoking, after kneading the dough, till the whole be leavened.
- 5 |In the day of our king|<sup>e</sup> the rulers |have made themselves ill|<sup>f</sup> with the heat of wine,—
He hath extended his hand with scoffers.
- 6 For they have made ready<sup>g</sup> like an oven, their heart, by their lying in wait,<sup>h</sup>—
<All the night> their baker sleepeth,<sup>i</sup>
<In the morning> ||he||<sup>k</sup> kindleth up as it were a blazing fire.
- 7 ||They all|| become hot as an oven, and devour their judges,—
||All their kings|| have fallen,<sup>l</sup>
There<sup>m</sup> hath been none<sup>n</sup> among them crying unto me.
- 8 ||As for Ephraim!|| <with the peoples> hath he been mingling himself,—
||Ephraim|| is a cake not turned.
- 9 Foreigners have |eaten up| his strength,
And ||he|| knoweth it not,—
||Even grey hairs|| are sprinkled upon him,
And ||he|| knoweth it not.
- 10 Therefore doth the Excellency<sup>a</sup> of Israel |answer|<sup>b</sup> to his face;
Yet have they not returned unto Yahweh their God,
Nor have they sought him in spite of all this!
- 11 So then |Ephraim| hath become' ||like a simple dove|, having no' understanding,<sup>c</sup>
<On Egypt> have they called,
<To Assyria> have they gone.
- 12 <Whithersoever they go> I will spread over them my net, <Like a bird of the heavens> will I bring them down,
I will chastise them, by the time the report can reach the flock of them.<sup>d</sup>
- 13 Woe to them! for they have taken flight from me, Destruction to them! for they have transgressed against me,—
<When ||I|| would have ransomed them>
Then ||they|| spake—concerning me—falsehoods.
- 14 Neither made they outcry unto me, in their heart,
Although they kept on howling upon their beds,
<Over corn and new wine> they gathered themselves together.<sup>e</sup>
They rebelled against me.
- 15 <When ||I|| had warned them> I strengthened their arm,—
Yet ||against me> kept they on devising wickedness.
- 16 They would return—not to him who is on high!<sup>f</sup>
They have become like a deceitful bow,
Their rulers |shall fall by the sword|, for the rage of their tongue,
||This|| [shall be] their derision in the land of Egypt.
- 17 <To thy mouth> with a horn!<sup>g</sup>
|Like an eagle| on<sup>h</sup> the house of Yahweh,—
Because they have violated my covenant,
And <against my law> have they transgressed.

- 13 <My sacrificial gifts> have they been sacrificing as [common] flesh, and have eaten,<sup>a</sup>
||Yahweh||<sup>b</sup> hath not accepted them,—
||Now|| will he call to mind their iniquity, that he may punish their sin,
||They|| <to Egypt> will return.
14 And so Israel hath forgotten his Maker, and hath built temples,
And ||Judah|| hath multiplied fortified cities,—
Therefore will I send a fire upon his cities,
And it shall consume the palaces thereof.
1 Do not rejoice, O Israel, with exultation, like 9
the peoples,
For thou hast gone away unchastely from beside thy God,— Thou hast loved a present, upon all the threshing-floors of corn!
2 ||Threshing-floor and wine-vat|| will not feed
them,
And ||new wine|| will deny<sup>c</sup> them.<sup>d</sup>
3 They shall not dwell in the land of Yahweh,
But Ephraim shall return<sup>e</sup> to Egypt,
And <in Assyria—that which is unclean> shall they eat.
4 They shall not pour out to Yahweh—
wine,
Neither shall they be pleasing to him,
||Their sacrifices|| are as the food of mourning<sup>f</sup>
to them,
||All that eat thereof|| shall defile themselves,
Because ||their food for their appetite||
entereth not into the house of Yahweh.
5 What will ye do, for the day of appointed meeting?
And in the day of the festival of Yahweh?
6 For <though<sup>g</sup> they have gone from destruction>
Yet ||Egypt|| shall gather them,

||Thistles|| shall possess them,

7 Come<sup>h</sup> are the days of visitation,
Come<sup>i</sup> are the days of recompense,

- 10 <Like grapes in the desert> found I Israel,
<Like the first-ripe in the fig-tree when it is young> saw I your fathers,—

And devoted themselves to the Shameful Thing,
Then became their abominations like their lusts.

None with child,
No conception.
- 12 Yea <though they rear their children> yet will I make them childless, till there be no human being,—
For it is ||nothing less than woe|| to them when I depart from them!
- 13 ||Ephraim|| <just as I provided for Tyre> was planted in a meadow,<sup>e</sup>—
Yet ||Ephraim|| must needs bring forth for a murderer<sup>f</sup> his children.
- 14 Give them, O Yahweh—what' wilt thou give?

Yea <there> have I come to hate them,
<For the wickedness of their doings—out of my house> will I drive them forth,—
No more' will I love them,
||All their rulers|| are unruly.<sup>g</sup>
- 16 Smitten' is Ephraim,
||Their root|| hath dried up,
<Fruit> shall they not bear,—
Yea' <though they do bring forth> yet will I slay the darlings of their womb.

- <sup>2</sup> Hypocritical<sup>j</sup> is their heart,

- <sup>6</sup> ||Itself also|| <to Assyria> shall be borne along, as a present to a hostile king,<sup>n</sup>—
<Shame> shall Ephraim receive, that Israel |may be ashamed| of his own counsel.<sup>o</sup>
- <sup>7</sup> Silenced' is Samaria:
||Her king|| is as a chip on the face of the waters.<sup>p</sup>
- <sup>8</sup> So shall the high places of Aven |be destroyed|, the sin of Israel,
||Thorn and prickle|| shall come up on their altars,—
Therefore shall they say to the mountains,
Cover us, and to the hills,
Fall on us.
- <sup>9</sup> <Beyond<sup>q</sup> the days of Gibeah> hast thou sinned, O Israel:<sup>r</sup>
<There> came they to a stand,
The battle against the sons of perversity |touched them not in Gibeah|.
- <sup>10</sup> <When I please> then will I chastise them,—
And there shall be gathered together against them—peoples,
They being harnessed to their two Iniquities;<sup>s</sup>
- <sup>11</sup> But ||Ephraim|| shall be a heifer broken in, loving to tread out corn, when ||I|| have passed over upon her fair neck,—
I will drive Ephraim,
Judah' |shall plow|,
Jacob' |shall harrow to him|.
- <sup>12</sup> Sow to yourselves in righteousness,

<To oppress> he loveth.
- <sup>8</sup> So then Ephraim said,
Surely I have gotten me riches,
I have found wealth for myself,—
<In all my toils> they cannot find in me perversity which is sin.
- <sup>9</sup> But ||I, Yahweh|| have been thy God, from the land of Egypt,—
I will yet make thee dwell in tents, as in the days of appointed meeting.
- <sup>10</sup> And I will lay my word upon the prophets,
Yea ||I myself|| have magnified |vision|,—
And <by the hand of the prophets> will I use similitudes.
- <sup>11</sup> <If ||Gilead|| is in sorrow> surely false have they been,
<In Gilgal> have they sacrificed |bullocks|,—
||Their very altars|| shall become as heaps upon the furrows of the field.
- <sup>12</sup> <When Jacob fled' to the country of Syria>
Then Israel served for a wife,
And <for a wife> he watched over a flock.
- <sup>13</sup> And <by a prophet> Yahweh |brought up| Israel out of Egypt,—
And <by a prophet> was he watched over.
- <sup>14</sup> Ephraim hath provoked |very bitterly|,—
<His own blood, therefore, upon him> will he leave,
And <his reproach> shall his Lord |bring back to him|.
- <sup>13</sup> <sup>1</sup> <When Ephraim spake'> there was terror,
Exalted' was ||he|| in Israel,—
But <when he became guilty with Baal>
Then he died.
- <sup>2</sup> ||Now|| therefore they go on to sin,
And have made them a Molten Thing out of their silver,
After the notion<sup>a</sup> of idols,
<The workmanship of craftsmen> all of it!
<Of them><sup>b</sup> are they' saying—Ye sacrificers of men!<sup>c</sup>
<The Great Calf> shall ye surely kiss!<sup>d</sup>
- <sup>3</sup> |Therefore| shall they become Like the morning' cloud,
And like the dew early departing,—
Like chaff storm-driven out of the threshing-floor,
And like smoke out of a chimney.
- <sup>4</sup> Yet ||I, Yahweh|| have been thy God from the land of Egypt,—
And <god beside me> shalt thou not acknowledge,
For <saviour> is there none' besides me.
- <sup>5</sup> ||I|| tended<sup>a</sup> thee in the desert,—
In a land parched with drought:
- <sup>6</sup> <Whenever they were pastured> then were they satisfied,
They were satisfied, and their heart |was lifted up|,—
<Because of this> they forgot me.
- <sup>7</sup> Therefore am I become to them as a lion,— <As a leopard by the way> do I watch.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>8</sup> I will fall upon them as a bear bereaved,
And will rend asunder the enclosure of their heart,—
That I may devour them there, like a lioness,
||The wild beast of the field|| shall tear them in pieces.
- <sup>9</sup> It hath utterly destroyed thee, O Israel,
For it was against me, as thy helper!
- <sup>10</sup> Where<sup>c</sup> is thy king, then,
That he may save thee throughout all thy cities?
And thy judges,
Concerning whom thou saidst,
Oh give me a king and rulers?
- <sup>11</sup> I might give thee a king in mine anger,
And take him away in my wrath.
- <sup>12</sup> <Bound up> is the iniquity of Ephraim, <Stored away> his sin.
- <sup>13</sup> ||The pangs of a woman in labour|| shall overtake him,—
||He|| is a son, not wise,<sup>d</sup>
For ||now||<sup>e</sup> he cannot stand still, when children are about to be born.<sup>f</sup>
- <sup>14</sup> <Out of the hand of hades> will I ransom them, <Out of death> will I redeem them,<sup>g</sup>—
Where' is thy pestilence,<sup>h</sup> O death?
Where' thy plague, O hades?
||Repentance||<sup>i</sup> shall be hid from mine eyes.
- <sup>15</sup> Though ||he|| <among brethren> be fruitful,
There shall come in an east wind,
The blast of Yahweh out of the desert coming up,
That his spring |may dry up|, and his fountain |be exhausted|,

- 14 1 Return thou, O Israel, unto Yahweh thy God,—
For thou hast stumbled by thine iniquity.<sup>c</sup>
- 2 Take with you words,<sup>d</sup> and return to Yahweh:
Say<sup>e</sup> unto him—
||Wholly|| shalt thou take away iniquity,
Accept then, with favour,

JOEL.

- § 1. An Invasion by Yahweh's Locust Army occasions general Lament, and calls for united Intercession, the success of which is encouragingly portrayed (chap. i. 2—ii. 27).
- 1 The word of Yahweh, which came unto Joel, son of Pethuel.
- 2 Hear this, ye elders,
And give ear, all ye inhabitants of the land,—
Hath this ever happened<sup>a</sup> in your days?
Or in the days of your fathers?
- 3 ||Concerning it|| <to your children> tell ye the story,—
And your children, to their children,
And their children, to the generation following:—
- 4 <That which was left by the creeping<sup>b</sup>

And <that which was left by the swarming<sup>c</sup> locust> hath the grass<sup>d</sup> locust<sup>e</sup> eaten;
And <that which was left by the grass<sup>d</sup> locust> hath the corn<sup>f</sup> locust<sup>g</sup> eaten.

- 5 Awake, ye drunkards, and weep,
And howl, all ye drinkers of wine,—
Over the new wine,<sup>h</sup> because it hath been cut off from your mouth.

<sup>f</sup> Or: "mead." O.G.: "sweet wine (prop. pressed out juice)."

- 6 For ||a nation|| hath come up over my land,
Bold, and without' number,—
||His teeth|| are the teeth of a lion,
And <the fangs of a lioness> hath he!
- 7 He hath turned my vine to a waste,
And my fig-tree to splinters,—
He hath ||barked it clean|| and cast it down,
Bleached' are its branches.
- 8 Wail thou, like a virgin girded with sackcloth, for the owner<sup>a</sup> of her youth.
- 9 Cut off' are the meal-offering and the drink-offering, from the house of Yahweh,—
In grief' are the priests, the attendants on Yahweh:—
- 10 Laid waste' is the field,
In grief' is the soil,—
For laid waste' is the corn,
Abashed' is the new wine,
Languisheth' the oil.
- 11 Turn pale, ye husbandmen,
Howl, ye vinedressers,
Over the wheat, and over the barley,—
For perished' is the harvest of the field.
- 12 ||The vine|| is abashed,
And ||the fig-tree|| languisheth,—
Pomegranate, palm also, and apple—
||All the trees of the field|| have withered,
Yea abashed' is gladness, away from the sons of men.
- 13 Gird yourselves and beat the breast—ye priests,
Howl, ye attendants of the altar,
Go in and wrap yourselves for the night in sackcloth, ye attendants on my God,—
For <withholden from the house of your God> are the meal-offering and the drink-offering.
- 14 Hallow ye a fast,
Call a solemn assembly,
Gather, O elders, all the inhabitants of the land, unto the house of Yahweh your God,—
And make ye outcry unto Yahweh.
- 15 Alas for the day!
For near' is the day of Yahweh,
And <as a veritable<sup>b</sup> Destruction from the Destroyer><sup>c</sup> shall it come.
- 16 Is it not <before our eyes> that [food] hath been cut off?
<From the house of our God> rejoicing and exultation.
- 17 Rotted' hath the seed, under their clods,<sup>d</sup>
Laid waste' are their stores,
Thrown down' are the garners,—
Yea abashed' is the corn.
- 18 How do the beasts groan!
Perplexed' are the herds of oxen,
Because there is no' pasture for them,—
Even ||the flocks of sheep|| are destroyed!
- 19 <Unto thee> O Yahweh, will I cry,—
For ||a fire|| hath consumed the pastures of the wilderness,
And ||a flame|| hath set ablaze all the trees of the field.
- 20 ||Even the beasts of the field|| moan unto thee,—
Because dried up' are the channels of water,
And ||a fire|| hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness.
- 1 Blow ye a horn in Zion, 2
Sound an alarm in my holy' mountain,
Let all the inhabitants of the land |tremble|,—
For coming' is the day of Yahweh,
For it is near!—
- 2 A day of obscurity and deep gloom,<sup>e</sup>
A day of cloud, and thick darkness,
As dusk,<sup>a</sup> spread over the mountains,—
A people, many and bold,
<Like whom> hath not been from age-past times,
And <after whom> shall not be again' unto the years of generation after generation.
- 3 <Before him> hath a fire' |devoured|,
And <after him> shall a flame' |consume|,—
<As the garden of Eden> is the land before him,
But <after him> a desert most desolate,
|Moreover also| <escape> giveth he none.
- 4 <As the appearance of horses> is his appearance,
And <as war-horses> ||so|| shall they run:
- 5 <Like the noise of chariots on the tops of the mountains> shall they rattle along,
Like the noise of a flame of fire, devouring dry straw,—
Like a people bold, arrayed for battle.
- 6 <Because of him> shall peoples' |be in anguish|,—
||All faces|| have withdrawn their colour.
- 7 <Like heroes> shall they run,
<Like men of war> shall they mount a wall,—
And <every one>—along his own road> shall they march along,
And shall not change their paths;
- 8 Nor <against each other> shall they strike,<sup>b</sup>
<Each>—on his own highway> shall they march,—
<Though ||in among the weapons|| they fall> they shall not stop.

and expresses the gleams of white which so often break through a locust cloud."

<sup>b</sup> "None jostles his comrade"—G.A.S.

9 <Upon the city> shall they leap,
<On the wall> shall they run,
<Up the houses> shall they climb,—
<Through the windows> shall they enter, like a thief.<sup>a</sup>

10 <Before him> hath quaked the earth, have trembled the heavens,—
||The sun and the moon|| have become dark,
And ||the stars|| have withdrawn their
shining;

11 And ||Yahweh|| hath uttered his voice, before his host,
For great indeed' is his camp,
For bold' is he who executeth his word,—
For great' is the day of Yahweh, and awful exceedingly.
Who' then shall endure it?

12 <Even now> therefore, Urgeth Yahweh,
Turn ye unto me, with all your heart,—
And<sup>b</sup> with fasting and with weeping, and with lamentation;

13 And rend your heart, and not your garments,
Turn therefore, unto Yahweh your God,—
For <gracious and full of compassion> is he',
Slow to anger, and abundant in loving-kindness,<sup>c</sup>

And will grieve over Calamity.
14 Who knoweth, he may turn and grieve,—
And leave behind him, a blessing.<sup>d</sup>
A meal-offering and a drink-offering, to Yahweh your God?

15 Blow ye a horn, in Zion,— Hallow a fast,
Call a solemn assembly:

16 Gather the people,
Hallow a convocation,<sup>e</sup>
Collect the elders,<sup>f</sup> Gather the children, and the sucklings of the breasts,—

Let the bridegroom' |come forth| from his chamber',

And the bride' from her bower':<sup>g</sup>

17 <Between the porch and the altar> let the priests |weep|, the attendants of Yahweh,—
And let them say—

Look with pity, O Yahweh, upon thy
people,

And do not deliver thine inheritance to reproach,

That the nations |should mock them|,
Why' should they say among the peoples,
Where' is their God?

18 And Yahweh became jealous for his land,—
And took pity on his people;

19 Then answered Yahweh, and said to his people:—

Behold me! sending you the corn, and the new wine and the oil,
So shall ye be satisfied therewith;

And I will not make you, any more, a reproach among the nations.

20 And <the Northerner> will I remove far
from you,

And drive him into a land parched and desolate,
With ||his face|| toward the eastern sea,

And ||his rear|| toward the hinder sea,—
Then shall come up his ill odour,

Yea his stench' |shall ascend|,
Because he hath shewn himself great in doing.

21 Be not thou afraid, O soil,—
Exult and rejoice,

Because Yahweh |hath shewn himself
great| in doing.

22 Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field,
For sprouted' have the pastures of the wilderness,—

For ||the tree|| hath borné its fruit,
||The fig-tree and the vine|| have yielded their wealth.<sup>a</sup>

23 ||Ye sons of Zion|| then, exult and be glad in
Yahweh your God,

For he hath given you the seed-rain, in right manner,<sup>b</sup>—

Yea he hath caused to descend for you a down-pour, of seed-rain and of the harvest-rain in the first month;

24 So shall the threshing-floors |be filled| with corn,—

And the vats |overflow| with new wine and oil.

25 Then will I make good to you the years' which were eaten by the swarming locust, the grass locust, and the corn locust and the creeping locust,—even my great' army, which I sent among you.<sup>c</sup>

26 And ye shall eat and eat,<sup>d</sup> and be satisfied,
And shall praise the name of Yahweh your God,

Who hath dealt with you wondrously,—
So shall my people |not be abashed| unto times
age-abiding.

27 So shall ye know that <in the midst of Israel> I am',

And that ||I, Yahweh|| am your God, and none else,—

And my people |shall not be abashed| unto times age-abiding.

28 And it shall come to pass |afterwards|,
I will pour out my spirit' upon all flesh',

And your sons and your daughters |shall

||Your young men|| shall see |visions|;

3. All Nations, especially those around Palestine, summoned to the Vale of Jehoshaphat to be judged for their Treatment of Judah.

1 For lo! <in those days, and at that time,—

When I shall bring back the captivity<sup>c</sup> of Judah and Jerusalem>

2 Then will I gather all the nations,
And bring them down into the Vale of Jehoshaphat,—

And will enter into judgment with them

there.
Concerning my people, and mine inheritance

Israel,
Whom they scattered among the nations,

And <my land> they apportioned;
And <for my people> they cast lots,—

3 And gave a Boy for a harlot,
And a Girl sold they for wine—and drank.

4 [Moreover also] what have ye to do with me,

O Tyre and Zidon,

And all the circuit of Palestine?
<A recompense> are ye' paying back unto

me?
But <though ye' should make a recompense

unto me> <Swiftly, speedily> would I return your recompense upon your own head.

5 Because <my silver and my gold> ye took away,—

And <my richly beautiful things> carried ye into your temples;<sup>d</sup>

6 And <the sons of Judah and the sons of Jerusalem> ye sold to the sons of Greece,—

That they might be far removed from their own boundary.

7 Behold me! rousing them,
whither ye sold them,—
So will I bring back your dealing upon your own head.
8 And I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the sons of Judah,
And they will sell them to Sabeans, unto a nation afar off,—
For Yahweh hath spoken.

9 Proclaim ye this among the nations,
Hallow a war,
Rouse the mighty ones,
Let them draw near, come up, all the men
of war!

10 Beat your plough-shares into swords,
And your pruning-hooks into spears,—
<As for the weak> let him say, <Mighty> I am'.

11 Give help,— and come in, all ye nations on every side, and gather yourselves together,— <Thither> bring down, O Yahweh, thy mighty ones!

12 Let the nations [be roused, and come up] into the Vale of Jehoshaphat,— For <there> will I sit to judge all the nations, on every side.

13 Thrust ye in the vintage knife,
For [grown ripe] is the vintage,—
Go in, tread down,
For full is the winepress,
Flow over' do the vats,
For abundant' is their wickedness.

14 Multitudes, multitudes, in the vale of strict decision,—
For near' is the day of Yahweh, in the vale of strict decision.

15 The sun and the moon have become dark,
And the stars have withdrawn their
shining,
16 And Yahweh <out of Zion> will roar,
And <out of Jerusalem> will utter his voice,
And the heavens and the earth shall tremble,—
But Yahweh shall be a shelter to his people,
And a refuge to the sons of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I, Yahweh, am your God, making my habitation in Zion my holy mountain,—
So shall [Jerusalem] be [holy],
And foreigners shall pass through more.

18 And it shall come to pass in that day
That the mountains shall drip sweet milk,
And the hills shall flow down with
milk,
And all the channels of Judah shall flow
down with waters,—
And a spring <out of the house of Yahweh> shall come forth, concerning Israel, in the days of Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam son of Joash, king of Israel, two years before the earthquake. <sup>2</sup> So then he said—

||Yahweh|| <out of Zion> will roar,
And <out of Jerusalem> will utter<sup>b</sup> his voice,—
And the pastures of the shepherds [shall mourn],
And the top of Carmel [be dried up].

- 3 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
<Because of three transgressions of Damascus,
and because of four> will I not turn it back,— <Because <with threshing instruments of iron> they have threshed<sup>d</sup> Gilead>

- 4 Therefore will I send a fire, into the house of Hazeal,—
Which shall devour the palaces of Ben-hadad;
5 And I will break the bolt of Damascus,
And cut off the inhabitant<sup>e</sup> out of the plain of Aven,<sup>d</sup>
And the holder of the sceptre<sup>e</sup> out of the house of Eden,—
And the people of Syria [shall be exiled] unto Kir, Saith Yahweh.

- 6 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
<Because of three transgressions of Gaza, and because of four> will I not turn it back,— <Because of their taking into exile the whole body of exiles, to deliver to Edom>

Gaza,—

<sup>a</sup> Which shall devour the palaces thereof;

- 8 And I will cut off the inhabitant<sup>a</sup> out of Ashdod,
And the holder of the sceptre<sup>e</sup> out of Ashkelon,—

And will turn my hand against Ekron,
So shall perish<sup>e</sup> the remnant of the Philistines, Saith My Lord, Yahweh.<sup>b</sup>

- 9 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
<Because of three transgressions of Tyre,
and because of four> will I not turn it back,— <Because of their delivering up the whole body of exiles to Edom,
And they remembered not the brotherly<sup>c</sup> covenant>

- 10 Therefore will I send a fire upon the wall of Tyre,—
Which shall devour the palaces thereof.

- 11 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
<Because of three transgressions of Edom, and because of four> will I not turn it back,— <Because he pursued, with the sword, his brother,

And stifled his compassions,
And his anger<sup>c</sup> tare in pieces<sup>e</sup> evermore,
And <his indignation> kept watch perpetually>

- 12 Therefore will I send a fire into Teman,—
Which shall devour the palaces of Bozrah.

- 13 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
<Because of three transgressions of the sons of Ammon, and because of four> will I not turn it back,—

<Because of their ripping up the pregnant women of Gilead, that they might enlarge their own boundary>

<sup>a</sup> Or, perh.: "him that

- 14 Therefore will I kindle a fire upon the wall of Rabbah,
Which shall devour the palaces thereof,—
With a war-cry in the day of battle,
With tempest in the day of storm-wind;
15 And Milcom* shall go into exile,—
He<sup>b</sup> and his rulers together,
Saith Yahweh.

- 2<sup>1</sup> ¶Thus saith Yahweh,
<Because of three transgressions of Moab, and because of four> will I not turn it back,—
<Because he burned the bones of the King of Edom to lime>
 2 Therefore will I send a fire into Moab,
Which shall devour the palaces of Kerioth,<sup>c</sup>—
And Moab shall die with tumult, with war-cry, with the sound of a horn;
3 And I will cut off the judge out of her midst, And <all her rulers> will I slay with him,
Saith Yahweh.

- 4 ¶Thus saith Yahweh,
<Because of three transgressions of Judah, and because of four> will I not turn it back,—
<Because they have rejected the law<sup>d</sup> of Yahweh,
 And <his statutes> have not kept,
But their falsehoods<sup>e</sup> have led them astray, after the which their fathers<sup>f</sup> did walk;
5 Therefore will I send a fire upon Judah,—
Which shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem.

- 6 ¶Thus saith Yahweh,
<Because of three transgressions of Israel, and because of four> will I not turn it back,—
<Because they have sold—for silver—the righteous,
 And the needy—for a pair of shoes;
7 Who strive to bring<sup>g</sup> the dust of the earth on the head of the poor,
And <the way of the oppressed><sup>h</sup> they pervert,— Yea a man and his own father<sup>i</sup> go in unto the maid,
To profane my holy Name!
8 And <on pledged garments> they recline, beside every altar,—
And <exacted wine> do they drink in the house of their God.

- 9 Yet it was I<sup>j</sup> who destroyed the Amorite, from before them,<sup>k</sup>
Whose height<sup>l</sup> was like the height of cedars,
And strong<sup>m</sup> was he<sup>n</sup> like the oaks,—
But I destroyed his fruit above,

And led you in the desert, forty years,
To take possession of the land of the Amorites;
11 And I raised up, of your sons, for prophets,
And of your young men, for Nazirites,—
Was it not even<sup>o</sup> so, ye sons of Israel?
Demandeth Yahweh;
12 And yet ye caused the Nazirites<sup>p</sup> to drink wine,—
And <on the prophets> laid ye command, saying,
Ye shall not prophesy!
13 Lo! I<sup>j</sup> am pressed under you,—
As a full cart is pressed by its sheaves;
14 Therefore shall flight<sup>q</sup> perish from the swift,
And the mighty<sup>r</sup> shall not invigorate his strength,—
Nor shall the hero<sup>s</sup> escape with his life;<sup>t</sup> 15 Nor he that handleth the bow<sup>u</sup> make a stand,
And the swift on his feet<sup>v</sup> shall not escape,—
Nor he that rideth on a horse<sup>w</sup> escape with his life;<sup>x</sup> 16 Nay—he that is stout in his heart, among heroes<sup>y</sup> <naked> shall flee, in that day,
Declareth Yahweh.

§ 2. A First Solemn Summons to the Whole Family of Israel.

- 1 Hear ye this word, which Yahweh hath spoken<sup>z</sup> concerning you, ye sons<sup>a</sup> of Israel,—Concerning the whole family which I brought up out of the land of Egypt, saying:—
2 <Only you> have I acknowledged, of all the families of the ground,<sup>b</sup>—
¶For this cause<sup>c</sup> will I visit upon you<sup>d</sup> all your iniquities.
3 Can two walk together,— Except they meet?<sup>e</sup>
4 Will a lion roar<sup>f</sup> in the forest,
When <prey> he hath none?
Will a young lion utter his voice out of his den,
When he hath made no capture?
5 Will a bird fall upon a net to the earth,
When there is no snare<sup>g</sup> for it?
Will a net rise from the ground,
When it hath captured nothing?<sup>h</sup>
6 Or a horn be blown<sup>i</sup> in a city,
And a people<sup>j</sup> not tremble?
Or calamity happen<sup>k</sup> in a city,
And Yahweh<sup>l</sup> not have wrought with effect?<sup>m</sup>
7 Surely My Lord Yahweh will do nothing,— except he have disclosed his secret unto his servants, the prophets!

* U.: "soul."

8 ||A lion|| hath roared,
Who will not fear?
||My Lord, Yahweh||<sup>a</sup> hath spoken,
Who can forbear to prophesy?

9 Announce it over the palaces in Ashdod,
And over the palaces in the land of Egypt,—
And say ye—

Gather yourselves together upon the mountains of Samaria,
And behold ye—

The great disorders in the midst thereof,
And the oppressed within her.

10 Therefore do they not know how to do right,
Declareth Yahweh,

who are treasuring up violence and spoil in their palaces.

11 [Therefore]—

||Thus|| saith My Lord, Yahweh,<sup>a</sup>

An adversary! Yea round about the land,—

And he who shall bring down,<sup>b</sup> from thee,
thy strength,

And spoiled' shall be thy palaces.

12 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,

<Just as a shepherd rescueth out of the mouth of the lion, a couple of shankbones, or the tip of an ear>

||So|| shall be rescued' the sons of Israel, who are tarrying in Samaria,

In the corner of the divan, and

On the damask of the luxurious couch.

13 Hear ye and bear witness, throughout the house of Jacob,—

Commandeth My Lord, Yahweh,<sup>c</sup>

God of hosts:

14 That <in the day I visit the transgressions of Israel upon him> then will I punish, concerning the altars of Bethel,

So shall the horns of the altar |be broken
off|, and they shall fall to the ground;

15 And I will smite the winter' house along with the summer' house,—

And the houses of ivory |shall be destroyed|,

And the great houses |shall disappear|,

Declareth Yahweh.

§ 3. A Second Summons, beginning with the Luxurious Women of Samaria, and culminating in a Fivefold Refrain of Divine Complaint.

4<sup>1</sup> Hear ye this word, ye heifers of Bashan, that are in the mountain of Samaria,
Who oppress the poor,
Who crush the needy,—
Who say to their lords,
Bring in, and let us drink!

<sup>a</sup> Or transfer both names:

"Adonāy, Yahweh."

<sup>b</sup> Some cod. [w. Aram. and Vul.]: "So shall be brought down"—G.n.

<sup>c</sup> Or as two proper names:

2 Sworn' hath My Lord, Yahweh,<sup>a</sup>

By his own holiness,

That lo! ||days|| are coming upon you,—

When he will take you' away with hooks,

And your followers' with fishhooks;

3 And <through fissures> shall ye go out,

||Every woman|| straight before her,—

And ye shall be thrust forth towards the castle,<sup>b</sup>

Declareth Yahweh.

4 Enter ye Bethel, and transgress,

<At<sup>c</sup> Gilgal> cause transgression |to abound|,—

Yea, carry in, every morning, your sacrifices,
<Every three days> your tithes;

5 Yea, burn thou incense, of that which is leavened, as a thank-offering,

And proclaim ye freewill-offerings, let them be known,—

For ||so|| ye love [to have it], ye sons of Israel, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.<sup>a</sup>

6 [Moreover also] ||I|| have given you

Cleanness of teeth' throughout all your cities,

And want of bread' throughout all your dwelling-places,—

Yet have ye not returned unto me,

Declareth Yahweh.

7 [Moreover also] ||I|| have witholden from you the abundant rain, when yet' there were only three months to the harvest,

Or I might rain upon one' city,

And <on another' city> might not rain,—

||One portion|| would be rained upon,

And ||the portion whereupon it<sup>d</sup> should not rain|| would be dried up;

8 Then would two or three cities totter' to one city to drink water, without being satisfied,—

Yet have ye not returned unto me,

Declareth Yahweh.

9 I have smitten you with blight and with mildew,

<When your gardens and your vineyards and your fig-trees and your olive-trees have increased> the creeping locust would devour them,—

Yet have ye not returned unto me,

Declareth Yahweh.

10 I have sent among you pestilence, in the manner of Egypt,

I have slain, with the sword, your young men,
And therewith have been taken captive

your horses,

And I have caused to ascend—the stench of your camps, even into your own nostrils,

Yet ye have not returned unto me,

Declareth Yahweh.

11 I have made an overthrow among you,
Like the divine overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrhah,
And ye have become like a brand snatched out of the burning,—
Yet have ye not returned unto me.
Declareth Yahweh.

12 [Therefore] [thus] will I do unto thee, O
Israel,—
<Because' this' thing I will do unto thee>
Prepare to meet thy God, O Israel.

13 For lo!
<He that fashioned the mountains,
And created the wind,
And who telleth the son of earth what is his thought,
Who turneth dawn into darkness,
And marcheth upon the high places of the earth>
[Yahweh, God of hosts] is his name!

§ 4. A third Summons, commencing with a Dirge, and widening out into an Exhortation: "Seek Me"—"Seek Yahweh"—"Seek Right."

5 <sup>1</sup> Hear ye this word, which [I] am taking up<sup>a</sup> concerning<sup>b</sup> you—Even a dirge, O house of Israel.

<sup>2</sup> She hath fallen—she cannot<sup>c</sup> again' rise,
The virgin, Israel,—
She lieth forsaken on her soil,
There is none<sup>d</sup> to raise her up.

<sup>3</sup> For [thus] saith My Lord, Yahweh,<sup>e</sup>
[The city that goeth out a thousand strong]
Shall have left it a hundred,—
And [that which goeth out a hundred strong] Shall have left it ten, Belonging to the house of Israel.

<sup>4</sup> For [thus] saith Yahweh, to the house of Israel,—

Seek me, and live;

<sup>5</sup> Then do not seek Bethel,
And <Gilgal> shall ye not enter,
And <unto Beer-sheba> shall ye not cross over,
For [Gilgal] shall [surely go into exile],
And [Bethel] shall become a trouble.

<sup>6</sup> Seek ye Yahweh, and live,— Lest he break forth like a fire, upon the house of Joseph,
And it devour with none' to quench it, for Bethel.

<sup>7</sup> Ye who turn <into [wormwood]> [justice],
And <righteousness—to the ground have let fall>

<sup>a</sup> Or: "lifting"—as if a "burden."

<sup>c</sup> Some cod. (w. 1 ear. pr.

<sup>d</sup> Some cod.: "And there

<sup>e</sup> Or both as proper names:
"Adoniy, Yahweh."

<sup>8</sup> [Seek him]

Who made the Cluster<sup>a</sup> and the Giant,<sup>b</sup>
And turneth into morning the shadow of death,
And who <day into night> doth darken,
Him who calleth to the waters of the sea, and poureth them out on the face of the land.

[Yahweh] is his name:

<sup>9</sup> Him who flasheth force on the strong,—
And [force] [on the fortress] alighteth!

<sup>10</sup> They hate the man who, in the gate, rebuketh,—
And <him who speaketh truthfully> they abhor.

<Because ye have trampled on the poor,
And <the gift of corn> ye would take away from him>

<Though [houses of hewn stone] ye have built>

Yet shall ye not dwell in them,—

<Though [delightful vineyards] ye have planted>

Yet shall ye not drink the wine of them.

<sup>12</sup> For I know

How numerous are your transgressions, and How surpassing' your sins,—

Ye adversaries of the righteous!

Ye acceptors of a bribe!

<Even the needy in the gate> have they turned away!

<sup>13</sup> [Therefore] [the prudent man] <at that time> will be dumb,—
Because <an evil time> it is!

<sup>14</sup> Seek ye right and not wrong, that ye may live,—

That [so] Yahweh God of hosts may be'
with you, [as ye have said].

<sup>15</sup> Hate wrong, and love right,

And station [Justice] in the gate,—

[Peradventure] Yahweh, God of hosts, will be gracious' unto the remnant of Joseph.

<sup>16</sup> [Therefore]

[Thus] saith Yahweh, God of hosts,
My Lord,

<In all broadways> shall be lamentation,
And <in all streets> shall they say, Alas!

Alas!

And they shall call the husbandman' unto the mourning,

And <unto the lamentation> them who know a wailing song;<sup>c</sup>

<sup>17</sup> Yea <in all vineyards> lamentation,—

For I will pass along through thy midst,
Saith Yahweh.

§ 5. A Lament for such as long for Yahweh's Day, when it can bring them no good.

- 18 Alas for them who are longing for the day of Yahweh,—
 |What good to you| is the day of Yahweh?
 ||It|| being darkness and not light:
 19 As if a man should flee<sup>a</sup> from the face<sup>a</sup> of a Lion,
 And there should meet<sup>a</sup> him—a Bear!
 Or he should have entered the house, and leaned his hand upon the wall,
 And there should bite<sup>a</sup> him—a Serpent!
 20 Shall not the day of Yahweh be ||darkness|| and not light?
 Yea, thick darkness, and<sup>b</sup> no brightness in it?

§ 6. Divine Abhorrence of Israel's Festivals.

- 21 I hate, I despise your festivals,—
 And can scent no fragrance in your solemn feasts.
 22 Nay <though ye cause to ascend unto me ascending - sacrifices, and your meal-offerings>
 I will not accept [them].—
 Nor <the peace-offering of your fat heifers> will I regard.
 23 Take thou away from me, the noise of thy songs,—
 <Even the melody of thy harps><sup>c</sup> will I not hear.
 24 But let |justice| ||roll along like water||,—
 And ||righteousness|| as a torrent ever flowing.
 25 <The sacrifices and meal-offering> ye brought near unto me, in the desert, for forty years,
 O house of Israel;<sup>d</sup> 26 But ye carried the tent of your king-idol,<sup>e</sup> and your Saturn-images,—the star of your gods, which ye made for yourselves:
 27 Therefore will I carry you into exile beyond Damascus,—
 Saith Yahweh,
 ||God of hosts|| is his name.

§ 7. A Lament for the Careless in Zion, who confide in Samaria. The Luxurious severely denounced.

- 6 1 Alas for the careless in Zion,
 And for them who put confidence in the mountain of Samaria,—
 The distinguished among the first group
 of nations,
 To whom came in the house of Israel.

3 Ye who are putting far away<sup>b</sup> the day of calamity,—

But bringing near<sup>c</sup> the abode<sup>c</sup> of violence:
 4 Who are lying on beds of ivory,
 And sprawling on their couch of pleasure,—
 And eating the well-fed of the flock,
 And the fatted calves out of the midst of the stalls:

5 Who are bawling at the bidding of the harp,<sup>d</sup>—
 <Like David> have they invented for themselves instruments of song:<sup>e</sup>

6 Who are quaffing bowls of wine,
 And <with the best of oils> anointing

 And are not afflicted for the injury of Joseph:—

7 |Therefore| <at once> shall they go into exile among the first of the exiles,—
 So shall be disturbed the revelry of sprawlers.
 8 Sworn<sup>f</sup> hath the Lord, Yahweh,<sup>f</sup> by his own life,<sup>g</sup>

Declareth Yahweh, God of hosts,<sup>h</sup>
 |Abhorring am I| the grandeur of Jacob,
 And <his palaces> I hate,— Therefore will I cast off the city and the fulness thereof.

9 And it shall come to pass,
 <Though there be left remaining ten men in one house>

10 Yet shall they die;
 And a man's near of kin, even he who is about to burn the bones, shall carry him out of the house,

<When he shall say to him that is in the hinder parts of the house— Are there yet<sup>i</sup> any with thee? And he shall say— No one > Then shall he say—
 Hush! for we must not invoke<sup>j</sup> the name
 of Yahweh.

11 For lo! ||Yahweh|| is giving command, and will smite
 The great house into ruins,—
 And the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses<sup>k</sup> |run upon a crag|?
 Or will a man plough [there] with oxen?<sup>k</sup>
 For ye have turned to poison the sentence of justice,
 And the fruit of righteousness, to wormwood:

- 13 Who rejoice in a thing of nought,*—
Who say, Have we not, by our own strength, taken to ourselves horns?
14 For behold me! raising up against you, O
house of Israel,

Declareth Yahweh, the God of hosts,—
a nation!
And they shall crush you, from the entering in of Hamath, unto the torrent-bed of the waste plain.<sup>b</sup>

§ 9. Amaziah, Priest of Bethel, attempts to silence Amos; who defends himself by relating his call to the Prophetic Office, and proceeds to fasten on Amaziah definite alarming Predictions.

- <sup>10</sup> Then sent Amaziah, the priest of Bethel, unto Jeroboam king of Israel, saying:
A conspiracy<sup>h</sup> hath Amos [raised against thee], in the midst of the house of Israel,
The land [is not able to endure] all his
words;

- <sup>11</sup> For [thus] saith Amos,
<By the sword> shall Jeroboam<sup>i</sup> [die],— And [Israel] shall [surely be exiled] from off his own soil.

- <sup>12</sup> Then said Amaziah unto Amos,
O seer,<sup>a</sup> go flee thee away unto the land o
Judah,—
And eat, there, bread,

And <there> mayest thou prophesy;

- <sup>13</sup> But <at Bethel> [not again, any more] mayest thou prophesy,—
For <the holy place of the king>
it is,
And <the house of the kingdom>
it is.<sup>j</sup>

- <sup>14</sup> Then answered Amos, and said unto Amaziah, ¶No prophet¶ was I,—
¶Nor the son of a prophet¶ was I,—
But ¶a herdman¶ was I,
And a preparer of sycamore fruit;<sup>b</sup>

- <sup>15</sup> But Yahweh [took me away] from following the flock,—and Yahweh [said unto me],
Go prophesy<sup>c</sup> against my people Israel.

- <sup>16</sup> ¶Now¶ therefore, hear thou the word of Yahweh,— Thou' art saying,
Thou must not prophesy concerning
Israel,
Nor let thy word drop down upon the house of Isaac.

- <sup>17</sup> Therefore—

¶Thus¶ saith Yahweh,

¶Thy wife¶ <in the city> will commit unchastity,

And [thy sons and thy daughters] <by the sword> shall fall,

And [thine own soil] <by line> shall be apportioned,—

And [thou] <on a polluted soil> shalt
die,

And [Israel] shall [surely go into exile]
away from his own soil.

§ 10. A Basket of Summer Fruit (kaiz) symbolises Israel's End (kêz). Gross Sins call forth Threats of Dicers Calamities, including a Famine of the Prophetic Word.

8 <sup>1</sup> ||Here|| My Lord Yahweh gave me to see,—and lo! there was a basket of summer fruit. <sup>2</sup> So then he said,

What canst thou see, Amos?

And I said,

A basket of summer fruit.*

Then said Yahweh unto me,

The end<sup>b</sup> hath come<sup>c</sup> unto my people Israel,

I will not again<sup>d</sup> any more<sup>e</sup> forgive them;

<sup>3</sup> but palace-songs |shall become howlings|<sup>e</sup> in that day,

Declareth My Lord Yahweh,<sup>d</sup>—

Many<sup>f</sup> shall be the dead bodies in every place—cast forth—[with a] Hush!

<sup>4</sup> Hear this,

Ye who pant after the needy,

And to make an end of the oppressed<sup>g</sup> of the land:

<sup>5</sup> Who say,

When will the new moon<sup>h</sup> |pass away|, that we may sell corn?

And the sabbath<sup>i</sup> that we may open grain?

Who diminish the ephah, and increase the shekel, and who falsify by deceitful weights:<sup>f</sup>

<sup>6</sup> Who buy—for silver—the poor,

And the needy<sup>j</sup> for a pair of shoes,—

And that the refuse of the grain we may sell.

<sup>7</sup> Sworn<sup>k</sup> hath Yahweh,

By the Excellency of Jacob,—

Surely I will never forget any of their doings!

<sup>8</sup> Is it not <for this> that the land<sup>l</sup> |shall tremble|?

And shall mourn<sup>m</sup> every inhabitant therein?

Shall it not come up—like the Nile, all<sup>n</sup> of it, And be tossed and subside, like the river of Egypt?

<sup>9</sup> Yea it shall come to pass, in that day.

Declareth My Lord Yahweh,<sup>d</sup>

That I will cause the sun to go in at high noon,—

And will darken the earth on a day of brightness.

<sup>10</sup> So will I turn your festivals into mourning,

And all your songs into a dirge,

And I will bring up—on all loins—sackcloth,

And upon every head—baldness,—

And I will make it like the mourning for an only one,

[Even the afterpart thereof] as a day of bitterness.

Declareth My Lord Yahweh,<sup>a</sup>

That I will send a hunger throughout the land,—

Not a hunger for food,

Nor a thirst for water,

But for hearing the words<sup>b</sup> of Yahweh;

<sup>12</sup> Therefore shall men rove about—

From Sea to Sea, and

From the North even unto Sunrise,—

They shall run to and fro—seeking the word of Yahweh, but shall not find [it].

<sup>13</sup> <In that day> shall the fair virgins and the choice young men faint<sup>c</sup> for thirst.

<sup>14</sup> ||They who swear by the Guilt of Samaria,

And say, As thy God |liveth|, O Dan!

And, As the Way of Beer-sheba |liveth| ||

Shall fall, and shall not rise any more.

§ 11. Offenders cannot escape; yet, though both the Sinful Kingdom and Boastful Individuals be destroyed, the House of Jacob shall not utterly perish.

<sup>1</sup> I saw My Lord stationed by the altar, and <sup>9</sup> he said—

Smite the capital—that the sills<sup>d</sup> |may tremble|,

Yea break them off on the head of them all,

And ||the last of them||<sup>e</sup> <with the sword> will I slay,—

He that fleeth of them |shall not flee away|,

And he that escapeth of them |shall not make good his escape|.

<sup>2</sup> <Though they break through into hades>

||From thence|| shall my hand fetch them,—

And <though they ascend the heavens>

||From thence|| will I bring them down;

<sup>3</sup> And <though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel>

||From thence|| will I search for them and take them,—

And <though they conceal themselves from before mine eyes at the bottom<sup>f</sup> of the sea>

||From thence|| will I command the serpent and he shall bite them;

<sup>4</sup> And <though they go into captivity before their enemies>

||From thence|| will I command the sword, and it shall slay them,—

So will I set mine eyes upon them for calamity, and not for blessing.

<sup>5</sup> Now ||My Lord Yahweh of hosts|| is he—

Who toucheth the earth, and it melteth,

And all that dwell therein |mourn|;

And it cometh up like the Nile, all of it,

And subside like the river of Egypt:

JONAH.

§ 1. Jonah, commissioned to proclaim against Nineveh for her Wickedness, flies from Duty by taking Ship for Tarshish. A Storm overtaking the Vessel, the Sailors reluctantly cast the Prophet into the Sea, when a great Fish swallows him; he prays as out of the Belly of Hades, and is vomited upon Dry Land.

1<sup>1</sup> And the word of Yahweh came unto Jonah son of Amittai, saying:

2<sup>2</sup> Arise, get thee to Nineveh the great city,* and proclaim unto it,—

That their wickedness [hath come up] before me.

3<sup>3</sup> But Jonah arose to flee unto Tarshish, away from the presence of Yahweh,—and went down to Joppa,<sup>b</sup> and found a ship going to Tarshish, so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, to go with them to Tarshish, away from the presence of Yahweh.

4<sup>4</sup> But [Yahweh] hurled a great wind against the sea, and there arose a mighty tempest in the sea,—and [the ship] thought<sup>c</sup> to be broken in pieces. 5<sup>5</sup> Then were the mariners [afraid], and made outcry every man unto his own god, and they hurled the wares which were<sup>d</sup> in the ship, into the sea, to lighten it of them,—but [Jonah] had gone down into the hinder parts of the vessel, and had lain down, and fallen into a sound sleep. 6<sup>6</sup> Then drew near unto him the shipmaster,<sup>e</sup> and said to him,

What meanest thou? O sound sleeper?

Arise, cry unto thy God,

Peradventure<sup>f</sup> God will bethink<sup>g</sup> himself of us, that we perish not.

7<sup>7</sup> And they said—every one unto his fellow,

Come, and let us cast lots, that we may get to know for whose sake this calamity is upon us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah.

8<sup>8</sup> Then said they unto him,

Tell us, we pray thee, for whose sake this calamity is upon us?

What is thy business? and from whence comest thou? what is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9<sup>9</sup> And he said unto them,

<A Hebrew<sup>h</sup> am I,—and <Yahweh, the God of the heavens> do [I] revere, him who made the sea, and the dry land.

10<sup>10</sup> Then did the men revere<sup>i</sup> with great reverence, and said unto him,

What is it thou hast done?

For the men knew<sup>j</sup> that <away from the presence of Yahweh> he<sup>k</sup> was fleeing,—for he had told them.

11<sup>11</sup> Then said they unto him, What shall we do to thee, that the sea may cease<sup>l</sup> raging over us?<sup>m</sup>

For [the sea] was raging more and more.<sup>n</sup> 12<sup>12</sup> And he said unto them,

Take me up, and hurl me into the sea, that the sea may cease<sup>o</sup> raging over you,<sup>p</sup>—for I<sup>q</sup> do know<sup>r</sup> that <for my sake> is this great tempest upon you.

13<sup>13</sup> Nevertheless the men [wrought hard] to bring it back unto the land, but could not,—for [the sea] was raging over<sup>s</sup> them more and more. 14<sup>14</sup> Then cried they unto Yahweh, and said,

Ah now, Yahweh, pray let it not be that we perish for this man's life,<sup>t</sup> neither lay upon us innocent blood,—for [thou, O Yahweh] <as<sup>u</sup> thou hast pleased> hast ever done.

15<sup>15</sup> So they took up Jonah and hurled him into the sea,—and the sea [left off] her roaring.

16<sup>16</sup> Then did the men revere<sup>v</sup> Yahweh<sup>w</sup> with a great reverence,—and offered sacrifice to Yahweh, and vowed vows.

17<sup>17</sup> Now Yahweh had appointed<sup>x</sup> a great fish, to swallow up Jonah,—and Jonah was in the belly of the fish, three days and three nights.

1<sup>1</sup> Then prayed Jonah, unto 2<sup>2</sup> Yahweh, his God,—out of the belly of the fish;

2<sup>2</sup> and said—

I cried—out of my distress—unto Yahweh,

And he answered me,—

<Out of the belly of hades> called I,

Thou didst hear my voice.

3<sup>3</sup> For thou hast cast me into the deep,

into the heart of the seas,

And [a flood] enveloped me,—

[All thy breakers and thy rolling waves]

<over me> passed.

4<sup>4</sup> And [I] said,

I am driven out from before thine eyes,—

Yet will I again<sup>y</sup> have regard unto thy holy temple:<sup>z</sup>

5<sup>5</sup> The waters [encompassed me], to the peril of my life,<sup>aa</sup>

[The roaring deep] enveloped me,—

[The sea-weed] was wrapped about my head:

<sup>d</sup> Or.: “tackle which was.”

<sup>6</sup> <To the roots of the mountains> went I down,
<As<sup>a</sup> for the earth> ||her bars|| were about me, age-abidingly,—
Then didst thou bring up—out of the pit—my life, O Yahweh my God.

<sup>7</sup> <When my soul|darkened itself over me|><sup>b</sup>
<Yahweh> I remembered,—
And my prayer|came in
Unto thee|,
Unto thy holy temple.

<sup>8</sup> ||They who take heed to the vanities of falsehood||<sup>c</sup> do <their own lovingkindness><sup>d</sup> forsake.

<sup>9</sup> But ||I|| <with the voice<sup>e</sup> of praise> will sacrifice unto thee,
<What I have vowed> I will pay,—
||Salvation|| belongeth to Yahweh!

<sup>10</sup> So then Yahweh spake' unto the fish,—and it vomited out Jonah, upon the dry land.<sup>f</sup>

§ 2. Again commissioned, Jonah this time obeys, and proclaims to Nineveh her impending Destruction; whereupon People and Monarch humble themselves for their Sins and cry unto God for Mercy—which is granted, and Nineveh is spared.

<sup>3</sup> <sup>1</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jonah,
the second time, saying:

<sup>2</sup> Arise, get thee unto Nineveh, the great city,—and cry against it the cry that I' am bidding thee.

<sup>3</sup> So Jonah arose', and went his way unto Nineveh, according to the word of Yahweh,— ||Nineveh|| being a city great before God, of three days' journey. <sup>4</sup> So Jonah began' to enter into the city, one day's journey,—and he cried out and said—

<Yet forty days> and ||Nineveh|| is to be overthrown!

<sup>5</sup> And the people of Nineveh believed' in God,— and proclaimed a fast, and clothed themselves in sackcloth, from the greatest of them, even unto the least of them. <sup>6</sup> And the word reached' unto the king of Nineveh, so he arose from his throne, and laid aside his robe from off him,—and covered him with sackcloth, and sat on ashes. <sup>7</sup> And he caused an outcry to be made—and said—throughout Nineveh,

<By decree of the king and of his great men>

Be it known:—

<Man and beast, herd and flock>.

Let them taste |nothing|, was grieved' over the calamity which he had spoken of executing upon them, and executed it not.

§ 3. Jonah, chafing at the Divine Clemency, which he protests he had expected, asks to die; but, instead of obtaining his Request, by the help of a Gourd, is taught a useful Lesson.

<sup>1</sup> And it was vexing unto Jonah, with a great <sup>4</sup> vexation,—and it angered him. <sup>2</sup> So he prayed unto Yahweh, and said,—

Ah now! Yahweh!

Was not |this| my word, while I was yet upon mine own soil?

||For this cause|| did I hasten to flee unto Tarshish,—

Because I knew that ||thou|| art a God of favour and compassion, slow to anger, and abundant in lovingkindness,<sup>a</sup> and art grieved over calamity.

<sup>3</sup> ||Now|| therefore, O Yahweh, take, I pray thee, my life<sup>b</sup> from me,—for it were better'
for me |to die|, than |to live|.

<sup>4</sup> Then said Yahweh,

Art thou rightly' angry?

<sup>5</sup> But Jonah |went forth| out of the city, and abode on the east side of the city; and made for himself there, a hut, and sat under it, in the shade, until he should see what would become of the city.<sup>c</sup> <sup>6</sup> Now Yahweh God appointed<sup>d</sup> a gourd,<sup>e</sup> and caused it to come up over Jonah, that it might be a shade over his head, to deliver him from his vexation,—and Jonah rejoiced' over the gourd, with great rejoicing. <sup>7</sup> But God appointed<sup>d</sup> a worm, at the uprisings of the dawn, the next day,— and it smote the gourd, that it withered. <sup>8</sup> And it came to pass <at the breaking forth of the sun> that God appointed<sup>d</sup> a sultry east wind, and the sun smote upon the head of Jonah, that he became faint,—and asked his life,<sup>f</sup> that he might die, and said,

It were better' for me |to die|, than |to
live|.

<sup>9</sup> Then said God unto Jonah,

Art thou rightly' angry, over the gourd?

for which thou hadst not toiled, neither hadst thou made it grow, — which <as the off-spring<sup>a</sup> of a night> came up,

§ 1. A brief Introduction, identifying the Prophet, recording his Invocation of all the Earth to hear Yahweh's witness against his People, and describing the effects of the Divine Appearing.

<sup>2</sup> Hear, ye peoples [all of you]<sup>b</sup>
Hearken, O earth and the fulness thereof,—
And let My Lord Yahweh be among you for a witness,

||My Lord' out of his holy' temple||.

place,—
That he may descend, and march along upon the high places of the earth.

<sup>4</sup> Then shall the mountains be melted beneath
him,
And ||the valleys|| be cleft,—
As wax before the fire,
As waters poured out in a steep place.

To the end I may give thee up to desolation,
And her inhabitants to hissing,
That <the reproach of peoples><sup>a</sup> ye may bear.

8. The Prophet, speaking for Repentant Jerusalem, deploras his present Condition, but determines to wait and hope; being assured of Ultimate Vindication and Triumph.

- 7 <sup>1</sup> Alas for me! for I am become
As gatherings of summer fruit,
As gleanings-grapes in harvest,
There is no cluster to eat,
<The first ripe fruit> my soul<sup>1</sup> |craved|.
- <sup>2</sup> Perished<sup>2</sup> is the man of lovingkindness out of the earth,
And <upright among men> is there none,—
||They all|| <for bloodshed> lie in wait,
<Every man—for his brother> do they hunt as for one devoted to destruction.
- <sup>3</sup> <Of wickedness<sup>3</sup> with both hands<sup>3</sup> to make sure><sup>b</sup>
||The ruler|| doth make demand—
And the judge—for a recompense,—
And <as for the great man> ||he|| |is putting into words the desire of his soul|<sup>c</sup>.
So have they woven the net!
- <sup>4</sup> ||The best of them|| is as a sharp briar,
And ||the most upright|| worse than a thorn hedge,<sup>d</sup>
||The day of thy watchmen — of thy visitation|| hath come,
||Now|| shall be their confusion!
- <sup>5</sup> Do not trust in a friend,
Do not put<sup>e</sup> confidence in an associate,—
<From her that lieth in thy bosom> keep thou the doors of thy mouth;
For ||the son|| treateth as foolish |the father|,
And ||the daughter|| riseth up against |her mother|,
The daughter'-in-law against her mother'-in-law,—
<The foes of a man> are the men of his own house.

<sup>7</sup> But ||I|| <for Yahweh> will watch,
I will wait<sup>f</sup> for the God of my salvation,—
My God<sup>g</sup> |will hear me|.

<sup>8</sup> Do not rejoice, O mine enemy, against me,
<Though I fall> I shall rise again!<sup>h</sup>
<Though I sit in darkness> ||Yahweh|| is a light to me.

<sup>a</sup> So it shd be (w. Sep.)—G.n. [M.C.T.: "my people."]

own defence, but barren of fruit, and without nest or covert for any life"—G.A.S. Cp. Prov. xv. 19.

<sup>e</sup> So the Western Massorites; the Eastern: "Neither" (w. 3 ear. pr. edns., Sep., Syr., Vul.)—G.n.

<sup>f</sup> MI.: "I have fallen—I have arisen!"

<sup>9</sup> <The indignation of Yahweh> will I bear,

For I have sinned against him,—
Until he take up my controversy.
Then will he do me justice,
He will bring me forth to the light
I shall behold his righteousness.

<sup>10</sup> So shall she<sup>a</sup> who had been mine enemy fear,
And shame<sup>1</sup> |shall cover her|,
Who used to say unto me—
Where<sup>1</sup> is Yahweh thy God?

||Mine own eyes|| shall look upon her,
||Now|| shall she become one to be trodden down, like the mire of the lanes.

<sup>11</sup> <On the day for building thy walls>—
<On that day> far away shall be thy boundary:

<sup>12</sup> ||The very day|| that |against thee| shall one<sup>b</sup> come from Assyria, and [from] the cities of Egypt;

Yea from Egypt, even unto the River,
And from sea to sea.

And from mountain to mountain:

<sup>13</sup> Though the land become a desolation,
Because of them that dwell therein,—
By reason of the fruit of their doings.

<sup>14</sup> Shepherd thou<sup>c</sup> thy people with thy rod,<sup>d</sup>
the flock of thine inheritance,

Dwell thou<sup>e</sup> alone, a jungle in the midst of a fruitful field,—

Let them feed in Bashan and in Gilead,
As in the days of age-past times.

<sup>15</sup> <As in the days of thy coming forth out of the land of Egypt>
Will I shew him wonders.

<sup>16</sup> Nations |shall see|, that they may turn pale at all their valour,—

They shall lay hand on mouth,

||Their<sup>f</sup> ears|| shall be silent:

<Like the crawlers of the earth> shall they come quaking out of their fastnesses,<sup>g</sup>—

- 20 Thou wilt grant—
The faithfulness to Jacob,
The lovingkindness to Abraham,—
Which thou didst swear to our fathers,
From the days of ancient time.

NAHUM.

§ 1. Out of the full-orbed perfection of Yahweh comes the Twofold Manifestation, designed to alarm his Foes and assure his Friends. From Nineveh proceedeth a Wicked Schemer against Yahweh.

- 1<sup>1</sup> The oracle on Nineveh,—the scroll of the vision of Nahum, the Elkoshite.
- 2 <A God jealous and avenging> is Yahweh,
<An avenger> is Yahweh, and a lord of wrath,<sup>a</sup>
<An avenger> is Yahweh towards his adversaries,
And  is he' to his foes.
- 3 ||Yahweh|| is slow to anger,<sup>b</sup> but great in vigour,
He will not leave ||unpunished||,<sup>b</sup>—
||As for Yahweh|| <in storm-wind and in tempest> is his way,
And ||clouds|| are the dust of his feet.
- 4 Who rebuketh the sea, and hath made it dry,
And <all the streams> hath he dried up,—
Withered' are Bashan and Carmel,
||Even the bloom of Lebanon|| is withered:
5 ||Mountains|| have trembled because of him,
And ||the hills|| have melted,—
And the earth [hath lifted itself up] at his presence,
||The world also, and all who dwell therein||.
- 6 <Before his indignation> who shall stand?
And who shall abide the glow of his anger?
||His wrath|| hath been poured forth like fire,
And ||the rocks|| have been broken down because of him.
- 7 Good' is Yahweh, as a protection<sup>c</sup> in the day of distress,—
And one who acknowledgeth them who seek refuge in him.
- 8 But <with an overflow rolling on>  will he make of them who rise up against him,<sup>d</sup>—
And <his foes> will he pursue into darkness.<sup>e</sup>

- 9 What can ye devise' against Yahweh?
<A full end> is he' making,— Distress' [shall not rise up twice]!
10 <Though they were like thorns intertwined,
And as drunkards drenched with their drink>
Yet have they been devoured, like stubble fully dry.
- 11 <Out of thee> hath one come forth—
Plotting, against Yahweh, wickedness,—
A counsellor of the Abandoned One.<sup>a</sup>

§ 2. Yahweh quiets the Fears of his People; threatens the City of Idols; and sends Good News to Judah.

- 12 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh,
<Though they be in full force,
And so' in great numbers>
Yet [even so] have they been cut off, and have passed away,—
<If I humble thee [once]>
I will not humble thee again'.
- 13 ||Now|| therefore, will I break his yoke<sup>b</sup> from off thee,—
And <thy fetters> will I tear off.
- 14 Then will Yahweh give command concerning thee,
None of thy name shall be sown any more,—
<Out of the house of thy gods> will I cut off carved<sup>c</sup> image and molten<sup>d</sup> image.
I will appoint<sup>e</sup> thy grave,
For thou art of little esteem.
- 15 Lo! <upon the mountains>
The feet of one, who bringeth Good Tidings!
who publisheth Prosperity!
Celebrate, O Judah, thy pilgrim festivals,
Fulfil thy vows,—
For <not again, any more> shall the Abandoned One [pass through thee].
He hath been wholly' cut off.

§ 3. The Siege of Nineveh vividly described.

- 2 <sup>1</sup> He that breaketh in pieces hath come up over thy face,
Keep the keeps,<sup>a</sup>—
Watch the way,
Brace the loins,
Make vigour very firm.<sup>b</sup>
- 3 For Yahweh hath restored' the excellency of Jacob, like the excellency of Israel,<sup>c</sup>—
For the plunderers have plundered' them,
And <their vine branches> have they marred.
- 4 "The shield of his heroes" is made red,
"The men of war" are clad in crimson,
<On fire> are the chariot-steels,<sup>d</sup> on the day he maketh ready,—
And "the lances" are put in motion.
- 5 <In the streets> madly go the chariots,
They rush along in the broadways,—
"Their appearance" is like torches,
<As lightnings> hither' and thither' do they run.
- 6 Let him call to mind his nobles,
They shall stumble as they go—
Let them hasten to her wall,
Yet' the storming cover<sup>e</sup> is prepared.<sup>f</sup>
- 7 "The gates of the rivers" have been opened,—
And "the palace" doth quake.<sup>h</sup>
- 8 And "Huzzab"<sup>i</sup> hath been taken captive—hath been led up,—
And "her handmaids" are making a moan like the sound of doves, as they taber<sup>k</sup> upon their heart.<sup>l</sup>
- 9 Yet <as for Nineveh> [like a reservoir of waters] are her' waters,<sup>m</sup>—
But "those men" are in flight!
Stand! stand!!
But no' one is turning.
- 10 Plunder silver, plunder gold,—
And there is no end' to the costly furnishing,<sup>n</sup>
Rich with every article<sup>o</sup> of delight.

- 10 Emptiness, yea turned to emptiness, aye deserted [is she]!
With "heart" unnerved,
And "a tottering" of knees,
And "languish" in all loins,
And "the faces of them all" have withdrawn their colour.
- 11 Where' is the lair of the lions?
Yea the very feeding-place of the young lions,—
Where' walked the lion, the lioness, the lion's whelp,
With none to make them afraid?
- 12 "The lion" used to tear in pieces enough for his whelps,
And to strangle for his lionesses,—
And then fill with prey his holes,
And his lairs' with what he had torn.
- 13 Behold me! against thee.
Declareth Yahweh of hosts,
Therefore will I burn up in smoke her chariots,<sup>a</sup>
And "thy young lions" shall be devoured by the sword,—
So will I cut off, out of the earth, thy prey,
Nor shall be heard any more, the voice of thine envoy.

§ 4. The Overthrow of Nineveh further described, and traced back to her Idolatry and Cruelty.

- 1 Alas for the city of bloodshed! 3
"All of it" deceit,
of violence' full,
none releaseth prey!
- 2 The sound of the whip,
And the sound of the rushing wheel,—
And horse' galloping,
And dancing chariot' rattling along.
- 3 Horsemen uplifting both the flashing sword,
and the lightning spear,
Aye, A mass of slain, and
A weight of dead bodies,— and
No end of corpses,
So that they<sup>b</sup> stumble upon their corpses.
- 4 <Because of the multitude of the unchaste doings of the unchaste one,
Fair' in grace, mistress' of secret arts,—
Who hath been selling
Nations by her unchaste doings,
Families by her secret arts>
- 5 Behold me! against thee.
Declareth Yahweh of hosts,
Therefore will I remove thy skirts over thy face,—
And let [nations] see' thy nakedness, and [kingdoms] thy shame;

HABAKKUK.

- <sup>1</sup> <sup>1</sup> The oracle' of which Habakkuk the prophet [had vision]:

§ 1. The Prophet's Complaint.

- <sup>2</sup> How long, O Yahweh, have I called out,
And thou wouldst not hear me?
Have I kept crying unto thee of violence,
And thou wouldst not save?

- <sup>3</sup> Wherefore'
Shouldst thou let me see iniquity,
And <wrong> shouldst let me behold,
And ||force and violence|| be straight
before me,—
And there should have ever been someone who <contention and strife> would uphold?<sup>a</sup>

<sup>a</sup> Or (following a v.r. found in some cod. [named in Mass.], cp. G.n.): "And it has ever been that <contention and strife>

I had to endure."

- 4 <For which cause> benumbed' is the law,<sup>a</sup>
And there is never' any going forth of justice,—
For [the lawless] doth circumvent the righteous,
<For which cause> justice doth go forth perverted?

§ 2. Yahweh, in Answer, announces a Chaldean Invasion.

- 4 Behold ye, among the nations, and look around,
Yea stand stock still—stare,—
For [a work] is being wrought in your days,
Ye will not<sup>b</sup> believe, when it is recounted.
6 For, behold me! raising up the Chaldeans,
The bitter and headlong nation,—
That marcheth to the breadths of the earth,
To take possession of habitations [not his].
7 <Awful and fearful> is he,—
<From himself> [his decision and his uprising] proceed.
8 Then <swifter than leopards> are his horses,
And [more sharply they attack] than evening wolves,
And forward' have leapt his chargers,—
Yea [his chargers] <from afar> will come in,
They will fly' as an eagle hath hastened to devour.
9 <Solely' for violence> will he come,
[The intent of their faces] is—To the east!<sup>c</sup>
And he hath gathered, as the sand, a captive host;
10 And [he] <over kings> will make merry,
And [nobles] will be a scorn to him:
[He] <at any fortress> will laugh,
<Once he hath heaped up dust> he hath captured it!
11 [Then] hath he become arrogant in spirit,<sup>d</sup>
And hath committed excess,
And so is guilty,—
[This his violence] is due to his god.

§ 3. The Prophet again appeals to Yahweh, since the Invader is Oppressive, Idolatrous, and Cruel.

- 12 Art not [thou] from of old, O Yahweh, my God, my Holy One?
Thou diest not!<sup>e</sup>

G.A.S.

<sup>d</sup> Or: "Then hath he swept on as the wind."

<sup>e</sup> "All the ancient records emphatically state that . . . the original reading was . . . 'Thou diest not' . . . Rashi (1040-1106) makes this the basis of his explanation"—G. Intro. p. 338. [The Sopherim changed it to: "We shall not die."]

O Yahweh, <to judgment> hast thou appointed him,
And, O Rook, <to correction> hast thou devoted him:

- 13 [Thou] whose eyes are too pure' to look with approval on wrong,
<To respect oppression> canst not endure,— Wherefore'
Shouldst thou respect the treacherous?
Be silent, when the lawless [swalloweth up] one more righteous than he?
14 So wouldst thou have made Men,
Like the fishes of the sea,—
Like the creeping thing that hath no ruler over it:
15 [All of which] <with a hook> one bringeth up,
Raketh together with his drag,
And hath gathered with his net,—
16 <On which account> he is glad and exulteth:
<On which account>
He sacrificeth to his Net,
And burneth incense to his Drag;
Because [thereby] [rich] is his portion,
and his food—fatness!
17 Shall he <on this account> empty his net?
And <the continual slaying of nations> deem to be no pity?

§ 4. The Prophet awaits a further Answer, which he obtains: in which Nations enlightened with the Knowledge of Yahweh direct a Five-fold Taunt against the Cruel Invader.

- 1 <Upon my watch-tower> will I stand, 2
And will station myself upon the bulwark,—
So will I keep outlook, to see—
What he will speak with me, and
What I shall reply, when I am reproved.
2 Then Yahweh answered' me, and said,
Write the vision,
Yea, make it plain on tablets,
That one may swiftly' read it;
3 For yet' is the vision for an appointed
time,
Still, it presseth towards an end,
And will not deceive,—
<If it tarry> wait thou for it,
For it [surely cometh],—
Will<sup>a</sup> not be too late.
4 Lo! <as for the conceited one> crooked is his soul within him,—
But [one who is righteous] [by his faithfulness] shall live.<sup>b</sup>
5 [Moreover also] <when wine' betrayeth>
[A man] is arrogant,
And findeth no rest,—
Because he hath enlarged, like hades, his desire,<sup>d</sup>

- Yea ||he|| is like death, and cannot be satisfied,—

Enigmatical sentences—concerning him?
And say—
*Alas! for him who maketh abundance in what is not his own,
How long? that he should be burdening himself with heavy debts?*
- 7 Will not thy creditors |suddenly| rise up? And they who shall violently shake thee |all at once become active|?
Then shalt thou serve for booties, unto them!
- 8 <Because ||thou|| hast plundered many nations>
All the residue of the peoples ||shall plunder thee||,—
*For shedding Human blood,
And doing violence
To the earth,*
To the city,

- 16 Thou art sated with contempt, more than glory,
Drink ||thou too|| and expose thy person,<sup>n</sup>—
The cup of the right hand of Yahweh ||shall come round unto thee||,
And ignominious filth be upon thy glory;

<Though he is overlaid with gold and silver>
Yet ||no spirit whatsoever|| is in him!*
- 20 Howbeit ||Yahweh|| is in his holy<sup>u</sup> temple,—

ZEPHANIAH.

1<sup>1</sup> The word of Yahweh which came unto Zephaniah, son of Cushi, son of Gedaliah, son of Amariah,* son of Hezekiah,<sup>b</sup>—in the days of Josiah son of Amon, king of Judah.

§ 1. A world-wide Destruction is announced, culminating on Judah and Jerusalem for their sins.

2 I will take clean away everything from off the face of the ground.

Declareth Yahweh.

3 I will take away man and beast,
I will take away the bird of the heavens and the fishes of the sea,
And the stumblingblocks, even them who are lawless,—
And will cut off mankind, from off the face of the ground.

Declareth Yahweh.

4 And I will stretch out my hand—
Over Judah, and
Over all the inhabitants of Jerusalem,—
And will cut off out of this place,
The name<sup>c</sup> of Baal,
The name<sup>d</sup> of the priestlings,* with the priests;

5 And them who bow down upon the house-tops, to the host of the heavens,—
And them who bow down—
Who swear to Yahweh,
And swear by Milcom;<sup>f</sup>

6 And them who turn away from following Yahweh,—
And have neither sought Yahweh, nor enquired for him.

7 Hush! at the presence of My Lord, Yahweh,<sup>g</sup>—
For [near] is the day of Yahweh,
For Yahweh hath prepared his<sup>h</sup> sacrifice, hath hallowed his guests.<sup>i</sup>

8 And it shall come to pass <in the day of Yahweh's sacrifice>
That I will punish
The rulers,
And the sons of the king,—
And all such as are clothed with foreign apparel;

9 And I will punish
Every one who leapeth over the threshold,* in that day,—
Those who fill the house of their lords with violence and deceit.

10 And there shall come to be, in that day,
Declareth Yahweh,
The noise of an outcry from the fish-gate,
And of a howling out of the new city,<sup>b</sup>—
And of a great crashing, from the hills.
11 Howl, ye inhabitants of the lower city,<sup>c</sup>—
Because destroyed' are all the people of traffic,
Cut off' are all they who were laden with silver.

12 And it shall come to pass, at that time,
That I will search through Jerusalem, with lamps,—
And will punish the men
Who are thickened upon their lees,
Who are saying in their heart,
Yahweh |will not give blessing|,
Neither will he bring calamity.

13 Therefore shall
Their goods become a booty, and
Their houses, a desolation,—
And they shall build houses, but not inhabit them,
And plant vineyards, but not drink the wine thereof.

14 Near' is the great day of Yahweh,
||Near, and very speedy||,—
The noise of the day of Yahweh,
A strong man—there!—|bitterly crying out|!

15 <A day of indignation>—that day!
Day of danger and distress,
Day of rush, and of crash,
Day of obscurity, and deep gloom,
Day of cloud, and thick darkness;
16 Day of horn, and war-shout,— Against the fortified cities, and Against the high towers.

O Canaan of the land of the Philistines,

Therefore will I destroy thee, to the last

The wells of shepherds. And the folds of flocks;

7 And the line shall belong to the remnant of the house of Judah.

<Thereon> shall they feed their flocks,—

8 I have heard the reproach of Moab,
And the revilings of the sons of Ammon,—

Who have reproached my people,

And have magnified themselves up to their bounds.

9 |Wherefore| <as I live>

Declareth Yahweh of hosts,

God of Israel.

Surely ||Moab|| <like Sodom> shall become,

And ||the sons of Ammon|| like Gomorrah,

A possession for the thorn,<sup>a</sup>

And a pit of salt.

Yea a desolation, unto times age-abiding:

||The remnant of my people|| shall make of

And ||the residue of my nation||<sup>b</sup> shall inherit

10 ||This|| shall they have instead of their pride,—
Because they reproached and magnified of hosts.

11 Terrible' will Yahweh be against them,

§ 1. In the second Year of King Darius, the Prophet Haggai seeks, by appealing to their Experience, to stir up the Zeal of the Returned Captives in building the House of Yahweh in Jerusalem. His Appeal is successful.

- 1 <sup>1</sup> <In the second year of Darius the king, in the sixth month, on the first of the month> came the word of Yahweh, by the hand of Haggai the prophet, unto Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, pasha of Judah, and unto Jehoshua son of Jehozadak<sup>a</sup> the high priest, saying:

<sup>2</sup> ||Thus|| speaketh Yahweh of hosts,
saying,—

||This people|| have said,
Not yet hath come<sup>c</sup> the time<sup>b</sup> for the house of Yahweh to be built.

<sup>3</sup> Therefore hath come<sup>c</sup> the word of Yahweh by the hand of Haggai the prophet, saying:

<sup>4</sup> Is it a time that ||ye yourselves|| should be dwelling in your own panelled<sup>d</sup> houses?
and ||this house|| be in ruins?

<sup>5</sup> ||Now|| therefore,

||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,—

Apply your heart unto your own experi-

<sup>6</sup> Ye have sown much, but have brought in little,

Have eaten, and not been filled,
Have drunk, and not been satisfied with drink,

Have clothed you, and none hath been

And ||he that hath hired himself out|| hath put his wages into a bag with holes.

- <sup>11</sup> And I have called for drought,
Upon the land and upon the mountains, and Upon the corn and upon the new wine and upon the oil, and

Upon that-which<sup>b</sup> the ground |bringeth
forth|,—and

Upon man, and upon beast, and Upon all the labour of the hands.

- <sup>12</sup> Then hearkened<sup>d</sup>

Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, and Jehoshua son of Jehozadak the high priest, and all the remnant of the people, unto the voice of Yahweh their God, and unto the words of Haggai the prophet, as<sup>e</sup> Yahweh their God |had sent him|,<sup>d</sup>—and the people |stood in awe| before Yahweh.

- <sup>13</sup> Then spake Haggai the messenger of Yahweh, in the message of Yahweh, to the people,
saying,—

||I|| am with you, Declareth Yahweh.

therein."

§ 2. Seven Weeks later the Prophet is sent with a second Message; and encourages the Builders with Assurances of the Present Spirit, of a future Influx of Nations, and a Grant of Prosperity.

2 <sup>1</sup> <In the seventh month, on the twenty-first of the month> came the word of Yahweh, by the hand of Haggai the prophet, saying:

<sup>2</sup> Speak, I pray thee, unto Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel pasha of Judah, and unto Jehoshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest,—and unto the remnant of the people, saying:—

<sup>3</sup> Who is there among you that is left,<sup>a</sup> that saw this house,<sup>b</sup> in its former glory?

And how do ye see it now?

Is it not <in comparison with that> as nothing, in your eyes?

<sup>4</sup> ¶Now¶ therefore—

Be strong, O Zerubbabel,

Urgeth Yahweh,

And be strong, O Jehoshua son of Jehozadak the high priest,

And be strong, all ye people of the land,

Urgeth Yahweh,

And work;

For ¶I¶ am with you,

Declareth Yahweh of hosts.

<sup>5</sup> <The very thing that I solemnised with you, when ye came forth out of the land of Egypt>

That <my spirit> abiding in your midst> ye should not fear.

<sup>6</sup> For ¶thus¶ saith Yahweh of hosts,

¶Yet once¶ [a little] it is,—

And I am shaking,

The heavens and the earth, and

The sea, and the dry land;

<sup>7</sup> And I will shake all the nations,

And the delight<sup>a</sup> of all the nations [shall come in],—

And I will fill this house with glory,

Saith Yahweh of hosts.

<sup>8</sup> Mine<sup>c</sup> is the silver and Mine<sup>c</sup> the gold,<sup>e</sup>

Declareth Yahweh of hosts:

<sup>8</sup> Greater<sup>c</sup> shall be the last glory of this house than the first,

Saith Yahweh of hosts,—

And <in this place> will I give prosperity,<sup>a</sup>

Declareth Yahweh of hosts.

§ 3. Two Months later still, Haggai is sent with a Third Message, in which an Appeal to the Ritual Law is used to enforce whole-hearted Devotion to the Work and Service of their God.

<sup>10</sup> <On the twenty-fourth of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius> came the word of Yahweh unto<sup>b</sup> Haggai the prophet, saying:

I pray you, ask the priests a direction<sup>c</sup> saying:

And then toucheth with his skirt bread or a cooked dish or wine or oil or any food>

Shall it be holy?

And the priests answered<sup>e</sup> and said,

No.

<sup>13</sup> Then said Haggai,

<If one who is defiled for a dead person touch<sup>e</sup> any of these>

Shall it be defiled?

And the priests answered<sup>e</sup> and said,

It shall be defiled.

<sup>14</sup> Then answered Haggai and said,

¶So¶ is this people and

¶So¶ is this nation before me.

Declareth Yahweh,

And ¶so¶ is every work of their hands,—

Therefore ¶whatsoever they offer there¶ is [defiled].

<sup>15</sup> ¶Now¶ therefore, I pray you apply your heart, from this day and upwards,—

<So long as there had not been laid one stone upon another in the temple of Yahweh>

<sup>16</sup> So long were things thus, that

<On coming unto a heap of twenty> then was it found to be ten,—

<On coming unto the vat to draw off fifty measures> then were there found to be twenty.

<sup>17</sup> I smote you with blight and with mildew and with hail, in all the work<sup>e</sup> of your hands,—

Yet ye did not<sup>e</sup> return unto me,

ZECHARIAH.

[PART I.—A SERIES OF DATED PROPHECIES, ALL ATTRIBUTED TO ZECHARIAH.]

§ 1. Zechariah's First Message to the Returned Exiles: a Simple Reminder that the Threatenings made to their Fathers had confessedly been Fulfilled.

- 1 <sup>1</sup> <In the eighth month, in the second year of Darius> came the word of Yahweh unto Zechariah,<sup>a</sup> son of Berechiah, son of Iddo, the prophet, saying:—

- 2 Yahweh [was sore displeased] with your fathers: <sup>3</sup> therefore shalt thou say unto
them,

[Thus] saith Yahweh of hosts,

Return ye unto me,

Urgeth Yahweh of hosts,—

That I may return unto you,

Saith Yahweh of hosts.

- 4 Do not become like your fathers, unto whom the former prophets [proclaimed]—saying,

[Thus] saith Yahweh of hosts,

Return, I pray you,

From your wicked Ways, and

From your wicked Practices;

But they heard not, nor hearkened unto me,

Declareth Yahweh.

- 5 <Your fathers> where' are they?
And <the prophets> [to times age-abiding] do they live?

- 6 Howbeit <as for my words and my statutes with which I charged my servants the prophets> did they not overtake your fathers? and so they returned and said,

<Just as Yahweh of hosts planned' to do unto us, according to our Ways, and according to our Practices>

So hath he dealt with us?

§ 2. *A Vision of Horses. (The First of a Series of Visions, all given on the Date here named;
Each with its Meaning supplied.)*

- 7 <Upon the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, [the same] is the month Shebat, in the second year of Darius> came the word of Yahweh unto Zechariah, son of Berechiah,<sup>a</sup> son of Iddo, the prophet, as followeth:<sup>b</sup> <sup>c</sup> I looked by night. And lo! a man riding upon a red horse, and he was standing among<sup>d</sup> the myrtle trees,
in the shade;<sup>d</sup> and <after him> were horses, red, bay<sup>e</sup> and white. <sup>g</sup> Then said I,
What are these, my lord?

<sup>a</sup> Heb.: berekhyah, 7; 4,
berekhyahu.

<sup>b</sup> ML: "saying." N.B.: that the vision itself is practically a word.

<sup>d</sup> So Davies' H.L. and T.G.

"Glen"—G.A.S.

And the messenger who was speaking with me
[said unto me],

<sup>10</sup> So the man who was standing among the myrtle-trees responded<sup>d</sup> and said,—

||These|| are they whom Yahweh [hath sent] to go to and fro through the earth.

<sup>11</sup> Then responded they to the messenger of Yahweh, who was standing among the myrtle-trees, and said,

We have gone to and fro through the earth,—and lo! ||all the earth|| resteth and is quiet.

<sup>12</sup> Then the messenger of Yahweh responded<sup>d</sup> and
said,

O Yahweh of hosts! How long<sup>c</sup> wilt ||thou|| not have compassion upon Jerusalem, and the cities of Judah,—against which thou hast had indignation these seventy years?<sup>b</sup>

<sup>13</sup> And Yahweh answered<sup>d</sup> the messenger who was speaking with me, in words that were pleasant, —words that were consoling.

<sup>14</sup> Then the messenger who was speaking with me [said unto me],

Proclaim thou, saying,

||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,

I am jealous for Jerusalem, and for Zion,
with a great jealousy;

<sup>15</sup> And <with a great displeasure> am I<sup>c</sup> displeased with the careless<sup>c</sup> nations,—in that <when ||I|| was displeased (for) a little> then ||they|| helped forward the calamity.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>16</sup> [Wherefore]

||Thus|| saith Yahweh,

I have returned to Jerusalem, with com-passions,

||My house|| shall be built therein,

Declareth Yahweh of hosts,

And ||a line|| shall be stretched forth over
Jerusalem.

<sup>17</sup> [Further] proclaim thou, saying,

||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,

||Yet|| shall my cities overflow<sup>c</sup> with blessing!
So will Yahweh yet<sup>c</sup> [have compassion] upon Zion,

And yet<sup>c</sup> make choice of Jerusalem.

§ 3. Four Horns and Four Craftsmen. (Second Vision—same Date.)

<sup>18</sup> Then lifted I up mine eyes, and looked,—and lo! Four Horns.

<sup>19</sup> And I said unto the messenger who was speaking with me,

What are these?

And he said unto me,

||These|| are the horns which have scattered
Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem.

<sup>20</sup> Then Yahweh shewed<sup>d</sup> me Four Craftsmen.

<sup>21</sup> And I said,

What are these coming in to do?

And he spake, saying,

||These|| are the horns which have scattered
Judah, so that no man<sup>c</sup> lifted up his head, but these [others] have [come in] to put them<sup>c</sup> in fear, to cast down the horns of the nations, the which have lifted up the horn against the land of Judah to scatter her.

§ 4. Man with Measuring Line. (Third Vision— same Date.)

<sup>1</sup> Then lifted I up mine eyes and looked, and <sup>2</sup> lo! a Man,—and <in his hand> a Measuring Line.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>3</sup> And I said,

Whither art thou going?

And he said unto me,

To measure Jerusalem, to see what [should be] the breadth thereof, and what the length thereof.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>3</sup> And lo! the messenger who was talking with me, coming forward,—and another<sup>c</sup> messenger, coming forward to meet him. <sup>4</sup> So he said unto
him,

Run, speak unto this young man, saying:

<Like open villages> shall Jerusalem remain<sup>c</sup>, for the multitude of men and cattle in her midst;

<sup>5</sup> And ||I|| will become to her,

Declareth Yahweh,

A wall of fire round about,—

And  will I become in her midst.

<sup>6</sup> Ho! ho! flee ye, therefore, out of the land of the North. Urgeth Yahweh.

For <as<sup>c</sup> the four winds of the heavens> have I spread you abroad.

Declareth Yahweh.

<sup>7</sup> Ho! Zion, deliver thyself,—thou that dwellest with the daughter of Babylon.<sup>d</sup> For

<sup>8</sup> ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,

For his own honour,<sup>e</sup> hath he sent me unto the nations that are spoiling you,—

Surely ||he that toucheth you|| toucheth the pupil of mine eye.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>9</sup> For behold me! brandishing my hand over them, and they shall become a spoil unto their own slaves.<sup>g</sup>—

And ye shall know<sup>c</sup> that ||Yahweh of hosts|| hath sent me.

<sup>10</sup> Sing out and rejoice, O daughter of Zion,— For behold me! coming in, and I will make my habitation in thy midst.

Declareth Yahweh.

<sup>b</sup> Cp. ver. 1 and chap. i. 16.

<sup>c</sup> Some cod. (w. 5 ear. pr. edns., Syr., Vul.): "by" (or prob.: "through-out")—G.n.

"glory."

<sup>f</sup> Such was "the original reading"; altered by the Sopherim to: "the apple of his eye." "It was regarded derogatory to the Deity that he shd ascribe to himself so pronounced an anthropomorphic feature"—G. Intro. p. 359.

<sup>g</sup> Some cod. (w. Sep., Syr., and Vul.): "unto them who are serving them"—G.n.

- 11 Then shall many nations |join themselves| unto Yahweh, in that day,
And shall become my' people,—
And I will make my habitation in thy midst,
So shalt thou know' that ||Yahweh of hosts||
hath sent me unto thee.
- 12 Thus will Yahweh inherit' Judah, his portion, on the soil of the sanctuary,—and make choice, yet again, of Jerusalem.
- 13 Hush! all flesh, before Yahweh,*—
For he hath roused himself up out of his holy' dwelling.

§ 5. Joshua, Typical Companions, and Seven-Eyed Stone. (Fourth Vision—same date.)

- 1 And he shewed me ||Joshua<sup>b</sup> the high priest||, standing before the messenger of Yahweh,— and ||the Accuser||<sup>c</sup> standing at his right hand, to accuse him. 2 Then said Yahweh<sup>d</sup> unto the Accuser,
Yahweh rebuke' thee, O Accuser,
Yea Yahweh rebuke' thee, he who is choosing
Jerusalem,—
Is not ||this|| a brand snatched out of the fire?

- 3 Now ||Joshua||<sup>b</sup> was clothed with filthy garments,—though standing before the messenger. 4 Then responded he and spake, unto those who were standing before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments, from off
him;
And he said unto him,
See! I have caused to pass from off thee,
thine iniquity,
And will cause thee to be clothed in robes of state.<sup>e</sup>

- 5 Then said I,<sup>f</sup>
Let them put a clean turban upon his head,—
So they put the clean turban upon his head, and clothed him with garments, and ||the messenger of Yahweh|| was standing up. 6 So then the messenger of Yahweh did solemnly affirm unto Joshua,<sup>h</sup> saying:

- 7 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,
<If <in my ways> thou wilt walk,
And if <of my charge> thou wilt keep charge>
Then ||even thou|| shalt govern<sup>g</sup> my house,
|Moreover also| thou shalt have charge of my courts,—
And I will give thee free access<sup>h</sup> among these'
who stand by.<sup>i</sup>

- 8 Hear, I pray thee, O Joshua<sup>b</sup> the high priest,

<sup>d</sup> The messenger of Yahweh (ver. 1) appears to be here (ver. 2) called "Yahweh" (! as "The word of Yahweh" in chap. i. 1, 7; and "my lord" ('adoni) chap.

i. 9.

<sup>e</sup> So O.G.

Vul.): "Then said he"
—G.n.

<sup>i</sup> Cp. Ps. ciii. 21.

||thou and thy friends who are sitting
before thee||,

For <men to serve as signs>* they are',—
For behold me! bringing in my servant, the Bud;<sup>b</sup>

- 9 For lo! ||the stone which I have set before
Joshua||
<Upon one stone> are Seven (pairs of) Eyes,<sup>c</sup>—
Behold me! cutting the engraving thereof.
Declareth Yahweh of hosts.
So will I take away the iniquity of that land in one day.<sup>d</sup>

- 10 <In that day> Declareth Yahweh of hosts, Ye shall invite one another,<sup>e</sup>—[to come] under the vine and under the figtree.<sup>f</sup>

§ 6. A Lampstand and Two Olive-trees. (Fifth Vision—same date.)

- 1 And once more' the messenger who was 4 speaking with me, roused me up, just as a man might be roused up out of his sleep. 2 Then said he unto me,
What canst thou' see?
And I<sup>g</sup> said—

I have looked, and lo! a Lampstand—all of gold, with the Bowl thereof upon the top thereof, and its Seven Lamps upon it, |Seven Pipes each|<sup>h</sup> to the lamps which are upon the top thereof; 3 and |Two
Olive-trees| by it,—one upon the right hand of the bowl, and one upon the left hand thereof.

- 4 Then responded I, and said unto the messenger who was speaking with me, saying,—
What are these, my lord?

- 5 Then answered the messenger who was speaking with me, and said unto me,
Knowest thou not, what these' |are|<sup>i</sup>?
And I said,
No, my lord.

- 6 Then responded he, and spake unto me, saying,
||This|| is the word of Yahweh, unto Zerub-babel, saying,—
Not by wealth,<sup>k</sup> nor by strength,
But by my spirit.

Saith Yahweh of hosts.

- 7 Who' art ||thou||, O great mountain?
<Before Zerubbabel> [brought down] to a plain!
So shall he bring forth the headstone, with thundering shouts! Beautiful!
Beautiful! thereunto.

<sup>a</sup> Or: "types." ML: "men

<sup>l</sup> Or: "crashings"; Job
xxxvi. 29; Is. xxii. 2.

<sup>8</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying;

And <sup>2</sup>his hands<sup>3</sup> shall finish it,—

So shalt thou know<sup>4</sup> that <sup>5</sup>Yahweh of hosts<sup>6</sup> hath sent me unto you.

Yet shall they rejoice, when they see the plummet-stone in the hand of Zerubbabel, —these seven<sup>8</sup>! <The eyes of Yahweh> they are<sup>9</sup>—running to and fro throughout all the earth.

<sup>11</sup> Then responded I, and said unto him,—

What are these<sup>10</sup> two olive-trees, upon the right of the lampstand, and upon the left thereof?

<sup>12</sup> And I responded a second time, and said unto him,—

What are the two branches of the olive-trees which join the two golden tubes, which empty out of them the golden oil?

<sup>13</sup> And he spake unto me, saying,

Knowest thou not what these are?

And I said,

No, my lord.

Then said he,

¶These<sup>11</sup> are the two Anointed Ones,<sup>12</sup>—who stand near the Lord<sup>13</sup> of all the earth.

§ 7. A Flying Volume. (Sixth Vision—same date.)

<sup>5</sup> <sup>1</sup> And once more<sup>2</sup> I lifted mine eyes, and looked, —and lo! a Flying Volume. <sup>2</sup> And he said unto me,

What canst thou<sup>3</sup> see?

So I said,

I<sup>4</sup> can see a flying volume, ¶the length thereof<sup>5</sup> twenty by the cubit, and ¶the breadth thereof<sup>6</sup> ten by the cubit.

<sup>3</sup> Then said he unto me,

¶This<sup>7</sup> is the curse, which is going forth over the face of all the earth,—

<Because ¶every one who stealeth<sup>8</sup> <on the one side> hath in one<sup>9</sup> way been let off, and ¶every one who sweareth<sup>10</sup> <on the other side> hath in another<sup>11</sup> way been let off> <sup>4</sup>[therefore] have I brought it forth. Declareth Yahweh of hosts,

And it shall enter—

Into the house of the thief, and

Into the house of him that sweareth by my name, falsely,—

And it shall roost in the midst of his house, and shall consume it,

Both the timbers thereof,

And the stones thereof.

<sup>5</sup> Then came forward, the messenger who was talking with me,—and said unto me—

Lift up, I pray thee, thine eyes, and see what this is which is coming forth.

<sup>6</sup> And I said,

What is it?

Then said he,

¶This<sup>7</sup> is an ephah<sup>8</sup> that is coming forth.

And he said,

¶This<sup>9</sup> is their iniquity,<sup>10</sup> throughout all the land.

<sup>7</sup> And lo! a leaden disc uplifted,—and here<sup>11</sup> a certain woman, sitting inside the ephah.

<sup>8</sup> Then said he,

¶This<sup>12</sup> is Lawlessness.

So he thrust her back inside the ephah,—and then thrust the leaden weight into the mouth thereof.

<sup>9</sup> Then lifted I up mine eyes and looked, and lo! Two Women coming forward, with the wind in their wings, and ¶they<sup>13</sup> had wings, like the wings of the stork,—and bare up the ephah, between the earth and the heavens.

<sup>10</sup> Then said I, unto the messenger who was speaking with me,— Whither are they<sup>14</sup> carrying the ephah?

<sup>11</sup> And he said unto me,

To build for it a house in the land of Shinar, —so shall it be ready, and they shall settle it<sup>15</sup> there, upon its own base.*

§ 9. Four Chariots with Horses of divers Colours. (Eighth Vision—same date.)

<sup>1</sup> And once again<sup>2</sup> I lifted mine eyes, and looked, and lo! ¶four chariots<sup>3</sup> coming forward from between two mountains,—now ¶the mountains<sup>4</sup> were mountains of copper.<sup>5</sup> <sup>2</sup> <In the first chariot> were red<sup>6</sup> horses,—and <in the second chariot> black<sup>7</sup> horses; <sup>3</sup> and <in the third chariot> white<sup>8</sup> horses,—and <in the fourth chariot> horses spotted, deep red. <sup>4</sup> Then began I, and said, unto the messenger who was speaking with me,—

What are these, my lord?

<sup>5</sup> And the messenger answered<sup>9</sup>, and said unto me,—

¶These<sup>10</sup> are the four winds<sup>11</sup> of the heavens, coming forward after each hath presented itself<sup>12</sup> near the Lord of all the earth.

journey to and fro in the land,* so he<sup>b</sup> said,

Go your way, journey to and fro in the land,*—

and they journeyed to and fro in the land.*

<sup>8</sup> Then made he outcry beside me, and spake unto me, saying,—

See the [these who are going forth into the land of the North] have settled my spirit<sup>c</sup> in the land of the North.

§ 10. Crowning the Priest—Pregfigurative.

<sup>9</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying :

<sup>10</sup> Take of them of the exile, of Heldai, and<sup>d</sup> of Tobiah, and of Jedaiah, —then shalt [thou thyself] enter, on that day, yea thou shalt enter the house of Josiah<sup>e</sup> son of Zephaniah, [with them] who have come in out of Babylon; <sup>11</sup> yea thou shalt take silver and gold, and make a crown,<sup>f</sup>—and set [it] upon the head of Jehoshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest; <sup>12</sup> then shalt thou speak unto him, saying,*

[Thus] speaketh Yahweh of hosts,
saying,—

Lo! a man! [Bud] is his name,

And <out of his own place> shall he bud
forth,

And shall build the temple of Yahweh;

<sup>13</sup> Yea<sup>h</sup> [he] shall build the temple of Yahweh,

And [he] shall bear the honour,

And shall sit and rule upon his throne,—

And shall become a priest upon his throne,

And [the counsel of peace] shall be between the two of them.

<sup>14</sup> But [the crown]<sup>i</sup> shall belong to Heldai<sup>k</sup> and to Tobiah and to Jedaiah, and to Hen<sup>l</sup> son of Zephaniah,—for a memorial in the temple of Yahweh.

<sup>15</sup> And [they who are afar off] shall come in, and shall build at<sup>m</sup> the temple of Yahweh, so shall ye know<sup>n</sup> that [Yahweh of hosts] hath sent me unto you,—and it shall come to pass, if ye will [indeed hearken] unto the voice of Yahweh your God<sup>n</sup>

§ 11. An Inquiry about Fasting, calls forth a Divine Protest that Formalism and Corruption had occasioned the Captivity; and a Promise of abundant Blessing, in which Gentiles should partake, provided only the needful Conditions were fulfilled: affording a Glimpse (viii. 7) of a wider Return from Exile than that from Babylon.

<sup>1</sup> And it came to pass <in the fourth year of<sup>7</sup> Darius the king> that the word of Yahweh came unto Zechariah, on the fourth of the ninth month, in Chisleu; <sup>2</sup> yea when Bethel sent Sherezer and Regemmelech, and his men,—to pacify<sup>a</sup> the face of Yahweh: <sup>3</sup> to speak unto the priests that pertained to the house of Yahweh of hosts, and unto the prophets, saying,—

Shall I weep in the fifth month, separating myself, as I have done these so many years?<sup>b</sup>

<sup>4</sup> Then came the word of Yahweh of hosts unto me, saying:

<sup>5</sup> Speak thou unto all the people of the land, and unto the priests, saying,—

<When ye fasted and lamented in the fifth and in the seventh, even<sup>c</sup> these seventy years> did ye [really fast] unto [me]?<sup>d</sup>

<sup>6</sup> And <when ye used to eat, and when ye used to drink> was it not <of your own accord> ye did eat, and <of your own accord> ye did drink?

<sup>7</sup> Should ye not [have been doing] the things which Yahweh [had proclaimed] by the hand of the former' prophets, while yet Jerusalem was inhabited and in peace, with her cities round about her,—and the South<sup>e</sup> and the Lowland<sup>f</sup> were inhabited?

<sup>8</sup> And the word of Yahweh came unto Zechariah,
saying:

<sup>9</sup> [Thus] spake Yahweh of hosts, saying,—
<With true' justice> give ye judgment, And <lovingkindness and compassions> observe ye, one with another;<sup>g</sup>

<sup>10</sup> And <the widow and the fatherless, the<sup>h</sup> sojourner and the humbled> do not ye oppress,—

And <wickedness between one man and another> do not ye devise in your hearts.

<sup>11</sup> Howbeit they refused to give heed, but put forth a rebellious' shoulder,—and <their ears> made they hard of hearing,<sup>h</sup> that they might not hear; <sup>12</sup> and <their heart> turned they into adamant, that they might not hear the law,<sup>i</sup> nor the words which Yahweh of hosts sent' by his spirit, through<sup>k</sup> the former' prophets,— and so there came great wrath from Yahweh of hosts. <sup>13</sup> Therefore came it to pass that—<Just as he cried out, and they hearkened not>

||So|| used they to cry out, and I used not to hearken.<sup>a</sup> Saith Yahweh of hosts;

- <sup>14</sup> But I whirled them<sup>b</sup> over all the nations, whom they had not known, and ||the land|| was made desolate after them, that none passed through and returned,—
 Yea they made of a delightful land—a desolation.

- <sup>8</sup> <sup>1</sup> And the word of Yahweh of hosts came, saying:<sup>c</sup>

<sup>2</sup> ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts, I am jealous for Zion with a great jealousy,— Yea <with great wrath> am I jealous for her.

<sup>3</sup> ||Thus|| saith Yahweh, I have returned unto Zion, And will make my habitation in the midst of Jerusalem,—
 And Jerusalem |shall be called|
 The city of fidelity,<sup>d</sup>
 And the mountain of Yahweh of hosts
 The mountain of holiness.

<sup>4</sup> ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts, Yet' shall old men and old women sit' in the broadways of Jerusalem,—
 Yea ||each one' with his staff in his hand' for multitude of days||:

<sup>5</sup> And ||the broadways of the city|| shall be full of boys and girls,—playing' in the broadways thereof.

<sup>6</sup> ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts, <Because it will be marvellous in the eyes of the remnant of this people, in those days>
 <In mine own eyes also> shall it be marvellous? Demandeth Yahweh of hosts.

<sup>7</sup> ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts, Behold me! saving my people
 Out of the land of the dawn,— and
 Out of the land of the going in of the sun;

<sup>8</sup> And I will bring them in, And they shall have their habitation in the midst of Jerusalem,—
 And shall become my' people,
 And ||I|| will become their' God,
 ||In faithfulness and in righteousness|.

<sup>9</sup> ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts, Let your hands be strong, ye who are hearing, in these' days, these' words,— from the mouth of the prophets who <on the day the house of Yahweh of hosts |was founded|> [foretold] that ||the temple|| should be built:—

<sup>10</sup> That <before those days> ||hire for man|| could not be obtained,
 And <hire for beast> was there none,—
 And <neither to him who went out, nor to him who came in> was there success by reason of the danger, Yea I let all men loose, each one against his neighbour.

<sup>11</sup> But ||now|| <not as in the former' days> am I' to this remnant of the people,—

Declareth Yahweh of hosts;

<sup>12</sup> For ||the seed|| shall be secure<sup>a</sup>—
 ||The vine|| shall yield her fruit, and
 ||The land|| yield her increase, and
 ||The heavens|| yield their dew,—
 And I will cause this remnant of the people to inherit' all these things.

<sup>13</sup> And it shall come to pass that—
 <Just as ye had become a curse among the nations, O house of Judah and house of Israel>

||So|| will I save you, and ye shall become a blessing,—
 Do not fear, let your hands |be strong|.

<sup>14</sup> For ||thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts, <Just as I planned to bring calamity upon you, when your fathers provoked' me,
 Saith Yahweh of hosts,—
 And I relented not>

<sup>15</sup> ||So|| have I again' planned, in these days, to do good unto Jerusalem, and unto the house of Judah,—
 Do not fear!

<sup>16</sup> ||These|| are the things which ye shall do:
 Speak ye the truth, every man with his neighbour,
 <Truth and the sentence of peace> pronounce ye in your gates;

<sup>17</sup> And let ||no man|| devise ||the injury of his neighbour|| in your heart,
 <And the oath of falsehood> do not love,—
 For ||all these|| are things which I hate,<sup>b</sup>
 Declareth Yahweh.

<sup>18</sup> And the word of Yahweh of hosts came' unto me, saying:

 ||The fast of the fourth, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the eleventh|| shall become to the house of Judah a gladness and a rejoicing, and pleasant appointed meetings,—
 But <truth and peace> see that ye love.<sup>c</sup>

 It shall yet' be that there shall come in peoples,<sup>d</sup> and the inhabitants of many cities;

<sup>a</sup> Or: "So they shall cry out and I will not hearken."

<sup>d</sup> Some cod. (w. Sep.): "many peoples"—G.n.

- 21 And the inhabitants of one' city |shall go| unto them of another' saying,
Let us be going on<sup>a</sup> to pacify the face of Yahweh,
And to seek Yahweh of hosts,—
||I also|| |will go|!
- 22 So shall enter' many peoples, and strong
nations,
To seek Yahweh of hosts in Jerusalem,—
And to pacify the face of Yahweh.
- 23 ||Thus|| saith Yahweh of hosts,
<In those days> [it shall be] that ten men out of all the tongues of the nations [shall take hold],—yea take hold of the skirt of every one that is a Jew,
saying—
We will go with you!
For we have heard [that]<sup>b</sup> ||God|| is with
you.

[PART II.—SOME UNDATED PROPHECIES, ONE OF WHICH IS IN THE NEW TESTAMENT (Mat. xxvii. 9) ATTRIBUTED TO JEREMIAH.]

§ 12. *An Oracle, in the manner of the Earlier
Prophets; in which, with dramatic suddenness, Jerusalem's King appears, secures Peace to the Nations, and attains to World-wide Dominion in which also the Prophet enacts the part of an Unsuccessful Shepherd, who is contemptuously dismissed; and in which a Worthless Shepherd is represented, who receives condign Punishment.*

- 9<sup>1</sup> The oracle of the word of Yahweh on the land of Hadrach,<sup>c</sup>
And ||Damascus|| shall be the resting-place thereof,—
For ||Yahweh|| hath an eye—
To mankind, and
To all the tribes of Israel;<sup>d</sup>
- 2 |Moreover also| ||Hamath|| adjoineth thereto,
||Tyre and Zidon||—because very wise;
3 Therefore did Tyre build' a stronghold for herself,—
And did heap up silver' like dust,
Yea gold' like the mire of the lanes.
- 4 Lo! |My Lord| shall dispossess her,
And smite, into the sea, her fortress,—
And ||she herself|| <in fire> shall be consumed.
- 5 Ashkelon |shall see| and fear,
||Gaza|| also, which shall writhe in great anguish,
||Ekron|| also, because abashed' is her expectation,—
And the king |shall perish| from Gaza,
And ||Ashkelon|| not be inhabited;<sup>e</sup>

—O.G. 239a.

<sup>b</sup> Some cod. (w. Aram., Sep., Syr., Vul. have:
"that"—G.n.

<sup>c</sup> "A district near Damascus and Hamath"—O.G.

<sup>d</sup> Cp. Jer. xxxii. 19, 20.

<sup>e</sup> Or: "have none to sit"
="to reign."

- 6 And there shall be seated<sup>a</sup> a half-breed<sup>b</sup> in Ashdod,—
So will I cut off the arrogance of the Philistines;
7 And will take away his reeking prey<sup>c</sup> out of his mouth,
And his abominations, from between his teeth,
But <he that is left> ||even he|| shall belong to our God,—
So shall he become as a chief in Judah,
And ||Ekron|| as a Jebusite!
- 8 Then will I encamp about my house—against an army, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth,<sup>d</sup>
Neither shall an exactor' |tread them down
any more|,—
For ||now|| have I seen with mine own eyes.

- 9 Exult greatly, O daughter of Zion,
Shout in triumph, O daughter of Jerusalem,
Lo! ||thy king|| cometh unto thee,
[Vindicated and victorious]<sup>e</sup> is he',— Lowly, and riding upon an ass,
Yea, upon a colt, a young' ass.<sup>f</sup>

- 10 So will he<sup>g</sup> cut off
The chariot out of Ephraim, and
The horse out of Jerusalem,
And the war-bow |shall be cut off|,
So shall he speak peace to the nations,<sup>h</sup>
And ||his dominion|| shall be from sea to sea,
And from the river [Euphrates] to the ends of the earth.<sup>i</sup>

- 11 ||As for thee also||—
<By the blood of thy covenant><sup>k</sup> have I sent forth thy prisoners out of a pit, wherein is no' water.
12 Return to the stronghold,<sup>l</sup> ye prisoners of hope,—
<Even to-day> do I declare—<Double> will I return to thee!

- 13 For I have bent for me—Judah,
<As a bow> have I grasped<sup>m</sup> Ephraim, Thus will I rouse up thy sons, O Zion, against the sons of<sup>n</sup> Greece,<sup>o</sup>
And will make thee as the sword of a mighty one.

<sup>a</sup> I.e.: as king, cp. O.G.
442. Or: "dwell."

<sup>b</sup> Or: "foreigner"—T.G.

however: "illegal sacrifices." Cp. G.A.S.

<sup>d</sup> So Fuerst, 853. But perh.:
"I will encamp near my house as a garrison, so that none pass by or return."

<sup>e</sup> Or: "saved."

<sup>f</sup> Ml.: "son of (the drove of) she-asses." Cp., for young bull: "a son of the herd."

<sup>g</sup> So it shd be (w. Sep.)—

G.n.

<sup>h</sup> Cp. Ps. xlvii. 8; xlvii. 3;
Is. ii. 4; ix. 6, 7; Ml.
v. 5.

<sup>i</sup> Or: "land." Cp. Gen.
xv. 18.

<sup>k</sup> Or: "by thy covenant, blood." Cp. Heb. xiii.
20.

supply [my hand with].

<sup>n</sup> So it shd be (w. Sep.)—
G.n.

<sup>o</sup> Cp. Dan. viii. 21; Joel
iii. 6.

- 14 But ¶Yahweh¶ <over them> will appear,
And forth shall go, as lightning, his arrow,— Yea ¶My Lord Yahweh¶<sup>a</sup> <with a horn> will blow,
And will move along in the whirlwinds of the south.
- 15 ¶Yahweh of hosts¶ will throw a covering over
them,
So shall they eat, and trample underfoot
sling-stones,
And shall drink—shall<sup>b</sup> shout as with wine,—
And shall be filled like tossing-bowls,—
Like the corners of an altar.
- 16 So will Yahweh their God [save them] on that day,
Yea <as a flock of sheep> his people,—
For [they shall be like] the jewels of a diadem<sup>c</sup> sparkling<sup>d</sup> over his land.
- 17 For how excellent it is!
Yea how beautiful!
¶Corn¶ shall make the young men' flourish,
And new wine' the maidens.
- 10 1 Ask ye from Yahweh rain, in the time of the latter rain,<sup>e</sup>
Yahweh' who causeth flashes of lightning,—
And <rain in abundant showers> giveth
he unto them,<sup>f</sup>
<To every man> herbage in the field;
2 For ¶the household gods¶ have spoken vanity,
And ¶the diviners¶ have had vision of falsehood,
And <deceitful' dreams> do they relate,
<Vainly> do they console,—
<For this reason> have they moved about like a flock,
They suffer ill, because there is no' shepherd.
- 3 <Against the shepherds> is kindled mine
anger,
And <upon the leaders of the flock><sup>g</sup> will I bring punishment,—
For Yahweh of hosts hath visited his flock,
the house of Judah,
And will make them like his noble horse<sup>h</sup> in battle:
- 4 <From him> the commander,<sup>i</sup>
<From him> the supporter,<sup>k</sup>
<From him> the war-bow,—
<From him> shall proceed every one that driveth on, together;
- 5 So shall they become like mighty ones,
trampling on the mire of lanes, in battle,
And they will fight, because ¶Yahweh¶ is with
them,—
And will abash the riders of horses.
- 6 So will I make mighty ones of the house of Judah,
And <the house of Joseph> will I save,
And will cause them to continue, because I have had compassion upon them,
So shall they be as though I had not rejected
them,—
For ¶I, Yahweh¶ will be their God, and will answer them;
- 7 And they<sup>a</sup> shall be as the mighty one of Ephraim,
And their heart [shall rejoice], as through wine,—
Yea ¶their children¶ shall see and rejoice,
Their heart [shall exult] in Yahweh.
- 8 I will signal<sup>b</sup> for them, and will gather them, because I have ransomed them,—
And they shall multiply, according as they have' multiplied;
- 9 <Though I scatter them among the peoples> Yet <in places far away> shall they remember me,—
And they shall live<sup>c</sup> with their children, and shall return;
- 10 And I will bring them back out of the land of Egypt,
And <out of Assyria> will I gather them,—
And <into the land of Gilead and Lebanon> will I bring them,
And [room] shall not be found for them:
- 11 <Though he<sup>d</sup> pass through a sea of afflic-tion><sup>e</sup>
Yet shall he smite the sea, with its waves,<sup>f</sup>
And the roaring depths of the Nile [shall appear dry],—
So shall be brought down the pride of Assyria,
And ¶the sceptre of Egypt¶ shall depart;
- 12 And I will make them mighty in Yahweh,
And [in his name] shall they march to and fro,<sup>g</sup>—
Declareth Yahweh.
- 1 Open, O Lebanon, thy doors,—
That a fire [may devour] thy cedars.
- 2 Howl, fir-tree, for fallen is the cedar,
Because [the majestic ones] are spoiled:
Howl, ye oaks of Bashan,
For the inaccessible<sup>h</sup> forest [hath come down].
- 3 The noise of the howling of the shepherds,
For spoiled' is their majesty,—
The noise of the roaring of the young lions,
For spoiled' are the proud banks of the Jordan.

<sup>a</sup> Or transfer both divine

O.G. 651<sup>b</sup>.

<sup>a</sup> A sp. v.r. (sevir): "he"
—G.n.

<sup>b</sup> ML: "hiss," or "whistle."

<sup>c</sup> Or: "revive." O.G. and others point the verb so as to make it causative:

"shall preserve alive their children"; or:
"rear up" (Syr.), "bring up" (G.A.S.).

<sup>d</sup> Sep.: "they."

<sup>e</sup> Or: "a narrow sea" (and so Sep.).

<sup>f</sup> "In the sea—the waves"
—Sep.; "the sea of breakers"—G.A.S.

<sup>g</sup> Or: "they shall walk in his name"—O.G. But
(w. a different reading):
"boast themselves"—
Sep. and Syr., G.A.S.

<sup>h</sup> So written; but read:
"vintage" ("vintage-wood"). In some cod.
(w. 2 ear. pr. edns.) both written and read: "vintage"—G.n. O.G. (133, 131) prefers what is written ("inaccessible").

<sup>4</sup> ¶Thus saith Yahweh my God,—
Tend thou the flock doomed to slaughter:<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup> Whose buyers slay them, and are not held guilty,
And whose sellers say—Blessed be Yahweh, that I am become rich,<sup>b</sup>
And so their own shepherds have no pity upon them.

<sup>6</sup> Surely I will have pity no longer upon the inhabitants of the earth.

Declareth Yahweh,—
Therefore lo! I' am delivering up mankind, Every man into the hand of his neighbour,<sup>c</sup>
and into the hand of his king,
And they will crush the earth,
Nor will I deliver out of their hand.

<sup>7</sup> So I tended the flock doomed to slaughter,<sup>a</sup> for the sheep-merchants,<sup>d</sup>—and took unto me two staves, <the one> I called Grace, and <the other> I called Union,<sup>e</sup> thus I tended the sheep. <sup>8</sup> And I sent off three shepherds, in one month,—for impatient<sup>f</sup> was my soul with them, moreover also their soul felt a loathing against me.<sup>g</sup> <sup>9</sup> Then said I—

I will not tend you,—
¶The dying may die, and
¶The disappearing may disappear, and
¶The remainder may devour one another.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>10</sup> So I took my staff Grace, and cut it in two,— that I might set aside my covenant which I had solemnised with all the peoples.<sup>h</sup> <sup>11</sup> <When it was broken, on that day> then did the sheep-merchants who were watching me [know] that <the word of Yahweh> it was'. <sup>12</sup> Then said
I unto them,

<If it be good in your eyes> give me my wage.

And <if not> forbear.

So they weighed out my wage, thirty pieces of silver. <sup>13</sup> Then said Yahweh unto me,

Cast it into the treasury,<sup>b</sup>

The magnificent price<sup>c</sup> at which I had been valued by them!<sup>d</sup>

So I took the thirty pieces of silver, and cast them, in the house of Yahweh, into the treasury.<sup>b</sup> <sup>14</sup> Then cut I in two my second<sup>e</sup> staff, even Union,<sup>f</sup>—that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel. <sup>15</sup> Then said Yahweh unto me,—

Yet further take thee the implements of a worthless shepherd.

<sup>16</sup> For lo! I' am raising up a shepherd in the land.

<The disappearing> will he not visit,

<The straying> will he not seek,

And <the fractured> will he not bind up,—
<The weak> will he not nourish,
But <the flesh of the fat> will he eat,
And <their hoofs> will he break in pieces.
<sup>17</sup> Alas! for my worthless shepherd,<sup>a</sup> who forsaketh<sup>b</sup> the flock,
A sword<sup>c</sup> upon his arm,
And upon his right eye!—
¶His arm shall be utterly withered,
And his right eye shall be wholly darkened.

§ 13. A Second Oracle, in which is foretold and portrayed a Final Siege of Jerusalem by all Nations, out of which, by the Interposition of One who had been Pierced, the City, after Extreme Peril and Suffering, shall be triumphantly delivered.

1 The oracle of the word of Yahweh, on Israel,— 12

Declareth Yahweh—

Stretching out the heavens, and Founding the earth, and Fashioning the spirit of man within
him:

<sup>2</sup> Lo! I' am making Jerusalem a bowl of reeling to all the peoples, round about,— [Moreover also] <on Judah> shall it be<sup>d</sup> in the siege against Jerusalem;

<sup>3</sup> And it shall come to pass, in that day,
That I will make Jerusalem a lifting-stone,
to all the peoples,
[All who seek to lift her] shall cut themselves in pieces,—

Though all the nations of the earth [gather themselves together against her].

<sup>4</sup> <In that day> Declareth Yahweh,
I will smite every horse with terror,
and his rider with madness,—
And <over the house of Judah> will I keep opening mine eyes,
And <every horse of the peoples> will I smite with blindness.

<sup>5</sup> Then will the chiefs of Judah say<sup>f</sup> in their hearts,—
<A strength unto me> [would be] the inhabitants of Jerusalem, in Yahweh of hosts, their God.

<sup>6</sup> <In that day> will I make the chiefs of Judah
Like a pan of fire among sticks, and
Like a torch of fire in a sheaf,
So shall they devour [on the right hand and on the left] all the peoples round about;
So shall Jerusalem yet [be inhabited] in her own place, [as Jerusalem].<sup>g</sup>

<sup>a</sup> MI.: "the flock of slaughter."

<sup>b</sup> Or read: "for he hath enriched me."

<sup>c</sup> Merely changing the vowels, the Heb. may be rendered: "his shepherd"; and so G.A.S.

<sup>d</sup> So it shd be [one word in Heb. instead of two],
and so Sep. Cp. chap.

xiv. 21—G.n.

<sup>e</sup> MI.: "binders," "bands."
<sup>f</sup> MI.: "each one the flesh of its fellow."

<sup>g</sup> Perh. = "tribes."

<sup>h</sup> So it shd be (w. Syr.)—
G.n.

<sup>i</sup> Cp. Exo. xxi. 32.

<sup>j</sup> Some cod.: "by you"—
G.n.

<sup>k</sup> See n. on ver. 7.

edns. and Sep.) read:
"for the worthless shepherds" (pl.); but others
(w. Aram., Syr., Vul.):
"Alas! for the worthless shepherd" (sing. and without "my")—G.n.
<sup>b</sup> Some cod. (w. 3 ear. pr. edns. and Sep.): "forsake" (pl.)—G.n.

<sup>c</sup> Or: "drying up"—O.G.
351 [reading horev for heres].

<sup>d</sup> Some scholars omit the
"on," so as to read:
"Judah shall be in the siege against J."—G.A.S.
Cp. ver. 5.

<sup>e</sup> Cp. O.G. 89 (I., 7, b).

- 7 But Yahweh will save the tents of Judah first,<sup>a</sup>—
Lest the honour of the house of David,
And the honour of the inhabitant<sup>b</sup> of Jerusalem,
Should be magnified over Judah.
- 8 <In that day> will Yahweh |throw a covering| around the inhabitant<sup>c</sup> of Jerusalem,
So shall the tottering among them, in that day, become like David,—
And the house of David—
Like God,
Like the messenger of Yahweh, before
them.
- 9 And it shall come to pass, in that day,—
That I will seek to destroy all the nations, that come<sup>d</sup> against Jerusalem.
- 10 But I will pour out Upon the house of David and Upon the inhabitant<sup>e</sup> of Jerusalem,
The spirit of favour, and of supplications,
And they will look unto me,<sup>f</sup> whom they have pierced,—
And will wail over him,
As one waileth over an only son,
And will make bitter outcry over him,
As one maketh bitter outcry over a first-born.
- 11 <In that day> will the wailing |be great|
in Jerusalem,
As the wailing of Hadadrimmon,<sup>g</sup> in the valley of Megiddon;
- 12 So shall the land |wail|,
Family by family, apart,—
The family of the house of David apart,
And their wives<sup>h</sup> apart,
The family of the house of Nathan apart,
And their wives<sup>h</sup> apart;
- 13 The family of the house of Levi, apart,
And their wives<sup>h</sup> apart,
The family of Shimei, apart,—
And their wives<sup>h</sup> apart:
- 14 ||All the families that remain||,
Family by family, apart,—
And their wives<sup>h</sup> apart.
- 13 <sup>1</sup> <In that day> there shall be an opened fountain,<sup>i</sup>
For the house of David, and
For the Inhabitants of Jerusalem,—
For sin and for uncleanness.

<sup>a</sup> Some cod. (w. Sep., Syr., Vul.): "as at the first."
—G.n. [But does not the reason wh. follows favour the present Heb. text?]

<sup>b</sup> Some cod. (w. 2 ear. pr. edns., Aram., Sep., Syr., Vul.): "inhabitants"
(pl.)—G.n.

(pl.)—G.n.

(pl.)—G.n.

<sup>f</sup> So the Western Massorites; the Eastern write: "unto him." In some cod., "me" is written, but "him" read; in others (w. 1 ear. pr. edn.): "him" is both written and read—G.n.

<sup>g</sup> In some cod.: "Hadadrimmon" (two words); or, "Hadad-rimmon"—G.n. Cp. 2 K. xxiii. 29; 2 Ch. xxxv. 22-24. But see O.G. p. 213.

—Driver, Intro. 351.

- 2 And it shall come to pass, in that day,
Declareth Yahweh of hosts,
That I will cut off the names of idols out of the land,
And they shall not be remembered any more,—
|Moreover also| <even the prophets and the spirit of impurity> will I cause to pass away out of the land.
- 3 So shall it come about that <when any man shall prophesy again> will I cause to pass away out of the land.
- 4 So shall it come about that <when any man shall prophesy again> then will his own father and his own mother, of whom he was born, |say unto him|—
Thou shalt not live!
For <falsehood> hast thou spoken in the name of Yahweh,—
So will his own father and his own mother of whom he was born, |pierce him through|,
when he prophesieth,
- 5 Yea it shall come to pass, in that day, that the prophets |will turn pale| every man by reason of his vision when he prophesieth,— neither will they put on<sup>a</sup> a mantle of hair to deceive.
- 6 But he will say,
<No prophet> am I,—
<One tilling the ground> am I, for ||one of the common people|| hath owned me from my youth.
- 7 Then will one say unto him,
What are these wounds between thy hands?
And he will say,
Wherewith I was wounded in the house of them who loved me.<sup>b</sup>
- 8 O Sword! awake
Against my shepherd,
Even against the man that is my companion, Urgeth Yahweh of hosts,— Smite the shepherd, and let the flock |be
scattered|,
Howbeit I will turn back my hand over the little ones.
- 9 And it shall come to pass, in all the land,
Declareth Yahweh,
||Two-thirds therein|| shall be cut off, and expire,—
But ||a third|| shall be left therein;
- 10 And I will bring the third into the fire,
And will smelt them as one smelteth
silver,
And will try them, as one trieth gold,—
||It|| will call upon my name,
And ||I|| will answer it, and will say,<sup>c</sup>
<My people> it is!
And ||it|| will say,
||Yahweh|| is my God!

- 1 Lo! ||a day|| cometh, pertaining to Yahweh,— 14 when apportioned shall be thy spoil in thy
midst;

<sup>a</sup> Some cod. (w. 4 ear. pr. edns. and Aram.) add:
"any more"—G.n.

<sup>b</sup> Cp. ver. 3.

<sup>c</sup> So it shd be (w. Sep.)—
G.n.

- <sup>2</sup> Yea I will gather together all the nations unto Jerusalem, to battle,
And the city [shall be captured],
And the houses [plundered],
And [the women] ravished,—
And half of the city [shall go forth] into exile,
But [the remainder of the people] shall not be cut off out of the city.
- <sup>3</sup> Then will Yahweh go forth, and fight against those nations,—
Just as he did<sup>a</sup> in the day when he fought,
in the day of battle;
- <sup>4</sup> Yea his feet [shall stand] in that day<sup>b</sup>, on the Mount of Olives, which is before Jerusalem on the east,
And the Mount of Olives [shall cleave asunder] from the midst thereof. Towards the east and Towards the west, An exceeding great valley,—
And half of the mountain [shall give way] toward the north, and half of it toward the south.
- <sup>5</sup> Then shall ye flee to the valley of my mountains,<sup>c</sup>
For the valley of the mountains [shall reach] very near,<sup>d</sup> Yea, ye shall flee, just as ye fled from before the earthquake,<sup>e</sup> in the days of Uzziah king of Judah,—
Then [shall arrive], Yahweh my God,
[All<sup>f</sup> thy<sup>g</sup> holy ones] with thee!<sup>h</sup>
- <sup>6</sup> And it shall come to pass, in that day,—
That there shall be no light,
[The bright stars] shall be withdrawn;<sup>i</sup>
<sup>7</sup> And it shall be a day by itself,
[The same] shall be known unto Yahweh—
Not day, Nor night,—
But it shall come to pass, that <at evening time> there shall be light.
- <sup>8</sup> And it shall come to pass, in that day,
That there shall go forth living waters, out of Jerusalem,
Half of them unto the sea before, and
Half of them unto the sea behind, <In summer and in winter> shall it be.
- <sup>9</sup> So will Yahweh<sup>j</sup> become king<sup>k</sup>, over all the earth,<sup>l</sup>—
<In that day> Shall there be one Yahweh,
And [his Name] be one.

- <sup>10</sup> All the land shall turn<sup>a</sup> into<sup>b</sup> a plain,<sup>b</sup> From Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem,—
And shall lift herself on high and abide in her own place,
From the gate of Benjamin up to the place of the first<sup>c</sup> gate, up to the corner gate,
And from the tower of Hananeel up to the wine-presses of the king.
- <sup>11</sup> So shall men dwell therein,
And [utter destruction]<sup>d</sup> shall not be any more,—
But Jerusalem [shall abide] in security.
- <sup>12</sup> And [this] shall be the plague, wherewith Yahweh will plague<sup>e</sup> all the peoples, who have made war against Jerusalem,— His flesh [shall be made to rot] while he is standing upon his feet,
And [his eyes] shall rot in their sockets,
And [his tongue] shall rot in their mouth;
<sup>13</sup> And it shall come to pass, in that day,
That there shall be a great confusion from Yahweh among them,—
And they will lay hold every one upon the hand of his neighbour,
And his hand [will rise up] against the hand of his neighbour;
- <sup>14</sup> [Moreover also] [Judah] will fight with Jerusalem,—
And the wealth of all the nations round about [shall be gathered together], Gold and silver and apparel, in great abundance.
- <sup>15</sup> And [so] shall be the plague of the horse,
the mule, the camel, and the ass, and all the beasts<sup>f</sup> which shall be in those camps, —
Like<sup>g</sup> this plague!
- <sup>16</sup> And it shall come to pass, that <as for every one that is left, out of all the nations that came against Jerusalem>
That they shall come up, from year to year,
To bow down to the king, Yahweh of
hosts,
And to celebrate the festival of booths.
- <sup>17</sup> And it shall come to pass that—[Whoso shall not come up, out of the families of the earth, unto Jerusalem, to bow down to the king, Yahweh of
hosts],—
There shall not, on them<sup>h</sup>, be any rain.
- <sup>18</sup> And <if the family of Egypt shall not come up, and shall not enter in, upon whom there falleth none>
Then shall smite them the plague wherewith Yahweh [did plague] the<sup>i</sup> nations,<sup>j</sup> because they came not up to celebrate the festival of booths.

M A L A C H I.

§ 1. Yahweh declares his Love for Jacob, and his Disapprobation of Esau—each considered as a People.

1 <sup>1</sup> The oracle of the word of Yahweh, unto Israel,—by the hand of Malachi.

2 I have loved you, Saith Yahweh,
And yet ye say,
Wherein hast thou loved us?
Is not Esau *¶*brother¶ to Jacob?
Enquireth Yahweh,

Yet have I loved Jacob,
3 And <Esau> have I hated,—
And made his mountains a desolation,
And his inheritance [a dwelling] for the jackals of the wilderness.

4 <Whereas Edom [may say],
We are laid waste, but we will again' build the desolate places>

*¶*Thus¶ saith Yahweh of hosts,
*¶*They¶ may build,
But *¶*I¶ will pull down,—
And men shall call them,
The Boundary* of Lawlessness, and
The people with whom Yahweh hath indignation unto times age-abiding;

5 And *¶*your own eyes¶ shall see,—
And *¶*ye yourselves¶ shall say, Yahweh [be magnified] beyond the boundary of Israel.

§ 2. *A Divine Complaint against the People, and especially the Priests, for Disgraceful Negligence and Dishonesty in the Temple Worship:
enforced by reference to the hopeful Attitude of Gentile Nations and to the Covenant with Levi.*

6 *¶*A son¶ will honour a father,
And *¶*a servant¶ his lord,—
<If then *¶*a father¶ I am¶> where' is mine honour?

* Or: "territory."

And <if *¶*a lord¶ I am¶> where is my reverence? Saith Yahweh of hosts—

To you, ye priests, who despise my Name, and yet say,
Wherein have we despised thy Name?

7 In bringing near upon mine altar, polluted food, while yet ye say,
Wherein have we polluted thee?

Because ye say,
<As for the table of Yahweh> *¶*a thing to be despised¶ it is';

8 And when ye bring near the blind as a sacrifice, [saying]—
No harm!<sup>a</sup>

Or when ye bring near the lame or the sick,
[saying]—
No harm!<sup>a</sup>

Offer it, I pray you, unto thy pasha,
Will he accept thee?
Or lift up thy countenance?

Saith Yahweh of hosts.

9 *¶*Now¶ therefore, pacify, I pray you, the face of God, that he may grant us favour,— <At your hands> hath this come to pass,<sup>b</sup>

Will he lift up the countenances [of any of you]? Saith Yahweh of hosts.

10 Who is there *¶*even among you¶ that will shut the doors, so as not to set light to mine altar, for nothing?<sup>c</sup>

I can take no' pleasure in you,
Saith Yahweh of hosts,
And <your present> can I not accept at your hand.

11 For <from the rising of the sun, even unto the going in thereof> great' is my Name, among the nations, and <in every place>
*¶*incense¶ is offered to my Name, and a pure present,—for great' is my Name among the nations, Saith Yahweh of hosts.

<sup>a</sup> Or: "nothing' wrong!"

fallen you"—G.n.

<sup>b</sup> Some cod.: "At your own hands hath this be-

<sup>c</sup> Or: "to no purpose."

- 12 But ye' are profaning me,<sup>a</sup>—in that ye say, <As for the table of the Lord><sup>b</sup> polluted
 it is',
 And <as for his produce> contemptible' is his food.
- 13 And ye have said,
 Lo! what a weariness!
 And ye have snuffed at Me.<sup>c</sup>
 Saith Yahweh of hosts,
 And have brought in the torn and the lame and the sick, thus have ye brought the present,—
 Could I accept it' at your hand?
 Saith Yahweh.<sup>d</sup>
- 14 But accursed' is he that defraudeth,
 Who <when there is' in his flock a male> yet voweth and sacrificeth a corrupt thing to the Lord,<sup>e</sup>
 For [a great king] am I'.
 Saith Yahweh of hosts,
 And [my Name] is revered among the nations.
- 2 <sup>1</sup> [Now] therefore, <for you> is this charge,
 O ye priests:—
<sup>2</sup> <If ye will not hear, and if ye will not lay it to heart, to give glory to my Name,
 Saith Yahweh of hosts> then will I send among you the curse, and will curse your blessings,—and indeed' I have' cursed them, because ye are not at all laying it to heart.
- <sup>3</sup> Behold me! threatening, on your account, the seed, and I will scatter refuse<sup>f</sup> upon your faces, the refuse<sup>f</sup> of your festivals,—and one shall carry you away unto it;
- <sup>4</sup> So shall ye know' that I sent unto you this charge,—as being my covenant with Levi,
 Saith Yahweh of hosts.
- <sup>5</sup> [My covenant] was with him, Life and Well-being,
 So I gave them to him—[I] as One to be revered—
 And he did' revere me,—
 And <before my Name> [dismayed] was he'.
- <sup>6</sup> [The deliverance<sup>g</sup> of truth] was in his mouth,
 And [perverseness] was not found in his lips,—
 <In well-doing and in uprightness><sup>h</sup> walked he with me,
 And <multitudes> did he turn from iniquity.

<sup>a</sup> So it was originally (cp. Eze. xiii. 19), but (according to the St. Petersburg Codex) was changed as in the next verse—G. Intro. 362, 363. In some cod.: "me" is both written and read—G.n.

<sup>c</sup> "All the ancient authorities emphatically declare that the original reading here was 'me,' and that the Sopherim altered it into 'it,' because 'me' was regarded derogatory to the Lord"—G. Intro. 359. In some cod.: "me" is both written and read—G.n.

<sup>i</sup> Or: "equity."

- 7 For [the lips of a priest] should keep knowledge,
 And  should men seek at his mouth,—
 For <the messenger of Yahweh of hosts> he is'.
- 8 But [ye] have departed out of the way,
 Ye have caused multitudes to stumble' at the deliverance,—
 Ye have violated the covenant of Levi,
 Saith Yahweh of hosts.
- 9 Therefore [I also] will suffer you to be despised and of no account, unto all the people,<sup>a</sup>—
 In proportion as none of you have been keeping my ways,
 But have had respect to persons, in giving your deliverance.<sup>b</sup>

§ 3. The People charged with Unfaithfulness to their Matrimonial Obligations, and with affirming Wrong to be Right.

- 10 Is there not [one Father] to us all'?
 Did not [one GOD] create us?
 Wherefore should we deal treacherously one with another,<sup>c</sup> profaning the covenant of our fathers?
- 11 Judah [hath dealt treacherously],
 And [an abomination] hath been wrought in Israel and in Jerusalem,—
 For Judah [had profaned] the holy place of Yahweh, which he had loved, and hath taken to himself<sup>d</sup> the daughter of a foreign GOD.
- 12 May Yahweh [cut off], from the man that doeth it—him that crieth out and him that answereth,<sup>e</sup> out of the tents of Jacob,— Him also that bringeth near a present to Yahweh of hosts.
- 13 And <this, a second time> will ye do, covering, with tears, the altar of Yahweh, weeping and making outcry,—because he will not again' turn unto the gift, and receive [it] with acceptance, at your hands?
- 14 Yet ye say,
 For what cause?
 Because [Yahweh] hath been witness between thee and the wife of thy youth, with whom [thou] hast dealt treacherously, though [she] was thy consort,<sup>f</sup> and thy covenant' wife.
- 15 Now was it not [One] [who] made [you] who had [the residue of the spirit]?

<sup>e</sup> "taken into his ownership," "married."

<sup>f</sup> = "watcher and waker,"

i.e., watcher who crieth out, and slumberer who

(when so roused)

answereth, whether in the temple or on the city walls. Or != "plaintiff and respondent."

<sup>g</sup> Or: "mate."

What, then, of that One?

He was seeking a godly<sup>a</sup> seed.<sup>b</sup>

Therefore should ye take heed to your spirit, and <with the wife of thy youth> do not thou<sup>c</sup> deal treacherously.

16 For he hateth Divorce,

Saith Yahweh, God of Israel, Him also who covereth with violence his own clothing,<sup>d</sup>

Saith Yahweh of hosts,—
Therefore should ye take heed to your spirit, and not deal treacherously.

17 Ye have wearied Yahweh with your words,
and yet ye say,

Wherein<sup>e</sup> have we been wearisome?

3<sup>1</sup> Behold me! sending my messenger,

Who will prepare a way before me,—

And ||suddenly|| shall come to his temple

The Lord<sup>h</sup> whom ye<sup>i</sup> are seeking.

Even the messenger of the covenant in whom ye<sup>j</sup> are delighting.

Lo! he cometh! Saith Yahweh of hosts.

2 But who<sup>k</sup> may endure the day of his coming?

And who<sup>l</sup> is he that can stand<sup>m</sup> when he appeareth?

For he<sup>n</sup> is like a refiner's fire,

And like fullers' alkali;

3 Therefore will he sit as a refiner and purifier of silver,

And will purify the sons of Levi.

And will smelt them, as gold and as
silver;

So shall they belong to Yahweh,

Offering a gift in righteousness.

4 Then shall the gift of Judah and Jerusalem
|be pleasant to Yahweh|,—

As in the days of age-past times,

And as in the ancient years.

5 Therefore will I draw near unto you for judgment,

And will become a swift witness<sup>a</sup>

Against the mutterers of incantations, and Against the adulterers, and Against them that swear<sup>b</sup> to a false-

Against them who rob the hire of the

And that drive away the sojourner,

And do not revere me,

Saith Yahweh of hosts.

Saith Yahweh of hosts.

And yet ye say,

Nevertheless |ye| have been defrauding
me,

And yet ye say,

Wherein<sup>e</sup> have we defrauded thee?

In the tithe and the offering.

10 Bring ye all the tithe into the store-

Yea, I pray you, put me to the proof hereby,
Saith Yahweh of hosts,

whether I will not open to you the sluices of the heavens, and pour out for you blessing, until there be no room.

11 Then will I rebuke, for you, the devourer, that he spoil not, for you, the fruit of the

Neither shall the vine in the field |be barren

Saith Yahweh of hosts.

12 So shall all the nations |pronounce you

SPECIAL NOTE

ON

THE APOCRYPHA.

---

It was once customary to bind up the Apocrypha between the authorised versions of the Old and New Testaments. This has now ceased, and as a consequence this curious, interesting, and instructive part of Jewish literature is now known only to scholars. Under these circumstances, the following account of the Apocrypha, condensed from Hastings' "Dictionary of the Bible" (T. & T. Clark), may be found useful.

The word "Apocrypha" is applied by English-speaking Protestants to the following collection of books and parts of books:—I. Esdras, II. Esdras, Tobit, Judith, Additions to Esther, The Wisdom of Solomon, The Wisdom of Sirach or Ecclesiasticus, Baruch (chap. vi., Epistle of Jeremý), The Song of the Three Holy Children, The History of Susannah, The History of the Destruction of Bel and the Dragon (ix., x., and xi. are Additions to the Book of Daniel), The Prayer of Manasses, I. Maccabees, II. Maccabees. The collection consists of the excess of the Latin Vulgate over the Hebrew Old Testament; and this excess is due to the Greek LXX. ["Sep.,"], from which the old Latin Version was made. The difference between the Protestant and Roman Catholic Old Testament goes back, then, to a difference between Palestinian and Alexandrian Jews.

The word "Apocrypha," meaning "hidden," was no doubt first applied to books in a quite literal sense—of books kept from the public. The hiding of a book was easy when copies were few. It might be done on two opposite grounds—to keep from outsiders secret laws or wisdom, or because the contents were judged to be useless or harmful. Official Judaism rejected these hidden books, and declared for the exclusive recognition of the twenty-four books of the Canon. The Catholic Church decided that the Apocrypha were not to be regarded as sacred Scriptures, since publicity and universality were marks of genuineness and truth. Protestantism went over to the Jewish usage, applying the words to the books withdrawn by it from the commonly accepted Canon, though this no longer meant withdrawn from public reading and common use, but only from full authority for doctrine—not disapproved, but recommended as good and useful, not secret or hidden in origin, meaning or use. The evil name, however, helped to lower the first estimate of the books.

In the Eastern Church clearness and consistency have never been reached. In the Latin Church there was an inclination to let Christian usage, rather than scholarly theory, determine the place of the Apocrypha in the Canon. Jerome strongly pressed the sole validity of the Hebrew Canon, but nevertheless gave these books an intermediate position. Augustine stands for the Catholic principle as determining the Canon, but reveals a growing sense of the secondary authority or security of the Apocrypha. Carlstadt vindicates Jerome's position. Luther wavers, but in his Bible (completed 1534) the Apocrypha stands between O. T. and N. T., with the title: "A., that is books which are not held equal to the sacred Scriptures, and nevertheless are useful and good to read." Calvin reaffirms Jerome's view. It was not until 1827, after two years' sharp dispute, that the British and Foreign Bible Society decided to exclude the Apocrypha from all its publications of the Bible. Within the Church of England the number of readings has been, at a comparatively recent date, reduced. In the Revision of Luther's Bible (1892) the Apocrypha still stands, with Luther's title. The modern historical interest is putting these writings in their true place as significant documents of a most important era in religious history.

APPENDIX.

DEUTERONOMY, AUTHORSHIP OF

At first sight it might seem as though the translator of THE EMPHASISED BIBLE had no need to trouble himself about the authorship of the Book of Deuteronomy. There it is: simply translate it, and leave all such questions to commentators and the higher critics. Even had this self-excusing policy prevailed, however, that would not have obliterated the impression naturally received in the process of rendering the book. It is true that the remanding of that impression into silence might have entailed no loss to the world. But there was another reason for offering an opinion, which was this. The design of this Bible—to give effect, among other things, to the interesting distinction between “narrative and speech”—made it imperative to take a definite attitude as to the literary question involved in this discussion. That is to say, it demanded of the translator not only an exercise of his own judgment as to what portions of the book of Deuteronomy were probably editorial, so that he might differentiate them in the margin, setting fully out to the left hand of the column portions that were not “speech”; but the very fact of doing this was sure to draw the inquisitive reader into the problem, by provoking the obvious question why some parts of Deuteronomy are marginally distinguished from other parts; why, for example, chaps. i. 1-5; ii. 10-12, 20-23; iii. 11, 13-14; iv. 41-43, 44-49, are thus separated from their contexts. It seemed better, therefore, to take the reader into confidence; and, first, by a few notes subjoined to the book itself, as at chaps. iv. 13; vi. 5; vii. 17; viii. 2, &c., and then by the present connected statement, to employ the book of Deuteronomy as a very elementary object-lesson, offered once for all, in that legitimate higher criticism which no honest man of reverent judgment needs fear to study.

The purpose thus defined may perhaps be most effectively attained by first presenting, substantially as it was written, a paper which appeared in a weekly magazine two years ago, and by then submitting such further observations as may appear to be called for.

In this book we hear the voice of “the old man eloquent.” As an author, there may be more or less of Moses the man of God in the books of Exodus, Leviticus, and Numbers; but here we come within the sound of his living voice, and listen to his impassioned pleadings with Israel. No later writer could have so completely entered into the situation. Moses himself, as revealed in the foregoing history, now stands before us. We perceive in the Speaker, the teachings of the past, the realisation of the present, the fears for the future,—revealing themselves in a manner perfectly inimitable. Such, at least, was the impression made on the mind of the translator when some years ago he wrote out his rendering of the book.

This impression was decidedly deepened when, later on, he carefully revised his translation. It is true that his previous conviction became slightly qualified, yet only in such wise as to strengthen the conclusion to which he had previously come. The more one became familiar with the mannerisms of the speaker's living voice, the more evident it was that here and there editorial annotations had been subsequently added. The rush and passion and vehement urgency that we feel as we hearken to Moses' voice are not easily to be reconciled with the deliberate presentation of antiquarian notes, as to the former dwellers in Edom and the other lands through which Israel had passed; far less with the measurements and present location of the bedstead of Og, king of Bashan. Granted here and there an editorial addition, and these things easily fall into their place. They do but momentarily interrupt the flowing periods of the living Moses; but assuredly they formed no part of the original spoken discourse. They enrich the book as we have it, but they would have marred the discourses as actually delivered by a man shortly to die.—This then is the modification to which the translator's first persuasion readily submitted itself.

But now, after a third survey of the book of Deuteronomy, how does the question of Authorship present itself? Briefly, as follows: That a little further extension of the supposed editorship goes a long way towards placing the first main impression upon an immovable basis. Not antiquarian notes alone betray editorship; but historical introductions, and at least one historical appendix. The historical appendix is, of course, seen and known of all men. Moses certainly did not record his own death and burial; and only a considerably later hand could have finally told how much greater Moses was than any who came after him. The historical introductions—of which there are principally two—are worthy of further attention. There is nothing to show that those introductions may not have been written by Joshua, Eleazar or Phineas, or some other contemporary of the great Prophet, within a few years of his death. The introductions referred to are, first, a general one to the whole book (chap. i. 1-5); and, second, an introduction to Moses' account of the “ten words” given on Horeb (chap. iv. 41-v. 1). In both of these are found tokens of editorship which challenge our confidence, inasmuch as, in them, two distinct lines of evidence are seen converging to the conclusion that these portions are editorial. The first line consists in this—that, when the Editor writes, he refers to Moses in the third person: “Moses” said or did this or that; whereas when Moses himself speaks, he naturally alludes to himself as “I” or “me”; to Israel, including himself, as “we” or “us”; directly addressing his hearers as “ye” or “you.” This of itself is clear enough as marking a distinction between the principal spoken addresses and any editorial supplements. Singularly enough, the line thus drawn is confirmed by the simple word “over” in relation to the river Jordan. Moses we know did not enter “the good land”; Joshua and others did. To him, “over the Jordan” meant to the west; to them, after they had entered, “over the Jordan” meant to the east, or, as the Editor of Moses is accustomed to add, “towards the rising of the sun.” Now the persuasive coincidence is just this: That in those portions where we presume the Editor is writing because he refers to Moses in the third person,—in them we find that “over the Jordan” means to the east; on the other hand, where we feel sure that Moses himself is speaking, by the clear sign that he says “I,” “we,” “ye,” “you,”—in those very portions “over the Jordan” means to the west. There is but one exception, and that occurs in chap. iii. 8 in the midst of a sentence which by the usual token was spoken by Moses; whereas the phrase “over the Jordan” which occurs in that sentence must mean eastward, as the locality spoken of conclusively shows. The difficulty is at once removed by the very easy hypothesis that that particular clause in the sentence was added as an editorial explanation. Then all is plain, and the exception proves the rule; which rule being a second one, and coinciding with a first entirely independent of it, generates an amount of confidence not easily shaken.

But the evidence of the Mosaic authorship of the speeches—of which, be it noted, the book of Deuteronomy is mainly composed—springs from something more subtle and more conclusive than the aforesaid converging lines of evidence, however satisfactory in themselves those lines may be. It springs from the manner in which the speaker enters into the entire situation, leading us to exclaim, None but Moses could have done it! Coupled with this, and constituting an especial form of it, is the profound emotionalism—in a word, the psychology which pervades the book, prompting us to say, None but Moses could have felt all this!

What, then, was the situation into which the speaker so completely enters? It was a situation created by time, place, event, and personality; and, naturally, owing to the concurrence of these causes, a situation that had never existed before and could never exist again. The time was after the forty years' wanderings, after the conquest of Sihon, king of Heshbon, and Og, king of Bashan; and just before the passage of the Jordan into Canaan: a momentous time, crowded with memories, throbbing with exciting expectations. The place was the Arabah of Moab, near the Jordan, over against Jericho, the centre of the whole east of Canaan, along which the people had skirted or into which they had penetrated—a place, therefore, which invited them to cross, to enter, to possess, without more delay. And what unique events had already happened: the sullen acquiescence in Israel's transit by Edom, Moab and Ammon, at the terrible cost of the slain over the matter of Baal-peor with which the names of Balak and Balaam are dishonourably associated; the unexpected conquest of the magnificent lands of Gilead and Bashan, with all the stir of war whetting the swords of Israel's warriors with keen eagerness for the great invasion. Then, finally, look at the personalities which enter into the situation: Caleb is there, and Joshua, both of whom knew personally something, still vivid in their memories, which, as spies, they had seen—of the inhabitants and cities and products of the land; and there are Eleazar and Phineas, son and grandson of Aaron, Moses' brother; there, also, the generation whose memories, many of them, reached back to the early days of the wanderings, who had seen that great and terrible desert, who had skirted Edom and Moab and Ammon, and penetrated Gilead and Bashan, many of whom had lost near relatives in the fearful revolt of Baal-peor; and towering above them all was the commanding personality of Moses himself. Now the contention here submitted is, that the speaker of those discourses, which constitute the chief portion of the book of Deuteronomy, so completely enters into the situation created by the time, the place, the events, and the personalities, that he could be no other than Moses himself. Only the man who lived then, and stood there, who had passed through those stirring events, who knew and confronted that generation, could possibly speak in the strain that here greets our eyes.

For note, finally, the marked psychology of this book. What a profound emotionalism the speaker displays! All the forms of speech that betoken depth of feeling are present here—repetitions, as if the speaker could not make sure enough of having effected his purpose; digressions, caused by vivid memories crowding in upon him while he was speaking; appeals, remonstrances, recriminations, which none but Moses could have dared; and, especially confessions of disappointment and regret—so keen, so bitter, as if his heart would break—that he might not himself enter into the good land. Note well, also, the extremes that meet, and are melted into a living whole, by the intense feeling with which the speaker is borne along: "What nation so great!" "Oh foolish people and unwise!" Note also the labour—the travail—for the people's well-being into which his passionate love urges him. He speaks, and speaks; he must surely have spoken from day to day! When he has done speaking, then he writes, and writes on: adding perhaps a little, towards the end, which he had not actually spoken, but in penning which he feels as if he were still speaking. And when he has written all—the law, all his repetition of the law, all his own recollections about the giving of the law, including perhaps variations (most natural in one who spoke and wrote from memory, but very unlikely to have been indulged in by anyone else), when he has done all this, then, is there anything else he can do, any further stone he can turn, to stem and stay his people's apostasy? Yes, there is one thing he can do. He can resolve his passion into song—a song for the tongue, for the ear, for the memory; a song to live among the people, to be recited in their gatherings, to be accompanied by the harp. He has harangued them, he has warned them; now he will bewitch them. Thus is born his Witnessing Song (chap. xxxii.). This is not the place to analyse that marvellous composition. Read it; get into sympathy with it. Against the doubt whether Moses could have composed it, let it be enough to say, Could anyone else have composed it? With regard to the Song of "Blessing" which stands in the next chapter (chap. xxxiii.), the case in many ways is very different. Instead of seeming to grow out of the speeches which have gone before, it is couched in a totally opposite strain. It is blessing only—admiration only—felicitation only. What then? Shall we contradict Moses' editor, who records that "This is the blessing wherewith Moses the man of God blessed the sons of Israel before his death"? There is no need! One of two suppositions is open to us, both of which are perfectly rational, either of which would naturally account for the altered mood of the prophet-poet. We may conceive of the "Blessing" as in the main composed long years before these parting scenes, though only now publicly produced. Or we may form another hypothesis: we may conclude that the mind of Moses passed into a serene atmosphere after the excitement and strain of the admonitory speeches and song were over—that his fears having found adequate expression, the man of God rested in the consciousness that he had done his duty; knowing, moreover, that, after all, there was hope in the end for Israel, how many soever her sins would be, how terrible soever the sufferings must be which should follow those sins (chap. xxxii. 43),—knowing this, his profound love for his people, his unshaken confidence in their destiny, stirred and guided by divine afflatus, now moved him to exhortate his most glowing idealisations of Israel's unique position, and to cast his thoughts into the form of a most lovely and loving song. And so, having prepared and pronounced his "Paradise Regained," he is parted from the beloved tribes—almost literally—with a "blessing" on his lips.

We have assumed that Moses was a poet. Why not? He was an Oriental—he was an educated man—he had been in love—he had enjoyed forty years of learned leisure in Midian. What wonder if the soul of a poet had been awakened within him, and the stylus of a poet had been trained to commit to papyrus or to parchment the musical numbers with which he had beguiled many a waiting hour during his banishment from his land and his people!

And even in this second song there are, if we mistake not, internal evidences of no small force that no one was ever so fitted to write it as Moses himself. If we wished to cite an example, we would say: The opening lines (chap. xxxiii. 2) descriptive of the Divine Appearing, when Yahweh came forth to meet Israel; Moses going forth at the head of his people, Yahweh advancing to meet them in a pillar of light and fire. Can we think of any human imagination so likely to have been profoundly and permanently impressed by that Theophany as that of Moses himself? What surprise if, before he died, he perpetuated his recollections in one of the most magnificent poems ever written!

In fine: the book of Deuteronomy must have had an author. Making reasonable allowances for editorial preservation and annotation, no man comes before us out of all the centuries of Hebrew history so fitted to be, so likely to have been, that author as Moses, the man of God, the leader of Israel out of Egypt to the confines of the promised land.

Such is the paper as it originally appeared in print. There is little to add. Since it was written some attention has been given to what the critics who treat of the Literature of the Old Testament have to say,—without changing the general persuasion of the present writer. It is still conceived that, full allowance being made for the necessary editing of the Sacred Books, it is needless to disturb the internal claim to Authorship where, as in this case, it is plainly made in the writing itself, and where that claim is seen to rest on broad and general grounds of inherent probability. It is, of course, undesirable to get involved in technicalities. It matters little whether the term "author" is applied to Moses or to his Editors, provided it is well understood what is intended. The one weighty question is whether the great Lawgiver did actually deliver the substance of what is here put into his mouth, and whether his speeches have been honestly and competently edited for the purpose, and during the process, of being handed down to us.

ESCAPE GOAT, THE—(FOR AZAZEL).

"AND one lot for Azazel" (Lev. xvi. 8).—It seems impossible to dissent from the opinion that "Azazel," instead of being a name for the (escape) goat, is the name or title of an evil Being, opposed to Yahweh, to whom the live goat on the great Day of Propitiation was sent. Admitting so much, it still remains to inquire into the meaning of this very peculiar but impressive ceremony of sending the living goat to Azazel. Assuming that Satan is represented by Azazel—and there does not appear anything else which biblically we can assume—it is most important to observe that there is here no sacrifice offered to the evil spirit. The second goat is not slain, but in marked contrast to its fellow is preserved alive, and remains the living goat to the end. It is true it is led away to or towards the desert, and goes thither bearing the sins of the people which have been symbolically laid upon its head. But it has been too much overlooked, that it carries into the desert something else besides the sins of the congregation. It bears the death of its companion, which has been just as truly put upon it as have the sins of the people (ver. 10). The death thus put upon it was the death of the people's sin-bearer. Therefore, the only sin it bears into the desert is atoned-for sin—in for which death has already been exacted. And, unless we stuffy the whole transaction of that solemn day, we must admit that, if the sins resting upon the live goat proclaimed to Azazel, "Slay me if thou canst," the death of its fellow, which covered it, as loudly cried, "Slay me if thou durst! I claim to live! I have already died in my companion whose death is accounted mine!" In point of fact, no hint is given of any harm befalling the goat that was dismissed; and despite the romance of the book of Enoch, preceded or followed by Jewish tradition, to the effect that the goat was precipitated from steep rocks and so killed, it is far more respectful to the Levitical appointment to stop where it closes than to add a sequel which mars the whole symbolical transaction. As well imagine an untimely end to the living bird dipped in the blood of its fellow and then let go free (chap. xiv. 33) as to pursue the escaped goat with any such morbid imagination. That it was taken, by the man appointed, into a lone land is excellent symbolism; and may well have pictured the dismissal of the past year's offences into the land of forgetfulness—into utter oblivion. Instead of fancying anything further, rather let common sense suggest that the released goat could (just as well as its conductor) find its way back to the haunts of men, to be indistinguishably lost in the crowd of its natural congeners. Delivered once and for all from this mistaken dream, and reverting once more to Azazel, it is enough to say that this particular feature, instead of suggesting any sacrifice to Satan, much rather amounts to a triumphant defiance of "him that held the dominion of death, that is, the Adversary" (Heb. ii. 14); all the more so when the trend of such passages as Isa. i. 8, Rom. viii. 33, 34, and Rev. xii. 10, 11, is patiently considered.—From the above it may rightly be inferred that the meaning of 'azazel given in O.G. ("entire removal") is regarded by the present translator as unsatisfactory.

PHARAOH'S HEART, THE HARDENING OF.

In his commentary on this place (Exo. iv. 21) Kalisch says: "As the external, often accidental, occasion of an event is mostly more obvious, even to the reflecting mind, than its primary cause or its true (often hidden) originator, it has become a linguistic peculiarity in most ancient, especially the Semitic, languages, to use indiscriminately the former instead of the latter, so that the phrase, 'I shall harden the heart of Pharaoh' means: 'I know that I shall be the cause of Pharaoh's obstinacy; my commands and wonders will be an occasion, an inducement to an increasing obduracy of his heart.' And the compassionate leniency of God, who, instead of crushing the haughtiness of the refractory king with one powerful blow, first tried to reform him by various less awful punishments, and who generally announced the time of the occurrence of the plagues by the words, 'Behold, I shall afflict to-morrow, in order to grant him time for reflection and repentance; this clemency on the part of God increased Pharaoh's refractoriness; it was to him a cause of prolonged and renewed resistance.'"

The importance of the question thus suggested, coupled with a consideration of the translator's responsibility to do all he fairly can to guard his readers from going astray, may render a few further facts and observations of practical interest. Is it right, on the part of the translator of THE EMPHASISED BIBLE, that he has endeavoured to avoid representing God as the author or instigator of wickedness?

In furnishing materials for answering this question, it will be sufficient, in this article, to submit two facts. The first is, that words in the original usually expressive of cause are every now and then employed to denote occasion, and may be legitimately rendered in the latter sense. The second is, that even positive commands are occasionally to be accepted as meaning no more than permission.

1. That Hebrew Grammarians distinctly avow occasion or permission to be sometimes the sense of verbs which ordinarily signify cause can be verified by a reference to the Hebrew Grammar of Gesenius, say in the admirable translation of Dr. Benjamin Davies (p. 129). After stating that the verbal form (conjugation) called piel denotes intensity and repetition, this grammar adds: "It often takes the modifications expressed by permit, to declare or hold us, to help." Of this, a good example is found in the verb shalach, "to send." Notice its modification with reference to the raven and the dove in Gen. viii. 7, 8. Noah "sent" them "forth"; that is, he simply "let them go." The only cause was permission, the removal of restraint. Again, when Eliezer said (Gen. xxiv. 54), "Send me away," all he meant was, "Let me go," "Do not hinder me." So with regard to hayah, "to live"; in piel, "to cause to live." The historian says that the midwives (literally) "caused the male children to live" (Exo. i. 17)—plainly, "permitted them," "refrained from putting them to death." To the same effect in the following verses. Pharaoh asked, "Wherefore have ye done this thing, to let (not really make) the male children live?" (verse 18) and then gave command, "Every daughter shall ye (not cause, but) suffer to live" (verse 22).

In the hiphil conjugation, the same modification occasionally obtains. Deu. viii. 3 (literally) "caused thee to hunger," in fact, "suffered thee to hunger" (as in both A. V. and R. V.); S. Song ii. 14, "Cause me to see thy form," that is, "Let me see thy form," in one word, "Appear"; "cause me to hear thy voice," "let me hear thy voice," "speak"; Isa. lv. 6, "Seek Yahweh while he causeth himself to be found," more freely, but quite correctly, "while he letteth himself be found." And so on, through a considerable number of examples in the aggregate, though still a minority when all the occurrences of the words are surveyed.

If it be asked, How are we to judge whether, in a particular instance, we have come upon an exception to the general rule? the answer is, You can only decide from context and circumstance—taking care to employ upon these as much common-sense as possible. Do I cause this book to fall to the table? Loosely speaking, yes; strictly, no: I merely let it fall; I merely take away the restraint of my grasping hand, and so yield up the book to the causative force of gravitation. God permitted Pharaoh to harden his own heart—spared him—gave him the opportunity, the occasion, of working out the wickedness that was in him. That is all.

If the further enquiry be urged, How are we to make up for the want of "context"? how are we to be sure that we are sufficiently acquainted with the "circumstances" of a particular case, to decide whether we are justified in concluding that here, in any given instance, we may rightfully subdue the apparent cause into the mere occasion or permission?—if this be the tenor of our enquiry—well, we must do our best, and leave the remainder. Generally, we shall only need to revert to the known nature of things, or the known character of persons, to find clear guidance. We know, for instance, that a liberated bird likes to fly away; and, furthermore, that its liberator has no power to attach an impelling force to the winged creature; therefore, it is quite enough for Noah to let go the raven and the dove (Gen. viii. 7, 8); though, with the Hebrew, we can say he sent them forth, knowing that no one can be misled thereby. And we can so well understand the eagerness of Eliezer to depart with the bride he had secured for Isaac, as to feel sure that he needed neither physical force nor insult to send him back to his master: it was enough to be allowed to go. It is true there may be cases we do not so readily comprehend as we do these. But in all such instances as that whereunto these minor ones are designed to lead up, we do positively know enough to settle them with reference to the one question now in hand. We know that God is holy. We know that He hates all sin. We know that there is in Him no complicity with wickedness. And, therefore, we know that, however much and however long He permits iniquity and rebellion, He never is the efficient cause of it. And so, finally, we know that He Himself put no wicked motive force into Pharaoh's heart, to impel him to defy his Maker.

2. A very few words on the second point will suffice. Commands, even when positive in form, are sometimes clearly seen to be permissive only in sense. Ahimaaz, the son of Zadok, desired of Joab that he might run with tidings of Absalom's death to King David. Joab refused. Ahimaaz renewed his request, till at length his general said, "Run." That was Joab's permission—no more! (2 Sam. xviii. 29). Again, the sons of the prophets at Jericho asked leave of their new master, Elisha, to send fifty men to seek the lost Elijah "on the mountains or in the valleys." At first Elisha replied, "Ye shall not send." But, when they urged him until he was ashamed, he said, "Send." A command, you may say! But did Elisha himself regard it in that light? On the contrary, when the seekers for Elijah returned without success, he exclaimed, "Did I not say unto you, Do not go?" (2 Kings ii. 16-18.) Why multiply illustrations? Let it suffice to apply those already given. There is at least a single case in which the Most High appears to have commanded an act of deception (1 Kings xxi. 22). How ought that to be understood? In reply we need not take advantage of the highly dramatic form of the representation of which this forms a single item—we need not urge that the prophet Micaiah was in peril of his life, daring to oppose two absolute monarchs, one of whom mortally hated him; though all that is worth remembering. We can go straight to the ultimate mark by declaring that the words of God to the seducing spirit can and must be regarded as absolutely neither more nor less than a permission to deceive. Either this, or the holiness of God is a myth, and the Bible has been written in vain. In fine, on the revealed character of God we rest.

"A Rock! faultless his work,
For all his ways are just,—
A God of faithfulness, and without perversity, Right and fair is he!" —(Deu. xxxiii. 4.)

PROPIITIATORY COVERING.

INSTEAD of "make atonement for" this translation has, mostly, "put a propitiatory covering over"; and this is undeniably a more adequate rendering of the original kipper. The verb kipper is the intensive (pi'el) form of kāphar, which by general consent means to cover. And though kipper is set apart to denote moral covering, generally by sacrifice, yet it does not follow that the mental conception of covering is thereby lost. Indeed the prevailing reference of this species of covering to persons as its object, and the favourite construction of the verb with 'al "upon" and ba'ad "about," point clearly to the wisdom of preserving the more graphic rendering which has here been ventured, and which preserves the striking idealism of the Hebrew. Speaking of the application of kipper to various classes of offerings, the Oxford Gesenius (p. 498) says: "Underlying all these offerings there is the conception that the persons offering are covered by that which is regarded as sufficient and satisfactory by Yahweh." Although this thought may be held to abate something of its picturesqueness when the action is regarded as taking effect on inanimate objects—such as the "altar," "the tent of meeting," &c.—yet these merely derived applications can scarcely be taken to efface the deeper idealism, where that aptly holds good. Kipper may easily be said to signify "to atone," but the question arises, what is the radical O.T. conception of "atonement"? Or, the word in question may be held to denote "forgiveness," but still the question is pertinent, Has this great "atoning" word nothing to say regarding the means by which forgiveness is secured? The more must this question be pressed, that in many instances (till it becomes the standing formula in the book of Leviticus) forgiveness is spoken of as a sequel to the atoning act rather than that act itself. The atoning lies behind the forgiving. Even where the verb "to forgive" would seem an apt rendering of the Hebrew kipper, it will generally be found that the more graphic translation which keeps up a filament of connection with the sacrificial means by which forgiveness is secured, is to be preferred. The great gain of this rendering, however, most clearly comes in throughout those numerous cases in which there is an undeniable surrender of life for life. The sacrifice covers the sinner—how! By dying in his stead. One life covers another when one is surrendered and the other therefore spared. The blow must fall; for the wages of sin is death, and without the shedding of blood there is no remission. But it falls on the substituted life. The dead covers the living. The living is ransomed—pardoned—set free. Such covering is essentially propitiatory covering. Substitution is of its essence. Any possible abuse of this fundamental Hebrew concept, will be averted by doing careful and equal justice to the entire Levitical ritual. The offerer consents to the substitution; and by himself or his representative takes an essential part in the transfer of the penalty of the sin which he confesses. Man consents; God consents. The substitutionary death is granted by God: it is accepted by man. It is accepted under the solemn stipulation that the spared life shall be wholly consecrated to the holy and merciful God who brings near this costly salvation. One thing is wanting in the ritual—the consent of the substitute. Nay, a second thing is missing—adequacy of value in the substituted. Be it so! Then when a substitute shall appear who shall willingly bear the sin of the world, and be worthy to bear it; and God consents and ordains; and man consents and accepts; then the whole Ideal of Propitiatory Covering will be complete. It remains for the World and for the Individual to carry the matter to its practical consummation.

SIN = SIN-OFFERING = SIN-BEARER.

One of the most striking and significant facts in the language of Leviticus and of the O.T. generally is that the sin-offering and the guilt-offering are in Hebrew called simply "sin" and "guilt"—the victim being called by the name of the offence which it bears and for which it dies. As this usage could not have been intended to confound moral delinquency or abnormal moral condition with an innocent and unoffending animal, the usage can only be regarded as vividly setting forth the close connection between sin and death—the doom of sin to end in death—the destiny of the sinner to carry the sin unto death and realise its termination in death. The sacrifice thus becomes an impressive object-lesson—a dramatic representation of pathetic moral instructiveness. The victim is put in the offender's place, and is then slain. One sins; another dies. Between these two facts is interposed the symbolical ceremony of the laying-on (or more exactly, the leaning-on) of the hands of the sinner upon the head of the sin-bearer. The sin is thereby represented as transferred from the former to the latter: the sin, not indeed in its moral blameworthiness, but in its legal answerableness. To render such a transference possible, Divine sanction is essential. It is chiefly and ultimately against God that sin is committed. His primal law is that the person who sins—the same shall die (Eze. xviii. 4); and he (Yahweh himself) alone can commute or transfer the penalty. Besides, all life is his gift and care. No animal can be lawfully slain without his permission. Hence, in divinely-appointed sacrifice, his permission is seen—a fact formally and solemnly enunciated in Leviticus xvii. 11. He grants, within certain limits what he alone could rightfully grant, the substitution of life for life upon the altar of sacrifice. But although, this divine sanction is essential to acceptable substitutionary sacrifice, the interest and obligation of the offender must not be overlooked. He has done the wrong, and it is for him to make amends, if he can, and if he may. And it is worthy of note that between him and his substitute a near relation is presupposed or secured. To die for me, the lamb must be mine. Accordingly the pascal lamb was to be selected and brought to the offerer's home, there to be petted and pitted—so as to render the offering of it the offering of his own heart—of himself (Exo. xii. 3–6). In like manner, on the great Day of Propitiation, when all the sacrifices of the year were summed up and completed, it was from the people that the priest was instructed to accept the sin-bearers which were to be offered in their behalf (Lev. xvi. 5). It is of course conceivable that the sinner may be unable to provide an acceptable sacrifice; in which case it is possible that God himself may provide the Lamb (Gen. xxii. 8); and indeed a glimmering perception of the possible need of some notable Divine provision seems to have prophetically carried away the patriarch Abraham into the bestowal, upon Mount Moriah, of the name "Yahweh-yireh" ("Yahweh will provide"), and to have induced others to prolong the anticipation in the saying, "In the mountain of Yahweh shall provision be made" (Gen. xxii. 14). The need of Divine Sanction to the constitution of efficacious Substitution attains its most weighty expression when we read in the prophets: "Yahweh caused to light upon him the iniquity of us all" (Isa. liii. 6). No other than He could make that transference—be the Suffering Servant who he may. In view of the impressive lesson thus afforded, and which is so prominent in the book of Leviticus (where the word hattath—for nineteen times it means sin—fifty-three times stands for the sin-victim) the translator would fain have followed the severity of the Hebrew and used the one name "sin" throughout. Doubting the intelligibility of such a terminology at present, he has not ventured on that course. He has, however, preferred "sin-bearer" to "sin-offering," as penetrating just a little further into the heart of the matter. "Sin-bearer," meantime, may aptly remind us not only of Isa. liii. 6, but of I. Pet. ii. 24; but if we should ever be able to "homologate" the one term "sin" (for hattath) throughout the book of Leviticus, we should assuredly have climbed the high level which would conduct us triumphantly into the great Pauline utterance of 2 Cor. v. 21. The translator is pleased (on reviewing the three editions of his N.T.) to see that he has hitherto resisted the temptation to substitute "sin-offering" for "sin" ("made him to be sin") in that passage, and he traces it to the influence over him of this remarkable usage in Leviticus: "sin-offering"—yes! but what constitutes a "sin-offering" save the imputation of "sin"? The ancient usage was intensely dramatic; it led the offerer, as he viewed his substitute, to exclaim, "There goes—there dies—my Sin!"

PREFACE TO THE FOURTH EDITION.

THE recent completion of "The Emphasised Bible" renders this issue of a Fourth Edition of the New Testament portion of that work a fitting occasion for the insertion of a new Preface here.

The Unity of "The Emphasised Bible" has controlled the moulding of its constituent parts. The New Testament, first published in 1872, and then in 1878 (under the title of "The New Testament Newly Translated and Critically Emphasised"), was entirely remodelled and received its present shorter title in 1897, so that it might take its place as an essential portion of the whole book. To that the Old Testament was conformed in size, type, style of translating, and method of emphasising; both Testaments being dealt with in the Expository Introduction placed before the Book of Genesis, in which Introduction the peculiarities of the entire work are explained in Four Chapters.

It is believed that this Unity of Plan and Execution serves to set in clearer light the essential oneness of the Sacred Volume: to render which service as complete as possible, an Introductory Note on "The Interpretation of the Bible" follows this Preface; moreover also a small handbook has been issued, entitled "Our Sacred Books: being Plain Chapters on the Inspiration, Transmission and Translation of the Bible."

May these endeavours receive the Divine blessing!

JOSEPH BRYANT ROTHERHAM.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

ON

THE INTERPRETATION OF THE BIBLE.

---

"UNDERSTANDEST thou what thou readest?" is a most natural question for a Translator to ask: first, from an inevitable solicitude that his rendering should not have missed its mark; and, secondly, from the self-restraint with which, though essentially an interpreter himself, he has continually left outlying questions of exegesis to the judgment of his readers.

But, just here, between the Old Testament and the New, the problem of Interpretation becomes momentous and urgent, since therein is involved the very claim of the New Testament to follow the Old as a rightful part of the One Book. In weighing this problem, the following principles demand consideration—namely, continuity, gradation, fulfilment, adaptation and advancement.

1. CONTINUITY, while chiefly consisting in the re-appearance of the things of the Old in the New, runs partly also on verbal lines of connection between the Hebrew Scriptures and the Christian, so that, by the help of such words as "God," "Israel" and "Gentiles," "faith," "holiness" and "salvation," "heaven" and "earth," "life" and "death," "hades," "messenger," "age-abiding," and others too numerous to mention, the reader finds himself resuming in the Later Writings themes with which he had become familiar in the Earlier. And so, notwithstanding the great difference between them, the New Testament appears to run on as a continuation of the Old. The moral atmosphere is the same. It is God who is still speaking, in words which reveal His holiness and love. The appeal is still to men's consciences.

2. Nevertheless a marked GRADATION may be traced between the Book of Genesis and the Book of the Revelation. Even the earliest Books of the Bible are marked by the appearances of growth. The Book of Genesis is plainly introductory to the Book of Exodus; but the former shows within itself the signs of development—the small germ-record being followed by the larger narrative, each with its fitting commencement. No subtle criticism is needed to reveal these tokens of advancement: they are open to every eye. And as literary development appears, so does historical. The world before the Flood, leaving behind its admonitory lessons for all time, makes way for the world after the Flood. Of the three sons of Noah, Ham and Japheth, after coming on the scene, retire before Shem, because from Shem Abraham is to arise, and from Abraham the Chosen Nation. Simultaneously with the progress of history, prophecy advances, an early promise being amplified into repeated and enlarged predictions, running along the line which history has prepared for their accomplishment. The Man becomes a Nation, the Nation is called to be the Servant of Yahweh for ministry to the other nations of the earth, until at length the Ministering Nation itself is seen led on to its destiny by its Suffering and Conquering Messiah. The Messiah Himself is more and more clearly foreshadowed as time goes on, the promised Seed of the Woman being destined to appear in Abraham's line, of David's family, and to come forth from Bethlehem. Then we turn over the leaf, and the Coming One appears, though in lowliness at first, to be rejected—like Joseph, like Moses! Meantime, as history and prophecy march on, morals are uplifted, the temporary permission of half-remedies for social evils being closed when the Greater Prophet arrives; and just when hope rises on loftier wing, patience and self-sacrifice become the crowning virtues, and when the Mystery of Suffering deepens, larger and more satisfying solutions are discerned; so that a half-chapter from the Epistle to the Romans does more to solve the riddle than the elaborate drama and lengthy arguments of the Book of Job, and the Hallelujahs of the Apocalypse, in sweep and fulness of triumph, manifestly transcend any heard in the Psalms or the Prophets.

3. The FULFILMENT of Prophecy begins in the Old Testament, and then runs over into the New. The one man becomes a great nation, yea many nations spring from his loins. The Messiah appears, and the songs sung by heavenly messengers over Bethlehem's plains are learned and lisped for centuries by Gentile babes, and myriads of martyrs from among the Nations joyfully surrender their lives for very love of the Crucified Son of David, whose face they are sure they shall behold in glory. But fulfilment comes by instalments—the Eternal seems to be in no haste. The Old Testament is partly fulfilled in the New, and this measure of accomplishment forms a magnificent pledge of all the rest; nevertheless a glorious Remainder awaits the times of the accomplishment of all the things that are written. What is not fulfilled by the First Advent will be filled to the full by the Second, when "the heavens shall be set open, and the messengers of God ascend and descend unto the Son of Man."<sup>a</sup> Christians believe that the Jesus of the New Testament is the Messiah foreshadowed in the Old; they are unwise if they affirm that He has already entered upon the whole work assigned Him. Restraining themselves from assuming too much, they are left free to do the completest exegetical justice to the Hebrew Scriptures as well as to their own. They can well afford to favour a natural interpretation of the whole Bible—of poetry as poetry, allowing for poetical license; of prophecy as prophecy, granting that some dimness must needs rest on things yet to come, especially when the like of them have never happened yet; but abating nothing from the programme, hiding nothing, denying nothing; never allegorising without express warrant or manifest need.

4. Meantime, however, ADAPTATION, as distinguished from fulfilment, claims its due. For a prophecy may be verified in principle long before it is fulfilled according to its own contextual intention. Yahweh has an undoubted right to make "a People" out of Gentiles who before were a "No-people," as the Apostle Paul well understood;<sup>a</sup> but He has more than the right, He has the revealed intention of bringing the Hebrew nation itself through the three successive conditions of being first "a People," second "a No-people," and third "a People" again, as clearly announced by the Prophet Hosea.<sup>b</sup> It is sheer Gentile blindness not to see this; and the habit of overlooking it may, without exaggeration, be said to wreck all sound interpretation of the Old Testament Prophecies. For under its influence nothing in the ancient predictions can be trusted to mean what it says, even after making reasonable allowance for figurative language. Whereas, when borrowed language is frankly acknowledged to bear that character, and the interpreter faithfully reverts to its original intention in its own context—so that, in the Old Testament, "Israel" means Israel and "Jerusalem" means Jerusalem—then the Messiah's promised Kingdom is seen to remain intact, and the ancient prophecies concerning it can be interpreted according to their obvious significance. The manifold wisdom of God has made ample provision for the Messiah's Ecclesia, so that her heavenly portion<sup>c</sup> can be assigned her as His Bride,<sup>d</sup> without interference with the Messiah's Kingdom, the chief earthly place therein being still regarded as inviolably reserved for that ancient Nation<sup>e</sup> whose continued existence is the most extended and persistent miracle the world has ever seen.

5. With just abatement, however, on the score of partial fulfilment in the realm of facts and of free adaptation in the sphere of language, ADVANCEMENT presses its way to the front, claiming that, though injustice must not be done to the Hebrew Scriptures, yet less than justice shall not be accorded to the Christian Scriptures. The advancement made in the progress of events is so decisive as of necessity to charge language with new forces and to create new forms of expression, thereby profoundly influencing the whole science of Biblical Interpretation. The fundamental Christian assumptions are: that the Messiah has come—that His own people have rejected Him—that the promised Kingdom is postponed—that now the First Advent must be followed by a Second—that meantime an Ecclesia (or "assembly") is being summoned from the ends of the earth—that, though not herself the Kingdom, yet in her heart the hope of the Kingdom is implanted, and by her activities preparations for its establishment are being signally matured—that on this Ecclesia spiritual gifts have been bestowed, and in it spiritual men have been produced who, though in many ways like the prophets of old, yet in some ways surpass them—and that to one of these spiritual men in particular, namely Saul, of the tribe of Benjamin, also called Paul, has been committed the stupendous privilege of revealing a New Dispensation, intercalated among the Ages between the Two Advents, in other words between the Rejection and Reception of the Messiah by His own people. It thus comes about that by these concurrent advancements of facts, and of revelation as to their meaning, our methods of interpretation are enlarged and elevated. Many new words and phrases are added to our vocabulary, such as "apostle," "disciple," "church" (or "assembly"), "overseer," "immerse," "age-abiding life," "wrath to come"; and some old words are deepened in their significance, such as "good-tidings," "sacrifice," "sanctification," "judgment." In short, Christians are the same and yet not the same as Jews: the same, in that the former as well as the latter believe in the promises made unto the fathers; not the same, inasmuch as the hopes of Christians are loftier and their outlook is more comprehensive. And all these things affect Christian Interpretation, which has to embrace new things as well as old, and therefore is naturally compelled to blend old and new in rightful proportions.

These, then, are the leading principles which, it is submitted, must underlie any successful endeavour to interpret harmoniously the Jewish and Christian Scriptures. To render such endeavour successful is to obtain three results of incalculable value. It is, first, to offer a basis on which each reader may frame for himself a few simple by-laws for Scripture exegesis; secondly, to vindicate the right of the New Testament to stand at the close of the Old as its legitimate sequel; and, thirdly, to offer a triumphant defence of the entire Bible, which—drawn from materials accumulated through long ages, penned by authors mainly to each other unknown, and dealing with facts, laws, and instructions constituting successive dispensations of Divine dealings with human affairs—nevertheless submits to be consistently understood from end to end in a way which satisfies and sanctifies the mind, the conscience, the life.

As Dr. Richard Moulton well observes in his admirable work "The Bible as Literature," it is not so much a question of right or wrong, as of good, better and best.

And | Rehoboam | begat Abijah,
And | Abijah | begat Asa;
8 And | Asa | begat Jehoshaphat,
And | Jehoshaphat | begat Joram,
And | Joram | begat Uziah;
9 And | Uziah | begat Jotham,
And | Jotham | begat Ahaz,
And | Ahaz | begat Hezekiah;
10 And | Hezekiah | begat Manasseh,
And | Manasseh | begat Amon,
And | Amon | begat Josiah;
11 And | Josiah | begat Jechoniah, and his brethren,—upon the removal to Babylon.

- 12 And <after the removal to Babylon>
| Jechoniah | begat Shealtiel,
And | Shealtiel | begat Zerubbabel;

And | Eleazar | begat Matthan,
And | Matthan | begat Jacob;—
16 And | Jacob | begat Joseph, the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus,—who is called
Christ.

17 So then <all' the generations from Abraham unto David> are | fourteen | generations,

* Ap: "Christ."

And <from David unto the removal to Babylon>
| fourteen | generations;
And <from the removal to Babylon, unto the Christ> | fourteen | generations.

§ 2. The Birth.

18 Now the birth || of [Jesus] Christ || was | thus |:
His mother Mary having been | betrothed | to | Joseph |,—| before they came together | she was found with child by [the] Holy Spirit.

19 Moreover || Joseph her husband || being | righteous |, and yet unwilling to expose her,—intended
| privately | to divorce her. <sup>20</sup> But
<when | these things | he had pondered > lo! || a messenger* of the Lord || | by dream | appeared to him, saying,—

Joseph, son of David! do not fear to take unto thee Mary thy wife, for <that which | in her | hath been begotten > is of [the]
| Holy | Spirit.

21 Moreover she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus,<sup>b</sup>—for | he |<sup>c</sup> will save his people from their sins.

22 But || all this || hath come to pass, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord, through the prophet, saying:

23 Lo! || a<sup>d</sup> Virgin || shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son,—and they will call his name Emmanuel<sup>a</sup>;

which is, being translated, God with us.

24 And Joseph, | awaking | from his sleep, did as the messenger of the Lord directed him,— and took unto him his wife; <sup>25</sup> and knew her not, until she had brought forth a son,<sup>f</sup>—and he called his name Jesus.

§ 3. The Visit of the Wise Men.

2 Now <when | Jesus | was born in Bethlehem of Judæa, in the days of Herod the king> lo!
| wise men from eastern parts | came into Jerusalem; <sup>2</sup> saying—

Where is he that hath been born king of the Jews? for we saw his star in the east, and have come to bow down to him.

<sup>3</sup> But <when King Herod heard> he was troubled, and all' Jerusalem with him; <sup>4</sup> and <assembling all' the high-priests and scribes of the people> he was enquiring of them—

Where is | the Christ | to be born?

<sup>5</sup> And [they] said to him,
In Bethlehem of Judæa,— for [so] is it written<sup>a</sup> through the prophet:
<sup>6</sup> And [thou, Bethlehem, land of Judah]
[By no means least] art thou, among the governors of Judah,—
For [out of thee] shall one come forth to govern,

Who shall shepherd<sup>b</sup> my people Israel.

<sup>7</sup> Then Herod [privately] calling the wise men, ascertained from them the time of the appearing<sup>c</sup> star; <sup>8</sup> and sending them to Bethlehem, said—Go search out accurately concerning the child,—and [as soon as ye find it] bring report unto me, that [I also] may come and bow myself down to it.

<sup>9</sup> Now [they, hearing the king] went,—and lo!
[the star which they had seen in the east] was going before them, until it went and stood over where the child was; <sup>10</sup> and, seeing the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy; <sup>11</sup> and,
coming into the house, they saw the child, with Mary its mother,—and, falling down, prostrated themselves unto it, and, opening their treasures, offered unto it gifts—gold and frankincense and myrrh; <sup>12</sup> and <being instructed by dream, not to return unto Herod> [by another way] retired they unto their own country.

§ 4. The Flight into Egypt, the Return, and the Settlement in Nazareth.

<sup>13</sup> Now <when they had retired> lo! [a messenger of the Lord] appeareth by dream unto Joseph, saying,

Arise, take unto thee the child and its mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there, until I tell thee,—for Herod is about to seek the child, to destroy it.

<sup>14</sup> And [he] arising, took unto him the child and its mother, by night, and retired into Egypt;
<sup>15</sup> and was there, until the death of Herod,— that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying,<sup>c</sup>

[Out of Egypt] called I my son.

<sup>16</sup> [Then Herod] <seeing that he had been mocked by the wise men> was exceedingly enraged,— and sent and slew all the male children that were in Bethlehem, and in all its bounds, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had ascertained from the wise men.

<sup>17</sup> [Then was fulfilled] that which was spoken through Jeremiah the prophet, saying<sup>d</sup>:

<sup>18</sup> [A voice] [in Ramah] was heard,
Weeping and great mourning,—
Rachel weeping for her children,
And would not be comforted,—because they are not.

<sup>19</sup> But <when Herod was [dead]> lo! [a messenger of the Lord] appeareth by dream unto Joseph in Egypt; <sup>20</sup> saying—Arise! and take unto thee the child and its mother, and be journeying into the land of Israel,—for they are dead, who were seeking the life<sup>e</sup> of the child.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>21</sup> And [he] arising, took unto him the child and its mother, and entered into the land of Israel.

<sup>22</sup> <Hearing, however, that [Archelaus] was reigning over Judæa instead of his father Herod> he was afraid [thither] to go,—and so, being instructed by dream, he retired into the parts of Galilee; <sup>23</sup> and came and fixed his dwelling in a city called Nazareth,—that it might be fulfilled which was spoken through the prophets—

[A Nazarene] shall he be called.

§ 5. The Forerunner. Mk. i. 2-8; Lu. iii. 3-17.

<sup>3</sup> Now [in those days] came John the Immerser,<sup>e</sup> proclaiming in the wilderness of Judæa; <sup>2</sup> saying, Repent ye,—for the kingdom of the heavens
hath drawn near.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>3</sup> For [this] is he who was spoken of through Isaiah the prophet, saying,<sup>e</sup>

A voice, of one crying aloud!

[In the wilderness] prepare ye the way of the Lord,

[Straight] be making his paths.

<sup>4</sup> But John [himself] had his raiment of camel's hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins,— while [his food] was locusts and wild honey.

<sup>5</sup> [Then] were going forth unto him—Jerusalem, and all' Judæa, and all' the country round about the Jordan; <sup>6</sup> and were being immersed in the Jordan river, by him, openly confessing their sins. <sup>7</sup> But <seeing [many of the Pharisees and Sadducees] coming unto his immersion> he said to them,—

Broods of vipers! who suggested to you,<sup>f</sup> to be fleeing from the coming wrath?

<sup>8</sup> Bring forth, therefore, fruit worthy of repentance; <sup>9</sup> and think not to be saying within yourselves,—[As our father] we have [Abraham]!

For, I say unto you, that God is able [out of these stones] to raise up children unto Abraham.

<sup>10</sup> [Already also] the axe [unto the root of the trees] is being laid,—[every] tree, therefore, not bringing forth good fruit [is to be hewn down, and [into fire] to be cast.

<sup>11</sup> [I] indeed, am immersing you [in water, unto repentance],— but <he who [after me] cometh [is mightier than I], whose [sandals]
I am not worthy to bear> [he] will immerse you [in Holy Spirit and fire]; <sup>12</sup> Whose fan is in his hand, and he will clear out his threshing-floor,—and will gather his wheat into the granary, but [the chaff] will he burn up with fire unquenchable.

<sup>14</sup> But [he] would have hindered him, saying—[I] have [need] [by thee] to be immersed,— and dost [thou] come unto me?

<sup>15</sup> But Jesus answering, said unto him, Suffer [me] even now,—for [thus] it becometh us, to fulfil [all] righteousness;

[Then] he suffered him. <sup>16</sup> And Jesus <having been immersed> [straightway] went up from the water,—and lo! the heavens were opened* and he saw the Spirit of God, descending like a dove coming upon him; <sup>17</sup> and lo! a voice out of the heavens,—saying,

[This] is my Son, the Beloved, in whom I delight.

§ 7. The Temptation. Mk. i. 12, 13; Lu. iv. 1-13.

<sup>4</sup> [Then] Jesus was led up into the wilderness, by the Spirit, to be tempted by the adversary;
<sup>2</sup> and, fasting forty days and forty nights,— [afterwards] he hungered.

<sup>3</sup> And, coming near, the tempter said to him,— <If thou art God's [Son]> speak! that [these stones] may become [loaves].

<sup>4</sup> But [he] answering, said, It is written,—<sup>b</sup>
[Not on bread alone] shall man live,
But on every declaration coming forth through the mouth of God.

<sup>6</sup> [Then] the adversary taketh him with him, unto the holy city,—and he set him upon the pinnacle of the temple; <sup>6</sup> and saith to him—

<If thou art God's [Son]> cast thyself down,—for it is written,<sup>c</sup>

[To his messengers] will he give charge concerning thee;

And [on hands] will they bear thee up,
Lest once thou strike, against a stone, thy foot.

<sup>7</sup> Jesus said to him, [Again] it is written,—<sup>d</sup>
Thou shalt not put to the test [the Lord thy God].

<sup>8</sup> [Again] the adversary taketh him with him, into an exceeding high mountain,—and pointeth out to him all' the kingdoms of the world, and their glory; <sup>9</sup> and said to him,

[All these things] will I give thee,—if thou wilt fall down and worship me.

<sup>10</sup> Then saith Jesus unto him,
Withdraw, Satan! for it is written,—<sup>e</sup>
[The Lord thy God] shalt thou worship,
And [to him alone] render divine service.

<sup>11</sup> [Then] the adversary leaveth him,—and lo!
[messengers] came near, and began ministering unto him.

§ 8. Jesus begins his Ministry in Galilee.

Mk. i. 14-20; Lu. iv. 14, 15.

<sup>12</sup> And <hearing that [John] had been delivered up>, he retired into Galilee; <sup>13</sup> and, forsaking Nazareth, he came and fixed his dwelling in Capernaum, which was by the sea,—within the bounds of Zebulun and Naphtali: <sup>14</sup> that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken through Isaiah the prophet, saying:

<sup>15</sup> <Land of Zebulun, and land of Naphtali,
The sea-way across the Jordan,—Galilee of the
nations>

<sup>16</sup> [The people that was sitting in darkness]
[A great light] beheld,—

And [on them who were sitting in land and shade of death]

[Light] rose on them.*

<sup>17</sup> [From that time] began Jesus to be making proclamation, and saying,—

Repent ye, for the kingdom of the heavens
hath drawn near.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>18</sup> And <walking round beside the sea of Galilee> he saw two' brethren—Simon who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother,—casting a large fishing-net into the sea, for they were fishers;
<sup>19</sup> and he saith unto them,

Come after me,—

And I will make you fishers [of men].

<sup>20</sup> And [they] [straightway] leaving the nets, followed him. <sup>21</sup> And <going forward from thence> he saw other' two' brethren—

James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother—in the boat with Zebedee their father, putting in order their nets,—and he called them.

<sup>22</sup> And [they] [straightway] leaving the boat and their father, followed him.

<sup>23</sup> And Jesus was going round throughout all'
Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and proclaiming the glad-message<sup>c</sup> of the kingdom,— and curing every' disease, and every' infirmity, among the people. <sup>24</sup> And forth went the report of him into all Syria; and they brought unto him all' who were sick, [with divers' diseases, and tortures] distressed, demonized and lunatic and paralyzed,—and he cured them. <sup>25</sup> And there followed him large multitudes—from Galilee, and Decapolis, and Jerusalem, and Judaea, and across the Jordan.

§ 9. The Sermon on the Mount. Lu. vi. 20-49.

<sup>5</sup> But [seeing the multitudes] he went up into a mountain,—and, when he had taken a seat, his disciples came unto him<sup>d</sup>; <sup>2</sup> and, opening his mouth, he began teaching them, saying:—

<sup>3</sup> [Happy] the destitute<sup>e</sup> [in spirit];
For [theirs] is the kingdom of the heavens:

<sup>4</sup> [Happy] they who mourn;
For [they] shall be comforted<sup>f</sup>;

<sup>5</sup> [Happy] the meek;
For [they] shall inherit the earth<sup>g</sup>;

<sup>6</sup> [Happy] they who hunger and thirst for righteousness;

For [they] shall be filled:

<sup>7</sup> [Happy] the merciful;

For |they|* shall be called |sons of God|:
10. ||Happy|| they who have been persecuted for righteousness' sake;
For |theirs| is the kingdom of the heavens.
11. ||Happy|| are ye, whensoever they may reproach you and persecute you, and say every' evil thing against you |falsely| for my sake: 12 Rejoice and exult, because |your reward| is great in the heavens; for |so| persecuted they the prophets who were before you.
12. |Ye| are the salt<sup>b</sup> of the earth; but <if the salt become tasteless> wherewith shall it be salted? it is good |for nothing| any more,<sup>c</sup> save being cast out, to be trampled on by men.
14. |Ye| are the light of the world: it is impossible for a city to be hid |on the top of a mountain| lying. 15 Neither light they a lamp, and place it under the measure; but upon the lampstand, and it giveth light to all' that are in the house. 16 ||In like manner|| let your light shine before men,—that they may see your good works,—and glorify your Father who is in the heavens.
17. Do not think, that I came to pull down the law, or the prophets,—I came not to pull down, but to fulfil. 18 For |verily| I say unto you, <until the heaven and the earth shall pass away> |one least letter, or one point| may in nowise pass away from the law, till all be accomplished. 19 <Who- soever, therefore, shall relax one of these commandments, the least, and teach men so> shall be called |least| in the kingdom of the heavens; but <whosoever shall do and teach> |the same| shall be called |great| in the kingdom of the heavens.
22. For I say unto you, that <unless your' righteousness exceed that of the Scribes and Pharisees> |in nowise| may ye enter into the kingdom of the heavens.
23. Ye have heard, that it was said, to them of olden time,— Thou shalt not commit murder,<sup>e</sup>
and <whosoever shall commit murder> shall be |liable| to judgment.
24. But |I| say unto you, that <every' one who is angry with his brother> shall be |liable| to judgment,—and <whosoever shall say to his brother, Worthless one!> shall be |liable| to the high council; and <whoso- ever shall say, Rebel!> shall be |liable| unto the fiery gehenna.<sup>f</sup> 25 <If, therefore, thou be bearing thy gift towards the altar, and |there| shouldst remember that |thy brother| hath aught against thee> leave there, thy gift before the altar, and withdraw,—|first| be reconciled unto thy brother, and |then| coming, be offering thy gift. 26 Be making agreement with thine adversary, quickly, while thou art with him, in the way,—lest once thine adversary deliver thee up unto the judge, and the judge, unto the officer, and |into prison| thou be cast. 27 |Verily| I say unto thee, |In nowise| mayest thou come out from thence, until thou pay the last halfpenny.

27. Ye have heard, that it was said,

Thou shalt not commit adultery<sup>g</sup>:

28. But |I| say unto you, that <Every' one who looketh on a woman so as to covet her> |already| hath committed adultery with her, in his heart. 29 And <if |thy right eye|<sup>b</sup> is causing thee to stumble> pluck it out, and cast it from thee,—for it profiteth thee, that |one of thy members| should perish, and not |thy whole body| be cast into gehenna. 30 And <if |thy right hand|<sup>c</sup> is causing thee to stumble> cut it off, and cast it from thee,—for it profiteth thee, that |one of thy members| should perish, and not ||thy whole body|| |into gehenna| depart.

31. It was said, moreover,<sup>d</sup> <Who- soever shall divorce his wife> let him give her a writing of divorcement;

32. But |I|<sup>e</sup> say unto you, that <Everyone' who divorceth his wife—saving for unfaithful- ness> causeth her to be made an adulteress,—[and |whosoever shall marry a divorced woman| committeth adultery].

33. |Again| ye have heard that it was said, to them of olden time,<sup>f</sup>
Thou shalt not swear falsely,—<sup>h</sup>
But shalt render unto the Lord, thine oaths.

34. But |I| tell you—not to swear |at all|<sup>i</sup>:
Neither by heaven, because it is the |throne of God|,<sup>k</sup>

35. Nor by the earth, because it is |his footstool|;
Nor by Jerusalem, because it is the |city| of the Great King<sup>l</sup>;

36. Nor ||by thine own head|| mayest thou swear, because thou art not able to make |one' hair| white or black.

37. But let your word be, Yea, yea,—Nay, nay;
And ||what goeth beyond these|| is |of evil|.

38. Ye have heard, that it was said,—
Eye for eye, and tooth for tooth.<sup>m</sup>

39. But |I| tell you, not to resist evil,—
Nay <whoever is smiting thee on the right' cheek> turn to him |the other' also|;

<To him who is asking thee> give;
And <him who is desiring from thee to borrow> do not thou turn away.

Ye have heard, that it was said,
Thou shalt love thy neighbour,<sup>a</sup> and hate thine enemy.

But I say unto you,
Be loving your enemies,<sup>b</sup>
And praying for them who are persecuting
you:

That ye may become sons of your Father who is in the heavens;

Because [his sun] he maketh arise on evil
and good,

And sendeth rain, on just and unjust.

For <if ye love them that love you> what reward have ye? are not [even the tax-collectors] the same thing doing?

And <if ye salute your brethren only> what [more than common] are ye doing?
are not [even the nations] the same thing doing?

[Ye] therefore, [shall become] [perfect]:<sup>c</sup>

As [your heavenly Father] is—perfect.

[But] take heed, that ye do not [your righteousness] before men, to be gazed at by them,— [otherwise at least] [reward] have ye none, with your Father who is in the heavens.

<When, therefore, thou mayest be doing an alms> do not sound a trumpet before thee, just as [the hypocrites] do, in the synagogues and in the streets—that they may be glorified by men,—[Verily] I say unto you, they are getting back their reward.

But <thou, when doing an alms> let not [thy left hand] know what thy right hand is doing; <sup>d</sup> that thine alms may be in secret,— and [thy Father, who seeth in secret] will give it back to thee.

And <when ye may be praying> ye shall not be as the hypocrites, because they love <in the synagogues, and at the corners of the broad ways> to take their stand and pray, that they may shine before men;

[Verily] I say unto you, they are getting back their reward.

But <thou, when thou wouldst pray> enter into thy closet, and, fastening thy door, pray<sup>e</sup> unto thy Father who is in secret,—and [thy Father who seeth in secret] will reward thee. <sup>f</sup> And [being at prayer] use not vain repetitions, just like the nations,—for they think, that [in their much speaking] they shall be heard; <sup>g</sup> do not, therefore, make yourselves like them,—for [God] your Father knoweth of what things ye have need, before ye ask him. <sup>h</sup> [Thus] therefore pray [ye]:

Our Father, who art in the heavens,—
Hallowed be thy name,
Come may thy kingdom,—

Accomplished* be thy will, [as in heaven] also on earth:

11 [Our needful bread] give us, this day;
12 And forgive us our debts, as [we also] have forgiven our debtors;

13 And bring us not into temptation,
But rescue us from the evil one.<sup>b</sup>

14 For <if ye forgive men their faults> [Your Father who is in the heavens] will forgive [even you];

15 But <if ye forgive not men [their faults]>
Neither will your Father forgive [your faults].

16 And <when ye may be fasting> become not ye, as the hypocrites, of sullen countenance,— for they darken their looks, that they may appear [unto men] to be fasting: [Verily] I say unto you, they are getting back their reward.

17 But <when [thou] art fasting> anoint thy head, and [thy face] wash,— that thou do not appear [unto men] to be fasting, but to thy Father who is in secret,— and [thy Father who seeth in secret] will reward thee.

19 Be not laying up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where [moth and rust] do tarnish, and where [thieves] dig through and steal; <sup>20</sup> but be laying up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where [neither moth nor rust] doth tarnish, and where [thieves] dig not through nor steal: <sup>21</sup> for <where [thy treasure] is> [there] will be [thy heart] [also].

22 [The lamp<sup>c</sup> of the body] is the eye:

<If therefore thine eye be single>

[Thy whole body] shall be [lighted up];

23 But <if thine eye be [evil]>

[Thy whole body] shall be [in the dark];—

<If therefore [the light which is in thee] is [darkness]>

[The darkness] [how great]!

24 [No one] [unto two masters] can be in service;
For either [the one] he will hate, and [the other] love,

Or [one] he will hold to, and [the other] despise:

Ye cannot be in service [unto God] and [unto Riches].<sup>d</sup>

25 [For this cause] I say unto you:

Be not anxious<sup>e</sup> for your life,<sup>f</sup>

What ye shall eat [or what ye shall drink],—

Or for your body,

What ye shall put on:

Is not [the life] more than [the food]?

And [the body] than [the raiment]?

26 Observe intently [the birds of the heaven],—
That they neither sow, nor reap, nor gather into barns,

And yet [your heavenly Father] feedeth
[them]:

Are not [ye] much better than [they]?

filled." Cp. chap. xxvi. 42.

27 But who from among you, being anxious,
can add to his stature one cubit?

28 And [about clothing] why are ye anxious?
Consider well the lilies of the field, how they grow,—

They toil not neither do they spin;

29 And yet, I say unto you, ||Not even Solomon, in all his glory|| was arrayed like
[one of these]!

30 Now <[if the grass of the field—which [to-day] is, and [to-morrow] [into an oven] is cast—God thus adorneth>
Not much rather [you] little of faith?

31 Do not then be anxious, saying,
What shall we eat? or What shall we drink? or Wherewithal shall we be arrayed?

32 For [all] these things|| [the nations] seek after,—

For your heavenly Father [knoweth] that ye are needing [all] these things|.

33 But be seeking first, the kingdom and its
righteousness,—

And [all these things] shall be added unto
you.

34 Do not, then, be anxious for the morrow;
[For the morrow] will be anxious [for itself];
[Sufficient for the day] is the evil thereof.

7 Judge not, that ye be not judged;—

2 For <[with what judgment ye judge]> shall ye be judged,—

And <[with what measure ye mete]> shall it be measured unto you.

3 Why, moreover, beholdest thou the mote, in the eye of thy brother,—

While [the beam] in thine own' eye| thou dost not consider?

4 Or how wilt thou say unto thy brother,

Let me cast the mote out of thine eye,—

When lo! [a beam] is in thine own' eye?

5 Hypocrite! cast first [out of thine own eye]
[the beam],—

And [then] shalt thou see clearly to cast
the mote, out of the eye of thy brother.

6 Do not give what is holy unto dogs,
Neither cast ye your pearls before swine,— Lest once they trample [them] down with their feet,

And, turning, tear [you].

7 Be asking, and it shall be given you,

Be seeking, and ye shall find,—

Be knocking, and it shall be opened unto you.

8 For [whosoever asketh] receiveth,

And [he that seeketh] findeth,—

And [to him that knocketh] shall it be opened.

9 Or what man [from among yourselves],

Whom his son shall ask for a loaf,—

[A stone] will give him?

10 Or [a fish also] shall ask,—

[A serpent] will give him?

11 <[If then] [ye] being [evil] know how [good gifts] to be giving unto your children>

||How much more|| will [your Father who is in the heavens] give good things to them that ask [him]?

12 <[Whatsoever things, therefore, ye would, that men be doing unto you]>

||So|| be [ye also] doing [unto them],—

For [this] is the law and the prophets.

13 Enter<sup>a</sup> ye in at [the narrow] gate;

Because broad and roomy is the way<sup>b</sup> that leadeth unto destruction,—

And [many] are they who enter thereby;

14 Because [narrow] is the gate, and [confined] the way, that leadeth unto life,—

And [few] are they who find [it].

15 Beware of false prophets,

Who come unto you in clothing of sheep,—

While [within] they are ravening wolves.

16 [By their fruits]<sup>c</sup> shall ye find [them] out,— Unless perhaps men gather—

<[From thorns]> grapes!

Or <[from thistles]> figs!

17 So [every good tree] [fine fruit] produceth,— Whereas [the worthless tree] [evil fruit] produceth:

18 It is [impossible] for a [good tree] to be bearing [evil fruit],

Neither doth [a worthless tree] produce [fine
fruit].

19 [Every] tree that beareth not fine fruit<sup>d</sup>

Is hewn down, and [into fire] is cast.

20 After all then [by their fruits] shall ye find [them] out.

21 [Not every one that saith unto me, Lord!
Lord!] shall enter into the kingdom of the heavens,—

But he that doeth the will of my Father who is in the heavens.

22 [Many] will say unto me, in [that] day,
Lord! Lord!<sup>e</sup> did we not [in thy name] prophesy,<sup>f</sup>

And [in thy name] cast [demons] out,—

And [in thy name] [many works of power] perform?

<sup>28</sup> And it came to pass <when Jesus ended these words> with astonishment were the multitudes being struck at his teaching; <sup>29</sup> for he was teaching them as one having [authority], and not as their Scribes.

§ 10. A Leper cleansed. Mk. i. 40-45; Lu. v. 12-14.

8 And <when he came down from the mountain> there followed him large multitudes.
<sup>2</sup> And lo! [a leper] coming near, began to bow down to him, saying,—

Lord! [if thou be willing] thou canst cleanse me.

<sup>3</sup> And, stretching forth the hand, he touched him, saying,—

I am willing, be cleansed!

And [straightway] cleansed was his leprosy.

<sup>4</sup> And Jesus saith unto him,

Mind! tell [no one],—but withdraw, [thyself] shew to the priest,<sup>a</sup> and offer the gift which Moses directed [for a witness unto them].

§ 11. A Centurion's Servant healed. Lu. vii. 1-10.

<sup>5</sup> And <when he entered into Capernaum> there came near unto him a centurion, beseeching him, <sup>6</sup> and saying,

Lord! [my servant] is laid prostrate in the house, a paralytic [fearfully tortured].

<sup>7</sup> He saith unto him,

[I] will come and cure him.

<sup>8</sup> But the centurion, answering, said,

Lord! I am of no consideration, that [under my roof] thou shouldest enter,—but [only say with a word] and healed shall be my servant. <sup>9</sup> For [I also] am a man [set] under authority, having under myself, soldiers,—and I say to this one, Go! and he goeth, and to another, Come! and he cometh, and [to my servant] Do this! and he doeth it.

<sup>10</sup> Now Jesus, hearing, marvelled, and said to them that followed,— [Verily] I say unto you, [With no one in Israel] [such faith as this] have I found.

[Many from east and west]<sup>b</sup> will have come,<sup>c</sup> And shall recline with Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, in the kingdom of the heavens;

<sup>12</sup> Whereas [the sons of the kingdom]<sup>d</sup> shall be cast forth into the darkness outside,—

[There] will be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

<sup>13</sup> And Jesus said unto the centurion,

Withdraw! and [as thou hast believed] be it done for thee.

And healed was the servant in that hour.

§ 12. Peter's Mother-in-law cured, and many others. Mk. i. 29-34; Lu. iv. 38-44.

saw his mother-in-law laid prostrate and in a fever, <sup>15</sup> and he touched her hand, and the fever left her,—and she arose, and began ministering unto him. <sup>16</sup> But, when [evening] came,

they brought unto him many demonized,—and he cast out the spirits with a word, and [all] who were sick [he cured]; <sup>17</sup> that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken through Isaiah the prophet, saying,—

||Himself|| [our weaknesses] took, and [diseases] bare.<sup>a</sup>

§ 13. A Scribe and a Disciple put to the test.

Lu. ix. 57-62.

<sup>18</sup> Now Jesus <seeing a multitude about him> gave orders to depart unto the other side.

<sup>19</sup> And a certain scribe, coming near, said unto him,—

Teacher; I will follow thee, whithersoever thou goest.

<sup>20</sup> And Jesus saith unto him:

||The foxes|| have [dens],
And [the birds of the heavens] nests,—
But ||the Son of Man|| hath not where [his head he may recline].

<sup>21</sup> And [another of the disciples] said unto him,—
Lord! suffer me [first] to depart, and bury my father.

<sup>22</sup> But [Jesus] saith unto him,—

Be following me,
And leave [the dead] to bury [their own] dead].

§ 14. A Storm rebuked. Mk. iv. 35-41;

Lu. viii. 22-25.

<sup>23</sup> And <when he [entered] into a boat> his disciples followed him. <sup>24</sup> And lo! [a great squall] arose in the sea, so that [the boat] was being covered<sup>b</sup> [by the waves],—but [he] was sleeping. <sup>25</sup> And, coming near, they aroused him, saying,

Master! save, we perish!

<sup>26</sup> And he saith unto them,

[Why] are ye [fearful], little of faith?

[Then, aroused] he rebuked the winds and the sea,—and it became a great calm. <sup>27</sup> But [the men] marvelled, saying,

Whence is this one,—that ||both the winds and the sea|| unto him, give ear?

§ 15. Two Demoniacs delivered. Mk. v. 1-20;

Lu. viii. 26-39.

<sup>28</sup> And <when he [came] unto the other side, into the country of the Gadarenes> there met him, two' men demonized, [out of the tombs] coming forth,—fierce exceedingly, so that no one could pass that way; <sup>29</sup> and lo! they cried aloud, saying, swine, feeding; <sup>31</sup> and [the demons] began to beseech him, saying,

<If thou dost cast us out>

Send us away, into the herd of swine.

<sup>32</sup> And he said unto them,

Withdraw!

So [they] going out, departed into the swine,—and lo! all the herd rushed down the cliff, into the sea, and died in the waters. <sup>33</sup> And [they who were feeding them] fled,—and, departing into the city, reported all things, and what concerned them who had been demonized. <sup>34</sup> And lo! [all] the city came out to meet Jesus,—and, seeing him, they besought that he would pass on from their bounds.

§ 16. A Paralytic forgiven and healed.

Mk. ii. 3-12; Lu. v. 18-26.

<sup>9</sup> And, entering into a boat, he crossed over, and came into his own city. <sup>2</sup> And lo! they were bringing unto him a paralytic, [on a couch] laid prostrate; and Jesus, [seeing] their faith, said to the paralytic,—

Take courage! child; forgiven are thy sins.

<sup>3</sup> And lo! [certain of the scribes] said within themselves,—

[This man] speaketh profanely!

<sup>4</sup> And Jesus [knowing] their inward thoughts, said,—

To what end are ye cherishing evil thoughts within your hearts?

<sup>5</sup> For which is easier—

To say, Forgiven are thy sins,—

Or to say, Rise and be walking!

<sup>6</sup> But <that ye may know, that the Son of Man hath [authority] upon the earth, to be forgiving sins>

[Then] saith he to the paralytic,—

Rise! take up thy couch,

And withdraw unto thy house.

<sup>7</sup> And, rising, he departed unto his house.

<sup>8</sup> Now the multitudes [seeing] were struck with fear, and glorified the God who had given authority [such as this] [unto men].

§ 17. Matthew called. Mk. ii. 13-17; Lu. v. 27-32.

<sup>9</sup> And Jesus <passing aside from thence> saw a man presiding over the tax-office, called [Matthew] and saith unto him,—

Be following me.

And, arising, he followed him.

<sup>10</sup> And it came to pass <as he was reclining in the house> that lo! [many] tax-collectors and sinners came, and were reclining together with Jesus and his disciples. <sup>11</sup> And [the Pharisees] [observing it] began to say unto his disciples,—

Wherefore [with tax-collectors and sinners] doth your Teacher eat?

<sup>12</sup> And [he] hearing it, said,—

No need have the strong, of a physician, but they who are sick.

<sup>13</sup> But go ye, and learn what this meaneth,— [Mercy] I desire, and not [sacrifice];

* Mt. "is."

* Ho. vi. 6.

For I came not, to call the righteous, but sinners.

§ 18. Then will they fast. Mk. ii. 18-22;

Lu. v. 33-38.

<sup>14</sup> Then come near unto him the disciples of John, saying,— Wherefore do [we] and the Pharisees fast,* whereas [thy disciples] [fast not]?

<sup>15</sup> And Jesus said unto them,—

Can [the sons<sup>b</sup> of the bridechamber] mourn, so long as [the bridegroom] is [with them]?

But days will come, when the bridegroom [shall be taken from them], and [then] will they fast.

§ 19. The Daughter of Jairus raised; and the Woman with a Flow of Blood cured. Mk. v. 22-43; Lu. viii. 41-56.

<sup>18</sup> <While [these things] he was speaking unto them> lo! [a [certain] ruler] came, and began bowing down to him, saying,—

[My daughter] just now died!

But come, and lay thy hand upon [her], and she shall live.

<sup>19</sup> And Jesus, arising, was following him, also his disciples.

<If only I touch his mantle> I shall be made well!

<sup>22</sup> And [Jesus] [turning and seeing her] said,—

Take courage! daughter,

[Thy faith] hath made thee well.

And the woman was made well, from that hour.

<sup>26</sup> And <Jesus [coming] into the house of the ruler, and seeing the flute-players and the multitude in confusion> was saying:

<sup>24</sup> Give place! for the maiden died not, but is sleeping.

And they began to deride him. <sup>25</sup> But <when the multitude had been put forth> he went in, and grasped her hand,—and the maiden arose. <sup>26</sup> And forth went this report, into the whole of that land.

crying aloud and saying,—

Have mercy on us, O Son of David!

<sup>28</sup> And <when he entered the house> the blind men came unto him,—and Jesus saith unto them,
Believe ye, that I can |do this|?

They say unto him,

Yea, Lord!

<sup>29</sup> Then touched he their eyes, saying,

|According to your faith| be it done unto you.

<sup>30</sup> And their eyes were opened. And Jesus
|sternly charged them| saying,

Mind! let no one know!

<sup>31</sup> |They| however, going forth, made him known throughout the whole of that land.

<sup>32</sup> And <as |they| were going forth> lo! there was brought to him a dumb man, demonized.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>33</sup> And <the demon being cast out> the dumb man spake; and the multitudes marvelled,
saying,—

|Never| was it seen thus, in Israel.

<sup>34</sup> [But |the Pharisees| began to say,

|In the ruler of the demons| is he casting out
the demons.]

<sup>35</sup> And Jesus was going round all the cities and the villages, teaching in their synagogues, and proclaiming the glad-message of the kingdom,— and curing every' disease, and every' infirmity.

<sup>36</sup> But |seeing the multitudes| he was moved with compassion concerning them, because they were torn and thrown down, like sheep
having no shepherd.<sup>c</sup> <sup>37</sup> |Then| saith he unto his disciples,—

|The harvest|<sup>d</sup> indeed, is great,

But |the labourers| few;

<sup>38</sup> Beg ye, therefore, of the Lord of the harvest,— That he would thrust forth labourers, into his harvest.

§ 21. The Twelve first sent forth. Mk. vi. 7 f;

Lu. ix. 1 f; cp. § 93.

<sup>10</sup> And <calling near his twelve' disciples> he gave them authority over impure spirits,—so as to be casting them out, and curing every' disease, and every' infirmity. <sup>2</sup> Now |the twelve'
apostles' names|<sup>e</sup> are these:—

First Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew,
his brother,—

And James, the son of Zebedee, and John, his brother;

<sup>3</sup> Philip, and Bartholomew,—

Thomas, and Matthew, the tax-collector;

James, the son of Alphæus, and Thadæus;

<sup>4</sup> Simon, the zealot, and Judas Iscariot, who also delivered him up.

<sup>5</sup> |These twelve| Jesus sent forth, charging them,
saying:—

|Into any way to the nations| do not depart,—
And |into any city of Samaritans| do not enter;

<sup>6</sup> But be going, rather, unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>7</sup> And |as ye go| proclaim, saying,

The kingdom of the heavens hath drawn near!<sup>g</sup>

<sup>8</sup> Be curing |the sick|, raising |the dead|,— cleansing |lepers|, casting out |demons|;<sup>h</sup>
||Freely|| ye have |received| |freely| ||give||.

<sup>9</sup> Ye may procure—neither gold, nor silver, nor copper, for your belts,—<sup>10</sup> neither satchel for journey, nor two' tunics, nor sandals, nor staff;<sup>i</sup>

For |worthy| is the labourer, of his maintenance.

<sup>11</sup> And <into whatsoever city or village ye enter>
Search out who in it is |worthy|,
And |there| abide, till ye go forth.

<sup>12</sup> And <as ye enter the house> salute it;

<sup>13</sup> And <if the house be worthy>

Let your peace come upon it,

But <if it be not worthy>

Let your peace, unto you, return.

<sup>14</sup> And <whosoever shall neither welcome you, nor hear your words>

|As ye go forth, outside that house or city|
Shake off the dust of your feet:

<sup>15</sup> |Verily| I say unto you,—

|More tolerable| will it be, ||for the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment||

Than for |that| city!<sup>d</sup>

<sup>16</sup> Lo! ||I|| send you forth, as sheep amidst wolves;
Become ye therefore—

Prudent, as serpents, and simple,<sup>e</sup> as doves.

<sup>17</sup> But beware of men:—

For they will deliver you up into high-councils,

And |in their synagogues| will they scourge you,—

<sup>18</sup> And |before both governors and kings|
shall ye be brought |for my sake|—

||For a witness to them and the nations||.

<sup>19</sup> And <when they deliver you up>

Be not anxious, how or what ye shall speak,—
For it shall be given you, in that' hour, what ye shall speak;

<sup>20</sup> For it is not |ye| who are speaking,

But |the Spirit of your Father| that is speaking in you.

<sup>21</sup> And |brother| will deliver up |brother| unto death,

And |father|| |child||,—

And |children| will rise up |against parents|,
||And will put them to death||.

<sup>22</sup> And ye will be hated by all, because of my name,—

But ||he that endureth throughout|| |the same| shall be saved.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>23</sup> And <when they persecute you in this city> flee into another,—

For |verily| I say unto you,

|In nowise shall ye finish the cities of Israel|
Till ||the Son of Man|| come.

§ 22. John in prison sends Questions to Jesus.

Lu. vii. 18-35.

- 11 And it came to pass <when Jesus had finished giving instructions to his twelve disciples> he passed on from thence, to be teaching and proclaiming in their cities.
- 2 Now [John] <hearing in the prison the works of the Christ> [sending through his disciples]
3 said unto him,
Art [thou] the coming one?
Or [a different one] are we to expect?
- 4 And [answering] Jesus said unto them—Go report unto John, what ye do hear and see:—
- 5 The [blind] recover sight,
And [the lame] walk,
[Lepers] are cleansed,
And [the deaf] hear,<sup>a</sup>
And [the dead] are raised,
And [the destitute] are told the joyful tidings<sup>b</sup>;
- 6 And [happy] is he, whosoever shall not find cause of stumbling [in me].
- 7 But <as these were going their way> Jesus began to say unto the multitudes, concerning John,—
What went ye forth into the wilderness to gaze at?
A reed, by a wind, shaken?
- 8 But what went ye forth to see?
A man, in soft clothing, arrayed?
Lo! [they who soft clothing do wear] are in the houses of kings.
- 9 But why went ye forth?
[A prophet] to see?
Yea, I say unto you, And much more than a prophet.
- 10 [This] is he, concerning whom it is written,— Lo! [I] send my messenger before thy face,
Who shall make ready thy way before thee.<sup>c</sup>
- 11 [Verily] I say unto you—
There hath not arisen [among such as are born of women] [a greater than John the Immerser].—

Yet ||he that is less in the kingdom of the heavens|| is |greater than he|.

12 But <from the days of John the Immerser, until even now>
The kingdom of the heavens |is being invaded|,
And |invaders| are ||seizing upon it||.

13 For ||all<sup>a</sup> the prophets and the law|| |until John| did prophesy;
14 And <if ye are willing<sup>a</sup> to accept it>
|He| is Elijah—the one destined to come.<sup>b</sup>
15 ||He that hath ears|| let him hear!

16 But |unto what| shall I liken this generation?
It is |like| unto children, sitting in the market-places,
Who |calling unto the others| <sup>17</sup> say,
We played the flute to you,
And ye danced not,—
We sang a lament,
And ye beat not the breast.

18 For |John| came ||neither eating nor drinking||,
And they say—|A demon| he hath!
19 |The Son of Man| came ||eating and drinking||
And they say,
Lo! a gluttonous man and a wine-drinker!
A friend |of tax-collectors| and sinners!
And yet wisdom hath been justified by her works.

§ 23. Favoured Cities upbraided. Lu. x. 13-15.

20 |Then| began he to upbraid the cities, in which had been done his noblest mighty works; because they repented not:—
21 Alas for thee, Chorazin!
Alas for thee, Bethsaida!
Because <if |in Tyre and Sidon| had been done the works of power, which were done in you>
||Of old|| |in sackcloth and ashes| had they repented.

22 Moreover, I say unto you,
||For Tyre and Sidon|| |more tolerable| will it be, in a day of judgment, |than for you|.

23 And |thou| ||Capernaum||!
|Unto heaven| shalt thou be uplifted?
|Unto hades| thou shalt be brought down<sup>c</sup>;
Because <if |in Sodom|<sup>d</sup> had been done the works of power, which were done in thee>
It would, in that case, have remained until this day.

24 Moreover, I say unto you—
||For the land of Sodom|| |more tolerable| will it be in a day of judgment, than ||for thee||.

§ 24. Praise for Babes—Welcome for the Burdened. Lu. x. 21, 22.

25 |In that' season| answered Jesus, and said—
I openly give praise unto thee, Father, Lord of heaven and earth,—
In that thou hast hid these things from the wise and discerning,
And hast revealed them unto babes;
26 Yea, O Father! that |so| it hath become |a delight| before thee.

27 ||All things|| |unto me| have been delivered up by my Father;
And |no one| fully knoweth the Son ||save the Father||,
Neither doth any one fully know ||the Father|| save |the Son|,—
And he to whomsoever the Son, may be minded |to reveal| him.

28 Come unto me! all' ye that toil and are burdened,
And |I| will give you rest:
29 Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me,—
Because |meek| am I and lowly |in heart|,
And ye shall find rest unto your souls<sup>a</sup>;
30 For |my yoke| is easy,
And |my burden| light.

§ 25. Disciples pluck Ears of Corn on Sabbath. Mk. ii. 23-28; Lu. vi. 1-5.

12 <In that' season> went Jesus, on the sabbath, through the cornfields,—and |his disciples| hungered, and began to pluck ears of corn, and to eat. <sup>2</sup> But |the Pharisees| observing it, said unto him,—
Lo! |thy disciples| are doing what it is not allowed to do |on sabbath|.

3 And he said unto them,
Have ye never read what |David| did, |when he hungered, and they who were with him|? how
4 he entered into the house of God and |the presence-bread| did eat,<sup>b</sup> which it was not |allowable| for him to eat, nor for them who were with him,—save for the priests |alone|?
5 Or have ye not read, in the law, that ||on the sabbaths|| the priests, in the temple, |the sabbath| profane, and are |blameless|?
6 But I say unto you,—|Something greater than the temple| is here!
7 <If, however, ye had known what this meaneth—<sup>c</sup>
||Mercy|| I desire, and not |sacrifice|><sup>d</sup>
Ye would not have condemned the blameless;
8 For ||the Son of Man|| is |Lord of the Sabbath|.

§ 26. Withered Hand healed on Sabbath. Mk. iii. 1-6; Lu. vi. 6-11.

9 And, passing on from thence, he came into their synagogue; <sup>10</sup> and lo! a man having a withered hand, and they questioned him, saying,
Is it allowable |on the sabbath| to heal?
|that they might accuse him|.
<sup>11</sup> And he said unto them,

<sup>a</sup> Jer. vi. 16 (Heb.).
<sup>b</sup> 1 S. xxi. 6.
<sup>d</sup> Ro. vi. 8.

What man [from among yourselves] [shall there be],—

Who shall have one sheep,
And <if this should fall, on the sabbath,
into a pit>

Will not lay hold of it, and raise it?

12 How much better, then, [a man] than [a sheep]?

So that it is allowable [on the sabbath]
[nobly] to act.

13 Then saith he unto the man,

Stretch forth thy hand!

And he stretched it forth,—and it was restored whole, as the other].

§ 27. The Pharisees plotting, Jesus retires, quietly healing many.

14 And the Pharisees [going forth] took [counsel] against him, to the end that [him, they might destroy].

15 But [Jesus] taking note, retired from thence,—and many followed him, and he cured them all; 16 and straitly charged them, lest they should make him [manifest]:

17 that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken through Isaiah the prophet, saying:—

18 *Lo! my servant, whom I have chosen,
My beloved, in whom [my soul] delighteth,—
I will put my Spirit upon him,
And [Justice] [unto the nations] will he report:*

19 *He will not strive, nor will he cry out,
Nor shall any hear, in the broadways, his voice:*

20 *A braised cane will he not break,
And [a smoking wick] will he not quench,—*

21 *Until he urge on [Justice] to victory,
And [in his name] shall nations hope.**

§ 28. Demoniac cured. [In Beelzebub] Blaspheming the Spirit. Mk. iii. 20-30; Lu. xi. 14-23.

22 Then they brought unto him, one demonized, blind and dumb,—and he cured him, so that the dumb did speak and see. 23 And all the multitudes were beside themselves, and were saying,
Can [this one] be [the Son of David]?

24 But [the Pharisees] hearing it, said,
[This one] doth not cast out the demons, [save in Beelzebub<sup>b</sup> ruler of the demons].<sup>c</sup>

25 And [knowing their inward thoughts] he said unto them,

[Every] kingdom divided against itself is laid waste,—

And [no] city or house divided against itself will stand;

26 And <if [Satan] is casting [Satan] out> [against himself] hath he become divided,—

How then shall [his kingdom] [stand]?

27 And <if [I] [in Beelzebub]<sup>b</sup> am casting out the demons>

In whom are [your sons] casting them out?

Wherefore [they] shall be [judges of you].

28 But <if [in God's Spirit] [I] am casting out the demons>

Then doubtless hath come upon you unawares
[the kingdom of God]!

29 Or how can one enter the house of the mighty and [seize his goods],

Unless [first] he bind the mighty one?

And [then] [his house] he will plunder.

30 [He that is not with me] is [against me],—
And [he that gathereth not with me] [scattereth].

31 [Wherefore] I say unto you,
[All] sin and profane speaking [shall be forgiven] unto men,—

But [the speaking profanely of the Spirit]
[shall not be forgiven];

32 And <whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of Man> it shall be forgiven him,—
But <whosoever shall speak against the Holy Spirit> [it shall not be forgiven him]
[Either in this age,<sup>a</sup> or the coming].

33 Either make the tree good, and its fruit good—
Or make the tree worthless, and its fruit worthless;
For [from the fruit] the tree is known.<sup>b</sup>

34 Broods of vipers!
How can ye speak [good things] [being] [evil]?
For [out of the abundance of the heart] the mouth speaketh.

35 [The good] man [out of the good] treasure
putteth forth [good things];
And [the evil] man [out of the evil] treasure
putteth forth [evil things].

36 But I say unto you,
That <every> useless expression that men shall utter>

They shall render, concerning it, an account,
in a day of judgment;

37 For [by thy words] shalt thou be [justified],
And [by thy words] shalt thou be condemned].

§ 29. The Sign of Jonah, the Wisdom of Solomon, and the Return of the Demon. Lu. xi. 29-32.

38 [Then] answered him, certain of the Scribes and Pharisees, saying,

Teacher! we desire of thee [a sign, to behold].

39 But [he] answering, said unto them,

[A wicked and adulterous generation] [a sign]<sup>a</sup> doth seek,

And [a sign] will not be [given] it
[Save the sign of Jonah the prophet].

40 For <just as was Jonah in the belly of the monster three days and three nights><sup>a</sup> [so] will be the Son of Man, in the heart of the earth, three days and three nights.

41 [Men of Nineveh] will rise up in the judgment, with this generation, and will condemn it,—because they repented into the proclamation of Jonah; and lo! [something greater than Jonah] [here].

42 [The queen of the south] will arise in the judgment with this generation and will con-

denn it,—because she came out of the ends of the earth, to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and lo! [something greater than Solomon] || here||.

- 43 But <when the impure' spirit goeth out of the man> it passeth through waterless' places, seeking rest,—and findeth it not. 44 [Then] it saith,

[Into my house] will I return, [whence I came out],— and, coming, findeth it empty [and] swept and adorned. 45 [Then] it goeth, and taketh along with itself, seven' diverse' spirits, [more wicked than itself],—and, entering, abideth there; and [the last state of that man] becometh || worse than the first||. [So] shall it be, with this [wicked] generation.

§ 30. "Who is my Mother?" Mk. iii. 31-35;

Lu. viii. 19-21.

- 46 <While yet he was speaking unto the multitudes> lo! [his mother and brethren] were standing without, seeking to speak with him.

- 47 [And one said to him,

Lo! ||thy mother and thy brethren|| [without] are standing, seeking [to speak] with thee.]

- 48 But [he] answering, said unto him that was telling him,

Who is my mother? and who are my brethren?

- 49 And, stretching forth his hand towards his disciples, he said,

Lo! my mother and my brethren!

- 50 For <whosoever shall do the will of my Father who is in the heavens> [he] is my [brother, and sister, and mother].

§ 31. The Parable of the Sower. Mk. iv. 1-9;

Lu. viii. 4-8.

- 13 [On that day] Jesus, going out of the house, was sitting near the sea; 2 and there were gathered unto him, large multitudes, so that [he] [into a boat] entered, and was sitting, and [all the multitude] on the beach was standing.

- 3 And he spake unto them many things, in parables, saying:

Lo! the sower went forth to sow,—4 and <as he sowed>

[Some] indeed, fell by the pathway, and [the birds] came, and devoured it;

- 5 And [some] fell on the rocky places, where it had not much earth,—and [straightway] it sprang up, because it had no depth of earth;

- 6 and [the sun arising] it was scorched, and, because it had no root, it withered away 7;

- 7 And [some] fell upon the thorns, and the thorns came up, and choked it;

- 8 But [some] fell upon the good ground, and did yield fruit,—[this] indeed a hundred fold, and [that] sixty, and [the other] thirty.

- 9 [He that hath ears] let him hear.

* Mi: "was withered."

§ 32. Wherefore in Parables? The Sower explained. Mk. iv. 10-20; Lu. viii. 9-15.

- 10 And the disciples [coming near] said to him, Wherefore [in parables] art thou speaking to them?

- 11 And [he] answering, said,*

Because [unto you] hath it been given, to get to know the sacred secrets<sup>b</sup> of the kingdom of the heavens,—whereas [unto them] hath it not been given.

- 12 For [whosoever hath] it shall be given ||to him||, and he shall be made to abound,—

But [whoever hath not] ||even what he hath|| shall be taken from him.<sup>c</sup>

- 13 [For this reason] [in parables, unto them] do I speak,—because [seeing] they see not, and [hearing] they hear not,—neither do they understand.

- 14 And [again] is being fulfilled in them| the prophecy of Isaiah, which saith,—

They shall |surely hear| and yet will not understand,

And |surely see| and yet not perceive;

- 15 For the heart of this people hath become dense,

And [with their ears] heavily have they heard,

And [their eyes] have they closed,—

Lest, once they should see with their eyes,

And [with their ears] should hear,

And, with their hearts, should understand, and return;

When I would certainly heal them.<sup>d</sup>

- 16 But happy are [your] eyes, that they see, And your ears, that they hear;

- 17 For [verily] I say unto you—

[Many prophets and righteous men]

Have coveted to see what ye see, and have not seen,

And to hear what ye hear, and have not heard.<sup>e</sup>

- 18 Hear [ye] then, the parable of him that sowed:—

- 19 <When anyone heareth the word of the kingdom, and understandeth it not> the wicked one cometh, and catcheth up that which hath been sown in his heart,—[this] is he [by the pathway] sown.

- 20 And [he on the rocky places sown] [the same] is he that [heareth the word] and [straightway, with joy] receiveth it; 21 yet hath he no root in himself, but is [only for a season],—and <there arising, tribulation or persecution because of the word> [straightway] he findeth cause of stumbling.

- 22 And [he among the thorns sown] [the same] is he that [heareth the word],—and [the anxiety of the age<sup>f</sup> and the deceit of riches] choke up the word, and [unfruitful] it becometh.

- 23 But [he on the good ground sown] [the same] is he who doth hear and understand the word, who, indeed, beareth fruit and produceth,—[this] a hundred, and [that] sixty, and [the other] thirty.

§ 33. The Wheat and the Darnel.

24 [Another] parable [put he before them, saying—
The kingdom of the heavens hath become like a man sowing good seed in his field; <sup>25</sup> and while men were sleeping] his enemy came, and sowed over darnel, in among the wheat,—and away he went.

26 And <when the blade shot up, and brought forth [fruit]> [then] appeared [the darnel also].

27 And the servants of the householder,* coming near, said to him,—

Sir! was it not [good] seed [thou didst sow in thy field?

Whence then hath it [darnel]?

28 And he said unto them—

[[An enemy] hath [done this].

And they say [unto him]—

Wilt thou, then, that we go and collect it?

29 And [he] saith—

Nay! lest, at any time [while collecting the darnel] ye uproot, along with it, [the wheat]:

30 Suffer both to grow together until the harvest, and at [harvest time] I will say unto the reapers,—

Collect ye first, the darnel, and bind it into bundles, with a view to the burning it up; but [the wheat] be gathering into my barn.

§ 34. The Grain of Mustard Seed. Mk. iv.

30-32; Lu. xiii. 18, 19.

31 [Another] parable [put he before them, saying—

The kingdom of the heavens is like unto [a grain of mustard seed], which a man took and sowed in his field; <sup>32</sup> which, indeed, is less [than all] seeds, but [when grown] is greater than garden-plants], and becometh a tree,—so that the birds of heaven come,
and lodge among its branches.<sup>b</sup>

§ 35. The Leaven. Lu. xiii. 20, 21.

32 [Another] parable [spake he unto them]:—

The kingdom of the heavens is like [unto leaven], which a woman took and hid in three measures of flour until [the whole] was leavened.<sup>c</sup>

§ 36. Without a Parable—nothing. Mk. iv. 33, 34.

34 [All these things] spake Jesus in parables, unto the multitudes, and [without a parable] was he speaking [nothing] unto them: <sup>35</sup> that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken through the prophet, saying—

I will open [in parables] my mouth,

I will bring up things hidden from the foundation!<sup>d</sup>

§ 37. Private Explanation of The Darnel.

36 [Then] <dismissing the multitudes> he went into the house, and his disciples came near to
him, saying—

Make quite plain to us the parable of the darnel of the field.

37 And [he] answering, said—

[[He that soweth the good seed] is the Son of Man;

38 And [the field] is the world,

And [the good] seed [these] are the sons of the kingdom,—

And [the darnel seeds] are the sons of the evil one;

39 And [the enemy that sowed them] is the adversary,

And [the harvest] is [the conclusion of an age],<sup>a</sup>

And [the reapers] are [messengers].

40 Just, therefore, as collected is the darnel, and [with fire is burned] > [so] will it be in the conclusion of the age:—<sup>a</sup>

41 The Son of Man will send forth his messengers, and they will collect, out of his kingdom, all the causes of stumbling,<sup>b</sup> and the doers of lawlessness,<sup>c</sup> and will cast them into the furnace of fire; [there] will be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

42 [Then, the righteous] will shine forth<sup>d</sup> as the sun, in the kingdom of their Father.

[He that hath ears] let him hear!

§ 38. The Hid Treasure.

44 The kingdom of the heavens is like unto [a treasure hid in the field], which a man, finding, hid,—and [by reason of his joy] withdreweth and selleth whatsoever he hath, and buyeth that field.

§ 39. One Very Precious Pearl.

45 [[Again] the kingdom of the heavens is [like] unto [a merchant, seeking beautiful pearls],—<sup>46</sup> and <finding one very precious pearl> departing, he at once sold all things, whatsoever he had, and bought it.

§ 40. The Drag-net.

47 [[Again] the kingdom of the heavens is like unto [a large drag-net, cast into the sea and gathering of every kind],—<sup>48</sup> which [when it was filled] they dragged up on the beach, and, sitting down, collected the good into vessels, but [the worthless] forth they cast.

49 [So] will it be in the conclusion of the age:
The messengers will come forth, and separate the wicked from among the righteous; <sup>50</sup> and will cast them into the furnace of fire: [there] will be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

52 And [he] said unto them—

||Wherefore|| [every] scribe, disciplined unto the kingdom of the heavens, is like unto a householder, who putteth forth out of his treasure, things new and old.

§ 42. Offence at the Carpenter's Son. Mk. vi.

2-6; cp. Jn. vi. 42.

53 And it came to pass <when Jesus had finished these parables> he removed from thence; 54 and <coming into his own city> began teaching them in their synagogue, so that with astonishment were they being struck, and were saying—
||Whence|| hath [this one] this wisdom, and the mighty works?

55 Is not [this one] the carpenter's ||son||?
Is not [his mother] called Mary, and are not his brethren—James and Joseph, and Simon, and Judas? 56 and ||his sisters|| are they not all with us?

||Whence|| then hath [this one] all these things?

57 And they began to find cause of stumbling in him.<sup>a</sup> But [Jesus] said unto them—

A prophet<sup>b</sup> is not without honour, save in his<sup>c</sup> city, and in his house.

58 And he did not, there, many mighty works, because of their unbelief.

§ 43. John the Immerser Beheaded. Mk. vi. 14-29;

Lu. ix. 7-9.

14 [In that] season, heard Herod the tetrarch, the fame of Jesus; 2 and he said unto his servants—

[This] is John the Immerser,—

[He] hath arisen from the dead,

[For this cause] are the powers working mightily within him.

3 For [Herod] seizing John, had bound him, and [in prison] 4 put him away,—because of Herodias, the wife of Philip his brother; 4 for John had been saying to him,

It is not allowed thee, to have her.

5 And, desiring [to kill] him, he feared the multitude, because [as a prophet] they held him.<sup>e</sup>

6 But  the daughter of Herodias danced in the midst, and pleased Herod; 7 wherefore [with an oath] he promised to give her, whatsoever she should ask for herself; 8 and [she] being led on by her mother,—

Give me [saith she] here, upon a charger, the head of John the Immerser.

9 And the king [though grieved] yet <because of the oaths and the guests> ordered it to be given; 10 and sent and beheaded John in the prison.

11 And his head was brought upon a charger, and given unto the maiden, and she brought it to her mother. 12 And his disciples [going near] bare away the corpse, and buried him, and came and brought tidings unto Jesus.

§ 44. Five Thousand fed. Mk. vi. 32-34;

Lu. ix. 10-17; Jn. vi. 1-13.

13 And Jesus [hearing it] retired from thence in a boat, into a desert place, [apart],—and the multitudes [hearing of it] followed him on foot from the cities. 14 And [coming forth] he saw a great multitude,—and was moved with compassion<sup>a</sup> over them, and cured their sick.

15 And [evening] arriving, the disciples came unto him, saying—

The place is [a desert], and [the hour] hath already passed,—dismiss the multitudes,<sup>b</sup> that they may go away into the villages, and buy themselves food.

16 But [Jesus] said unto them,

[No need] have they to go away,—give [ye] them to eat.

17 But [they] say unto him—

We have nothing here, save five' loaves and two' fishes.

18 But [he] said—

Bring [them] to me, here.

19 And <giving orders that the multitudes should recline upon the grass,—taking the five' loaves and the two' fishes,—looking up into the heaven> he blessed; and, breaking, gave [the disciples] the loaves, and the disciples unto the multitude. 20 And they did all eat, and were filled,—and they took up the remainder of the broken pieces, twelve' baskets [full]. 21 And [they who did eat] were about five' thousand [men], besides women and children.

§ 45. Jesus walks upon the Lake. Mk. vi. 45-56;

Jn. vi. 16-21.

22 And [straightway] constrained he the disciples to enter into a<sup>c</sup> boat, and be going before him unto the other side, while he dismissed the multitudes.

23 And, dismissing the multitudes, he went up into the<sup>d</sup> mountain, apart, to pray,—and when [evening] came, [alone] was he [there].

24 Now [the boat] [still many furlongs from the land] was holding off,<sup>e</sup> being distressed by the waves,—for [the wind] was [contrary].

25 And [in the fourth' watch of the night] he came unto them, walking upon the sea. 26 And [the disciples] seeing him [upon the sea walking] were troubled,—saying—

It is [an apparition];<sup>f</sup>

and [by reason of their fear] they cried out.

27 And [straightway] Jesus<sup>g</sup> spake unto them, saying—

Take courage! it is [I],—be not afraid.

28 And [making answer] Peter said unto him,—

Lord! if it is [thou] bid me come unto thee, upon the waters.

29 And [he] said—

Come!

And, descending from the boat, Peter walked upon the waters, and came<sup>h</sup> unto Jesus. 30 But [seeing the wind] he was affrighted, and [beginning to sink] cried out, saying—

Lord! save me!

<sup>31</sup> And [straightway] Jesus, stretching forth his hand, laid hold upon him and saith unto him—
O little-of-faith! why didst thou doubt?

<sup>32</sup> And, when they came up into the boat [the wind abated]. <sup>33</sup> And [they in the boat] bowed down to him, saying—

||Truly|| [God's Son] thou art!

<sup>34</sup> And, going across, they came up the land, into Gennesaret. <sup>35</sup> And [recognizing him] [the men of that place] sent out into all that region, and they brought unto him all who were sick; <sup>36</sup> and were beseeching [him], that they might [only] touch the border of his mantle, and [as many as touched] were made quite well.

§ 46. Eating with Unwashed Hands.

Mk. vii. 1-23.

<sup>2</sup> Wherefore do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? for they wash not their hands [when they eat bread]!

<sup>3</sup> But [he] answering, said unto them—

Wherefore do [ye also] transgress the commandment of God, for the sake of your tradition? <sup>4</sup> For [God] said—

*Honour thy father and thy mother,**

and—

<He that revileth father or mother> let him surely die!†<sup>b</sup>

<sup>5</sup> But [ye] say—

<Whosoever shall say to his father or his mother—

A gift! whatsoever, out of me, thou mightest be profited>

and so ye have cancelled [the word<sup>c</sup> of God] for the sake of [your tradition].

<sup>7</sup> Hypocrites! well prophesied concerning you, Isaiah, saying—

<sup>8</sup> ||This people|| [with the lips] do [honour] me,

While [their heart] [far off] holdeth from me;

<sup>9</sup> But [in vain] do they pay devotions unto me,

Teaching, for teachings, [the commandments of men].<sup>d</sup>

<sup>10</sup> And, calling near the multitude, he said to them—

Hear and understand!

<sup>11</sup> [Not that which entereth into the mouth] defileth the man,

But [that which proceedeth out of the mouth] [the same] defileth the man.

<sup>12</sup> Then, coming near, his disciples say unto him—

Knowest thou, that the Pharisees [hearing the word] [were caused to stumble]?

<sup>13</sup> And [he] answering, said—

<Every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted> will be uprooted:

<sup>14</sup> Let them alone! they are [blind leaders];<sup>a</sup> and <if the [blind] lead the [blind]> both [into a ditch] will fall.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>15</sup> And Peter [answering] said unto him, Declare to us the parable.

<sup>16</sup> And [he] said,

||To this moment|| are [ye also] without discernment?

<sup>19</sup> For [out of the heart] come forth wicked designs,—murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, profane speakings:

<sup>20</sup> [these] are the things which defile the man, but [the eating with unwashed hands] doth not defile the man.

§ 47. A Canaanite Woman's Daughter healed.

Mk. vii. 24-30.

Have mercy on me, Lord, Son of David!

[My daughter] is miserably demonized.

<sup>23</sup> But [he] answered her not a word. And his disciples, coming forward, began requesting him, saying—

Dismiss her, because she is crying out after us.

<sup>24</sup> But [he] answering, said,

I was not sent forth, save unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>25</sup> And [she] coming, began bowing down to him, saying

Lord! help me.

<sup>26</sup> But [he] answering, said,

It is [not seemly] to take the loaf of [the children], and cast [to the little dogs].

<sup>27</sup> And [she] said,

True, Lord! [for] [even the little dogs] eat of the crumbs which are falling from the table of [their masters].

<sup>28</sup> [Then] answering, Jesus said to her—

O woman! [great] is [thy faith]!

Be it [done] for thee, [as thou desirest].

And her daughter was healed, from that hour.

§ 48. Four Thousand fed. Mk. viii. 1-10; cp. chap. xiv. 13 ff.

<sup>29</sup> And, passing on from thence, Jesus came near the sea of Galilee, and, going up into the mountain, was sitting there. <sup>30</sup> And there came unto him large multitudes, having with themselves the lame, the maimed, the blind, the dumb,<sup>e</sup> and many others,—and they cast them near his feet, and he cured them; <sup>31</sup> so that the multitude marvelled, seeing the dumb speaking, the lame walking, and the blind seeing,—and they glorified the God of Israel. <sup>32</sup> But [Jesus, calling near his disciples] said—

My compassions are moved towards the multitude, because [even now] [three days] abide they with me, and they have nothing to eat,—and [to dismiss them fasting] I am not willing, lest by any means they faint in the way.

Whence [to us, in a wilderness] loaves in such numbers as to fill a multitude [so great]?

[How many] loaves have ye?

And [they] said—

Seven, and a few small fishes.

<sup>35</sup> And <sending word to the multitude to recline upon the ground> <sup>36</sup> he took the seven' loaves, and the fishes, and [giving thanks] brake,—and began giving to his disciples, and [the disciples] to the multitudes. <sup>37</sup> And they all did eat and were filled,—and [the remainder of the broken pieces] took they up, seven' ham-pers [full]. <sup>38</sup> And [they who did eat] were four thousand men, besides women and children.

<sup>39</sup> And, dismissing the multitudes, he went up into the boat,—and came into the bounds of Magadan.

§ 49. A Sign refused. Mk. viii. 11-13:
cp. chap. xii. 38-40; Lu. xii. 54-56.

<sup>16</sup> And [the Pharisees and Sadducees coming near] [putting him to the test] requested him [a sign out of the heaven] to shew unto them.

<sup>2</sup> But [he] answering said unto them—

¶ When evening cometh ye say,

Fair! for fiery is the heaven;

<sup>3</sup> And at morn,

[To-day] a storm! for fiery, and yet sad, is the heaven.

¶ The face of the heaven, indeed, ye learn to distinguish,—

But [the signs of the times] ye cannot. ¶

<sup>4</sup> [A wicked and adulterous generation] [a sign] doth seek after,

And [a sign] will not be given it,—

¶ Save the sign of Jonah.

And, leaving them behind, he departed.

§ 50. Beware of the Leaven. Mk. viii. 14-21:
cp. Lu. xii. 1.

<sup>5</sup> And the disciples, coming to the other side, had forgotten to take loaves. <sup>6</sup> And [Jesus] said unto them—

Mind! and beware, of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

<sup>7</sup> And [they] began to deliberate among themselves, saying—

Because [loaves] we took not.

<sup>8</sup> And [observing it] Jesus said—

Why are ye deliberating among yourselves, ye little-of-faith! because [loaves] ye have not?

<sup>9</sup> [Not yet] perceive ye, neither remember,—

The five' loaves of the five thousand,

And how many baskets ye received?

<sup>10</sup> Nor the seven' loaves of the four thousand,

And how many ham-pers ye received?

<sup>11</sup> How is it ye perceive not, that

[Not concerning loaves] spake I unto you,—

But beware of the leaven [of the Pharisees and Sadducees]?

<sup>12</sup> [Then] understood they that he did not bid them beware of [the] leaven [of loaves] but of [the teaching] of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

§ 51. Peter Confessing and Confessed.

Mk. viii. 27-30; Lu. ix. 18-21.

<sup>13</sup> And <Jesus coming into the parts of Cesarea of Philip> began questioning his disciples, saying—

Who are men saying that [the Son of Man] is?

<sup>14</sup> And [they] said—

[Some] indeed, John the Immerser,

And [others] [Elijah],—

But [others] [Jeremiah, or one of the prophets].

<sup>15</sup> He saith unto them—

But who say [ye] that I am?

<sup>16</sup> And [Simon Peter, answering] said—

[Thou] art the Christ, [the Son of the Living God].<sup>a</sup>

<sup>17</sup> And Jesus [answering] said to him—

¶ Happy art thou, Simon Bar-yona,—

Because [flesh and blood] revealed it not unto thee,

But my Father who is in the heavens.

<sup>18</sup> And [I also] unto thee, say—

[Thou] art Peter,—<sup>b</sup>

And [upon this' rock] will I build my assembly,<sup>c</sup>

And [the gates of hades] shall not prevail against it.

<sup>19</sup> I will give thee, the keys of the kingdom of the heavens,—

And [whatsoever thou shalt bind upon the earth] [shall be bound in the heavens],

And [whatsoever thou shalt loose upon the earth] [shall be loosed in the heavens].<sup>d</sup>

<sup>20</sup> [Then] straitly charged he the disciples, lest [to any man] they should say—

[He] is [the Christ].

§ 52. The Needs Be of the Cross. Mk. viii. 31-38;
Lu. ix. 22-27.

<sup>21</sup> [From that time] began Jesus Christ to be pointing out to his disciples that he must needs [into Jerusalem] go away, and [many things] suffer, from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be slain,—and on [the third day] [arise]. <sup>22</sup> And [taking him aside] Peter began to rebuke him, saying—<sup>e</sup>

<sup>b</sup> I.e., "Thou art petros,—and on this petra" = "Thou art a piece of rock; and on this rock." Note that our Lord does not

Mercy on thee, Lord!

[In nowise] shall [this] befall thee.

<sup>23</sup> But [he] turning, said to Peter—

Withdraw behind me, Satan!

[A snare] art thou of mine,

Because thou art not regarding the things of God, but the things of men.

<sup>24</sup> [Then] Jesus said unto his disciples—

<If any one intendeth [after me] to come>

Let him deny himself, and take up his cross,<sup>a</sup> and be following me;

<sup>25</sup> For <whosoever intendeth [his life]<sup>b</sup> to save> Shall lose it,—

But <whosoever shall lose his life, for my sake>

Shall find it.

<sup>26</sup> For what shall a man be profited,

Though [the whole world] he gain,

And [his life] he forfeit?

Or what shall a man give [in exchange for his life]?

<sup>27</sup> For the Son of Man is destined to be coming,

In the glory of his Father,

With his messengers,—

And [then] will he give back unto each one [according to his practice].<sup>c</sup>

<sup>28</sup> [Verily] I say unto you—

There are some of those [here standing]

Who, indeed, shall in nowise taste of death,

Until they see the Son of Man [coming in his kingdom].

§ 53. The Transformation: Elijah's Sufferings.

Mk. ix. 2-13; Lu. ix. 28-36; cp. 2 P. i. 16-18.

<sup>17</sup> And [after six days] Jesus taketh with him, Peter and James and John his brother, and bringeth them up into a high mountain [apart];

<sup>2</sup> and was transformed<sup>d</sup> before them,—and his face shone as the sun, and [his garments] became white as the light. <sup>3</sup> And lo! there appeared to them, Moses and Elijah, conversing with him. <sup>4</sup> And Peter [answering] said unto Jesus—

Lord! it is [delightful] for us [to be here],—

[If thou wilt] I will make here three tents,

[For thee] one, and [for Moses] one, and [for Elijah] one.

<sup>5</sup> <While yet he was speaking> lo! [a brightly shining cloud] overshadowed them, and lo! [a voice] out of the cloud, saying—

[This] is [my Son, the Beloved, in whom I delight],—<sup>e</sup>

Be hearkening to him.

<sup>6</sup> And [hearing it] the disciples fell upon their face, and were caused to fear exceedingly.

<sup>7</sup> And Jesus came near, and, touching them, said—

Arise! and be not afraid.

<sup>9</sup> And <as they were coming down out of the mountain> Jesus commanded them, saying— [Unto no one] may ye tell the vision, Until the Son of Man [from among the dead] shall arise].

<sup>10</sup> And the disciples questioned him, saying—

Why then do [the Scribes] say,

That [Elijah] must needs come [first]?

<sup>11</sup> And [he] answering, said—

[Elijah] indeed, cometh, and will restore<sup>a</sup> all things;

<sup>12</sup> But, I say unto you—

That [Elijah] just now [came],—

And they recognised him not,

But did with him [whatsoever they pleased];

[Thus] [the Son of Man also] is destined to suffer by them.

<sup>13</sup> [Then] perceived the disciples, that [concerning John the Immerser] he spake to them.

§ 54. Jesus cures one whom the Disciples could not.

Mk. ix. 14-29; Lu. ix. 37-42.

<sup>14</sup> And <when they came unto the multitude> there approached him a man, falling on his knees to him, <sup>15</sup> and saying—

Lord! have mercy upon my son,—because he is lunatic, and in a grievous condition;

For [many times] falleth he into the fire, and [many times] into the water.

<sup>16</sup> And I brought him unto thy disciples, and they could not cure [him].

<sup>17</sup> And Jesus [answering] said—

O faithless and perverted generation!

How long shall I be with you?

How long shall I bear with you?

Bring him to me [here].

<sup>18</sup> And Jesus rebuked it, and the demon came out of him,—and cured was the boy, from that hour.

<sup>19</sup> [Then] the disciples [coming near] to Jesus, [privately] said—

Wherefore could [we] not cast it out?

<sup>20</sup> And [he] saith unto them—

Because of your little faith.

For [verily] I say unto you—

<If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed>

Ye shall say to this mountain,

Remove hence yonder;

and it shall be removed,

And [nothing] shall be impossible to you. [21]<sup>b</sup>

§ 55. Third Announcement of Sufferings. Mk. ix.

<sup>22</sup> And <as they were being gathered together in Galilee> Jesus said unto them—

The Son of Man is about to be delivered up into the hands of men;

And [on the third day] will he [arise].

And they were grieved exceedingly.

who [the half shekel] were receiving, came near unto Peter, and said,

||Your teacher|| doth he not pay the half shekel?<sup>a</sup>

<sup>25</sup> He saith— Yea. And <coming into the house> Jesus anticipated him, saying,

How [to thee] doth it seem, Simon?

||The kings of the earth|| of whom receive they dues or tax? from their sons, or from the aliens?

<sup>26</sup> And <when he said, From the aliens> Jesus said unto him,

Well then [free] are [the sons]! <sup>27</sup> But <that we may not cause them to stumble> go unto the sea, and cast in a hook, and [the first fish that cometh up] take, and, opening its mouth, thou shalt find a shekel,—[that] take, and give to them for me and thee.

§ 57. Little Ones to be Copied, not Ensnared, Despised or Lost.

18 [In that' hour] came the disciples unto Jesus, saying—

Who then is [greatest] in the kingdom of the heavens?

<sup>2</sup> And [calling near a child] he set it in the midst of them, <sup>3</sup> and said—

||Verily|| I say unto you,

<Except ye turn and become as the children> [In nowise] shall ye enter into the kingdom of the heavens.

<sup>4</sup> <Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this child>

[The same] is the greatest, in the kingdom of the heavens;

<sup>5</sup> And <whosoever shall give welcome unto one such child as this [upon my name]>

[Unto me] giveth welcome.

<sup>6</sup> And <whosoever shall cause to stumble one of these little ones who believe in me>

[It profiteth him] that there be hung a large mill-stone about his neck, and he be sunk in the wide main of the sea.

<sup>7</sup> Alas for the world! by reason of the causes of stumbling;

For it is [necessary] that the causes of stumbling come,— [Nevertheless] alas for the man through whom the cause of stumbling cometh!

<sup>8</sup> But <[if thy hand or thy foot] be causing thee to stumble>

Cut it off, and cast it from thee:

It is [seemly for thee] to enter into life, maimed or lame,

Rather than [having two' hands or two' feet] to be cast into the age-abiding fire.

<sup>9</sup> And <[if thine eye] causeth thee to stumble>

Pluck it out, and cast it from thee:

It is [seemly] for thee [one-eyed] [into life] to enter,

Rather than [having two' eyes] to be cast into the fiery gehenna.<sup>b</sup>

That [their messengers in the heavens] do [continually] behold the face of my Father in the heavens. [11]<sup>a</sup>

<sup>12</sup> How [to you] doth it seem?

<[If a certain man come to have a hundred' sheep]

And one from among them go astray>

Will he not leave the ninety-nine upon the mountains,

And going, seek the straying one?

<sup>13</sup> And <[if it should be that he find it]>

[Verily] I say unto you—

He rejoiceth over it, more than over the ninety-nine that have not gone astray.

<sup>14</sup> [Thus] there is no desire, in the presence of my<sup>b</sup> Father who is in the heavens,

That [one of these little ones] should be lost.

§ 58. How to Gain and how often to Forgive an Offending Brother. Parable of the Forgiveness yet Unforgiving Servant.

<sup>15</sup> But <[if thy brother sin]>

Withdraw, convince him, betwixt thee and him [alone],—<sup>c</sup>

<[If unto thee he hearken]>

Thou hast gained thy brother;

<sup>16</sup> But <[if he do not hearken]>

Take with thee, yet one or two,

That <[at the mouth of two' witnesses or three']>

[Every declaration] may be established<sup>d</sup>;

<sup>17</sup> But <[if he hear them amiss]>

Tell it to the assembly,—<sup>e</sup>

And <[if even the assembly] he hear amiss>

Let him be unto thee, just as the man of the nations and the tax-collector.

<sup>18</sup> [Verily] I say unto you—

<[Whatsoever things ye shall bind on the earth]>

Shall be bound in heaven;

And <[whatsoever things ye shall loose on the earth]>

Shall be loosed in heaven.

<sup>19</sup> [Again] [Verily] I say unto you—

<[If two from among you shall agree upon the earth concerning any matter, what soever' they shall ask]>

It shall be brought to pass for them, from my Father who is in the heavens;

<sup>20</sup> For <[where there are two or three, gathered together into my name]>

- 24 And <when he began to settle> there was brought unto him a [certain] debtor [of a thousand talents];<sup>25</sup> and <he [not having] wherewith to pay> the master ordered him to be sold, and the wife and the children, and whatsoever he had,—and payment to be made.<sup>26</sup> The servant therefore [falling down] began to do homage unto him, saying—

Have patience with me,
And [all] will I pay thee.

- 27 And [moved with compassion] the master of that<sup>a</sup> servant released him, and [the loan] he [forgave] him.

- 28 But that servant [going out] found one of his fellow-servants, who owed him [a hundred denaries], and, laying hold of him, he began seizing him by the throat, saying,
Pay! if anything thou owest.

- 29 His fellow servant, therefore, [falling down] began beseeching him, saying,
Have patience with me!
And I will pay thee.

- 30 [He] however, would not, but went away and cast him into prison,—until he should pay what was owing.<sup>31</sup> His fellow-servants, therefore, [seeing] the things that were done, were grieved exceedingly,—and went and made quite plain to their master all the things which had been done.

- 32 [Then, calling him near] his master saith unto him—

O wicked servant!
[All that debt] forgave I thee, because thou didst beseech me.

- 33 Was it not binding [upon thee also] to have mercy upon thy fellow-servant, as [I also] [on thee] had mercy?

- 34 And [provoked to anger] his master delivered him up to the torturers, until he should pay all that was owing.

- 35 [Thus] [my heavenly Father also] will do unto you, if ye forgive not each one his brother [from your hearts].

[For this cause] will a man leave his father and his mother,

So that [no longer] are they [two] but [one flesh].<sup>a</sup>

<What, therefore, [God] hath yoked together>

Let not [a man] [put asunder].

- 7 They say unto him—

Why then did [Moses] command, to give a writing of repudiation and to divorce?<sup>b</sup>

- 8 He saith unto them—

[Moses] [in view of your hardness of heart] permitted you to divorce your wives;
[From the beginning] however, hath it not been done [thus].

- 9 And I say unto you—

<Whosoever shall divorce his wife, saving for unfaithfulness, and shall marry another> committeth adultery.<sup>c</sup>

- 10 The disciples say unto him—

<If [so] is the cause of the husband with the wife> it is not expedient to marry.

- 11 But [he] said unto them—

[Not all] find room for the word, save they to whom it hath been given;

- 12 For there [are] eunuchs, who [from their mother's womb] were born so,

And there [are] eunuchs, who were made eunuchs [by men],—

And there [are] eunuchs, who have made [themselves] eunuchs [for the sake of the kingdom of the heavens];

[He that is able to find room] let him find room.

§ 60. Children brought to Jesus. Mk. x. 13-16;
Lu. xviii. 15-17.

- 13 [Then] were brought unto him, children,—that he might lay his hands upon them, and pray. And [the disciples] rebuked them.

14 But [Jesus] said—

Suffer the children—and do not hinder them—to come unto me,—

For [of such] is the kingdom of the heavens.

- 15 And, laying his hands upon them, he went his way from thence.

§ 61. A Rich Ruler—"We left all"—Twelve Thrones—The Day Labourers. Mk. x. 17-31; Lu. xviii. 18-30.

- 16 And lo! one coming near unto him, said,

Teacher! what good thing shall I do, that I may have life age-abiding?

- 17 And [he] said unto him—

Why dost thou question me concerning that which is good?

There is [One] that is good!

But <if thou desirest [into life] to enter>

Be keeping the commandments.

<sup>c</sup> Or (WH): "without a reason of unfaithfulness (lit. harlotry) causes her to be made an adulteress, and he that marieth the divorced woman committeth adultery." Cp. Mt. v. 32; Lk. xvi. 18.

- 18 He saith unto him Which?
 [Jesus] said— These :<sup>a</sup>
*Thou shalt not commit murder,
 Thou shalt not commit adultery,
 Thou shalt not steal,—
 Thou shalt not bear false witness ;*
 19 Honour thy father and thy mother,—<sup>b</sup>
 and—
Thou shalt love thy neighbour as [thyself].<sup>c</sup>
 20 The young man saith unto him—
 [These all] have I kept,—
 What [further] do I lack ?
 21 Jesus said unto him—
 <If thou desirest to be [perfect]> Withdraw ! sell thy substance, and give to the destitute,—<sup>d</sup>
 And thou shalt have treasure in the heavens ;
 And come ! be following me.
 22 And the young man [hearing] this<sup>e</sup> word, went away sorrowing,—for he was holding large possessions.
 23 And [Jesus] said unto his disciples—
 [Verily] I say unto you,
 [A rich man] [with difficulty] shall enter into the kingdom of the heavens.
 24 Again I say unto you—[Easier] is it for [a camel] [through the eye of a needle] to enter,
 Than a rich man—into the kingdom of God.
 25 And [hearing it] the disciples were being struck with the greatest astonishment, saying—
 Who then can be saved ?
 26 And [looking intently] Jesus said unto them—
 [With men] this is [impossible],
 But [with God] [all things are possible].<sup>f</sup>
 27 Then [making answer] Peter said unto him—
 Lo ! [we] have left all, and followed thee,—
 What then shall there be [for us] ?
 28 And [Jesus] said unto them—
 [Verily] I say unto you,
 <As for you who followed me in the regeneration>
 [When the Son of Man shall take his seat on his throne of glory]
 [Ye also] shall be seated upon twelve' thrones,
 Judging the twelve' tribes of Israel.
 29 And <whosoever left houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or children, or lands, for sake of my name> [Manifold] shall receive,
 And life [age-abiding] shall inherit.
 30 But many shall be—
 First-last, and Last-first.<sup>g</sup>
- 20 For the kingdom of the heavens [is like] a man, a householder,—
 Who went forth with the morning, to hire labourers into his vineyard ;<sup>h</sup> and <when he had agreed with the labourers for a denary the day> he sent them into his vineyard.

- 3 And <going forth about the third' hour>
 he saw others, standing in the marketplace, unemployed ;<sup>i</sup> and [to them] he said—
 [Ye also] go your way into the vineyard, and [whatsoever may be right] I will give you ;
 5 and [they] departed.
 And <[again] going forth about the sixth'
 and ninth' hour> he did likewise.
 6 And <[about the eleventh] going forth> he found others, standing, and saith unto
 them—
 Why [here] stand ye, all' the day,
 [unemployed] ?
 7 They say unto him—
 Because [no one] hath hired [us].
 He saith unto them—
 [Ye also] go your way into the vineyard.
 8 And [when evening came] the master of the vineyard saith unto his steward—
 Call the labourers, and pay the hire,— beginning from the last, unto the first.
 9 And they of the eleventh' hour [coming] received severally a denary.
 10 And <when the first came> they supposed that [more] they should receive,—and [they also] received severally a denary.
 11 And [having received it] they began to murmur against the householder, <sup>12</sup> saying—
 [These last] [one' hour] wrought, and thou hast made them [equal unto us] who have borne the burden of the day, and the scorching heat.
 13 And [he] answering, [unto one of them]
 said,—
 Friend ! I wrong thee not :
 Was it not [for a denary] thou didst agree with me ?
 14 Take thine own, and go thy way ;
 But I please [unto this' last] to give, as also to thee :
 15 Is it not allowed me to do [what I please] with my own ?
 Or is [thine eye] [evil] because I am
 good ?
 16 [Thus] shall be—
 The last first, and the first last.<sup>j</sup>

- 17 And <Jesus, being about to go up unto Jerusalem> took unto him the twelve [disciples]
 [apart], and [in the way] he said unto them—
 18 Lo ! we are going up unto Jerusalem ;
 And [the Son of Man] will be delivered up unto the chief-priests and Scribes,
 And they will condemn him [to death],

[The Request for Zebedee's Sons. Mk. x. 35-45.]

Then came unto him the mother of the sons of Zebedee, with her sons, bowing down, and asking something from him. <sup>2</sup> And [he] said to her—What desirest thou?

She saith unto him—

That these my two sons may sit, one on thy right hand, and one on thy left, in thy kingdom.

But Jesus answering said—

Ye know not what ye are asking: can ye drink of the cup, which [I] am about to drink?

They say unto him—We are able.

He saith unto them—

My cup, indeed, ye shall drink;

but ye shall sit on my right hand and on my left, is not mine to give,—except unto those for whom it hath been prepared by my Father.

And the two [hearing] were sorely displeased, because the two brethren.

But Jesus, calling them near, said—

Ye know that [the rulers of the nations] lord it over them,

And the great ones wield authority over them;

Not so [among you],—

But whosoever shall desire [among you] to become great, shall be [your servant];

And whosoever shall desire [among you] to be first, shall be [your servant];—

For [the Son of Man] came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life as a ransom instead of many.

[The Blind Men recover Sight. Mk. x. 46-52; Lu. xviii. 35-43.]

As they were going forth from Jericho, he was followed by a great multitude; <sup>30</sup> and lo! two blind men, sitting beside the road, <heard that Jesus was passing by> cried aloud,

Have mercy on us! Son of David!

And the multitude rebuked them, that they should be silent. But [they] [the more] cried aloud, saying—

Have mercy on us! Son of David!

And Jesus called them, and said to them—What would ye I should do for you?

They say unto him—Our eyes may open.

And with compassion Jesus touched their eyes, and straightway they recovered sight, and followed him.

[The Blind Men's Entry. Mk. xi. 1-10; Lu. xix. 28-38; Jn. xii. 12-15.]

They drew near unto Jerusalem, to Bethphage, unto the Mount of Olives, and Jesus sent forth two disciples;

Be going into the village that is over against you, and [straightway] ye shall find an ass bound, and a colt with her,—loose them, and lead them unto me.

<sup>3</sup> And <if anyone [unto you] say aught> ye shall say—

[Their Lord] hath [need],— and [straightway] he will send them.

<sup>4</sup> But [this] hath come to pass, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken through the prophet, saying:

Lo! [thy King] is coming unto thee,

Meek and mounted upon an ass,

And upon a colt the foal of a taming ass.

<sup>6</sup> And the disciples [went] and did as Jesus directed them; <sup>7</sup> and led the ass and the colt, and laid upon them their garments, and he took his seat upon them. <sup>8</sup> And [the chief multitude] spread their own mantles in the way, and [others] were cutting off young branches from the trees, and spreading them in the way; <sup>9</sup> and the multitudes <they who were going before him and they who were following after> were crying aloud, saying—

Hosanna! to the Son of David,

[Blessed] is he that is coming in the name of the Lord,

Hosanna in the highest.

<sup>10</sup> And <when he entered into Jerusalem> all the city was startled, saying—

Who is this?

<sup>11</sup> And [the multitudes] were saying—

[This] is the prophet Jesus,—

He from Nazareth of Galilee.

[§ 66. The Temple cleansed. Mk. xi. 15-17; Lu. xix. 45, 46; cp. Jn. ii. 13-17.]

<sup>12</sup> And Jesus entered into the temple, and cast out all who were selling and buying in the temple,—and [the tables of the money-changers] he overthrew, and the seats of them who were selling doves; <sup>13</sup> and saith unto them—

It is written,

[My house] [a house of prayer] shall be called;

but [ye] are making it,

A den of robbers.

<sup>14</sup> And there came unto him blind and lame, in the temple, and he cured them.

<sup>15</sup> But the Chief-priests and the Scribes <[seeing] the marvels that he wrought, and the boys who were crying aloud in the temple, and saying,

Hosanna to the Son of David!>

were greatly displeased; <sup>16</sup> and said unto him—

Hearst thou what these are saying?

And [Jesus] saith unto them—

Yea: Have ye never read,

§ 67. The Barren Fig-tree Withered.

Mk. xi. 12-14, 20-24.

18 And <early| returning into the city> he hungered; 19 and <seeing one fig-tree by the way> he came up to it, and |nothing| found he thereon, save leaves only,—and he saith unto it—

||No more|| |from thee| let fruit spring forth, unto times age-abiding,— and the fig-tree |instantly| withered away|.

20 And the disciples |seeing it| marvelled, saying—

|How instantly| did the fig-tree wither away!

21 And Jesus |answering| said unto them—

|Verily| I say unto you,

<If ye have faith, and do not doubt>

Not only |this of the fig-tree| shall ye do,—

But <even if |unto this mountain| ye shall say,

Be lifted up,

And be cast into the sea>

it shall be done.

22 And |all things whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing| ye shall receive.

§ 68. By what Authority? Two Sons.

Mk. xi. 27-33; Lu. xx. 1-8.

23 And <when he |entered| the temple> the Chief-priests and the Elders of the people |came unto him as he was teaching| saying,

||By what' authority|| |these things| art thou doing?

And |who| to thee |gave| this authority?

24 And |making answer| Jesus said unto them—

|I also| will ask |you| one thing,—

Which if ye tell me,

||I also|| will tell |you|

||By what authority|| |these things| I am doing:—

25 ||The immersion by John|| whence was it?

Of heaven, or of men?

But |they| began to deliberate among themselves, saying—

<If we say, Of heaven>

He will say unto us, Wherefore then did ye not believe him?

26 But <if we say, Of men>

We fear the multitude,

For ||all|| |as a prophet| are holding John.

27 And, making answer to Jesus, they said—

We know not.

|He also| said unto them—

Neither do |I| tell |you|,

||By what' authority|| |these things| I am doing.

28 But how |to you| doth it seem?

|A man| had two sons:

<Coming unto the first> he said,

Son! go thy way,

|To-day| be working in the vineyard.

29 And |he| answering, said, |I| sir!

and went not;

30 And <coming unto the second> he spake |in like manner|,—

And |he| answering, said, I will not:

||afterwards|| smitten with regret,

|he went|.

31 |Which of the two| did the will of the father? They say,

The latter.

Jesus saith unto them—

|Verily| I say unto you,

||The tax-collectors and the harlots|| are going before you, into the kingdom of God;

32 For John came unto you, in a way of righteousness,

And ye believed him not,—

But |the tax-collectors and the harlots| believed him;

And ||ye|| |seeing it| were not even smitten with regret |afterwards| so as to believe him.

§ 69. The Fruits of the Vineyard Demanded.

Mk. xii. 1-12; Lu. xx. 9-19.

33 |Another' parable| hear ye:—

A man there was, a householder,

Who |planted a vineyard|,

And |a wall around it| placed,

And digged in it a wine-vat,

And built a tower,*

And let it out to husbandmen,—

And left home.

34 And <when the season of fruits drew near>

He sent forth his servants unto the husbandmen to receive his fruits.

35 And the husbandmen |taking his servants|,

|One| indeed, they beat,

And |another| slew,—

And |another| stoned.

36 |Again| sent he forth other' servants, more than the first,

And they did unto them |likewise|.

37 ||Afterwards|| however, he sent forth unto them his son, saying,—

They will pay deference unto my son!

38 But |the husbandmen| seeing the son, said among themselves,—

|This| is |the heir|:

Come on!

Let us slay him,

And have his inheritance.

39 And, taking him, they cast him forth outside the vineyard,—and slew him.

40 <When therefore the master of the vineyard shall come>

What will he do unto those husbandmen?

41 They say unto him—

Miserable men!

|Miserably| will he destroy them;

And will let out |the vineyard| to other husbandmen,

Who will render unto him the fruits in their seasons.

* Is. v. 1 f.

42 Jesus saith unto them—

Have ye |never| read in the Scriptures,
 <A stone which the builders rejected>
 |The same| hath become ||head of the corner||:
 |From the Lord| hath this come to pass,
 And is marvellous in our eyes.<sup>a</sup>

43 Wherefore I say unto you,
 The kingdom of God |will be taken away
 from you|,
 And given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof:

44 [And |he that falleth on this stone|<sup>b</sup>
 Will be sorely bruised;
 But |on whomsoever it may fall|
 It will utterly destroy<sup>c</sup> him.]

45 And the Chief-priests and the Pharisees |hearing his parables| took note, that |concerning them| he was speaking. 46 And, seeking to secure him, they feared the multitudes; since
 |for a prophet| were they holding him.

§ 70. Marriage Feast and Wedding Garment.
 Lu. xiv. 16-24.

22 And |answering| Jesus |again| spake in parables unto them, saying:—

2 The kingdom of the heavens hath become like a man, a king,—

Who made a marriage-feast for his son;
 3 And sent his servants, to call the invited into the marriage-feast,—
 And they would not come.

4 |Again| sent he other servants, saying—
 Say to the invited,
 Lo! |my dinner| have I prepared,
 |Mine oxen and my fatlings| are slain,—
 And |all things| are |ready|:
 Come ye into the marriage-feast.

5 And |they| slighting it, went off,
 |One| indeed, into his own field,
 And |another| unto his merchandise,—

6 And |the rest| securing his servants, ill-treated and slew them.

7 And |the king| was provoked to anger,—
 And, sending his armies,
 Destroyed those murderers,
 And |their city| set on fire.

8 |Then| saith he unto his servants—
 |The marriage| indeed, is ready,—
 But |the invited| were not |worthy|;

9 Be going, therefore, into the crossways of the roads,
 And |as many as ye shall find| call ye
 into the marriage-feast.

10 And those servants |going forth| into the roads,
 Gathered together all whom they found, both bad and good,—
 And filled was the bride-chamber with guests.

11 But the king <entering to view the guests> Saw there a man, who had not put on a wedding-garment,—

12 And saith unto him—

Friend! how camest thou in here, not having a wedding-garment?
 And |he| was put to silence.

13 |Then| the king said unto the ministers—
 <Binding him feet and hands>
 Cast him forth into the darkness |outside|:
 |There| shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

14 For ||many|| are |called|, but |few| ||chosen||.

§ 71. Cæsar and God. Mk. xii. 13-17; Lu. xx.
 20-26.

15 |Then| went the Pharisees and took |counsel|,
 that they might ensnare him |in discourse|.

16 And they sent forth to him their disciples, with the Herodians, saying,

Teacher! we know that |true| thou art,
 And ||the way of God|| |in truth| dost
 teach,

And it concerneth thee not about anyone,—
 For thou lookest not unto the face of men:

17 Tell us then, how |to thee| it seemeth?
 Is it allowable to give tax unto Cæsar, or not?

18 But Jesus <taking note of their wickedness>
 said—

Why are ye tempting me, hypocrites?

19 Shew me the coin appointed for the tax.
 And |they| brought unto him a denary.

20 And he saith unto them—
 |Whose| is this image and the inscription?

21 They say—Cæsar's.
 |Then| saith he unto them—
 Render, therefore, |the things of Cæsar, unto
 Cæsar|,—

And |the things of God, unto God|.

22 And, hearing, they marvelled,—and, leaving him, departed.

§ 72. Marriage and the Resurrection.
 Mk. xii. 18-27; Lu. xx. 27-39.

23 |On that day| there came unto him Sadducees, who say, there is |no resurrection|,—and they questioned him, 24 saying—

Teacher! |Moses| said,
 <If any man die not having children> his brother shall marry his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.<sup>a</sup>

25 Now there were, with us, seven brethren;
 And |the first| marrying, died, and not having seed, left his wife unto his brother.

26 ||Likewise|| |the second also|, and the third,—|unto the seven|.

27 And |last of all| died ||the wife||.

28 ||In the resurrection, therefore||—
 |Of which of the seven| shall she be wife?
 For |all| had her.

29 And Jesus answering, said—
 Ye are deceiving yourselves, Knowing neither the Scriptures, nor yet the power of God.

30 For [in the resurrection] they neither marry, nor are given in marriage,
But [as messengers in the heaven] are they.
31 But [as touching the resurrection of the dead]—

Have ye not read what was spoken unto you by God, saying—

32 [I] am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?<sup>a</sup>

He is not God [of the dead] but [of the living].

33 And [the multitudes] hearing, were being struck with astonishment at his teaching.

§ 73. The Greatest Commandment. Mk. xii. 28-31; Lu. x. 25-27.

34 Now [the Pharisees] <hearing that he had silenced the Sadducees> were brought together with one accord; <sup>35</sup> and one from among them, a lawyer [proposed a question] putting him to the test:

35 Teacher! [which commandment] is greatest in the law?

37 And [he] said unto him—

Thou shalt love the Lord thy God—with all' thy heart, and with all' thy soul, and with all' thy mind:<sup>b</sup>

38 [This] is the great and first commandment.

39 [The second, like it] is [this]:

Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.<sup>c</sup>

40 [In these two' commandments] [all' the law] is contained, [and the prophets].

§ 74. David's Son and Lord. Mk. xii. 35-37; Lu. xx. 41-44.

41 Now <the Pharisees having come together> Jesus questioned them, saying—

42 How [to you] doth it seem, [concerning the Christ]?

[Whose son] is he?

They say unto him— David's.

43 He saith unto them—

How then doth [David, in spirit] call him [Lord], saying—

44 [The Lord] hath said unto [my Lord],—
Sit thou on my right hand,

Until I make thy foes thy footstool?<sup>d</sup>

45 <If then [David] calleth him [Lord]>

[How] is he [his son]?

46 And [no one] was able to answer him a word, neither durst anyone [from that' day] question him [any more].

§ 75. Alas for the Scribes and Pharisees.

23 [Then] Jesus spake unto the multitudes and unto his disciples, <sup>2</sup> saying—

[Upon Moses' seat] have sat down, the Scribes and the Pharisees:

3 <[All things] therefore, whatsoever they tell you> do and observe,—

But [according to their works] do ye not,
For they [say], and do not [perform].

4 But they bind together heavy burdens,<sup>e</sup>

And lay upon men's shoulders,

Whereas [they] [with their finger] are not willing to move them.<sup>a</sup>

5 But [all their works] they do, [to be gazed at by men],—

For they make broad their amulets,

And make large their fringes,

6 And dearly love the first couch in the chief meals,

And the first seats in the synagogues,

7 And the salutations in the market-places,
And to be called by men, Rabbi.

8 But [ye]—do not be called Rabbi,—

For [one] is your Teacher,

And [all' ye] are brethren;

9 And [father] be none of you called [upon the earth],

For [one] is your Father [the Heavenly];

10 Neither be called leaders,

For [your leader] is one [the Christ];

11 And [the greatest of you] shall be to you [a minister];

12 And [whoever shall exalt himself] shall be [abased],

And [whoever shall abase himself] shall be [exalted].<sup>b</sup> [13]<sup>c</sup>

14 But alas for you, Scribes and Pharisees, [hypocrites];

Because ye are locking up the kingdom of the heavens before men,—

For [ye] are not entering,

Neither [them who are entering] suffer ye to enter.

15 Alas for you, Scribes and Pharisees, [hypocrites]:

Because ye compass sea and dry land, to make one' convert,—

And [when it is done] ye make him a son of gehenna [twofold more than ye].

16 Alas for you, blind guides! that say—<Whosoever shall swear by the Temple> it is [nothing],

But <whosoever shall swear by the gold of the Temple> is bound:

17 Foolish and blind! for which is [greater],
The gold, or the Temple that hath hallowed the gold?

18 And <whosoever shall swear by the altar>
it is [nothing],

But <whosoever shall swear by the gift that is upon it> is bound:

19 Blind!<sup>d</sup> for which is greater

The gift, or the altar that halloweth the gift?

20 <He therefore that hath sworn by the altar>
Sweareth by it, and by all that is upon it;

21 And <he that hath sworn by the Temple>
Sweareth by it, and by him who dwelleth<sup>e</sup>

Which |outside| indeed, appear |beautiful|,
But |within| are full ||of dead men's bones and all' uncleanness||,—
- 28 Thus ||ye also|| |outside| indeed, appear to men |righteous|,
But |within| are full ||of hypocrisy and lawlessness||.
- 29 Alas for you, Scribes and Pharisees, ||hypocrites||;
Because ye build the sepulchres of the prophets,
And adorn the monuments of the righteous, and say—
<If we had been in the days of our fathers>
We would not have been their partners in the blood of the prophets;
- 30 So that ye bear witness against yourselves, That ye are |sons| of them who murdered the prophets.
- 31 And ||ye|| fill ye up<sup>c</sup> the measure of your fathers!
- 32 Serpents! broods of vipers! how should ye flee from the judgment of gehenna?
- 33 ||For this cause|| lo! |I| send unto you, prophets and wise men and scribes,—
|Some from among them| ye will slay and crucify,
And |some from among them| ye will—
Scourge in your synagogues,
And pursue from city to city:
- 34 That there may come upon you—
All' righteous blood poured out upon the earth,
From the blood of Abel the righteous,
Unto the blood of Zachariah, son of Barachiah, whom ye murdered between the Temple and the altar.

- 36 |Verily| I say unto you—
|All these things| will have come ||upon this generation||.<sup>a</sup>
- 37 Jerusalem! Jerusalem!
That slayeth the prophets,
And stoneth them that have been sent unto her,—
|How often| would I have gathered thy children,
Like as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings,—
And ye would not!
Lo! your house is left to you;<sup>b</sup>
- 38 For I say unto you—
|In no wise| may ye see me |henceforth|,
Until ye say,
|Blessed| is he that cometh ||in the name of the Lord||.<sup>c</sup>

§ 76. The Prophecy on Mount Olivet. Mk. xiii.
Lu. xxi.

- 24 And <Jesus coming forth> |from the temple| was taking his departure, when his disciples came forward, to point out to him the buildings of the temple. <sup>2</sup> But |he| answering, said unto them—
Are ye not beholding all these things?
|Verily| I say unto you—
|In no wise| shall there be left here |stone upon stone|,
Which shall not be thrown down.
- <sup>3</sup> And <as he was sitting upon the Mount of Olives> the disciples came unto him, privately, saying—Tell us, when these things shall be,—
And what the sign of thy presence,<sup>d</sup> and the conclusion of the age.<sup>e</sup>
- <sup>4</sup> And |answering| Jesus said unto them—
Be taking heed, lest anyone |deceive| you;
<sup>5</sup> For |many| will come upon my name, saying—
|I| am the Christ,—
And will |deceive many|.
- <sup>6</sup> Moreover ye will be sure to be hearing of wars, and rumours of wars:
Mind! be not alarmed, for it must needs happen,—<sup>f</sup>
But |not yet| is |the end|;
- <sup>7</sup> For there will arise—
Nation against nation,
And kingdom against kingdom,—<sup>g</sup>
And there will be famines and earthquakes |in places|.
- <sup>8</sup> But |all' these things| are a beginning of birth-pangs.
- <sup>9</sup> |Then| will they deliver you up into tribulation, and will slay you,—
And ye will be men hated by all' the nations |because of my name||<sup>h</sup>;
- <sup>10</sup> And |then| will many be caused to stumble,<sup>i</sup>
And |one another| will deliver up,
And will hate one another;

<sup>i</sup> Dan. xi. 41 (Sep.).

- 11 And many' false prophets will arise,
And deceive many;
- 12 And <because of lawlessness being brought to the full>
The love of the many will grow cold.
- 13 But <he that hath endured throughout>
The same shall be saved.<sup>a</sup>
- 14 And this glad message of the kingdom will be proclaimed in all' the inhabited earth,
For a witness unto all' the nations,—
And then will have come the end.
- 15 <Whosoever, therefore, ye shall see the abomination of desolation, that was spoken of through Daniel the prophet,
Standing in a holy place,—<sup>b</sup>
He that readeth let him think>
- 16 Then they who are in Judæa
Let them flee into the mountains;
- 17 And he that is on the house-top Let him not come down, to take away the things out of his house;<sup>c</sup>
- 18 And he that is in the field
Let him not turn back to take away his mantle.
- 19 But alas! for the women with child,
And for them that are giving suck in those days;
- 20 But be praying that your flight, may not happen in winter, nor on sabbath;
- 21 For there will be then,
Great tribulation,
Such as hath not happened, from the beginning of the world, until the present time,<sup>d</sup>
Neither in any wise shall happen.
- 22 And <except those days had been shortened><sup>e</sup> no flesh had been saved;
But for the sake of the chosen; those days shall be shortened.
- 23 Then <if any, unto you, say—
Lo! here is the Christ, or there>
Do not believe it;
- 24 For there will arise, false Christs, and false prophets,—
And they will show great signs and wonders,<sup>f</sup>
So that, if possible [even the chosen] should be deceived:—
- 25 Lo! I have foretold you.
- 26 <If therefore they should say unto you—
Lo! in the desert he is>
Do not go forth;
<Lo! in the chambers>
Do not believe it.<sup>g</sup>
- 27 For <just as the lightning goeth forth from the east, and shineth unto the west>
[So] shall be the presence<sup>h</sup> of the Son of Man.
- 28 <Whosoever [the corpse] shall be> [There] shall be gathered [the vultures]<sup>i</sup>
- 29 But <straightway after the tribulation of those days>

- [The sun] will be darkened,
And [the moon] will not give her brightness,
And [the stars] will fall from heaven,—
And [the powers of the heavens] will be shaken;<sup>a</sup>
- 30 And then will be displayed—
The sign of the Son of Man in heaven,
And then will smite their breasts—
All' the tribes of the earth;<sup>b</sup>
And they will see the Son of Man—Coming upon the clouds of heaven,<sup>c</sup> with great power and glory.
- 31 And he will send forth his messengers, with a great trumpet,<sup>d</sup>
And they will gather together his chosen—
Out of the four' winds,<sup>e</sup>
From heavens' bounds, unto their' bounds.<sup>f</sup>
- 32 Now [from the fig-tree] learn ye [the parable];—
<When [already] her young branch [be-cometh tender],
And the leaves [may be sprouting]>
Ye observe, that [near] is [the summer];
- 33 Thus [ye also] <when ye shall see all these things>
Observe ye, that [near] he is [at the doors].
- 34 Verily I say unto you—
[In nowise] shall this<sup>g</sup> generation [pass away]
Until all these things [shall happen];
- 35 [The heaven and the earth] shall pass away,
But [my words] shall [in nowise] pass
away.
- 36 But <concerning that day and hour>
[No one] knoweth,
Neither the messengers of the heavens,
Nor the Son,—
[Save the Father only].<sup>h</sup>
- 37 For <just as the days of Noah>
[So] will be the presence<sup>k</sup> of the Son of Man;
- 38 For <as they were in those<sup>l</sup> days that were before the flood,
Feeding and drinking,
Marrying and being given in marriage,—
Until the day Noah entered into the ark;<sup>m</sup>
And they observed not, until the flood came and took away all together>
[So] will be [the presence<sup>k</sup> of the Son of Man].
- 40 [Then] shall there be two men in the field,—
[One] is taken near, and [one] is left behind;
- 41 Two women grinding at the mill,—
[One] is taken near, and [one] is left behind.
- 42 Be watching, therefore,
For ye know not [on what manner] of day
your Lord is coming.
- 43 But there is [one thing] ye know—
That <if the householder [had known]
[In what watch] the thief was coming>

- * He would have been on the alert,
And not have suffered his house to be dug through.
- 44 |Wherefore| ||ye also|| be getting ready,
Because <in what hour ye are| not thinking|>
||The Son of Man doth come||.
- 45 Who then is the faithful<sup>a</sup> and prudent servant, Whom the master hath appointed over his household,
To give them food<sup>a</sup> in season?
- 46 Happy! that servant, whom his master |when he cometh| shall find so doing!
- 47 |Verily| I say unto you—
|Over all' his substance| will he appoint him.
- 48 But <if that wicked' servant should say in his heart—
My master |delayeth|,
And begin to be striking his fellow-servants,
And eating and drinking with the drunken>
50 The master of that servant |will have come|
On a day when he is not expecting,
And in an hour when he is not observing,—
51 And will cut him asunder;
And |his part| ||with the hypocrites|| will appoint:
|There| shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth!<sup>b</sup>
- 25 |Then| will the kingdom of the heavens
become like unto |ten virgins|,
Who, taking their torches,<sup>c</sup> went forth to meet the bridegroom.
- 2 Now |five of them| were foolish,
And |five| prudent.
- 3 For ||the foolish||—
Though they took |their torches|,
Took not with them ||oil||;
- 4 But ||the prudent|| took oil in their ves-

- 5 Now <the bridegroom |delaying|>
They all became drowsy, and were sleeping.
- 6 And ||at midnight|| an outcry hath been made—
Lo! the bridegroom!
Be going forth to meet him!
- 7 |Then| arose all' those virgins, and trimmed their torches.
- 8 And ||the foolish|| |unto the prudent| said—
Give us of your oil,
Because |our torches| ||are going out||.
- 9 But the prudent |answered| saying—<Lest once, by any means, there be not enough for us and you>
Be going rather unto them that sell,
|And buy for yourselves|.
- 10 But <as they were going away to buy>
The bridegroom |came|;
And |they who were ready| went in with him, into the marriage-feast,
And |the door was locked|.
- 11 But ||afterwards|| came the other' virgins also, saying—
Lord! Lord! open unto us!

161-2; Ap: "Torch."

- 12 And |he| answering, said—
||Verily|| I say unto you,
I know<sup>a</sup> you not.
- 13 Be watching, therefore,
Because ye know, neither the day nor the hour.
- 14 For it is ||just as a man|| who |going from home|
Called his own servants,
And delivered up to them his substance;
15 And |to one| indeed, gave he five' talents,
And |to another| two,
And |to another| one,—
To each according to his particular<sup>a</sup> ability,
And went from home.
- 16 ||Straightway|| he who |the five' talents| had received, went and traded with them, and gained other' five:
- 17 ||Likewise|| |he of the two| gained other'
two:
- 18 But |he who the one' had received| went away, and digged up ground, and hid the silver of his lord.
- 19 And ||after a long' time|| cometh the lord of those servants, and reckoneth with them.
- 20 And he who the five' talents had received |Coming forward| brought other' five'
talents, saying—
Lord! ||five' talents|| |to me| thou
didst deliver up:
See! |other' five' talents| I gained.
- 21 His lord said unto him—
Well-done! good and faithful servant,—
|Over a few things| wast thou faithful,
|Over many things| will I appoint
thee:
Enter into the joy of thy lord.
- 22 He also of the two' talents |coming forward| said—
Lord! ||two' talents|| |to me| didst thou deliver up:
See! |other' two' talents| I gained.
- 23 His lord said unto him—
Well-done! good and faithful servant,—
|Over a few things| wast thou faithful,
|Over many things| will I appoint
thee:
Enter into the joy of thy lord.
- 24 But he also who |the one' talent| had received
|Coming forward| said—
Lord I knew thee,
That thou art a |hard| man,
Reaping, where thou hast not sown,—
And gathering, whence thou hast not winnowed;
- 25 And |overcome with fear|
I went away, and hid thy talent in the ground:
See! thou hast what is thine!
- 26 And his lord |answering| said unto him—
O wicked servant, and cowardly,

<sup>a</sup> Or: "acknowledge."

Knewest thou
That I reap, where I have not sown,
And gather, whence I have not winnowed?
27 |It was binding on thee, therefore| to cast
my silver into the money-changers,—
And |I| when I |came| might have obtained what was mine, |with interest|.
28 Therefore take away |from him| the talent,
And give unto him that hath the ten talents;
29 For |to every one that hath| shall be given,
|And he shall be made to abound||;
But <from him that hath not>
|Even what he hath| shall be taken away from him*;
30 And ||the unprofitable servant||
Cast ye forth into the darkness |outside|:
|There| shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.<sup>b</sup> 31 But <whosoever the Son of Man shall come in his glory,
And all<sup>c</sup> the messengers with him><sup>c</sup>
|Then| will he sit on his throne of glory;
32 And there will be gathered before him, all the
nations,
And he will separate them one from another,
Just as |the shepherd| separateth the sheep
from the goats,—
33 And he will set |the sheep| indeed, on his right hand,
But |the goats| on the left.
34 |Then| will the king say to those on his right
hand:
Come ye, the blessed of my Father!
Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world;
35 For I hungered, and ye gave me to eat,
I thirsted, and ye gave me drink,
|A stranger| was I, and ye took me home,
36 Naked, and ye clothed me,
Sick, and ye visited me,
|In prison| was I, and ye came unto me.
37 |Then| will the righteous answer him, saying:
Lord! |when| saw we thee—
Hungry, and fed thee,
Or thirsty, and gave thee drink?
38 And |when| saw we thee—
A stranger, and took thee home,
Or naked, and clothed thee?
39 And |when| saw we thee—
Sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?
40 And |answering| the king will say unto them:
|Verily| I say unto you—
<Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these<sup>d</sup> my least<sup>e</sup> brethren>
|Unto me| ye did it.
41 |Then| will he say unto those also |on his left
hand|:
Depart ye from me, accursed ones!
Into the age-abiding fire, which hath been prepared for the adversary and his messengers;

42 For I hungered, and ye gave me not to eat,
[And] I was thirsty, and ye gave me not to drink,
43 |A stranger| was I, and ye took me not
home,
Naked, and ye clothed me not,
Sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not.
44 |Then| will |they also| answer, saying:
Lord! when saw we thee—
Hungry, or thirsty, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison,
And ministered not unto thee?
45 |Then| will he answer them, saying:
|Verily| I say unto you—
<Inasmuch as ye did it not |unto one of these least|>
|Neither unto me| did ye it.
46 And |these| shall go away, into |age-abiding|
correction,
But |the righteous| into |age-abiding| life.<sup>a</sup>

§ 77. The Conspiracy to Betray, and the Anointing in Bethany. Mk. xiv. 1-11; Lu. xxii. 1-6;
Jn. xii. 1-8.

26 And it came to pass <when Jesus ended all these words> he said unto his disciples:

2 Ye know that ||after two days|| |the passover|
taketh place,—

And |the Son of Man| is to be delivered up,
to be crucified.

3 |Then| were gathered together,<sup>b</sup> the High-priests and the Elders of the people, into the court of the High-priest who was called Caiaphas;

4 and they took counsel together, in order that |Jesus, by guile| they might secure, and slay.

5 They were saying, however:

Not during the feast,
Lest |an uproar| arise among the people.

6 But |Jesus| <happening to be in Bethany, in the house of Simon the leper> <sup>7</sup> there came unto him a woman, holding an alabaster-jar of costly perfume, and she poured it down upon his head, as he was reclining. <sup>8</sup> And the disciples |seeing it| were greatly displeased, saying—

|To what end| this loss?

9 For this could have been sold for much, and given to the destitute.

10 But Jesus |taking note| said unto them—

Why vex ye the woman?

For |a seemly<sup>c</sup> work| hath she wrought for
me;

11 For |always, the destitute| have ye with you,—
But |me, not always| have ye;

12 For |she| pouring this perfume upon my body,
|so as to prepare me for burial| did it.

13 |Verily| I say unto you—

<Whosoever this glad-message<sup>d</sup> shall be proclaimed in all<sup>e</sup> the world>

Also what she did, will be told, as a memorial of her.

14 |Then| went one of the twelve, the one called Judas Iscariot, unto the High-priests, 15 and said—

What are ye willing to give unto me?

And ||I|| unto you |will deliver him up.

And they appointed him thirty pieces of silver.*

16 And [from that time] was he seeking a favourable opportunity that he might |deliver him up|.

§ 78. The Passover: the Old Feast and the New.
Mk. xiv. 12-26; Lu. xxii. 7-23.

17 And <on the first of the days of unleavened bread> the disciples came unto Jesus, saying—

Where wilt thou that we make ready for thee to eat the passover?

18 And |he| said—

Go your way into the city, unto such-a-one, and say to him,

|The teacher| saith;

||My season| is |near|.

|With thee| will I keep the passover, with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did, as Jesus directed them, and made ready the passover. 20 And

<when |evening| came> he was reclining with the twelve [disciples]; 21 and, as they were eating, he said—

|Verily| I say unto you,

|One from among you| will deliver me up.

22 And |being exceedingly grieved| they began to be saying to him, each one—

Can it be |I| Lord?

23 And |he| answering, said—

<He who hath dipped with me his hand in the bowl> |the same| will deliver me up.

24 |The Son of Man| indeed, goeth his way, according as it is written concerning him,—

But alas! for that man, through whom the Son of Man |is being delivered up|:

|Well| had it been for him, if ||that man|| had not been born!

25 And Judas, who was delivering him up, |answering| said—

Can it be |I| Rabbi?

He saith unto him—

|Thou| hast said.

26 And |as they were eating| Jesus |taking a loaf and blessing| brake,—and |giving to his disciples| said—

Take, eat! |this| is ||my body||.

27 And <taking a cup, and giving thanks> he gave unto them, saying—

Drink of it, all of you;

28 For |this| is my blood of the covenant,<sup>b</sup> which |for many| is to be poured out, for remission of sins.

29 Moreover, I say unto you—

|In nowise| will I drink, henceforth, of this<sup>c</sup> produce of the vine, until that day, whensoever I shall drink it with you |new|<sup>e</sup> ||in the kingdom of my Father||.<sup>d</sup>

30 And, having sung praise, they went forth unto the Mount of Olives.

§ 79. Peter's Denial foretold. Mk. xiv. 27-31; Lu. xxii. 31-34; Jn. xiii. 36-38.

31 |Then| Jesus saith unto them—

||All| ye|| will find cause of stumbling in me, during this night;

For it is written,

I will smite the shepherd,

And |the sheep of the flock| will be scattered abroad<sup>a</sup>;

32 But |after my arising| I will go before you into Galilee.<sup>b</sup>

33 Now Peter |answering| said unto him—

<Though |all| shall find cause of stumbling in thee>

||I|| shall never find cause of stumbling.

34 Jesus saith unto him:

|Verily| I say unto thee—

<During this<sup>c</sup> night, before a cock crow>

|Thrice| wilt thou deny me.

35 Peter saith unto him:

<Even though it be needful for me |with thee| to die>

|In nowise| will I deny thee.

||Likewise|| all the disciples also| said.

§ 80. The Agony. Mk. xiv. 32-42;

Lu. xxii. 40-48.

36 Then Jesus cometh with them, into a place called Gethsemane,—and he saith unto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I go yonder and pray.

37 And <taking with him, Peter and the two sons of Zebedee> he began to be grieved and to be in great distress, 38 |Then| saith he unto them:

|Encompassed<sup>c</sup> with grief| is my soul,<sup>a</sup> ||unto death||:

Abide ye here, and be watching with me.

39 And |going forward a little| he fell upon his face, offering prayer, and saying—

My Father!

|If it is possible| let this cup pass from me,—

|Nevertheless| not as |I| will, but as |thou| wilt.

40 And he cometh unto his disciples, and findeth them sleeping, and saith unto Peter—

|Thus| powerless are ye |one' hour| to watch with me?

41 Be watching and praying, that ye may not enter into temptation:

|The spirit| indeed, is |eager|, but |the flesh| ||weak||.

42 ||Again, a second time|| departing he prayed, saying:

My Father!

I |drink| it>

Lo! [he that delivereth me up] hath drawn near.

§ 81. The Betrayal and Arrest. Mk. xiv. 43-54; Lu. xxii. 47-54.

<sup>47</sup> And <while [yet] he was speaking> lo! [Judas, one of the twelve] came, and, with him [a large multitude] [with swords and clubs, from the High-priests and Elders of the people].

<sup>48</sup> And [he who was delivering him up] gave them a sign, saying—<Whomsoever I shall kiss> [he] it is,— secure him.

<sup>49</sup> And <[straightway] coming unto Jesus> he said—

Joy to thee! Rabbi, and eagerly kissed him.

[Jesus] said unto him—

Friend!<sup>a</sup> wherefore art thou here?

Then, coming forward, they thrust their hands upon Jesus, and secured him. <sup>51</sup> And lo!

[one of those with Jesus] stretching forth his hand, grasped his sword, and smiting the servant of the High-priest, cut off his ear. <sup>52</sup> [Then] Jesus saith unto him—

Put back thy sword into its place, For <all [they who take a sword]> [by a sword] [shall perish].<sup>b</sup>

<sup>53</sup> Or thinkest thou that I cannot call upon my Father,

And he will set near me, even now, [more than twelve] legions of messengers?

<sup>54</sup> How then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, That [thus] it must needs come to pass?

<sup>55</sup> [In that] hour! said Jesus unto the multitudes: [As against a robber] came ye forth [with swords and clubs] to arrest me?

[Daily in the temple] used I to sit teaching, and ye secured me not;

<sup>56</sup> But [this] hath [wholly] come to pass, that [the Scriptures of the prophets] may be fulfilled.

[Then] the disciples, all forsaking him, fled.

<sup>57</sup> And [they who secured Jesus] led him away unto Caiaphas the High-priest, where the Scribes and the Elders gathered themselves together.

<sup>58</sup> Now [Peter] was following him afar off, unto the court of the High-priest,—and, entering within, was sitting with the attendants, to see the end.

§ 82. Jesus before the High-priest. Mk. xiv. 55-65.

<sup>59</sup> Now [the High-priests and all the High-council] were seeking false-witness against Jesus, that they might [put him to death]; <sup>60</sup> and found not any, though many came forward as false-witnesses.

[At length] however, there came forward two, <sup>61</sup> and said:

[This] man said—

I am able to pull down the shrine of God,

And [in three] days [to] [build] it.

<sup>62</sup> And the High-priest [arising] said unto him— [Nothing] answerest thou?

What are these, against thee bearing witness?

<sup>63</sup> But [Jesus] was silent.

And [the High-priest] said unto him:

I put thee on oath, by the Living God, that [to us, thou say]—

Whether [thou] art the Christ, the Son of God.

<sup>64</sup> Jesus saith unto him:

[Thou] hast said<sup>a</sup>;

[Moreover] I say unto you—

[Hereafter] ye will see the Son of Man,

Sitting on the right hand of power,

And coming upon the clouds of heaven.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>65</sup> [Then] the High-priest rent asunder his garments, saying—

He hath spoken profanely!

What further need have we, of witnesses?

Lo! [now] ye have heard the profanity!

<sup>66</sup> How [to you] doth it seem?

And [they] answering, said:

[Guilty<sup>c</sup> of death] he is.

<sup>67</sup> [Then] spat they into his face, and buffeted him; and [others] struck him smartly, <sup>68</sup> saying—

Prophecy unto us, O Christ!

Who is he that struck thee?

§ 83. Peter's Denial. Mk. xiv. 66-72;

Lu. xxii. 55-62; Jn. xviii. 10-18, 25-27.

<sup>69</sup> Now [Peter] was sitting without, in the court; and there came unto him a certain female servant, saying—

[Thou also] wast with Jesus, the Galilean.

<sup>70</sup> But [he] denied before all, saying—

I know not what thou sayest.

<sup>71</sup> And <when he went out into the porch> another female saw him, and said unto them who were there—

[This] one was with Jesus the Nazarene.

<sup>72</sup> And [again] he denied [with an oath]—

I know not the man.

<sup>73</sup> And [after a little] the by-standers [coming forward] said unto Peter:

[Truly] [thou also] art [from among them],

For [thy very speech] maketh thee [manifest].

<sup>74</sup> [Then] began he to be cursing and swearing—

I know not the man!

And [straightway] a cock crowed. <sup>75</sup> And

<sup>b</sup> Dan. vii. 13; Ps. cx. 1.

Peter was put in mind of the declaration of Jesus, of his having said—

¶ Before a cock crow<sup>a</sup> | thrice | wilt thou utterly deny me;
and, going forth outside, he wept bitterly.

§ 84. Jesus taken before the Roman Governor.

Mk. xv. 1; Lu. xxiii. 1; Jn. xviii. 28.

27 Now |when morning came| all' the High-priests and Elders of the people took |counsel| against Jesus, so as to put him to death: <sup>2</sup> and |binding him| they led him away, and delivered him up unto Pilate the governor.

§ 85. The Remorse and End of Judas.

Ac. i. 15-20.

<sup>3</sup> |Then| Judas who had delivered him up |seeing that he was condemned| being smitten with remorse, returned the thirty' pieces of silver unto the High-priests and Elders, <sup>4</sup> saying—

I have sinned, in delivering up righteous<sup>a</sup> blood.

But |they| said—

What is that to us? |thou| shalt see to it for thyself.

<sup>5</sup> And <throwing the pieces of silver into the Temple> he withdrew, and, going away, hanged himself. <sup>6</sup> But ||the High-priests|| |taking the pieces of silver| said—

It is not allowed, to cast them into the treasury; since |a price of blood| they are.

<sup>9</sup> |Then| was fulfilled, that which was spoken through Jeremiah the prophet, saying:

And they took the thirty' pieces of silver,

As the value of him whom they had valued,

Whom they had valued |of Israel's sons|,—

<sup>10</sup> And gave them for the field of the potter,

As |the Lord| directed me.<sup>b</sup>

§ 86. Jesus before Pilate. Mk. xv. 1-15;

Lu. xxiii. 1-7, 13-25; Jn. xviii. 29-40; xix. 1-16.

<sup>11</sup> Now |Jesus| stood before the governor; and the governor questioned him, saying—

|Thou| art the king of the Jews?

And |Jesus| said—

|Thou| sayest.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>12</sup> And <while he was being accused by the High-priests and Elders> |he answered nothing|.

<sup>13</sup> |Then| Pilate saith unto him—

Hearst thou not how many things against thee they are bearing witness?

<sup>14</sup> And he answered him |no not so much as a single word|, so that the governor was marvelling exceedingly.

<sup>15</sup> But ||feast by feast|| the governor had been wont to release one unto the multitude, a prisoner whom they were desiring. <sup>16</sup> Now they had at that time a distinguished prisoner, called |Barabbas|. <sup>17</sup> They therefore having come together |Pilate| said to them—

Whom will ye I should release unto you?

Barabbas?

Or Jesus, who is called Christ?

<sup>18</sup> For he knew that |for envy| they had delivered him up.

<sup>19</sup> And <as he was sitting upon the judgment seat> his wife sent unto him, saying:

Have thou nothing to do with that righteous man, for |many things| have I suffered this day, by dream, because of him.

<sup>20</sup> But |the High-priests and the elders| persuaded the multitudes, that they should claim Barabbas, but |Jesus| should ||destroy||. <sup>21</sup> Now the governor |answering| said unto them—

Which of the two desire ye I should release unto you?

And they said—

Barabbas!<sup>a</sup>

<sup>22</sup> Pilate saith unto them—

What then shall I do unto Jesus, |who is called Christ|?

They all say—

Let him be crucified!

<sup>23</sup> But ||he|| said—

Indeed! what evil hath he done?

But |they, vehemently| were crying aloud, saying—

Let him be crucified!

<sup>24</sup> And Pilate <|seeing| that |nothing| it availed, but rather |a tumult| was arising> taking water, washed his hands of it before the multitude, saying—

|Innocent| am I, of the blood of this man,—<sup>b</sup>

|Ye| shall see to it for yourselves.

<sup>25</sup> And all' the people, answering, said—

His blood be upon us and upon our children!

<sup>26</sup> Then released he unto them Barabbas, but, scourging |Jesus|, delivered him up, that he might be crucified.

§ 87. Jesus mocked by the Roman Soldiers.

Mk. xv. 16-20; Jn. xix. 2 ff.

Joy to thee, King of the Jews!

<sup>30</sup> And |spitting upon him| they took the reed, and began striking upon his head. <sup>31</sup> And, when they had mocked him, they put off him the scarf, and put on him his garments, and led him away unto the crucifying. <sup>32</sup> And <as they were going forth> they found a man of Cyrene, |by name| Simon,—|the same| they impressed to bear his cross.

[THIS] IS JESUS, THE KING OF THE JEWS.

<sup>38</sup> [Then] are crucified with him, [two robbers],<sup>c</sup>—one on the right hand, and one on the left. <sup>39</sup> And [they who were passing by] were reviling him, shaking their heads,<sup>d</sup> <sup>40</sup> and saying—

<The man that taketh down the shrine and in three days buildeth it!>

Save thyself!

<If thou art God's [Son]> come down from the cross.

<sup>41</sup> [Likewise] the High-priests [also], mocking, [with the Scribes and Elders] were saying:

[Others] he saved,—

[Himself] he cannot save:

<sup>42</sup> [Israel's King] he is!

Let him come down, now, from the cross,—

And we will believe on him!

<sup>43</sup> <He hath put confidence upon God>

Let him rescue him, now, if he desireth him<sup>e</sup>;

For he said, I am [God's Son].

<sup>44</sup> And [the same thing] [the robbers also, who were crucified with him] were casting<sup>f</sup> in his teeth.

<sup>45</sup> Now [from the sixth' hour] [darkness] came upon all' the land—until the ninth' hour.

<sup>46</sup> And [about the ninth' hour] Jesus uttered a cry, with a loud voice, saying—

Eloi! Eloi! lema sabachthani?

that is,

My God! my God! to what end hast thou forsaken me?<sup>g</sup>

<sup>47</sup> Now certain of them who were there standing, when they heard, began to say—

[This man] calleth [Elijah].

<sup>48</sup> And [straightway] one from among them <running, and taking a sponge, and filling it with vinegar<sup>h</sup> and putting it on a reed> was giving him to drink; <sup>49</sup> but [the rest] said—

Stay! let us see whether Elijah is coming, [and will save him].

[But [another] taking a spear, pierced his side, and there came forth water and blood.]

<sup>51</sup> And lo! [the veil of the Temple] was rent, from top to bottom, into two; and [the earth] was shaken, and [the rocks] were rent;

<sup>52</sup> and [the tombs] were opened and [many] bodies of the holy ones who had fallen asleep arose,<sup>i</sup> and <coming forth out of the tombs after his arising> entered into [the holy' city], and plainly appeared unto many.

<sup>54</sup> Now [the centurion, and those with him watching Jesus] <seeing the earthquake and the things coming to pass> were violently affrighted, saying—

[Truly] [God's Son] was [he]!

<sup>55</sup> Now there were there, many women, [from afar] beholding, who indeed had followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering unto him; <sup>56</sup> among whom was Mary the Magdalene, also Mary the mother of James and Joseph, and the mother of the sons of Zebedee.

§ 89. The Burial. Mk. xv. 42-47; Lu. 50-56;

Jn. xix. 38-42.

<sup>57</sup> And <when [evening] arrived> there came a rich man from Arimathæa, whose name was Joseph, who also [himself] had been discipled unto Jesus. <sup>58</sup> [The same] [going unto Pilate] claimed the body of Jesus. [Then] Pilate commanded it to be given up. <sup>59</sup> And

Joseph, taking the body, wrapped it up in a clean Indian-cloth, <sup>60</sup> and laid it in his new' tomb, which he had hewn in the rock, and <rolling near a large stone unto the door of the tomb> departed. <sup>61</sup> Now there were there, Mary the Magdalene, and the other' Mary, sitting over against the sepulchre.

§ 90. The Sepulchre sealed and guarded.

<sup>62</sup> And <on the morrow, which is after the preparation> the High-priests and the Pharisees were gathered together unto Pilate, <sup>63</sup> saying—

Sir! we have been put in mind that [that' deceiver] said, while yet living,—

[After three' days] will I [arise].

<sup>64</sup> Command, therefore, that the sepulchre be made secure until the third' day,—lest once the disciples<sup>a</sup> should come and steal him, and say unto the people,

He hath arisen from the dead!

and [the last' deception] shall be [worse than the first].

<sup>65</sup> Pilate saith unto them—

Ye have a guard:

Go your way, secure it for yourselves, as ye know how.

<sup>66</sup> And [they] went and secured for themselves the sepulchre, sealing the stone, with the guard.

Lu. xxiv. 1-43; Jn. xx. xxi.; Ac. i. 3; 1 Co. xv. 1-8.

§ 1. The Forerunner. Mt. iii. 1-12; Lu. iii. 3-17.

the Jordan<sup>f</sup> river, openly confessing their sins;

<sup>6</sup> and John was clothed with camel's-hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins, and was eating locusts and wild honey; <sup>7</sup> and he proclaimed, saying—

He that is mightier than I cometh after [me].

Of whom I am not worthy to stoop and un-loose the strap of his sandals:

<sup>8</sup> ||I|| have immersed you |with water|,—
||He|| will immerse you |with the Holy Spirit|.

§ 2. The Immersion. Mt. iii. 13-17; Lu. iii. 21, 22

<sup>9</sup> And it came to pass, in those<sup>e</sup> days, that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was immersed into the Jordan by John; <sup>10</sup> And <|straightway| as he was coming up out of the water> he saw the heavens rending asunder, and |the Spirit| as a dove| descendat unto<sup>a</sup> him; <sup>11</sup> and a voice [came] out of the heavens—

[Thou] art my Son, the Beloved,— [In thee] I delight.

§ 3. The Temptation. Mt. iv. 1-11 Lu. iv. 1-13.

<sup>12</sup> And [straightway] [the Spirit] urgeth him forth into the wilderness; <sup>13</sup> and he was in the wilderness, forty' days, tempted by Satan, and was with the wild beasts,—and [the messengers] were ministering unto him.

§ 4. Beginning in Galilee. Call of Simon and Andrew, James and John. Mt. iv. 12-22; Lu. iv. 14, 15.

<sup>14</sup> And <after John was delivered up> Jesus came into Galilee, proclaiming the glad-message of God, <sup>15</sup> [and saying]—

The season is fulfilled,

And the kingdom of God hath drawn near,— Repent ye, and have faith in the glad-message.

<sup>16</sup> And <passing by near the sea of Galilee> he saw Simon, and Andrew the brother of Simon, casting a net in the sea,—for they were fishers;

<sup>17</sup> and Jesus said unto them—

Come after me,

And I will make you become fishers of men;
<sup>18</sup> and <[straightway] leaving the nets> they followed him. <sup>19</sup> And [going forward a little] he saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, and them who were in the boat putting in order the nets; <sup>20</sup> and [straightway] he called them,—and <leaving their father Zebedee in the boat, with the hired men> they came away after him.

§ 5. In Capernaum Jesus teaches, and expels an Impure Spirit. Lu. iv. 31-37.

<sup>21</sup> And they journey into Capernaum. And <[straightway, on the Sabbath] entering into the synagogue> he began teaching<sup>b</sup>; <sup>22</sup> and they were being struck with astonishment at his teaching,—for he was teaching them as one having [authority], and [not as the Scribes].

<sup>23</sup> And [straightway] there was in their synagogue, a man in<sup>c</sup> an impure spirit,—and he cried out aloud, <sup>24</sup> saying—

What have we in common with thee<sup>d</sup>

Jesus of Nazareth?

Hast thou come to destroy us?

I<sup>e</sup> know thee, who thou art,

[[The Holy One of God]].

<sup>25</sup> And Jesus rebuked him, [saying]—

Be silenced, and come forth out of him!

<sup>26</sup> And the impure spirit <tearing him, and calling out with a loud voice> came forth out of him;

<sup>27</sup> and they were amazed, one and all, so that they began to discuss among themselves, saying—

<sup>28</sup> And forth went the report of him, straightway, on every hand, into all' the surrounding country of Galilee.

§ 6. Healeth Simon's Mother-in-law and many others. Visits all Galilee. Mt. viii. 14-16; Lu. iv. 38-44.

<sup>29</sup> And <straightway, out of the synagogue, going forth> he went into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John. <sup>30</sup> Now [the mother-in-law of Simon] was lying in a fever, and [straightway] they speak to him concerning her; <sup>31</sup> and, coming near, he raised her up, grasping her hand,—and the fever left her, and she began ministering unto them.

<sup>32</sup> And <evening arriving, when the sun went in> they were bearing unto him all' who were sick, and them who were demonized; <sup>33</sup> and all' the city was gathered unto the door; <sup>34</sup> and he cured many' that were sick with divers' diseases, and [many demons] he cast out, and suffered not the demons to be talking,—because they knew him [to be Christ].

<sup>35</sup> And [very early by night arising] he went out [and departed] into a desert' place, and [there] was praying; <sup>36</sup> and Simon, and they who were with him, went in quest of him, <sup>37</sup> and found him, and say unto him—

[All] are seeking thee;

Let us be going elsewhere, into the neighbouring' country-towns, in order that [there also] I may be making proclamation,—for [to this end] came I forth;

<sup>39</sup> and he came, making proclamation, unto their synagogues, throughout the whole of Galilee,—and [was casting the demons out].

§ 7. Cleanses a Leper. Mt. viii. 1-4; Lu. v. 12-14.

<sup>40</sup> And there cometh unto him, a leper, beseeching him [and kneeling],—saying unto him—

[If thou be willing] thou canst cleanse me;

<sup>41</sup> and [moved with compassion] he stretched forth the hand, and touched him, and saith unto him—

I am willing, Be cleansed!

Mind! [unto no one] say [aught],—but withdraw, [thyself] show unto the priest, and offer for<sup>b</sup> thy cleansing what things Moses enjoined [for a witness unto them].<sup>c</sup>

<sup>45</sup> But [he] going forth, began to be proclaiming many things, and blazing abroad the story, so that [no longer] was it possible for him [openly] [into a city] to enter,—but [outside, in desert places] [was he], and they were coming unto him from every quarter.

§ 8. Forgives and Heals a Paralytic. Mt. ix. 2-8; Lu. v. 18-26.

2 And <entering again into Capernaum, after some days> it was heard say—

He is [in a house]<sup>a</sup>;

2 and many were gathered together, so that [no longer] was there room [even in the approaches to the door],—and he began speaking unto them the word;<sup>3</sup> and they come, bearing unto him a paralytic, [upborne by four],—<sup>4</sup> and <not being able to get near him, by reason of the multitude> they uncovered the roof where he was, and [having broken it up] they began letting down the couch whereon the paralytic was lying;<sup>5</sup> and [Jesus, seeing their faith] saith unto the paralytic—

Child! forgiven are thy sins!

6 Now there were certain of the Scribes there, sitting and deliberating in their hearts,—

7 Why doth [this] man [thus] talk? he is speaking profanely!

Who can forgive sins [save one], [God]?

8 And Jesus <[straightway] taking note in his spirit, that [thus] they are deliberating within themselves> saith [unto them]—

Why [these things] are ye deliberating in your hearts?

9 Which is easier—

To say unto the paralytic, Forgiven are thy sins,

Or to say, Rise, [and] take up thy couch, and be walking?

10 But <that ye may know that the Son of Man [hath authority] to be forgiving sins upon the earth><sup>b</sup>

he saith to the paralytic:

11 [To thee] I say, Rise, take up thy couch, and be going thy way unto thy house.

12 And he arose, and [straightway taking up the couch] went forth before all,—so that all were beside themselves, and were glorifying God, [saying]—

[Thus] we [never] saw it!

§ 9. Calls Levi. Mt. ix. 9-13; Lu. v. 27-32.

13 And he went forth again by the sea,—and [all] the multitude [was coming unto him, and he began teaching them].<sup>14</sup> And, passing by, he saw Levi, the son of Alphaeus, sitting over the tax-office,—and saith unto him—

Be following me!

and, arising, he followed him.

15 And it cometh to pass, that he is reclining in his house, and [many] tax-collectors and sinners [were reclining with Jesus and his disciples; for there were many, and they began following<sup>c</sup> him].<sup>16</sup> And [the Scribes and Pharisees] <seeing that he was eating with the sinners and the tax-collectors> began saying unto his disciples—

<sup>c</sup> Or: "had begun to follow."

17 And [hearing it] Jesus saith unto them—

[No need] have [the strong] of a physician, but they who are [sick],—

I came not to call the righteous [but sinners].

§ 10. Then will they fast. Mt. ix. 14-17; Lu. v. 33-38.

18 And the disciples of John and the Pharisees were fasting; and they come and say unto him—

[For what cause] do [the disciples of John and the disciples of the Pharisees] fast, whereas [thy disciples] [fast not]?

19 And Jesus said unto them—

Is it possible for the sons of the bridechamber [while the bridegroom is with them] to be fasting? <So long as they have the bridegroom with them> it is impossible [to fast].<sup>20</sup> But there will [come] days<sup>a</sup> when the bridegroom shall be taken from them> and [then] will they fast [in that day].<sup>a</sup>

21 [No one] seweth [a patch of unshrunk cloth] upon [an old] mantle,,—[otherwise, at least] the shrinking teareth away from it—the new from the old—and [a worse] rent is made].

22 And [no one] poureth [new wine] into [old skins],,—[otherwise, at least] the wine will burst the skins, and [the wine] is lost, and [the skins]. [But [new wine] is for [unused skins].]

§ 11. Disciples pluck Ears of Corn on Sabbath. Mt. xii. 1-8; Lu. vi. 1-5.

23 And it came to pass, that he [on the Sabbath] was passing through the cornfields, and his disciples began to be going forward, plucking the ears of corn.<sup>24</sup> And [the Pharisees] were saying—

See! why are they doing, on the Sabbath, what is not allowed?

25 And he saith unto them—

Have ye never read, what [David] did, when he had [need] and hungered,—[he, and they who were with him]:<sup>26</sup> [how] he entered into the house of God, while [Abiathar] was High-priest, and [the presence-bread]<sup>b</sup> did eat,—which it is not allowed to eat, save unto the priests,—and gave [unto them also who were with him]?

27 And he was saying unto them—

[The Sabbath] [for man] was made, and not [man] for [the Sabbath]:

28 So that the Son of Man is [Lord] [even of the Sabbath].

§ 12. Withered Hand healed on Sabbath. Mt. xii. 9-13; Lu. vi. 6-11.

3 And he entered again into a synagogue, and there was there a man having [his hand] [withered];<sup>2</sup> and they were narrowly watching him, whether [on the Sabbath] he would cure him, [that they might accuse him].<sup>3</sup> And he saith unto the man who hath [his hand withered]

Arise into the midst!

<sup>4</sup> And saith unto them—

Is it allowed [on the Sabbath] ||to do good, or to do evil||?

To ||save|| [life], or ||to slay||?

but they remained silent.

<sup>5</sup> And <looking round upon them with anger, [being at the same time grieved on account of the hardening of their heart]> he saith unto the man—and he stretched it forth, and his hand [was restored].

Stretch forth thy hand!

<sup>6</sup> And <the Pharisees, going out straightway with the Herodians> were giving counsel against him, that they should [destroy] him.

§ 13. A great Throng besiege him.

<sup>7</sup> And [Jesus, with his disciples] retired unto the sea; and [a great throng from Galilee] followed, [also from Judæa, <sup>8</sup> and from Jerusalem, and from Idumæa, and beyond the Jordan, and around Tyre and Zidon] ||a great throng|| <hearing whatsoever things he was doing> came unto him.

<sup>9</sup> And he spake unto his disciples, that [a little boat] might attend him, because of the multitude,—that they might not be pressing upon him. <sup>10</sup> For he cured [many], so that they were besieging him, that they might touch him—[as many as had plagues]; and [the impure spirits, as soon as they beheld him] were falling down to him, and crying aloud, [while he was speaking]

[Thou] art the Son of God!

§ 14. Twelve appointed. Lu. vi. 12-16. (Mt. x. 1-4.)

And he goeth up into the mountain and calleth near whom [he] pleased,—and they went away unto him; <sup>14</sup> and he appointed<sup>a</sup> twelve, whom also he named [Apostles],—that they might be with him, and that he might be sending them forth to make proclamation, <sup>15</sup> and to have authority to cast out the demons; <sup>16</sup> and he appointed the twelve (and imposed a name on Simon—) Peter, <sup>17</sup> and James the son of Zebedee, and John the brother of James (and imposed on them a name—Boanerges, that is, sons of thunder); <sup>18</sup> and Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alphæus, and Thaddæus, and Simon the zealot; <sup>19</sup> and Judas Iscariot, who also delivered him up.

§ 15. Charged with casting out Demons in Beelzebul. Mt. xii. 22-37; Lu. xi. 14-23.

And he cometh into a house; <sup>20</sup> and the<sup>b</sup> multitude come together again, so that they could not so much as eat [bread]. <sup>21</sup> And they who were near to him [hearing of it] went out to secure him,—for they were saying—

He is beside himself!

<sup>22</sup> And [the Scribes who from Jerusalem] had come down] were saying—

He hath [Beelzebul]; and—

[In the ruler of the demons] casteth he out the demons.

<sup>23</sup> And, calling them near, [in parables] began he to say unto them—

How can [Satan] cast [Satan] out?

<sup>24</sup> And <if a kingdom [against itself] be divided> that kingdom cannot be made to stand;

<sup>25</sup> And <if a house [against itself] be divided> that house shall be unable to stand;

<sup>26</sup> And <if [Satan] hath risen up against himself, and become divided> he cannot stand, but hath [an end].

<sup>27</sup> But <no one is able [into the house of the mighty one] to enter, and [his spoils] to carry off> unless [first] the mighty one [be bind, and] then' his house [will he plunder]!

<sup>28</sup> [Verily] I say unto you—

[All things] shall be forgiven unto the sons of men,—

The sins and the profanities wherewithal they shall profane;

<sup>29</sup> But <whosoever shall revile against the Holy Spirit>

Hath no forgiveness, unto times age-abiding,—

But is guilty of [an age-abiding] sin!;

<sup>30</sup> because they were saying—

[An impure spirit] he hath!

§ 16. Who are my Mother and my Brethren? Mt. xii. 46-50; Lu. viii. 19-21.

<sup>31</sup> And there come, his mother and his brethren, and, standing [outside] they sent unto him, calling him. <sup>32</sup> And there was sitting around him a multitude, and they say unto him—

Lo! ||thy mother and thy brethren|| [outside] are seeking thee!

<sup>33</sup> And, answering them, he saith—

Who are my mother and my brethren?

<sup>34</sup> And <looking around on them who [about him, in a circle] were sitting> he saith—

See! my mother and my brethren!

<sup>35</sup> ||Whosoever shall do the will of God|| [the same] is my brother and sister and mother.*

§ 17. Parable of the Sower. Mt. xiii. 1-9; Lu. viii. 4-8.

<sup>4</sup> And [again] began he to be teaching by the sea; and there come together unto him a very great multitude, so that [he, into a boat] entering, was sitting upon<sup>b</sup> the sea,—and [all] the multitude [were] [near the sea upon the land].

<sup>2</sup> And he began to teach them, in parables, many things, and was saying unto them, in his teaching—

<sup>3</sup> Hearken! Lo! the sower went forth to sow;

<sup>4</sup> And it came to pass <as he sowed>

* Mt: "made."

<sup>b</sup> Or (WH): "a."

* No article: = "a brother of mine," &c. <sup>b</sup> Lit: "in."

[Some] indeed, fell by the pathway, and the birds came, and devoured it;

<sup>5</sup> And [some] fell on the rocky places, [even] where it had not much earth,—and [straightway] it sprang forth, by reason of its not having depth of earth; <sup>6</sup> and [when the sun arose] it was scorched,—and <by reason of its not having root> it was dried up;

<sup>7</sup> And [some] fell among the thorns, and the thorns came up and choked it, and [fruit] it yielded not;

<sup>8</sup> And [other] fell into the good ground, and was yielding fruit, coming up and growing,—and was bearing, thirtyfold and sixtyfold and a hundredfold.

<sup>9</sup> And he was saying—
[He that hath ears to hear] let him hear!

§ 18. Wherefore in Parables? The Sower explained.
Mt. xiii. 10-23; Lu. viii. 9-15.

<sup>10</sup> And [when he was alone] they who were about him with the twelve, questioned him, as to the parables; <sup>11</sup> and he was saying unto them—

||To you|| the sacred secret hath been given, of the kingdom of God, whereas ||to them who are outside|| [in parables] are all things coming to pass,—that

<sup>12</sup> *They may [surely look] and yet not see,
And [surely hear] and yet not understand,
Lest once they should return, and it be forgiven them.<sup>a</sup>*

<sup>13</sup> And he saith unto them—

Know ye not [this] parable?

How then will ye get to know [all] the parables?

<sup>15</sup> And [these] are they beside the pathway, where the word is sown,—and [as soon as they hear, straightway] cometh Satan, and snatcheth away the word which hath been sown into<sup>b</sup> them;

<sup>16</sup> And [these] are likewise they [upon the rocky places] sown,—who [as soon as they hear the word, straightway, with joy] receive it, <sup>17</sup> and have no root in themselves, but [only for a season] are,—[afterwards] <when there ariseth tribulation or persecution by reason of the word> [straightway] they find cause of stumbling;

<sup>18</sup> And [others] are they who [among thorns] are sown,—[these] are they [who hear the word], <sup>19</sup> and ||the anxieties of the age,<sup>c</sup> and the deceit of wealth, and the covetings about the remaining<sup>d</sup> things|| [entering in] choke up the word, and [unfruitful] it becometh;

<sup>20</sup> And [those yonder] are they who [on the good ground] are sown,—who, indeed, hear the word, and accept it, and bear fruit—thirtyfold and sixtyfold and a hundredfold.

§ 19. The Lamp and the Measure. How to Hear. Lk. viii. 16-18.

<sup>21</sup> And he was saying unto them—

Doth the lamp<sup>a</sup> come, that [under the measure] it should be put, or under the couch? Is it not that [upon the lampstand] it may be put? <sup>22</sup> For it is not hidden,<sup>b</sup> save that it may be made visible; neither did it get hidden away, but that it might come into a place where it could be seen.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>23</sup> <If any one hath ears to hear> let him hear.

Be taking heed, what<sup>d</sup> ye are hearing:—

<With what measure ye mete> it shall be measured unto you, and added unto you<sup>e</sup>;

<sup>25</sup> For [he that hath] it shall be given [unto him],

And [he that hath not] [even what he hath] shall be taken from him.<sup>f</sup>

§ 20. First the Blade.

<sup>26</sup> And he was saying—

||Thus|| is the kingdom of God: As [a man] may cast seed upon the earth, <sup>27</sup> and be sleeping and rising, night and day,—and [the seed] be sprouting, and lengthening itself,—[how] ||he|| knoweth not; <sup>28</sup> ||Of itself|| the earth beareth fruit,—[first] a blade, [afterwards] an ear, [after that] full<sup>g</sup> corn in the ear; <sup>29</sup> but [as soon as the fruit yieldeth itself up] [straightway] he sendeth forth the sickle, because standing by is the harvest.<sup>h</sup>

§ 21. The Grain of Mustard Seed. Mt. xiii. 31, 32; Lu. xiii. 18, 19.

<sup>30</sup> And he was saying—

How shall we liken the kingdom of God, or [in what] parable shall we put [it]?

<sup>31</sup> As a grain of mustard seed,—which [whenever it may be sown upon the earth] is less than all the seeds that are upon the earth; <sup>32</sup> and [as soon as it is sown] springeth up, and becometh greater than all<sup>i</sup> garden plants, and produceth large branches, so that [under the shade thereof] the birds of heaven can find shelter.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>33</sup> And <with many such parables [as these]> was he speaking unto them the word,—according as they were able to hear; <sup>34</sup> but [without a parable] was he not speaking unto them,—[privately] however, [unto his own] disciples [was he explaining all things].

§ 22. A Storm rebuked. Mt. viii. 23-27; Lu. viii. 22-25.

<sup>35</sup> And he saith unto them <on that day, when evening came>

Let us cross over unto the other side;

Eze. xvii. 23.

<sup>36</sup> and [dismissing the multitude] they take him with them, as he was, in the boat, and [other] boats were with him. <sup>37</sup> And there ariseth a great tempest of wind,—and [the waves] were dashing over into the boat, so that [already being filled] was the boat. <sup>38</sup> And [he] was in the stern [on the cushion] sleeping. And they arouse him, and say unto him,

Teacher! carest thou not that we perish?

<sup>39</sup> And [roused up] he rebuked the wind, and said unto the sea—

Hush! be still!

and the wind lulled, and it became a great calm.

<sup>40</sup> And he said unto them—

[Why] are ye [fearful]?

[Not yet] have ye faith?

<sup>41</sup> And they were caused to fear a great fear, and were saying one to another—

Who then is [this], that [both the wind and the sea] give ear unto him?

§ 23. A Demoniac delivered. Mt. viii. 28-34; Lu. viii. 26-39.

<sup>5</sup> And they came unto the other side of the sea, into the country of the Gerasenes. <sup>2</sup> And <when he went forth out of the boat> [straightway] there met him [from amongst the tombs] a man, in * an impure spirit: <sup>3</sup> who had [his dwelling] among the tombs, and [not even with a chain, any longer] was anyone able to bind him,—<sup>4</sup> because of his having been [many times, with fetters and chains] bound, and the chains having been plucked asunder by him, and the fetters smashed, and no one was mighty enough to tame him; <sup>5</sup> and <continually, night and day, in the tombs and in the mountains> was he crying aloud, and cutting himself in pieces with stones. <sup>6</sup> And <seeing Jesus from afar> he ran and bowed down to him; <sup>7</sup> and [crying out with a loud voice] saith—

What have I in common with thee,<sup>b</sup>

O Jesus, Son of God Most High?

I adjure thee by God,—Do not torment me!

<sup>8</sup> For he was saying to him—

Go forth thou impure spirit, out of the man;

<sup>9</sup> and he was questioning him—

What is thy name?

and he saith to him—

[Legion] is my name, because we are [many];

<sup>10</sup> and he was beseeching him much, that he would not send them forth outside the country.

<sup>11</sup> Now there was there, near the mountain, a large herd of swine, feeding; <sup>12</sup> and they besought him, saying—

Send us into the swine, that [into them] we may enter;

<sup>13</sup> and he suffered them. And the impure spirits [going out] entered into the swine, and the herd rushed down the cliff into the sea, about two thousand, and were choked in the sea. <sup>14</sup> And [they who had been feeding them] fled, and bare tidings into the city and into the fields,—and they came to see what it was that had happened.

<sup>15</sup> And they come unto Jesus, and view the demonized man, clothed and of sound mind, [him who had had the legion],—and they were struck with fear. <sup>16</sup> And the beholders narrated to them, how it happened to the demonized man, and concerning the swine. <sup>17</sup> And they began to beseech him, to depart from their bounds.

<sup>18</sup> And <as he was entering into the boat> he who had been demonized was beseeching him, that [with him] he might be. <sup>19</sup> And he suffered him not, but saith unto him—

Withdraw into thy house, unto thine own, and bear tidings unto them, how many things the Lord for thee hath done, and hath had mercy on thee.

<sup>20</sup> And he departed, and began proclaiming, in the Decapolis, how many things Jesus had done for him,—and [all] were marvelling.

§ 24. Daughter of Jairus raised, and Woman with Flow of Blood cured. Mt. ix. 18-26; Lu. viii. 41-56.

<sup>21</sup> And <Jesus crossing over in the boat again unto the other side> there was gathered a large multitude unto him, and he was by the sea.

My little daughter is at her last!—that, coming, thou wouldest lay thy hands upon her, that she may be made well, and live;

<sup>24</sup> and he departed with him. And there was following him a large multitude, and they were pressing upon him.

<sup>25</sup> And [a woman] <who had had a flow of blood twelve' years, and suffered [much] from many' physicians, and spent all her means, and profited [nothing],—but had [rather] become [worse]> <sup>27</sup> [hearing the things about Jesus] came in the crowd from behind, and touched his mantle; <sup>28</sup> for she was saying—

<If I can touch so much as his mantle> I shall be made well;

<sup>29</sup> and [straightway] the fountain of her blood was dried up, and she knew, in her body, that she was healed from the plague. <sup>30</sup> And [straightway] Jesus <taking note, in himself, of the power which [out of him] went forth> [turning round in the crowd] was saying—

Who hath touched my garments?

<sup>31</sup> and his disciples were saying to him—

Thou seest the crowd pressing upon thee,—and sayest thou— Who hath touched me?

<sup>32</sup> and he was looking round to see her who [this] thing had done]. <sup>33</sup> And [the woman] <overcome with fear, and trembling, knowing what had happened to her> came, and fell down before him, and told him all' the truth. <sup>34</sup> And [he] said to her—

Daughter! [thy faith] hath made thee well:

Withdraw into peace,

And be whole from thy plague.

<sup>35</sup> <While yet he is speaking> they come from the synagogue-ruler's, saying— [Thy daughter] is dead!

Why [further] annoy the teacher

* Cp. chap. i. 23, n. <sup>b</sup> Mt. "What to me and to thee?"

<sup>36</sup> But [Jesus] [overhearing the word being spoken] saith unto the synagogue-ruler—

Do not fear, only have faith!

<sup>37</sup> And he suffered no one to follow [with him], save Peter and James and John the brother of James.

<sup>38</sup> And they come into the house of the synagogue-ruler, and he observeth a tumult, and persons weeping and wailing greatly;

<sup>39</sup> and, entering, he saith unto them—

Why are ye making a tumult, and weeping?

[The child] is [not dead], but [is sleeping]; and they were deriding him. But [he] thrusting all forth, taketh with him the father of the child, and the mother, and them who were with him,—and entereth where the child was; <sup>41</sup> and <grasping the hand of the child> he saith unto her—Talitha, kum!

which is, when translated—

O damsel! [to thee] I say, Arise!

<sup>42</sup> And [straightway] the damsel arose, and was walking about; for she was twelve years of age. And they were beside themselves, straightway, with a great transport; <sup>43</sup> and he commanded them, again and again, that [no one] should get to know this thing,—and bade that food should be given her to eat.

§ 25. Cause of Stumbling found in the Carpenter's Son. Mt. xiii. 53-58: cp. Jn. vi. 42.

<sup>6</sup> And he went forth from thence, and cometh into his own city,—and his disciples follow him.

<sup>2</sup> And [when it was Sabbath] he began to be teaching in the synagogue, and [the greater part] [as they heard] were being struck with astonishment, saying—

Whence hath this man these things?—and—

What the wisdom which hath been given to this man?—and—

[Such mighty works as these] [through his hands] are coming to pass!

<sup>3</sup> Is not [this] the carpenter? the son of Mary, the brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon?

And are not his sisters here with us?—

and they were finding cause of stumbling in him.

<sup>4</sup> And Jesus was saying unto them—

'A prophet is not without honour, [save in his own city, and among his kinsfolk, and in his house];'

<sup>5</sup> and he could not [there] do, so much as a single mighty work,—save [on a few sick] he laid his hands, and cured them. <sup>6</sup> And he marvelled, <sup>b</sup> because of their unbelief.

§ 26. The Twelve sent forth. Mt. x;

Lu. ix. 1-6, 10, 11.

And he was going round the villages, in a circuit, teaching. <sup>7</sup> And he calleth near the twelve, and began to be sending them forth, two and two,—and was giving them authority over the impure spirits: <sup>8</sup> and charged them that they should take [nothing] for a journey, save a staff only,—no bread, no satchel, no copper [for the belt]; <sup>9</sup> but having bound on light sandals, and not to put on [two tunics];

<sup>10</sup> and he was saying unto them—

<Whosoever ye shall enter into a house> [there] abide, until ye go forth from thence;

<sup>11</sup> And <whatsoever place shall not welcome you nor hearken unto you> [when ye are going forth from thence] shake off the dust that is under your feet [for a witness against them].

<sup>12</sup> And they went forth, and made proclamation, in order that men should repent; <sup>13</sup> and [many demons] were they casting out,—and were anointing with oil [many sick], and were curing them.

§ 27. John the Immerser beheaded. Mt. xiv. 1-12; Lu. ix. 7-9.

<sup>14</sup> And King Herod heard,—for [famous] had become his name; and he was saying—

[John the Immerser] hath arisen from among the dead, and [for this cause] are the powers working mightily in him;

<sup>15</sup> But [others] were saying—

It is [Elijah],

and [others] were saying—

A prophet, like one of the prophets!

<sup>16</sup> But [when Herod heard] he was saying—

[He whom I' beheaded—John] [the same] hath been raised.

<sup>17</sup> For [Herod himself] had sent and secured John, and bound him in prison,<sup>a</sup> for the sake of <sup>b</sup> Herodias the wife of Philip his brother,—for [her]<sup>c</sup> had he married. <sup>18</sup> For John had been saying to Herod—

[It is not allowed thee] to have [the wife of thy brother].

<sup>19</sup> And [Herodias] was cherishing [a grudge] against him, and wishing [to slay him],—and could not; <sup>20</sup> for [Herod] stood in fear of John, knowing him to be a man righteous and holy,—and was keeping him safe; and [when he heard him] he paid earnest heed, and [with pleasure] used to listen to him.

<sup>21</sup> And <an opportune day [arriving] when Herod on his birth-day made [a feast] for his nobles, and for the rulers of thousands, and for the first men of Galilee> <sup>22</sup> [when the daughter of this very Herodias came in and danced] she pleased Herod and those reclining together, and [the king] said unto the damsel—

<Ask me what thou wilt> and I will give it thee;

<sup>23</sup> and he took an oath to her—

<Whatsoever thou shalt ask me> I will give thee [unto half my kingdom].

<sup>24</sup> And [going out] she said unto her mother—

What shall I ask?

and she said—

[The head of John the Immerser];

<sup>25</sup> And <coming in straightway, with haste, unto the king> she asked, saying—

I desire, that [forthwith] thou give me, upon a charger, [the head of John the Immerser].

- <sup>26</sup> And <though the king was [very grieved]> yet <by reason of the oaths and of them who were reclining> he would not refuse her. <sup>27</sup> And the king <[straightway] sending off a guard> gave orders to bring his head. <sup>28</sup> And, departing, he beheaded him in the prison, and brought his head upon a charger, and gave it unto the damsel,—and [the damsel] gave it unto her mother. <sup>29</sup> And, [hearing of it] [his disciples] went, and took away his corpse, and laid it in a tomb.

§ 28. Five Thousand fed. Mt. xiv. 13-21; Lu. ix. 10-17; Jn. vi. 1-13; cp. ch. viii. 1 ff.

- <sup>30</sup> And the apostles gather themselves together unto Jesus, and reported unto him all things, as many as they had done, and as many as they had taught. <sup>31</sup> And he saith unto them—

Come [ye yourselves] apart, into a desert place, and rest yourselves a little.

For they who were coming and they who were going [were many], and [not even to eat] were they finding fitting opportunity. <sup>32</sup> And they departed, in the boat, into a desert place [apart]. <sup>33</sup> And many saw them going away, and took note of it, and [afoot, from all the cities] ran they together thither,—and outwent them. <sup>34</sup> And, coming forth, he saw [a great multitude] and was moved with compassion towards them, because they were like sheep having no shepherd,<sup>a</sup> and he began to be teaching them many things. <sup>35</sup> <And [already] [a late hour] having arrived> his disciples came unto him and were saying

[A desert] is the place, and it is [already] a late hour: <sup>36</sup> dismiss them, that [departing into the surrounding] hamlets and villages [they may buy themselves something to eat.

- <sup>37</sup> But [he] answering said to them—

[Ye] [give them] to eat.
And they say unto him—

Shall we depart, and buy two' hundred' denaries' worth of loaves, and give them to eat?

- <sup>38</sup> And [he] saith unto them—
[How many loaves] have ye? Go, see!
And, getting to know, they say—
Five, and [two' fishes].

- <sup>39</sup> And he gave them orders, that all should be made recline [in parties], upon [the green' grass]. <sup>40</sup> And they fell back [in companies], by hundreds and by fifties. <sup>41</sup> And <[taking the five' loaves, and the two' fishes]> [looking up into heaven] he blessed, and brake up the loaves, and began giving unto the disciples, that they might set before them, and [the two' fishes] divided he [unto all]. <sup>42</sup> And they did all eat, and were filled. <sup>43</sup> And they took up broken pieces, twelve' baskets [full measure], and from the fishes. <sup>44</sup> And they who did eat the loaves were [five thousand' men].

§ 29. Jesus walketh upon the Lake. Mt. xiv. 22-36; Jn. vi. 16-21.

- <sup>45</sup> And [straightway] constrained he his disciples, to enter into the boat, and be going forward to the other side, unto Bethsaida,—while [he] was dismissing the multitude. <sup>46</sup> And, bidding them farewell, he departed into the mountain to pray. <sup>47</sup> And <[when [evening] came]> the boat was in the midst of the sea, and [he, alone] on the land. <sup>48</sup> And <[seeing them distressed in the rowing, for the wind was against them]> [about the fourth' watch of the night] he cometh unto them, walking upon the sea,—and was wishing to pass by them. <sup>49</sup> But [they] <[seeing him] [upon the sea] walking> supposed that it was [an apparition],<sup>a</sup> and cried out aloud; <sup>50</sup> for [all] saw him, and were troubled. But [he, straightway] talked with them, and saith unto them—

Take courage! it is [I],—be not afraid!

- <sup>51</sup> And he went up unto them, into the boat,—and the wind lulled. And [exceedingly, within themselves] were they astonished; <sup>52</sup> for they understood not by the leaves,—but their [heart] had been [hardened].

§ 30. Jesus in Gennesaret.

- <sup>53</sup> And crossing over unto the land [they came unto Gennesaret, and cast anchor near. <sup>54</sup> And <[when they had] [come forth] out of the boat> [straightway] recognizing him, <sup>55</sup> the people ran round the whole' of that country, and began to be carrying round [upon couches, them who were sick] [wherever they heard that he was]. <sup>56</sup> And <[whosoever he was entering into villages, or into cities, or into hamlets]> [in the market-places] laid they the sick, and were beseeching him, that [only the fringe of his mantle] they might touch, and [as many soever as touched it] were being made well.

§ 31. Eating with Unwashed Hands. Mt. xv. 1-20.

- 7 And the Pharisees and certain of the Scribes who have come from Jerusalem gather themselves together unto him; <sup>2</sup> and <[observing certain of his disciples, that [with defiled' hands, that is unwashed] [they are eating bread]>—

- <sup>3</sup> for [the Pharisees, and all' the Jews] [unless with care they wash their hands] eat not, holding fast the tradition of the elders; <sup>4</sup> and coming from market, [unless they sprinkle themselves] they eat not,—and [many other things] there are, which they have accepted to hold fast,—immersions of cups and measures and copper vessels—<sup>5</sup> and so the Pharisees and the Scribes [question] him—

For what cause do thy disciples not walk according to the tradition of the elders, but [with defiled' hands] eat bread?

- <sup>6</sup> But [he] said unto them—

[Well] prophesied Isaiah concerning you, ye hypocrites, as it is written—

¶ This' people || with the lips | do | honour | me,

While || their heart || | far off | holdeth from me,—

7 But || in vain | do they pay devotions unto me,

Teaching | for teachings | || the commandments of men || :<sup>a</sup>

* <Having | dismissed | the commandment | of God |> ye | hold fast | the tradition | of men |.

9 And he was saying to them—

[Well] do ye set aside the commandment of God, that | your own tradition | ye may observe ;

10 For | Moses | said—

Honour thy father and thy mother,<sup>b</sup> and—

¶ He that revileth father or mother || let him | surely die |,—<sup>c</sup>

11 But | ye | say—

<If a man shall say to his father or his mother, Korban! that is, A gift,<sup>d</sup> whatsoever | out of me | thou mightest be profited >

12 | no longer | do ye suffer him to do | aught | for his father or his mother,—<sup>13</sup> cancelling the word of God, by your tradition which ye have delivered. And || many such similar things || are ye doing !

14 And | again calling near the multitude | he was saying unto them—

Hearken to me, all ! and understand :

15 | Nothing | is there, | from without the man | entering into him, which can defile him ;

But <the things which | out of the man | come forth > are the things that defile the man. [<sup>16</sup>]<sup>e</sup>

17 And <when he entered into a house from the multitudes > his disciples began to question him as to the parable ; <sup>18</sup> And he saith unto them—

¶ Thus || are | ye also | without discernment ?

Perceive ye not, that <nothing | from without | entering into the man > can defile him ; <sup>19</sup> because it entereth not into his | heart |, but into his | stomach |, and | into the draught |<sup>f</sup> is passed—| purifying all foods || ?

20 And he was saying—

<That which | out of the man | cometh forth > || that || defileth the man ;

21 For <from within, out of the heart of men > | the base designs | come forth,—fornications, thefts, <sup>22</sup> murders, adulteries, covetousnesses, knaveries, deceit, wantonness, an evil eye, profane speaking, foolishness,—<sup>23</sup> || all these wicked things || | from within | come forth, and defile || the man ||.

§ 32. Canaanite Woman's Daughter healed.

Mt. xv. 21-28.

24 And | from thence arising | he departed into the bounds of Tyre [and Zidon]. And | entering into a house | he was wishing | no one | to know it, and yet could not escape notice,—<sup>25</sup> but | straightway |  she came and fell down at his feet. <sup>26</sup> Now | the woman | was a Grecian, a Syrophenician by race,—and she was requesting him that | the demon | he would cast forth out of her daughter. <sup>27</sup> And he was saying to her—

Suffer || the children || | first | to be fed ; for it is not seemly to take the bread of the children, and | unto the little dogs | to cast it ;

28 but she answered and saith to him—

Yea, Lord, and yet | the little dogs, under the table | do eat of the crumbs of the children ;

29 and he said to her—

| Because of this' word | go thy way, || the demon hath gone forth out of thy daughter || ;

30 and, departing unto her house, she found the child laid prostrate on the couch, and the demon gone forth.

§ 33. A Deaf Stammerer healed.

31 And <again coming forth out of the bounds of Tyre > he came unto the sea of Galilee, through the midst of the bounds of Decapolis. <sup>32</sup> And they bring to him one deaf and stammering, and beseech him that he would lay upon him his hand. <sup>33</sup> And <taking him away from the multitude apart > he thrust his fingers into his ears, and, spitting, touched his tongue ; <sup>34</sup> and | looking up into the heaven | sighed deeply, and saith unto him—

Ephphatha ! that is, Be opened !

35 and his ears opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed,—and he was speaking correctly.

36 And he charged them that they should be telling | no one |,—but <as much as | to them | he gave charge > || they || | exceeding more abundantly | were making proclamation. <sup>37</sup> And | superabundantly | were they being struck with astonishment, saying—

¶ Well || hath he | all things | done,—

Both | the deaf | he causeth to hear, and | the dumb | to speak.

§ 34. Four Thousand fed. Mt. xv. 29-38 :

cp. ch. vi. 32, etc.

8 <In those' days, there being | again' a large multitude | and they not having any thing to eat > | calling near the disciples | he saith unto them—

2 I am moved with compassion towards the multitude, because | already' three days | abide they with me, and they have nothing to eat ; <sup>3</sup> and <if I dismiss them fasting unto their home > they will be exhausted in the way,—and | certain of them | are | from afar |.

<sup>4</sup> And his disciples answered him—

Whence shall anyone be able [here] to fill [these] with bread [in a desert]

<sup>5</sup> And he was questioning them—

[How] many [loaves] have ye?
and [they] said— Seven.

<sup>6</sup> And he sendeth word to the multitude, to fall back upon the ground. And <taking the seven' loaves, giving thanks> he brake, and was giving unto his disciples, that they might be setting before them; and they set before the multitude.

<sup>7</sup> And they had a few small fishes; and [blessing them] he bade them set [these also] before them.

<sup>8</sup> And they did eat, and were filled, and took up remainders of broken pieces [seven' hampers]. <sup>9</sup> Now they were about four thousand; and he dismissed
them.

§ 35. A Sign refused. Mt. xvi. 1-4: cp. Mt. xii.
38-40; Lu. xii. 54-56.

<sup>10</sup> And <[straightway] entering into the boat with his disciples> he came into the parts of Dalmanutha; <sup>11</sup> and forth came the Pharisees, and began discussing with him, seeking of him
[a sign from the heaven] testing him. <sup>12</sup> And [deeply sighing in his spirit] he saith—

[Why] doth this generation seek [a sign]?

[Verily] I say—

There shall [not be given]<sup>a</sup> to this generation
[a sign].

§ 36. Beware of the Leaven. Mt. xvi. 5-12.

<sup>13</sup> And <leaving them, [again] embarking> he departed unto the other side. <sup>14</sup> And they forgot to take loaves, and [save one' loaf] they had nothing with them in the boat. <sup>15</sup> And he began charging them, saying—

Mind! beware of the leaven of the Pharisees,<sup>b</sup> and of the leaven of Herod!

<sup>16</sup> And they began deliberating one with another, because they had no [loaves]. <sup>17</sup> And [taking note] he saith unto them—

Why do ye deliberate, because ye have no [loaves]?

[Not yet] perceive ye, neither understand,—

Keep ye your hearts [hardened]?

<sup>18</sup> [Eyes] having, see ye not?

And [ears] having, hear ye not?<sup>c</sup>

And remember ye not <sup>19</sup> <when [the five' loaves] I brake unto the five thousand> how many baskets, full [of broken pieces]
ye took up?

They say unto him— Twelve,—

<sup>20</sup> <When the seven, unto the four thousand> how many hampers [full measure] of broken pieces, ye took up?

And they say unto him— Seven.

And he was saying unto them—

<sup>21</sup> [Not yet] do ye understand?

§ 37. Blind Man by Degrees recovers Sight.

<sup>22</sup> And they come into Bethsaida. And they bring unto him one blind, and beseech him that him, he would touch. <sup>23</sup> And <laying hold of the hand of the blind man> he brought him forth outside the village, and <spitting into his eyes, laying his hands upon him> he was asking
him—

Anything, seest thou?

<sup>24</sup> and [looking up] he was saying—

I see men, because [like trees] I behold them walking!

<sup>25</sup> [Then again] put he his hands upon his eyes, and he saw clearly, and was restored, and was seeing distinctly [in broad splendour] [all things together].<sup>a</sup> <sup>26</sup> And he sent him away unto his house, saying—

[Not even into the village] mayest thou enter.

§ 38. Peter confesses Jesus to be the Christ.

Mt. xvi. 13-20; Lu. ix. 18-21.

<sup>27</sup> And forth went Jesus and his disciples, into the villages of Caesarea of Philip. And [in the way] he was questioning his disciples, saying unto
them—

[Who] are men saying that I am?

<sup>28</sup> And they answered him, saying—

John the Immerser, and [others] Elijah,— and [others] One of the prophets.

<sup>29</sup> And [he] went on to question them—

But [who] say [ye] that I am?

Peter [answering] saith unto him—

[Thou] art [the Christ].

<sup>30</sup> And he straitly charged them, that [no one] they should tell, concerning him.

§ 39. The Needs Be of the Cross. Mt. xvi. 21-28;

Lu. ix. 22-27; cp. Lu. xxiv. 6.

<sup>31</sup> And he began to be teaching them—

The Son of Man [must needs suffer many things], and be rejected by the Elders and the High-priests and the Scribes,—and be slain; and [after three' days] [arise].

<sup>32</sup> And [openly] was he speaking the word. And Peter [taking him aside] began to rebuke him. <sup>33</sup> But [he] <turning round and looking upon his disciples> rebuked Peter, and saith—

Withdraw behind me, Satan! because thou art not regarding the things [of God] but the things [of men].

<sup>34</sup> And <calling near the multitude with his disciples> he said unto them—

<If anyone willeth [after me] to come> let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and
be following me.

<sup>35</sup> For <whosoever willeth [his own' life]<sup>b</sup> to § 40. The Transformation: Elijah: Sufferings.

 Mt. xvii. 1-13; Lu. ix. 28-36: cp. 2 P. i. 16-18.

2 And [after six days] Jesus taketh with him Peter and James and John, and bringeth them up into a high mountain [apart, alone],—and he was transformed before them; <sup>3</sup> and [his garments] became brilliant, [exceeding white] [such as] [no fuller on the earth] is able [so] to whiten.<sup>b</sup> <sup>4</sup> And there appeared unto them, Elijah, with Moses,—and they were conversing with Jesus. <sup>5</sup> And Peter [answering] saith unto Jesus—

Rabbi! it is [delightful] for us to be [here],—let us therefore make three<sup>c</sup> tents, [for thee] one, and [for Moses] one, and [for Elijah] one;

6 for he knew not what he should answer, for [greatly affrighted] had they become. <sup>7</sup> And there came<sup>e</sup> a cloud, overshadowing them, and there came<sup>e</sup> a voice, out of the cloud,—[This] is [my Son, the Beloved],<sup>d</sup>

Be hearkening unto him.

8 And [suddenly] looking round, [no longer] saw they [anyone] with them, save [Jesus only].

9 And <as they were coming down out of<sup>e</sup> the mountain> he charged them, that [unto no one] they should narrate [what they had seen], save whenever the Son of Man [from among the dead] should arise.<sup>10</sup> And [the word] they held fast unto themselves, discussing what was [the rising from among the dead]. <sup>11</sup> And they began to question him, saying—

The Scribes [say] that [Elijah] must needs come [first]?<sup>f</sup>

12 And [he] said unto them—

[Elijah] indeed, [coming first] [restoreth all things].<sup>g</sup>

And yet, how is it written, regarding<sup>h</sup> the Son of Man, that [many things] he must suffer, and be set at nought

13 But I say unto you—

[Elijah also] hath come,

And they have done with him [whatsoever they pleased],—

§ 41. Jesus cures One whom the Disciples could not cure. Mt. xvii. 14-21; Lu. ix. 37-42.

14 And [coming unto the disciples] they saw a large multitude around them, and Scribes discussing with them. <sup>15</sup> And [straightway] all the multitude, seeing him, were greatly amazed, and [running near] began saluting him.

16 And he questioned them—

What are ye discussing with them?

17 And one out of the multitude answered him—

Teacher! I brought my son unto thee, having a dumb spirit; <sup>18</sup> and <whosoever it seizeth him> it teareth him, and he foameth, and grindeth his teeth, and weareth himself out;—and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast it out, and they could not.

19 But [he] answering, saith—

O faithless generation! how long [shall I be with you]? how long [shall I bear with you]? Bring him unto me!

20 And they brought him unto him. And [seeing him] [the spirit] straightway tare him,—and [falling upon the ground] he wallowed, foaming. <sup>21</sup> And he questioned his father—[How long a time] is it, that [this] hath befallen him?

and he said—

From childhood; <sup>22</sup> and [many times] hath it cast him [both into fire] and into waters, that it might destroy him;

But <if anything be possible to thee> help us, [having compassion upon us].

23 And [Jesus] said unto him—

As for this, <If it be possible to thee>

[All things] are possible [to him who hath faith].

24 [Straightway crying out] the father of the child was saying—

I have faith! help my [want] of faith.

25 And Jesus <seeing that a multitude is running together> rebuked the impure spirit, saying unto it—

Thou dumb<sup>1</sup> and deaf<sup>2</sup> spirit! [I] give orders unto thee: Come forth out of him, and do not [any more] enter into him.

26 And <crying out, and greatly mangling him> it came forth; and he became as if dead, so that [the more part] were saying—

He is dead!

27 But [Jesus] [grasping his hand] raised him, and he stood up. <sup>28</sup> And [when he had gone into a house] [his disciples, privately] were questioning him—

[Why] were [we] not able to cast it out?

29 And he said unto them—

[This] kind [by nothing] can come out, save [by prayer].<sup>b</sup>

§ 42. Jesus instructs his Disciples as to his Sufferings.

30 And [from thence] going forth, they were journeying through Galilee,—and he was not wishing that any should get to know it; <sup>31</sup> for he was teaching his disciples and saying [unto them]

||The Son of Man|| is to be delivered up [into the hands of men], and they will slay him,—and [being slain] [after three' days] will he arise.

<sup>32</sup> But they were not understanding the declaration, and feared [to question] him.

§ 43. How to be Great. Mt. xviii. 1-5; Lu. ix. 46-48.

<sup>33</sup> And they came into Capernaum. And <happening to be [in the house]> he was questioning them—

||What|| [in the way] were ye discussing?

<sup>34</sup> And they were silent; for [with one another] they had discussed in the way, ||who should be greatest||. <sup>35</sup> And [taking a seat] he addressed the twelve, and saith unto them—

<If anyone willeth to be [first]>

He shall be [least of all],

And [minister of all].<sup>a</sup>

<sup>36</sup> And [taking a child] he set it in the midst of them,—and [fold~~ing~~ it in his arms] said unto them—

And <whosoever [unto me] giveth welcome> not [unto me] giveth welcome, but [unto him that sent me].<sup>b</sup>

§ 44. Forbid him not: Value of Small Services: Mt. x. 42. Cause none to stumble: Mt. xviii. 6; Lu. xvii. 2. Be not caused to stumble: Mt. v. 30; xviii. 8.

<sup>38</sup> John said unto him—

Teacher! we saw someone [in thy name] ||casting out demons||,—and we forbade him, because he was not following with us.

<sup>39</sup> But [Jesus] said—

Do not forbid him!

For [no one] is there, who shall do a work of power in my name, and have power [soon] ||to revile me||;

<sup>40</sup> For <whosoever is not [against] us> is [for] us;

<sup>41</sup> For <whosoever shall give you to drink a cup of water [in name that] ||Christ's|| ye are>

Verily! I say unto you—
[In nowise] shall lose his reward.

<sup>42</sup> And <whosoever shall cause to stumble one of these little ones that believe>

It is [seemly] for him, rather, if there is hung a large millstone about his neck, and he is cast into the sea.

<sup>43</sup> And <if thy hand shall cause thee to stumble> cut it off,—

It is [seemly] for thee, [maimed] to enter into life,

Rather than having [the two' hands] to depart into the gehenna, [into the fire that is not quenched]; [<sup>44</sup>]<sup>c</sup>

<sup>45</sup> And <if thy foot be causing thee to stumble> Cut it off,—

It is [seemly] for thee, to enter into life<sup>a</sup> [lame],

Rather than having [the two' feet] to be cast into the gehenna; [<sup>46</sup>]<sup>b</sup>

<sup>47</sup> And <if thine eye be causing thee to stumble> Thrust it out,—

It is [seemly] for thee, [one-eyed] to enter into the kingdom of God,<sup>a</sup>

Rather than having [two' eyes] to be cast into gehenna,—

And [the fire] is not quenched,<sup>c</sup>

<sup>50</sup> Salt is [good]; but <if [salt] become [saltless]> wherewith will ye [prepare] it?<sup>d</sup>

Have [within yourselves] [salt], and be at peace [one with another].

§ 45. Concerning Divorce. Mt. xix. 1-12.

<sup>10</sup> And [from thence] arising, he cometh into the bounds of Judaea and beyond the Jordan,—and there come together again, multitudes unto him, and [as he had been wont] [again] was he teaching them. <sup>2</sup> And Pharisees coming near were<sup>e</sup> questioning him—Whether it is allowed a husband [to divorce a wife], testing him.

<sup>3</sup> But [he] answering, said unto them—

What unto you' did [Moses] command?

<sup>4</sup> And [they] said—

Moses permitted, to write [a roll of dismissal], and to divorce.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>5</sup> But [Jesus] said unto them—

[In view of your hardness of heart] wrote he for you this commandment;

<sup>6</sup> But <from the beginning of creation>

[Male and female] made he [them];<sup>g</sup>

<sup>7</sup> [For this cause] shall a man leave behind his father and mother,<sup>h</sup> and [the two] shall become [one flesh];<sup>h</sup>

so that [no longer] are they two, but [one' flesh]. <sup>9</sup> <What then [God] hath yoked together> let [a man] not put asunder.

<sup>10</sup> And <[coming] into the house again> the [disciples, concerning this] were questioning him;

<Whosoever shall divorce his wife, and marry another> committeth adultery against her;

<sup>12</sup> And <if [she] divorcing her husband, marry another> she committeth adultery.<sup>i</sup>

§ 46. Children brought to Jesus. Mt. xix. 13-15; Lu. xviii. 15-17.

<sup>13</sup> And they were bringing unto him children, that he might [touch] them,—[the disciples] however, were rebuking them. <sup>14</sup> But Jesus [seeing it] was greatly displeased, and said unto them—

17 And <as he was going forth into a road> [one, running, and kneeling before him] was questioning him—

Good Teacher! what shall I do that [life age-

18 And [Jesus] said unto him—

Do not commit adultery,

Do not steal;

20 And [he] said unto him—

Teacher! [all these things] have I kept [from my youth].

21 And [Jesus] [looking at him] loved him, and
 said unto him—

[One thing] unto thee [is wanting];—

Withdraw! [whatsoever thou hast] sell, and give unto [the] destitute,—

And thou shalt have treasure in heaven;

And come! be following me.

22 And [he] [becoming gloomy because of the word] departed sorrowing, for he was holding [many possessions]. 23 And [looking around] Jesus saith unto his disciples—

[With what difficulty] shall [they who have money] enter [into the kingdom of God]!

24 And [the disciples] were in amazement, because of the words. But [Jesus] [again] answering [saith unto them—

Children! [how difficult] it is, to enter [into 25 It is [easier] for a camel [through the eye of

 [into the kingdom of God] to enter.

26 And [they] were being exceedingly struck with

[Who] then, can [be saved]?

27 [Looking at them] Jesus saith—

[With men] impossible, but not [with God];
 for [all things] are possible [with God].<sup>b</sup>

28 Peter began to be saying unto him—

Lo! [we] have left all, and followed thee!

29 Jesus said—

[Verily] I say unto you—

There is [no one] <who hath left house, or brethren, or sisters, or mother, or father, or children, or lands> [for the sake of me and [for the sake of] the glad-message] [who shall not receive a hundredfold, now in this season] <houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers,<sup>a</sup> and children, and lands,—[with persecutions]> and [in the age that is coming] [life age-abiding].

31 But [many] shall be—

First-last, and [the] Last-first.

§ 48. Jesus foretells his Sufferings. Mt. xx. 17-19;
 Lu. xviii. 31-34.

32 Now they were in the way, going up unto Jerusalem, and Jesus was going on before them,—and they were in amazement; and [they who followed] were in fear. And <taking unto himself, again, the twelve> he began to be saying unto them, [as to the things about to befall him]—

33 Lo! we are going up unto Jerusalem;

And [the Son of Man] will be delivered up,

unto the Chief-priests and the Scribes,—

And they will condemn him to death,

And deliver him up unto the nations;

34 And they will mock him, and spit upon him, and scourge him, and [slay];—

And [after three] days [will he] [arise].

§ 49. Request of Zebedee's Sons. Mt. xx. 20-23.

35 And there come near unto him, James and John, the [two] sons of Zebedee,—saying unto
 him—

Teacher! we desire,

That [whatsoever we shall ask thee] thou wilt do for us.

36 But [he] said unto them—

What desire ye, I should do for you?

37 And [they] said unto him—

Grant us, that <one on thy right hand, and one on thy left> we may sit, in thy glory.

38 But [Jesus] said unto them—

Ye know not what ye are asking:

Are ye able to drink the cup that [I] am to drink?

Or to be immersed [with the immersion wherewith [I] am to be immersed]?

39 And [they] said unto him—

We are able.

And [Jesus] said unto them—

<The cup which [I] am to drink> ye shall drink,

And <with the immersion wherewith [I] am to be immersed> shall ye be immersed;

40 But <to sit on my right hand and on my left> is not mine to give, [except unto them for whom it hath been prepared].

41 And the ten [hearing] began to be sorely displeased, concerning James and John. 42 And Jesus [calling them near] saith unto them—

Ye know that [they who think to rule the nations] lord it over them,

And [their great ones] wield authority over
 them;

43 But [not so] it is [among you];

But <whosoever desireth to become [great] among you> shall be [your minister],

<sup>a</sup> Exo. xx. 12-16; Deu. v. 16-20. <sup>b</sup> Gen. xviii. 14; Job xlii. 2; Zech. viii. 6 (Sep.).

<sup>a</sup> Or (VII): "mother."

- 44 And <whosoever desireth, among you, to be [first]> shall be [servant of all]*;
- 45 For [even the Son of Man] came not to be ministered unto, but to minister,—and to give his life [a ransom instead of many].

§ 50. Blind Bar-Timæus recovers Sight.

Mt. xx. 29-34; Lu. xviii. 35-43.

- 46 And they come into Jericho. And <as he was journeying forth from Jericho, and his disciples, and a considerable multitude> [the son of Timæus, blind Bar-Timæus, a beggar], was sitting beside the road. 47 And <hearing that it was [Jesus the Nazarene]> he began to be crying aloud, and saying—

O Son of David! Jesus! have mercy on me.

- 48 And many were rebuking him, that he might hold his peace; but [he] [so much the more] was crying aloud—

O Son of David! have mercy on me.

- 49 And [coming to a stand] Jesus said—

Call him!

And they call the blind man, saying unto him—

Take courage! rise! he calleth thee!

- 50 And [he] <throwing off his mantle—springing to his feet> came unto Jesus. 51 And [answering him] Jesus said—

What desirest thou, I should do for thee?

And [the blind man] said unto him—

Rabboni! that I may recover sight.

- 52 And [Jesus] said unto him—

Go thy way! [thy faith] hath saved thee.

And [straightway] he recovered sight, and was following him in the road.

§ 51. The Triumphal Entry. Mt. xxi. 1-11;

Lu. xix. 29-38; Jn. xii. 12-15.

- 11 And <when they are drawing near unto Jerusalem, unto Bethphage and Bethany, towards the Mount of Olives> he sendeth forth two of his disciples,—<sup>2</sup> and saith unto them—

Go your way into the village that is over against you, and [straightway, as ye are entering it] ye shall find a colt tied, upon which [no] man [yet] hath sat:

Loose him, and bring him.

- * And <if anyone, unto you should say—

Why are ye doing this?>

say—

[The Lord] of him hath [need];

and [straightway] he sendeth him off again here.

- 4 And they departed, and found a colt, tied unto a door outside, on the street,—and they are loosing him. 5 And [certain of them that were there standing] were saying unto them—

What are ye doing, loosing the colt?

- 6 and [they] said unto them, as [Jesus] said,— and they let them go. 7 And they bring the colt unto Jesus, and throw upon him their mantles,—and he took his seat upon him. 8 And [many] spread out [their mantles] along the way, and [others] young branches,—[cutting them out of the fields].

9 And [they who were going before, and they who were following after] were crying aloud—

Hosanna!<sup>a</sup>

[Blessed] is he that is coming in the name of the Lord!<sup>b</sup>

- 10 [Blessed] is the coming' kingdom of our father
David!

Hosanna in the highest!

- 11 And he entered into Jerusalem, into the temple, and <looking round on all things, late' already' being the hour> he went out into Bethany, with the twelve.

§ 52. The Barren Fig-tree cursed. Mt. xxi. 18, 19.

(See § 54.)

- 12 And <on the morrow, when they came forth from Bethany> he hungered; 13 and <seeing a fig-tree from afar, having leaves><sup>c</sup> he came... if, therefore, he should find aught in it, and [coming up to it] [nothing] found he, save [leaves]; for it was not [the season] of figs.

- 14 And [answering] he said unto it—

[No more] [unto times age-abiding] let anyone of thee [eat fruit].

And his disciples were listening.

§ 53. The Temple Cleansed. Mt. xxi. 12-17;

Lu. xix. 45, 46; ep. Jn. ii. 13-17.

- 15 And they come into Jerusalem. And [entering into the temple] he began to be casting out them who were selling and them who were buying in the temple, and <the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them who were selling doves> he overthrew,—<sup>16</sup> and was not suffering that anyone should carry a vessel through the temple; 17 and was teaching, and saying—<sup>d</sup>

Is it not written,

[My house] [a house of prayer] shall be called [for all the nations]?<sup>e</sup>

but [ye] have made it,

A den of robbers.<sup>f</sup>

- 18 And the High-priests and the Scribes [heard] it, and began seeking how they might [destroy] him,—for they were fearing him; for [all] the multitude] were being struck with astonishment at his teaching. 19 And [as soon as it became late'] they were<sup>g</sup> going forth outside the city.

§ 54. The Cursed Fig-tree Withered.

Mt. xxi. 19-22. (See § 52.)

- 20 And [passing by early] they saw the fig-tree [withered from its roots]; 21 and [put in mind]
Peter saith unto him—

Rabbi! see! [the fig-tree which thou didst curse] is withered.

- 22 And [answering] Jesus saith unto them—

Have faith in God.

- 23 | Verily | I say unto you—
 <Whosoever shall say unto this mountain,
 Be lifted up, and cast into the sea, and shall not doubt in his heart but shall believe that |what he speaketh| cometh to pass> it shall be his.
- 24 |For this cause| I say unto you—
 <All things, whatsoever ye are praying for and asking> believe that ye have received,
 and they shall be yours.
- 25 And |when ye stand praying|<sup>a</sup> forgive, if aught ye have against any,—that |your Father also, who is in the heavens| may forgive you your offences. [<sup>26</sup>]<sup>b</sup>

§ 55. By what Authority? Mt. xxi. 23-32;
 Lu. xx. 1-8.

- 27 And they come again into Jerusalem. And <as he is walking |in the temple|> the High-priests and the Scribes and the Elders come unto him, <sup>28</sup> and were saying unto him—
 ||By what' authority|| |these things| art thou doing?
- And who to thee hath given this authority,
 that |these things| thou shouldst be doing?
- 29 But |Jesus| said unto them—
 I will question you, as to one' matter, and answer me,—
 And I will tell you ||by what' authority||
 |these things| I am doing:
- 30 |The immersion by John|
 |Of heaven| was it, or |of men|?
- Answer me!
- 31 And they were deliberating among themselves,
 saying—
 <If we say, Of heaven>
 He will say, Wherefore [then] did ye not believe him?
- 32 But <should we say, Of men . . . > they were in fear of the multitude, for |one and all| were holding John ||in very deed|| that he was |a prophet|. <sup>33</sup> And |making answer
 unto Jesus| they say—
 We know not;
 and Jesus saith unto them—
 Neither do ||I|| tell<sup>c</sup> you, ||By what' authority|| |these things| I am doing.

§ 56. The Vineyard's Fruits Demanded.
 Mt. xxi. 33-46; Lu. xx. 9-19.

- 12 And he began to be speaking unto them |in parables|—
 A man planted |a vineyard|,
 And put round it a wall,
 And dugged a wine-vat,
 And built a tower,—<sup>d</sup>
 And let it out to husbandmen;
 And left home.
- 2 And he sent forth, unto the husbandmen, in the season, a servant, that |from the hus-bandmen| he might receive of the fruits of

- the vineyard; <sup>3</sup> and, taking him, they beat him, and sent him away |empty|.
- 4 And |again| sent he forth unto them, another servant; and |him| they smote on the head, and dishonoured.
- 5 And |another| sent he forth; and |him|
 they slew.
- And many' others; |some| indeed beating,
 and |others| slaying.
- 6 ||Yet one|| had he, |a son beloved|: he sent him forth last unto them, saying—
 They will pay deference unto my son!
- 7 But ||those' husbandmen|| |unto themselves|
 said—
 |This| is ||the heir||:
 Come! let us slay him,
 And |ours| shall be ||the inheritance||.
- 8 And, taking, they slew him, and cast him forth outside the vineyard.
- 9 What will the lord of the vineyard do? He will come, and destroy the husbandmen, and let the vineyard unto others.
- 10 Have ye not |this scripture| read—
 ||A stone which the builders rejected||
 |The same| hath become head of the corner!
 11 |From the Lord| hath this come to pass,
 And is marvellous in our eyes?<sup>e</sup>
- 12 And they were seeking |to secure| him,—and were in fear of the multitude; for they perceived that |against them| the parable he had spoken. And, leaving him, they departed.

§ 57. Cæsar and God. Mt. xxii. 15-22;
 Lu. xx. 20-26.

- 13 And they send forth unto him, certain of the Pharisees and of the Herodians, that they might |catch| him ||in discourse||. <sup>14</sup> And, coming,
 they say unto him—
 Teacher! we know that |true| thou art,
 And it concerneth thee not about anyone,—
 For thou lookest not unto the face of men;
 But ||in truth|| |the way of God| dost
 teach:—
 Is it allowable to give tax unto Cæsar, or not?
 Should we give, or should we not give?
- 15 But |he| ||knowing their hypocrisy|| said unto
 them—
 Why are ye |tempting| me?
 Bring me a denary, that I may see it.
- 16 And |they| brought one. And he saith
 unto them—
 |Whose| is this image, and the inscription?
 And |they| said unto him—
 Cæsar's.
- 17 And |Jesus| said—
 ||The things of Cæsar|| render |unto Cæsar|,
 And ||the things of God|| |unto God|.
- And they were marvelling at him.

§ 58. Marriage and the Resurrection.
 Mt. xxii. 23-33; Lu. xx. 27-39.

- 18 And there come Sadducees unto him,—||who||
 indeed say— |Resurrection| there is none!
 and they were questioning him, saying—

<sup>a</sup> Mt. vi. 14.

<sup>b</sup> Omitted by WH.

<sup>c</sup> Jesus does not say: "I know not."

<sup>e</sup> Ps. cxviii. 22 f.

19 Teacher! |Moses| wrote for us, that—<If one's brother die, and leave behind a wife, and leave no child>
 That his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.<sup>a</sup>

20 |Seven| brethren| there were;
 And |the first| took a wife, and, dying, left no seed,—

21 And |the second| took her, and died, not leaving behind seed,—

And |the third| ||likewise||,—

22 And ||the seven|| left no seed;

||Last of all|| |the woman also| died:—

23 ||In the resurrection||—

Of |which| of them shall she be |wife|?

For |the seven| had her to wife.

24 Jesus said unto them—

Are ye not |for this cause| deceiving yourselves,

Knowing neither the Scriptures, nor the power of God?

25 For <when |from among the dead| they rise>

They neither marry, nor are given in marriage,

But are like messengers<sup>b</sup> in the heavens.

26 But ||as touching the dead|| that they |do
 rise|,—

Have ye not read in the book of Moses, at the Bush,

How God spake unto him, saying—

|I| |am| the God of Abraham, and God of Isaac, and God of Jacob<sup>c</sup>:—

27 He is not a<sup>d</sup> God of |dead| men, but of
 |living|.

|Greatly| are ye deceiving yourselves.

§ 59. The Greatest Commandment. Mt. xxii. 34-40.
 (Lu. x. 25-27.)

28 And one of the Scribes |coming near| <hearing them discussing, seeing that |well| he had answered them> began to question him—

Which is the chief commandment of all?

29 Jesus answered—

The chief is:

Hear! O Israel,—

||The Lord our God|| is |one Lord|<sup>a</sup>;

30 Therefore shalt thou love the Lord thy God, with all<sup>b</sup> thy heart, and with all<sup>c</sup> thy soul,— and with all<sup>d</sup> thy mind; and with all<sup>e</sup> thy strength.<sup>f</sup>

31 ||The second|| is |this|—

Thou shalt love |thy neighbour| ||as thyself||.<sup>g</sup>

||Greater than these|| |other| commandment| is there none.

32 The Scribe said unto him—

||Well|| Teacher! |in truth| hast thou said—

He is |One|,<sup>h</sup> and there is none other |than he|!<sup>i</sup>

 all<sup>b</sup> the understanding,—and with all<sup>c</sup> the might<sup>a</sup>; and to love one's neighbour as one's self><sup>b</sup> is |abundantly more| than all<sup>c</sup> the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.<sup>c</sup>

34 And ||Jesus|| <seeing him, that |with intelligence he answered> said unto him—

|Not far| [|art thou|] from the kingdom of God!

And ||no one|| |any longer| was daring to |question| him.<sup>d</sup>

§ 60. David's Son and Lord. Mt. xxii. 41-46;
 Lk. xx. 41-44.

35 And Jesus |answering| was saying |as he taught in the temple|—

How say the Scribes that ||the Christ|| is |Son of David|?

36 |David himself| hath said |by the Holy Spirit|—

The Lord| hath said unto |my Lord|,

Sit thou on my right hand,

Until I put thy foes beneath thy feet.<sup>e</sup>

37 ||David himself|| calleth him |Lord|: whence,
 then, is he |his own son|?

And |the great| multitude| was hearing him gladly.

§ 61. Judgment denounced against the Scribes.
 Cp. Mt. xxiii. 6; Lu. xi. 43; xx. 46, 47.

38 And |in his teaching| he was saying—
 Beware of the Scribes.

Who desire |in robes| to be walking about,

And salutations in the markets,

39 And first seats in the synagogues,

And first couches in the chief meals,—

40 Who devour widows' houses,

And |for a pretence| are long in prayer:

|These| shall receive a more surpassing judgment.

§ 62. The Widow's Mites. Lu. xxi. 1-4.

41 And |taking his seat over against the treasury|
 he was observing how |the multitude| was casting in copper into the treasury, and |many| rich|
 were casting in |much|. <sup>42</sup> And there came

|one| destitute| widow, and cast in two mites, which are |a farthing|. <sup>43</sup> And |calling near his disciples| he said unto them—

|Verily| I say unto you,

||This destitute widow|| |more than they all| hath cast in |of those casting into the treasury|;

44 For |they all| ||out of their surplus|| cast in,
 But |she| ||out of her deficiency|| |all, as much as she had| cast in,—||the whole| of her living||.

§ 63. The Prophecy on Mount Olivet. Mt. xxiv.;
 Lu. xxi.

 one of his disciples saith unto him—

Teacher! see what manner of stones, and what manner of buildings!

- <sup>2</sup> And |Jesus| said unto him—
Art thou beholding these' great' buildings?
|In nowise| shall there be left here |stone upon stone| which shall |in any wise| not be thrown down.
- <sup>3</sup> And <as he was sitting within the Mount of Olives, over against the temple> Peter and James and John and Andrew were questioning him |privately|—
- <sup>4</sup> Tell us, |When| these things |shall be|, and,
|What the sign| when all' these things shall be about to be concluded.
- <sup>5</sup> And |Jesus| began to be saying unto them—
Beware, lest anyone |deceive| you;
- <sup>6</sup> For |many| will come on my name, saying,
|I| am he!
and |will deceive| many.
- <sup>7</sup> And <when ye shall hear of wars, and rumours of wars>
Be not alarmed—it must needs come to pass,<sup>a</sup>
But |not yet| is ||the end||.
- <sup>8</sup> For there will arise—
|Nation against nation|,
And |kingdom against kingdom|<sup>b</sup>,—
'There will be earthquakes in places,
There will be famines:—
- <sup>9</sup> |A beginning of birth-pangs| are these things.
But be ||ye|| taking heed |unto yourselves|:
They will deliver you up into high-councils,
And |in synagogues| shall ye be beaten,—
And |before governors and kings| shall ye be set.
- For my sake, |for a witness unto them|.
- <sup>10</sup> And ||unto all' the nations, first|| must needs
be proclaimed |the glad-message|.
- <sup>11</sup> And <when they are leading you, as they are delivering you up>
Be not beforehand anxious, what ye shall speak;
But ||whatsoever shall be given you in that'
hour||
|The same| speak,—
For ||ye|| are not the speakers, but the Holy Spirit.
- <sup>12</sup> And |brother| will deliver up |brother| unto
death, and |father| |child|,
And |children| will rise up |against parents|<sup>c</sup>,
||and put them to death||;
- <sup>13</sup> And ye will be men hated by all, because of my name;
But ||he that hath endured throughout|| |the same| shall be saved.
- <sup>14</sup> But <when ye shall see the abomination of desolation<sup>d</sup>
Standing where it ought not,
|He that readeth| let him ||think||>
Then' |they who are in Judæa|
Let them flee into the mountains;
<sup>15</sup> |He that is on the house-top|
Let him not come down, neither let him

house;<sup>e</sup>

- <sup>16</sup> And |he that hath gone into the field|
Let him not turn back unto the things behind, |to take away his mantle|.
- <sup>17</sup> But alas! for the women with child, and for them who are giving suck,—||in those' days||.
- <sup>18</sup> But be praying, that it may not happen in winter.
- <sup>19</sup> For in those days shall be a tribulation—
|Such| that there hath not happened |the like|
||from the beginning of creation which God created, until the present time||<sup>a</sup>
||And shall in nowise happen||.
- <sup>20</sup> And <save that the Lord hath shortened the days>
No' flesh should be saved;
But <for the sake of the chosen of whom he hath made choice>
He hath shortened the days.
- <sup>21</sup> And ||then|| <if any |unto you| say—
See! |here| is the Christ! See! |there|>
Do not believe it;
- <sup>22</sup> For there will arise, false Christs, and *false
prophets*;
And they will show signs and wonders,<sup>b</sup>
So as to deceive, if possible, |the chosen|.
- <sup>23</sup> But ||ye|| beware: I have foretold you |all
things|.
- <sup>24</sup> But <in those' days, after that tribulation>
|The sun| shall be darkened,
And |the moon| will not give her brightness,
<sup>25</sup> And |the stars| will |out of the heavens| be falling,—
And |the powers which are in the heavens| will be shaken<sup>c</sup>;
- <sup>26</sup> And |then| will they see the Son of Man—
Coming in clouds,<sup>d</sup> |with great power and
glory|.
- <sup>27</sup> And |then| will he send forth the messengers,
And they will gather together his<sup>e</sup> chosen—
Out of the four' winds,<sup>f</sup>
From utmost bound of earth, unto utmost bound of heaven.<sup>g</sup>
- <sup>28</sup> Now ||from the fig-tree|| learn ye |the parable|:—
<When |already| her young branch |be-
cometh tender|,
And |the leaves| are sprouting>
Ye observe that |near| is ||the summer||:
- <sup>29</sup> |Thus| ||ye also|| <when ye shall see these things coming to pass>
Observe ye, that |near| he is, ||at the doors||.
- <sup>30</sup> |Verily| I say unto you—
|In nowise| shall this<sup>h</sup> generation pass away,
Until all these things |shall happen|:
- <sup>31</sup> |The heaven and the earth| shall pass away,
But |my words| ||shall not pass away||.

Nor the Son,—

¶ Save the Father¶.

33 Be taking heed, be watching,

For ye know not [when] the season [is]:—

34 As a man from home—

Having left his house,

And given his servants the authority,

[To each one] his work,—

And [unto the porter] hath given command, that he should watch:—

35 Be watching, therefore,

For ye know not [when] the master of the house [is coming],—

Whether at even, or at midnight, or at cock-crowing,—or at early morn:—

36 Lest [coming suddenly] he find you [sleeping].

37 But <what [unto you] I say> [unto all] I say:—

Be watching.

§ 64. The Anointing in Bethany, and the Conspiracy to Betray. Mt. xxvi. 1-16; Lu. xxii. 1-6; Jn. xii. 1-8; cp. Lu. vii. 36 ff.

14 Now it was the Passover and the Unleavened [cakes], after two' days. And the High-priests and Scribes were seeking, how [with guile] they might secure, and slay him; <sup>2</sup> for they were saying—

Not in the feast, lest there be an uproar of the people.*

<sup>3</sup> And <he being in Bethany, in the house of Simon the leper, as he was reclining> there came a woman, holding an alabaster-jar of perfume, pure spikenard, very costly; and breaking the jar she was pouring down [the perfume] upon [his head]. <sup>4</sup> But there were some much displeased among themselves—

To what end [hath this waste of the perfume happened]?

<sup>5</sup> For this' perfume could have been sold for above three hundred denaries, and given unto the destitute!

and they were indignant with her. <sup>a</sup> But [Jesus] said—

Let her alone!

Why are ye reproaching [her]?<sup>b</sup>

[A seemly' work] hath she wrought [in me];

7 For [always] have ye [the destitute] [with you],

And [whenever ye please] ye can, unto them, [at any time] do well!

But [me] not [always] have ye.

<sup>8</sup> [What she had] she used,—

She took it beforehand to anoint my body for the burial;

<sup>9</sup> And [verily] I say unto you—

<Wheresoever the glad-message shall be proclaimed throughout the whole' world>

[Also what she' did] will be told for a memorial of her.

30 And [Judas Iscariot, who was one of the twelve]

<sup>a</sup> Yet see how it is brought about in the feast, after all!

went away unto the High-priests, that, him, [he might deliver up unto them]. <sup>11</sup> Now [when they heard] they rejoiced, and promised to give him [silver]; and he was seeking how [at a favourable opportunity] he might [deliver him up].

§ 65. The Passover: the Old Feast, and the New. Mt. xxvi. 17-30; Lu. xxii. 7-23; 1 Co. xi. 23-25.

12 And <on the first' day of the unleavened cakes, when [the passover] they were slaying> his disciples say unto him—

Where wilt thou, we depart and make ready, that thou mayest eat the passover?

13 And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, and saith unto them—

Go your way into the city, and there will meet you a man [a jar of water] bearing,—follow him; <sup>14</sup> and [wheresoever he shall enter] say ye unto the householder—

[The teacher] saith, Where is my lodging, where [the passover, with my disciples] I may eat?

15 And [he] [unto you] will shew [a large upper-room, spread ready],—and [there] make ye ready for us.

16 And the disciples went forth, and came into the city, and found, according as he had said unto them,—and they made ready the passover.

17 And [when evening' arrived] he cometh, with the twelve. <sup>18</sup> And <as they were reclining and eating> Jesus said—

[Verily] I say unto you—

[One from among you] will deliver me up, [he that is eating with me].*

19 They began to be grieved, and to be saying unto him, [one by one],—

Can it be [I]?

20 And [he] said unto them—

One of the twelve, [he that is dipping with me into the [one] bowl]:

21 Because [the Son of Man] indeed, goeth his way,—

According as it is written concerning him; But alas! for that man, through whom the Son of Man is being delivered up,—

[Well for him] [if that' man] had not been born!

22 And [as they were eating] [taking a loaf] he blessed and brake, and gave unto them, and said—

Take! [this] is [my body];

23 And [taking a cup] he offered thanks, and gave unto them; and they [all] drank of it. <sup>24</sup> And he said unto them—

[This] is [my blood of the covenant],<sup>b</sup> that is to be poured out in behalf of many.

25 [Verily] I say unto you—

[No more] will I in anywise drink of the fruit of the vine, [until that day, when I shall be drinking it new,<sup>c</sup> in the kingdom of God].

§ 66. Peter's Denial foretold. Mt. xxvi. 31-35; Lu. xxii. 31-34; Jn. xiii. 36-38.

<sup>27</sup> And Jesus saith unto them—

Ye [all] will find cause of stumbling.

Because it is written,—

I will smite the shepherd,

And [the sheep] will be scattered abroad<sup>a</sup>;

<sup>28</sup> But [after my arising] I will go before you into Galilee.

<sup>29</sup> And [Peter] said unto him—

<Even if [all] shall find cause of stumbling> Certainly not [I].

<sup>30</sup> And Jesus saith unto him—

[Verily] I say unto thee,

[[Thou]] [this day] <in this' night, before that twice' a cock crow>

[Thrice] will deny me.

<sup>31</sup> But he [most vehemently] was saying—

<Even though I must needs die with thee>

[In nowise] will I [deny] thee.

[[Likewise]] indeed, were [all besides] saying.

§ 67. The Agony in the Garden. Mt. xxvi. 36-46; Lu. xxii. 40-46.

<sup>32</sup> And they come into an estate the name of which is Gethsemane, and he saith unto his disciples— Sit ye here, while I pray.

<sup>33</sup> And he taketh Peter and James and John with him, and began to be exceedingly amazed, and in great distress; <sup>34</sup> and he saith unto them—

[Encompassed with grief is my soul<sup>b</sup> unto death];

Abide ye here, and be watching.

<sup>35</sup> And [going forward a little] he fell upon the ground, and was praying that [if it were possible] the hour might pass from him; <sup>36</sup> and was saying— Abba! O Father!

[All things] are possible to thee;

Bear aside this cup from me;

But not what [I] will,

But what [[thou]] [wilt].

<sup>37</sup> And he cometh and findeth them sleeping, and saith unto Peter—Simon! art thou sleeping?

Hadst thou not strength [one' hour] to watch?

<sup>38</sup> Be watching and praying,

That ye enter not into temptation:

The [[spirit]] indeed, is willing,

But [the flesh] [weak].

<sup>39</sup> And [again] departing, he prayed [the same' thing] saying]. <sup>40</sup> And [again] coming, he found them sleeping, for their eyes were being [weighed down],—and they knew not what to answer him. <sup>41</sup> And he cometh the third time, and saith unto them—

Ye are sleeping the remaining time and taking your rest:—

It is enough! the hour hath come!

Lo! the Son of Man is being delivered up into the hands of sinners.

<sup>43</sup> And <straightway, while yet he is speaking> Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, cometh near, and [with him] a multitude, with swords and clubs, from the High-priests and the Scribes and the Elders. <sup>44</sup> He that is delivering him up hath given an agreed sign unto them, saying— <Whomsoever I shall kiss> [he] it is!

Secure him, and be leading away [safely].

<sup>45</sup> And <coming, [straightway] stepping forward to him> he saith—

Rabbi!

and openly kissed him. <sup>46</sup> And [they] thrust their hands on him, and secured him. <sup>47</sup> [[A certain]] one of the by-standers [drawing a sword] smote the servant of the High-priest, and took off his [ear]. <sup>48</sup> And Jesus [answering] said unto them—

[As against a robber] came ye forth [with swords and clubs] to arrest me?

<sup>49</sup> [Daily] was I with you, in the temple, teaching; and ye secured me not.

But <that [the Scriptures] may be fulfilled> . . .

<sup>50</sup> And they [all] [forsook] him, and fled. <sup>51</sup> And [a certain young man] was following with him, having cast about himself a fine Indian cloth [over his naked body],—and they are securing him; <sup>52</sup> but [he] leaving behind the cloth [fled naked].

§ 69. Jesus before the High-priest. Mt. xxvi.

59-68; Lu. xxii. 63-71; Jn. xviii. 12-24.

<sup>53</sup> And they led away Jesus unto the High-priest; and all' the High-priests and the Elders and the Scribes gather together.<sup>a</sup> <sup>54</sup> And [[Peter]] [afar off] followed him, as far as within, into the court of the High-priest; and was sitting with the attendants, and warming himself by the light.

<sup>55</sup> Now [the High-priests and all' the High-council] were seeking, against Jesus [testimony], with the intent to put him to death,—and were not finding any; <sup>56</sup> for [many] were bearing false-witness against him, and the testimonies were not [agreed]. <sup>57</sup> And some, standing up, were bearing false-witness against him, saying—

<sup>58</sup> [[We]] heard him saying, [[I]] will pull down this shrine, [the one made by hand], and [in three' days] [[another, not made by hand]] will I raise.

<sup>59</sup> And [not even so] was the testimony [agreed]. <sup>60</sup> And [the High-priest rising up into the midst] questioned Jesus, saying—

Answerest thou [nothing]?

What are these, against thee, witnessing?

<sup>61</sup> But [he] was silent, and answered [nothing]. [Again] the High-priest was questioning him, and saith unto him—

Art [thou] [the Christ the Son of the Blessed]<sup>b</sup>?

<sup>62</sup> And Jesus said—

||I| am; and ye shall see the Son of Man—
Sitting |on the right hand| of Power,
And coming with the clouds of heaven.*

<sup>63</sup> And ||the High-priest|| |having rent asunder his inner-garments| saith—

What |further| need have we |of witnesses|?

<sup>64</sup> Heard ye the profanity?

What |to you| doth it appear?

And they |all| condemned him to be |worthy| of |death|.

<sup>65</sup> And some began to be spitting at him, and |covering up his face| and to be buffeting him, and saying to him—
Prophecy! And |the attendants| ||with smart blows|| took him.

And ||thou|| wast |with the Nazarene|—||with Jesus||.

<sup>68</sup> But |he| denied, saying—

I neither know |him|, nor do I well understand what |thou| sayest;

and went out into the porch. <sup>69</sup> And |the maid-servant| ||seeing him|| began |again| to be saying unto the by-standers—

||This one|| |is| from among them.

<sup>70</sup> But ||he|| |again| was denying. And ||after a little again|| |the by-standers| were saying unto Peter—

||Truly|| thou |art| from among them; for thou art |a Galilean| also.

<sup>71</sup> And |he| began to be cursing and swearing—

I know not this man, of whom ye are speaking!

<sup>72</sup> And ||straightway, a second time|| |a cock| crowed; and Peter was reminded of the declaration, how Jesus had said to him—

<Before a cock |twice| crow> ||thrice|| wilt thou deny me.

And |when he thought thereon| he began to weep.

§ 71. Jesus before Pilate. Mt. xxvii. 1, 2, 11-26; Lu. xxiii. 1-7; Jn. xviii. 28-40; xix. 1-16.

15 And <straightway, early, when they had made |a council|> the High-priests with the Elders, and Scribes, and all the High-council |binding Jesus|, led him away, and delivered him up unto Pilate. <sup>2</sup> And Pilate questioned him—

Art ||thou|| the king of the Jews?<sup>b</sup>

And |he| answering him, saith—

||Thou|| sayest.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>3</sup> And the High-priests began to accuse him |of many things|. <sup>4</sup> And ||Pilate|| |again| was questioning him, [saying]—

Answerest thou |nothing|?

See! |of how many things| they are accusing thee!

<sup>5</sup> But |Jesus| ||no further|| answered |anything|, so that Pilate began to marvel.

<sup>6</sup> Now |at least time| he was wont to release unto them one' prisoner, whom they were claiming. <sup>7</sup> And there was the so-called' Barabbas, |with the rebels| bound even with them who |in the rebellion| had committed |murder|. <sup>8</sup> And

|going up| the multitude began to be claiming—according as he was wont to do for them. <sup>9</sup> But |Pilate| answered them, saying—

Will ye, I release unto you |the King of the Jews|?

<sup>10</sup> For he was getting to know that |for envy| had [the High-priests] <sup>a</sup> delivered him up. <sup>11</sup> But

|the High-priests| stirred up the multitude, that ||rather|| Barabbas ||he should release unto them. <sup>12</sup> But ||Pilate|| |again| answering—

What then shall I do with him whom ye call |the King of the Jews|?

<sup>13</sup> And ||they|| |again| cried out—

Crucify him!

<sup>14</sup> But |Pilate| was saying unto them—

Why! what |evil|<sup>b</sup> hath he done?

And ||they|| |vehemently| cried out—

Crucify him!

<sup>15</sup> And |Pilate| <being minded to do what would satisfy |the multitude|> released unto them Barabbas, and delivered up Jesus, having scourged him, that he should be crucified.

§ 72. Mocked by Roman Soldiers. Mt. xxvii. 27-32; Jn. xix. 2 ff.

<sup>16</sup> And |the soldiers| led him away, inside the court, which is a judgment-hall,—and called together the whole' band; <sup>17</sup> and they array him in purple, and set upon him, when they have plaited it, |a crown of thorns|,—<sup>18</sup> and began to be saluting him—

Joy to thee! King of the Jews!

<sup>19</sup> and were striking him on the head with a reed, and were spitting at him,—and, bowing their knees, were doing him homage. <sup>20</sup> And

|when they had mocked him| they put off him |the purple|, and put on him |his own garments|. And they lead him forth, that they may crucify him.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO LUKE.

§ 1. The Prologue.

1 <Seeing, indeed, that [many] had taken in hand to re-arrange for themselves a narrative, concerning the facts which have been fully confirmed amongst us,—<sup>2</sup> according as they who from the beginning became eye-witnesses and attendants of the Word delivered them unto us>
<sup>3</sup> it seemed good [even to me] <having closely traced from the outset all things accurately> to write unto thee [in order], most excellent Theophilus: <sup>4</sup> that <as touching the matters which thou hadst been taught by word of mouth> thou mightest obtain full knowledge [of the certainty].

§ 2. Zachariah and Elizabeth.

<sup>5</sup> It came to pass [in the days of Herod, king of Judæa] that there was a certain priest, by name Zachariah, of the daily course of Abia; and that he had a wife of the daughters of Aaron, and [her name] was Elizabeth. <sup>6</sup> Now they were both righteous before God, walking in all' the commandments and righteous appointments of the Lord, blameless; <sup>7</sup> and they had no child, inasmuch as Elizabeth was barren, and [both] had become [advanced in their days].

<sup>8</sup> But it came to pass <as he was doing priestly service in the order of his daily course, before God, <sup>9</sup> according to the custom of his priesthood> it fell to his lot to offer incense, entering into the Temple of the Lord; <sup>10</sup> and [all' the throng of the people] was praying outside, at the hour of the incense offering. <sup>11</sup> And there appeared unto him a messenger<sup>a</sup> of the Lord, standing on the right hand of the altar of incense; <sup>12</sup> and Zachariah was troubled when he beheld, and [fear] fell upon him. <sup>13</sup> But the messenger said unto him—

Do not fear, Zachariah!

Inasmuch as thy supplication hath been hearkened to,—

And [thy wife Elizabeth] shall bring forth a son to thee,

And thou shalt call his name [John];

<sup>14</sup> And there shall be joy to thee and exulting,

And [many] over his birth [shall rejoice];

<sup>15</sup> For he shall be great before the Lord,

And [wine and strong drink] in nowise may he drink;<sup>b</sup>

And [with Holy Spirit] shall he be filled, [already' from his mother's womb];

<sup>16</sup> And [many of the Sons of Israel] shall he turn towards the Lord their God;

<sup>17</sup> And [he] shall go before him [in the spirit and power of Elijah],—<sup>c</sup>

To turn the hearts of fathers unto children.

And the unyielding, into the prudence of the righteous,

<sup>c</sup> Mal. iv. 5 f.

- And to prepare, for the Lord, [a people made ready].
- <sup>18</sup> And Zachariah said unto the messenger—[Whereby] shall I know this? for [I] am [aged], and [my wife] advanced in her days.
- <sup>19</sup> And the messenger, answering, said unto him—
[I] am Gabriel,<sup>a</sup>—he that standeth near before God; and have been sent forth to speak unto thee, and to deliver the joyful message unto thee, as touching these things.
- <sup>20</sup> And lo! thou shalt be silent, and not able to speak until the day when these things shall come to pass; because thou didst not believe in my words,—the which shall be fulfilled for their season.
- <sup>21</sup> And the people were expecting Zachariah, and began to marvel that he should tarry in the Temple; <sup>22</sup> and when he came forth he was not able to speak unto them, and they perceived that [a vision] he had seen in the Temple,—and [he] continued making signs unto them, and remained dumb.
- <sup>23</sup> And it came to pass [when the days of his public ministration were fulfilled] that he departed unto his house. <sup>24</sup> And [after these] days [Elizabeth his wife conceived, and she disguised herself five months, saying—
- <sup>25</sup> [Thus] for me, hath the Lord wrought,—
In the days in which he looked upon me, to take away my reproach among men.

§ 3. The Message of Gabriel to Mary.

- <sup>26</sup> Now [in the sixth month] was the messenger Gabriel sent forth from God, into a city of Galilee, the name of which was Nazareth,— <sup>27</sup> unto a virgin, betrothed to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and [the name of the virgin] was [Mary]; <sup>28</sup> and entering in unto her, he said—
Joy to thee, favoured one!
[The Lord] be with thee!<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>29</sup> And [she, at the word] was greatly troubled, and began to deliberate, [of what kind] [this] salutation might be. <sup>30</sup> And the messenger said unto her—
Do not fear, Mary,
For thou hast found favour with God,—
<sup>31</sup> And lo! thou shalt conceive in thy womb,<sup>c</sup>
And bring forth a son,
And shalt call his name [Jesus]:
<sup>32</sup> [The same] shall be great,
And [Son of the Most High] shall be called,
And the Lord God [will give unto him] [the throne of David his father],— <sup>33</sup> And he shall reign over the house of Jacob [unto the ages],
And [of his kingdom] there shall be [no end].<sup>d</sup>
- <sup>34</sup> But Mary said unto the messenger—
[How] shall this thing be,
Seeing that [a man] I know not?

- <sup>35</sup> And, answering, the messenger said unto her—
[The Holy Spirit]<sup>a</sup> shall come upon thee,
And [the power of the Most High] shall overshadow thee;
Wherefore [even that which is to be born] [Holy] shall be called,<sup>b</sup> [Son of God].
- <sup>36</sup> And lo! [Elizabeth thy kinswoman, even she] hath conceived a son [in her old-age];—
And [this month] is [the sixth] to her, [the so-called] barren one];
- <sup>37</sup> Because no declaration from God [shall be void of power].<sup>c</sup>
- <sup>38</sup> And Mary said—
Lo! the handmaid of the Lord!
Might it come to pass unto me, according to thy declaration.
And the messenger departed from her.

§ 4. Mary visits Elizabeth. Mary's Song of Triumph.

- <sup>39</sup> And Mary, arising, in these days, journeyed into the hill country with haste, into a city of Judah,— <sup>40</sup> and entered into the house of Zachariah, and saluted Elizabeth. <sup>41</sup> And it came to pass that [as Elizabeth heard the salutation of Mary] the babe leapt in her womb, and Elizabeth was filled with Holy Spirit,—<sup>42</sup> and lifted up her voice with loud exclamation, and said—
[Blessed] art thou among women,
And [blessed] is the fruit of thy womb;
<sup>43</sup> And [whence] to me is [this],
That the mother of my Lord should come [unto me]?
- <sup>44</sup> For lo! <as the sound of thy salutation came into mine ears>
The babe in my womb [leapt in exultation].
- <sup>45</sup> And [happy] is she who hath believed, that there shall be a perfecting of the things which have been spoken to her from the Lord!
- <sup>46</sup> And Mary said—
My soul doth magnify the Lord,
<sup>47</sup> And my spirit hath exulted upon God my saviour<sup>d</sup>;
- <sup>48</sup> Because he hath looked upon the humbling of his handmaid<sup>e</sup>;
For lo! [from the present time] [all the generations] will pronounce me happy.
- <sup>49</sup> Because he that is mighty hath done for me great things,
And [holy] is his name<sup>f</sup>;
- <sup>50</sup> And his mercy is unto generations and generations,
To them who revere him<sup>g</sup>;
- <sup>51</sup> He hath wrought strength with his arm,
He hath scattered men arrogant in the intention of their heart<sup>h</sup>;
- <sup>52</sup> He hath deposed potentates from thrones,
And uplifted the lowly<sup>i</sup>;

§ 5. John's Birth and Zachariah's Song of Triumph.

- 57 And to Elizabeth was the time fulfilled, that she should be bringing forth,—and she gave birth to a son.<sup>58</sup> And her neighbours and kinsfolk heard, that the Lord had magnified his mercy with her, and they were rejoicing with her.<sup>59</sup> And it came to pass [on the eighth day] that they came to circumcise the child, and were calling it, [after the name of its father] Zachariah.<sup>60</sup> And his mother, answering, said—

Nay! but he shall be called John.

- 61 And they said unto her—
There is [no one from among thy kindred] who is called by this name!
62 And they began making signs unto his father, as to what he might be wishing it to be called.
63 And [asking for a small tablet] he wrote, saying—

[John] is his name!

and they marvelled all.<sup>64</sup> And his mouth was opened instantly, and his tongue [loosed], and he began to speak, blessing God.

- 65 And fear came upon all the neighbours themselves<sup>66</sup>; and [throughout all] the hill-country of Judæa [were all these matters being much talked of];<sup>66</sup> and all who heard laid [them] up in their hearts, saying—

What then shall this child be?

for [even the hand of the Lord] was with him.

- 67 And [Zachariah his father] was filled with Holy Spirit, and prophesied, saying:—

- 68 Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel!<sup>f</sup>
Because he hath visited and wrought redemption for his people,<sup>g</sup>
69 And hath raised up a horn of salvation for us,<sup>h</sup>
In the house of David his servant;
70 According as he hath spoken by mouth of his holy<sup>i</sup> ancient<sup>j</sup> prophets,— 71 Of salvation from among our foes, and out of the hand of all them that hate us<sup>k</sup>;
72 To perform mercy with our fathers,
And to be mindful of his holy covenant,—
73 The oath which he swore unto Abraham our father,<sup>l</sup>
To grant us, <sup>74</sup> [without fear, from the hand of enemies' rescued],

To be rendering divine service unto him,<sup>75</sup> in lovingkindness and righteousness
Before him, all our days.

- 76 And [even thou, child] [prophet of the Most High] shalt be called,— For thou shalt march on before the Lord, to prepare his ways,<sup>m</sup>

- 77 Giving a knowledge of salvation unto his people,
By a remission of their sins.

- 78 Because of the yearning compassion of the mercy of our God, Wherein shall visit us a day-dawn from on high,<sup>n</sup>

- 79 To shine on them who [in the darkness and shade of death] are sitting,<sup>o</sup>

To guide our feet into a way of peace.

- 80 And [the child] went on growing, and being strengthened in spirit, and was in the deserts, until the day he was pointed out unto Israel.

§ 6. The Birth of Jesus.

- 2 Now it came to pass [in those days] that there went forth a decree from Caesar Augustus, for all<sup>1</sup> the inhabited earth to be enrolled:<sup>2</sup> [this<sup>3</sup> enrolment] first<sup>4</sup> was made,<sup>4</sup> while Cyrenius was governor of Syria:<sup>5</sup> and all were journeying to be enrolled, each one unto his own<sup>6</sup> city.

<sup>4</sup> And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of a city Nazareth, into Judæa, into the city of David which is called Bethlehem; because he was of the house and family of David:<sup>5</sup> to enrol himself, with Mary who was betrothed to him, [she being with child].

<sup>6</sup> And it came to pass [while they were there] that the days were fulfilled for her to give birth;<sup>7</sup> and she gave birth to her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.<sup>8</sup> And there were [shepherds] in the same country, dwelling in the fields, and keeping the watches of the night over their flock.<sup>9</sup> And [a messenger of the Lord] stood over them, and [a glory of the Lord] shone round about them; and they feared [a great fear].<sup>10</sup> And the messenger said unto them—

Be not afraid!

For lo! I bring you good tidings of a great joy,

The which shall be for all<sup>1</sup> the people:

- 11 That there hath been born unto you, this day, [a saviour],

—Who is Christ the Lord—<sup>o</sup>

||In the city of David||!

- 12 And [this] to you<sup>1</sup> is [a sign]:

Ye shall find a babe, wrapped in swaddling clothes, and lying in a manger.

- 13 And [suddenly] there came to be, with the messenger, the throng of the heavenly host, praising God, and saying—

Let us go through forthwith as far as to Bethlehem, and see this thing which hath come to pass, [which the Lord hath made known to us].
- 16 And they came, with haste, and found both Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in the manger. 17 Now [when they beheld] they made known concerning the thing which had been told them as to this child. 18 And [all] who heard [marvelled concerning the things which had been told by the shepherds unto them;]

- 20 And the shepherds returned, giving glory and singing praise unto God, over all things which they had heard and seen, [according as it had been told unto them].

§ 7. The Circumcision, and the Presentation in the Temple. Symeon and Anna.

- 21 And <when eight days were fulfilled for circumcising him> then was his name called [Jesus],—which it was called by the messenger, [before he was conceived in the womb].
- 22 And <when the days of their purification, according to the law of Moses, were fulfilled><sup>b</sup> they took him up into Jerusalem, to present [him] unto the Lord,—<sup>23</sup> according as it is written in the law of the Lord—
[Every male that is a firstborn]
[Holy unto the Lord] shall be called,<sup>c</sup>
- 24 and to give a sacrifice, according to that which is said in the law of the Lord—
A pair of turtle-doves, or two young pigeons.<sup>d</sup>
- 25 And lo! there was [a man] in Jerusalem, [whose name] was Symeon; and [this man] was righteous and devout, awaiting the consolation of Israel, and Holy Spirit was upon him;
- 26 and it had been intimated to him by the Holy Spirit, that he should not see death, before he had seen the Christ of the Lord. 27 And he came, in the Spirit, into the temple; and <when the parents brought in the child Jesus, that they might do according to that which was customary by the law concerning it> <sup>28</sup> [even he] welcomed it into his arms, and blessed God, and said—
- 29 [Now] dost thou dismiss thy servant, O Sovereign,
According to thy declaration—in peace;
Because mine eyes have seen thy salvation,<sup>e</sup>
- 30 Which thou hast prepared in face of all the peoples:
- 32 A light for the unveiling of nations,<sup>f</sup>
And the glory of thy people Israel.<sup>g</sup>

- 33 And his father and mother were marvelling over the things which were being spoken concerning him. 34 And Symeon blessed them, and said unto Mary his mother—

Lo! [this one] is being set for the falling and rising of many in Israel,

And for a sign to be spoken against;

- 35 And [thou!] [through thy very soul] shall pass a sword,

That [reasonings] may be revealed, out of many hearts.

- 36 And there was one Anna, a prophetess, daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher;—[the same] advanced in many days; having lived with a husband seven years from her virginity, <sup>37</sup> and [she] had been a widow for as long as eighty-four years,—who left not the temple, [with fastings and supplications] rendering divine service night and day;—<sup>38</sup> and [in that very hour] coming near, she began to give thanks unto God, and to speak concerning him unto all who were waiting for the redemption of Jerusalem.

- 39 And <when they had finished all things that were according to the law of the Lord> they returned into Galilee, into their own city, Nazareth.

- 40 And [the child] went on growing, and waxing strong, becoming filled with wisdom; and [the favour of God] was upon it.

§ 8. Jesus, at twelve years of age, found in the Temple.

- 41 And his parents used to journey yearly into Jerusalem, at the feast of the passover. 42 And <when he became twelve years, and they went up, according to the custom of the feast, <sup>43</sup> and completed the days, and then were returning> the boy Jesus remained behind in Jerusalem,—and his parents noticed it not; 44 but [supposing him to be in the company] went a day's journey, and then began to seek for him among their kinsfolk and acquaintances, <sup>45</sup> and [not finding him] returned unto Jerusalem, seeking him. 46 And it came to pass, that [after three days] they found him in the temple, sitting amidst the teachers,—both hearkening unto them, and questioning them. 47 Now all who heard him were beside themselves, because of his understanding and his answers. 48 And [when they beheld him] they were astounded, and his mother said unto him—

Child! [why] hast thou dealt with us [thus]?

Lo! [thy father and I] [in anguish] were seeking thee.

- 49 And he said unto them—

Why was it that ye were seeking me?

Perceived ye not, that [in the courts of my Father] I must needs be?

- 50 And [they] understood not the thing which he spake to them. 51 And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was submitting himself unto them. And [his mother] was § 9. The Ministry of John the Immerser, and the Immersion of Jesus. Mt. iii.; Mk. i. 2-11; Jn. i. 19-34.

3 Now <in the fifteenth year of the supremacy of Tiberius Caesar,—Pontius Pilate being governor of Judæa, and Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, and [Philip his brother] tetrarch of Ituræa and the country of Trachonitis, and Lysanius, tetrarch of Abylene,—<sup>a</sup> in the High-priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas> came a word of God<sup>b</sup> unto John the son [of Zachariah] in the desert; <sup>c</sup> and he came into all' the country about the Jordan, proclaiming an immersion of repentance into remission of sins: <sup>d</sup> as it is written in the book of the discourses of Isaiah the prophet:—

A voice of one crying aloud!

[In the desert] prepare ye the way of the Lord,
[Straight] be making his paths;

5 Every' chasm shall be filled up,
And [every' mountain and hill] be made low;
And the [crooked] places shall become [straight],
And the [rugged] places smooth ways:—

6 And all' flesh shall see the salvation of God.<sup>e</sup>

7 He was saying, therefore, unto the multitudes who were going forth to be immersed by him—
Broods of vipers! who suggested to you, to flee from the coming' wrath?

8 Bring forth, therefore, fruits worthy of repentance, and do not begin to be saying within yourselves—

[As our father] we have [Abraham];

For, I say unto you—God is able [out of these stones] to raise up children unto Abraham.

9 And [already] [even the axe] unto the root of the trees' is being laid;<sup>d</sup> [every' tree, therefore, not bringing forth [good] fruit] is to be hewn down, and [into fire] to be cast.

10 And the multitude began to question him saying—

[What] then, shall we [do]?

11 And, answering, he said unto them—

[He that hath two' tunics] let him share with him that hath none, and [he that hath food] [in like manner] let him be doing.

12 And there came [even tax-collectors] to be immersed; and they said unto him—

Teacher! [what] shall we [do]?

13 And [he] said unto them—

<Nothing more than what is appointed you> exact ye.

14 Then were questioning him [soldiers<sup>e</sup> also] saying—

What shall [even we] do?

And he said unto them—

Molest ye [no one], neither accuse falsely; and be content with your supplies.

15 Now <as the people were in expectation and all were deliberating in their hearts, concerning John,—whether by any means [he] might be [the Christ]> <sup>16</sup> John answered, saying unto all—

[I] indeed, [with water] am immersing you; but he that is mightier than I [cometh], the thong of whose sandals I am not worthy to unloose,—[he] will immerse you in Holy Spirit and fire: <sup>17</sup> whose fan is in his hand, to clear out his threshing-floor, and to gather the wheat into his granary; and to gather the chaff will he burn up with fire unquenchable.

18 So then indeed <as to many' things and various' he exhorted> and continued telling his glad-message unto the people. <sup>19</sup> But [Herod the tetrarch]<sup>a</sup> <being reproved by him concerning Herodias, the wife of his brother, and concerning all' the wicked things Herod had done>

<sup>20</sup> added this also unto all,—[he locked up John in prison].

21 Now it came to pass <when one and all the people were immersed> [Jesus also] <having been immersed, and being at prayer> heaven was opened; <sup>22</sup> and the Holy Spirit descended, in bodily' appearance, as a dove, upon him,—and [a voice out of heaven] came—

[Thou] art my Son, the Beloved, [in thee] I delight.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>31</sup> And he came down into Capernaum, a city of Galilee. And he was teaching them on the sabbath<sup>a</sup>; <sup>32</sup> and they were being struck with astonishment at his teaching, because [with authority] was his word. <sup>33</sup> And [in the synagogue] was a man having a spirit of an impure demon; and he cried out with a loud voice—

What have we in common with thee,<sup>b</sup> O Jesus, Nazarene!

Hast thou come to destroy us?

I know thee, who thou art,—

[The Holy One of God].

<sup>35</sup> And Jesus rebuked it, saying—

Hold thy peace! and go forth from him.

And the demon, throwing him into the midst, went forth from him, doing him no hurt.

<sup>36</sup> And amazement came upon all,—and they began to converse one with another, saying—

What is this word, that [with authority and power] he giveth orders unto the impure spirits, and they go forth?

§ 14. Cures the Mother-in-law of Simon and many others. Proclaims the Kingdom throughout Galilee. Mt. viii. 14-16; Mk. i. 29-30.

Now [the mother-in-law of Simon] was in distress with a great fever; and they made request to him concerning her. <sup>39</sup> And [standing over her] he rebuked the fever, and it left her; and [instantly] arising [she began to minister unto them].

[Thou] art the Son of God.

And [rebuking them] he suffered them not be talking; because they knew him to be [The Christ].

<sup>42</sup> And [when it was day] going forth, he journeyed into a desert place; and [the multitudes] were seeking after him, and they came unto him, and would have detained him, that he might not depart from them. <sup>43</sup> But [he] said unto them—

Cp. Jn. xxi. 6.

<sup>5</sup> And it came to pass <while the multitude was pressing upon him, and was hearing the word of God> that [he] was standing near the lake of Gennesaret; <sup>2</sup> and he saw two boats placed near the lake, and [the fishers] having gone away [from them], were washing their nets. <sup>3</sup> And <entering into one of the boats, which was Simon's> he requested him [to put off from the land, a little]; and, taking a seat, [out of the boat] began he teaching the multitudes. <sup>4</sup> And [when he ceased speaking] he said unto Simon—

Put off into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught.

Master! <although through the whole night we toiled> we took [nothing]; howbeit [at thy bidding] I will let down the nets.

<sup>6</sup> And [when this they had done] they enclosed a very large number of fishes, and their nets began to break. <sup>7</sup> And they made signs to their partners in the other boat, to come and help them; and they came, and filled both the boats,—so that they began to sink. <sup>8</sup> And Simon [beholding] fell down at the knees of Jesus, saying—

Depart from me!

Because [a sinful man] am I, O Lord!

<sup>9</sup> For [amazement] overcame him, and all them who were with him, on account of the draught of the fishes which they had taken; <sup>10</sup> [likewise also] both James and John, sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said unto Simon—

Do not fear! [henceforth] shalt thou be taking [men] that they may [live]

Lord! [if thou be willing] thou canst cleanse me.

<sup>13</sup> And [stretching forth the hand] he touched him, saying—

I am willing: Be cleansed!

And [straightway] the leprosy departed from him. <sup>14</sup> And [he] charged him to tell [no one],—but [departing]—

Show thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, according as Moses enjoined, for a witness unto them.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>15</sup> But the report concerning him the more went abroad, and many multitudes were coming together, to hear, and be getting cured from their infirmities; <sup>16</sup> howbeit [he] was retiring in the deserts, and engaging in prayer.

<sup>49</sup> But <he that hath heard and not done> is like unto a man having built a house upon the earth, without a foundation,—against which the stream burst, and |straightway| it fell in; and it came to pass, that |the crash of that house| was |great|. <sup>e</sup>

§ 24. A Centurion's Servant healed. Mt. viii. 5-13.

<sup>7</sup> <After he had completed all' his sayings within the hearing of the people> he entered into Capernaum.

<sup>2</sup> And ||a certain centurion's' servant|| being sick', was on the point of dying,—who was, by him, |highly prized|. <sup>3</sup> But |hearing about Jesus| he sent forth unto him elders of the Jews, requesting him that he would come and bring his servant safely through. <sup>4</sup> And ||they|| |coming near unto Jesus| began beseeching him earnestly, saying—

|Worthy| is he for whom thou mayest do this, for he loveth our nation, and |the synagogue| ||he|| built for us.

<sup>6</sup> And |Jesus| was journeying with them. But <he |by this time| being not far from the house> the centurion sent friends, saying unto him—

Lord! do not trouble thyself, for I am of no consideration, that |under my roof| thou shouldst enter. <sup>f</sup> Wherefore, neither deemed

I |myself| worthy to come unto thee,—but speak with a word, and let my servant be healed.

<sup>8</sup> For ||I too|| am a man ranked |under authority|, having |under myself| soldiers; and I say to this one— Go! and he goeth,—and to another— Come! and he cometh,—and to my servant— Do this! and he doeth it.

<sup>9</sup> And |hearing these things| Jesus marvelled at him; and |turning to the multitude following' him| said—

I tell you,

||Not even in Israel|| |such faith as this'| have I found!

<sup>10</sup> And they who were sent, returning unto the house, found the servant |well|.

§ 25. The Son of the Widow of Nain is raised from the dead.

<sup>11</sup> And it came to pass thereafter, that he journeyed unto a city called Nain, and there were journeying with him, his disciples and a great multitude. <sup>12</sup> Now |as he drew near unto the gate of the city| then lo! there was being brought forth, one dead, the only-begotten' son of his mother,—and |she| was a widow; and |a considerable multitude of the city| was with her.

<sup>13</sup> And ||beholding her|| |the Lord| was moved with compassion over her, and said to her—

Be not weeping!

<sup>14</sup> And |going forward| he touched the coffin, and the bearers stood still; and he said—

Young man! |to thee| I say, Arise!

<sup>15</sup> And the dead man sat up, and began to speak; and he gave him to his mother. <sup>16</sup> And fear seized them |all|, and they began to glorify God, saying—

|A great prophet| hath been raised up amongst us!

and—

God hath visited his people!

<sup>17</sup> And this report went forth throughout the whole' of Judaea, and all' the surrounding country.

<sup>15</sup> And John's disciples carried tidings unto him concerning all' these things. <sup>19</sup> And |calling unto him certain two of his disciples| John sent unto the Lord, saying—

Art ||thou|| the Coming One, or |a different one| are we to expect?

Art ||thou|| the Coming One, or |another| <sup>b</sup> are we to expect?

<sup>21</sup> |In that very' hour| he cured many from diseases, and plagues, and wicked spirits; and |unto many blind| gave he the favour to see.

Go and bear tidings unto John, as to what ye have seen and heard :

The blind are receiving sight,

The lame walk,

Lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear,—

The dead are raised,

The destitute are told the glad-message<sup>b</sup> ;

<sup>23</sup> And happy is he, whosoever shall not find occasion of stumbling in me !

<sup>24</sup> And the messengers of John having departed, he began to say unto the multitudes, concerning John—

What went ye forth into the desert to gaze at?
A reed, by a wind, shaken ?

<sup>25</sup> But what went ye forth to see ?

A man in soft garments arrayed ?

Lo ! they who in splendid apparel and luxury are found, are in the kingly courts .

<sup>26</sup> But what went ye forth to see ?

A prophet ? Yea ! I say unto you,—

And abundantly more than a prophet.

<sup>27</sup> This is he concerning whom it is written—

Lo ! I am sending forth my messenger before thy face,

Who shall prepare thy way before thee.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>28</sup> I say unto you—

[A greater] <among them that are born of women> [than John] is there none ; but he that is least in the kingdom of God is greater<sup>d</sup> than he.

<sup>29</sup> And all the people, when they heard, and the tax-collectors, justified God, having been immersed with the immersion of John ; <sup>30</sup> but the Pharisees and the lawyers had set aside the counsel of God against themselves, not being immersed by him.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>31</sup> [Unto what] then, shall I liken the men of this generation ?

And unto what are they like ?

<sup>32</sup> They are like unto the children sitting in a market-place, and calling one to another, who say—

We played the flute for you, and ye danced not,

We wailed, and ye wept not.

And ye say— [A demon] he hath :

And ye say—

Lo ! a man, gluttonous and a wine-drinker,

A friend of tax-collectors and sinners.

§ 27. A Sinful Woman washes Jesus' feet.

<sup>36</sup> And a certain one of the Pharisees was requesting him, what he would eat with him ; and

[entering into the house of the Pharisee] he reclined.

<sup>37</sup> And lo ! [a woman, who indeed was in the city a sinner] ; and <when she found out that he was reclining in the house of the Pharisee> [providing an alabaster-jar of perfume, <sup>38</sup> and standing behind, near his feet, weeping|| with the tears] began she to be wetting his feet, and [with the hair of her head] was wiping off [the tears], and was tenderly kissing his feet, and anointing them with the perfume.

[This one] [if he were the<sup>a</sup> prophet] would have been taking note, [who and of what sort] is the woman, who is even touching him, that she is [a sinner] .

<sup>40</sup> And, making answer, Jesus said unto him—

Simon ! I have [unto thee] something to say.

[He] then—

Teacher, speak !—saith he.

<sup>41</sup> [Two debtors] there were, to a certain creditor,—[the one] owed five hundred denaries, and [the other] fifty. <sup>42</sup> <They not having wherewith to pay> he forgave [both]. Which of them, therefore, will love him [more] ?

I suppose, that he to whom [the more], he forgave.

And [he] said unto him—

[Rightly] hast thou judged.

<sup>44</sup> And [turning towards the woman] [unto Simon] he said—

Seest thou this woman ? I entered into thy house : [water to me, on my feet] thou didst not give,—but [she] [with her tears] hath wetted my feet, and [with her hair] wiped off [the tears]. <sup>45</sup> [A kiss to me] thou didst not give,—but [she] [from the time I came in] hath not ceased tenderly kissing my feet. <sup>46</sup> [With oil, my head] thou didst not anoint,—but [she] [with perfume] hath anointed [my feet]. <sup>47</sup> [For which cause] I say unto thee—[Her many sins] have been forgiven,<sup>b</sup> because she hath loved [much] ; but [he to whom little is forgiven] [little] loveth.

<sup>48</sup> And he said unto her—

Thy sins have been forgiven.

<sup>49</sup> And they who were reclining together, began to be saying within<sup>c</sup> themselves—

Who is [this], that [even forgiveth sins] ?

[Thy faith] hath saved thee,—

Go thy way into peace.

§ 29. The Parable of the Sower. Mt. xiii. 1-9; Mk. iv. 1-9.

<sup>4</sup> And <seeing that a great multitude were coming together, and they who from every city were journeying forth unto him> he spake through means of a parable:—

<sup>5</sup> The sower went forth to sow his seed,—and <as he sowed>

||Some|| indeed fell beside the pathway, and was trodden down; and [the birds of heaven] devoured it.

<sup>6</sup> And ||other|| fell down upon the rock; and, growing, was withered, because it had not moisture.

<sup>7</sup> And ||other|| fell amidst thorns; and, growing together, [the thorns] choked it.

<sup>8</sup> And ||other|| fell into good ground; and, growing, brought forth fruit [a hundred-fold].

[These things] saying, he went on to cry aloud—
[He that hath ears to hear] let him hear.

§ 30. The Sower Explained. Mt. xiii. 10-23; Mk. iv. 10-20.

<sup>9</sup> But his disciples began to question him—

What might [this very] parable be?

<sup>10</sup> And [he] said—

||Unto you|| hath it been given, to get to know the sacred secrets of the kingdom of God; but ||unto the rest|| in parables,—in order that, seeing, they may not see, and, hearing, they may not understand.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>11</sup> Now the parable [is this]:—[The seed] is [the word of God]. <sup>12</sup> And [those

beside the pathway] are they who have heard; [afterwards] cometh the adversary, and catcheth away the word from their heart, lest [believing] they should ||be saved||. <sup>13</sup> And [those upon the rock]

are they who [as soon as they hear] [with joy] welcome the word; and [these] not having [root] are they who [for a season] believe,—and [in a season of testing] draw back.<sup>b</sup> <sup>14</sup> And [that which in among the thorns' fell] ||these|| are they who have heard; and [by anxieties and wealth and pleasures of life being borne along] are

choked up, and bear not to perfection. <sup>15</sup> But [that in the good ground] ||these|| are they who indeed [in a noble and good heart having heard the word] hold fast, and bear fruit with endurance.

<sup>16</sup> And [no one having lit a lamp] covereth it up with a vessel, or [beneath a couch] putteth it; but [upon a lamp-stand] putteth it, that [they who come in] may see the

<sup>18</sup> Be taking heed therefore how ye hear; for [whosoever shall have] it shall be given unto him; and [whosoever shall not have] ||even what he seemeth to have|| shall be taken from him.<sup>c</sup>

§ 31. "My Mother and My Brethren."

Mt. xii. 46-50; Mk. iii. 31-35.

<sup>19</sup> And his mother and brethren came near unto him, and were unable to reach him, because of the multitude. <sup>20</sup> And it was reported to him— [Thy mother and thy brethren] are standing outside, desiring [to see] thee.

<sup>21</sup> But [he] answering, said unto them—

||My mother and my brethren|| are<sup>d</sup> [these]— they who [the word of God] are hearing and doing.

§ 32. A Storm rebuked. Mt. viii. 23-27;

Mk. iv. 35-41.

<sup>22</sup> And it came to pass, on one of the days, that [he] entered into a boat, and his disciples; and he said unto them—

Let us pass over unto the other side of the lake.

And they set sail. <sup>23</sup> Now [as they were sailing] he fell asleep. And there came down a hurricane of wind upon the lake, and they began to be filled [and to be in peril]. <sup>24</sup> And [coming near] they roused him up, saying—

Master! Master! we perish!<sup>e</sup>

And [he, roused up] rebuked the wind, and the surging of the water; and they ceased, and it became a calm. <sup>25</sup> And he said unto them—

Where was your faith?

But [struck with fear] they marvelled, saying one to another—

Who then is [this]—that [even unto the winds] he giveth orders [and unto the water], and they hearken unto him.

§ 33. A Gerasene Demoniac delivered.

Mt. viii. 28-34; Mk. v. 1-20.

<sup>26</sup> And they sailed down into the country of the Gerasenes, the which is over against Galilee.

<sup>27</sup> And [when he went forth upon the land] there met him a certain man, out of the city, having demons; and [for a considerable time] he had put on no garment,<sup>f</sup> and [in a house]<sup>g</sup> would not abide, but among the tombs. <sup>28</sup> But [seeing Jesus] he cried out aloud, and fell down before him, and [with a loud voice] said—

Son of [God] the Most High?

I beg of thee—Do not torment me!—

<sup>29</sup> for he was about to charge the impure spirit to come out from the man. For [many times] had it snatched him away; and he used to be bound with chains and fetters [for a safe-guard], and was wont to break in pieces the bonds, and to be driven by the demon into the deserts.

<sup>30</sup> And Jesus questioned him—

What name hast thou?

And [he] said—

Legion!

because many demons had entered into him.

<sup>31</sup> And they were beseeching him that he would not order them [into the abyss] to depart.

<sup>32</sup> Now there was there, a herd of a good many swine, feeding in the mountain; and they besought him, that he would suffer them [into those] to enter; and he suffered them. <sup>33</sup> And the demons, going forth from the man, entered into the swine; and the herd rushed down the cliff, into the lake, and were choked.

<sup>34</sup> And they who had been feeding them [seeing what had happened] fled, and carried tidings into the city, and into the country-places. <sup>35</sup> And they went forth to see what had happened; and came unto Jesus, and found the man from whom the demons had gone forth [sitting], clothed, and of sound mind, near the feet of Jesus,—and they were struck with fear. <sup>36</sup> And they who had seen it [reported unto them] how the demonized man was saved. <sup>37</sup> And one and all of the throng of the surrounding country of the Gerasenes [requested him, to depart from them]; because [with a great fear] were they oppressed. And [he] entering into a boat [returned]. <sup>38</sup> And the man from whom the demons had gone forth [began to beg of him] that he might be with him; but he dismissed him, saying—

And he departed, [through all] the city, proclaiming what great things [Jesus] had done for him.

§ 34. The Daughter of Jairus raised, and the Woman with Flow of Blood cured. Mt. ix. 18-26; Mk. v. 21-43.

<sup>40</sup> Now [when Jesus returned] the multitude welcomed him back, for they were all expecting him.

<sup>41</sup> And lo! there came a man, whose name was Jairus, and [the same] was [a ruler of the synagogue],—and [falling down near the feet of Jesus] he began beseeching him to enter into his house; <sup>42</sup> because he had [an only-begotten daughter], about twelve years old, and [shē] was dying.

Now [as he withdrew] [the multitudes] were hemming him in. <sup>43</sup> And [a woman] <with a flow of blood of twelve years standing, who indeed could, from no one, be cured> <sup>44</sup> [coming near behind] touched the fringe of his mantle; and [instantly] was stayed the flow of her blood. <sup>45</sup> And Jesus said—

[Who] is it that touched me?

And [when all were denying] Peter said—

Master! [the multitudes] are hemming thee in, and pressing along.

<sup>46</sup> But [Jesus] said—

Some one touched me, for [I] took note of power, gone out from me.

<sup>47</sup> And <the woman seeing that she had not escaped notice> trembling, came, and [falling down before him] reported before all the people [for what cause she had touched him] and how she was healed instantly! <sup>48</sup> And [he] said to her—

Daughter! [thy faith] hath saved thee:

Go thy way into peace.

<sup>49</sup> <While yet he is speaking> there cometh one from the synagogue ruler's, saying—

Thy daughter [is dead]:

[No further] be troubling the teacher.

<sup>50</sup> But [Jesus] hearing, answered him—

Do not fear!

[Only believe] and she shall be saved.

<sup>51</sup> And [when he came into the house] he suffered no one to enter with him, save Peter and John and James, and the father of the girl, and the mother. <sup>52</sup> And they were all weeping, and beating themselves, for her. And he said—

Be not weeping; for she died not, but is sleeping.

<sup>53</sup> And they were deriding him, knowing that she died.

<sup>54</sup> But [he] [grasping her hand] called aloud, saying—

O girl! arise!

<sup>55</sup> And her spirit returned, and she rose up instantly, and he ordered that something should be given her to eat. <sup>56</sup> And her parents were beside themselves.

But [he] charged them to tell [no one] what had happened.

§ 35. The Twelve sent forth. Mt. x. 1-14 ff;

Mk. vi. 7-13.

9 And [calling together the twelve] he gave them power and authority over all the demons, and to be curing [diseases]; <sup>2</sup> and sent them forth, to be proclaiming the kingdom of God, and to be healing; <sup>3</sup> and said unto them—

[Nothing] take ye for the journey,—

Neither staff, nor satchel, nor bread, nor silver,

Nor to have [two] tunics].

<sup>4</sup> And <into whatsoever house ye enter>

[There] abide, and [thence] be going forth.

<sup>5</sup> And <as many soever as shall not welcome you>

[In going forth from that city] [the dust of your feet] shake ye off [for a witness against them].

<sup>6</sup> And they went forth, and were passing through, along the villages,—delivering the glad-message, and effecting cures in every direction.

§ 36. Herod at a loss about Jesus. Mt. xiv. 1-12;

Mk. vi. 14-29.

<sup>7</sup> Now Herod the tetrarch heard of all the things which were coming to pass, and was utterly at a loss, because of its being said [by some], that [John] had been raised from the dead; <sup>8</sup> and [by some], that [Elijah] had appeared; and [by others] that [some prophet of the ancients] had arisen. <sup>9</sup> But Herod said—

[John] [I myself] beheaded; but [who is this], concerning whom I am hearing such things as these?

And he was seeking to see him.

§ 37. The Miracle of the Five Loaves. Mt. xiv. 13-21; Mk. vi. 30-44; Jn. vi. 1-13.

<sup>10</sup> And the Apostles [returning] related to him what great things they had done. And [taking them aside] he retired privately into a city called Bethsaida. <sup>11</sup> But [the multitudes] [getting to know] followed him; and [giving them welcome] he began speaking unto them concerning the kingdom of God,—and [them that had need of cure] he healed. <sup>12</sup> And [the day] began to decline; and the twelve [coming near] said to him—

Dismiss the multitude, that <going into the surrounding villages and hamlets> they may lodge, and find provisions; because [here, in a desert place] are we.

<sup>13</sup> But he said unto them—

Give [ye] them to eat.

[They] however, said—

We have not more than five loaves, and two fishes,—unless perhaps [we] should go, and buy food [for all] this people.

<sup>14</sup> For there were about five thousand men.

And he said unto his disciples—

Make them recline, in companies of about fifty each.

<sup>15</sup> And they did so,—and made [one and all] recline. <sup>16</sup> And <taking the five loaves, and the two fishes> [looking up into heaven] he blessed them, and brake [them] up, and went on giving to the disciples, to set before the multitude; <sup>17</sup> and they did all eat and were filled. And that which remained over to them [was taken up],—[of broken pieces] twelve baskets.

§ 38. Peter's Good Confession. Mt. xvi. 13-20; Mk. viii. 27-30.

<sup>18</sup> And <it came to pass, when he was praying in solitude> [the disciples] were with him. And he questioned them, saying—

Who do the multitudes say that I am?

<sup>19</sup> And they, answering, said—

John the Immerser;

But some, Elijah,

And others, That [some prophet of the ancients] hath arisen.

<sup>20</sup> And he said to them—

But who say [ye] that I am?

And [Peter] answering, said—

The Christ of God!

<sup>21</sup> [He] however, sternly admonishing them, gave charge that [unto no one] should they be telling this; <sup>22</sup> saying—

The Son of Man must needs suffer [many things] and be rejected by the Elders and High priests and Scribes, and be slain,—and [on the third day] [arise].

§ 39. Taking up the Cross. Mt. xvi. 24-28; Mk. viii. 34-38.

<sup>23</sup> And he was saying [unto all]—

<If any one intendeth after me to come>

Let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily,—and be following me.<sup>a</sup>

But <whosoever shall lose his life for my sake> [The same] shall save it.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>25</sup> For what doth a man profit,

Who hath gained the whole world,

But hath lost, or been made to forfeit, [himself]?

<sup>26</sup> For <whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words> [of him] [the Son of Man] will be ashamed, whensoever he shall come in his glory, and that of the Father, and of the holy messengers.

There [are] some of those [here] standing, who shall in nowise taste of death, [until they see the kingdom of God].

§ 40. The Transformation of Jesus. Mt. xvii. 1-8; Mk. ix. 2-13; cp. 2 P. i. 16-18.

<sup>28</sup> And it came to pass [after these words] about eight days [taking with him Peter and John and James] he went up into the mountain to pray. <sup>29</sup> And it came to pass [while he was praying] that [the appearance of his face] was changed, and [his clothing] became white, [effulgent]. <sup>30</sup> And lo! [two men] were conversing with him, who, indeed, were Moses and Elijah,—<sup>31</sup> who [appearing in glory] were speaking as to his departure, which he was about to fulfil in Jerusalem. <sup>32</sup> Now [Peter, and they who were with him] had become heavy with sleep; but [waking up] they saw his glory, and the two men who were standing with him.

<sup>33</sup> And it came to pass [when they were being parted from him] Peter said unto Jesus—

Master! it is [delightful] for us to be [here]: Let us, therefore, make three tents, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elijah:—

not knowing what he said. <sup>34</sup> Now [while he was saying these things] there came<sup>a</sup> a cloud, and it began to overshadow them,—and they were overcome with fear as they entered into the cloud. <sup>35</sup> And [a voice] came out of the cloud, saying—

[This] is my Son [the Chosen One]<sup>c</sup>:

[Unto him] be hearkening.

<sup>36</sup> And [when the voice came] there was found [Jesus alone]. And they held their peace, and [unto no one] reported they, in those days, any of the things which they had seen.

37 And it came to pass <on the next<sup>a</sup> day, when they came down from the mountain> that there met him a great multitude. 38 And lo! [a man from the multitude] uttered a cry, saying—

Teacher! I beg of thee, to look upon my son, because [my only begotten] he is. 39 And lo! [a spirit] taketh him, and [suddenly] he crieth out,—and it convulseth him—with foaming, and with difficulty departeth from him, sorely bruising him.

40 And I begged of thy disciples, that they would cast it out, and they could not.

41 And, making answer, Jesus said—
O faithless and perverted generation! how long shall I be with you, and bear with you? Bring [hither] thy son.

42 And [while yet<sup>a</sup> he was coming] the demon tare him, and mangled him. But Jesus rebuked the impure spirit, and healed the boy, and gave him back to his father. 43 And they were all being struck with astonishment, [at the majesty of God].

§ 42. Jesus warns of His Rejection.

Mt. xvii. 22, 23; Mk. ix. 30-32.

And <while all<sup>a</sup> were marvelling at all<sup>a</sup> things which he was doing> he said unto his disciples:

44 Lay [ye] up in your ears, these words; for [the Son of Man] is about to be delivered up [into the hands of men].

45 But [they] understood not this saying, and it had become veiled from them, that they might not grasp it,—and they were afraid to question him [concerning this saying].

§ 43. True Greatness. Mt. xviii. 1-5;

Mk. ix. 33-37.

46 But there entered a reasoning among them, as to who of them should be greatest.

47 And [Jesus] <perceiving the reasoning of their heart> [taking a child] placed it near himself,—

48 and said unto them—
<Whosoever shall give welcome unto this child, on my name> [unto me] giveth welcome;

And <whosoever [unto me] giveth welcome> giveth welcome unto him that sent me forth.<sup>a</sup>

For [he who is least among you all] [the same] is [great].

49 But John [answering] said—
Master! we saw some one [in thy name] casting out demons,—and we forbade him, because he followeth not with us.

50 And Jesus said unto him—
Do not forbid; for [whosoever is not against you] is [for you].

Lord! wilt thou, that we bid fire come down from heaven, and destroy<sup>b</sup> them?

55 But [turning] he rebuked them.<sup>c</sup>

Mt. viii. 18-22.

57 And [as they were journeying on the road] one said unto him—

I will follow thee, whithersoever thou shalt depart.

58 And Jesus said unto him—

[The foxes] have [dens], and [the birds of heaven] [nests]; but [the Son of Man] hath not where [his head] he may recline.

59 And he said unto another—

Be following me!

But [he] said—

Suffer me, [first] to depart, and bury my father

60 And he said unto him—

Leave [the dead] to bury their own<sup>a</sup> dead;

But [thou] departing, be declaring the kingdom of God.

61 And [yet another] said—

I will follow thee, Lord;

But [first] suffer me to bid adieu to them that are in my house.

62 But Jesus said [unto him]—

[No one, laying the hand on a plough and looking unto the things behind] is [fit] for the kingdom of God.

§ 46. The Mission of the Seventy [Two].

10 And [after these things] the Lord appointed seventy [two] others, and sent them forth, two and two before his face, into every<sup>a</sup> city and place whither [he himself] was about to come.

2 And he was saying unto them—

[The harvest] indeed, is [great],

But [the labourers] [few];

Beg ye, therefore, of the Lord of the harvest, That he would thrust forth [labourers] into his harvest.<sup>d</sup>

3 Withdraw! Lo! I send you forth as lambs amid wolves.

4 Be not carrying purse, or satchel, or sandals,

And [no one along the road] salute ye;

5 And <into whatsoever house ye enter>

[First]<sup>e</sup> say Peace to this house!

6 And <if the son of peace be [there]>

[Your peace] shall rest upon it;

But [otherwise, at least] [unto you] shall it return.

- 7 And [in the self-same' house] abide ye, Eating and drinking such things as they have;
For [worthy] is the labourer [of his hire]:
Be not removing from house to house.
- 8 And <into whatsoever city ye shall enter, and they bid you welcome>
Be eating such things as are set before you;
And be curing the sick that are [therein],
And be saying unto them—
The kingdom of God hath drawn nigh upon you.
- 10 But <into whatsoever city ye shall enter, and they do not welcome you> [Going forth into the broadways thereof]
say ye:
11 <Even the dust that cleaveth unto us, out of your city, unto our feet> do we wipe off against you;
Nevertheless [of this] be taking notice—
The kingdom of God hath drawn near.
- 12 I tell you, [For them of Sodom, in that day] [more tolerable] will it be, [than for that city].<sup>a</sup>
- 13 Alas for thee, Chorazin!
Alas for thee, Bethsaida!
Because <[if] [in Tyre and Zidon] had been done the works of power which have been done in you>
[Of old, in sackcloth' and ashes' sitting] they would have repented.
- 14 Moreover [for Tyre and Zidon] [more tolerable] will it be, in the judgment, than [for you].
- 15 And [thou, Capernaum]—
[Unto heaven] shalt thou be uplifted?...
[Unto hades] thou shalt be brought down<sup>b</sup>!
- 16 <He that hearkeneth unto you> [unto me]
doth hearken,
And <he that setteth you' aside> doth set [me] aside;
And <he that setteth [me] aside> doth set aside [him that sent me].<sup>c</sup>
- 17 And the seventy [-two] returned, with joy,
saying—
Lord! [even the demons] submit themselves unto us, in thy name!
- 18 And he said unto them—
I was beholding Satan, when [like lightning, out of heaven] he fell!
- 19 Lo! I have given you the authority—
To be treading upon serpents<sup>d</sup> and scorpions,
[And over all' the power of the enemy],—
And [nothing, unto you] shall in anywise do harm;
Notwithstanding [in this] be not rejoicing—
That [the spirits] unto you' submit themselves;
But be rejoicing—
That [your names] are inscribed in the heavens!

- 21 [In the self-same' hour] exulted he in the Holy Spirit, and said—
I openly give praise unto thee, Father!
Lord of heaven and earth!
In that thou hast hid these things from the wise and discerning,
And hast revealed them unto babes,— Yea, O Father! that [so] hath it become [a delight] before thee.
- 22 [All things] [unto me] have been delivered up by my Father;
And [no one] knoweth, who the Son' is [save the Father],—
And who the Father' is, [save the Son].
And he to whomsoever the Son may be minded to reveal him.<sup>e</sup>
- 23 And [turning unto his disciples, privately] he
said—
[Happy] the eyes, that see what ye see!
- 24 For I tell you—[Many' prophets and kings] have desired to see what [ye] see, and they saw not,
And to hear what ye hear, and they heard not.<sup>e</sup>

§ 47. A Lawyer answered: The Good Samaritan.

Teacher! [by doing what] shall I inherit

26 And [he] said unto him—
[In the law] what is written? how dost thou

27 And [he] answering, said—
Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, out of all thy might, and with all thine intention<sup>d</sup>;

And thy neighbour, as thyself.<sup>e</sup>
- 28 And he said unto him—

Jesus—
And [who is] my neighbour?
30 And taking up [the question], Jesus said—

Martha! Martha! thou art anxious and troubled about many' things:

§ 49. "Lord! teach us to pray." Cp. Mt. vi. 9-13.

<sup>11</sup> And it came to pass <when he was in a certain place praying, as he ceased> one of his disciples said unto him—

Lord! teach us to pray,

As [John also] taught his disciples.

<sup>2</sup> And he said unto them—

<Whosoever ye are praying> say—

Father!

Hallowed be thy name,

Come may thy kingdom,

<sup>3</sup> [Our needful bread] be giving us, day by day;

<sup>4</sup> And forgive us our sins,

For [even we ourselves] forgive every' one indebted to us;

And bring us not into temptation.

<sup>5</sup> And he said unto them—

[Who from among you] shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him—

Friend! supply me with three' loaves, forasmuch as [a friend of mine] hath come off a journey unto me, and I have not what I can set before him;

<sup>7</sup> and [he] [from within] shall answer, and say—

Be not disturbing me,—[already] the door hath been fastened, and ||my children, with me|| are [in bed]: I cannot rise and give thee?

<sup>8</sup> I say unto you—<Even though he will not give him, rising because of his being a friend of his> [because, at least, of his importunity] he will rouse himself, and give him as many as he needeth.

<sup>9</sup> ||I|| therefore, [unto you] say—

Be asking, and it shall be given to you,

Be seeking, and ye shall find,—

Be knocking, and it shall be opened unto you.

<sup>10</sup> For [whosoever asketh] receiveth,

And [he that seeketh] findeth,—

And [to him that knocketh] shall it be opened.<sup>a</sup>

Whom the son will ask for<sup>b</sup> [a fish],

Who [instead of a fish] will give him ||a serpent||?

Who will give him ||a scorpion||?

||How much rather|| will [the heavenly Father] give Holy Spirit unto them that ask him!

<sup>14</sup> And he was casting out a demon that was dumb; and it came to pass [when the demon' went out] the dumb began speaking. And the multitudes marvelled; <sup>15</sup> but [some from among them] said—

||In<sup>d</sup> Beelzebub,<sup>e</sup> the ruler of the demons|| is he casting out the demons;

And ||a house, against a house [divided]|| falleth;

<sup>18</sup> And <[if] [even Satan] against himself' hath become divided> how shall his kingdom stand'?

Because ye are saying that [in Beelzebub] am I casting out the demons.

- 37 And |when he had spoken| a Pharisee was reand, entering, he reclined. 38 And |the

Pharisee| beholding, marvelled that he was not

Now ||ye, the Pharisees|| |the outside of the

And [some from among them] will they slay,

52 Alas for you, the lawyers!
Because ye took away the key of knowledge:
[Yourselves] entered not,

Be keeping yourselves free from the leaven of the Pharisees,<sup>a</sup> the which is [hypocrisy].
2 But [nothing] hath been [covered up]
Which shall not be uncovered,

Which shall not be made known.

[In the light] shall be heard;
And <what to the ear ye spake, in the chambers>
Shall be proclaimed on the housetops.<sup>b</sup>
4 And I say unto you [my friends]—
Do not be put in fear of them who kill the body,
And [after these things] have nothing more uncommon which they can do.

Fear him who [after killing] [hath authority to cast into gehenna],—

What shall I do? because I have not where I can gather my fruits.
18 And he said—
[This] will I do,—I will pull down my barns, and [greater ones] build, and gather [there] all' my wheat and good things; <sup>19</sup> and will say to my soul—
Soul! thou hast many' good things [Lying by for many years:
Be taking thy rest, eat, drink,] be making merry!
20 But God said unto him—
Simple one! [on this very' night] they are asking [thy soul] from thee;
[The things, then, which thou hast prepared] whose shall they be?
21 [So] is he that is laying up treasure for himself, and is not rich [towards God].
22 And he said unto his disciples—
[For this cause] I say unto you,—<sup>e</sup>

<sup>a</sup> Not merely "by God."

The difference is most suggestive.

<sup>e</sup> Or (WH): "(unto you) I say."

- Be not anxious for the life,<sup>a</sup> what ye shall eat, Nor yet for [your]<sup>b</sup> body, what ye shall put
on ;
- 23 For [the life] is more<sup>c</sup> [than the food],
And [the body] than [the clothing].
- 24 Consider well the ravens—
That they sow not, neither do they reap,
Which have neither chamber nor barn,—
And [God] feedeth [them] !
By how much do [ye] excel [the birds] ?
- 25 And [who from among you] [though anxious] can unto his stature add a cubit ?
- 26 <If then, [not even the least thing] ye can do>
Why [concerning the rest] are ye anxious ?
- 27 Consider well the lilies, how they grow :
They toil not, neither do they spin,
And yet I say unto you—[Not even Solomon, in all' his glory] was arrayed like one of these.
- 28 But <if God thus adorneth [the grass]
Which is [in a field] to-day',
And to-morrow' [into an oven] is cast>
[How much rather you] O little-of-faith ?
- 29 [Ye] therefore, be not seeking what ye shall eat and what ye shall drink,
And be not held in suspense ;
- 30 For [after all these things] do [the nations of the world] seek,—
But [your' Father] knoweth that ye need these things.
- 31 [Notwithstanding] be seeking his kingdom,—
And [these things] shall be added unto you.<sup>c</sup>
- 32 Be not afraid, the dear' little flock !
For your Father delighteth to give you [the kingdom].
- 33 Sell your possessions, and give alms,
Make for yourselves purses that wax not old,— Treasure unfailing, in the heavens,
Where [thief] doth not draw near, and [moth] doth not spoil.
- 34 For <where your treasure' is> [There] will your heart' be also.
- 35 + Let your loins be girded,
And your lamps burning,
- 36 And [ye yourselves] like unto men awaiting their own lord, once he may break up out of the marriage-feast,—
That [when he cometh and knocketh] [straightway] they may open unto him.
- 37 Happy those servants, whom the lord,
when he cometh, shall find watching !
[Verily] I say unto you—
He will gird himself, and make them recline, and, coming near, will minister
unto them.
- 38 And <if [in the second] or if [in the third] watch, he come and find [thus]> [Happy] are [they] !
- 39 But [of this] be taking note—
<Had the householder known, in what hour the thief was coming>

<sup>a</sup> Com: "soul."<sup>b</sup> Or (WH): "the."<sup>c</sup> Mt. vi. 25-34.

- He would have watched, and not suffered his house [to be digged through].
- 40 [Ye] therefore, be getting ready,
Because [in what hour ye are not thinking]
The Son of Man cometh !
- 41 But Peter said—
Lord ! [unto us] [this parable] speakest thou ?
Or [even unto all] ?
- 42 And the Lord said—
Who then is the faithful' steward, the prudent
one,
Whom the lord will appoint over his body
of attendants,
To be giving, in due season, the<sup>a</sup> measured allowance of wheat ?
- 43 [Happy] that servant, whom the lord, when he cometh shall find doing [thus] !
- 44 [Of a truth] I say unto you—[Over all' his possessions] will he appoint
him.
- 45 But <if that servant should say in his heart—
My lord delayeth to come !
And should begin to be striking the youths and the maidens,—
To be eating also, and drinking, and making himself drunk>
- 46 The lord of that servant [will have come]—
On a day when he is not expecting,
And in an hour when he is not taking note,—
And will cut him asunder,
And [his part] [with the unfaithful] will appoint.
- 47 And <that' servant, who had come to know
the will of his lord,
And neither prepared, nor wrought unto his will>
Shall be beaten with many' stripes ;
- 48 Whereas <he who had not come to know,
And did things worthy of stripes>
Shall be beaten with few' stripes.
And <every one to whom was given much'> [Much] shall be sought from him ;
And <he to whom they committed much'>
[For more than common] will they ask him.
- 49 [Fire] came I to cast upon the earth,—<sup>b</sup>
And what' can I wish, if [already] it hath been [kindled] ?
- 50 But [an immersion] have I, to be immersed with,
And how am I distressed, until it be ended !
- 51 Suppose ye, that [peace] I am come to give in the earth ?
Nay, I tell you, but rather division.
- 52 For there shall be [henceforth] five' in one'
house [divided],—
Three against two, and two against three :
- 53 There shall be divided—
Father against son, and son against father, Mother against daughter, and daughter against the mother,—<sup>c</sup>
Mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law, and daughter-in-law against the mother-in-law.

<sup>a</sup> Or (WH): "a."<sup>b</sup> Cp. Mt. x. 34.<sup>c</sup> Mi. vii. 6.

54 And he went on to say |even unto the multitudes|—

<Whosoever ye see a cloud springing up from the west>

|Straightway| ye are saying— |A thunder-storm| is coming!

And it happeneth thus.

55 And <whosoever a south wind, blowing>

Ye say— |A scorching heat| will there be!

And it cometh to pass.

56 Hypocrites! |the face of the earth and of the heaven| ye know how to scan;

But ||this season|| how know ye not to scan?<sup>a</sup>

57 Why, moreover, |even from yourselves| judge ye not what is just?

58 For <as thou art going along with thine adversary unto a ruler>

|On the way| take pains to get a release from him;

Lest once he drag thee along unto the judge,

And |the judge| deliver thee up to the punisher,—

And |the punisher| cast thee into prison:

59 I tell thee—

In nowise shalt thou come out from thence, Until |even the last fraction| thou pay!<sup>b</sup>

§ 55. All must Repent: The Barren Fig-tree.

13 Now there were present some |in that very season| bringing tidings to him, concerning the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices. <sup>2</sup> And, answering, he said unto them—

Suppose ye that ||these Galileans|| had become |sinners beyond all' the Galileans|, because |these things| they have suffered?

3 Nay! I tell you, but ||except ye repent|| ye |all, in like manner| shall perish.

4 Or <those' eighteen, upon whom fell the tower in Siloam, and slew them> suppose ye that ||they|| had become |debtors| beyond all' the men who were dwelling in Jerusalem? <sup>5</sup> Nay! I tell you, but ||except ye repent|| ye |all, in the same way| shall perish.

6 And he went on to speak this parable:—

A certain man had ||a fig-tree||, planted in his vineyard, and he came seeking fruit therein, and found none. <sup>7</sup> And he said unto the vine-dresser—

Lo! ||three' years|| I come, seeking fruit in this fig-tree, and find none. Cut it down! Why doth it make |even the ground| useless?

8 And |he| answering, saith unto him—

Sir! let it alone this' year also', until such time as I dig about it, and throw in manure,—<sup>9</sup> and if it may bear fruit for the future;...but |otherwise, certainly| thou shalt cut it down.

§ 56. The Woman bowed together, healed on Sabbath.

10 And he was teaching in one of the synagogues, on the Sabbath.<sup>c</sup> <sup>11</sup> And lo! ||a woman||

having a spirit of weakness eighteen years,—and was bowed together, and unable to lift herself up |at all|. <sup>12</sup> And, seeing her, Jesus called her and said to her—

Woman! thou art loosed from thy weakness,—

13 and laid on her his hands; and |instantly| she was made straight again, and began glorifying God. <sup>14</sup> But the synagogue-ruler, answering, <being greatly displeased that |on the Sabbath| Jesus had healed> began saying unto the multitude—

||Six' days|| there are, in which men ought to get their work done;

||On them|| therefore, come and be healed, and |not on the day of rest|.

15 The Lord answered him, and said—

Hypocrites! Doth not ||each one of you|| |on the Sabbath| loose his ox or ass from the manger, and leading it away, give it drink?<sup>a</sup>

16 But ||this woman|| <being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, lo! eighteen' years> was there not a needs-be<sup>b</sup> that she should be loosed from this bond |on the day of rest|?

17 And <as he was saying |these| things> all' who had been setting themselves against him were being put to shame; and |all' the multitude| were rejoicing over all' the glorious things which were being brought to pass by him.

§ 57. The Mustard Seed and the Leaven.

Mt. xiii. 31-33; Mk. iv. 30-32.

18 He went on to say, therefore—

||Whereunto|| is the kingdom of God |like|? And |whereunto| shall I liken it?

19 It is |like| unto a grain of mustard seed, which a man took and cast into his own garden; and it grew, and became a tree, and |the birds of heaven| lodged amongst its branches.<sup>c</sup>

20 And |again| he said—

|Whereunto| shall I liken the kingdom of God?

21 It is |like leaven|, which a woman took and hid in three measures of flour, until |the whole| was leavened.

§ 58. The Narrow Door: "Lord! open to us."

22 And he was journeying on, city by city and village by village, and making |progress| unto Jerusalem.<sup>d</sup> <sup>23</sup> And one said unto him—

Lord! are they |few| who are being saved?

And |he| said unto them—

24 Be striving to enter through the narrow' door<sup>e</sup>; for |many| I say unto you, will seek to enter, and will not be able,—<sup>25</sup> when once the householder shall rouse himself, and lock the door, and ye begin to stand |outside|, and to knock at the door, saying—

Lord! open to us;

I know you not, whence ye are.
- 26 [Then] will ye begin to say—
We did eat and drink in thy presence,
And [in our broadways] thou didst
[teach];
- 27 And he will speak, saying unto you—
I know not whence ye are;
Depart from me, all workers of unrighteous- ness.<sup>a</sup>
- 28 [There] will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, as soon as ye see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all' the prophets, in the kingdom of God, and [yourselves] being thrust forth outside.
- 29 And they shall have come from east and west,<sup>b</sup> and from north and south, and be made recline in the kingdom of God.

And there are [first], who shall be [last].<sup>c</sup>

§ 59. Jesus fears not Herod: Laments over
Jerusalem.

- 31 [In that very' hour] came near certain Pharisees, saying unto him—
Go forth, and be journeying hence, because [Herod] desireth to slay thee.
- 32 And he said unto them—
Go and tell this fox,
Lo! I am casting out demons, and [cures] am I finishing, to-day, and to-morrow,— and [on the third] I am to be made perfect.
- 33 Nevertheless, I must needs [to-day, and tomorrow, and the following] be journeying on, because it is impossible that a prophet perish [outside Jerusalem].
- 34 Jerusalem! Jerusalem! she that slayeth the prophets, and stoneth them that are sent unto her! [How often] have I desired to gather together thy children, like as a hen, her own' brood, under her wings,—and ye did not desire! <sup>35</sup> Lo! your house is left to you.<sup>d</sup>
- [And] I say unto you—

[Blessed] is he that cometh in the name of the Lord!<sup>e</sup>

§ 60. At a Pharisee's on Sabbath Jesus heals one of Dropsy. "Come higher!" The Great Supper.

- 14 And it came to pass <when he entered into the house of one of the rulers of the Pharisees, on a Sabbath, to eat bread> that [they] were narrowly watching him. <sup>2</sup> And lo! there was [a certain man] who had the dropsy, before him. <sup>3</sup> And Jesus, answering, spake unto the Lawyers and Pharisees, saying—
Is it allowed, on the Sabbath, to cure, or not?
But [they] held their peace. <sup>4</sup> And taking hold [of him] he healed and dismissed him,— <sup>5</sup> and [unto them] said—

[Which' of you] shall have a son or an ox, that [into a pit] shall fall, and will not straightway pull him up [on the day of rest]?<sup>a</sup>

- <sup>6</sup> And they could not return an answer unto these things.
- <sup>7</sup> And he went on to speak, unto the invited, a parable,—observing how [the first couches] they were choosing; saying unto them—
- <sup>8</sup> <Whosoever thou hast been invited by anyone unto a marriage feast> do not recline on the first couch; lest once [a more honourable than thou] have been invited by him,
- <sup>9</sup> and he that invited both thee' and him'
should come, and say unto thee—
Give [unto this one] place!
and [then] thou shouldst begin, with shame,
[the last place] to occupy.
- <sup>10</sup> But <whosoever thou hast been invited> pass on and fall back into the last' place, that [whosoever he that hath invited thee shall come] he may say unto thee—
Friend! come close up [higher].
[Then] shalt thou have honour before all'
who are reclining together with thee.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>11</sup> Because [everyone' who exalteth himself]
shall be abased;
And [he that abaseth himself] shall be exalted.<sup>c</sup>
- <sup>12</sup> Moreover he went on to say [unto him also who had invited him]—
<Whosoever thou mayest be making a dinner or a supper> do not call thy friends, or thy brothers, or thy kinsfolk, or rich neighbours,—lest once [they also] invite thee in return, and it become a recompense
unto thee.
- <sup>13</sup> But <whosoever [an entertainment] thou mayest be making> invite the destitute, the tried, the lame, the blind; <sup>14</sup> and [happy] shalt thou be, that they have not wherewith to recompense thee, for it shall be recompensed unto thee [in the resurrection of the righteous].
- <sup>15</sup> And one of those reclining together [hearing
these things] said unto him—[Happy] whoever shall eat bread in the kingdom of God!
- <sup>16</sup> But [he] said unto him—
[A certain man] was making a great supper, and invited many<sup>d</sup>; <sup>17</sup> and he sent out his servant, at the hour of the supper, to say unto the invited—
Be coming! because [even now] is it [ready].
- <sup>18</sup> And they all began, one after another to excuse themselves.
[The first] said unto him—
[A field] have I bought, and have need to go out and see it;
I request thee, hold me excused.
- <sup>19</sup> And [another] said—

I request thee, hold me excused.

20 And [another] said—

[A wife] have I married, and [for this cause] I cannot come!

21 And, going near, the servant reported unto his lord these things. [Then] [provoked to anger] the master of the house said unto his servant—

Go out quickly, into the broadways and streets of the city,—and [the destitute, and tried, and blind, and lame] bring thou in here.

22 And the servant said—

Lord! what thou didst order, hath been done; and [yet] there is [room].

23 And the lord said unto the servant—

Go out among the highways and fences, and compel<sup>a</sup> them to come in; that my house may be filled.

24 For, I say unto you—

[Not one of those men who had been invited] shall taste of my supper.

§ 61. The Costs of Discipleship.

25 And there were journeying together with him many multitudes; and [turning] he said unto them—

26 <If anyone cometh unto me, and hateth not his own father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brothers, and sisters, further<sup>a</sup> also, even his own life> he cannot be my disciple.

27 <Whoever beareth not his own cross, and cometh after me> cannot be my disciple.<sup>b</sup>

28 For [who from among you, wishing to build a tower] doth not first<sup>c</sup> sit down and count the cost,—whether he hath sufficient for completion; <sup>29</sup> lest once, <he having laid a foundation, and not being able to finish> [all' who are looking on] should begin to mock at him', <sup>30</sup> saying—

[This' man] began to build, and was not able to finish!

31 Or [what king] <moving on to encounter [another' king] in battle> will not sit down first and take counsel, whether he is able' [with ten' thousand] to meet him who [with twenty' thousand] is coming against him. <sup>32</sup> And [if not, by any means] <while he is yet' afar off> he sendeth [an embassy], and requesteth the conditions of peace.

33 [Thus] therefore <everyone from amongst you, who doth not bid adieu unto all' his own' possessions> cannot be my disciple.

34 [Good] therefore is the salt; but <if [even the salt] become tasteless> wherewith shall it be seasoned? <sup>35</sup> [Neither for land nor for manure] is it [fit]: [outside] they cast it!<sup>c</sup>

[He that hath ears to hear] let him hear.

§ 62. The Lost Sheep, Lost Silver, and Lost Son.

15 But all' the tax-collectors and the sinners were [unto him] drawing near, to be hearkening unto him; <sup>2</sup> and both the Pharisees and the Scribes were murmuring, saying—

[This man] [unto sinners] giveth welcome, and eateth with them.

4 [What man from among you] <having a hundred' sheep,<sup>a</sup> and losing, from among them, [one]> doth not leave the ninety-nine in the wilderness and go his way after the lost one, until he find it? <sup>5</sup> And [finding it] he layeth it upon his shoulders, [rejoicing]; <sup>6</sup> and [coming unto his house] calleth together the friends and the neighbours, saying unto them—

Rejoice with me! because I have found my sheep that was lost!

7 I say unto you—

[Thus] [joy in heaven] will there be, over one' sinner repenting, rather than over ninety-nine' righteous persons, who indeed have [no need] of repentance.

8 Or [what woman] <having [ten pieces of silver]<sup>b</sup> if she lose one piece> doth not light a lamp, and sweep the house, and seek carefully, until she find it? <sup>9</sup> And [having found it] she calleth together her female friends and neighbours, saying—

Rejoice with me! because I have found the piece of silver which I had lost.

10 [Thus] I say unto you there ariseth joy in presence of the messengers of God, over one' sinner repenting.

11 And he said—

[A certain man] had two' sons. <sup>12</sup> And the younger of them said unto the father—

Father! give me the share that falleth' to me [of what there is].

And [he] divided unto them the living.<sup>c</sup>

13 And [after not many' days] the younger' son, gathering all together, left home for a country far away, and [there] squandered his substance with riotous living. <sup>14</sup> And [when he had spent all] there arose a mighty famine throughout that country,—and [he] began to be in want. <sup>15</sup> And he went his way, and joined himself unto one of the citizens of that country, and he sent him into his fields to be feeding swine.

16 And he used to long to be filled with the pods which the swine were eating; and [no man] was giving unto him.

17 But coming [to himself] he said—

How many hired servants of my father, have bread enough and to spare, Whereas [I] [with famine, here] am perishing!

18 I will arise, and go unto my father, and will say unto him—

<sup>c</sup> Cp. ver. 31; Deu. xxi. 17.

- Father! I have sinned against heaven, and before thee :
- 19 |No longer| am I worthy to be called a son of thine,—
Make me as one of thy hired servants.
And he arose, and came unto his own father.
- 20 Now <while yet' he was holding afar' off> his father saw him, and was moved with compassion, and |running| fell upon his neck,
and tenderly kissed him.
- 21 And the son said unto him—Father! I have sinned against heaven, and
before thee :
|No longer| am I worthy to be called a son of thine,—
[Make me as one of thy hired servants.]
- 22 But the father said unto his servants—
Quick! bring forth a robe—the best! and put on him,
And get out a ring for his hand, and sandals for his feet,—
- 23 And be bringing the fatted calf, sacrifice!
and let us eat and make merry :
- 24 Because ||this' my son||
Was |dead|, and hath come to life
again,
Was lost, and is found.
And they began to be making merry.
- 25 But his elder son was in a field; and <as, in coming, he drew near unto the house> he heard music and dancing,—<sup>26</sup> and, calling near one of the youths, he inquired what these things |could be|. <sup>27</sup> And |he|
said unto him—
|Thy brother| hath come,
And thy father hath sacrificed the fatted calf, because |safe and sound| hath he received him back.
- 28 But he was provoked to anger, and would not go in. And ||his father|| |coming out| began to entreat him. <sup>29</sup> But |he| answering said unto his father—
Lo! ||so many years as these|| do I serve
thee,
And ||at no time|| |a commandment of thine| have I transgressed,—
And ||unto me, at no time|| hast thou given a kid, that |with my friends| I might make merry ;
- 30 But <when |this thy son, who had devoured thy living with harlots| came> thou didst sacrifice |for him| ||the fatted' calf||.
- 31 But |he| said unto him—
Child! ||thou|| |always| art |with me|,
And ||all that is mine|| is |thine|*;
- 32 But |to make merry and rejoice| there was need,
Because ||this thy brother||—
Was |dead| and hath come to life
again,
And was lost, and is found.

§ 63. The Prudent Steward.

- 16 And he went on to say |unto his disciples
also|—
There was |a certain rich man|, who had a steward, and |the same| was accused to him as squandering his goods. <sup>2</sup> And, accosting him, he said unto him—
What is this I hear of thee?
Render the account of thy stewardship, for thou canst no longer be steward.
- 3 And the steward said within himself—
What shall I do, because my lord taketh away the stewardship from me? |Dig|
I cannot: |to beg| I am ashamed.
- 4 I know what I will do, that <when I am removed out of the stewardship> they may welcome me into their own houses.
- 5 And <calling unto him each one of the debtors of his own lord> he was saying unto the first—
How much owest thou my lord?
- 6 And |he| said—
A hundred baths of oil.
And |he| said unto him—
Kindly take thine accounts, and, sitting down, make haste and write—Fifty!
- 7 |After that, unto another| he said—
And how much owest ||thou||?
And |he| said—
A hundred homers of wheat.
He saith unto him—
Kindly take thine accounts, and write—Eighty!
- 8 And the lord praised the unrighteous steward, in that with forethought he acted:—
Because ||the sons of this age|| have more forethought than the sons of light |respecting their own generation|.
- 9 And ||I|| |unto you| say—

§ 64. The Lofty brought low: The Rich Man and Lazarus.

14 Now the Pharisees, who were [lovers of money] were hearing all these things, and were openly sneering at him. 15 And he said unto them—

||Ye|| are they who justify themselves before men,

But ||God|| knoweth your hearts;

Because [that which amongst men] is lofty | Is an abomination before God.

16 [The law and the prophets] were until John,—<sup>a</sup>

||From that time|| [the good news of the kingdom of God] is being proclaimed,

And ||everyone|| [thereinto] is forcing his way.

17 But it is [easier] for heaven and earth to pass away,

Than that ||of the law|| [one little point] should fail.

18 [Every] one divorcing his wife and marrying another| committeth adultery;

And [he that marrieth a woman divorced' from a husband'] committeth adultery.<sup>b</sup>

19 Now [a certain man] was rich,<sup>c</sup> and he used to clothe himself with purple and fine linen, making merry day by day [brilliantly].

20 And [a certain beggar, by name Lazarus] used to be cast near his gate, full of sores, and to long to be fed from the crumbs that fell from the table of the rich man: nay! even [the dogs] used to come and lick his sores.

21 And it came to pass that the beggar died, and was carried away by the messengers, into the bosom of Abraham. And [the rich man also] died, and was buried. 22 And <[in hades] lifting up his eyes, being in torments> he seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.

24 And ||he|| calling out, said—

Father Abraham! have mercy upon me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue,—because I am in anguish in this flame.

25 But Abraham said—

Child! remember—

That thou didst duly receive<sup>d</sup> thy good things in thy life,

And [Lazarus, in like manner] the evil things;

But [now, here] he is comforted,

And [thou] art in anguish.

26 And <besides all' these things>

||Betwixt us and you|| [a great chasm] hath been fixed,—

So that [they who might wish to cross over from hence unto you] should not be able,

Nor any [from thence unto us] be crossing over.

27 But he said—

I request thee then, father, that thou wouldst send him unto my father's house,—<sup>e</sup> for I have five' brethren;— that he may solemnly testify unto them, lest ||they also|| come into this place of torment.

29 But Abraham saith—

They have Moses and the Prophets: Let them hearken unto them.

30 But [he] said—

Nay! father Abraham, but <[if one] [from the dead] should go unto them> they would repent.

31 But he said unto him—

<[If] [unto Moses and the Prophets] they do not hearken>

Neither <[if one] [from among the dead] should arise> would they be persuaded.

§ 65. Care, Fidelity, Forgiveness, Faith and Humility enjoined.

17 And he said unto his disciples:—

It is [impossible] that occasions of stumbling should not come,

Notwithstanding, alas! for him through whom they do come:<sup>a</sup>

2 It profiteth him, if [a mill-stone] is hung about his neck, and he is cast into the sea, Than that he cause ||one|| [of these little ones] to stumble.

3 Be taking heed to yourselves,—

<[If thy brother sin] rebuke him,

And <[if he repent] forgive him;

4 <[Even if] [seven times a day] he sin against thee, and [seven times] turn to thee, saying I repent> thou shalt forgive him.

5 And the apostles said unto the Lord—

Bestow on us faith!

6 And the Lord said—

<[If ye have faith like a grain of mustard-seed]

Ye should be saying unto [this] mulberry-tree—

Be uprooted! and be planted in the sea,— And it should obey you.

7 But ||who from among you|| having [a servant] plowing or keeping sheep, [when he hath come in out of the field] will say to him—

||Straightway| come, and recline;—

8 on the contrary, will not say to him—

Make somewhat ready, that I may dine,— and [girding thyself] be ministering unto me, until I have eaten and drunk; and [after these things] ||thou|| shalt eat and drink?

9 Doth he offer thanks unto the servant, because he hath done the things enjoined?

10 [Thus] ||ye also|| <[when ye have done all' the things enjoined upon you] say—

§ 66. Ten Lepers cleansed.

- <sup>11</sup> And it came to pass <during the journey unto Jerusalem> that [he] was going through the midst of Samaria and Galilee. <sup>12</sup> And <as he was entering into a certain village> there met him ten leprous' men, who stood still afar off; <sup>13</sup> and [they] lifted up a voice, saying—Jesus! Master! have mercy on us!
<sup>14</sup> And [beholding] he said unto them—
Go your way, and show yourselves unto the priests.<sup>a</sup>

And it came to pass [as they withdrew] they were cleansed. <sup>15</sup> But [one from among them] <beholding that he was healed> returned, [with a loud voice] glorifying God,— <sup>16</sup> and fell prostrate at his feet, giving him thanks; and [he] was a Samaritan. <sup>17</sup> And Jesus, answering, said—

Were not [the ten] cleansed?

[But] [where] are [the nine]?

- <sup>18</sup> Have none been found returning to give glory to God, [save this one of another race]?
<sup>19</sup> And he said unto him—
Arise and go thy way: [thy faith] hath saved thee.

§ 67. When and How the Kingdom of God comes.

- <sup>20</sup> And <being questioned by the Pharisees When cometh the kingdom of God?> he answered them and said—
The kingdom of God cometh not with narrow watching;
<sup>21</sup> Neither shall they say— Lo, here! or There!
For lo! [the kingdom of God] is [among you].
<sup>22</sup> But he said unto the disciples—<sup>b</sup>
There will come days—
When ye will long to see [one of the days of the Son of Man],
And shall not see.
<sup>23</sup> And they will say unto you Lo there! or Lo here!
Do not [depart, and do not] pursue.<sup>c</sup>
<sup>24</sup> For <just as [the lightning], [flashing out of the one part under heaven] unto the other part under heaven] shineth>
[So] shall be the Son of Man.<sup>d</sup>
<sup>25</sup> But [first] he must needs suffer [many things],
And be rejected by this generation.
<sup>26</sup> And <as it came to pass in the days of Noah>
[So] will it be, even in the days of the Son of Man:
<sup>27</sup> They were eating, they were drinking,
They were marrying, they were being given in marriage,—

Until the day that Noah entered into the ark.<sup>a</sup>

- And the flood came, and destroyed them all.
<sup>28</sup> [In like manner] <as it came to pass in the days of Lot>
They were eating, they were drinking,
They were buying, they were selling,
They were planting, they were building,—
<sup>29</sup> But <on the day Lot came out from Sodom>
It rained fire and brimstone from heaven,<sup>b</sup> and destroyed them all:—
<sup>30</sup> [According to the same things] will it be on the day the Son of Man is revealed.<sup>c</sup>
<sup>31</sup> [In that] day! <he that shall be on the housetop, and his utensils in the house>
Let him not go down, to take them away!
And <he that is in the field>
[In like manner] let him not turn unto the things behind,<sup>d</sup>
<sup>32</sup> Bear in mind the wife of Lot!
<Whosoever shall seek to make his life<sup>e</sup> his own> shall lose it,
<sup>33</sup> But <whosoever shall lose it> shall give it a living birth.
<sup>34</sup> I say unto you—
[On the selfsame] night!<sup>f</sup> there shall be two men on [one] bed,—
[The one] shall be taken near, and [the other] left behind;
<sup>35</sup> There shall be two women grinding together,—
[The one] shall be taken near, and [the other] left behind. [36]<sup>g</sup>
<sup>37</sup> And, answering, they say unto him—[Where], Lord?
And [he] said unto them—
<Where the body<sup>h</sup> is> [there] [the vultures also] will be gathered together.<sup>h</sup>
<sup>18</sup> And he was speaking a parable unto them, as to its being needful for them always to pray, and not be faint-hearted; <sup>2</sup> saying—
[A certain judge] there was in a certain city,—
Having [for God] no reverence, and [for man] no respect.
<sup>3</sup> And [a widow] there was, in that city;
And she kept coming unto him, saying—
Vindicate me from mine adversary!
<sup>4</sup> And he was unwilling for a time;
But [after these things] he said within himself—
<Although [neither God] I reverence, [nor man] I respect>
<sup>5</sup> Yet [if only because this widow annoyeth me] I will vindicate her,— Lest [persistently coming] she wholly wear me out.
<sup>6</sup> And the Lord said—
Hear ye what [the unrighteous judge]!
<sup>7</sup> And shall

- 8 I tell you—
He will execute their vindication quickly!
Nevertheless <though [the Son of Man] do come>
Will he, after all, find the<sup>b</sup> faith on the earth?

§ 68. The Pharisee and the Tax-collector.

9 And he spake <even unto certain who were confident in themselves that they were righteous, and were despising the rest> this parable:—

- 10 [Two men] went up into the temple to pray,
[One] a Pharisee, and [the other] a tax-collector.

11 [The Pharisee] [taking his stand] these<sup>c</sup> things unto himself was praying:
O God! I thank thee, that I am not like the rest of men,—

Extortioners, unjust, adulterers,
Or [even as this 'tax-collector'];
12 I fast twice in the week,
I give a tenth of whatsoever<sup>d</sup> things I gain!

13 But [the tax-collector] [afar off] standing,—
Would not so much as lift up [his eyes] unto heaven,
But kept smiting his own breast, saying—
O God! be propitiated unto me, the sinner!

14 I tell you—
This one went down justified, unto his house, [rather than that one];
Because [every] one who exalteth himself [shall be abased],
But [he that abaseth himself] shall be exalted.<sup>e</sup>

§ 69. Babes brought to Jesus. Mt. xix. 13-15;
Mk. x. 13-16.

15 And they were bringing unto him [even the babes], that he might touch [them]; but the disciples, seeing it, began to rebuke them.

16 But [Jesus] called them near, saying—
Suffer [the children] to be coming unto me, and do not hinder them;
For [of such] is the kingdom of God.

17 Verily I say unto you— [Whosoever shall not welcome the kingdom of God, as a child] in nowise shall enter thereinto.

§ 70. The Rich Ruler: One thing Lacking.
Mt. xix. 16-30; Mk. x. 17-31.

18 And a certain [ruler] questioned him, saying—
Good Teacher! [by doing what] shall I inherit life age-abiding?

19 But Jesus said to him—
[Why] callest thou me [good]?
[None] is good [save one]—[God].
[The things] thou knowest:—
[Covetousness].
[The things].

* This.
xiv. 11; Mt. xxiii.

*Do not bear false witness,— Honour thy father and mother.**

21 And [he] said—
[All these things] have I kept from my youth.

22 And Jesus, hearing, said unto him—
[Yet one thing] unto thee, is lacking:

[Whatsoever<sup>f</sup> thou hast] sell, and distribute unto the destitute,—
And thou shalt have treasure in [the] heavens;
And come! be following me.

23 But [he] hearing these things, became [encompassed with grief]; for he was rich exceedingly.
24 And Jesus, beholding him, said—

[With what difficulty] shall [they who have money], enter [into the kingdom of God].

25 For it is [easier] for a camel, to enter [through the eye of a needle],
Than for [a rich man] to enter [into the kingdom of God].

26 And they who heard said—
[Who, then] can be saved?

27 And [he] said—
[The things impossible with men] are [possible with God].

28 And Peter said—
Lo! [we] have left our own possessions, and followed thee!<sup>g</sup>

29 And [he] said unto them—
[Verily] I say unto you—
[No one] is there, who hath left—house, or wife, or brethren, or parents, or children,— [for the sake of the kingdom of God]; who shall in anywise not receive manifold in this season, and [in the age<sup>h</sup> that is coming] [life age-abiding].

§ 71. Jesus, foretelling his Sufferings, is not understood. Mt. xx. 17-19; Mk. x. 32-34.

31 And [taking aside the twelve] he said unto them—

Lo! we are going up unto Jerusalem,<sup>i</sup> and all the things will be finished, which have been written through means of the prophets, respecting the Son of Man;

32 For he will be delivered up unto the nations, and be mocked, and insulted, and spit upon,—<sup>j</sup> and [having scourged him] they will slay him, and [on the third day] will he [arise].

34 And [they] [not one of these things] understood, and this saying was hidden from them, and they could not comprehend the things spoken.

§ 72. Blind Man in Jericho recovers sight.
Mt. xx. 29-34; Mk. x. 46-52.

35 And it came to pass <as he was drawing near unto Jericho> [a certain blind man] was sitting beside the road, begging.
36 And <hearkening unto a multitude moving along> he enquired, what this [might be].
37 And they told him—
[Jesus of Nazareth] is passing by!

- <sup>39</sup> And [they that were going before] began to rebuke him, that he might hold his peace.
But [he] [by so much the more] was crying out—
O Son of David! have mercy upon me!
- <sup>40</sup> And [standing still] Jesus commanded him to be led unto him; and, when he had drawn near, he questioned him—
- <sup>41</sup> What desirest thou, I should do unto thee?
And [he] said—
Lord!...that I may recover sight!
- <sup>42</sup> And [Jesus] said unto him—
Recover sight! [Thy faith] hath saved thee.
- <sup>43</sup> And [instantly] he recovered sight, and began to follow him, glorifying God. And [all] the people [beholding, gave praise unto God.

§ 73. Zacchæus, the Rich Tax-collector.

- <sup>19</sup> And [having entered] he was passing through Jericho; <sup>2</sup> and lo! a man, by name called Zacchæus, and [he] was a chief tax-collector, and [he] was rich. <sup>3</sup> And he was seeking to see Jesus, what sort of man he was, and could not for the multitude, because [in stature] he was [small]. <sup>4</sup> And [running forward unto the front] he got up a sycamore-tree, <sup>5</sup> that he might see him; for [by that way] was he about to pass. <sup>6</sup> And <as he came up to the place> [looking up] Jesus said unto him—
Zacchæus! make haste, and come down;
For [to-day] [in thy house] I must needs abide.
- <sup>6</sup> And he made haste, and came down, and received him joyfully. <sup>7</sup> And all, when they beheld, began to murmur, saying—[With a sinful man] hath he gone in to lodge!
- <sup>8</sup> But [taking his stand] Zacchæus said unto the Lord—
Lo! [the half of my possessions], Lord, [unto the destitute] I give;
And <[if from anyone] I have taken aught by false accusation>
I give back fourfold.
- <sup>9</sup> And Jesus said unto him—
[This day, salvation] [unto this house] hath come,—
For that [he too] is [a son of Abraham];
- <sup>10</sup> For the Son of Man came, to seek and to save what was lost.<sup>c</sup>

§ 74. The Nobleman's Journey to a Distant Land, and his Return.

- <sup>11</sup> And [because they were hearing these things] he added and spake a parable, because of his being near Jerusalem,<sup>d</sup> and their supposing that [instantly] was the kingdom of God to shine forth. <sup>12</sup> He said, therefore—

- [A certain man, of noble birth] went into a country far away, to receive for himself a kingdom, and to return.<sup>a</sup>
- <sup>13</sup> And [calling ten] servants of his own [he gave unto them ten] minas, and said unto them—
Do business, till I come.
- <sup>14</sup> But [his citizens] hated him, and sent off an embassy after him, saying—
We desire not [this] man, to be made king over us!
- <sup>15</sup> And it came to pass <when he returned, having received the kingdom> that he bade be called unto him these servants, to whom he had given the silver, that he might take note, what business they had done.
- <sup>16</sup> And the first came near, saying—Lord! [thy mina] hath made [ten] minas].
- <sup>17</sup> And he said to him—
Well done! good servant.
<Because [in a very small thing] thou hast been [faithful]>
Have thou authority over [ten] cities].
- <sup>18</sup> And the second came, saying—[Thy mina], lord, hath made five minas.
- <sup>19</sup> And he said [to him also]—
And [thou] <sup>b</sup> be over five cities.
- <sup>20</sup> And [the other] <sup>c</sup> came, saying—
Lord, lo! thy mina, which I kept lying by in a napkin;
<sup>21</sup> For I was afraid of thee, because [a harsh man] thou art,— Thou takest up, what thou layedst not down,
And reapest, what thou sowedst not!
- <sup>22</sup> He saith to him—
[Out of thy mouth] do I judge thee, O wicked servant!
<Thou knewest that [I] [a harsh man] am,— Taking up, what I laid not down,
And reaping, what I did not sow>
- <sup>23</sup> Wherefore, then, didst thou not place my silver upon a [money-changer's] table,
And [I] [when I came] with interest might have exacted it?
- <sup>24</sup> And [unto the by-standers] he said—
Take from him, the mina,
And give unto him that hath [the ten] minas];—
- <sup>25</sup> And they said to him, Lord! he hath ten minas];—
- <sup>26</sup> I tell you—[Unto everyone] that hath [shall be given, Whereas [from him that hath not] [even what he hath] shall be taken away].<sup>d</sup>
- <sup>27</sup> But <these mine enemies who desired not that I should be made king over them> bring ye here, and slay them outright before me.<sup>e</sup>

29 And it came to pass <as he drew near unto Bethphage and Bethany, unto the mount which is called the Mount of Olives> he sent off two of his disciples, 30 saying—

Go your way unto the opposite<sup>a</sup> village, in which, as ye are entering, ye shall find a colt, bound, whereon [no man] hath [ever] sat,—and, having loosed him, bring him.

31 And <if any one question ye—Wherefore are ye loosing him?>
[thus] shall ye say—

32 And they who were sent, departing, found as he had said to them. 33 And [as they were loosing the colt] his lords said unto them—

Why are ye loosing the colt?

34 And [they] said—

[His Lord] hath [need].<sup>a</sup>

35 And they brought him unto Jesus; and, throwing their mantles over the colt, they seated Jesus thereon. 36 And, as he moved along, they were spreading their own mantles in the way.

37 And <when he was drawing near, already, unto the descent of the Mount of Olives> one-and-all<sup>a</sup> the throng of the disciples began joyfully<sup>a</sup> to be praising God with a loud voice, concerning all<sup>a</sup> the mighty works which they had seen; 38 saying—

Blessed is he that cometh...

The king! In the name of the Lord!<sup>b</sup>

[In heaven] peace!

And glory in the highest!

39 And [certain of the Pharisees from the multitude] said unto him—

Teacher! rebuke thy disciples.

40 And he answered and said—

I tell you—

<If [these] shall hold their peace>

[The stones] will cry out.

41 And, when he drew near, [beholding the city] he wept over it, saying—

42 <If thou hadst got to know, in this day [even thou] the conditions of peace>...

But [now] are they hid from thine eyes:

43 Because days will have come upon thee,

That thine enemies will throw around a rampart against thee,

And enclose thee,

And hem thee in from every side,—

44 And will level thee with the ground,

And thy children within thee;<sup>c</sup>

And will not leave [stone on stone] within thee:

Because thou didst not get to know the season of thy visitation.

45 And [entering into the temple] he began to be casting out them who were selling; 46 saying unto them—

It is written And [my house] shall be [a house of prayer];<sup>a</sup>

But [ye] have made [it] a den of robbers.<sup>b</sup>

47 And he was teaching day by day in the temple; but [the High-priests and the Scribes] [also the chiefs of the people] were seeking to destroy him,—48 and could not find what they might do, for [the people, one and all] were hanging upon him, as they hearkened.

§ 77. "By what Authority?" Mt. xxi. 23-27; Mk. xi. 27-33.

20 And it came to pass, on one of the days, <as he was teaching the people in the temple, and telling the good tidings><sup>c</sup> that the High-priests and the Scribes, with the Elders, came upon him,—2 and spake, saying, unto him—

Tell us [by what] authority [these things] thou art doing,

And [who] is it, that gave thee this authority.

2 And, answering, he said unto them—

[I too] will question [you] as to a matter,—and tell me!<sup>d</sup>

4 <The immersion of John>

[Of heaven] was it, [or of men]?

2 And they deliberated together by themselves, saying—

6 But <if we say, Of men> [the people, one and all] will stone us, for [persuaded] they are, that [John] was [a prophet].

7 And they answered, that they knew not whence. 8 And [Jesus] said unto them—

§ 78. The Vineyard and the Husbandmen. Mt. xxi. 33-46; Mk. xii. 1-12.

9 And he began [unto the people] to be speaking this parable:—

[A man] planted a vineyard,<sup>a</sup>

And let it out to husbandmen,

And went from home for a long time.

10 And [in due season] he sent unto the husbandmen [a servant],

That [of the fruit of the vineyard] they might give him;

But [the husbandmen] having beaten him, sent him away empty.

11 And he [further] sent another servant;

But [they] <beating [that one also] and dishonouring him> sent him away [empty].

12 And he [further] sent [a third];

But [they] bruising [this one also] thrust him out.

- 13 And the lord of the vineyard said—
What shall I do? I will send my son, the beloved,— [It may be] that [him] they will respect.
14 But the husbandmen, seeing him, began to deliberate one with another, saying—
[This] is [the heir]: Let us slay him, that [ours] may be [the inheritance].
15 And [thrusting him forth outside the vineyard] they slew him.
What, then, will the lord of the vineyard do unto them?
16 He will come, and destroy these husbandmen, and give the vineyard unto others.
But [when they heard it] they said—
Far be it!
17 But [he] [looking at them] said—

18 <Every one who falleth on that' stone>
Will be sorely bruised,
But <on whomsoever it shall fall>
It will utterly destroy him.
19 And the Scribes and the High-priests sought to thrust on him their hands, [in that very' hour]; and feared the people; for they perceived that [against them] spake he this parable.

§ 79. Of Tribute to Cæsar. Mt. xxii. 16-22;
Mk. xii. 13-17.

- 20 And [watching narrowly] they sent forth suborned men, feigning themselves to be [righteous], that they might lay hold of a word of his, so as to deliver him up unto the rule and the authority of the governor.
21 And they questioned him, saying—
Teacher! we know that [rightly] thou speakest and teachest, and respectest no person, but [in truth] [the way of God] dost teach:
22 Is it allowable for us to give [unto Cæsar] tribute, or not?
23 But [observing their' villainy] he said unto them—
24 Shew me a denary. [Of whom] hath it an image and inscription?
And [they] said—
Of Cæsar.
25 And [he] said unto them—
Well then! render the things of Cæsar [unto Cæsar],
And the things of God [unto God].
26 And they could not lay hold of the saying, before the people; and [marvelling at his answer] they held their peace.

80. Whose Wife, in the Resurrection? Mt. xxii. 23-33; Mk. xii. 18-27.

- 27 But there came near certain of the Sadducees, they who say [Resurrection] there is none! and questioned him,<sup>28</sup> saying—Teacher! [Moses] wrote for us,
<If one's brother die, having a wife,
And [he] be [childless]>

<sup>a</sup> Ps. cxviii. 22.

- That his brother shall take the wife,
And raise up seed unto his brother.<sup>a</sup>
29 [Seven] brethren [therefore, there were,—
And [the first] taking a wife, died childless,
30 And [the second,<sup>31</sup> and the third] took her,— Yea [likewise] [even the seven];
They left no children, and died:
32 [Later on] [the woman also] died.
33 <The woman, therefore, in the resurrection>
[Of which of them] doth she become wife?
For [the seven] had her to wife.
34 And Jesus said unto them—
<The sons of this age>
Marry, and are given in marriage,—
35 But <they who have been accounted worthy [That age] to obtain,
And the resurrection that is from among the dead>
Neither marry, nor are given in marriage;
36 For they cannot [even die any more],—
For [equal unto messengers] are they,
And are [sons of God],
[Of the resurrection] being [sons].
37 But <that the dead do rise><sup>b</sup>
[Even Moses] disclosed at the bush,
When he calleth the Lord—
The God of Abraham and God of Isaac and God of Jacob;<sup>c</sup>
38 Now [God] he is not, [of the dead], but [of the living],—
For [all] [unto him] do live.<sup>d</sup>
39 And certain of the Scribes [answering] said—
Teacher! [well] hast thou spoken.
40 For [no longer] were they daring to ask him any' questions.<sup>e</sup>

§ 81. David's Son and David's Lord. Mt. xxii. 41-45; Mk. xii. 35-37.

- 41 And he said unto them—
How say they, that [the Christ] is [David's Son]?
42 For [David himself] saith, in [the] book Psalms:
Said the Lord, unto my Lord,
Sit thou at my right hand,
Until I make thy foes thy footstool.<sup>f</sup>
44 [David] therefore, calleth [him Lord]:
How, then, [his son] is he?

§ 82. The Scribes denounced. Mt. xxiii. 6, 7;
Mk. xii. 38-40; chap. xi. 43.

- 43 And [all] the people hearing [he said unto the disciples]:
44 Be taking heed of the Scribes—
Who desire to walk about in long robes,
And are fond of salutations in the markets,
And first seats in the synagogues,
And first couches in the chief meals,—
45 Who devour the houses of widows,
And [for a show] are a long time at prayer.
[These] shall receive [a heavier' sentence].

21 And [looking up] he saw the [rich] who were casting their gifts into the treasury,—<sup>2</sup> and he saw a certain poor widow, casting in thither two mites<sup>a</sup>; <sup>3</sup> and he said—

[Of a truth] I say unto you—

||This destitute widow|| [more than they all] hath cast in;

4 For ||all' these|| [out of their superfluity] have cast in among the gifts,
But ||she|| [out of her deficiency] ||all' the living that she had|| hath cast in.

§ 84. The Prophecy of the Overthrow of Jerusalem, and of the Coming of the Son of Man. Mt. xxiv.; Mk. xiii.

<sup>5</sup> And <certain saying, of the temple—

[With beautiful stones and offerings] hath it been adorned !>

he said—

6 <As to these things, which ye are looking upon>

There will come days, in which there will not be left here [stone upon stone] which will not be taken down.

7 And they questioned him, saying—

Teacher ! [when] therefore, will these things be ?

And [what the sign] when these things shall be about to come to pass ?

8 And [he] said—

Be taking heed ye be not deceived ;

For [many] will come upon my name, saying—[I] am he,—

and—

[The season] hath drawn near !

Do not go after them.

9 But <whensoever ye shall hear of wars and revolutions>

Be not terrified,—

For these things [must needs] come to pass first,<sup>b</sup>

But [not immediately] is the end.

10 [Then] said he unto them—

There will rise up,

Nation against nation,

And kingdom against kingdom ;<sup>c</sup>

11 <As well great earthquakes, as also [in places] pestilences and famines> will there be,

<As well objects of terror, as also [from heaven] great signs> will there be.

12 And before [all these things]

They will thrust upon you their hands, and persecute you,

Delivering you up into the synagogues and prisons,—

When ye have been led away before kings and governors, for the sake of my name ;

13 But it shall turn out to you for a witness.

14 Settle, then, in your hearts, not to be studying beforehand, how to make defence ;

15 For ||I|| will give you a mouth and wisdom, which one-and-all' who are setting themselves against you, shall be unable to withstand or gainsay.

16 But ye will be delivered up [even by parents, and brethren, and kinsfolk, and friends],
And they will put to death some from among you ;

17 And ye will be hated by all, because of my name ;

18 And [a hair of your head] in nowise shall perish,—

19 [By your endurance] shall ye gain your lives for a possession.<sup>d</sup>

20 <But whensoever ye shall see Jerusalem [being encompassed by armies]>

[Then] know, that her desolation hath drawn near.

21 <Then' they who are in Judaea>

Let them flee into the mountains,

<And they who are in her midst>

Let them go forth,—

<And they who are in the fields>

Let them not enter into her ;

22 For ||days of avenging||<sup>e</sup> are [these] for all' the things written to be fulfilled.

23 Alas ! for the women with child,
And for them who are giving suck, [in those' days] ;

For there will be great distress upon the land,<sup>g</sup>

And anger against this people.

24 And they will fall by the edge of the sword,

And be carried away captive into all the nations,

And [Jerusalem] shall be trodden down by the nations,<sup>h</sup>

Until the seasons of the nations shall be fulfilled [and shall be].

25 And there will be signs in sun, and moon, and stars,

And [on the earth] anguish of nations in embarrassment—

Sea and surge resounding,—<sup>i</sup>

26 [Men fainting]<sup>f</sup> from fear and expectation of the things overtaking the inhabited earth.

For [the powers of the heavens] will be shaken.<sup>g</sup>

27 And [then] will they see the Son of Man—

Coming in a cloud,<sup>h</sup> with great power and glory.

28 And <when these things are beginning' to come to pass>

Unbend and lift up your heads,

Because that [your redemption] is drawing near.

29 And he spake a parable unto them :

See the fig-tree, and all' the trees,—

30 <Whensoever they have already budded>

[Seeing it] ||of yourselves|| ye observe that [already near] is [the summer] :

31 [Thus] ||ye also|| <whensoever ye shall see [these] things coming to pass>

- Observe ye, that [near] is the kingdom of God!
- 22 Verily I say unto you—
In nowise shall this<sup>a</sup> generation pass away,
Until [all things] shall happen:
23 [Heaven and earth] will pass away,
But [my word] in nowise will pass away.
24 But be taking heed unto yourselves,
Lest once your hearts be made heavy—
With debauch and drunkenness and anxieties about livelihood,
And that day come upon you suddenly 25 as a snare,—
For it will come in by surprise, upon all them that are dwelling on the face of all the earth.<sup>b</sup>
- 26 But be watching in every season,
Making supplication, that ye may gain full vigour
To escape all these things that are about to be coming to pass,
And to stand before the Son of Man.<sup>c</sup>
- 27 And he was [by day] in the temple, teaching;
but [by night] going forth, he was lodging in the mount which is called the Mount of Olives. 28 And [all] the people were coming at day-break unto him, in the temple, to be harkening unto him.

§ 85. Judas bargains to Betray his Master.
Mt. xxvi. 1, 2, 14-16; Mk. xiv. 1, 2, 10, 11.

- 22 And the feast of the unleavened bread,<sup>d</sup> which is called a Passover, was drawing near.
23 And the High-priests and the Scribes were seeking how they might get rid of him; for they feared the people. 24 But Satan entered into Judas, him called Iscariot, being of the number of the twelve; 25 and, departing, he conversed with the High-priests and Captains, as to how [unto them] he might deliver him up.
26 And they rejoiced, and bargained with him to give him [silver]; 27 and he freely consented, and began seeking a good opportunity for delivering him up [in the absence of a multitude] unto
them.

§ 86. The Last Supper. Mt. xxvi. 17-30;
Mk. xiv. 12-25; cp. 1 Co. xi. 23 ff.

- 7 Now the day of the unleavened bread<sup>d</sup> came,— on which it was needful to be sacrificing the passover. 8 And he sent forth Peter and John,
saying—
Go, and make ready, for us, the passover, that we may eat.
9 And [they] said unto him—
Where wilt thou, we should make ready?
10 And [he] said unto them—
Lo! <when ye have entered into the city> there will meet you a man, bearing [an earthen-jar of water]; follow him into the house into which he is entering.

- 11 And ye shall say unto the master of the house—
The teacher saith unto thee, Where is the lodging, where [the passover, with my disciples] I may eat?
12 And [he] [unto you] will shew, a large upper room, spread: [there] make ready.
13 And, departing, they found according as he had said unto them, and made ready the passover.
14 And [when the hour arrived] he reclined, and the apostles with him. 15 And he said unto them—[I have greatly desired] to eat [this] passover with you before I suffer;
16 For, I say unto you—
In nowise shall I eat it, until it have been fulfilled in the kingdom of God.
17 And [accepting a cup] giving thanks, he said—
Take this, and divide among yourselves;
18 For, I say unto you—
In nowise shall I drink henceforth of the fruit of the vine, until [the kingdom of God] shall come.
19 And [taking a loaf] he gave thanks, and brake, and gave unto them, saying—[This] is my body [which in your behalf is being given: [this] be ye doing, in remembrance [of me].
20 And—the cup, in like manner, after the taking of supper, saying—
[This] cup [is the new] covenant in my blood,<sup>a</sup> which [in your behalf] is to be poured out.<sup>b</sup> 21 Nevertheless, lo! [the hand of him who is delivering me up] is with me upon the table.
22 Because [the Son of Man] indeed, [according to what is marked out] goeth his way; nevertheless, alas! for that man through whom he is being delivered up.
23 And [they] began to be enquiring together, among themselves, as to which, then, it could be, from among them, who [this thing] was about to perpetrate!
24 And it came to pass that there was [a rivalry also] among them, as to which of them seemed to be greater [than the rest].<sup>c</sup> 25 And [he] said
unto them—
[The kings of the nations] lord it over them,
And [they who wield authority over them]
[benefactors] are called.
26 But [ye] not so! On the contrary—
<The greater<sup>b</sup> among you>
Let him become as [the younger],
And <he that governeth>
As [he that ministereth].
27 For which is greater—
He that reclineth? or He that ministereth?
Is not he that reclineth?
But [I] am [in your midst] as he that ministereth.<sup>c</sup>

- 34 And |he| said:

I tell thee, Peter—

Until |thrice| thou deny that thou knowest me.

- 35 And he said unto them—

<When I sent you forth, without purse or satchel or sandals>

|Of anything| came ye short?

And |they| said—

Of nothing!

- 36 And he said unto them—

But ||now|| |he that hath a purse| let him take it,

§ 88. The Agony in the Garden. Mt. xxvi. 30,

36-46; Mk. xiv. 26, 32-42; Jn. xviii. 1.

- 39 And going out, he went, according to his custom, unto the Mount of Olives; and the disciples [also] followed him. 40 And |coming up to the place| he said unto them—

Be praying, lest ye enter into temptation.

- 41 And |he| was torn from them about a stone's throw; and, bending his knees, he began to pray.

- 42 saying—

Father! |if thou please| bear aside this' cup from me.

||Nevertheless|| |not my will, but thine| be accomplished.<sup>e</sup>

- 43 ||And there appeared unto him a messenger<sup>f</sup>

from heaven, strengthening him,—44 and ||coming to be in an agony|| |more intensely| was he praying; and his perspiration became, as if great drops<sup>a</sup> of blood, falling upon the ground.||

- 45 And |arising from prayer| he came unto his disciples, and found them falling asleep by reason of their grief; 46 and he said unto them—

Why are ye slumbering?

Arise! and be praying, lest ye enter into temptation.

§ 89. The Betrayal. Mt. xxvi. 47-56;

Mk. xiv. 43-52; Jn. xviii. 1-12.

- 47 |While yet' he was speaking| lo! a multitude; and |he that was called Judas, one of the twelve| was leading them on,—and he drew near unto Jesus, to kiss him. 48 But |Jesus| said to him—

Judas! ||with a kiss|| |the Son of Man| dost thou deliver up?

- 49 And they who were about him |seeing what would be| said—

Lord! shall we smite with the sword?

- 50 And a certain one from among them smote |the High-priest's| servant, and took off his right ear. 51 But Jesus, answering, said—

Let be—as long as this!...<sup>b</sup>

And |touching the ear| he healed him.

- 52 And Jesus said unto the High-priests, and Captains of the temple, and Elders, |who had come against him—

||As against a robber|| have ye come out |with swords and clubs|?

- 54 And |having arrested him| they led him away, and took him into the house of the High-priest; and |Peter| was following afar off.

- 55 And <they having kindled up a fire in the midst of the court, and taken seats together> Peter was for sitting among them. 56 But  said—

||This one also|| was |with him|.

- 57 But |he| denied, saying—

I know him not, woman!

- 58 And ||after a little|| |another| beholding him, said—

||Thou also|| art |from among them|.

But |Peter| said—

§ 91. Jesus is mocked and taken before the Jewish Council. Mt. xxvi. 57-68; Mk. xiv. 53-65; Jn. xviii. 24.

<sup>63</sup> And |the men who held him bound| kept mocking him, with blows; <sup>64</sup> and |blindfolding him| questioned him, saying—

Prophecy! which is he that smote thee?

<sup>65</sup> and |many other things, with profane speech| were they saying unto him.

<sup>66</sup> And |when it became day| the Eldership of the people was gathered together—both High-priests and Scribes,—and they led him away into their high-council, saying—

<If |thou| art the Christ> tell us!

<sup>67</sup> But he said unto them—

<If I should tell |you| in nowise would ye believe,

<sup>68</sup> And <if I should put questions> in nowise would ye answer;

<sup>70</sup> And they all said—

|Thou| then, art the Son of God?

And |he| unto them' said—

|Ye| say |it|,—because |I| am.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>71</sup> And |they| said—

What |further| need have we |of witness|?

|We ourselves| have heard it from his mouth.

§ 92. Jesus before Pilate and Herod. Mt. xxvii. 2, 11-26; Mk. xv. 1-15; Jn. xviii. 28-33, 38-40.

23 And one and all' the throng of them |arising| led him unto Pilate. <sup>2</sup> And they began to accuse him, saying—

|This one| found we, perverting our nation, and forbidding to give |tribute unto Cæsar|,—and affirming himself to be |an anointed king|.

<sup>3</sup> And |Pilate| questioned him, saying—

Art |thou| the king of the Jews?

And |he| answering him, said—

|Thou| sayest.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>4</sup> And |Pilate| said unto the High-priests and the multitudes,

|Nothing| find I, worthy of blame, in this man.

<sup>5</sup> But |they| began to be urgent, saying—

He is stirring up the people, teaching along all' Judæa, even beginning from Galilee unto this place.

* Dan. vii. 13; Ps. ex. 1 ff. <sup>c</sup> Or (WH): "Dost |thou| say |it|?"

<sup>b</sup> Or (WH): "Say |ye| that I am."

<sup>6</sup> <Now |Pilate| hearing [that]> questioned whether the man was |a Galilean|. <sup>7</sup> And <getting to know that he was of the jurisdiction of Herod> he sent him back unto Herod, |he also| being in Jerusalem in these' days.

<sup>8</sup> And |Herod| seeing Jesus rejoiced exceedingly; for he had been |a considerable number of times| wishing to see him,—because he had heard concerning him, and was hoping |some sign| to behold |by him| brought to pass.

<sup>9</sup> And he went on to question him in a good many words; but |he| answered him |nothing|.

<sup>10</sup> And the High-priests and the Scribes stood, vehemently' accusing him. <sup>11</sup> And Herod with his soldiery <having set him at naught, and mocked him> threw about him a gorgeous robe, and sent him back unto Pilate.

<sup>12</sup> And they became friends—both Herod and Pilate—on the self-same' day, one with another; for they had previously been at enmity between themselves.

<sup>13</sup> And |Pilate| <calling together the High-priests, and the Rulers, and the people> <sup>14</sup> said unto them—

Ye brought unto me this man, as one turning away the people,—and lo! |I| |in your presence| examining him, found |nothing| in this man worthy of blame, in respect of the things whereof ye were making accusation against him. <sup>15</sup> Nay! nor Herod; for he hath sent him back unto you,—and lo! |nothing worthy of blame| hath been done by him. <sup>16</sup> So, then, |chastising him| I will release him. [17]<sup>a</sup>

Away with this man! and release unto us Barabbas:—

<sup>19</sup> who indeed <because of a certain revolt which had occurred in the city, and of murder> had been thrown into prison.

<sup>20</sup> |Again| however, |Pilate| called out unto them, wishing to release Jesus. <sup>21</sup> But |they| called out in return, saying—

Crucify! crucify him!

<sup>22</sup> But |he, the third time| said unto them—

Why! what base thing hath this man done? |Nothing worthy of death| found I in him. |Chastising him, then| I will release him!

<sup>23</sup> But they became urgent with loud voices, claiming to have him crucified; and their voices began to prevail.

<sup>24</sup> And |Pilate| consented, that their request should be granted; <sup>25</sup> and released him who |for revolt and murder| had been cast into prison, whom they claimed,—whereas |Jesus| delivered he up unto their will.

§ 93. The Crucifixion. Mt. xxvii. 27-56; Mk. xv. 16-41; Jn. xix. 16-37.

<sup>26</sup> And |as they led him away| they laid hold of a certain Simon, a Cyrenian, coming from the country,—they laid on him the cross, that he might bear it after Jesus.

* WH omit this verse.

27 And there was following him a great throng of the people, and of women, who were smiting themselves and lamenting him. 28 But, turning towards them, Jesus said—

Daughters of Jerusalem!

Do not weep for me;

But [for yourselves] be weeping, and for your children.

29 For lo! days are coming, in which they will say—

Happy the barren!

Even the wombs that never bare,

And the breasts that never gave suck.

30 [Then] will they begin to say—

Unto the mountains, Fall upon us!

And unto the hills, Cover us!

31 Because if [in moist wood] [these things] they are doing,—

In [the dry] what shall happen?

32 And there were being led, two other evil-doers also,<sup>b</sup> to be lifted up. 33 And <when they came into the place which was called Skull>

Father! forgive them;

For they know not what they do.]

And [when they were parting his garments] they cast lots.<sup>d</sup> 35 And the people were standing, looking on. But the rulers were sneering, saying—<sup>e</sup>

[Others] he saved, let him save himself,—

If [this] is [the Christ of God, the Chosen].

36 Moreover the soldiers also mocked him,—coming near, offering [vinegar] <sup>f</sup> unto him, <sup>g</sup> and saying—

<If [thou] art the King of the Jews> save thyself.

37 Now there was an inscription also, over him—

[THE KING OF THE JEWS] THIS!

38 And [one of the suspended] evil-doers began to defame him—

Art not [thou] the Christ?

Save thyself and us!

39 But the other,<sup>h</sup> answering, rebuked him, and said—

Neither fearest [thou] [God], in that thou art [in the same] judgment?

40 And [we] indeed, justly,—for [things worthy of what we have done] are we duly receiving, But [this] man [nothing amiss] hath done.

41 And he went on to say—

Jesus! remember me, whensoever thou shalt come into<sup>i</sup> thy kingdom.

42 And he said unto him—

[Verily] I say unto thee this day<sup>j</sup>:

[With me] shalt thou be in Paradise.

43 And it was already about the sixth hour, and [darkness] came upon the whole land, until the ninth hour,—<sup>k</sup> the sun failing; and the veil of the temple was rent in the midst.

44 And [calling out with a loud voice] Jesus said—

Father! [into thy hands] I commend my spirit.<sup>l</sup> And [this] saying, he ceased to breathe.

45 And the centurion, beholding that which came to pass, began to glorify God, saying—

[In very deed] [this man] was [righteous].

46 And [all] the multitudes who had been drawn together unto this spectacle, <having looked upon the things that came to pass> [smiting their breasts] began to return. <sup>m</sup> But all [they who were acquainted with him, were standing afar off],<sup>n</sup> women also who had followed with him from Galilee,—beholding these things.

§ 94. The Burial. Mt. xxvii. 57-61; Mk. xv. 42-47; Jn. xix. 38, 42.

50 And lo! o</sup> [the same had not consented unto their plan and deed],—from Arimathæa, a city of the Jews, who was awaiting the kingdom of God> [the same] going unto Pilate, claimed the body of Jesus. 51 And, taking it down, he wrapped it in a fine Indian cloth, and laid him in a tomb hewn in stone,—where no one as yet was lying.

52 And it was a day of preparation, and [a Sabbath] was about to dawn. 53 And the women, they who had come out of Galilee with him, [following after] observed the tomb, and how his body was laid. 54 And, returning, they made ready spices and perfumes.

And [on the Sabbath,<sup>p</sup> indeed] they were quiet, according to the commandment<sup>q</sup>; 24 but [on the first day of the week,<sup>r</sup> at early dawn] [unto the tomb] came they, bringing the spices which they had prepared.<sup>s</sup> 2 And they found the stone, rolled away from the tomb; 3 but [when they entered] they found not the body [of the Lord] Jesus. 4 And it came to pass <while they were perplexing themselves concerning this> that lo! [two men] stood near them, in dazzling<sup>t</sup> raiment. 5 And <they becoming afraid>, and bending their faces unto the ground> they said unto them—

Why seek ye the Living One with the dead? 6 [He is not here, but hath arisen:] Remember how he spake unto you while yet he was in Galilee: 7 Saying [as to the Son of Man] That he must needs be delivered up into the hands of sinful men, And be crucified,— And [on the third] day [arise].<sup>u</sup> 8 And they remembered his sayings; 9 and, returning [from the tomb], reported all these things unto the eleven, and unto all the rest.

 10 Now they were the Magdalene Mary, and Joana, and Mary the mother of James; and the other women with them were telling unto the apostles these things. 11 And these sayings appeared before them, as if idle talk, and they were minded to disbelieve them. 12 [But Peter] arising, ran unto the tomb,—and, bending near, beholdeth the linen bandages [alone]; and departed, [unto himself] marvelling at the thing that had happened. 13

And lo! [two from among them] [on the self-same day] were journeying unto a village, distant sixty furlongs from Jerusalem, [the name of which] was Emmaus; 14 and [they] were conversing one with another, about all these things which had occurred. 15 And it came to pass [as they were conversing and reasoning together] that [Jesus himself] [drawing near] was journeying with them; 16 but [their eyes] were held, so as not to know him. 17 And he said unto them—

What are these things which ye are debating one with another, as ye walk along?

And they came to a stand, sad in countenance.

18 But one, by name Cleopas, answering, said unto him—

Art [thou] lodging [alone] in Jerusalem, and knowest not the things which have come to pass therein in these days?

19 And he said unto them—

What things? <sup>a</sup>

And [they] said unto him—

The things concerning Jesus the Nazarene, who became a prophet, mighty in work and word, before God and all the people:

20 In what way also our High-priests and Rulers delivered him up unto a sentence of death, and crucified him.

21 [We] however, were hoping that [he] was the one destined to <sup>b</sup> redeem Israel!

But indeed [even with all these things] this brings on [the third] day, since these things happened:—

22 Nay! [certain women also, from amongst us] have made us beside ourselves, in that they went early unto the tomb; 23 and [not finding his body] came, saying—that [a vision of messengers] they had seen, who were affirming him to be alive.

24 And certain of them who were with us departed unto the tomb,—and found so, according as [the women] had said; but [him] they saw not.

25 And [he] said unto them—

O thoughtless ones! and slow in heart to rest your faith upon all things which the prophets have spoken:—

26 Was it not needful for the Christ [these very things] to suffer, and to enter into his glory?

27 And <beginning from Moses, and from all the prophets> he thoroughly explained to them, in all the Scriptures, the things concerning himself.

28 And they drew near unto the village, whither they were journeying; and [he] made for journeying [further]. 29 And they constrained him, saying—

Abide with us; because it is [towards evening], and the day hath already declined.

And he went in to abide with them.

30 And it came to pass, when he reclined with them, [taking the loaf] he blessed, and, breaking it, went on to give unto them. 31 And [their] eyes were opened, and they knew him; and [he] vanished from them. 32 And they said one to another—

Was not [our heart] burning, <sup>a</sup> as he was speaking to us in the way, as he was opening to us the Scriptures?

33 And <arising in that very hour> they returned unto Jerusalem,—and found [gathered together] the eleven, and them who were with them, 34 saying—<sup>b</sup>

[In truth] the Lord hath arisen, and hath appeared unto Simon!

35 And [they] went on to relate the things [that had passed] on the journey, and how he was made known unto them in the breaking of the loaf.

36 Now <as [these very things] they were telling> [he himself] stood in their midst [and saith unto them—

Peace to you!]

37 But <being agitated and becoming [afraid]> they began to imagine, that [upon a spirit] they were looking. 38 And he said unto them—

Why are ye troubled? and for what cause do reasonings arise in your hearts?

39 See my hands, and my feet,—that it is [I myself]:

Handle me, and see! because [a spirit] hath not [flesh and bones] as ye perceive [I] have.

40 [And [this] saying] he pointed out to them his hands and his feet. 41

Now <while yet they believed not for the joy, and were marvelling> he said unto them

Have ye anything to eat, here?

42 And they gave unto him a piece of boiled fish; 43 and, taking it before them, he did eat.

§ 96. The Commission. Cp. Mt. xxviii. 16-20; Mk. xvi. 15-18; Jn. xx. 21-23.

44 And he said unto them—

[These] are my words, which I spake unto you yet being with you:

That all the things that are written in the law of Moses and the Prophets and Psalms, concerning me, must needs be fulfilled.

45 [Then] opened he their [mind], to understand the Scriptures; 46 and said unto them—

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO JOHN.

§ 1. The Prologue.

1 ||Originally|| was<sup>a</sup> |the Word|,<sup>b</sup>

And ||the Word|| was |with God|;<sup>c</sup>

And |the Word| was ||God||,<sup>d</sup>

2 ||The same|| was originally |with God|.

3 ||All things|| through him' |came into existence|,
And ||without him|| came into existence |not
even one thing|:

<That which hath come into existence> <sup>4</sup> ||in him|| was |life|,<sup>e</sup>

And ||the life|| was |the light of men|,—

5 And ||the light|| |in the darkness| shineth;
And ||the darkness|| thereof |laid not hold|.<sup>f</sup>

6 There arose a man, sent from God, whose name was |John|:

7 ||The same|| came |for a witness|,

That he might bear witness |concerning the light|,

That ||all|| might believe' |through him|.

8 ||He|| was not' the light,—

But, that he might bear witness concerning the light.

9 It |was|—

The real light that enlighteneth every' man—
Coming into the world|.<sup>g</sup>

into existence: In him was," &c.

<sup>f</sup> So as to stay its progress:
cp. chap. xii. 35.

<sup>g</sup> Or: "every man coming into the world." The arrangement in the text

"It [namely, the real light that enlighteneth every man] was coming into the world"; and seems more correct as leading up to a climax:
He was coming . . . he came! (ver. 11). Ver. 10, in that view, becomes parenthetic: "He was coming" (ver. 9): "nay, in some deep sense, he was already in the world" (ver. 10); nevertheless, in the simple, historical

10 |In the world| he was,

And ||the world|| through him' |came into existence|,

And ||the world|| knew him' not.

11 |Into his own possessions| he came,

And ||his own people|| received him not home.<sup>a</sup>

12 But <as many as did receive him> he gave |unto them| authority, |children of God|<sup>b</sup> to become,—unto them who were believing on his name:

13 Who—not of bloods; nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but—
||Of God|| were born.

14 And ||the Word|| became |flesh|,<sup>c</sup>

And pitched his tent among us,

And we gazed upon his glory,—

||A glory|| as an Only-begotten from his Father,

Full of favour and truth.

15 (John beareth witness concerning him,<sup>d</sup> and hath cried aloud, saying—|the same| was he that said—

sense, "into his own possessions, he openly came"
(ver. 11).

<sup>a</sup> "The word paralambanetai, to receive to one's house, perfectly expresses the nature of the welcome which the Messiah had a right to expect. It should have been a national, solemn, and official acknowledgment on the part of the entire nation,
hailing its Messiah,
and rendering homage to its God. If the abode prepared had opened in this way, it would immediately have become the starting-point for the conquest of the world (Ps. cx. 2, 3). Instead, an unheard-of event took place."—Godet.

§ 2. The Witness of John the Forerunner.

- 19 And ||this|| is the witness of John, when the Jews sent forth unto him, out of Jerusalem, priests and Levites,—that they might question
him—

Who art ||thou||?

- 20 and he confessed, and did not deny,—and he confessed—

||I|| am not |the Christ|;

- 21 and they questioned him—

What then? Art ||thou||<sup>c</sup> Elijah?

and he saith—

I am not ;

||The prophet|| art |thou|?

and he answered—

No !

- 22 So they said unto him—

|Who| art thou? that |an answer| we may give, unto them who sent us,—
What sayest thou |concerning thyself|?

- 23 He said—

||I|| am a Voice, of one crying aloud ;—
|In the desert| make ye straight, the way of the Lord ;<sup>d</sup>

according as said Isaiah the prophet.

- 24 And they had been sent forth from among the Pharisees ;<sup>e</sup> and they questioned him, and said
unto him—

Why, then, dost thou immerse,— if ||thou|| art not |the Christ|, nor |Elijah|, nor |the Prophet|?

- 25 John answered them, saying—

||I|| immerse |in water|. |In the midst of you| standeth one, whom ||ye|| know not ;—

- 27 |after me| coming :—Of whom ||I||<sup>e</sup> am not worthy that I should unloose the thong of the sandal.

- 28 ||These things|| |in Bethany| came to pass, beyond the Jordan, where John was, immersing.

- 29 |On the morrow| he beholdeth Jesus, coming unto him, and saith—

See ! the Lamb of God,<sup>f</sup> who taketh away the sin of the world.

- 30 |This| is he, of whom ||I|| said—<sup>g</sup>

But <that he might be manifested unto

- 32 And John bare witness, saying—

I have gazed upon the Spirit, descending like a dove, out of heaven,—and it abode upon him.<sup>a</sup>

- 33 And ||I|| knew him not,—

But <he that sent me to immerse in water>
||he|| |unto me| said—

<Upon whomsoever thou shalt see the Spirit descending and abiding upon him> |the same| is he that immerseth
in Holy Spirit.

- 34 ||I|| therefore, have seen, and borne witness—
That |this| is ||the Son of God||.

§ 3. The First Disciples of Jesus.

- 35 |On the morrow, again| was John standing, and |from among his disciples| ||two|| ;<sup>b</sup> and, looking at Jesus walking, he saith—

See ! the Lamb of God !<sup>b</sup>

- 37 and the two' disciples hearkened unto him speaking, and they followed Jesus. <sup>c</sup> But Jesus, turning, and looking at them following, saith unto them—

What seek ye?

And |they| said unto him—

Rabbi ! which meaneth, when translated,
Teacher Where abidest thou?

- 39 He saith unto them—

Be coming, and ye shall see.

They came, therefore, and saw where he abode, and |with him| they abode that day. It was about the tenth' |hour|. <sup>d</sup> One of the two that heard from John and followed him |was Andrew,
the brother of Simon Peter|. <sup>e</sup> The same findeth, first, his own brother Simon, and saith unto
him—

We have found the Messiah !

which is, when translated, Anointed.<sup>e</sup> <sup>f</sup> He led him unto Jesus. Jesus, looking at him, said—

||Thou|| art Simon, the son of John,—

||Thou|| shalt be called, Cephas ;

which is to be translated, Peter.<sup>g</sup>

- 42 |On the morrow| he desired to go forth into Galilee. And Jesus findeth Philip, and saith unto him—

Be following me !

- 44 Now Philip was from Bethsaida, of the city of
Andrew and Peter. <sup>h</sup> |Philip| findeth

||Nathanael||, and saith unto him—

<Him, of whom wrote Moses in the law, and the Prophets> have we found,—Jesus, son of Joseph, him from Nazareth !

- 45 And Nathanael said unto him—

||Out of Nazareth|| can any good thing come?

47 Jesus saw Nathanael coming unto him, and saith concerning him—

See! [truly] an Israelite, in whom is no [guile].

48 Nathanael saith unto him—

¶ Whence dost thou [know] me?

Jesus answered, and said unto him—

<Before Philip called thee,—when thou wast under the fig-tree> I saw thee.

49 Nathanael answered him—

Rabbi! ¶ thou art [the Son of God]:

¶ Thou art [King] of Israel.

50 Jesus answered, and said unto him—

<Because I said unto thee I saw thee under the fig-tree> believest thou?

[A greater thing than these] shalt thou see!

51 And he saith unto him—

¶ Verily, verily ¶ I say unto you:

Ye shall see heaven—when set open,

And [the messengers<sup>a</sup> of God] ascending and descending<sup>b</sup> unto<sup>c</sup> the Son of Man.

§ 4. The Marriage in Cana—First Sign.

2 And ¶ on the third day ¶ a marriage ¶ took place, in Cana of Galilee; and the mother of Jesus was<sup>d</sup> there,<sup>e</sup>—2 and Jesus also was invited, with his disciples, unto the marriage. 3 And [wine falling short], the mother of Jesus saith unto him—

[Wine] have they none!

4 And Jesus saith unto her—

What part can I take with thee, O woman?<sup>f</sup>

¶ Not yet ¶ hath come [mine hour].

5 His mother saith unto them who are ministering—

<Whatsoever he may say to you> do!

6 Now there were there, six stone<sup>g</sup> water-vessels, placed [according to the purification of the Jews]; holding each, two or three measures.

7 Jesus saith unto them—

Fill the vessels with water.

And they filled them up to the brim.

8 And he saith unto them—

Draw out now, and be bearing unto the master of the feast.

And they bare.

9 And <when the master of the feast had tasted the water, now made [wine], and knew not whence it was,—though [they who were ministering] knew, even they who had drawn out the water> the master accosteth the bridegroom,<sup>h</sup> and saith unto him—

¶ Every' man ¶ [first' the good' wine] setteth out;

And <when they have been well-supplied> [the inferior]:—

¶ Thou ¶ hast kept the good' wine until [even now].

11 [This, beginning of his signs] did Jesus, in Cana of Galilee, and manifested his glory; and his disciples believed on him.

§ 5. The First Cleansing of the Temple.

12 [After this] he came down into Capernaum,—[he] and his mother and brethren, and his disciples; and [there] they abode, not many' days.

13 And [near] was the passover of the Jews; and [Jesus] went up unto Jerusalem.

14 And he found, in the temple, them that were selling oxen and sheep and doves, also the money-changers sitting. 15 And <making a scourge out of rushes> [all of them] thrust he forth out of the temple, both the sheep and the oxen; and [the money-changers' small coins] poured he forth, and [the tables] he overturned; 16 and unto them who were selling [the doves] he said—

Take these things hence!

Be not making [the house of my Father] ¶ a house of merchandise!¶<sup>a</sup>

17 His disciples remembered that it was written—
[The zeal of thy house] cateth me up.<sup>b</sup>

18 The Jews therefore answered, and said unto him—

[What sign] dost thou point out to us, in that [these things] thou doest?

19 Jesus answered, and said unto them—

Take down this shrine,<sup>c</sup>

And [in three' days] will I raise it.<sup>d</sup>

20 The Jews, therefore, said—

¶ In forty' and six' years ¶ was this shrine<sup>e</sup> built,

And ¶ thou ¶ [in three' days] wilt raise it!

21 But ¶ he ¶ was speaking concerning the shrine<sup>f</sup> of his body. 22 <When, therefore, he had been raised from among the dead> his disciples remembered, that [this] he had been saying; and they believed in the Scripture, and in the word which Jesus had spoken.

23 Now <when he was in Jerusalem, during the passover, during the feast> [many] believed on his name, viewing his signs which he was doing.

24 ¶ Jesus himself ¶ however, was not trusting himself unto them, by reason of his understanding them all,<sup>g</sup> and because he had [no need] that anyone should bear witness concerning man; for ¶ he ¶ understood what was in man.

§ 6. Nicodemus.

3 There was' however, a man from among the Pharisees, [Nicodemus] his name,—ruler of the Jews. 2 [The same] came unto him, by night,<sup>h</sup> and said unto him—

Rabbi! we know that [from God] thou hast come, [a teacher];

For [no one] can be doing [these' signs] which [thou] art doing, except [God] be with' him.

 How <if I should tell you the heavenly things> will ye believe ?
- <sup>13</sup> And [no one] hath ascended into heaven,
 Save he that [out of heaven] descended,—<sup>b</sup>
 ||The Son of Man||.
- <sup>14</sup> And <just as [Moses] lifted up the serpent in the desert>
 ||So|| must [the Son of Man] be lifted up,—
- <sup>15</sup> That [whosoever] believeth in him|<sup>c</sup>
 May have life age-abiding.<sup>d</sup>
- <sup>16</sup> For God [so] loved [the world],
 That [his<sup>e</sup> Only Begotten Son] he gave,—
 That [whosoever] believeth on him|
 Might not perish,
 But have life age-abiding.
- <sup>17</sup> For God [sent not] his Son into the world,
 That he might judge the world,
 But that the world might be saved<sup>f</sup> through him.<sup>f</sup>
- <sup>18</sup> [He that] believeth on him| is not to be judged :
 ||He that believeth not|| [already] hath been judged,—
 ||Because he hath not believed on the name of the Only<sup>g</sup> Begotten<sup>h</sup> Son of God||.

- <sup>19</sup> And [this] is the judgment :
 That [the light] hath come into the world,—
 And men loved, rather<sup>i</sup> the darkness than
 the light,
 For [wicked] were their [works].
- <sup>20</sup> For [whosoever] doth practise corrupt<sup>j</sup>
 things|
 Hateth the light,
 And cometh not unto the light,
 Lest his works should be reprov'd ;
- <sup>21</sup> But [he that doeth the truth]
 Cometh unto the light,
 That his works may be [made manifest],
 That [in God] have they been wrought.

§ 7. Further Testimony of the Forerunner, as the Bridegroom's Friend.

- <sup>22</sup> [After these things] came Jesus, and his disciples, into the Judean<sup>k</sup> land ; and [there] was he tarrying with them, and immersing. <sup>23</sup> And John also was immersing in Ænon, near to Salim, because [many waters] were there ; and they were coming, and being immersed ;—<sup>24</sup> for [not yet] had John been cast into prison.
- <sup>25</sup> There arose, therefore, a questioning, from among the disciples of John, with a Jew,—concerning purification. <sup>26</sup> And they came unto John, and
 said unto him—
 Rabbi ! <he who was with thee beyond the Jordan, unto whom ||thou|| hast borne witness> see ! [the same] is immersing ; and [all] are coming unto him.
- <sup>27</sup> John answered, and said—
 A man can receive [nothing], except it have been given him out of heaven.
- <sup>28</sup> ||Ye yourselves|| [unto me] bear witness, that
 ||I||<sup>a</sup> said —
 ||I|| am not the Christ ;
 but—
 I am sent before ||That One||.<sup>e</sup>
- <sup>29</sup> ||He that hath the bride|| is [bridegroom],
 But <the friend of the bridegroom, who standeth by and hearkeneth unto him> [greatly] rejoiceth, by reason of the voice of the bridegroom.
 [This, my joy] therefore, is fulfilled.
- <sup>30</sup> ||That One|| it behoveth to increase,—
 But ||me|| to decrease.
- <sup>31</sup> <He that [from above] doth come> [Over all] is' :
 <He that is of the earth><sup>d</sup>
 [Of the earth] is',
 And [of the earth] doth speak' :
 <He that [out of heaven] doth come><sup>e</sup>
 [Over all] is',
- <sup>32</sup> <What he hath seen and heard><sup>f</sup>
 Of [the same] he beareth witness,—<sup>g</sup>
 And ||his witness|| [no one] receiveth :—

For |not by measure|<sup>b</sup> giveth he the Spirit.
35 ||The Father|| loveth the Son,
And ||all things|| hath given into his hand.
36 <He that believeth on the Son>
Hath life age-abiding:
Whereas <he that yieldeth not unto the Son>
Shall not see life,—

§ 8. The Woman of Samaria, and the Samaritans.

- 1 <When therefore the Lord knew, that the Pharisees had heard—
||Jesus|| |more' disciples| is making and immersing, than John,—
2 although indeed ||Jesus himself|| was not immersing, but his disciples><sup>3</sup> he left Judæa, and departed again into Galilee. 4 Now he must needs pass through Samaria. 5 He cometh, therefore, unto a city of Samaria, called Sychar, near the parcel of ground which Jacob gave unto Joseph his son. 6 Now Jacob's fountain was there. ||Jesus||, therefore, <having become till-worn with the journey> was sitting thus, upon the fountain. It was about the sixth hour. 7 There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water. Jesus saith unto her—

Give me to drink!

- 8 for |his disciples| had gone away into the city,
that |food| they might buy. 9 The Samaritan woman, therefore, saith unto him—
How dost ||thou||, being ||a Jew||, ask to drink
||of me|| who am ||a Samaritan woman||?
[for |Jews| have no dealings with |Samaritans|.] 10 Jesus answered, and said unto
her—

<If thou hadst known the free gift<sup>c</sup> of God, and who it is that is saying unto thee,

Give me to drink>

||thou|| wouldst have asked him', and he would have given thee living' water.

- 11 She saith unto him—
Sir! |not even a bucket| hast thou,—and |the well| is |deep|:—|Whence| then, hast thou
the living' water?
12 Art ||thou|| greater' than |our father Jacob|,
who gave us the well,—and ||himself|| out of it drank, and his sons, and his flocks?
13 Jesus answered, and said unto her—<Whosoever drinketh of this water>
Will thirst |again|;
14 But <whosoever shall drink of the water which ||I|| will give him>
In nowise shall thirst, unto times age-abiding,—
But <the water which I will give him>
Shall become, within him, |a fountain of water|,
||Springing up unto life age-abiding|.

- 15 The woman saith unto him—
Sir! give me this' water, that I thirst not, neither be coming hither to draw.

- 16 He saith unto her—
Go, call thy husband, and come hither!

- 17 The woman answered, and said [unto him]—
I have no husband.

Jesus saith unto her—

|Well| saidst thou. |A husband| I have not; 18 for |five' husbands| thou hast had,—
and |now| he whom thou hast, is not thy
|husband|:

|This' true thing| hast thou spoken.

- 19 The woman saith unto him—
Sir! I perceive that |a prophet| art ||thou||:—

- 20 ||Our fathers|| |in this mountain| worshipped;

And |ye| say, that |in Jerusalem| is the place, where |to worship| it behoveth.

- 21 Jesus saith unto her—

Believe me, woman!

There cometh an hour, when <neither in this mountain, nor yet in Jerusalem> shall ye worship the Father.

- 22 ||Ye|| worship, that which ye know not;

||We|| worship, that which we know;

Because ||salvation|| is |of the Jews|.

- 23 But there cometh an hour, and |now| is',—

When |the real' worshippers| shall worship the Father in spirit and truth;

For ||even the Father|| is seeking |such as these| as his worshippers.

- 24 God is |spirit|;

And |they that worship him|

||In spirit and truth|| must needs worship.

- 25 The woman saith unto him—

I know that |Messiah| cometh, who is called
Christ,—

<Whensoever ||he|| shall come> he will tell us |everything|.

- 26 Jesus saith unto her—

||I, that speak unto thee|| am he.

- 27 And |hereupon| came his disciples, and they began to marvel, that |with a woman| he was talking. |No one| however, said—

What seekest thou? or— Why talkest thou with her?

- 28 The woman, therefore, left her water-vessel, and went away into the city, and saith unto the men—

- 29 Come! see a man, that told me all things that ever I did:

Can |this| be |the Christ|?

- 30 They came forth out of the city, and were coming unto him.

- 31 |In the meantime| the disciples were requesting
him, saying—

Rabbi! eat.

- 32 But |he| said unto them—

||I|| have |food| to eat, of which ||ye|| know
not.

- 33 The disciples, therefore, began to say, one to another—

Hath anyone brought him, to eat?

<sup>34</sup> Jesus saith unto them—

||My' food|| is, that I should do the will of him that sent me, and complete |his work|.

<sup>35</sup> Are ||ye|| not saying—

<Yet' |a fourmonth| it is> and |the harvest| cometh?

Lo! I say unto you—

Lift up your eyes, and gaze at the fields,—

That |white| are they unto |harvest|.

||Already|| <sup>36</sup> |he that reapeth| receiveth |a
reward|,

And gathereth fruit unto life age-abiding;

That |he that soweth| together' may rejoice |with him that reapeth|.

<sup>37</sup> For ||herein|| doth the saying |hold good|,—

|One| is the sower,

And |another| is the reaper.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>38</sup> ||I|| sent you forth, to be reaping that whereon ||ye|| have not toiled;

|Others| have toiled,

And ||ye|| |into their toil| have entered.

<sup>39</sup> And ||out of that city|| |many| believed on him—of the Samaritans,—by reason of the word of the woman in bearing witness—

He told me all things that ever I did.

<sup>40</sup> <When, therefore, the Samaritans came unto him> they went on to request him to abide with them; and he abode there two' days. <sup>41</sup> And ||many' more|| believed by reason of his discourse; <sup>42</sup> and |unto the woman| began to say—

<No longer, by reason of thy' talk> do we believe;

For ||we ourselves|| have heard, and know
that

||This One|| is, in truth, ||the Saviour of the
world||.

§ 9. A Courtier's Son restored—Second Sign.

<sup>43</sup> But ||after the two' days|| he went forth from thence, into Galilee. <sup>44</sup> For |Jesus himself'| bare witness, that ||a prophet|| |in his own' fatherland| hath not |honour|. <sup>45</sup> So |when he came into Galilee| the Galilæans welcomed him, having seen |all things| whatsoever he had done in Jerusalem during the feast; for ||they also|| went unto the feast. <sup>46</sup> So he came again unto Cana of Galilee, where he had made the water |wine|. And there was a certain courtier, whose son was sick, in Capernaum.

<sup>47</sup> [The same] <hearing that Jesus had come out of Judæa into Galilee> came away unto him, and began requesting him, that he would come down and heal his son; for he was on the point of dying. <sup>48</sup> Jesus therefore said unto him—

<Except |signs and wonders| ye see> in nowise will ye believe.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>49</sup> The courtier saith unto him—

Sir! come down, ere my child die!

<sup>50</sup> Jesus saith unto him—

Be going thy way; |thy son| liveth!

And the man believed in the word which Jesus spake to him, and at once went his way. <sup>51</sup> And

<when he was even now' going down> |his servants| met him, saying, that |his boy| was living. <sup>52</sup> So he enquired the hour, from them, when he began |to amend|. They said, therefore, unto him—

||Yesterday, at the seventh hour|| the fever left him.

<sup>53</sup> So the father took note that it was |in that'
hour| wherein Jesus said unto him—

|Thy son| liveth!

and he believed, |he| and all' his house.

<sup>54</sup> Now ||this again|| as |a second sign| Jesus did, after coming out of Judæa into Galilee.

§ 10. Cure at the Pool of Bethzatha. Jesus claims to be the Son of God.

<sup>5</sup> ||After these things|| was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up unto Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup> Now there is in Jerusalem, at the Sheep-gate, a pool, which is called in Hebrew Bethzatha,<sup>a</sup>—having |five' porches|. <sup>3</sup> |In these| was lying a throng of them who were sick,—blind, lame, withered. [4]<sup>b</sup> <sup>5</sup> And there was a certain man there, who |for thirty-eight' years| had continued in his sickness. <sup>6</sup> Jesus <seeing ||this one|| lying, and taking note that now |a long'

time| had he continued> saith unto him—

Desirest thou to be made |well|?

<sup>7</sup> The sick man answered him—

Sir! I have |no man| that <as soon as the water hath been troubled> might thrust me into the pool; but <while |I| am coming> ||another|| |before me| goeth
down.

<sup>8</sup> Jesus saith unto him—

Rise! take up thy couch, and be walking.

<sup>9</sup> And |straightway| the man was made well and took up his couch, and began to walk.

Now it was Sabbath, on that' day. <sup>10</sup> The Jews, therefore, were saying, unto him who had been cured—

It is |Sabbath|; and it is not allowable for thee to take up thy couch:—

<sup>11</sup> |who| however, answered them—

<He that made me well> ||he|| |unto me|
said—

Take up thy couch, and be walking.

<sup>12</sup> They questioned him—

Who is the man that said unto thee, Take up [thy couch], and be walking?

<sup>13</sup> But |the healed one| knew not |who| it was;
for |Jesus| had turned aside, |a multitude| being in the place. <sup>14</sup> ||After these things||

Jesus findeth him, in the temple, and said unto
him—

See! thou hast become |well|:—

|No more| be committing sin, lest |some worse thing| do thee' befall.

<sup>15</sup> The man went away, and told the Jews, that it was ||Jesus|| who had made him well.

<sup>16</sup> And ||on this account|| were the Jews persecuting Jesus, because |these things| he had been doing |on Sabbath|. <sup>17</sup> But |he| answered them—

Lu. iv. 24.

<sup>b</sup> Ver. 4 omitted by WH.

- |My Father| ||until even now||<sup>a</sup> is working;
And ||I|| am working.<sup>b</sup>
- 18 ||On this account|| therefore |the rather| were the Jews seeking to slay him,—because <not only was he breaking the Sabbath> but was calling God ||his own Father||, making |himself|
||equal|| with ||God||.
- 19 Jesus, therefore, answered, and went on to say
unto them—
||Verily, verily|| I say unto you :
The Son cannot be doing, of himself, |a single thing|,—
Save anything he may see |the Father|
doing ;
For <whatsoever ||he|| may be doing>
||These things|| |the Son also, in like manner| doeth.
- 20 For ||the Father|| dearly loveth the Son,
And |all things| pointeth out to him,
which |himself| is doing ;
And ||greater works than these|| will he point out to him,
That |ye| may marvel.
- 21 For <just as the Father waketh up the dead, and quickeneth them>
|In like manner| ||the Son also|| |whom he pleaseth| doth quicken.<sup>c</sup>
- 22 For neither doth |the Father| judge anyone,—
But |all the judging||<sup>d</sup> hath given unto the Son :
That |all| may honour the Son,
Just as they honour the Father :
<He that doth not honour the Son> Doth not, in fact, honour the Father who sent him.<sup>e</sup>
- 24 ||Verily, verily||<sup>f</sup> I say unto you :
<He that heareth |my word|, and believeth in him that sent me>
Hath life age-abiding,
And |into judgment| cometh not,
But hath passed over, out of death into life.
- 25 ||Verily, verily||<sup>g</sup> I say unto you :
There cometh an hour, and now is,
When |the dead| shall hearken unto the voice of the Son of God,
And |they who have hearkened| shall
live.
- 26 For <just as |the Father| hath life |in himself|>
||In like manner|| |unto the Son also| hath he given, |life| to have, |in himself| ;
And ||authority|| hath he given him, to be executing |judgment|,—
Because |Son of Man| is he !
- 28 Do not be marvelling at this :
Because there cometh an hour, in which |all

- they in the tombs| shall hearken unto his voice,<sup>29</sup> and shall come forth,—
<They who |the good things| have done>
Unto a resurrection |of life| ;
But <they who the corrupt things| have practised>
Unto a resurrection |of judgment|.
- 30 ||I|| cannot be doing, of myself, |a single thing|,—
|Just as I hear| I judge ;
And ||my' judging|| is |just|,—
Because I seek not my own' will,
But the will of him that sent me.
- 31 <If ||I|| bear witness |concerning myself|>
|My witness| is not |true|.
- 32 ||Another|| it is, who beareth witness concerning me,—
And I know that |true| is the witness which he witnesseth concerning me.
- 33 ||Ye|| have sent forth unto John,—<sup>a</sup>
And he hath borne witness to the truth :—
- 34 ||I|| however, ||not from man|| |my witness| receive ;
But |these things| I say, that ||ye|| may be saved :—
- 35 ||He|| was the burning and shining lamp,
And ||ye|| were willing to exult, for an hour,
|in his light|.
- 36 But ||I|| have, as my witness, something greater than John's ;
For <the works which the Father hath given me, that I should complete them,— the works themselves' which I am doing> bear witness concerning me,
That |the Father| hath sent me.
- 37 And so |the Father who sent me| ||he|| hath borne witness concerning me.
- Neither ||a sound of him|| |at any time| have ye heard,
Nor |a form of him| have ye seen ;
- 38 And ||his word|| ye have not, within you
abiding,—
Because <as touching him whom ||he|| sent>
||In him|| ||ye|| believe not.
- 39 Ye search<sup>b</sup> the Scriptures,
Because ||ye|| think |by them| to have |life
age-abiding| ;
And ||those [Scriptures]|| are they which bear
witness concerning me :
- 40 And yet ye choose not to come unto me,
that |life| ye may have.
- 41 <Glory from men> am I not receiving ;—
- 42 But I have taken knowledge of you,<sup>c</sup>
That ||the love of God|| ye have not |in yourselves| :—
- 43 ||I|| have come, in the name of my Father,—
And ye are not receiving me :
<If |another| shall come in his own' name>
||Him|| ye will receive !

§ 11. Five Thousand Fed. Mt. xiv. 13-21;
 Mk. vi. 32-44; Lu. ix. 10-17.

- 6 ||After these things|| Jesus went away across the sea of Galilee, that is, of Tiberias; <sup>2</sup> and there was following him a great multitude, because they had been viewing the signs which he did upon such as were sick. <sup>3</sup> But Jesus had gone up into the mountain, and |there| was sitting with his disciples. <sup>4</sup> Now the passover was near, the feast of the Jews. <sup>5</sup> So then Jesus, <|lifting up his eyes, and beholding that a great' multitude was coming unto him> saith unto Philip—

Whence are we to buy loaves, that these may eat?

- 6 But |this| he was saying, to test him; for |he himself| knew what he was about to do.

7 Philip answered him—

||Two hundred denaries-worth of loaves|| are not sufficient for them, that ||each one|| may take |a little|.

- 8 One from among his disciples, Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, saith unto him—

- 9 There is a little lad here, that hath five' barley loaves, and two' small fishes,—
 But ||these||—what are they |for such numbers|?

10 Jesus said—

Make the people recline.

Now there was much grass in the place. So the men reclined, to the number of about five thousand.

11 Jesus therefore took the loaves, and |giving thanks| went on distributing unto them that reclined; |in like manner| of the small fishes also: as much as they were wishing.

12 And |when they were well-filled|
 he saith unto his disciples—

Gather up the broken pieces left' over', that nothing be lost.

- 13 So they gathered them up, and filled twelve' baskets, with broken pieces out of the five' barley loaves,—which were left over by them who had eaten.

14 ||The people|| therefore, |seeing what signs' he wrought| began to
 say—

||This|| is, of a truth, the prophet who was to come into the world.

§ 12. Jesus walks on the Lake. Mt. xiv. 22-36;
 Mk. vi. 45-56.

- 15 ||Jesus|| therefore <|getting to know<sup>a</sup> that they were about to come, and seize him, that they might make him king<sup>b</sup>> retired again into the mountain ||himself, alone||. <sup>16</sup> But |when evening came| his disciples went down unto the sea; <sup>17</sup> and |entering into a boat| were going across the sea unto Capernaum. And |dark, already| had it become, and |not yet| had Jesus reached them; <sup>18</sup> moreover the sea <|by reason of a great wind that blew> was rising high. <sup>19</sup> <|Having therefore rowed about twenty-five or thirty furlongs> they observe Jesus, walking upon the sea, and |near the boat| coming; and they were affrighted.

20 But |he| saith unto them—

It is ||I||: be not affrighted!

- 21 They were willing, therefore, to receive him into the boat; and |straightway| the boat was at land, whither they had been slowly going.

§ 13. Discourse in the Synagogue at Capernaum.

- 22 ||On the morrow|| |the multitude that was standing on the other side of the sea| saw that there was not |another small-boat| there, save one,—
 and that Jesus entered not |along with his disciples| into the boat, but that |alone| his disciples departed:—<sup>23</sup> howbeit there came' boats out of Tiberias, near the place where they did eat the bread, after the Lord had given thanks:—
 24 <|When, therefore, the multitude saw, that |Jesus| was not there, nor yet his disciples>
 |they themselves| got into the small boats, and came unto Capernaum, seeking Jesus; <sup>25</sup> and <|finding him on the other side of the sea> they
 said unto him—

Rabbi! |when| camest thou |hither|?

26 Jesus answered them, and said—

||Verily, verily|| I say unto you:

Ye seek me,

Not because ye saw signs,

But because ye did eat of the loaves and were filled.

27 Be working,

Not for the food that perisheth,

But for the food that endureth unto life ago-
 abiding,—

Which |the Son of Man| unto you, will give;

For upon |the same| hath the Father
 ||even God|| set his seal.

28 They said, therefore, unto him—

What are we to do, that we may be working the works of God?

29 Jesus answered, and said unto them—

||This|| is the work of God:

That ye believe on him whom |he| hath sent
 forth.

30 They said, therefore, unto him—

What, then, art ||thou|| doing |by way of sign|,
 That we may see, and believe in thee:

What art thou working?

* Or: "observing."

<sup>b</sup> Or: "make a king."

31 ||Our fathers|| did eat |the manna| in the desert,—
Just as it is written:
||Bread out of heaven|| he gave them to eat.<sup>a</sup>

32 Jesus said unto them—

||Verily, verily|| I say unto you:
||Not Moses|| gave you the bread out of heaven;

But ||my Father|| giveth you the real bread out of heaven.

33 For |the bread of God| is
That which is coming down out of heaven,
And giving |life| unto the world.

34 They said, therefore, unto him—
Sir! |evermore| give us this bread.

35 Jesus said unto them—

||I|| am the bread of life:
|He that cometh unto me| in nowise shall hunger,
And |he that believeth on me| in nowise shall thirst |any more|.

36 But I told you—
Ye have even seen [me],
And yet do not believe.

37 <All that which the Father is giving me>
|Unto me| will have come,
And |him that cometh unto me|
In nowise will I cast out,—<sup>b</sup>

38 Because I have come down from heaven,—
Not that I should be doing my own will,
But the will of him that sent me.

39 And |this| is the will of him that sent me,
That <of all that which he hath given me>
I should lose nothing.

But should raise it up at the last' day.

40 For |this| is the will of my Father,
That <every' one that vieweth the Son, and believeth on him>
Should have life age-abiding,
And ||I|| should<sup>c</sup> raise him up, at the last' day.

41 The Jews, therefore, began to murmur concerning him, because he said—

||I|| am the bread that came down out of heaven;

42 and were saying—

Is not ||this|| Jesus, the son of Joseph,—
Of whom ||we|| know the father and the mother!

How is it then, that he |now| saith:
|Out of heaven| have I come down?

43 Jesus answered, and said unto them—
Be not murmuring, one with another:

44 ||No one|| can' come unto me, except |the Father who sent me| draw him,—
And ||I|| will raise him up, in the last' day.

45 It is written in the prophets,—
And they shall be, all, the instructed of God;<sup>d</sup>
<Every' one who hath heard of the Father, and learned> Cometh unto me.

46 Not that any one hath seen' ||the Father||,

Save he who is from God,—
|This one| hath seen the Father.

47 ||Verily, verily|| I say unto you:
||He that believeth|| hath life age-abiding.

48 ||I|| am the bread of life:—

49 |Your fathers| did eat, in the desert, the manna,—
||And died||:

50 ||This|| is the bread which |out of heaven| cometh down,<sup>a</sup>

That one |thereof| may eat,—
||And not die||.

51 ||I|| am the living bread, which |out of heaven| came down:

<If one eat of this' bread>

He shall live unto times age-abiding;

And <the bread, moreover, which |I| will give>

Is |my flesh|—for the world's life.

52 The Jews, therefore, began to strive one with another, saying—

How can this one |unto us| give his flesh to eat?

53 Jesus, therefore, said unto them—

||Verily, verily|| I say unto you—
<Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of Man,
And drink his blood>

Ye have not life within yourselves.

54 He that feedeth upon my flesh,
And drinketh my blood>

Hath life age-abiding,

And ||I|| will raise him up at the last' day;

55 For ||my flesh|| is ||true|| food,
And ||my blood|| is ||true|| drink:

56 <He that feedeth upon my flesh,
And drinketh my blood>

|In me| abideth,

And ||I|| in him'.

57 <Just as the living' Father sent me,—
And I live by reason of the Father>

|He also that feedeth upon me|

||Even he|| shall live by reason of me'.

58 |This| is the bread, which |out of heaven| came down:—

Not just as your fathers did eat—and died!

<He that feedeth upon this' bread>

Shall live unto times age-abiding.

59 |These things| said he, as |in a synagogue| he was teaching, in Capernaum. <sup>60</sup> ||Many|| of his disciples, therefore, |when they heard| said—

|Hard| is this discourse,—
Who can |thereunto| hearken?

61 But Jesus <knowing within himself that his disciples were murmuring concerning this> said unto them—

Doth ||this|| cause |you| to stumble?

62 [What] then <if ye should view the Son of Man ascending where he was before?> ...

63 ||The spirit|| it is, that giveth life,—

||The flesh|| profiteth |nothing|:

<The declarations which ||I|| have spoken unto you>

Are |spirit| and Are |life|.

64 But there are some' from among' you, who do not believe.

For Jesus knew from the beginning, who they were that did not believe, and who it was would deliver him up;—<sup>65</sup> and he went on to say—

[For this cause] have I said unto you:

[No one] can' come unto me, except it have been given him [of the Father].

66 [Because of this] many from among his disciples went away back, and [no longer, with him] were walking. <sup>67</sup> Jesus, therefore, said unto the twelve—

Are [ye also] wishing to withdraw?

68 Simon Peter answered him—

Lord! [unto whom] shall we go?

[Declarations of life age-abiding] thou hast;

69 And [we] have believed, and come to know,—
That [thou] art the Holy One of God.

70 Jesus answered them—

Did not [I] make choice [of you, the twelve]?

And yet [from among you] [one] is [an adversary].

71 Now he was speaking of Judas, son of Simon Iscariot; for [the same] was about to deliver him up,—[one of the twelve].

§ 14. The Feast of Tents, Jerusalem.

7 And [after these things] Jesus was walking in Galilee; for he was not wishing [in Judæa] to be walking, because the Jews were seeking to slay him. <sup>2</sup> But the feast of the Jews was near, that of the pitching of tents. <sup>3</sup> His brethren, therefore, said unto him—

Remove hence, and withdraw into Judæa, that [thy disciples also] may view thy<sup>a</sup> works which thou art doing.

4 For [no one] [anything in secret] doeth, and yet is seeking [himself] to be well-known.<sup>b</sup>
<If [these things] thou art doing> manifest thyself unto the world.

5 For [not even his brethren] were believing on him. <sup>6</sup> Jesus, therefore, saith unto them—

[My' season] [not yet] is here;

But [your' season] [at any time] is ready:

7 The world cannot' hate you';

But [me] it hateth,

Because [I] bear witness concerning it.

That [the works thereof] are [wicked].

8 [Ye] go up unto the feast:

[I] [not yet] am coming up unto this feast,

Because [my' season] [not yet] hath fully come.

9 And <[these things] having said unto them> he was still abiding in Galilee. <sup>10</sup> But

<when his brethren had gone up unto the feast> [then] [he also] went up,—not openly, but as it were in secret. <sup>11</sup> [The Jews] therefore, were seeking him in the feast, and were saying—

Where is that one?

12 and there was great [murmuring] about him,

<sup>a</sup> Or (WH): "the."

<sup>b</sup> Or (WH): "that it be well-known."

among the multitudes: [some] indeed, were saying—

[Good] is he!

[But] [others] were saying—

Not so! but he is leading the multitude astray.

13 [No one] nevertheless, was speaking [openly] about him, because of their fear of the Jews.

14 [Presently] however, <the feast' being at its height> Jesus went up unto the temple and was teaching. <sup>15</sup> The Jews, therefore, began to marvel, saying—

[How] doth this one know [letters], not having learned?

16 Jesus, therefore, answered them, and said—

[My' teaching] is not mine', but his who sent me.

17 <If any one intend [his will] to do>

He shall get to know concerning the teaching—
Whether it is [of God].

Or [I] [from myself] am speaking.

18 <He that [from himself] doth speak>

[His own glory] is seeking:

<He that seeketh the glory of him that sent him>

[The same] is [true],

And [injustice] [in him] is there none.

19 Did not [Moses] give you the law?

And yet [not one of you] doeth the law!—

[Why] seek ye [to slay] me?

20 The multitude answered—

[A demon] thou hast<sup>a</sup>:

[Who] is seeking [to slay] thee?

21 Jesus answered, and said unto them—

[One] work [I did, and ye [all] are marvelling:

22 [For this cause] [Moses] hath given you [circumcision],—

Not that [of Moses] it is, but of the fathers;—

And [on Sabbath] ye circumcise a man.

23 <If [circumcision] a man receiveth [on Sabbath],

That the law of Moses may not' be broken>

[With me] are ye bitter as gall,

Because [a whole' man] I made [well] on Sabbath?

24 Be not judging according to appearance,

But [just' judgment] be judging.

25 So then, some of them of Jerusalem were saying—

Is not [this] he whom they are seeking to kill?

26 And yet, see! [with freedom of speech] he is talking,

And [nothing] [unto him] do they say:—

Have the rulers perhaps come to know [of a truth],

That [this] is [the Christ]?

27 But [as for this one] we know whence he is;

<The Christ, however, whosoever he shall come> [no one] getteth to know whence he is.

28 Jesus, therefore, cried aloud in the temple, teaching, and saying—

[Both me] ye know, and ye know whence I am',—

<sup>a</sup> Chap. viii. 48; x. 20. <sup>a</sup> Ap: "Demon."

And yet [of myself] have I not come,
But he is real,<sup>a</sup> who sent me, whom [ye]
know not.

<sup>29</sup> [I] know him,
Because [from him] I am,
And [he] sent me forth.

<sup>30</sup> They were seeking therefore to seize him; and yet no one laid on him his hand, because [not yet] had come his hour.<sup>b</sup> <sup>31</sup> But [from amongst the multitude] [many] believed on him, and were saying—

<The Christ, whensoever he cometh> [Greater signs] will he do, than those which [this one] did?

<sup>32</sup> The Pharisees hearkened unto the multitude murmuring concerning him these things; and the High-priests and the Pharisees sent forth officers, that they might seize him.

<sup>33</sup> Jesus, therefore, said—
[Yet a little time] I am [with you],<sup>c</sup>
And withdraw unto him that sent me:

<sup>34</sup> Ye shall seek me, and not find me,
And <where [I] am> [ye] cannot come.

<sup>35</sup> The Jews, therefore, said unto themselves—
[Whither] is [this one] about to go,
That we shall not find him?
[Unto the dispersion of the Greeks] is he about to go,

And teach the Greeks?

<sup>36</sup> [What] is this which he said:
Ye shall seek me and not find me,
And <where [I] am> [ye] cannot come?

<sup>37</sup> Now [on the last—the great—day of the feast]<sup>d</sup>
Jesus was standing, and he cried aloud, saying—
<If any man thirst>

Let him come unto me and drink:

<sup>38</sup> <He that believeth on me>—just as said the Scripture,—<sup>e</sup>

[Rivers] [from within him] shall flow, [of living water].

<sup>39</sup> Now [this] spake he concerning the Spirit which they who believed on him were about to receive; for [not yet] was there Spirit,<sup>f</sup> because [Jesus] [not yet] was glorified!

<sup>40</sup> [Some from amongst the multitude] therefore, having hearkened unto these words, were saying—

[This] is, in truth, [the prophet].

<sup>41</sup> [Others] were saying—
[This] is [the Christ].

But [others] were saying—
[Out of Galilee] is [the Christ] to come?

<sup>42</sup> Hath not the Scripture said:
<Of the seed of David,<sup>g</sup>
And from Bethlehem,<sup>h</sup> the village where David was>

Cometh the Christ?

<sup>43</sup> [A division] therefore, arose in the multitude, because of him. <sup>44</sup> [Certain] indeed, from among them, were wishing to seize him; but [no one] thrust upon him his hands.

<sup>45</sup> So then the officers came unto the High-priests and Pharisees, and [they]<sup>a</sup> said unto them—
[For what cause] have ye not brought him?

<sup>46</sup> The officers answered—
[Never] man spake thus!

<sup>47</sup> The Pharisees, therefore, answered them—
Surely [ye also] have not been led astray?

<sup>48</sup> Surely [none of the rulers] hath believed in him, [Nor of the Pharisees]?

<sup>49</sup> But [this multitude, that take no note of the law] are [laid under a curse].

<sup>50</sup> Nicodemus saith unto them—he that came unto him formerly, being [one] from among them—

<sup>51</sup> Surely [our law] doth not judge the man, unless it hear first from him, and get to know what he is doing?

<sup>52</sup> They answered and said unto him—
Surely [thou also] art not [of Galilee]?
Search and see! that [out of Galilee] a prophet is not to arise.

end of this Gospel.]

§ 15. The Light and the Darkness in Conflict.

<sup>8</sup> <sup>12</sup> [Again] therefore, [unto them] spake Jesus,
saying—

[I] am the light of the world:<sup>b</sup>

[He that followeth me] shall in no wise walk in darkness,

But shall have the light of life.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>13</sup> The Pharisees, therefore, said unto him—

[Thou] [concerning thyself] bearest witness:
[Thy witness] is not true.

<sup>14</sup> Jesus answered, and said unto them—
<Even though [I] bear witness concerning myself>

[True] is my witness,

Because I know whence I came, and whither
I go;

But [ye] know not whence I come, and whither I go.

<sup>15</sup> [Ye] [according to the flesh] do judge:

[I] am judging no one.

<sup>16</sup> And <even if [I] am judging>

[My] judging] is [genuine],<sup>d</sup>

Because [alone] am I not,

But [I] and the Father who sent me;<sup>e</sup>

<sup>17</sup> And [in your own law] it is written,<sup>f</sup>

That [two] men's witness] is [true];

<sup>18</sup> [I] am the one bearing witness of myself,
And the Father who sent me is bearing witness concerning me.

<sup>19</sup> They were saying unto him, therefore—
[Where] is thy father?

Jesus answered—

Neither [me] do ye know, nor yet my Father:
<If [me] ye had known> [my Father also] had ye known.

<sup>d</sup> Is what it professes to be.

<sup>e</sup> Or (WH): "and he that sent me."

<sup>20</sup> ||These' sayings|| spake he in the treasury, teaching in the temple, and yet |no one| seized him, because |not yet| had come his hour.*

<sup>21</sup> He said unto them again, therefore—

|I| go, and ye shall seek me,—and yet |in your sin| shall ye die:—

<Whither ||I|| go> ||ye|| cannot come.

<sup>22</sup> The Jews, therefore, were saying—

Can it be that he will kill himself, that he saith,

<Whither |I| go> |ye| cannot come?

<sup>23</sup> And he was saying unto them—

||Ye|| are |of the realms below|,

||I|| am |of the realms above|:

||Ye|| are |of this' world|.

||I|| am not of this world.

<sup>24</sup> Therefore said I unto you,

Ye shall die in your sins;

For <|if ye believe not that ||I|| am he> ye shall die in your sins.

<sup>25</sup> They were saying unto him, therefore—

Who art |thou|?

Jesus said unto them—

<First and foremost><sup>b</sup>

Even what I speak unto you.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>26</sup> ||Many things|| have I |concerning you| to speak, and to judge;

But ||he who sent me|| is |true|,

And ||I|| <what things I heard from him> |the same| speak I unto the world.

<sup>27</sup> They noted not that ||as touching the Father|| unto them| he was speaking.

<sup>28</sup> Jesus, therefore, said—

<Whosoever ye shall lift up the Son of Man>

||Then|| shall ye know, that ||I|| am he,

And ||of myself|| am doing |nothing|;

But <just as the Father taught me> ||the same things|| am I speaking.

<sup>29</sup> And ||he that sent me|| is |with me|:

He hath not left me |alone|.

Because ||I|| |the things that please him| ever do.

<sup>30</sup> <As he was speaking these' things> |many| believed on him.

<sup>31</sup> Jesus was saying, therefore, unto the Jews who had believed' on him—

<|If ||ye|| abide in my' word>

||Of a truth|| |my disciples| ye are;

<sup>32</sup> And ye shall know<sup>d</sup> the truth,

And ||the truth|| shall make you free.

<sup>33</sup> They made answer unto him—

|Seed of Abraham| are we,

And |unto no one| have been brought into bondage |at any time|:

How sayest ||thou|| |Free| shall ye be made?

<sup>34</sup> Jesus answered them—

||Verily, verily|| I say unto you:

<Every one who committeth sin>

Is |a slave| [of sin]:

<sup>35</sup> Now ||the slave|| doth not abide in the house |evermore|,

||The Son|| abideth |evermore|.

<sup>36</sup> <|If then |the Son| shall make you free> |Really' free| shall ye be.

<sup>37</sup> I know that ye are |seed of Abraham|;

But ye are seeking to kill me,

Because |my' word| findeth no place in you.

<sup>38</sup> <What things ||I|| have seen with the Father>

I am speaking;

||Ye|| also, then, <what things ye have heard from your father> are doing.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>39</sup> They answered and said unto him—

||Our father|| is |Abraham|.

Jesus saith unto them—

<|If |children of Abraham| ye are>

||The works of Abraham|| are ye doing.

<sup>40</sup> But ||now|| ye are seeking |to kill me|,—

||A man who |the truth, unto you| hath spoken,

Which I have heard from God||:

||This|| |Abraham| did not.

<sup>41</sup> ||Ye|| are doing the works of your father.

They said unto him—

||We|| |of fornication| were not born:

||One' father|| have we—||God||.

<sup>42</sup> Jesus said unto them—

<|If |God| had been your father> ye had been loving me',

For ||I|| |from God| came forth, and am here;

For |not even of myself| have I come,

But ||he|| sent me forth.

<sup>43</sup> |Wherefore| is it, that |my' speech| ye do not understand?<sup>b</sup>

Because ye cannot hear my' word.

<sup>44</sup> ||Ye|| are |of your father—the adversary|,<sup>c</sup>

And ||the covetings of your father|| ye choose to be doing.

||He|| was |a murderer| from the beginning,

And |in the truth| he stood not;

Because truth is not in him:

<Whosoever he speaketh falsehood>

|Of his own| he speaketh;

Because |false| he is, and |the father of it|.

<sup>45</sup> But <as for me>

<Because |the truth| I speak> ye do not believe me.

<sup>46</sup> Which of you convicteth me of sin?

<|If |truth| I speak> |wherefore| do ||ye|| not believe me?

<sup>47</sup> ||He that is of God|| heareth |the sayings of God|<sup>d</sup>;

||Therefore|| do |ye| not hear, because |of God| ye are not.

<sup>48</sup> The Jews answered, and said unto him—

Do ||we|| not ||well|| say:

||Thou|| art |a Samaritan|, and hast |a demon|<sup>e</sup>?

<sup>49</sup> Jesus answered—

||I|| have not |a demon|,

But honour my Father;

And ||ye|| dishonour me.

<sup>e</sup> Chap. vii. 20; x. 20. Ap: "Demon."

50 But I seek not my glory:
There is' one who seeketh and judgeth.
51 Verily, verily I say unto you:
<If anyone shall keep [my' word]>
[Death] shall he not see, unto times age-abiding.

52 The Jews said unto him—
[Now] we know that [a demon] thou hast:—
[Abraham] died, and [the prophets],
And yet [thou] sayest:
<If anyone shall keep [my word]>
In nowise shall he taste of death, unto times age-abiding.

53 Surely [thou] art not [greater] than our father Abraham—who, indeed, died?
And [the prophets] died:—
[Whom] makest thou thyself?

54 Jesus answered—
<If I glorify myself> [my glory] is [nothing]:

It is [my Father] that glorifieth me,—
Of whom [ye] say—He is [your God]!
55 And yet ye have not come to know him;

But I do know him:
<If I say [I know him not]>
I shall be like you—[false];
But I know him, and [his word] am I keeping.

56 [Abraham, your father] exulted that<sup>a</sup> he should see my' day;
And he saw, and rejoiced.

57 The Jews, therefore, said unto him—
[Fifty' years old] not yet art thou,
And [Abraham] hast thou seen?

58 Jesus said unto them—
[Verily, verily] I say unto you:
<Before [Abraham] came into existence>
[I, am].

59 They took up stones, therefore, that they might cast at him; but [Jesus] was hidden, and went forth out of the temple.

§ 16. *Jesus heals a Blind Man; and avows himself
The Good Shepherd.*

9 And [passing along] he saw a man, blind from birth. <sup>2</sup> And his disciples questioned him,
saying—

Rabbi! who sinned, this man or his parents,
That [blind] he should be born?

3 Jesus answered—
Neither [this man] sinned, nor his parents;
But...that the works of God should be made manifest in him.

4 We must needs be working the works of him that sent me, while it is [day]:
There cometh a night, when [no one] can work.

5 <Whosoever I may be [in the world]>
I am [the light] of the world.<sup>b</sup>

6 [These things] having said, he spat on the ground, and made clay with the spittle, and laid the clay upon his eyes; <sup>7</sup> and said unto
him—

Withdraw! wash* in the pool of Siloam,— which is to be translated, Sent. He went away, therefore, and washed, and came [seeing].

8 <The neighbours, therefore, and they who used to observe him aforetime—that he was [a beggar]> were saying—

Is not [this] he that used to sit and beg?

9 [Others] were saying—

'Tis [the same].

[Others] were saying—

Nay! but he is [like him].

[He] was saying—

[I] am he.

10 So they were saying unto him—

How [then] were thine eyes opened?

11 [He] answered—

[The man that is called Jesus] made [clay], and anointed mine eyes, and said unto me:
Withdraw unto the pool of Siloam, and wash.

<Going away, therefore, and washing> I received sight.

12 And they said unto him— Where is [he]?

He saith— I know not.

13 They bring him unto the Pharisees—[him at one time blind] <sup>14</sup> Now it was Sabbath, on the day when Jesus made [the clay], and opened his eyes.

15 [Again] therefore, the Pharisees also questioned him, as to how he received sight. And [he] said unto them—

[Clay] laid he upon mine eyes, and I washed,— and do see.

16 Certain' from among the Pharisees, therefore, were saying—

This' man is not [from God], because [the Sabbath] he keepeth not.

[Others] [however] were saying—

How can a sinful man [such signs as these'] be doing?

And there was [a division] among them.

17 So they were saying unto the blind man, again—

What dost [thou] say concerning him, in that he opened thine eyes?

And [he] said—

[A prophet] is he.

18 The Jews, therefore, did not believe, concerning him, that he was blind, and received sight,—until they called the parents of him that had received sight, <sup>19</sup> and questioned them, saying—

Is [this] your son, of whom [ye] say, that [blind] he was [born]?

How, then, seeth he [even now]?<sup>a</sup>

20 His parents, therefore, answered, and said—

We know that [this] is our son, and that [blind] he was born;

21 But [how he now seeth] we know not,

Or [who opened his eyes] [we] know not,—

Question [him], he is [of age],

[He] [concerning himself] shall speak.

22 [These things] said his parents, because they were in fear of the Jews,—for [already] had the Jews agreed together, that <if anyone should confess [him] to be Christ> [an excommunicant from the synagogue] should he be made.

 23 [For this cause] his parents said—
 He is [of age],—question [him].
 24 So they called the man a second time—[him] who had been blind, and said unto him—
 Give glory unto God!
 [We] know that [this] man [is] a sinner[.]
 25 [He] therefore, answered—
 [Whether he is a sinner] I know not:
 [One thing] I know,—That <whereas I was blind> [now] I see!
 26 They said, therefore, unto him—
 What did he unto thee? How opened he thine eyes?
 27 He answered them—
 I told you just now, and ye did not hear:
 Why [again] do ye wish to hear?
 Are [ye also] wishing to become [his disciples]?
 28 And they reviled him, and said—
 [Thou] art [the disciple] of that man<sup>a</sup>;
 But [we] are [Moses'] disciples:—
 29 [We] know, that [unto Moses] hath God spoken;
 But [as for this man] we know not whence he is.
 30 The man answered, and said unto them—
 Why! [herein] is [the marvel]:
 That [ye] know not whence he is,
 [And yet he opened mine eyes].
 31 We know that [God] [unto sinners] doth not hearken;
 But <if one be [a worshipper of God] and be doing [his will]> [Unto this one] he hearkeneth.
 32 [Out of age-past time] hath it never been heard, that anyone opened the eyes of one who [blind] had been born.
 33 <If this man were not from God> he could have done nothing.
 34 They answered and said unto him—
 [In sins] wast [thou] born [altogether];
 And art [thou] teaching [us]?
 And they cast him out.<sup>b</sup> 35 Jesus heard that they had cast him out: and [finding him] said—
 Dost [thou] believe on the Son of Man?
 36 He answered [and said]—
 And [who] is he, Sir, that I may believe on him?
 37 Jesus said unto him—
 Thou hast both seen him and [be that is speaking with thee] is [he].
 38 And [he] said—
 I believe, Sir!<sup>c</sup> and worshipped him. 39 And Jesus said—
 <For judgment> [I] [unto this world] came:
 That [they who were not seeing] might see,
 And [they who were seeing] might become [blind].

40 They of the Pharisees who were with him [heard] these things, and said unto him—
 Are [we also] [blind]?
 41 Jesus said unto them—
 <If [blind] ye had been> ye had not had sin;
 But <[now] ye say, We see> [your sin] [abideth].<sup>a</sup>
 10 [Verily verily] I say unto you:—
 <He that entereth not [through the door] into the fold of the sheep,
 But goeth up from another place>
 [That man] is [a thief] and [a robber].
 2 But <he that entereth through the door> is [shepherd] of the sheep:
 3 [To him] the porter openeth,
 And [the sheep] [unto his voice] hearken;
 And [his own] sheep he calleth by name, and leadeth them forth.
 4 <As soon as [all his own] he hath put forth>
 [Before them] he moveth on,
 And [the sheep] follow him, because they know his voice;
 5 But [a stranger] will they in nowise follow, but will flee from him,
 Because they know not the voice [of strangers].
 6 [This] similitude spake Jesus unto them; but [those men] understood not<sup>b</sup> what the things were which he was speaking unto them.
 7 Jesus, therefore, said [again]—
 [Verily verily] I say unto you:—
 [I] am the door of the sheep:
 8 [All, as many as came before me] are [thieves] and [robbers];
 But the sheep hearkened not unto them.
 9 [I] am the door:
 <[Through me] if anyone enter>
 He shall be saved,
 And shall come in and go out, and [pasture] shall find.
 10 [The thief] cometh not,
 Save that he may thieve and slay and destroy:
 [I] came,
 That [life] they might have,
 And [above measure] might have.
 11 [I] am the good shepherd:
 [The good shepherd] [his life]<sup>c</sup> layeth down [for the sheep].
 12 [The hireling]
 <Even because he is no shepherd, Whose own the sheep are not>
 Vieweth the wolf coming, and leaveth the sheep, and fleeth,—
 And [the wolf] seizeth them and scattereth,— 13 Because [a hireling] he is, and hath no care for the sheep.
 14 [I] am the good shepherd,
 And know my own,

<sup>a</sup> Cp. chap. xv. 24.<sup>b</sup> = "perceived not."<sup>c</sup> Com: "soul."

- And ||my own|| know me,—
 15 Just as ||the Father|| knoweth me,
 And ||I|| know ||the Father||<sup>a</sup>;
 And ||my life||<sup>b</sup> I lay down for the sheep.
- 16 And ||other' sheep|| have I, which are not of this fold:
 ||Those also|| I must needs bring,
 And ||unto my voice|| will<sup>c</sup> they hearken,
 And there shall come to be
 ||One' flock,
 One' shepherd||.<sup>d</sup>
- 17 |Therefore| doth the Father |love| me,
 Because ||I|| lay down my life,<sup>b</sup>
 That |again| I may receive it:—
- 18 |No one| forced<sup>e</sup> it from me,
 But ||I|| lay it down ||of myself||,—
 |Authority| have I, to lay it down,
 And |authority| have I, |again| to receive it:
 ||This' commandment|| received I |from
 my Father|.
- 19 ||A division|| |again| took place among the Jews, because of these words. <sup>20</sup> But many from among them were saying—
 ||A demon|| he hath,<sup>f</sup> and is raving,—
 Why ||unto him|| do ye hearken?
- 21 ||Others|| said—
 ||These' sayings|| are not those of one demonized,—
 Can ||a demon|| open the eyes of |the blind|?

§ 17. The Feast of Dedication—Conflict renewed.

- 22 The feast of dedication took place at that time, in Jerusalem: it was |winter|, <sup>23</sup> and Jesus was walking in the temple, in the porch of Solomon.
- 24 The Jews, therefore, surrounded him, and were saying unto him—
 ||How long|| holdest thou ||our lives||<sup>g</sup> in suspense?
 <If ||thou|| art the Christ> tell us |plainly|.
- 25 Jesus answered them—
 I told you, and ye believe not:
 <The works which ||I|| am doing in the name of my Father>
 ||The same|| bear witness concerning me.
- 26 But ||ye|| believe not, because ye are not of my' sheep.
- 27 ||My' sheep|| ||unto my voice|| hearken,—
 And ||I|| know |them|,
 And they follow me,—
- 28 And ||I|| give unto them life age-abiding,<sup>h</sup>
 And in nowise shall they perish, unto times age-abiding<sup>h</sup>;
 And no one shall carry them off out of my hand.
- 29 |What ||my Father|| hath given me| is |something greater than all'|,<sup>i</sup>

And ||no one|| can carry off out of the hand of my Father:—

- 30 ||I and the Father|| are |one|.
- 31 The Jews again lifted up stones,<sup>a</sup> that they might stone him. <sup>32</sup> Jesus answered
 them—
 ||Many' works|| have I showed you, |noble ones, from my Father|:
 For which of those works are ye stoning me?
- 33 The Jews answered him—
 ||Concerning a noble' work|| are we not stoning thee;
 But concerning profane speech,—
 And because ||thou|| being |a man|, art
 making thyself |God|.
- 34 Jesus answered them—
 Is it not written in your law<sup>b</sup>;
 ||I|| said Ye are |gods|
- 35 <If |those| he called gods, unto whom |the word of God| came—
 And the Scripture cannot be broken—>
 36 <Of him whom |the Father| hallowed and sent forth into the world> are ||ye|| saying—
 Thou speakest profanely,
 Because I said |Son of God| I am?
- 37 <If I am not doing the works of my Father>
 do not believe in me;
- 38 But <if I am doing them>
 <Even though |in me| ye believe not>
 ||In the works|| believe,—
 That ye may get to know and go on to know,
 That the Father is ||in me||
 And ||I|| am |in the Father|.
- 39 They were ||therefore|| again seeking to take him; and he went forth out of their hand.
- 40 And he went away again, beyond the Jordan, unto the place where John was at the first, immersing; and he abode there.
- 41 And ||many|| came unto him, and were saying—
 ||John|| indeed, did not so much as |one'|
 sign|;
 But ||all things, whatsoever John said concerning this one|| were |true|.
- 42 And ||many|| believed on him there.

§ 18. The Raising of Lazarus.

- 11 Now a certain man was sick, Lazarus of Bethany, of the village of Mary and Martha her sister. <sup>2</sup> And Mary was she who anointed the Lord with perfume,<sup>d</sup> and wiped his feet with her hair,—whose brother Lazarus was sick.
- 3 The sisters, therefore, sent out unto him
 saying—
 Lord, see! |he whom thou tenderly lovest| is sick.
- 4 But Jesus hearing, said—
 ||This' sickness|| is not unto death,
 But for the glory of God,—
 That the Son of God may be glorified thereby.
- 5 Now Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus. <sup>6</sup> <When, therefore, he heard that he was sick > ||then|| indeed, he abode in the place where he was, two<sup>a</sup> days. <sup>7</sup> ||Then, after this|| he saith unto the disciples—

Let us be leading on into Judæa [again].

<sup>8</sup> The disciples say unto him—

Rabbi! [just now] were the Jews seeking to stone thee,—<sup>a</sup>

And [again] goest thou thither?

Are there not ||twelve' hours|| in the day?

<If one walk in the day> he doth not stumble,

Because [the light of this world] he seeth;

<sup>10</sup> But <if one walk in the night> he stumbleth,

Because [the light] is not in him.

<sup>11</sup> [These things] he said, and [after this] he saith unto them—

[Lazarus, our dear friend] hath fallen asleep;

But I am going, that I may awake him.

<sup>12</sup> The disciples, therefore, said unto him—

Lord! [if he have fallen asleep] he will recover.

<sup>13</sup> But Jesus had spoken concerning his death; whereas ||they|| supposed that [concerning the taking of rest in sleep] he had been speaking.

<sup>14</sup> Jesus, therefore [then] said unto them [plainly]—

[Lazarus] died; <sup>15</sup> and I rejoice, for your sake,—that ye may believe,—that I was not there;

But let us be going unto him.

<sup>16</sup> Thomas, therefore, the one called Didymus, said unto his fellow-disciples—

Let [us also] be going, that we may die with him.

<sup>17</sup> Jesus, therefore, coming, found that [four' days already'] had he been in the tomb. <sup>18</sup> Now

Bethany was near Jerusalem, about fifteen furlongs off; <sup>19</sup> and ||many from among the Jews|| had come unto Martha and Mary, that they might console them concerning their brother.

<sup>20</sup> ||Martha|| therefore, [when she heard that Jesus' was coming] went to meet him; but ||Mary|| [in the house] remained sitting. <sup>21</sup> Martha, therefore, said unto Jesus—

Lord! [if thou hadst been here] my brother had not died;

<sup>22</sup> And [now] I know, that ||whatsoever thou shalt ask of God|| [God] will give unto thee.

<sup>23</sup> Jesus saith unto her—

Thy brother shall rise.

<sup>24</sup> Martha saith unto him—

I know that he shall rise, in the resurrection, in the last' day.

<sup>25</sup> Jesus said unto her—

||I|| am the resurrection [and the life];

<He that believeth on me>

[Even though he die] shall live again!

<sup>26</sup> And <no' one who liveth again<sup>b</sup> and believeth on me>

Shall in anywise die [unto times age-abiding].<sup>a</sup>

Believest thou this?

<sup>27</sup> She saith unto him—

Yea, Lord! ||I|| have believed,

That ||thou|| art the Christ, the Son of God,—

||He who [into the world] should come||.

<sup>28</sup> And this' saying, she went away, and called

Mary her sister, [secretly] saying—

[The teacher] is present, and calleth thee.

<sup>29</sup> And ||she|| [when she heard] was roused up quickly, and was coming<sup>b</sup> unto him. <sup>30</sup> [Not yet] however, had Jesus come into the village, but was still in the place where [Martha] met him.

<sup>31</sup> ||The Jews, therefore, who were with her in the house and consoling her|| <seeing Mary, that quickly' she arose and went out> followed her, supposing that she was withdrawing unto the tomb, that she might weep<sup>c</sup> there. <sup>32</sup> ||Mary|| therefore, <when she came where Jesus was> [seeing him] fell at his feet, saying unto him—

Lord! [if thou hadst been here] my brother had not died.

Where have ye laid him?

They say unto him—

Lord! come and see.

<sup>35</sup> Jesus wept. <sup>36</sup> The Jews, therefore, were saying—

See! how tenderly he loved him!

<sup>37</sup> But [some from among them] said—

Could not this man, who opened the eyes of the blind,<sup>e</sup> have caused that [this one also] should not have died?

<sup>38</sup> ||Jesus||, therefore, <[again] being indignant within himself> cometh unto the tomb. Now it was a cave, and [a stone] was lying thereon.

Take ye away the stone!

Martha, the sister of the deceased, saith unto him—

Lord! [by this time] he stinketh, for it is [four days].

Said I not unto thee That <if thou wouldst believe> thou shouldst see the glory of God?

<sup>41</sup> So they took away the stone. And [Jesus] lifted up his eyes on high, and said—

Father! I thank thee, thou didst hear me;

<sup>42</sup> ||I|| indeed, knew that [always] [unto me] thou dost hearken;

But [for the sake of the multitude standing around] I spake,—

That they might believe that ||thou|| didst send me forth.

<sup>43</sup> And [these things] having said, [with a loud voice] he cried out—

Lazarus! come forth!

44 He that was dead came forth, bound feet and hands with bandages, and [his face] [with a napkin] was bound about. Jesus saith unto them—

Loose him, and let him go.

45 <Many therefore from among the Jews, who had come unto Mary, and gazed on what he did> believed on him; 46 but [certain from among them] went away unto the Pharisees, and told them what Jesus had done.

47 The High-priests and Pharisees, therefore, brought together a high-council, and were saying—

What are we to do, in that [this' man] doeth [many' signs]?

48 <If we let him alone thus> [all] will believe on him, and the Romans will come, and take away [both our place and nation].

49 But [a certain one from among them, Caiaphas] <being [High-priest] for that year> said unto them—

[Ye] know [nothing at all]; 50 nor do ye take into account, that it is profitable for you that [one' man] should die for the people,<sup>a</sup> and not [the whole' nation] perish.

51 [This] however, [from himself] he spake not, but <being [High-priest] for that year> he prophesied, that Jesus was about to die for the nation; 52 and [not for the nation only] but that [the scattered children of God also] he might gather together into one. 53 [From that' day] therefore, they took counsel, that they might put him to death.

54 [Jesus] therefore, [no longer openly] was walking among the Jews, but departed thence, into the country near the desert, unto a city called [Ephraim]; and [there] abode, with his disciples. 55 Now the passover of the Jews was at hand, and many went up unto Jerusalem, out of the country, before the passover, that they might purify themselves. 56 They were therefore seeking Jesus, and were saying one to another, [in the temple] standing—

How seemeth it unto you? that he will in nowise come unto the feast?

57 Now the High-priests and the Pharisees had given commands, that <if anyone came to know where he was> he should inform [them], so that they might seize him.

§ 19. The Anointing at Bethany. Mt. xxvi. 6-12; Mk. xiv. 3-8.

12 [Jesus] therefore, [six' days before' the pass-over] came unto Bethany, where Lazarus was, whom Jesus had raised from among the dead.

2 So they made for him a supper,<sup>b</sup> there; and [Martha] was ministering, but [Lazarus] was one of them who were reclining with him.

3 [Mary] therefore, <taking a pound of pure nard perfume, very precious> anointed the feet of Jesus,<sup>c</sup> and wiped with her hair, his feet; and [the house] was filled with the fragrance of the perfume. 4 [But] Judas Iscariot, one of his disciples, he that was about to deliver him up, saith—

5 Why was [this' perfume] not sold for three hundred' denaries, and given unto the destitute?

6 Howbeit he said this, <not that [for the destitute] he cared> but because [a thief] he was, and holding [the bag] used to carry away [what was cast therein]. 7 Jesus, therefore, said—

Let her alone, that [for the day of my burial] she may observe it;

8 For [the destitute] [always] have ye with you, whereas [me] [not always] have ye.

9 The great multitude of the Jews, therefore, got to know that he was [there], and came [not on account of Jesus only] but that [Lazarus also] they might see, whom he had raised from among the dead. 10 But the High-priests took counsel [that Lazarus also] they might put to death; 11 because [many' of the Jews] [by reason of him] were withdrawing, and believing on Jesus.

§ 20. The Triumphal Entry. Mt. xxi. 1-11; Mk. xi. 1-10; Lu. xix. 29-38.

12 [On the morrow] [the great multitude] that had come unto the feast <hearing that Jesus was coming into Jerusalem> 13 took the branches of the palm trees, and went out to meet him, and began crying aloud—

Hosanna!

Blessed is he that is coming in the name of the Lord,—<sup>a</sup>

[Even the King of Israel]!

14 And Jesus, finding a young ass, took his seat thereon, just as it is written—

15 Do not fear, O daughter of Zion!

Lo! [thy king] cometh,

Sitting upon the colt of an ass!<sup>b</sup>

16 [These things] his disciples noticed not, at the first; but <when Jesus was glorified> 17 then remembered they that [these things] had [for him] been written,— and that [these things] they had done unto him. 17 The multitude, therefore, that was with him when he called [Lazarus] out of the tomb, and raised him from among the dead, was bearing witness. 18 [On this account] the multitude met him also, because they heard that he had done [this' sign]. 19 [The Pharisees] therefore, said among themselves—

Ye observe<sup>d</sup> that ye are profiting nothing:

See! [the world] [after him] hath gone away.

§ 21. The Hour is Come. Final Appeals to the Jews.

20 Now there were certain Greeks, from among them who were coming up that they might worship in the feast.<sup>e</sup> 21 [These] therefore, came unto Philip, him who was from Bethsaida of Galilee,—and were requesting him, saying—

and Philip come, and tell Jesus. <sup>22</sup> But ||Jesus|| answereth them, saying—

The hour hath come, that the Son of Man should be glorified!

<sup>24</sup> ||Verily, verily|| I say unto you :
<Except |the kernel of wheat| shall fall into the ground, and die>

||It|| |alone| abideth ;

But <if it die>

|Much' fruit| it beareth.

<sup>25</sup> <He that loveth <sup>a</sup> his life> <sup>b</sup>

Loseth it ;

But <he that hateth his life <sup>b</sup> |in this world|>

||Unto life <sup>c</sup> age-abiding|| shall guard it. <sup>d</sup>

<sup>26</sup> <If |with me| anyone be ministering>

|With me| let him be following ;

And <where ||I|| am>

|There|| |my' minister also| shall be.

<If anyone |with me| be ministering>

|The Father| will honour him.

<sup>27</sup> ||Now|| is my soul troubled,—<sup>e</sup>

And what can I say ?

Father ! save me from <sup>f</sup> this hour ?

But |on this account| came I unto this hour.

Father, glorify thy name !

<sup>28</sup> There came, therefore, a voice out of heaven—

I both have glorified it, and will glorify it again.

<sup>29</sup> [So] ||the multitude that was standing by, and heard it|| were saying—

It hath |thundered|.

|Others| were saying—

||A messenger|| |unto him| hath spoken.

<sup>30</sup> Jesus answered, and said—

||Not for my sake|| hath this voice come, but |for your sake|.

<sup>31</sup> ||Now|| is there |a judging| of this world,—

||Now|| |the ruler of this world| shall be cast out ;

<sup>32</sup> And ||I|| <if I be lifted up out of the earth> will draw |all| <sup>g</sup> unto myself.

<sup>33</sup> But |this| he was saying, signifying |by what manner' of death| he was about to die.

||We|| have heard, out of the law, that ||the Christ|| abideth evermore <sup>h</sup> ;

How then dost ||thou|| say,—

It behoveth the Son of Man to be lifted up ? Who is this' Son of Man ?

<sup>35</sup> Jesus, therefore, said unto them—

||Yet' a little' while|| <sup>i</sup> |the light| is |among <sup>k</sup> you| :

<Walk, while ye have |the light|>.

Lest ||darkness|| |on you| should lay hold <sup>l</sup> ;

And ||he that walketh in darkness|| knoweth not whither he drifteth.

<sup>36</sup> <While |the light| ye have>

Believe on the light,

That |sons of light| ye may become.

||These things|| spake Jesus,—and, departing, was hid from them. <sup>37</sup> And <although such signs |as these| he had done before them> they were not believing on him :—<sup>38</sup> that ||the word of Isaiah the prophet|| might be fulfilled, which said—

Lord ! |who believed| what ye have heard ?

And ||the arm of the Lord|| |to whom| was it revealed ? <sup>a</sup>

<sup>39</sup> ||On this account|| they could not believe, because |again| said Isaiah—

Lest they should see with their eyes, and should understand with their heart, and should turn,—

And I should heal them. <sup>b</sup>

theless, however|| |even from among the rulers| many' believed on him ; but ||because of the Pharisees|| they were not confessing him, lest |excommunicants from the synagogue| they should be made ; <sup>43</sup> for they loved the glory of men, more than the glory of God. <sup>44</sup> And

|Jesus| cried aloud, and said—

<He that believeth on me>

||Believeth not on me, but on him that sent me|| ;

<sup>45</sup> And <he that vieweth me>

|Vieweth him that sent me|.

<sup>46</sup> ||I|| |a light| into the world' have come,

That |no' one who believeth on me|| |in darkness| should abide.

<sup>47</sup> And <if anyone shall hearken unto my sayings, and not guard them>

||I|| am not judging him ;

For I came not that I might judge the world, But that I might save the world.

<sup>48</sup> <He that setteth me aside, and receiveth not my sayings>

Hath that which is to judge him :

<The word that I spake> ||that|| will judge him, in the last' day.

<sup>49</sup> Because ||I|| |out of myself| spake not,

But ||the Father who sent me|| hath ||himself|| given me commandment,

What I should say, and what I should speak.

<sup>50</sup> And I know that ||his commandment|| is |life age-abiding| <sup>d</sup> ;

<The things, therefore, which I speak>

|Just as the Father hath told me|

||So|| I speak.

unto the end loved them. <sup>2</sup> And <[supper| being in progress, |the adversary| having already thrust into the heart of Judas son of Simon Iscariot, that he should deliver him up,—<sup>3</sup> [Jesus] knowing that |all things| the Father had given unto him, into his hands, and that |from God| he had come, and |unto God| he was going<sup>a</sup>>
<sup>4</sup> rouseth himself out of the supper, and layeth aside his garments, and, taking a linen cloth, girded himself. <sup>5</sup> [Next| he poureth water into the wash-basin, and began to be washing the feet of the disciples, and to be wiping them with the linen cloth wherewith he was girded. <sup>6</sup> So he cometh unto Simon Peter. He saith unto him—

Lord, dost thou wash my feet?

<sup>7</sup> Jesus answered, and said unto him—
 <What [I] am doing> [thou] knowest not [as yet];

Howbeit, thou shalt get to know [hereafter].

<sup>8</sup> Peter saith unto him—

In nowise shalt thou [ever] wash my feet.

Jesus answered him—

<If I wash thee not> thou hast no part with me'.

<sup>9</sup> Simon Peter saith unto him—

Lord! not my feet only, but my hands also, and my head.

<sup>10</sup> Jesus saith unto him—

[He that hath bathed himself| hath no need [save as to the feet] to get washed; but is pure [as a whole].

And [ye] are [pure], but not ye [all].

<sup>11</sup> For he knew the man that was delivering him up; [therefore] said he—

Not ye all, are pure.

<sup>12</sup> <When, therefore, he had washed their feet, and taken his garments, and reclined> [again] said he unto them—

Are ye taking note, what I have done unto you?

<sup>13</sup> [Ye] call me The Teacher, and The Lord,— and [well] say, for I am.

<sup>14</sup> <If then [I] have washed your feet,—[I] The Lord and The Teacher>

[Ye also] ought to wash [one another's] feet;

<sup>15</sup> For [an example] have I given you,—

That <just as [I] did unto you>

[Ye also] should be doing.

<sup>16</sup> [Verily, verily] I say unto you—

A servant is not greater than his lord,

Neither one sent forth greater than he that sent him.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>17</sup> <If [these things] ye know>

[Happy] are ye, if ye be doing them.

<sup>18</sup> Not [concerning you all] am I speaking,—

For [I] know of whom I made choice;

But...that [the Scripture] might be fulfilled:

<He that feedeth on my bread>

Hath lifted up against me, his heel.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>19</sup> [Henceforth] I tell you [before it cometh to pass],—

That ye may believe, whensoever it doth come to pass, that [I] am he.

<sup>20</sup> [Verily, verily] I say unto you—

<He that receiveth whomsoever I shall send>

Receiveth [me];

And <he that receiveth [me]>

Receiveth him that sent me.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>21</sup> <[These things] having said> [Jesus] was troubled in spirit, and bare witness, and said—

[Verily, verily] I say unto you—

[One from among you] will deliver me up.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>22</sup> The disciples began to look one at another, being at a loss concerning whom he was speaking.

Say Who is it? concerning whom he speaketh.

<sup>25</sup> <[He] falling back thus, upon the breast of Jesus> saith unto him—

Lord! who is it?

<sup>26</sup> Jesus, therefore, answereth—

[That one] it is, for whom [I] shall dip the morsel, and give unto him.

So <dipping the morsel> he taketh and giveth it unto Judas, son of Simon Iscariot. <sup>27</sup> And [after the morsel], [then] entered [Satan] into that man. Jesus, therefore, saith unto him—

[What thou art doing] do quickly!

<sup>28</sup> But [as to this] none of them who were reclining with him knew respecting what he said it to him. <sup>29</sup> For [some] were thinking [since Judas held the bag] that Jesus was saying to him—

Buy the things of which we have [need] for the feast;

or that [unto the destitute] he should give something. <sup>30</sup> So [he] taking the morsel, went out straightway;—and it was night. <sup>31</sup> <When, therefore, he had gone out> Jesus saith—

[Just now] was [the Son of Man] glorified, And [God] was glorified in him;

<sup>32</sup> And [God] will glorify him [in himself],—

And [straightway] glorify him.

<sup>33</sup> Dear children!

[Yet a little] am I [with you].

Ye shall seek me, and <just as I said unto the Jews,<sup>d</sup>

[Whither] [I] go<sup>e</sup> [ye] cannot come>

[Unto you also] I say it [even now].

<sup>34</sup> [A new commandment]<sup>f</sup> give I unto you,—

That ye be loving one another:

<Just as I loved you>

That [ye also] be loving one another:<sup>g</sup>

<sup>35</sup> [By this] shall all men take knowledge, that [my] disciples ye are,—

If ye have [love] one to another.

- 36 Simon Peter saith unto him—
Lord! whither dost thou withdraw?
Jesus answered—
    Whither I withdraw|| thou canst not [now] follow me,
    But thou shalt follow [hereafter].
- 37 Peter saith unto him—
Lord! [why] cannot I follow thee [even now]?
    My life||* [in thy behalf] will I lay down.
- 38 Jesus answereth—
    Thy life||* [in my behalf] wilt thou lay down?
    Verily, verily|| I say unto thee—
    In nowise shall a cock crow
    Till thou hast denied me [thrice].<sup>b</sup>
- 14 Let not your heart be troubled:
    Believe on God,
    And [on me] believe.<sup>c</sup>
- 2 [In the house of my Father] are [many dwellings];
    Or else I would have told you,
    I go to prepare a place for you.
- 3 And <[if I go, and prepare a place for you]> [Again] am I coming, and will take you home unto myself,
    That <[where I|| am]> [ye also] may be.
- 4 And <[whither I|| go]> ye know [the way].
- 5 Thomas saith unto him—
Lord! we know not whither thou goest:
    How know we [the way]?
- 6 Jesus saith unto him—
    I|| am the way [and the truth, and the life]:
    [No one] cometh unto the Father, [but through me].
- 7 <[If ye had been getting to know me]>
    [My Father also] had ye known:
    [From henceforth] are ye getting to know him, and have seen him.
- 8 Philip saith unto him—
Lord! show us the Father, and it sufficeth us.
- 9 Jesus saith unto him—
    [So long a time as this] have I been [with you],—
    And thou hast not come to know me, Philip?
    [He that hath seen me]|| hath seen the Father.
    How art [thou] saying, Show us the Father?
- 10 Believest thou not, that [I|| am in the Father, and [the Father] is [in me]]?
    <[The things which I am saying unto you]>
    [From myself] I speak not;
    But [the Father, within me abiding], doeth his works.
- 11 Believe me,
    That [I|| am in the Father],
    And [the Father] in me;—
    Or else [on account of the works themselves] believe ye.
- 12 [Verily, verily]|| I say unto you—

    Because [I||] [unto the Father] am going,—
- 13 And because <[whatsoever ye shall ask in my name]> [the same] will I do,*
    That [the Father] may be glorified [in the Son]:
- 14 <[If anything ye shall ask [me] in my name]> [the same] will I do.
- 15 [If ye be loving me]|| [my] commandments| ye will keep;
- 16 And [I||] will request the Father,
    And [Another] Advocate||<sup>b</sup> will he give unto you,
    That he may be with you age-abidingly,—
- 17 The Spirit of truth,—
    Which [the world] cannot receive,
    Because it beholdeth it not, nor getteth to know it.
    But [ye] are getting to know it;
    Because [with you] it abideth,
    And [in you] it is.<sup>c</sup>
- 18 I will not leave you bereft,—
    I am coming unto you.
- 19 [Yet] a little|| and [the world] no longer|| beholdeth me;<sup>d</sup>
    But [ye]|| behold me,—
    <[Because I|| live]>
    [Ye also] shall live.
- 20 [In that] day|| shall ye get to know,
    That [I|| am in my Father],
    And [ye]|| in me,
    And [I||] in you.
- 21 <[He that hath my commandments and keepeth them]>

    And [he that loveth me]||
    Shall be loved by my Father,
    And [I||] will love him, and will manifest [myself]|| unto him.
- 22 Judas, not the Iscariot, saith unto him—
Lord! what hath happened,
    That [unto us]|| thou art about to manifest thyself, and [not unto the world]?
- 23 Jesus answered, and said unto him—

    [My word]|| he will keep,
    And [my Father]|| will love him,—
    And [unto him]|| will we come,

    Doth not keep [my word]||;—
    And [the word which ye hear]|| is not mine,

- And will put you in mind |of all things which ||I|| told you|.
- 27 ||Peace|| I leave with you,
||My own peace|| give I unto you,—
<Not as |the world| giveth> give ||I|| unto
you':—
Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.
- 28 Ye heard that ||I|| said unto you—
I go my way, and I come unto you,—
||Had ye loved me|| ye would have rejoiced, that I am going unto the Father,
For ||the Father|| is |greater than I|.
- 29 But |now| have I told you, |before it cometh
to pass|,
That |whosoever it shall come to pass| ye may believe.
- 30 ||No longer|| |many things| will I speak with
you;
For |the world's ruler| is coming,
And ||in me|| hath |nothing|,—
- 31 But <that the world may get to know that I love the Father,
And just as the Father hath given me |commandment|>
||So|| I do.
Be rousing yourselves! let us be leading on from hence.
- 15 ||I|| am the real vine,
And ||my Father|| is |the husbandman|*:
2 <Every branch in me that beareth not fruit>
He taketh it away;
And <every one that beareth |fruit|>
He pruneth it, that |more fruit| it may bear.
- 3 ||Already, ye|| are |pure|<sup>b</sup> because of the word which I have spoken unto you:
4 Abide in me',
And ||I|| in you'.
<Just as |the branch| cannot be bearing fruit
of itself,
Except it abide in the vine>
||So|| neither ||ye|| except |in me| ye abide.
- 5 ||I|| am the vine:
||Ye|| are the branches.
<He that abideth in me' and ||I|| in him>
||The same|| beareth much fruit;
Because |apart from me|| ye can bring forth
|nothing|.
- 6 <If one abide not in me>
He is cast out as the branch, and withered,
And they gather them,—
And |into fire| they cast them,
And they are burned.
- 7 <If ye abide in me, and ||my sayings|| |in you| abide>
||Whatsoever ye may be desiring|| ask!
And it shall be brought to pass for you.<sup>c</sup>
- 8 ||Herein|| was my Father glorified,
That |much fruit| ye should bear,
And become my' disciples.
9 <Just as the Father loved me>

- ||I also|| loved you':
Abide ye in my' love.
- 10 <If |my commandments| ye keep>
Ye shall abide in my love,—
Just as ||I|| |the Father's| commandments| have kept,
And abide in his' love.
- 11 ||These things|| have I spoken unto you,
That ||my own' joy|| |in you| may be,
And |your joy| may be made full.
- 12 ||This|| is my own' commandment,
That ye be loving one another,
Just as I loved you.
- 13 ||Greater love than this|| hath |no one|,
That ||his life||<sup>a</sup> one should lay down in behalf of his friends.<sup>b</sup>
- 14 ||Ye|| are |friends of mine|,
If ye be doing that which ||I|| am commanding you.
- 15 ||No longer|| do I call you |servants|,
For ||the servant|| knoweth not what |his lord| is doing.
But ||you|| I have called |friends|,
Because <all things which I heard from my Father> made I known unto you.
- 16 Not ||ye|| chose |me|,
But ||I|| chose you, and placed you,
That ye should go your way and bear
|fruit|,—
And |your fruit| should abide:
That <whatsoever ye should ask the Father in my name> he might give unto you.
- 17 ||These things|| I command you,
That ye be loving one another.<sup>c</sup>
- 18 <If ||the world|| is hating |you|>
Ye are getting to know that ||me, before you|| it hath hated.
- 19 <If |of the world| ye had been>
||The world|| |of its own| had been fond;
But <because |of the world| ye are not,
On the contrary ||I|| chose you out of the
world>
||Therefore|| |the world| doth hate you.
- 20 Remember the word which ||I|| spake unto
you:
A servant is not greater than his lord.<sup>d</sup>
<If |me| they persecuted> |you too| will they persecute,—
<If |my word| they kept> |your own also| will they keep.
- 21 But ||all these things|| will they do unto you,
on account of my name,
Because they know not him that sent me.
- 22 <Had I not come and spoken unto them>
|Sin| had they none;
But ||now|| have they no |excuse| for their sin.<sup>e</sup>
- 23 ||He that hateth me|| hateth |my Father also|.
- 24 <Had I not done among them ||the works||
which |no other| had done>
|Sin| had they none;

- 26 <Whosoever the Advocate<sup>b</sup> shall come,
Whom [I] will send unto you from the Father,—
The Spirit of truth, which [from the Father] cometh forth<sup>c</sup>
[He] will bear witness concerning me;
And do [ye also] bear witness,<sup>d</sup>
Because [from the beginning] ye are [with me].
- 16 [These things] have I spoken unto you,
That ye may not be caused to stumble:
2 [Excommunicants from the synagogue] will they make you;
Nay! there cometh an hour,
That [everyone] who killeth you [shall think to be rendering] [divine service] unto God!
3 And [these things] will they do,
Because they got to know, neither the Father nor me.
4 But [these things] have I told you,—
That <whosoever their hour shall come>
Ye may remember, that [thereof] I told you.<sup>e</sup>
[These things] however, I told you not, from the beginning,
Because I was [with you];
5 But [now] I go my way unto him that sent me,
And [not one from among you] questioneth me—
Whither goest thou?
6 But <because [these things] I have told you>
[Sorrow] hath filled your heart.
7 But [I] [the truth] am telling you —
[It is profitable for you] that [I] depart;
For <[if I should not depart]>
[The Advocate]<sup>b</sup> would in nowise come unto you,—
But <[if I go]>
I will send him unto you.
8 And <[having come]>
[He] will reprove the world—
Concerning sin,
And concerning righteousness,
And concerning judgment;
9 <Concerning sin, indeed>
Because they are not believing on me;
10 But <concerning righteousness>
Because [unto the Father] I go my way,
and [no longer] do ye behold me;
11 And <concerning judgment>
Because [the ruler of this world] hath been judged.<sup>f</sup>
- 12 [Yet many things] have I [unto you] to be saying,—
But ye cannot bear them [just now];
13 Howbeit <as soon as [he] hath come—
The Spirit of truth>
He will guide you into all truth<sup>g</sup>;
For he will not speak from himself,
But [whatsoever he heareth]<sup>h</sup> he will speak,
And [the coming things] will he announce unto you.
14 [He] shall glorify me;
For [of mine] shall he receive, and announce unto you.
15 <[All things, whatsoever the Father hath]> are [my own]<sup>i</sup>;
[Therefore] said I—
[Of mine] shall he receive, and announce unto you.
16 <[A little while]> and [no longer] ye behold me;
And <[again] a little while> and ye shall see me.<sup>d</sup>
17 Some of his disciples, therefore, said one to another—
What is this which he is saying to us:—
[A little while] and ye behold me not,
And <[again] a little while> and ye shall see me;
And—
Because I go my way unto the Father?
18 They were saying, therefore—
What is this which he saith:— A little while?
We know not [what he is saying].
19 Jesus took note, that they were wishing to question him, and said unto them—
[Concerning this] are ye enquiring one with another,—
Because I said:—
[A little while] and ye behold me not,
And <[again] a little while> and ye shall see me?
20 [Verily, verily] I say unto you—
[Ye] shall weep and lament,
But [the world] shall rejoice:
[Ye] shall be grieved,
But [your grief] [into joy] shall be turned.
21 [A woman] <as soon as she is about to bring forth>
Hath [grief], because her hour hath come;
But <as soon as she hath given birth to the child>
[No longer] remembereth she the anguish,
By reason of the joy, that a human being<sup>e</sup> into the world hath been born.
22 And [ye] therefore, [now] indeed have [grief];

- 31 Jesus answered them—
 |As yet| ye believe:
- 32 Lo! there cometh an hour, and hath come,
 That ye should be scattered, |each| unto his own home; and |me|, |alone| should leave:—
 And yet I am not |alone|,
 But |the Father| is |with me|.

 That |all things, as many as thou gavest
 me| are |from thee|;
- 8 And |the declarations which thou gavest
 me| have I given them,
 And |they| received them, and came to know in truth,
 That |from thee| came I forth,—
 And they believed
 That |thou| didst send me forth. <sup>d</sup>
- 9 |I| |concerning them| make request:
 Not |concerning the world| do I make request,
 But concerning them whom thou hast
 given me,
 Because |thine| they are,—
 And |all my' possessions| are |thine|,
 And |thy' possessions| |mine|, <sup>e</sup>
 And I have been<sup>f</sup> glorified in them.
- 11 And |no longer| am I in the world,
 And |they|<sup>g</sup> are |in the world|,—
 And |I| |unto thee| am coming.
- Holy Father!
 Keep them in thy name which thou hast
 given me,
 That they may be one, as |we|. <sup>h</sup>
- 12 <When I was with them>
 |I| kept them in thy name which thou hast given me,—
 And I kept watch,
 And |none from among them| went to destruction, —<sup>i</sup>
 Save the son of destruction,
 That |the Scripture| might be fulfilled.
- 13 But |now|, |unto thee| am I coming;
 And |these things| am I speaking in the
 world,

- That they may have my own joy fulfilled in themselves.
- 14 ¶I have given them thy word,
And [the world] hated them,
Because they are not of the world—
Even as ¶I am not of the world.
- 15 I request not, that thou wouldst take them out of the world,
But that thou wouldst keep them out of the evil:
- 16 [Of the world] they are not,
Even as ¶I am not of the world.
- 17 Hallow them in the truth:
[Thine own word] is [truth].
- 18 <Even as thou didst send me forth into the world>
¶I also send them forth into the world;
And [on their behalf] ¶I, <sup>a</sup> hallow myself,
That [they also] may have become hallowed in truth.
- 20 <Not however concerning these alone> do I make request,
But [concerning them also who believe through their word] on me:
That they [all] may be [one],—
Even as [thou] Father, in me,
And ¶I in thee,—
That [they also] [in us] may be;—
That [the world] may believe that [thou] didst send me forth.
- 22 And ¶I <the glory which thou hast given to me> have given to them,
That they may be one,
Even as [we] are [one],—<sup>b</sup>
- 23 ¶I in them' and [thou] in me;
That they may have been perfected into one,—<sup>c</sup>
That the world may get to know,
That [thou] didst send me forth,<sup>d</sup>
And didst love them' even as thou didst love [me].
- 24 Father!
<As touching that which thou hast given me> I desire—That <where ¶I am>
[They also] may be [with me],
That they may behold my own glory which thou hast given me,— Because thou lovedst me, before the foundation of the world.
- 25 Righteous Father!
And so [the world] came not to know thee;
But ¶I came to know thee,
And [these] came to know
That [thou] didst send me forth <sup>e</sup>:
- 26 And I made known unto them thy name, and will make known,—
That [the love wherewith thou lovedst me]
[In them] may be,
And ¶I in them.

§ 24. Jesus arrested and taken before the High-priest. Peter's Denial. Mt. xxvi. 47-75; Mk. xiv. 43-72; Lu. xxii. 47-71.

- 18 [Having said these] things, [Jesus] went out, with his disciples, across the winter-torrent of the Kedron,<sup>a</sup> where was a garden,—<sup>b</sup> into which he entered, [he] and his disciples.
- 2 Now [Judas also] who was delivering him up, knew' the place; because [oft] had Jesus been gathered there, with his disciples. <sup>3</sup> [Judas] therefore <receiving the band, and officers [from among the High-priests and [from among] the Pharisees]> cometh thither, with lights and torches and weapons. <sup>4</sup> [Jesus] therefore, [knowing all] the things coming upon him, went forth, and saith unto them—
[Whom] seek ye?
- 5 They answered him—
Jesus, the Nazarene.
He saith unto them—
[I] am he.
- Now Judas also, who was delivering him up, was standing with them. <sup>6</sup> <When, therefore, he said unto them [I] am he> they went backwards, and fell to the ground.
- 7 [Again] therefore, he questioned them—
[Whom] seek ye?
And [they] said—
Jesus, the Nazarene.
- 8 Jesus answered—
I told you [I] am he [If, then, ye seek me] let these go their way:—
<sup>9</sup> that the word might be fulfilled' which he had said—
<As touching them whom thou hast given me> I lost from among them, [not so much as one].<sup>c</sup>
- 10 [Simon Peter, therefore, having a sword] drew it, and smote the High-priest's servant, and cut off his right ear. Now the name of the servant was Malchus. <sup>11</sup> Jesus, therefore, said unto Peter—Thrust the sword into its sheath:—
<The cup<sup>d</sup> which the Father hath given me> shall I in anywise not drink it?
- 12 [The band, therefore, and the captain, and the officers of the Jews] apprehended Jesus,<sup>e</sup> and bound him, <sup>13</sup> and led him unto Annas, first; for he was father-in-law of Caiaphas, who was the High-priest of that year. <sup>14</sup> Now Caiaphas was he that gave counsel' unto the Jews, that it was profitable for [one] man to die in behalf of the people.<sup>f</sup> <sup>15</sup> And Simon Peter<sup>h</sup> was following with Jesus, also another' disciple. But [that disciple] was known unto the High-priest, and entered in, with Jesus, into the court of the High-priest;
- 16 whereas [Peter] remained standing at the door outside. The other disciple, therefore, that was known of the High-priest [went out] and spake unto the portress, and brought in Peter. <sup>17</sup> The female servant, therefore, the portress, saith unto Peter—

Art [thou also] from among the disciples of this man?
[He] saith—

I am not!

<sup>18</sup> Now the servants and the officers were standing by, having made [a coal fire] because it was cold,—and were warming themselves; and Peter also was with them, standing and warming himself.

<sup>19</sup> [The High-priest], therefore, questioned Jesus concerning his disciples, and concerning his teaching. <sup>20</sup> Jesus answered him—

[I] [openly] have spoken [unto the world],—
[I] [ever] taught [in synagogue, and in the temple, where all the Jews' gather together]; and [in secret] spake nothing:

<sup>21</sup> Why questionest thou me? question them who have heard, what I spake unto them.

See! [these] know what [I] said.

<sup>22</sup> And <when [these things] he had said> [one of the officers who was standing by] gave a smart blow to Jesus, saying—[Thus] answerest thou [the High-priest]?

<sup>23</sup> Jesus answered him—
<[If [with abuse] I spake]> bear witness of the abuse;

But <[if with respect]> [why] smitest thou me?

Art [thou also] from among his disciples?

[He] denied, and said—

I am not!

§ 25. Jesus before Pilate. Mt. xxvii. 1;

Mk. xv. 1; Lu. xxiii. 1.

<sup>28</sup> So they lead Jesus from Caiaphas unto the judgment-hall. Now it was early; and

[they themselves] entered not into the judgment-hall, that they might not be defiled, but might eat the passover. <sup>29</sup> Pilate, therefore, went forth outside unto them, and saith—

What accusation bring ye against this man?

<sup>30</sup> They answered and said unto him—

<[If this one had not been doing [mischief]>
[unto thee] had we not delivered him up.

<sup>31</sup> Pilate, therefore, said unto them—

[Ye] take him, and [according to your law] judge ye him.

The Jews said unto him—

[Unto us] it is not allowed, to kill anyone!—

<sup>32</sup> that [the word of Jesus] might be fulfilled,

which he spake, signifying [by what manner] of death [he was about to die].<sup>a</sup>

<sup>33</sup> Pilate, therefore, entered again into the judgment hall; and addressed Jesus, and said unto him—

Art [thou] the king of the Jews?

[Of thyself] art [thou] this' thing saying; or did [others] tell thee concerning me?

Am [I] [a Jew]? [Thine own' nation, and the High-priests] delivered thee up [unto me]! [What] hast thou done?

[My' kingdom] is not of this world:

<[If [of this world] had been my' kingdom]>
[mine own officers] would have been striving, that I should not be delivered up unto the Jews:

But [now] [my' kingdom] is not from hence.

<sup>37</sup> Pilate, therefore, said unto him—

And yet [thou] art [not a king]?

Jesus answered—

[Thou] sayest, that [a king] I am:—<sup>b</sup>

[I] [for this] have been born, and [for this] have come into the world,—that I may bear witness unto the truth:

[Every' one who is of the truth] hearkeneth unto my' voice.

<sup>38</sup> Pilate saith unto him—

[What] is truth?

And [this saying] [again] went he out to the Jews, and saith unto them—

[I] find in him [not a single] fault.

<sup>39</sup> Howbeit ye have [a custom],<sup>c</sup> that [some one] I should release unto you, [during the pass-over]:—

Are ye minded, then, that I release unto you the king of the Jews?

<sup>40</sup> So they cried aloud again, saying—

Not this' man, but Barabbas!

Now [Barabbas] was [a robber].

<sup>19</sup> Then Pilate, therefore, took Jesus, and scourged him. <sup>2</sup> And [the soldiers], plaiting a crown out of thorns, placed it upon his head,<sup>d</sup>

and [a purple robe] cast they about him; <sup>3</sup> and kept coming unto him, and saying—

Joy to thee! O King of the Jews!—

and were giving unto him smart blows.

See! I lead him unto you outside, that ye may take knowledge, that [no single] fault [do I find in him].

<sup>5</sup> Jesus, therefore, came forth outside, wearing the thorn' crown, and the purple' mantle. And he saith unto them—

Lo! the Man!

<sup>6</sup> <When, therefore, the High-priests and the officers saw him> they cried aloud, saying—Crucify! Crucify! <sup>e</sup>

<sup>b</sup> Or (WH): "Dost [thou] say that I am a king?" Or (tr): "Thou sayest it, because I am a king."

<sup>c</sup> Mt. xxvii. 15; Mk. xv. 6;

<sup>e</sup> Mt. xxvii. 23.

- Pilate saith unto them—
 ¶ Ye take him, and crucify; for I find not in him a fault.
- 7 The Jews answered him—
 ¶ We have a law, and according to the law he ought to die, because Son of God himself he made.
- 8 <When therefore Pilate heard this word> he was the more afraid; 9 and entered into the judgment-hall again, and saith unto Jesus—¶ Whence art thou?
 But Jesus gave him no answer. 10 Pilate, therefore, saith unto him—¶ Unto me dost thou not speak?
 Knowest thou not, that authority have I to release thee, and authority have I to crucify thee?
- 11 Jesus answered him—
 Thou couldst have had no authority against me at all, if it had not been given unto thee from above.
 ¶ Therefore [he that delivered me unto thee] hath greater sin.
- 12 ¶ For this cause [Pilate] began seeking to release him; but the Jews cried aloud saying—<If this man thou release> thou art not a friend of Cæsar, for every one who maketh himself king speaketh against Cæsar.
- 13 ¶ Pilate therefore, <when he heard these words> led Jesus outside, and sat down upon a raised seat, in a place called Pavement, but [in Hebrew] Gabbatha. 14 Now it was the preparation of the passover,—it was about the sixth hour. And he saith unto the Jews—
 See! your King!
- 15 ¶ They therefore, cried aloud—
 Away! away! Crucify him!
 Pilate saith unto them—
 ¶ Your king shall I crucify?
 The High-priests answered—
 We have no king but Cæsar!
- 15 ¶ Then therefore, he delivered him up unto them, that he might be crucified.

§ 26. The Crucifixion. Mt. xxvii. 32 ff.; Mk. xv. 21 ff.; Lu. xxiii. 26 ff.

They took possession, therefore, of Jesus. 17 And <bearing for himself the cross> he went forth unto the so-called Skull-place, which is named, in Hebrew, Golgotha; 18 where [him] they crucified; and [with him] other two, on this side and on that, and [in the midst] Jesus. 19 And Pilate wrote a title also, and placed on the cross; and there was written—

JESUS, THE NAZARENE, THE KING OF THE JEWS.

20 ¶ This title, therefore, read many of the Jews, because [near] was the place to the city where Jesus was crucified; and it was written in Hebrew, in Latin, in Greek. 21 The High-priests of the Jews, therefore, were saying unto Pilate—

* Emphasis of official dignity.

Do not be writing The King of the Jews; but that [he] said [King of the Jews] I am.

22 Pilate answered—

¶ What I have written I have written!

23 ¶ The soldiers, therefore, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments* and made four parts, [unto each soldier] a part; [also the tunic]. Howbeit, the tunic was without seam, [from above] woven throughout. 24 They said, therefore, one to another—

Let us not rend it, but cast lots for it, [whose] it shall be;—

that [the Scripture] might be fulfilled—
They parted my garments amongst them,

*And [for my vestment] they cast lots:—**

¶ yea verily [the soldiers] these things did.

25 And there were standing by the cross of Jesus, his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary the Magdalene.

26 ¶ Jesus, therefore, <seeing his mother and the disciple whom he loved> saith unto his mother—

O woman, see! thy son!

27 ¶ Afterwards [he saith unto the disciple—

See! thy mother!

And [from that hour] the disciple took her unto his own home.

28 ¶ After this Jesus <knowing that [already, all things] have been finished,—that the Scripture might be fulfilled> saith—

I thirst!

29 ¶ A vessel was standing, full [of vinegar]. <A sponge, therefore, full of the vinegar,* put about [hyssop]> brought they unto his mouth.

30 <When, therefore, he had received the vinegar> Jesus said—

It is finished!

and, bowing his head, delivered up his spirit.

31 ¶ The Jews, therefore, <since it was [a preparation], that the bodies might not remain upon the cross during the Sabbath,—for that Sabbath day* was [great]> requested Pilate that their legs might be broken, and they be taken away.

32 The soldiers, therefore, came; and [of the first, indeed] brake the legs, and of the other who was crucified with him,—33 but coming [unto Jesus] <when they saw that [already] he was dead> they brake not his legs;—34 but [one of the soldiers] [with a spear] pierced [his side], and there came out, straightway, [blood and water].

35 And [he that hath seen] hath borne witness; and [genuine] is his testimony, and [he] knoweth that he saith [what is true], that [ye also] may believe. 36 For these things came to pass, that [the Scripture] might be fulfilled—

[A bone thereof] shall not be crushed†;

37 and [again] a [different] Scripture saith—

*They shall look unto* him whom they pierced.†*

§ 27. The Burial. Mt. xxvii. 57-61;

Mk. xv. 42-47; Lu. xxiii. 50-56.

<sup>38</sup> But [after these things] Joseph from Arimathea <being a disciple of Jesus, but having kept it secret for fear of the Jews> requested Pilate, that he might take away the body of Jesus; and Pilate gave permission. He came, therefore, and took away his body. <sup>39</sup> There came, moreover, Nicodemus also,—he that came unto him by night at the first,—bearing a roll<sup>a</sup> of myrrh and aloes, about a hundred pounds' weight. <sup>40</sup> So they received the body of Jesus, and bound it in linen-bandages with the spices,—just as it is [a custom] with the Jews to prepare for burial.

<sup>41</sup> Now there was, in the place where he was crucified, [a garden]; and [in the garden] an unused tomb, wherein [as yet] no one had been laid. <sup>42</sup> So [there] <by reason of the preparation of the Jews, because [near] was the tomb> laid they Jesus.

§ 28. The Resurrection. Jesus appears to his Disciples. Mt. xxviii. 1-10; Mk. xvi. 1-11; Lu. xxiv. 1-12.

<sup>20</sup> But [on the first day of the week] [Mary the Magdalene] cometh early, while it is yet [dark], unto the tomb,—and beholdeth the stone, already taken away out of the tomb. <sup>2</sup> She runneth, therefore, and cometh unto Simon Peter, and unto the other' disciple whom Jesus dearly loved, and saith unto them—

They have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we know not where they have laid him.

<sup>3</sup> Peter, therefore, went out, and the other' disciple,—and they were going unto the tomb; and the two were running together, and [the other' disciple] outran<sup>b</sup> Peter, and came first unto the tomb; <sup>4</sup> and, stooping aside, beholdeth, lying, the linen-bandages, [nevertheless] he entered not. <sup>5</sup> So Simon Peter also cometh, following him, and entered into the tomb, and vieweth the linen-bandages lying,—<sup>7</sup> and the napkin, which was upon his head, not [with the linen-bandages] lying, but apart, folded up into one' place. <sup>8</sup> [Then] entered, therefore, the other' disciple also, who had come first unto the tomb, and he saw and believed. <sup>9</sup> For [not yet] knew they the Scripture, that he must needs [from among the dead] [arise]. <sup>10</sup> The disciples, therefore, departed again, by themselves.

<sup>11</sup> Howbeit [Mary] remained standing against the tomb, outside, weeping. So then [as she wept] she stooped aside into the tomb, <sup>12</sup> and beholdeth two' messengers, [in white garments] sitting, one at the head, and the other at the feet, where had been lying the body of Jesus. <sup>13</sup> And [they] say unto her—

Woman! why weepest thou?

She saith unto them—

They have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

<sup>a</sup> Or (WH): "mixture."

<sup>14</sup> [These things saying] she turned round, and seeth Jesus standing, and knew not that it was [Jesus]. <sup>15</sup> Jesus saith unto her—

Woman! why weepest thou? Whom seekest thou?

[She] <supposing he was [the gardener]> saith unto him—

Sir! <[if] [thou] hast borne him hence> tell me where thou hast laid him; and [I] will take him away.

<sup>16</sup> Jesus saith unto her—

Mary!

[She] turning' saith unto him, in Hebrew—

Rabboni! which meaneth [Teacher].

Be not detaining me,<sup>a</sup> for [not yet] have I ascended unto the Father;

But be going unto my disciples, and say unto them—

I am ascending unto my Father and your Father, and my God and your God.

<sup>18</sup> Mary the Magdalene cometh, bringing tidings unto the disciples—

I have seen the Lord!

and that these things he had said unto her.

<sup>19</sup> <It being late, therefore, on that day, the first of the week,—<sup>b</sup> and [the doors] having been made fast where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews> Jesus came, and stood in<sup>c</sup> the midst, and saith unto them—

Peace be unto you!

<sup>20</sup> and [this] saying he pointed out both his hands and his side unto them. The disciples, therefore, rejoiced, seeing the Lord.

<sup>21</sup> Jesus,<sup>d</sup> therefore, said unto them [again]—

Peace be unto you!

<Just as [my Father] sent me' forth>

[I also] send you'.

<sup>22</sup> And [this] saying, he breathed strongly, and saith unto them—

Receive ye Holy Spirit:—

<sup>23</sup> <Whosoever sins ye shall remit>

They are remitted unto them,

<Whosoever ye shall retain>

They are retained.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>24</sup> But [Thomas, one of the twelve, the one called Didymus] was not with them when Jesus came. <sup>25</sup> The other' disciples, therefore, were saying unto him—

We have seen the Lord!

But [he] said unto them—

<Except I see [in his hands] the print of the nails, and press my finger into the print of the nails, and press my hand into his side> in nowise will I believe.

<sup>26</sup> And [eight days after] his disciples again' were within, and Thomas with them. Jesus cometh—the doors having been made fast—and stood in<sup>f</sup> the midst, and said—

Peace be unto you!

<sup>a</sup> Or (ml): "Be not clinging to me"; "Do not continue to cling" (Donaldson, Gr. Gram., 3rd ed., p. 414): removing what many have felt to be a difficulty.

<sup>27</sup> ¶ Then saith he unto Thomas—

Reach thy finger hither, and see my hands, and reach thy hand, and press into my side,—and become not disbelieving, but believing.

<sup>28</sup> Thomas answered, and said unto him—

My Lord, and my God!

<sup>29</sup> Jesus saith unto him—

<Because thou hast seen me> hast thou believed?

¶ Happy they who have not seen, and yet have believed!

<sup>30</sup> ¶ Many other signs, doubtless, did Jesus, in presence of the disciples, which are not written in this book; <sup>31</sup> but these are written, that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye may have life in his name.

§ 29. Manifestation at the Lake of Tiberias.

<sup>21</sup> ¶ After these things Jesus manifested himself again, unto the disciples, by the sea of Tiberias; and manifested himself thus:—

<sup>2</sup> There were together, Simon Peter, and Thomas, who was called Didymus, and Nathanael, who was from Cana of Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and two other of his disciples.

<sup>3</sup> Simon Peter saith unto them—

I go a fishing!

They say unto him—

¶ We also go with thee!

They went out, and got up into the boat, and during that night they caught nothing.

<sup>4</sup> But <morning' by this' time drawing on> Jesus stood upon the beach; nevertheless the disciples knew not that it was Jesus.

<sup>5</sup> Jesus, therefore, saith unto them—

Children! perhaps ye have nothing to eat?

They answered him—

No.

<sup>6</sup> And he said unto them—

Cast the net on the right side of the boat, — and ye shall find.

They cast, therefore; and no longer were they able to draw it, for the multitude of the fishes.

<sup>7</sup> That disciple, therefore, whom Jesus loved, saith unto Peter—

It is the Lord!

¶ Simon Peter, therefore, hearing that it was the Lord, girded about him [his upper garment],—for he was naked; <sup>8</sup> and cast himself into the sea; but the other disciples came by the little boat, —for they were not farther from the land than about two hundred cubits off,—dragging the net of fishes.

<sup>9</sup> So when they got out upon the land they behold a coal fire lying, and fish lying over, and bread.

<sup>10</sup> Jesus saith unto them—

Bring of the fish which ye caught just now.

<sup>11</sup> Simon Peter, therefore, went on board, and drew the net on to the land,—full of large fishes, a hundred and fifty-three; and though they were so many the net was not rent. <sup>12</sup> Jesus saith unto them—

Come! break your fast.

¶ Not one of the disciples was venturing to ask
him—

Who art thou?

knowing that it was the Lord. <sup>13</sup> Jesus cometh, and taketh the bread, and giveth unto them; and the fish [in like manner].

<sup>14</sup> ¶ This already is the third time Jesus was manifested unto the disciples, after he was raised from among the dead.

§ 30. Peter restored to his Apostleship. Conclusion.

<sup>15</sup> <When, therefore, they had broken their fast>
Jesus saith unto Simon Peter—

Simon, son of John! lovest thou me more than these?

He saith unto him—

Yea, Lord! thou knowest that I am fond
of thee,

He saith unto him—

Be feeding my lambs.

<sup>16</sup> He saith unto him again, the second time—
Simon, son of John! lovest thou me?

He saith unto him—

Yea, Lord! thou knowest that I am fond
of thee.

He saith unto him—

Be shepherding my sheep.

<sup>17</sup> He saith unto him the third time—

Simon, son of John! art thou fond of me?

Peter was grieved, that he said unto him the third time. Art thou fond of me? and he said unto him—

Lord! all things thou knowest: thou perceivest that I am fond of thee.

Jesus saith unto him—

Be feeding my sheep.

<sup>18</sup> ¶ Verily, verily I say unto thee—

<When thou wast younger> thou usedst to gird thyself, and to walk whither thou didst choose;

But <when thou shalt become aged> thou shalt stretch out thy hands, and another shall gird thee, and bear thee whither thou dost not choose.

<sup>19</sup> Now [this] he said, signifying [by what manner of death] he should glorify God. And [having said this] he saith unto him—

Be following me.

<sup>20</sup> Peter, turning about, beholdeth the disciple whom Jesus loved, following,—who also reclined during the supper upon his breast, and said— Lord, who is it that is delivering thee up? <sup>21</sup> Peter, therefore, seeing [this one] saith unto Jesus—

Lord! and [this one] what?

<sup>c</sup> MI: "lamblings" = "dear lambs."

<sup>d</sup> MI: "dear sheep" — pro-

latia. Or (WH): simply "sheep" — probata.

<sup>e</sup> 2 P. i. 14.

<sup>f</sup> MI: "was loving." =

"used to love."

<If I will that [he] remain until I come> what is that to thee?

[Thou] be following me'.

<sup>23</sup> This word, therefore, went forth unto the brethren, that [that disciple] should not die. Howbeit, Jesus did not tell him, he should not die; but <If I will that [he] remain until I come> what is that to thee?

<sup>24</sup> [This] is the disciple who beareth witness concerning these things; and we know that [true] is [his witness].

<sup>25</sup> Now there are many other things also, which Jesus did, which, indeed, <if they were to be written one by one> not even the world [itself], I suppose, would contain [the books which must be written].

A SECTION CONCERNING AN ADULTERESS.

<sup>53</sup> [And they went, each unto his own house; <sup>8</sup> but [Jesus] went unto the Mount of Olives.

<sup>2</sup> And [early in the morning] [again] came he into the temple, [and all the people were coming unto him; and, sitting down, he began to teach them]. <sup>3</sup> And the Scribes and the Pharisees bring a woman, caught [in adultery]; and [setting her in the midst] <sup>4</sup> they say unto him—

Teacher! [this] woman [hath been caught in the very] act of committing adultery!

<sup>5</sup> Now [in the law] [Moses] [unto us] gave command to stone [such as these]. What, then, dost [thou] say? <sup>a</sup>

<sup>6</sup> [This] however, they were saying, by way of testing him,—that they might have whereof to accuse him]. But [Jesus] stooping down [with his finger] wrote in the ground. <sup>7</sup> <When, however, they still continued questioning him> he lifted himself up and said [unto them]—

<He of you [that is without sin] let him first cast at her a stone;

<sup>8</sup> and [again] stooping down [he wrote in the ground.

<sup>9</sup> And [they who heard] began to go out, one by one, beginning from the elders,—and he was left [alone]; [the woman also] being [in the midst].

<sup>10</sup> And lifting himself up, Jesus said unto her—

Woman, where are they? hath [no one] condemned thee?

<sup>11</sup> And [she] said— No one, Sir!

And Jesus said—

Neither do [I] condemn thee,—be going thy way:

[Henceforth] be sinning [no more].]

ACTS OF APOSTLES.

§ 1. The Prologue: Jesus appears unto his Disciples, gives them charge, and ascends.

<sup>1</sup> [The first<sup>a</sup> narrative] indeed, made I, concerning all things, O Theophilus, which Jesus [began] both to do and teach,—<sup>2</sup> until the day when <having given command unto the apostles, whom [through Holy Spirit] he had chosen> he was taken up; <sup>3</sup> unto whom he also presented himself alive,<sup>b</sup> after he had suffered, by many sure tokens, [throughout forty days] making himself visible unto them, and speaking the things concerning the kingdom of God.<sup>c</sup> <sup>4</sup> And [being in company with them] he charged them, [from Jerusalem]<sup>d</sup> not to absent themselves, but—

To abide around the promise of the Father which ye have heard of me, <sup>5</sup> Because [John] indeed, immersed with water;

But [ye] [in Holy Spirit] shall be immersed,—<sup>a</sup>

After not many of these days.

<sup>6</sup> [They] therefore, [having come together] began to question him, saying—

Lord! art thou [at this time] duly establishing the kingdom unto Israel?

<sup>7</sup> He said unto them—

It is [not yours] to get to know times or seasons which [the Father] hath put in his own authority;

<sup>8</sup> But ye shall receive power, when the Holy Spirit cometh upon you, and ye shall be my witnesses, both in Jerusalem and [in] all Judaea and Samaria, and as far as the uttermost part of the land.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>9</sup> And having said [these things] [as they were beholding] he was lifted up, and a cloud caught him away from their eyes.<sup>c</sup> <sup>10</sup> And <while they were looking steadfastly into heaven, as he was going his way> then lo! [two men] had

Let [this] unto you' be [known],
 And give ear unto my declarations;

 drunken, for it is the third ho
 day;—

18 And <even upon my men-servants and upon my maid-servants,
In those days> will I pour out of my Spirit,

And they shall prophesy;
19 And I will set forth wonders in the heaven above,
And signs upon the earth beneath,—
Blood, and fire, and vapour of smoke:
20 ¶The sun|| shall be turned into darkness,
And ¶the moon|| into blood,—

Before the coming of the day of the Lord,
the great and manifest [day];
21 And it shall be—

¶Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord|| shall be saved.<sup>a</sup>

22 Ye men of Israel! hear these words:—
<Jesus the Nazarene, a man pointed out of God unto you, by mighty works and wonders and signs, which God did through him, in your midst, just as [ye yourselves] know>

23 ¶The same|| <by the marked-out counsel and foreknowledge of God given up> [through the hands of lawless men] suspending ¶ye slew|| <sup>24</sup> Whom [God] raised up, loosing the pangs of death, inasmuch as it was [not possible] for him to continue held fast by it. <sup>25</sup> For ¶David|| saith concerning him—

I foresaw the Lord, before me, continually,
Because he is [on my right hand], that I may not be shaken;

26 ¶For this reason|| was my heart made glad, and my tongue exulted,—

¶Yea further|| [even my flesh] shall encamp on hope:

27 Because thou wilt not abandon my soul unto hades,

Neither wilt thou give thy man of loving-kindness to see corruption;

28 Thou madest known unto me paths of life.
Thou wilt make me full of gladness with thy countenance.<sup>b</sup>

29 Brethren! it is [allowable] to say with freedom of speech unto you, concerning the patriarch David,—That he both died, and was buried, and [his tomb] is among us until this day.

30 <Being then [a prophet], and knowing that [with an oath] God had sworn unto him [of the fruit of his loins, to seat on his throne]><sup>c</sup>

31 [with foresight] spake he concerning the resurrection of the Christ—

That neither was he abandoned unto hades,

Nor did his flesh see corruption.<sup>b</sup>

32 ¶The same|| Jesus|| hath God raised up, whereof [all] we|| are witnesses!

33 <[By the right hand of God] therefore, having been exalted, Also [the promise of the Holy Spirit] having received from the Father> He hath poured out this which [yourselves] do see and hear.

34 For [David] hath not ascended<sup>a</sup> into the heavens; but he saith [himself]—

Said the Lord unto my Lord,
Sit thou at my right hand,

35 Until I make thy foes thy footstool.<sup>b</sup>

36 ¶Assuredly|| then, let all' the house of Israel know:

That [both Lord and Christ] hath God made him,

Even the same' Jesus whom [ye] crucified!

37 And [when they heard this] they were pricked to the heart, and said unto Peter and the rest' of the apostles—

What are we to do, brethren?

38 And Peter [said] unto them—
Repent ye,

And let each one of you be immersed, in the name of Jesus Christ, into the remission of your sins,—

And ye shall receive the free-gift of the Holy' Spirit;

39 For [unto you] is the promise,
And unto your children,—

And unto all' them who are afar off:

¶As many soever as the Lord our God shall call unto him||.<sup>c</sup>

40 And [with many different' words] bare he full witness, and went on exhorting them saying—

Be saved from this perverse generation!

41 ¶They, therefore, who welcomed his word|| were immersed; and there were added, on that day, about three thousand souls. <sup>42</sup> And they went on to give constant attention—

Unto the teaching of the apostles,
And unto the fellowship,

Unto the breaking of bread,
And unto the prayers.

43 And there came, on every' soul, ¶fear||,<sup>d</sup> and [many' wonders and signs], [through means of the apostles] were coming to pass. <sup>44</sup> And [all' who believed] [with one accord] began to hold all things common; <sup>45</sup> and [their possessions and goods] were they selling, and distributing them unto all [in so far as anyone had need'].

46 And <daily giving attendance with one intent in the temple, and [at home] breaking bread> they were partaking of food with exultation and singleness of heart; <sup>47</sup> praising God, and having favour with all' the people. And

¶the Lord|| was adding them who were being saved [daily] [together].

§ 5. The Lame Man Healed.

3 Now [Peter and John] were going up into the temple, for the hour of prayer—the ninth; <sup>2</sup> and [a certain man] who had been [lame from his mother's womb] was being carried,—whom they used to lay daily at the door of the temple—the [door] called Beautiful, that he might ask alms of them who were entering into the temple:
<sup>3</sup> who <seeing Peter and John about to enter into

Look on us !

<sup>6</sup> And [he] gave heed unto them, expecting to receive [something from them]. <sup>6</sup> But Peter said—

[[Silver and gold]] have I none,

But [[what I have]] [the same] unto thee' do I give :—

<In the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene>

Walk !

<sup>7</sup> And [laying hold of him] by the right' hand [he raised him up; and] [[instantly]] were his feet and ankles strengthened;—<sup>8</sup> and [leaping forward] he stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple [walking, and leaping, and praising God]. <sup>9</sup> And all' the people saw him, walking and praising God ; <sup>10</sup> and they began to recognise him, that [the same] was he who [for the alms] used to sit at the Beautiful' Gate of the temple ;—and they were filled with amazement and transport at what had happened unto him. <sup>11</sup> And <as he held fast Peter and John> all' the people ran together unto them, in the portico which is called Solomon's,—greatly amazed. <sup>12</sup> And Peter [seeing it] made answer unto the people :—

Ye men of Israel !

Why marvel ye at this man ?

Or [upon us] why are ye intently looking, as though [by our own' power or godliness] we had made him walk ?

<sup>14</sup> <The God of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob,—

The God of our fathers><sup>a</sup>

Hath glorified his servant<sup>b</sup> Jesus :—

Whom [ye] indeed delivered up and denied to Pilate's face.

[[When he had adjudged to release him]] ;

<sup>14</sup> But [ye] denied [the Holy and Righteous One],

And claimed a man that was a murderer, to be granted you ;

<sup>15</sup> But [the Princely Leader of Life] ye slew :—

Whom [God] raised from among the dead, whereof [we] are [witnesses].

<sup>16</sup> And [by the faith of his name]

[Unto this man whom ye see and know] hath his name given strength,—

Yea [the faith which is through him] hath given unto him this perfect soundness, over against you all' !

<sup>17</sup> And [now] brethren, I know that [by way of ignorance] ye acted,—

[[Just as even your rulers]].

<what things he had before declared, through the mouth of all' the prophets, for his Christ to suffer> —did [thus] fulfil !

<sup>19</sup> Repent ye, therefore, and turn,—unto the blotting out of your sins ;

To the end that, in that case, there may come seasons of refreshing from the face of the Lord, <sup>20</sup> And he may send forth him who had been fore-appointed for you—

[[Christ Jesus]] :

<sup>21</sup> Unto whom, indeed, heaven must needs give welcome, until the times of the due establishment of all things, of which God hath spoken through the mouth of his holy' age'-past prophets.

[[A prophet]] [unto you] shall the Lord God raise up, from among your brethren, [like unto me] :

[[Unto him]] shall ye hearken, respecting all things, whatsoever he shall speak unto you ;

<sup>23</sup> And it shall be—

<Every' soul, whatsoever, which shall not hearken unto that prophet>

Shall be utterly destroyed from among the people.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>24</sup> But, indeed [all' the prophets]—

<From Samuel and those following after, as many as have spoken>

Have even announced these days.

<sup>25</sup> [[Ye]] are the sons of the prophets, and of the covenant which God covenanted unto your<sup>b</sup> fathers, saying unto Abraham—

And [in thy seed] shall be blessed,

[[All' the families of the ground]].<sup>c</sup>

<sup>26</sup> [[Unto you, first]] God—

Having raised up his Servant—

Hath sent him forth, ready to bless you,

[[When ye are turning away, each one, from your wickednesses]].

§ 6. The Arrest of Peter and John.

<sup>4</sup> But [as they were speaking] unto the people [the High-priests<sup>d</sup> and the Captain of the temple and the Sadducees, came upon them, <sup>2</sup> being tired out because of their teaching the people, and announcing [in Jesus] the resurrection from among the dead ; <sup>3</sup> and they thrust on them their hands, and put them in custody for the morrow, for it was evening [already]. <sup>4</sup> Howbeit [many of them that heard the word] believed ; and the number of the men became about five thousand.

<sup>5</sup> And it came to pass, upon the morrow, that there were gathered together of them, the rulers and the elders and the scribes, in Jerusalem ; <sup>6</sup> also Annas, the high-priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of high-priestly descent ;—<sup>7</sup> and [setting them in the midst] they began to enquire—

[[In what manner of power, or in what manner' of name] did [ye] do this ?

<sup>8</sup> [[Then Peter, filled with Holy Spirit]] said unto them—

Ye rulers of the people, and elders !

<sup>9</sup> <If [we] this day, are to be examined for doing good to a sick man,—

[[In whom]] [this] man hath been made well>

10 Be it |known| unto you all, and unto all' the people of Israel:

That <in the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene,—

Whom ||ye|| crucified,

Whom |God| raised from among the dead>

||In him|| doth |this| man stand by, in your presence, ||whole||.

11 ||This|| is the stone, set at nought by you the builders,

Which became the head of the corner<sup>a</sup>;

12 And there is |in no one else| ||salvation||, For ||neither is there any other name|| under heaven,

Which hath been set forth among men,

In which we must needs be saved.

13 And <looking at |Peter's| boldness of speech, and John's, and having discovered that they were |unlettered' and obscure men|> they began to marvel, recognising them also, that they had been |with Jesus|; <sup>14</sup><seeing |the man also| standing with them, even the [man] who had been cured> they had |nothing| wherewith to contradict. <sup>15</sup>Howbeit <ordering them to go forth |outside the high-council|> they began to confer one with another, <sup>16</sup>saying—

What are we to do with these men?

For, indeed, <that a notable sign hath come to pass through their means> ||unto all' who are dwelling in Jerusalem|| is manifest, and we cannot deny [it]!

17 Nevertheless <lest it further' spread abroad among the people> let us charge them with threats, to be |no more| speaking upon this name ||to any soul of man||.<sup>b</sup>

18 And |calling them| they gave them the sweeping charge,— Not to be sounding aloud |nor even to be teaching| ||upon the name of Jesus||. <sup>19</sup>But ||Peter and John|| |answering| said unto them—

<Whether it be |right| in presence of God

||Unto you|| to be hearkening |rather than unto God| judge!

20 For ||we|| cannot' but be speaking |the things which we have seen and heard|!

21 |They| however, |further charging them with threats| let them go, finding |nothing| as to how they might chastise them, on account of the people; because ||all|| were glorifying God for that which had come to pass;—<sup>22</sup>for ||more than forty years' old|| was the man, upon whom had taken place ||this healing sign||.

§ 7. The Apostles Triumphant.

23 But |when they had been let go| they came unto their own [friends], and told as many things as ||unto them|| |the High-priests and Elders| had said. <sup>24</sup>And |they, having heard| ||with one accord|| uplifted a voice unto God, and said—

O Sovereign!<sup>c</sup>

||Thou|| art he that made the heaven, and the earth, and the sea, and all things that are therein:<sup>a</sup>

25 Who <by our father, through means of the Holy Spirit, even by the mouth of David thy servant> said—

Unto what end did nations rage,

And |peoples| busy themselves with empty things?

26 The kings of the earth |stationed themselves|, And |the rulers| were gathered together, with one intent,

||Against the Lord,

And against his Christ||.<sup>b</sup>

27 For they were gathered together, of a truth, in this city, against thy holy' servant Jesus, whom thou hadst anointed,—||both Herod, and Pontius Pilate, with them of the nations, and peoples of Israel||;—<sup>28</sup>to do whatsoever |thy hand and thy counsel| marked out beforehand to come to pass.

29 ||As to the present things||, then, O Lord,— Look upon their threats, and grant unto thy servants |with all freedom of utterance| to be speaking thy word, <sup>30</sup>by stretching forth thy hand' for healing, and by the coming to pass |of both signs and wonders| ||through the name of thy holy servant Jesus||.

31 And |when they had made supplication| the place was shaken in which they were gathered together, and they were filled, one and all, with the Holy' Spirit, and began speaking the word of God with freedom of utterance.

32 And |the throng of them that believed| had one heart and soul, and not so much as one was saying that |aught of his goods| was |his own|, but they had all things common. <sup>33</sup>And |with great power| were the apostles giving forth their witness of the resurrection |of the Lord Jesus|; great favour also was upon them all'.

34 For there was not so much as anyone |lacking| among them; for ||as many as were possessors of lands or houses|| |selling them| were bringing the prices of the things that were being sold, <sup>35</sup>and laying them at the feet of the Apostles, while on the other hand they were distributing unto each one, in so far as any one had |need|. <sup>36</sup>And <Joseph, who had been surnamed Barnabas, by the Apostles, which is to be translated Son of Exhortation,— a Levite, a Cyprian by nation> <sup>37</sup>|having a field| sold it, and brought the money, and laid it at the feet of the Apostles.

§ 8. Ananias and Sapphira.

5 But  sold a possession, <sup>2</sup>and kept back part of the price, his wife also being privy' to it; and ||bringing a certain part|| |at the feet of the Apostles| he laid it. <sup>3</sup>But Peter said—

Ananias! wherefore did Satan fill thy heart, that thou shouldst deal falsely with the Holy Spirit, and keep back part of the price of the field?

- <sup>4</sup> ¶ While it remained was it not as thine own? it remained? and ¶ when sold was it not in thine own authority that it still continued? Why was it that thou didst contrive in thy heart this deed?

Thou hast not dealt falsely with men but with God.

- <sup>5</sup> And as Ananias heard these words he fell, and expired. And there came great fear upon all that heard; <sup>6</sup> but the young men rising up wrapped him about, and, bearing him forth, buried him. <sup>7</sup> <And it came to pass, after about three hours' interval> that his wife, not knowing what had happened, came in. <sup>8</sup> And Peter began to say unto her—

Tell me! was it for so much ye gave up the field?

And she said—
Yea! for so much.

- <sup>9</sup> And Peter said unto her—

Why was it agreed by you to put to the proof the Spirit of the Lord?

Lo! the feet of them that have buried thy husband are at the door, and they shall bear thee forth.

- <sup>10</sup> And she fell instantly at his feet, and expired.

And the young men coming in found her dead; and, bearing her forth, they buried her with her husband. <sup>11</sup> And there came great fear upon the whole assembly, and upon all them that heard these things.

§ 9. Further Triumphs.

- <sup>12</sup> And through the hands of the Apostles were coming to pass many signs and wonders, among the people; and they were all with one accord in the portico of Solomon;—<sup>13</sup> howbeit of the rest no one durst join himself unto them,—nevertheless the people continued to magnify them; <sup>14</sup> and the more were being added when they believed in the Lord throngs both of men and women;—<sup>15</sup> so that even into the broad-ways were they bringing forth the sick, and laying them on small couches and beds, in order that if Peter were coming along even perchance his shadow might overshadow some one of them. <sup>16</sup> Moreover even the throng of the cities all round Jerusalem was coming together, bearing sick folk, and such as were harassed by impure spirits,—who indeed, were being cured one and all.

§ 10. The Authorities, foiled, are advised by Gamaliel.

- <sup>17</sup> But the High-priest arising, and all who were with him,—being the sect of the Sadducees,—were filled with jealousy, <sup>18</sup> and thrust their hands upon the Apostles, and put them in a public ward. <sup>19</sup> But a messenger of the Lord by night opened the doors of the prison; and leading them out said—

- <sup>20</sup> Be going your way, and taking your stand be speaking, in the temple, unto the people, all the declarations of this Life.

- <sup>21</sup> Now when they heard this they entered under the dawn into the temple, and began teaching.

And the High-priest and they who were with him arriving called together the high-council, and all the senate of the sons of Israel; and sent off unto the prison, to have them brought.

- <sup>22</sup> And the officers who came to the place found them not in the prison; and, returning, brought tidings, <sup>23</sup> saying—

¶ The prison found we locked with all safety, and the keepers standing at the doors; but when we had opened the prison inside found we no one.

- <sup>24</sup> Now when both the captain of the temple and the High-priests heard these words they were utterly at a loss concerning them—what perhaps this might come to. <sup>25</sup> But some one entering brought tidings unto them—

Lo! the men whom ye put in the prison are in the temple, standing, and teaching the people!

- <sup>26</sup> ¶ Then the captain with the officers departing brought them—not with violence,—for they were afraid of the people, lest they should be stoned; <sup>27</sup> but, leading them in, set them in the high-council. And the High-priest questioned them, <sup>28</sup> saying—

Strictly did we charge you not to be teaching upon this name; and lo! ye have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and are minded to bring down upon us the blood of this man.

- <sup>29</sup> But Peter and the Apostles answering said—
It is needful to be yielding obedience unto God rather than unto men:—

- <sup>30</sup> ¶ The God of our fathers hath raised up Jesus,—whom ye got into your hands, suspending him upon a tree:—

- <sup>31</sup> ¶ Him, as Prince-leader and Saviour hath God exalted unto his right hand,—to give repentance unto Israel, and remission of sins.

- <sup>32</sup> And we are witnesses of these things,—also the Holy Spirit, which God hath given unto them who are yielding obedience unto him.

- <sup>33</sup> And they when they heard this, were cut to the heart, and were making up their minds to slay them. <sup>34</sup> But a certain man, rising up in the high-council, by name Gamaliel, a law-teacher honoured by all the people, gave orders to put the men outside, for a little,—<sup>35</sup> and said unto them—

Men of Israel!

Be taking heed unto yourselves, what ye are about to inflict upon these men.

- <sup>36</sup> For before these days there rose up one Theudas, affirming himself to be somebody,—unto whom was inclined a number of men, about four hundred; who was slain, and all as many as had been trusting in him were disbanded, and came to nothing.

- <sup>37</sup> ¶ After him rose up Judas the Galilean, in the days of the enrolling, and drew a people into revolt after him; and [he] perished, and [all] as many as had trusted in him were scattered.

<sup>28</sup> [Now, therefore] I say unto you—Stand aloof from these men, and let them alone; because <[if] of men be this project or this work> it will be overthrown,—<sup>29</sup> but <[if] it is [of God]> ye will not be able to overthrow them; lest once [even fighters against God] ye be found.

<sup>40</sup> And they were persuaded by him; and [calling] unto them the Apostles they [with beating] charged them not to be speaking upon the name of Jesus; and let them go.

<sup>41</sup> [They] therefore went rejoicing from the presence of the high-council; in that they had been accounted worthy [in behalf of The Name] to suffer dishonour. <sup>42</sup> And <every' day in the temple, and at home> they ceased not to be teaching, and telling the good news as to the Anointed' Jesus.

§ 11. Murmuring among the Disciples: Seven chosen to minister.

<sup>6</sup> But [in these days] <the disciples [multiply- ing]> there arose a murmuring of the Grecian Jews against the Hebrews, in that [their widows] were being overlooked in the daily ministry. <sup>2</sup> And the Twelve, calling near the throng of the disciples, said—

It doth not seem [right] that [we], forsaking the word of God, should be ministering unto tables.

<sup>3</sup> But look out for yourselves, brethren, seven men from among you, who can be well- attested, full of Spirit and wisdom,—whom we will appoint over this need;

<sup>4</sup> But [we] <unto prayer and unto the ministry of the word> will give constant attention.

<sup>5</sup> And the word [was pleasing] in the sight of all' the throng; and they selected Stephen, a man full of faith and Holy Spirit, and Philip and Prochorus and Nicanor and Timon and Parmenas and Nicholas, a proselyte of Antioch; <sup>6</sup> whom they set before the Apostles, and [praying] they laid upon them their hands. <sup>7</sup> And [the word of God] went on growing, and the number of the disciples in Jerusalem continued to multiply [exceedingly]; [a great' multitude of the priests also] were becoming obedient unto the faith.

§ 12. Stephen stirs up Opposition.

<sup>8</sup> Now [Stephen] [full of favour and power] began to do great wonders and signs among the people. <sup>9</sup> But there rose up certain of those out of the synagogue which is called [the synagogue] of them of Libertium and Cyrene and Alexandria, and certain of them from Cilicia and Asia,—disputing with Stephen; <sup>10</sup> and they could not withstand the wisdom and the Spirit with which he was speaking. <sup>11</sup> [Then] they set on men who were saying—

We have heard him speaking profane<sup>a</sup> things against Moses and God.

<sup>12</sup> And they stirred up<sup>b</sup> the people and the elders and the scribes; and [coming upon him] they caught him away, and led him into the high-council. <sup>13</sup> And they set up false witnesses, who said—

[This man] ceaseth not speaking things against this<sup>c</sup> holy place and the law; <sup>14</sup> for we have heard him saying—

[This Jesus the Nazarene] will overthrow this place, and will change the customs which [Moses] delivered unto us.

<sup>15</sup> And [looking steadfastly at him] [all' they who were sitting in the high-council] saw his face, as if the face of a messenger.<sup>d</sup>

§ 13. Stephen's Defence and Martyrdom.

<sup>7</sup> And the High-priest said—

Are these things [so]?

<sup>2</sup> And [he] said—

Brethren and fathers, hearken!

[The God of Glory]<sup>e</sup> appeared unto our father Abraham, while he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Haran,—<sup>3</sup> and said unto him—

Get thee forth, out of thy land, and from among thy kindred, and come unto the land which<sup>f</sup> I unto thee I will point out.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>4</sup> [Then] [coming forth out of the land of the Chaldeans] he dwelt in Haran; and <[from thence, when his father was dead]> he removed him into this land, in which [ye] now dwell; <sup>5</sup> and gave him no inheritance therein, [not even a place to set his foot on]<sup>h</sup>; and yet promised to give it unto him in possession, and unto his seed after him,<sup>i</sup> [when as yet he had not a child]. <sup>6</sup> But God [spake thus]—

His seed shall be a sojourner in a foreign land, and they will bring it into bondage, and ill-treat it four-hundred years; <sup>7</sup> and [the nation unto which they shall be in bondage] will [I] judge<sup>k</sup>— said God;

and [after these things] shall they come forth, and render divine service unto me, in this place.<sup>l</sup>

<sup>8</sup> And he gave unto him a covenant of circum- cision<sup>m</sup>; and [thus] he begat Isaac, and circumcised him on the eighth day,<sup>n</sup> and Isaac, Jacob, and Jacob, the twelve' patri- archs.

<sup>9</sup> And [the patriarchs] [being jealous of Joseph]<sup>o</sup> gave him up into Egypt<sup>p</sup>; and [God] was [with him],<sup>q</sup> and rescued him out of all' his tribulations, and gave him favour and wisdom before Pharaoh king of Egypt; and he who had appeared unto him in the bush];

 in the desert, forty years] <sup>h</sup>:

 And offered sacrifice<sup>n</sup> unto the idol,
 And rejoiced in the works of their hands.

 And the star of the god Rephan,—
 The forms which ye made to bow down
 unto them:

Therefore will I carry you away beyond
 Babylon.<sup>a</sup>

44 ¶The tent of witness<sup>b</sup> was with our fathers in the desert, according as he who was speaking unto Moses gave instructions to make it according to the model which he had seen.<sup>b</sup> hand-made places] dwelleth<sup>f</sup>; just as [the prophet] saith—

49 [Heaven] is my throne,
 And [the earth] is my footstool:
 ¶What manner of house will ye build me,
 saith the Lord,—

Or what shall be the place of my resting?

50 Hath not [my hand] made all these things?<sup>g</sup>

51 <Ye stiff-necked<sup>h</sup> and uncircumcised in hearts and in ears><sup>i</sup>

¶[Ye] [always] [against the Holy Spirit] do strive!<sup>j</sup>

¶As your fathers [ye also]:

52 ¶Which of the prophets did not your fathers persecute?

Yea they slew them who declared beforehand concerning the coming of the Righteous
 One—

Of whom [now] [ye] have become betrayers and murderers!

53 [Who] indeed, received the law through ranks of messengers,—<sup>k</sup>

And guarded it not.

54 And [while they were hearing these things] they were being pierced in their hearts, and began gnashing their teeth against him.

55 But he [being already full of Holy Spirit] [looking steadfastly into heaven] saw the<sup>m</sup> glory of God, and Jesus standing on the right hand of God;
 and said—

Lo! I see the heavens opened,

And the Son of Man, standing [on the right hand of God].

57 And [crying out with a loud voice] they held their ears, and rushed with one accord upon him;

58 and [thrusting him forth outside the city] proceeded to stone him. And [the witnesses] laid their garments at the feet of a young man named Saul. <sup>59</sup> And they stoned Stephen, as he was invoking and saying—

Lord Jesus! give welcome unto my spirit.

60 And [kneeling down] he cried out with a loud
 voice—

Lord! do not charge against them [this' sin].<sup>a</sup>

And [having said this] he fell asleep.

§ 14. New Persecution, headed by Saul of Tarsus.

8 And [Saul] was taking pleasure with them in his death. Moreover there arose, in that day, a great persecution against the assembly which was in Jerusalem; [and] [all] were scattered abroad throughout the countries of Judæa and Samaria, except the apostles. <sup>2</sup> Howbeit reverent men assisted at the burial of Stephen, and made great lamentation over him.

3 But [Saul] went on to lay waste the assembly, [along the houses] going in, and [dragging off both men and women] was delivering them up into prison.

§ 15. Philip preaches in Samaria.

4 ¶They, indeed, therefore, who were scattered abroad passed through, telling the good-news of the word; <sup>5</sup> and [Philip] [going down unto the city of Samaria] proclaimed unto them the Christ. <sup>6</sup> And the multitudes began to give heed unto the things that were being spoken by Philip, with one accord, when they heard him, and saw the signs which he was working. <sup>7</sup> For <from many who had impure spirits> [shouting with a loud voice] they were going out, and [many that were paralysed and lame] were cured. <sup>8</sup> And there came to be great joy in that city.

9 But [a certain man named Simon] was already in the city, practising magical arts, and astonishing the nation of Samaria,—saying that himself was someone great: <sup>10</sup> unto whom all were giving heed, from small even to great, saying—

[This] is the Power of God, which is called Great.

11 And they were giving heed to him, because that [for a considerable time] [with his magical arts] he had astonished them. <sup>12</sup> But <when they believed Philip telling the good news concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ> they proceeded to be immersed, both men and women. <sup>13</sup> And [Simon himself also] believed; and [having been immersed] was in constant attendance on Philip,—and <beholding signs and great works of power coming to pass> was astonished.

14 And the Apostles who were in Jerusalem <hearing that Samaria had welcomed the word of God> sent out unto them Peter and John;
 who, indeed, going down, prayed for them, that they might receive Holy Spirit;—<sup>15</sup> for [not yet] had it [upon any one of them] fallen, but [only, to begin with] they had been immersed into the name of the Lord Jesus. <sup>17</sup> ¶[Then] proceeded they to lay their hands upon them, and they were receiving Holy Spirit.

18 ¶And when they were come to Caesarea, they found certain Jews, called Samaritans, who were sitting in the city.

19 ¶And when Philip was come thither, he opened his mouth, and began to testify
 unto them.

20 ¶And when they were come to Straton's temple, they preached unto them.

21 ¶And when they were come to Jericho,
 they preached unto them.

22 ¶And when they were come to Bethshan, they preached unto them.

23 ¶And when they were come to Samaria,
 they preached unto them.

24 ¶And when they were come to Nicaea,
 they preached unto them.

25 ¶And when they were come to Laodicea,
 they preached unto them.

Arise, and be journeying along southward, unto the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza,—|the same| is desert.

<sup>27</sup> And, arising, he journeyed. And lo!  [who] had come to worship in Jerusalem; <sup>28</sup> and was returning, and |sitting in his chariot| and was reading the prophet Isaiah. <sup>29</sup> And the Spirit said unto Philip—
 Go near, and join thyself unto this chariot!

<sup>30</sup> And |running near| Philip heard him reading Isaiah the prophet, and said—

Dost thou, then, understand what thou art reading?

<sup>31</sup> And |he| said—

How indeed should I be able—unless someone shall guide me?

And he called upon Philip, to come up and sit with him. <sup>32</sup> Now ||the passage of Scripture which he was reading|| was |this|:—

||As a sheep|| |unto slaughter| was he led,
 And <as a lamb, before him that sheareth it, is dumb>
 ||So|| he openeth not his mouth.

<sup>33</sup> ||In his humiliation|| his judgment was taken away,—

<sup>34</sup> And the eunuch |making answer| unto Philip, said—

I pray thee! ||Of whom|| is the prophet saying this?

||Of himself|| or ||of some different person||?

<sup>35</sup> And Philip <opening his mouth, and beginning from this scripture> told him the glad tidings of Jesus. <sup>36</sup> And <as they were journeying along the way> they came unto a certain water,—and the eunuch saith—

Lo! water!

What doth hinder my being immersed? [<sup>37</sup>]

<sup>38</sup> And he commanded the chariot to stand still; and they went down, both, into the water, |both Philip and the eunuch|,—and he immersed him. <sup>39</sup> But <when they came up out of the water> |the Spirit of the Lord| caught away Philip, and |the eunuch| saw him no more; for<sup>b</sup> he was going on his way rejoicing. <sup>40</sup> Now |Philip| was found at Azotus; and |passing through| he was telling the glad tidings unto all the cities, until he came unto Caesarea.

§ 17. The Conversion of Saul. Chap. xxii. 6, ff.; xxvi. 12, ff.

<sup>9</sup> But ||Saul|| <yet breathing<sup>c</sup> threatening and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord> |going unto the High-priest| <sup>2</sup> asked from him letters for Damascus, unto the synagogues; to the end that <if he should find |any| who were of The Way, whether men or women> he might bring them ||bound|| unto Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup> But ||as he was journeying|| it came to pass that he was drawing near unto Damascus, and |suddenly| there flashed around him a light out of heaven;

<sup>4</sup> and |falling unto the earth| he heard a voice saying unto him—
 Saul! Saul! why |me| art thou persecuting?

<sup>5</sup> And he said—

Who art thou, Lord?

And |he| |said|—

||I|| am Jesus, whom |thou|| art persecuting!

<sup>6</sup> But rise up, and enter into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.

<sup>7</sup> But ||the men who were accompanying him|| stood speechless,—hearing, indeed, the voice,<sup>d</sup> but beholding |no| one. <sup>8</sup> And Saul arose from the earth, and |his eyes being opened| he could see |nothing|; and |taking him by the hand| they led him into Damascus,—<sup>9</sup> and he was three days without seeing, and did neither eat nor drink. <sup>10</sup> Now there was a certain disciple in Damascus, by name Ananias; and |the Lord| said unto him in a vision—

Ananias!

and |he| said—

Lo! ||I|| [am here], Lord!

<sup>11</sup> And the Lord |said| unto him—

Rise! go into the street which is called Straight, and seek |in the house of Judas| one Saul, by name, of Tarsus.

For lo! he is praying,—<sup>12</sup> and hath seen a man [in a vision], Ananias by name, coming in and laying on him his hands, to the intent he should see.

Lord! I have heard from many, concerning this man,—[how many evil things unto thy saints] he hath done, in Jerusalem;

<sup>14</sup> And [here] he hath authority from the High-priests, to bind all* them that call upon thy name.

<sup>15</sup> But the Lord said unto him—

Be going thy way; for [a choice vessel unto me] is this man, to bear my name before both [the] nations and kings, and the sons of Israel; <sup>16</sup> for [I] will let him understand how many things he must needs [for my name] [suffer].

<sup>17</sup> And Ananias departed, and entered into the house; and [laying upon him his hands] said—Saul, brother!

[The Lord] hath sent me,—

Jesus, who appeared unto thee in the way by which thou wast coming,—

That thou mayest recover sight, and be filled with Holy Spirit.

<sup>18</sup> And [straightway] there fell from him—from his eyes,—as it were scales; he recovered sight also, and, arising, was immersed; <sup>19</sup> and, receiving food, gained strength. And he came to be with the disciples who were [in Damascus], certain days; <sup>20</sup> and [straightway, in the synagogues] he began proclaiming Jesus, that

[This] is the Son of God.

<sup>21</sup> And all* who were hearing were astonished, and began to say—

Is not [this] he who destroyed, in Jerusalem, them that invoke this name; and [here, for this purpose] had come, in order that he might lead them [bound] unto the High-priests?

<sup>22</sup> But [Saul] was the more gaining power; and was confounding the Jews who dwelt in Damascus, shewing, by comparison,<sup>a</sup> that—

[This] is the Christ.

<sup>23</sup> Now <when a considerable number of days were being fulfilled> the Jews took counsel together to kill him; <sup>24</sup> but their plot was made known unto Saul,—and they were even narrowly watching the gates, both day and night, that they might kill him; <sup>25</sup> but the disciples, taking him by night, [through the wall] let him down, lowering him in a basket.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>26</sup> And [when he had arrived in Jerusalem] he made attempts to join himself unto the disciples; and [all] were afraid of him, not believing that he was a disciple. <sup>27</sup> But [Barnabas] taking him, brought him unto the apostles, and related unto them,—how [in the way] he had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken unto him; and how [in Damascus] he had spoken boldly in the name of Jesus. <sup>28</sup> And he was with them, coming in and going out in Jerusalem, speaking

—prophecies and history.

boldly in the name of the Lord; <sup>29</sup> and was both speaking and discussing with the Grecian Jews,—but [they] were setting to work to kill him.

<sup>30</sup> And the brethren [discovering it] brought him down into Cæsarea, and sent him away unto Tarsus.

<sup>31</sup> So then [the assembly, throughout the whole<sup>c</sup> of Judæa and Galilee and Samaria] had peace, building itself up, and going on its way in the fear of the Lord; and [by the advocacy of the Holy Spirit] was being multiplied.

§ 18. Aeneas healed at Lydda.

<sup>32</sup> And it came to pass that [Peter] going through all [quarters] went down unto the saints also dwelling in Lydda. <sup>33</sup> And he found there a certain man, by name Aeneas, who [for eight years] had been lying prostrate upon a bed, for he was paralysed. <sup>34</sup> And Peter said unto him—Aeneas! Jesus Christ healeth thee!

Arise, and smooth thy bed for thyself.

And [straightway] he arose. <sup>35</sup> And all* who dwelt in Lydda and Saron [saw him],—and [they] turned unto the Lord.

§ 19. Dorcas raised at Joppa.

<sup>36</sup> Now [in Joppa] there was a certain female disciple, by name Tabitha, which, being translated, means Dorcas [a Gazelle]. [The same] was full of good works and alms which she was doing.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>37</sup> And it came to pass, in those days, that she, sickening, died; and, bathing her, they laid her in an upper room. <sup>38</sup> Now <Lydda being [night] unto Joppa> [the disciples] hearing that Peter was therein, sent off two* men unto him, beseeching him—

Do not delay to come through unto us!

<sup>39</sup> And Peter, arising, went with them,—whom [when he arrived] they brought up into the upper room; and there stood by him all* the widows, weeping, and showing the tunics and mantles—whatsoever things [Dorcas] was making while she was with them. <sup>40</sup> But Peter [putting them all outside] knelt down and prayed; and [turning towards the body] said—Tabitha, arise!

And [she] <opening her eyes and seeing Peter> sat up. <sup>41</sup> And [giving her his hand] he raised her up; and, calling the saints and the widows, presented her [living]. <sup>42</sup> And it became [known] throughout the whole of Joppa, and many believed upon the Lord. <sup>43</sup> And it came to pass that [for a considerable number of days] he abode in Joppa, with one Simon, a tanner.

§ 20. Conversion of Cornelius of Cæsarea.

* NB: not full of what she had done.

<sup>4</sup> And [he] <looking steadfastly at him, and becoming full of fear> said—

What is it, Lord?*

And he said unto him—

¶Thy prayers and thine alms have gone up for a memorial before God.

<sup>7</sup> And ¶when the messenger who had been speaking with him had departed ¶<calling two of the domestics, and a devout soldier of them that constantly attended him, and relating everything unto them> he sent them off unto Joppa.

<sup>8</sup> Now <on the morrow, as those men were journeying, and ¶unto the city drawing near> Peter went up on the housetop to pray, about the sixth hour; <sup>9</sup> but he became hungry, and wished to eat,—and ¶while they were making ready there came upon him a trance; <sup>10</sup> and he beheldeth heaven opened, and ¶(coming down) a kind of vessel, like a large linen cloth, ¶by its four corners being let down upon the earth, <sup>11</sup> in which were all the quadrupeds and creeping things of earth and birds of heaven. <sup>12</sup> And there came a voice unto him—

Rise, Peter! sacrifice<sup>c</sup> and eat.

¶By no means! Lord! because ¶[at no time] have I eaten anything common or unclean.

<sup>15</sup> And a voice [came] again, a second time, unto him—

<What things ¶God hath cleansed> be not ¶thou making common.

<sup>16</sup> Now [this] took place thrice; and ¶[straightway] was the vessel taken up into heaven.

<sup>17</sup> And <as ¶within himself Peter was doubting what the vision which he had seen might mean> lo! ¶[the men who had been sent by Cornelius] having sought out the house of Simon stood at the gate, <sup>18</sup> and calling, enquired whether [Simon who was surnamed Peter] was there being entertained. <sup>19</sup> And <as Peter was pondering over the vision> the Spirit said—

Lo! two men, seeking thee.

<sup>20</sup> But rise, go down, and be journeying with them, ¶nothing doubting; because ¶I have sent them.

<sup>21</sup> And Peter, going down unto the men, said—

Lo! ¶I am he whom ye are seeking:

¶What is the cause? for which ye are come?

¶[Cornelius]  hath been divinely instructed by a holy messenger, to send for thee unto his house, and to hear words from thee.

<sup>23</sup> ¶Inviting them in therefore, he entertained them; but ¶[on the morrow] he rose up and went forth with them, and certain of the brethren who were from Joppa went with him;

And ¶[Cornelius] was expecting them, having called together his kinsfolk and intimate friends.

<sup>25</sup> And <when it came about that Peter entered> Cornelius met him, and ¶falling at his feet did homage. <sup>26</sup> But ¶[Peter] raised him up, saying—

Arise! ¶[I also myself] am a man.

<sup>27</sup> And ¶[conversing with him] he went in, and findeth many come together; <sup>28</sup> and said unto them—

¶Ye well know, how ¶[unlawful]<sup>a</sup> it is, for ¶[a Jew] to be joining himself, or coming in, unto one of another race.

And yet ¶[unto me] hath God pointed out that I should be calling ¶[no] man ¶[common or unclean].

<sup>29</sup> Wherefore ¶[even without gainsaying] came I when sent for.

I ask, therefore, ¶[for what reason] ye sent for me.

<Four days ago, counting unto this very hour> I was keeping ¶[the ninth hour] as one of prayer, in my house.

And lo! ¶[a man] stood before me, in bright clothing, <sup>31</sup> and saith—

Cornelius!

Thy prayer ¶[hath been heard],

And ¶[thine alms] have been remembered before God.

<sup>32</sup> Send, therefore, unto Joppa, and fetch Simon, who is surnamed Peter. ¶[The same] is being entertained in the house of one Simon a tanner, by the sea.

<sup>33</sup> ¶Immediately therefore, I sent unto thee; ¶[Thou] also, hast ¶[well] done ¶[in coming]. ¶[Now] therefore, ¶[all] we ¶[before God] are present, to hear all things that have been enjoined upon thee by the Lord.

¶Of a truth I find, that ¶[God] is no respecter of persons;<sup>b</sup> <sup>35</sup> but ¶[in every nation] he that feareth him and worketh righteousness ¶[is acceptable unto him].

<sup>36</sup> <As touching the word he hath sent unto the sons of Israel,<sup>c</sup> announcing the glad tidings of peace<sup>d</sup> through Jesus Christ—[the same] is Lord ¶[of all]> <sup>37</sup> ¶[ye yourselves] know what hath come to pass throughout the whole of Judaea, beginning from Galilee, after the immersion which [John] proclaimed, ¶[respecting Jesus who was of Nazareth]:—

<sup>38</sup> How God ¶[anointed] him with Holy Spirit<sup>e</sup> and with power, Who went about, doing good and healing all that were oppressed by the adversary, because ¶[God] was with him.

God raised up on the third day, and gave him to become manifest, <sup>41</sup> not unto all the people,* but unto witnesses who had been fore-appointed by God, unto us, who, indeed, did eat and drink with him after his rising from among the dead. <sup>42</sup> And he charged us to proclaim unto the people, and bear full witness, that—

¶ This is he that hath been marked out by God to be judge of living and dead.

<sup>43</sup> ¶ Unto the same do all the prophets bear witness. That remission of sins is to be received through his name, by every one that believeth on him.

<sup>44</sup> <While Peter was yet speaking these words> the Holy Spirit fell upon all who were hearing the word. <sup>45</sup> And the faithful of the circumcision who had come with Peter, were amazed,—in that upon the nations also the free-gift of the Holy Spirit had been poured out; <sup>46</sup> for they heard them speaking with tongues, and magnifying God. Then answered Peter—

<sup>47</sup> Surely then the water can no man forbid, that these should not be immersed,—seeing that the Holy Spirit they have received [as well as we].

<sup>48</sup> And he commanded them in the name of Jesus Christ to be immersed. ¶ Then he requested they him, to abide still some days.

§ 21. Peter's defence to Them of the Circumcision.

11 Now the Apostles and the brethren who were throughout Judæa heard that the nations also had welcomed the word of God. <sup>2</sup> And <when Peter came up unto Jerusalem> they of the circumcision began to find fault with him, saying—

He went in unto men [uncircumcised], and did eat with them.

<sup>4</sup> But Peter making a beginning went on to set forth the matter unto them in order, saying—<sup>b</sup>

<sup>5</sup> ¶ I was in the city of Joppa, praying, and saw, in a trance, [a vision]:—[coming down] a sort of vessel, like a large sheet, by four corners being let down out of heaven, and it came even unto me: <sup>6</sup> into which steadfastly looking, I began to observe, and saw the quadrupeds of the earth, and the wild beasts, and the creeping things, and the birds of heaven.

<sup>7</sup> Moreover I heard a voice also, saying unto me—

Rise, Peter! sacrifice and eat.

<sup>8</sup> But I said—

¶ By no means, Lord, because [a common or unclean thing] hath [at no time] entered into my mouth.

<sup>9</sup> And a voice answered, a second time, out of heaven—

<What things God hath cleansed>° be not [thou] making common.

whole was drawn up again into heaven; and lo! immediately [three men] halted at the house wherein we were, sent from Cæsarea unto me. <sup>12</sup> And the Spirit bade me go with them, [nothing] doubting.

And there went with me, these six brethren also; and we entered into the house of the man, <sup>13</sup> and he related to us how he had seen the messenger in his house, standing, and saying—

Send away unto Joppa, and fetch Simon, who is surnamed Peter; <sup>14</sup> who shall speak words unto thee, whereby thou shalt be saved, [thou] and [all] thy house.

<sup>15</sup> And [as I began to be speaking] the Holy Spirit fell upon them, [just as upon us also, at the beginning].

<sup>16</sup> And I was put in mind of the word of the Lord, how he used to say—

¶ John indeed immersed [with water]; But [ye] shall be immersed in Holy Spirit.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>17</sup> <If therefore [the like free-gift] God gave unto them, as even unto us, when we had believed upon the Lord Jesus Christ> who was [I] that I could withstand God?

<sup>18</sup> And [having heard these things] they held their peace, and glorified God, saying— [Hence] [even unto the nations] God hath granted [repentance unto life].

§ 22. The Dispersion (chap. viii. 1): the Faith spreads as far as Antioch in Syria, whither Barnabas is sent, Saul is brought, and Agabus comes with tidings of a Famine.

<sup>19</sup> ¶ They, therefore, who had been scattered abroad by reason of the tribulation that took place on account of Stephen passed through as far as Phœnicæ and Cyprus and Antioch, unto no one speaking the word, save alone unto Jews.

<sup>20</sup> And there were some from among them, Cyprians and Cyrenians, who, indeed, coming unto Antioch began speaking [even unto the Grecian Jews], announcing the glad-tidings as to the Lord Jesus; <sup>21</sup> and the hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number—they who believed—turned unto the Lord. <sup>22</sup> And the matter was reported in the hearing<sup>b</sup> of the assembly that was in Jerusalem, concerning them; and they sent forth Barnabas, as far as Antioch; <sup>23</sup> who <arriving, and seeing the favour which was of God> rejoiced, and went on to beseech all [with the purpose of their heart] to abide [in] the Lord; <sup>24</sup> because he was a good man, and full of Holy Spirit and faith; and a considerable multitude were added unto the Lord. <sup>25</sup> He went away, however, unto Tarsus, to seek up Saul; <sup>26</sup> and, finding him, he brought him unto Antioch. And so it was with them, that [for a whole year] they were brought together in the assembly, and taught a considerable multitude; also that the disciples [first in Antioch] were called [Christians].

12 Now [in the course of that' season] Herod the king thrust forth his hands to harm some of them of the assembly,—<sup>2</sup> and slew James the brother of John with a sword; <sup>3</sup> and <seeing that it was [acceptable] unto the Jews> he went on to apprehend Peter also (now they were the days of unleavened bread),—<sup>4</sup> [whom also having seized] he put into prison, delivering him up unto four' quaternions of soldiers, to be guarding him,—intending [after the passover] to bring him up<sup>5</sup> unto the people. <sup>5</sup> [Peter], therefore, was kept in the prison; but [prayer] was [earnestly] being made by the assembly, unto God, concerning him. <sup>6</sup> And <when Herod was about to bring him forth> [on that night] was Peter sleeping between two' soldiers, bound with two chains, [guards] also, [before the door] were keeping the prison. <sup>7</sup> And lo! [a messenger of the Lord] stood over him, and [a light] shone in the cell; and [smiting the side of Peter] he roused him up, saying—

Rise up quickly!

And his' chains fell off out of his hands. <sup>8</sup> And the messenger said unto him—

Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals.

And he did so. And he saith unto him—

Throw around thee thy mantle, and be following me.

<sup>9</sup> And, coming out, he began following, and knew not that it was [true] which was coming about through means of the messenger; but supposed that [a vision] he was beholding. <sup>10</sup> And <passing through the first ward and the second> they came unto the iron gate that leadeth into the city, the which [of its own accord] opened unto them; and, coming out, they went on through one street, and [straightway] the messenger was parted from him. <sup>11</sup> And [Peter] coming [to himself] said—

[Now] know I, of a truth, that the Lord hath sent forth his messenger, and taken me out of the hand of Herod, and all' the expectation of the people of the Jews.

<sup>12</sup> And, considering the matter, he came unto the house of Mary, the mother of John who was surnamed Mark, where a considerable number were gathered together and praying. <sup>13</sup> And

<when he had knocked at the door of the porch> there came unto it a maiden to hear, by name Rhoda; <sup>14</sup> and [recognizing the voice of Peter] [by reason of her joy] she opened not the porch,—but [running in] bare tidings, that Peter was standing before the porch. But [they] [unto her] said—

Thou art raving!

<sup>15</sup> [She] however, kept on strongly declaring that [so] it was. But [they] were saying—

It is his [messenger].

<sup>17</sup> But <making a sign to them with his hand to hold their peace> he related to them how [the Lord] had brought [him] forth out of the prison; and he said—

Carry tidings unto James and the brethren, as to these things.

And, going out, he went his way unto some other' place. <sup>18</sup> And [when it became day] there was no small commotion among the soldiers, as to What, then, Peter had become!

<sup>19</sup> And [Herod] <seeking after and not finding, him> [having examined the guards] ordered them to be led away [to death]; and [going down from Judæa unto Cæsarea] stayed there.

<sup>20</sup> Now he was bitterly hostile to them of Tyre and Zidon; but [with one accord] they came unto him, and <persuading Blastus, who was over the bed-chamber of the king> they were suing for peace; because their country was fed by the king's. <sup>21</sup> And [on an appointed day] [Herod] <putting on royal apparel, and seating himself upon the tribunal> proceeded to deliver an oration unto them. <sup>22</sup> And [the populace] began to shout—

[A god's!] voice, and not [a man's]!

<sup>23</sup> And [instantly] there smote him, a messenger of the Lord, because he gave not the glory unto God; and [becoming worm-eaten] he expired.

§ 24. Barnabas and Saul sent forth from Antioch, visit Cyprus, Pamphylia, Pisidia and Lyconia; and return by Attalia unto Antioch.

13 Now there were in Antioch, distributed through the existing' assembly,—prophets and teachers: both Barnabas and Symeon who was called Niger, and Lucius the Cyrenian, Manes also, Herod the tetrarch's foster-brother, and Saul. <sup>2</sup> And <as they were publicly ministering unto the Lord and fasting> the Holy Spirit said—

Separate forthwith unto me, Barnabas and Saul, unto the work whereunto I have called them.

<sup>3</sup> [Then] <fasting and praying, and laying their hands upon them> they sent them away.

Holy Spirit went down unto Seleucia, and from thence sailed away unto Cyprus; and coming to be in Salamis, they declared the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews;—and they had John also as an attendant.

And <passing through the whole island as far as Paphos> they found a certain man, a magician, a false-prophet, a Jew, whose name was Barjesus; who was with the proconsul, Sergius Paulus, an intelligent man. The same calling for Barnabas and Saul sought to hear the word of God.

But Elymas the magician,—for so, when translated, is his name,—withstood them; seeking to turn aside the proconsul from the faith. But Saul [who is also Paul] <filled with Holy Spirit, looking steadfastly at him>

said—

O full of all guile, and all' recklessness!

Son of an adversary!

Enemy of all' righteousness!—

Wilt thou not cease to pervert the straight ways of the Lord?

[Now] therefore, lo! [the hand of the Lord] is upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun, until a fitting time.

And [instantly] there fell upon him a mist and darkness; and [going about] he was seeking such as might lead him by the hand.

[Then] the proconsul <[seeing] what had happened> believed, being amazed at the teaching of the Lord.

And [setting sail from Paphos] [Paul's company] came into Perga of Pamphylia; but [John] [withdrawing from them] returned unto Jerusalem. [They] however, [passing through from Perga] arrived at Antioch of Pisidia; and [going into the synagogue on the sabbath-day] sat down. And <after the reading of the law and the prophets> the synagogue-rulers sent unto them, saying—

Brethren! <if there is in you a word of exhortation unto the people> say on.

And Paul <[standing up] and making a sign with his hand> said—

Ye men of Israel! and such as revere God! hearken:—

[The God of this people Israel] chose our fathers, and [the people] he exalted, by their sojourn in the land of Egypt,—and [with a high arm] brought he them out of it; and [for the time of about forty years] bare with their manners in the desert; and <overthrowing seven nations in the land of Canaan> gave them their land as an inheritance—about four hundred and fifty years.

And [after these things] he gave them judges, until Samuel the prophet. And [from that time] they asked for themselves a king, and God gave them Saul, son of Kish, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, during forty years; and [setting him aside] raised up [David] unto them for king,—Of whom he also said [bearing witness]—

I have found David, the son of Jesse,—

[A man] according to my heart,

Who will do all' my will.

[From this man's seed] hath God [according to promise] brought unto Israel a saviour— [Jesus]:

John [beforehand proclaiming] before the face of his coming in an immersion of repentance, unto all' the people of Israel.

And <as John was fulfilling his course> he was saying—

Whom are ye supposing that [I] am?

[I] am not he!

But lo! there cometh after me,

One of whom I am not worthy [the sandals of his feet] to loosen.

Brethren! sons of the race of Abraham, and those who among you revere God,—[unto you] hath this word of salvation been sent forth.

For <they who were dwelling in Jerusalem, and their rulers> [not recognising him] have, by judging him, [fulfilled] [the very voices of the prophets which every sabbath are being read]; and <though no single cause of death they found> yet claimed they of Pilate that he should be slain. And <when they had finished all' those things which [concerning him] had been written> [taking him down from the tree] they put him in a tomb.

But [God] raised him from among the dead: Who appeared, during many days, unto them who had come up with him from Galilee unto Jerusalem; who, indeed, [now] are his witnesses unto the people.

[We] therefore, [unto you] bring the good news, as to the promise which [unto our fathers] was made,—That God hath fulfilled [the same] for our children, [by raising up Jesus]:

As also [in the second psalm] it is written—

[My son] art [thou]:

[I] [this day] have begotten thee.

And <in that he raised him from among the dead, [no more] destined to return unto corruption> [on this wise] hath he spoken—

I will give unto you the faithful loving-kindnesses of David.

Wherefore also [in a different [place]] he saith—

Thou wilt not give thy man of lovingkindness to see corruption.

For [David] indeed, <unto his own' generation' having done service, by the counsel of God> fell asleep, and was added unto his fathers; and saw corruption;

But [he whom God hath raised] did not see corruption.

That [through this man] [unto you] remission of sins is declared; <sup>39</sup> and <from all things from which ye could not [by the law of Moses] be justified> [by this man] [everyone] that believeth [is justified].

40 Be taking heed, therefore, lest that [come upon you] which hath been spoken in the prophets—

41 See, ye despisers, and marvel, and disappear:

In that [a work] am [I] [working in your days,—

[A work] which in nowise will ye believe.

Though one relate it in full unto you.*

42 And <as they were going out> they kept on beseeching that [on the ensuing<sup>b</sup> sabbath] might be spoken unto them these things.

43 And [when the congregation was broken up] there followed many of the Jews, and of the devout proselytes, with Paul and Barnabas; who, indeed, [in speaking unto them] went on persuading them to abide in the favour of God.

44 And [on the coming<sup>c</sup> sabbath] [almost all] the city [was gathered together, to hear the word of God.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>45</sup> But <the Jews [seeing] the multitudes> were filled with jealousy,—and began speaking against the things which [by Paul] were being spoken, [defaming them].

46 And Paul and Barnabas [speaking boldly] said—

[Unto you] was it necessary, that the word of God [should first] be spoken]:

<Seeing ye are thrusting it from you, and [unworthy] are judging yourselves of the age-abiding<sup>d</sup> life> lo! we turn unto the nations; <sup>47</sup> for [so] hath the Lord commanded us—

*I have set thee for a light of nations,
That thou mayest be for salvation unto the end of the earth.<sup>f</sup>*

48 And they of the nations [hearing [this]] began to rejoice, and to be glorifying God, and they believed—[as many as had become disposed for life age-abiding].

49 And the word of the Lord went on to be carried through the whole country.

<sup>50</sup> But [the Jews] urged on the devout women of the higher class, and the chief men of the city, and roused up a persecution against Paul and Barnabas,—and thrust them out from their bounds.

<sup>51</sup> But [against them] <shaking off the dust of their feet against them> came into Iconium.

52 And [the disciples] were filled with joy, and with Holy Spirit.

14 And it came to pass, in Iconium, that they together entered into the synagogue of the Jews, and so spake, that there believed, both of Jews and [Greeks, a great] throng. <sup>2</sup> But [the unpersuaded] Jews [roused up and provoked the souls of them of the nations against the brethren.

<sup>3</sup> [A good while, therefore, tarried they] using boldness of speech [in dependence] upon the Lord, who was bearing witness unto his word of favour, granting [signs and wonders] to be coming to pass through their hands. <sup>4</sup> And the throng of the city was divided; and [some] indeed were with the Jews, while [some] were with the apostles. <sup>5</sup> But <when there took place an assault both of them of the nations and of the Jews, with their rulers, to maltreat and to stone them> <sup>6</sup> they became aware of it, and fled unto the cities of Lycaonia, Lystra and Derbe, and the surrounding country; <sup>7</sup> and [there] were they announcing the glad tidings.

<sup>8</sup> And [a certain man in Lystra, impotent in his feet] was sitting,—lame from his mother's womb, who never<sup>g</sup> had walked. <sup>9</sup> [This man] hearkened unto Paul, as he was speaking,—who <looking steadfastly at him, and seeing he had faith to be made well> <sup>10</sup> said, with a loud voice—

Stand up on thy feet, erect!

And he sprang up, and began to walk about.

11 And [the multitudes] [seeing what Paul had done] lifted up their voice, in the speech of Lycaonia—

[The gods, made like unto men] have come down unto us!

12 And they went on to call Barnabas, Jupiter, and Paul, Mercury, seeing that [he] was the leader of discourse. <sup>13</sup> Also [the priest of the Jupiter that was before the city] <bringing [bulls and garlands unto the gates]> [with the multitudes] would have offered sacrifice. <sup>14</sup> But the apostles Barnabas and Paul, [hearing] of it, rending asunder their own<sup>h</sup> mantles, sprang forward amidst the multitude, crying aloud, <sup>15</sup> and saying—

Men! why [these things] are ye doing?

[We also] [of like nature with you] are [men], bringing you the good news, that [from these] vain things [ye should be turning unto a living God:]—

Who made heaven and the earth and the sea and all things therein<sup>i</sup>;

16 Who [in the bygone] generations [suffered all] the nations to be going on in their own ways,—

17 Although [not without witness] he left himself, [doing good],

[From heaven] [upon you] giving [rain] and fruitful seasons,

Filling [with food and gladness] your hearts.

18 [Even these things] [saying, scarcely] restrained they the multitudes from offering sacrifice unto them.

19 But there came thither, from Antioch and Iconium, [Jews], and <persuading the multitudes, and stoning Paul> they dragged him outside the city, supposing him to be dead.

20 Howbeit, [the disciples surrounding] him [he rose up, and entered into the city. And [on the morrow] he went forth, with Barnabas, unto Derbe.

||Through many' tribulations|| must we enter into the kingdom of God.

<sup>23</sup> Moreover <appointing unto them by vote, in each assembly, [elders], praying with fastings> they commended them unto the Lord on whom they had believed. <sup>24</sup> And [passing through Pisidia] they came into Pamphylia;

<sup>25</sup> and [speaking in Perga' the word] they came down unto Attalia; <sup>26</sup> and [from thence] they set sail for Antioch, whence they had been given up unto the favour of God for the work which they had fulfilled. <sup>27</sup> And <when they had arrived and gathered together the assembly> they began recounting how many things God had done with them, and that he had opened [unto the nations] ||a door of faith||. <sup>28</sup> And they spent no little time with the disciples.

15 And ||certain persons|| [coming down from Judæa] began to teach the brethren—

<Except ye be circumcised according to the custom of Moses> ye cannot be saved.

<sup>2</sup> And <when Paul and Barnabas had had no little dissension and discussion with them> it was arranged, that Paul and Barnabas and certain others from among them should go up unto the Apostles and Elders in Jerusalem, concerning this question. <sup>3</sup> ||They||, therefore, [being set forward by the Assembly] began passing through Phenicia and Samaria, fully relating the conversion of them of the nations, and were causing great joy unto all' the brethren. <sup>4</sup> And [having arrived in Jerusalem] they were welcomed by the Assembly and the Apostles and the Elders; and they recounted all things God had done with them.

<sup>5</sup> But there [had] stood forth some of those who [from the sect of Pharisees] had believed, saying—
It is needful to be circumcising them, also to charge them to be keeping the law of Moses.

<sup>6</sup> And the Apostles and Elders [were gathered] together to see about this matter. <sup>7</sup> And [when much' discussion had arisen] Peter standing up, said unto them—

Brethren! ||Ye yourselves|| well know that [in days long past] [amongst you] God chose that ||through my mouth|| the nations should hear the word of the glad tidings, and believe. <sup>8</sup> And ||the heart-observing' God|| bare witness,—||unto them|| giving the Holy Spirit, just as [even unto us]; <sup>9</sup> and made no' distinction at all' betwixt us and them, [by their faith] purifying their hearts.

<sup>10</sup> ||Now|| therefore, why are ye proving God, that ye should put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples, which ||neither our fathers, nor we|| have been able to bear.

<sup>11</sup> But ||through the favour of the Lord Jesus|| we believe we shall be saved, in like manner as [even they].

<sup>12</sup> And all' the throng held their peace, and began to hearken unto Barnabas and Paul relating how many signs and wonders God had done among the nations [through them]. <sup>13</sup> And [after they held their peace] James answered, saying—Brethren! hearken unto me.

<sup>14</sup> ||Symeon|| hath fully told how God [first] visited, to take out of the nations, a people for his name.

<sup>15</sup> And ||with this|| agree the words of the prophets, according as it is written—

<sup>16</sup> ||After these things|| will I return,<sup>a</sup>
And will rebuild the tent of David that hath fallen,
And ||the ruins thereof|| will I rebuild,
And will set it up again:

<sup>17</sup> That the residues of men may seek out the Lord,
And all' the nations upon whom my name hath been called,<sup>b</sup>

Saith the Lord that doeth these things,
||Known from age-past times||.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>19</sup> Wherefore ||I|| judge, not to be troubling them who [from the nations] are turning unto God; <sup>20</sup> but to write unto them,

To abstain from the pollutions of idols,
And from fornication,
And from what is strangled,
And from blood.

<sup>21</sup> For ||Moses|| [out of ancient generations] hath [in every city] [them who proclaim him]; seeing [that in the synagogues] ||every' sabbath|| he is read.

<sup>22</sup> ||Then|| seemed it good, unto the Apostles and the Elders with the whole' Assembly, to send [chosen' men from among them] unto Antioch, with Paul and Barnabas,—even Judas who is called Barsabbas, and Silas, men taking a lead among the brethren: <sup>23</sup> writing through their hand—

||The Apostles and the Elder' Brethren|| <unto the brethren [throughout Antioch and Syria and Cilicia] who are from among the nations> wish joy!

<sup>24</sup> <Inasmuch as we had heard that ||certain from among us|| had troubled you with words, dismantling your souls,—unto whom we had given no instructions> <sup>25</sup> It seemed good unto us [coming to be of one accord], that we should choose men and send them unto you, with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,
<sup>26</sup> ||men who have given up their lives in behalf of the name of our Lord Jesus Christ||.

<sup>27</sup> We have sent, therefore, Judas and Silas, who also ||themselves|| [by word of mouth] can tell you the same things.

<sup>28</sup> For it hath seemed good [unto the Holy Spirit, and unto us] ||no' greater' burden|| to be laying upon you, than these' necessary things:—

- 29 To be abstaining from idol sacrifices,
And from blood,
And from what is strangled,
And from fornication,—

From which ||if ye keep yourselves|| ye shall prosper. Fare ye well.

- 30 ||They||, therefore, ||being let go|| came down unto Antioch; and ||having gathered together the throng|| delivered the letter, 31 and ||when they read it|| ||they rejoiced for the consolation||.

- 32 And ||both Judas and Silas|| ||being themselves' also prophets|| ||with much discourse|| consoled and confirmed the brethren. 33 And ||when they had spent a time|| they were let go, in peace, from the brethren, unto them who had sent them. [34]*

- 35 But ||Paul and Barnabas|| tarried in Antioch, teaching and telling the joyful tidings,—along with many others also,—of the word of the Lord.

- 36 And ||after certain days|| ||Paul|| said unto Barnabas—

Let us now return, and visit the brethren in every city in which we have declared the word of the Lord, and see how they are.

- 37 And ||Barnabas|| was minded to take with them John also, called Mark; 38 but Paul deemed it right <as to him who had withdrawn from them, back from Pamphylia, and had not gone with them unto the work> not to be taking with them ||this|| man. 39 And there arose an angry feeling, so that they separated one from the other: and ||Barnabas|| ||taking Mark|| sailed away unto Cyprus,—40 whereas ||Paul|| ||choosing Silas|| went forth, committed unto the favour of the Lord by the brethren, 41 and proceeded to pass through Syria and Cilicia, confirming the assemblies. 16 And he came even unto Derbe, and unto Lystra; and lo! ||a certain disciple|| was there, by name Timothy, son of a believing Jewish woman, but ||whose father was a Greek||,—2 who was well-attested by the brethren ||in Lystra and Iconium||.

- 3 ||The same|| would Paul have go forth ||with him||, and took and circumcised him, on account of the Jews who were in those places; for they one and all knew that ||his father|| was ||a Greek||.

- 4 And ||as they passed through the cities|| they were delivering unto them, for observance, the decrees which had been decided upon by the Apostles and Elders who were in Jerusalem.

- 5 ||The assemblies|| therefore, were being confirmed in the faith, and increasing in number ||every day||.

- 6 And they passed through the Phrygian' and Galatian' country, being forbidden<sup>b</sup> by the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia; 7 but ||coming along Mysia|| they were attempting to journey ||into Bithynia||,—and ||the Spirit of Jesus|| suffered them not; 8 but ||passing by Mysia|| they came down unto Troas.

§ 27. Paul and his Companions come from Troas unto Philippi: Lydia—the Jailor—and others believe.

- 9 And ||a vision, by night|| ||unto Paul|| appeared:— ||A man of Macedonia|| there was, standing and beseeching him, and saying—

Come over into Macedonia, and bring us succour!

- 10 Now <when ||the vision|| he had seen> 11 straight-way ||we sought to go forth unto Macedonia, concluding that God|| ||had summoned us|| to tell the glad tidings, ||unto them||. 12 ||Setting sail, therefore, from Troas|| we ran straight into Samothracia, and ||on the morrow|| unto New City, 13 and ||from thence|| unto Philippi,—which, indeed, is the first city of the part of Macedonia—||a colony||. And we were, in this' city, spending certain days; 14 and ||on the day of rest||* we went forth outside the gate, beside a river, where we supposed there was ||a place of prayer||,—and ||sitting down|| we went on to speak unto the women ||who had come together||. 15 And ||a certain woman, by name Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, devout towards God|| was hearkening, whose heart ||the Lord|| fully opened, to be giving heed unto the things being spoken by Paul. 16 And <when she was immersed, and her house> she besought ||us||, saying—

<If ye have judged me to be ||a believer in the Lord||> come into my house, and abide [there].

- And she constrained us. 17 And it came to pass <as we were on our way unto the place of prayer> ||a certain damsel, having a spirit of Python|| met us,—who, indeed, ||much gain|| was presenting unto her masters ||by divining||. 18 ||The same|| ||following after Paul and us||, kept crying aloud, saying—

||These' men|| are servants of the Most High God,—

Who, indeed, are declaring unto you a way of salvation.

- 19 And ||this|| she continued to do for many' days. But Paul <||worn out|| and turning unto the spirit> said—

I charge thee, in the name of Jesus Christ, to come out from her.

And it came out the same' hour. 20 And <her masters ||seeing|| that their hope of gain had gone out> ||laying hold on Paul and Silas|| dragged them into the market-place, unto the rulers; 21 and ||leading them forward unto the magistrates|| said—

||These' men|| are exceedingly troubling our' city, they ||being Jews||,

and are declaring customs, which it is not allowable for us either to accept or to observe, ||being Romans||.

the multitude rose up together against a, and ||the magistrates|| |rending off them mantles| were giving orders to beat them with rods; <sup>23</sup> and |laying upon them many| blows| they thrust them into prison, charging the prison-keeper |safely| to be keeping them: <|a charge like this| receiving> thrust them into the inner' prison, and ||their feet|| to be fast in the stocks. <sup>25</sup> And ||at night|| |Paul and Silas| ||being at prayer|| singing praise unto God; and |the prisoners| unto them, did hearken. <sup>26</sup> And suddenly|| |a great earthquake| took place,—that the foundations of the prison were shaken, and all the doors were [instantly] set open, and the bonds of all' were unfastened.

<the prison-keeper |being wakened| and seeing that the doors of the prison had been opened> |drawing his sword| was about to kill himself, supposing |the prisoners| to have fled. Paul called out with a loud' voice, saying—By no means|| do thyself harm, for we are all ||here||.

|asking for a light| he sprang in, and coming |agitated| fell down unto Paul and Silas, <sup>30</sup> and |leading them forth outside| said—Brethren! what must I be doing, that I may be saved?

they| said—Believe on the Lord Jesus, and thou shalt be saved, ||thou, and thy house||.

they spake unto him the word of God,<sup>a</sup> ||all' who were in his house||. <sup>33</sup> And asking them with him,<sup>b</sup> in that' hour of the night> he bathed them from their stripes, and immersed ||he, and his, one and all, on the morrow||; <sup>34</sup> and <leading them up into his house> set near a table,—and exulted, having |with his house| believed in God.

and <when |day| came> |the magistrates| |off |the constables| saying—

Let those men go!

the prison-keeper reported the words unto them—

the magistrates have sent, that ye be let go. Now|| therefore, going forth, be taking your journey in peace.

||Paul|| said unto them—

Beating us |in public| uncondemned |men that are Romans|> they thrust us into prison;—

and |now, by stealth| are they thrusting us forth?

ay, verily! but let them come ||themselves|| and lead us' out!

|the constables| reported |unto the magistrates| these words; and they were struck with shame when they heard that they were |Romans|; came, and besought them, and |leading them went on to request them to depart from the city. <sup>40</sup> And so |coming forth from the prison| they went unto Lydia, and |seeing the brethren| they comforted<sup>a</sup> them, and went forth.

§ 23. Paul proceeds by Thessalonica and Berea to Athens.

17 And |travelling through Amphipolis and Apollonia| they came to Thessalonica, where was a synagogue of the Jews; <sup>2</sup> and |according to Paul's custom| he went in unto them, and |for three sabbaths| reasoned with them from the Scriptures,—<sup>3</sup> opening up, and setting forth, that it was needful for ||the Christ|| to suffer, and to arise from among the dead; and |saying|

||This|| is the Christ,—||Jesus|| whom ||I|| am declaring unto you.

<They who have thrown |the inhabited earth'| into confusion> ||the same|| |hither also| are come,—<sup>7</sup> unto whom Jason hath given welcome; and ||these all|| |contrary to the decrees of Cæsar| are acting,—saying that there is another |king|,<sup>c</sup> ||Jesus||.

<sup>8</sup> And they troubled the multitude and the city-rulers, when they heard these things; <sup>9</sup> and |taking security from Jason and the rest| they let them go.

<sup>10</sup> But ||the brethren|| |straightway, during the night| sent away both Paul and Silas unto Berea, ||who, indeed, arriving|| |unto the synagogue of the Jews| went off; <sup>11</sup> and ||these|| were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they welcomed the word with all' readiness of mind, |daily| searching the Scriptures,—whether these things could be' so. <sup>12</sup> ||Many, therefore, from among them|| believed, and |of the Grecian' women of the higher class, and of men| ||not a few||. <sup>13</sup> But <when the Jews from Thessalonica' came to know' that |in Berea also| had the word of God been declared by Paul> they came |thither also|, stirring up and troubling the multitudes. <sup>14</sup> Howbeit |then| ||immediately|| the brethren sent away ||Paul|| to be journeying as far as unto the sea; and both Silas and Timothy stayed behind |there|. <sup>15</sup> But ||they who were conducting Paul|| brought him as far as Athens, and <receiving a commandment unto Silas and Timothy, that with |all possible speed| they would come unto him> they departed.

§ 29. Paul in Athens.

- <sup>16</sup> But <while [in Athens] [Paul] was expecting them> his spirit within him [was being urged on], seeing how the city was given to idols.
- <sup>17</sup> So then, he began reasoning in the synagogue with the Jews, and with them who worshipped; and [in the market-place, every day] with them who happened to be at hand. <sup>18</sup> But [certain both of the Epicurean and of the Stoic philosophers] were encountering him; and some were saying—

What might this picker-up-of-scrap wish to be saying?

And [others]—

[Of foreign demons] he seemeth to be a declarer:

because [of Jesus and the Resurrection] he was announcing the joyful tidings. <sup>19</sup> And so [laying hold of him] they brought him up [to the Hill of Mars], saying—

Can we get to know what [this new teaching] is, which [by thee] is being spoken?

- <sup>20</sup> For [certain foreign things] art thou bringing into our hearing:

We are minded to get to know, therefore, what these things please to be!

- <sup>21</sup> Now [all Athenians and the sojourning foreigners] [unto nothing else] were devoting their leisure, than to be telling or hearing [something newer]. <sup>22</sup> And Paul [taking his stand] in the midst of the Hill of Mars, said—

Ye men of Athens!

<In every way, how unusually reverent & the demons ye are> I perceive.

- <sup>23</sup> For <passing through, and carefully observing your objects of devotion> I found an altar also, in which was inscribed—

Unto an Unknown God.

<What, therefore, [not knowing] ye reverence> [the same] do [I] declare unto you.

<sup>24</sup> <The God that made the world and all things that are therein, [the same] being [Lord] [of heaven and earth]> [not in hand-made shrines] doth dwell, <sup>25</sup> nor [by human hands] is waited upon, as though in want of anything, [himself] giving unto all life, and breath, and all things;

- <sup>26</sup> he made also [of one] every nation of men to dwell upon all the face of the earth,—marking out fitting opportunities, and the bounds of their dwelling place, <sup>27</sup> that they might be seeking God—if, after all, indeed, they might feel after him and find him,—although, in truth, he is already not far from any one of us. <sup>28</sup> For [in him] we live, and move, and are: as [even some of your own poets] have said—

For [his] offspring also [we are].

- <sup>29</sup> <Being, then, [offspring] of God> we ought not to be supposing that <unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and device of man> [the Divine] is [like].

* Is. xlii. 3.

- <sup>30</sup> <The times of ignorance, therefore, overlooking> [God] [as things now are] is charging all men everywhere to repent, <sup>31</sup> inasmuch as he hath appointed a day, in which he is about to be judging the habitable earth in righteousness, by a man whom he hath pointed out,—[offering faith] unto all, by raising him from among the dead.

- <sup>32</sup> Now <when they heard of raising the dead> [some] indeed, began to mock, while [others] said—

We will hear thee, concerning this, [even again].

- <sup>33</sup> [Thus] Paul came forth out of their midst.

<sup>34</sup> But <certain persons, joining themselves unto him> believed; among whom were even Dionysius the Mars-hill judge, and a woman by name Damaris, and others with them.

§ 30. Paul in Corinth.

- <sup>18</sup> [After these things] [withdrawing from Athens] he came unto Corinth; <sup>2</sup> and <finding a certain Jew, by name Aquila, of Pontus by birth,—lately come from Italy, and Priscilla his wife, because Claudius had ordered all the Jews to be leaving Rome> he came unto them, <sup>3</sup> and [because he was of the same craft] he abode with them, and wrought, for they were tent-makers by their trade. <sup>4</sup> And he began reasoning in the synagogue every sabbath, and was persuading both Jews and Greeks.

- <sup>5</sup> <When, however, both Silas and Timothy had come down from Macedonia> Paul began to be urged on in the word, bearing full witness unto the Jews that [Jesus] was [the Christ].

- <sup>6</sup> But [as they began opposing and defaming] [shaking out his garments] he said unto them—

[Your blood] be upon your own head!

[Pure] am [I];

[Henceforth] [unto the nations] will I go.

- <sup>7</sup> And [removing from thence] he came into the house of a certain man by name Titius Justus, who worshipped God, [whose house] was adjoining unto the synagogue. <sup>8</sup> But [Crispus] the ruler of the synagogue believed in the Lord, with all his house. And [many of the Corinthians] [hearing] were believing, and being immersed. <sup>9</sup> And the Lord said by night, through means of a vision, unto Paul—

Be not afraid! but be speaking,—and do not hold thy peace;

- <sup>10</sup> Inasmuch as [I] am with thee, and [no one] shall set upon thee to harm thee;

Inasmuch as I have [much people] in this city.

- <sup>11</sup> And he remained a year and six months, teaching among them the word of God.

- <sup>12</sup> But [when Gallio] was proconsul of Achaia the Jews, with one accord, set upon Paul, and led him unto the judgment-seat, <sup>13</sup> saying—

[Contrary to the law] is this one seducing men to be worshipping God.

<sup>14</sup> But <as Paul was about' to open his mouth> Gallio said unto the Jews—

<If indeed, it had been some wrong or wicked recklessness, O Jews> |with reason, in that case| should I have been bearing with you.

<sup>15</sup> <If, however, they are questions concerning discourse, and names, and law, that which ye have> ye shall see to it ||yourselves||; <A judge of these things> ||I|| am not disposed to be.

<sup>17</sup> But they all, laying hold of Sosthenes the ruler of the synagogue, began to strike him before the judgment-seat; and ||for none of these things|| did Gallio care.

§ 31. Paul visits Ephesus, Jerusalem, Antioch, Galatia and Phrygia.

<sup>18</sup> ||Paul|| however, <still further abiding a good many days with the brethren> |bidding them adieu| set sail for Syria; and |with him| Priscilla and Aquila; having shorn his head |in Cenchreæ|, for he had a vow. <sup>19</sup> And they came down to Ephesus; and ||as for them|| he left them there,—but <||himself|| entering into the synagogue> he reasoned with the Jews.

<sup>20</sup> And <when they requested him |for a longer' time| to abide> he consented not; <sup>21</sup> but <bidding them adieu, and saying—

||Again|| will I return unto you |God willing|> he sailed away from Ephesus; <sup>22</sup> and <putting in at Cæsarea, going up and saluting the assembly> went down unto Antioch; <sup>23</sup> and |spending some time| he went forth, passing through, in order, the country of Galatia' and Phrygia, confirming all' the disciples.

§ 32. Apollos at Ephesus: he goes into Achaia.

<sup>24</sup> But  came down to Ephesus, being |mighty| in the Scriptures. <sup>25</sup> ||The same|| had been orally taught the way of the Lord, and |being fervent in his spirit| began speaking and teaching accurately, the things concerning Jesus,—properly knowing, only' the immersion of John. <sup>26</sup> ||The same|| also began speaking boldly in the synagogue; and Priscilla and Aquila |hearing him| took him unto them, and |more accurately| expounded unto him the way of God. <sup>27</sup> And <he being minded to pass through into Achaia> the brethren urgently wrote unto the disciples, to welcome him,—who |arriving| was very useful unto them who had believed |with his gift|; <sup>28</sup> for ||with great force|| began he confuting the Jews, publicly, shewing by the Scriptures that |Jesus| was ||the Christ||.

§ 33. Paul labours in Ephesus. Demetrius and the Artisans.

<sup>19</sup> And it came to pass, ||while Apollos was in Corinth|| |Paul| passing through the upper parts, came to Ephesus, and found certain disciples; <sup>2</sup> and he said unto them—

||Holy Spirit|| received ye, when ye believed?<sup>a</sup>

<sup>a</sup> Jn. vii. 39.

And |they| [said] unto him—

Nay! |not even whether there is Holy Spirit| did we hear.

|Into what| then, were ye immersed?

And |they| said—

Into John's immersion.

||John|| immersed with an immersion of repentance,<sup>a</sup> |unto the people| saying, That ||on him who was coming after him|| they should believe,—that is, |on Jesus|.

<sup>5</sup> And |when they heard [this]| they were immersed into the name of the Lord' Jesus; <sup>6</sup> and <Paul laying hands' upon them> the Holy Spirit came upon them, and they began speaking with tongues and prophesying. <sup>7</sup> And all' the men were about' twelve.

<sup>8</sup> And |entering into the synagogue| he was speaking boldly for three months, reasoning and persuading concerning the kingdom of God.

<sup>9</sup> But <when some were hardening themselves, and refusing to be persuaded, speaking evil of the Way before the throng> |withdrawing from them| he separated the disciples; |day by day| reasoning in the school of Tyrannus. <sup>10</sup> And ||this|| took place for two years, so that ||all' who dwelt in Asia|| heard the word of the Lord, |both Jews and Greeks|. <sup>11</sup> ||Mighty works, also, not the ordinary|| God was working through the hands of Paul; <sup>12</sup> so that |even unto the sick| were being carried from his body,<sup>b</sup> handkerchiefs or aprons, and the diseases were departing from them, and |the wicked spirits| were going out. <sup>13</sup> But certain also of the wandering' Jews, exorcists, took in hand to be naming, over them that had the wicked spirits, the name of the Lord Jesus, saying—

I adjure you, by Jesus whom |Paul| proclaimeth!

<sup>14</sup> And there were seven' sons |of one Sceva, a Jew, a High-priest| who |this thing| were doing. <sup>15</sup> But the wicked spirit, answering, said unto them—

||Jesus|| [indeed] I am getting to know, and ||Paul|| I well-know,—but who are ||ye||?

<sup>16</sup> And the man in whom was the wicked spirit, <springing upon them, mastering them both> prevailed against them, so that |naked and wounded| fled they out of that house. <sup>17</sup> And ||this|| became known, to all—both Jews and Greeks—who were dwelling in Ephesus; and fear fell upon them all', and the name of the Lord' Jesus was being magnified. <sup>18</sup> ||Many also of them who had believed|| were coming, |making open confession, and renouncing their practices|. <sup>19</sup> And ||a good many of them who had practised the curious arts|| |bringing together the books| were burning them before all; and they reckoned up the prices of them, and found them fifty thousand pieces of silver.

Lu. iii. 16; Jn. i. 26; <sup>b</sup> Mt. "skin."

21 Now when these things were fulfilled Paul purposed in his spirit, [going though Macedonia, and Achaia] to be journeying unto Jerusalem,* saying—

[After I have been there] Rome also must I see!

22 And <sending off, into Macedonia, two of them that ministered unto him, Timothy and Erastus> [he himself] held on awhile in Asia.

23 And there arose [during that season] no small disturbance concerning the Way. 24 For <one Demetrius by name, a silversmith, making [silver] shrines, of Diana> used to bring unto the craftsmen no little business; 25 [gathering whom together, and them who in such things wrought] he said—

Men! ye well know that [by this' business] we have [our prosperity]; 26 and ye perceive and hear that <not only in Ephesus', but well-nigh in all' Asia> [this Paul] hath persuaded and turned away a considerable' multitude, saying that they are [no gods] which [with hands] are made. 27 And <not only is there danger, that this our heritage [into ill-repute] may come> but even that the temple [of the great Goddess Diana] [for nothing] may be counted; also that [even on the point of being pulled down] may be Her Majesty, whom [all' Asia and the habitable world] do worship.

28 Now <hearing this, and becoming full of wrath> they began crying aloud, saying—

[Great] is Diana of the Ephesians!

29 And the city was filled with the confusion; they rushed also with one accord into the theatre, carrying off with them, Gaius and Aristarchus, Macedonians, fellow-travellers of Paul. 30 But <[Paul] being minded to enter in among the populace> [the disciples] would not suffer him.

31 Moreover [certain of the Asiarchs also] [being his friends] sending unto him, were beseeching him not to adventure himself into the theatre.

32 [Others] indeed, were crying out [something else]; for the assembly had become confused, and [the greater part] knew not for what cause they had come together. 33 Howbeit [out of the multitude] they bare aloft one Alexander, the Jews thrusting him forward; [Alexander] however [waving his hand] was wishing to make his defence unto the populace. 34 But [recognising that he was a Jew] one voice arose from all' for about two hours, as they cried aloud— [Great] is Diana of the Ephesians!

35 Howbeit the town-clerk [having calmed the multitude] saith—

Ephesians! why, who is there of mankind, that doth not acknowledge [the city of Ephesians] to be temple-keeper of the Great' Diana, and of the [image] that fell from Jupiter?

36 <As these things, then, [cannot be denied]> it is needful that ye be calmed at once, and [nothing rash] be doing.

37 For ye have brought these men, neither as temple-robbers, nor as defaming our goddess.

38 <If then [Demetrius, and the craftsmen with' him] have [against anyone] an accusation> [courts] are being held, and there are [pro-consuls]: let them accuse one another!

39 But <if after [something further] ye are seeking> [in the regular' assembly] shall it be settled.

40 For we are [even in danger of being accused of riot] concerning this day, [no cause at all] existing, by reference to which we shall be able to give a reason for this concourse.

41 And [these things] having said, he dismissed the assembly.

§ 34. Paul, leaving Ephesus, journeys through Macedonia and Greece back again by Philippi, thence to Troas and to Miletus.

20 But [after the tumult had ceased] Paul, sending for the disciples and exhorting them, took leave, and went forth to be journeying unto Macedonia. 2 <Passing through those parts, however, and exhorting them with much discourse> he came into Greece; 3 and [spending three months] <when a plot was laid against him by the Jews, as he was about to sail to Syria> he determined to turn back through Macedonia.

4 Now there were accompanying him, Sopater, son of Pyrrhus, a Berean; and [of the Thessalonians] Aristarchus and Secundus; and Gaius of Derbe and Timothy; and [of Asia] Tychicus and Trophimus. 5 And [these] came and were waiting for us at Troas. 6 And [we] sailed forth, after the days of unleavened bread, from Philippi, and came unto them in Troas in five days, where we tarried seven days.

7 And <on the first of the week, when we were gathered together to break bread> [Paul] went on to discourse with them, being about to depart on the morrow; and he prolonged his discourse until midnight. 8 Now there were a good many torches in the upper room, where we were gathered together. 9 And there sat, a certain young man by name Eutychus, in the window, who was getting overpowered by a deep sleep; and [while Paul was discoursing yet further] [being overpowered by his sleep] he fell, from the third story, down, and was taken up dead.

10 Going down, however, Paul fell upon him, and, embracing him, said—

Be not making confusion; for [his soul] is [in him].

11 And <going up, and breaking the loaf, and tasting,—[for a good while] also conversing, until dawn> [thus] he departed. 12 And they brought the boy alive, and were comforted beyond measure.

13 And [we] [going forward unto the ship] set sail for Assos, from thence being about to take up Paul; for [so] had he arranged, being about [himself] to go on foot. 14 And <when he fell in with us in Assos> we took him on board, and came into Mitylene; 15 and [from thence] sailing away on the morrow| we came over against Chios, and |on the next day| we thrust aside into Samos, and |on the succeeding day| we came into Miletus. <sup>16</sup> For Paul had determined to sail past Ephesus, lest he should happen to lose time in Asia; for he hastened, if it were |possible| for him, |against the day of Pentecost| to arrive |in Jerusalem|.

§ 35. Paul's Farewell Address to the Elders of Ephesus.

<sup>17</sup> But |from Miletus| he sent unto Ephesus, and called for the elders of the assembly. <sup>18</sup> And |when they were come to him| he said unto them—

||Ye yourselves|| well know, ||from the first day when I set foot in Asia|| in what manner I came to be |with you all| the time|, <sup>19</sup> doing service unto the Lord, with all' humility and tears, and temptations which befel me through the plots of the Jews: <sup>20</sup> in what manner I in nowise shrank from announcing unto you anything that was profitable and teaching you publicly and in your homes; <sup>21</sup> bearing full witness, both to Jews and to Greeks, as to the repentance due unto God', and as to belief on our Lord Jesus.

<sup>22</sup> And ||now|| lo! ||I|| |bound in my spirit| am journeying unto Jerusalem; |the things which therein shall befall me| not knowing,—
<sup>23</sup> save that ||the Holy Spirit|| |from city to city| doth bear me full witness, saying that |bonds and tribulations| await me. <sup>24</sup> But ||for no cause whatever|| am I making my life * dear to myself, so that I may finish my course, and the ministry which I have received from the Lord Jesus, to bear full witness as to the good news of the favour of God.

<sup>25</sup> And ||now|| lo! ||I|| know that |no more| shall ye see my face,—|ye all|| among whom I have gone about proclaiming the kingdom.

<sup>26</sup> Wherefore I take you to witness, on this very day, that |pure| am I from the blood of all;
<sup>27</sup> for I have not shrunk from announcing all' the counsel of God unto you.

<sup>29</sup> ||I|| know, that there will enter, after my departure, grievous wolves into your midst, not sparing the little flock; <sup>30</sup> and |from among your own selves|<sup>e</sup> will arise men speaking distorted things, to draw away the disciples after themselves.

<sup>31</sup> Wherefore, be on the watch, remembering that |for three years, night and day| I gave myself no rest, |with tears| admonishing each one.

<sup>33</sup> <The silver or gold or apparel of no one> did I covet: <sup>34</sup> ||yourselves|| acknowledge that |for my necessities, and for those who were with me| hard wrought these hands! <sup>35</sup> ||In all things|| I gave you to understand, that |thus' toiling| it behoves to be helping the weak, also to be keeping in mind the words of the Lord Jesus, that |he himself| said—
Happy is it, rather to give than to receive!

<sup>36</sup> And ||these things saying|| |kneeling down with them all| he prayed. <sup>37</sup> And they all wept much, and |falling upon Paul's neck| they were tenderly kissing him; <sup>38</sup> being most distressed for the word which he had said,—That ||no more|| should they |his face| behold. And they accompanied him unto the ship.

<sup>21</sup> And it came to pass <when we set sail, having torn ourselves from them> |running a straight course| we came unto Cos, and |on the next day| unto Rhodes,—and from thence unto Patara; <sup>2</sup> and <finding a ship crossing over to Phœnicia> |going on board| we set sail. <sup>3</sup> And <sighting Cyprus, and leaving it behind to the left> we held on our voyage to Syria, and landed at Tyre; for |there| the ship was to discharge her cargo.

<sup>4</sup> And |finding up the disciples| we remained there seven days, and they |unto Paul| began to say, through the Spirit, that he would gain no footing in Jerusalem. <sup>5</sup> And <when it came to pass that we had completed the days> we went forth, and continued our journey, all of them accompanying us, with wives and children, as far as outside the city; and <kneeling down on the beach in prayer> <sup>6</sup> we tare ourselves from each other, and we went on board the ship, while ||they|| returned unto their homes.

<sup>7</sup> And ||we|| <finishing the voyage from Tyre> reached Ptolemais, and |saluting the brethren| abode one day with them; <sup>8</sup> and |on the morrow departing| we came to Caesarea, and <entering into the house of Philip the evangelist, who was of the seven> we abode with him.

<sup>9</sup> Now—||this man|| had four virgin daughters, who used to prophesy. <sup>10</sup> And <as we stayed on many days> there came down a certain man from Judea, a prophet, by name Agabus; <sup>11</sup> and <coming unto us, and taking Paul's girdle> he bound his own' feet and hands, and said—
||Thus|| saith the Holy Spirit,

||The man whose this girdle is|| shall the Jews |thus' bind in Jerusalem|, and deliver up into the hands of Gentiles.
<sup>12</sup> And |when we heard these things| both ||we|| and they of the place began beseeching him, not to go up unto Jerusalem. <sup>13</sup> Then answered Paul—

What are ye doing, weeping and breaking my heart?

For I |not only to be bound, but to die in Jerusalem| am ready, in behalf of the name of the Lord' Jesus.

<sup>14</sup> And |as he was not to be persuaded| we ceased, saying—

||The Lord's|| will be done!

<sup>15</sup> And ||after these days|| |making ready what we had| we started to go up unto Jerusalem; <sup>16</sup> and there went certain also of the disciples from Caesarea, along with us, who were to introduce us unto one with whom we might be entertained, one Mnason of Cyprus, an early' disciple.

§ 37. Paul, in Jerusalem, is rescued from the Multitude by the Captain.

<sup>17</sup> Now |when we came to Jerusalem| ||the brethren|| gladly welcomed us. <sup>18</sup> And |on the next day| Paul went in with us unto James, and |all the elders| were present. <sup>19</sup> And |saluting them| he went on to narrate, one by one, each of the things which God had wrought among the nations through his ministry. <sup>20</sup> And ||they|| having heard, began glorifying God; and they said to him—

Thou observest, brother, |how many myriads| there are, among the Jews, who have believed, and ||all|| are |zealous for<sup>a</sup> the law|.

<sup>21</sup> Now they have heard it rumoured concerning thee, that ||an apostacy|| art thou teaching |from Moses| unto all' the Jews |who are among the nations|, telling them, not to be circumcising their children, nor |by the customs| to be walking.

<sup>22</sup> What, then, is it? ||at all events|| they will hear that thou hast come.

<sup>23</sup> |This, then| do, which |unto thee| we say:— We have four men, who have |a vow| upon themselves. <sup>24</sup> <Taking these' unto thee> be purified with them, and spend something upon them, that they may shave their head<sup>b</sup>; and all will get to know ||that the things which they have heard rumoured concerning thee|| are |nothing|,—on the contrary ||thou thyself|| dost keep the ranks, guarding the law.

<sup>25</sup> But <concerning them of the nations who have believed> ||we ourselves|| sent, deciding that they should be guarding themselves, both as to idol sacrifice, and blood, and what is strangled, and fornication.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>26</sup> ||Then Paul|| <taking unto him the men> |on the next' day, with them| being purified, began entering into the temple to declare the filling up of the days of the purification<sup>d</sup>—until ||the offering|| had been presented for each one of them. <sup>27</sup> <When, however, the seven' days were on the point of being concluded ||the Jews from Asia' || |observing him in the temple|

began to urge-on all' the multitude, and thrust upon them their hands, <sup>28</sup> crying out—

Israelites! be giving help! ||This|| is the man who <against the people, and the law, and this place> is teaching |all men everywhere|; furthermore ||even Greeks|| hath he brought into the temple, and hath profaned this holy' place.

<sup>29</sup> For they had before seen Trophimus, the Ephesian, in the city along with him, whom they were supposing |Paul| had brought ||into the temple||. <sup>30</sup> And the whole city was set in motion, and there took place a running together of the people, and |laying hold of Paul| they proceeded to drag him outside the temple, and |straightway| the doors were made fast.

<sup>31</sup> <When, also, they were seeking to slay him> there was carried up information, unto the captain of the band, that all' Jerusalem was in confusion:—<sup>32</sup> ||who|| <instantly' taking unto him soldiers and centurions> ran down upon them; and ||they|| |seeing the captain and the soldiers| left off striking Paul. <sup>33</sup> ||Then|| the captain |drawing near| laid hold of him, and ordered him to be bound with two chains,—and began to enquire, who he might be, and what he had done; <sup>34</sup> but ||others|| were calling out |something else|, in the multitude; and so <as he could not get to know the certainty, because of the tumult> he ordered him to be brought into the castle. <sup>35</sup> And ||when he came unto the stairs|| so it was that he was borne along by the soldiers, because of the force of the multitude; <sup>36</sup> for the throng of the people was following, crying out—

Away with him!

<sup>37</sup> But <when he was on the point of being taken into the castle> Paul saith unto the captain—

Is it allowed me, to say somewhat unto thee? And |he| said—

|With Greek| art thou acquainted?

<sup>38</sup> Not, then, art ||thou|| the Egyptian, who |before these' days| stirred up to sedition, and led out into the wilderness the four-thousand' men of the Assassins?

||I|| indeed, am a Jew, of Tarsus in Cilicia,—||a citizen|| of no obscure' city; but I beseech thee, give me leave to speak unto the people!

§ 38. Paul addresses the People: escapes Scourging: is set before the High-council.

<sup>40</sup> And <when he had given leave> ||Paul|| |standing upon the stairs| waved with his hand unto the people; and <when |great' silence| was secured> he addressed them in the Hebrew' language, saying—

<sup>41</sup> Brethren and fathers! Hear ye |the defence| which I now make unto you:—

<sup>42</sup> And <when they heard that |in the Hebrew' language| he had begun to address them> they kept the more' quiet'. And he saith—

<sup>43</sup> ||I|| am a Jew, born in Tarsus of Cilicia, but nurtured in this city, at the feet of

- Gamaliel,—trained after the strictness of our ancestral<sup>a</sup> law; being [jealous for God] just as [all<sup>b</sup> ye] are this day; <sup>4</sup> and [this<sup>c</sup> way] I persecuted unto the death, binding, and delivering up into prisons, both men and women;—<sup>5</sup> as [even the High-priest] beareth me witness, [and all<sup>d</sup> the Eldership],—<from whom [letters also] accepting to the brethren> <sup>6</sup> [unto Damascus] was I journeying, to bring them who were there<sup>e</sup>, bound unto Jerusalem, that they might be punished.
- <sup>6</sup> But it befel me <as I was journeying, and drawing nigh unto Damascus> that <about mid-day—suddenly—out of heaven> there flashed a great light all around me; <sup>7</sup> I fell also to the ground, and heard a voice saying unto me—
- Saul! Saul! Why [me] art thou persecuting?
- <sup>8</sup> And [I] answered—
- Who art thou, Lord?
- And he said unto me—
- [I] am Jesus the Nazarene, whom [thou] art persecuting!
- <sup>9</sup> Now [they who were with me] beheld, indeed, [the light] but heard not [the voice]<sup>e</sup> of him that was speaking with me.
- <sup>10</sup> And I said—
- What shall I do, Lord?
- And [the Lord] said unto me—
- Arise, and be going thy way into Damascus, and [there] shall it be told thee, of all things which are appointed for thee to do.
- <sup>11</sup> But <as I could not see clearly owing to the glory of that light> [being led by the hand of them who were with me] I came into Damascus.
- <sup>12</sup> And <one Ananias, a man devout according to the law, well-attested by all<sup>f</sup> the Jews that dwelt there> <sup>13</sup> [coming unto me, and standing over me] said—
- Saul, brother! look up.<sup>4</sup>
- And [I] [in that very<sup>g</sup> hour] looked up on him. <sup>14</sup> And [he] said—
- [The God of our fathers] hath chosen thee, to get to know his will, and to see the Righteous One,—and to hear a voice out of his mouth. <sup>15</sup> Because thou shalt be a witness to him, unto all<sup>h</sup> men, of the things which thou hast seen and heard.
- <sup>16</sup> And [now] what art thou going to do?<sup>e</sup>
- Arise, and get thyself immersed,<sup>f</sup> and have thy sins bathed away, calling upon his name.
- <sup>17</sup> And it came to pass <when I had returned unto Jerusalem, and was praying in the temple> that I came to be in a trance,
- <sup>18</sup> and saw him, saying unto me—
- Haste thee, and go forth speedily out of

- Jerusalem, inasmuch as they will not accept thy witness<sup>a</sup> concerning me.
- <sup>19</sup> And [I] said—
- Lord! [they themselves] well know, that I was imprisoning and beating in every synagogue, them who were believing on thee.
- <sup>20</sup> And <when the blood of Stephen thy witness was being shed> [even I myself] was standing by, and approving, and guarding the mantles of them who were slaying him.
- <sup>21</sup> And he said unto me—
- Be taking thy journey; because [I] [unto nations afar off] will send thee.
- <sup>22</sup> And they hearkened unto him as far as this<sup>g</sup> word, and lifted up their voice, saying—
- Away from the earth, with such a man as this, for it is not fit that he should live.
- <sup>23</sup> Now <as they were both making an outcry and tearing their mantles,—[dust] also were throwing into the air> <sup>24</sup> the captain ordered him to be brought into the castle, saying, that [with scourging] he should be put to the test,—that he might find out, for what cause they were [thus] clamouring against him. <sup>25</sup> But [when they had stretched him out with straps] [Paul] said unto the by-standing centurion—
- [A Roman, and uncondemned] is it allowed you to be scourging?
- <sup>26</sup> And [when the centurion heard<sup>h</sup> [that]] he went unto the captain, and reported, saying—
- What art thou going to do? For [this man] is [a Roman]?
- <sup>27</sup> And the captain, coming up, said to him—
- Tell me! Art [thou] a [Roman]?
- And [he] said—
- Yea!
- <sup>28</sup> And the captain answered—
- [I] [for a large sum] this citizenship<sup>i</sup> acquired!
- And [Paul] said—
- But [I] am even [[free-] born]!
- <sup>29</sup> [Straightway] therefore, they who were about to put him to the test, withdrew from him; and [even the captain] was struck with fear, when he found out he was [a Roman], and because [him] he had bound.
- <sup>30</sup> But [on the morrow] <being minded to get to know the certainty, as to why he was being accused by the Jews> he released him, and ordered the High-priests and all<sup>j</sup> the High-council to come together; and [bringing down Paul] set him before them.

§ 39. Paul rebukes the High-priest; divides the Council; and is brought back to the Castle.

- <sup>23</sup> And Paul [looking steadfastly] at the High-council, said—
- Brethren! [I] [in all<sup>k</sup> good conscience] have used my citizenship for God, until this<sup>l</sup> day.
- <sup>24</sup> And [the High-priest, Anania<sup>m</sup>] ordered them that stood by him, to be smiting him on the

God is about |to be smiting thee|, thou whited wall! Dost ||thou|| then sit to judge me according to the law,<sup>a</sup> and ||unlawfully||
orderest me to be smitten?

<sup>4</sup> And |they who stood by| said—
||The High-priest of God|| dost thou revile?

<sup>5</sup> And Paul said—
I was not aware, brethren, that he was high-priest; because it is written—
||Of a ruler of thy people|| shalt thou not speak injuriously.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>6</sup> <But Paul, getting to know' that |the one'| part| were Sadducees, and |the other| Pharisees> began to cry aloud in the council—

Brethren! ||I|| am |a Pharisee|, son of Pharisees:—||Concerning a hope, even of a rising
again of the dead||<sup>c</sup> am I to be judged.

<sup>7</sup> And ||as this' he was saying|| there arose a dissension of the Pharisees and Sadducees; and rent asunder was the throng! <sup>8</sup> For ||Sadducees|| say, there is no rising again, nor messenger, nor spirit, whereas |Pharisees| confess them both. <sup>9</sup> And there arose a great outcry, and certain of the Scribes of the party of the Pharisees, standing up, began to strive, saying—

||Nothing bad|| find we in this man;—but <if
|a spirit| hath spoken unto him, or a messenger>...

<sup>10</sup> And ||great' dissension arising|| the captain <fearing lest Paul would be torn in pieces by them> ordered the troop to go down, and take him by force out of their midst, to bring him into the castle.

§ 40. Paul's life being conspired against, he is sent to Cæsarea unto the Governor Felix.

<sup>11</sup> But |on the following' night| the Lord, standing over him, said—

Be of good courage! for <as thou hast fully borne witness of the things concerning me, in Jerusalem> |so| must thou ||in Rome
also|| bear witness.

<sup>12</sup> And |when it became day| the Jews |forming a conspiracy| bound themselves under a curse, saying, That they would neither eat nor drink till they had slain Paul. <sup>13</sup> And they were |more than forty| who |this' sworn-confederacy| had formed. <sup>14</sup> And they went unto the High-priests and Elders, and said—

|With a curse|<sup>d</sup> have we bound ourselves, to taste |nothing| until we have slain Paul.

<sup>15</sup> ||Now|| therefore, do ||ye, with the High-council|| make it appear unto the captain, that he should bring him down unto you, as though about to ascertain more exactly the things that concern him; and ||we|| <or ever he come near> are |ready| to kill him.

<sup>16</sup> But Paul's sister's son |hearing| of the lying-in-wait, happening to be near, and coming into the castle,—reported it unto Paul. <sup>17</sup> And Paul, calling unto him one of the centurions, said—

||This young man| lead thou away unto the captain, for he hath somewhat to report
unto him.

<sup>18</sup> |He| therefore, taking him with him, brought him unto the captain, and saith—

||The prisoner' Paul|| calling me unto him, requested me to bring |this' young man| unto thee, as having somewhat to tell thee.

<sup>19</sup> And the captain, |taking him by the hand, and going aside| began |privately| to ask—

What is it which thou hast to report unto me?

<sup>20</sup> And he said—

||The Jews|| have agreed to request thee, that
|to-morrow| thou wouldst bring |Paul| down into the High-council, as though about to ascertain something |more exact| concerning him.

<sup>21</sup> ||Thou|| therefore, do not be persuaded by them, for there are lying in wait for him,
from among them, |more than forty men|,— who, indeed, have bound themselves under a curse, neither to eat nor drink, till they have killed him; and ||now|| are they ready,
awaiting the promise |from thee|.

<sup>22</sup> ||The captain|| therefore, dismissed the young man, charging him—

||Unto no one|| divulge thou, that |these things| thou hast shewed unto me.

<sup>23</sup> And |calling certain two of the centurions| he
said—

Make ye ready two hundred soldiers, that they may journey as far as Cæsarea,—and seventy horsemen, and two hundred spear-men, by the third hour of the night;
<sup>24</sup> |beasts also| provide, in order that |seating
Paul thereon| they may bring him safely through unto Felix the governor.

<sup>25</sup> And he wrote a letter, after this form:—

<sup>26</sup> Claudius Lysias, unto the most excellent governor Felix, Joy!

<sup>27</sup> <This man, having been apprehended by the Jews, and being about to be killed by them>
I went down with the troop, and rescued;
having learned that he was |a Roman|.

<sup>28</sup> And <being minded to find out the cause for which they were accusing him> ||I took him down into their High-council|| <sup>29</sup> whom I found to be accused concerning questions of their law, but |of nothing worthy of death or bonds| to be charged.

<sup>30</sup> But <when I was informed there would be |a plot against the man|> ||forthwith|| I sent him unto thee, charging |his accusers
also| to be speaking against him before thee.

<sup>31</sup> ||So the soldiers|| |according to their orders, taking up Paul| brought him by night unto Antipatris; <sup>32</sup> and ||on the morrow|| |leaving the horsemen to go on with him| returned to the castle,—<sup>33</sup> and the others <entering into Cæsarea, and delivering the letter unto the governor> set |Paul also| before him.

what province<sup>e</sup> he was, and learned that he was from Cilicia>

<sup>30</sup> I myself will hear thee in full, said he, whensoever |thine accusers also| are come; and gave orders that |in the palace of Herod| he should be kept under guard.

41. Felix hears Paul's case: Converses often with him; but leaves him bound.

24 And ||after five' days|| came down the High-priest Ananias, with certain Elders and a certain orator Tertullus, and they informed the governor against Paul.

<sup>2</sup> And ||when he was called|| Tertullus began to make accusation, saying—

<Seeing that |great' peace| we are obtaining through thee, and that |reforms| are being brought about for this nation through thy' forethought> <sup>3</sup> |both in all ways and in all places| are we accepting it, most excellent' Felix, with all thankfulness.

<sup>4</sup> But <lest I too' long detain thee> I beseech thee to hear us concisely in thy' consideration.

<sup>5</sup> For <finding this man a pest, and moving sedition with all' the Jews that are throughout the inhabited earth, a leader also of the sect of the Nazarenes',—<sup>6</sup> who also attempted to desecrate even ||the temple||,<sup>a</sup> whom we also seized> [7] <sup>b</sup> from whom thou shalt be able ||thyself|| |by making examination concerning all these things| to ascertain the things of which ||we|| are accusing him.

<sup>9</sup> Moreover, the Jews also were joining in the attack, saying that ||these things|| were |so|.

<sup>10</sup> And Paul answered, when the governor had motioned him to be speaking,—

<Well knowing thee to have been |for many' years| judge unto this nation> ||cheerfully|| |as to the things concerning myself| do I make defence; <sup>11</sup> seeing thou art able to ascertain, that there are |not more| than twelve days, since I went up to worship in Jerusalem,—<sup>12</sup> and neither |in the temple| found they me |with any one| disputing, or causing |a halt| of the multitude, either in the synagogues or throughout the city,—

<sup>13</sup> neither can they make good the things concerning which they are |now| accusing me.

14 But I confess ||this|| unto thee,—That ||ac-cording to the Way<sup>c which they call a Sect|| |so| am I rendering divine service unto my fathers' God, believing in all' the things which |throughout the law| and those which |in the prophets| are written: Having |hope|<sup>d</sup> towards God, which ||even these themselves|| do entertain,—that |a resurrection| there shall certainly be, both of righteous and of unrighteous; <sup>16</sup> ||herein|| even I |myself| am studying to have |an unoffending' conscience|, towards God and men, continually.

<sup>17</sup> Now ||after many years|| <intending to do |alms| unto my nation> I arrived,—also

[to present] offerings<sup>a</sup>; among which they found me, purified in the temple, not with a multitude, nor with tumult; <sup>18</sup> but certain Jews from Asia' [caused it],—<sup>19</sup> who ought |before thee| to have presented themselves, and to have been laying accusation, if |anything| they might have had against me:—<sup>20</sup> Or, let ||these themselves|| say what wrong they found, when I stood before the High-council,—<sup>21</sup> unless concerning this' one' voice, wherewith I cried aloud among them, as I stood—

<Concerning the raising of the dead> <sup>b</sup> am ||I|| to be judged, this day, by you.

<As soon as |Lysias the captain| hath come down> I will give judgment as to your affairs,—

<sup>23</sup> giving orders unto the centurion, that he should be kept, and have a measure of liberty, and to be hindering ||none|| of his own from waiting upon him.

<sup>24</sup> And ||after certain days|| <Felix having arrived, with Drusilla his own wife, who was |a Jewess|> he sent for Paul, and heard him concerning the faith |respecting Christ Jesus|.

<sup>25</sup> And <as he was reasoning of righteousness, and self-control, and the judgment to come> Felix |becoming greatly afraid'| answered—

||For the present|| be going thy way, and |when I find an opportunity'| I will send for thee,—

<sup>26</sup> |at the same time| also hoping that |money| would be given him by Paul; |wherefore also| <the more frequently' sending for him> he used to converse with him. <sup>27</sup> <When,

however, ||two years|| were completed> |Felix| was succeeded |by Porcius Festus|, and Felix |wishing to gain favour with the Jews| left Paul bound.

§ 42. Festus wishing him to go to Jerusalem, Paul appeals unto Caesar.

25 ||Festus|| therefore, |having come upon the province|,<sup>a</sup> ||after three' days|| went up unto Jerusalem from Caesarea; <sup>2</sup> and the High-priests and chiefs of the Jews laid information before him against Paul, and began to beseech him.

<sup>3</sup> asking for themselves as a favour against him, that he would send for him unto Jerusalem,—making |an ambush| to kill him on the way.

<sup>4</sup> ||Festus|| therefore, answered, that Paul should be kept in Caesarea, and that |he himself| was about |shortly| to be going out [thither].

<sup>5</sup> <They, therefore, among you (saith he) who are in power> let them go down with me; and <if there is in the man |anything' amiss|> let them accuse him.

<sup>6</sup> And <spending among them, not more than eight or ten days> he went down unto Caesarea; and ||on the morrow|| |taking his place upon the judgment-seat| ordered Paul to be brought. <sup>7</sup> And [when he presented himself| the Jews who [from Jerusalem| had come down, stood round about him, [many' and grievous' charges| bringing against [him], which they were not able to prove,—<sup>8</sup> Paul saying in defence—

<Neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Cæsar> have I in anything sinned.

<sup>9</sup> But [Festus| <wishing [with the Jews| to gain [favour|> answered Paul, and said—

Art thou willing [unto Jerusalem| to go up, and [there| [concerning these things| be judged before me?

<sup>10</sup> But Paul said—

<Standing before the judgment-seat of Cæsar> am I, where [I| ought to be judged.

<Unto the Jews> have I done no wrong, as [even thou| [right well| art discovering.

<sup>11</sup> <If then, on the one hand, I am doing wrong, and [anything worthy of death| have committed> I excuse not myself from dying; but, on the other hand, <if there is [nothing| in the things whereof these are accusing me> [no man| hath power to give [me| unto them as a favour:—

[Unto Cæsar| I appeal!

<sup>12</sup> [Then Festus| [having conversed with the council| answered—

[Unto Cæsar| hast thou appealed? [Unto Cæsar| shalt thou go.

§ 43. King Agrippa, informed by Festus of Paul, wishes to hear him.

<sup>13</sup> And [some days having gone by| [Agrippa the king and Bernice| came down to Cæsarea, to salute Festus. <sup>14</sup> And <as they were spending more days there> [Festus| repeated [unto the king|, the things relating to Paul, saying—

[A certain man| hath been left behind by Felix, [as a prisoner|; <sup>15</sup> concerning whom [when I happened to be in Jerusalem| the High-priests and the Elders of the Jews laid information, claiming against him a condemnation; <sup>16</sup> unto whom I made answer— That it is not a custom with Romans, to grant as a favour any man, before the accused [face to face| should have his accusers, and [opportunity of defence| should receive, concerning the charge.

<sup>17</sup> <When, therefore, they had come together here> [no delay whatever| making, [on the next day| <taking my place upon the judgment-seat> I ordered the man to be brought:

<sup>18</sup> Concerning whom, taking their stand, [his accusers| [no accusation at all| were bringing, of the evil things which [I| had been suspecting; <sup>19</sup> but [certain questions concerning their own' demon-worship| had they against him, and concerning one Jesus, who had died, whom Paul was affirming to be alive.

<sup>20</sup> And [I| <being at a loss' as to the inquiry

[into these things|> was asking—Whether he might be minded to go unto Jerusalem, and [there| be judged concerning these things. <sup>21</sup> But [Paul| <having appealed to be kept for the decision [of the Emperor|> I ordered him to be kept, until I could send him up unto Cæsar.

I could wish [myself also| [to hear| the man. [To-morrow| (saith he) thou shalt hear him.

§ 44. Paul before King Agrippa.

<sup>23</sup> [On the morrow, therefore| <when Agrippa had come', and Bernice, with great' display, and they had entered into the audience-chamber, with the captains of thousands and men of distinction of the city,—and Festus had given orders> Paul was brought. <sup>24</sup> And Festus saith—

King Agrippa! and all' ye men [here present with us|:

Ye observe this person, concerning whom [one and all' the throng of the Jews| have interceded with me, both in Jerusalem and here, crying aloud that he ought not to be living any longer.

<sup>25</sup> But [I| gathered, that [nothing' worthy of death| had he committed; and <[this man himself| having appealed unto the Emperor> I decided to send him:—

<sup>26</sup> Concerning whom [anything certain' to write unto my lord| I have not; wherefore, I have brought him forth before you,—and especially' before thee, King Agrippa! in order that [after examination had| I might have something I could write;

<sup>27</sup> For [unreasonable, unto me| it seemeth, [when sending a prisoner| not also [the accusations against' him| to signify.

<sup>28</sup> And [Agrippa| [unto Paul| said—

It is permitted thee [on thine own behalf| to be speaking.

[Then Paul| [stretching forth his hand| went on to make his defence.

<sup>2</sup> <Concerning all' things of which I am accused by Jews, King' Agrippa> I have been counting myself happy, that [before thee| am I about, this day, to be making my defence; <sup>3</sup> [especially| as thou art [well-versed| in all' the Jewish customs and questions. Wherefore, I beseech thee [patiently| to hear me.

<sup>4</sup> <My manner of life, then, from my youth, which [from its commencement| was formed among my nation, even in Jerusalem> know all' Jews, <sup>5</sup> inasmuch as they were aforetime observing me, from the outset,—if they please to bear witness,—that <according to the strictest' sect of our own' religion> I lived [a Pharisee|.

<sup>6</sup> And [now| <for the hope of the promise [unto our fathers| being brought to pass by God> am I standing to be judged,—<sup>7</sup> unto which [hope| [our twelve-tribed' nation| <with intensity, night and day, rendering divine service> is hoping to attain :—[concerning which hope | I am being accused by Jews, O King !

8 What ! |incredible| is it judged with you, that ||God the dead' doth raise||?

9 ||I|| therefore, imagined to myself, that |against the name of Jesus the Nazarene| it was needful |many' hostile things| to bring about,—<sup>10</sup> which also I did in Jerusalem, yea and |many' of the saints|| ||I myself|| |in prisons| shut up,—||the authority|| |from the High-priests| having received; and <when they were to be put to death> I brought against them my vote; <sup>11</sup> and <||throughout all' the synagogues|| ofttimes' punishing them> I would fain have compelled them to defame; and <being excessively' maddened against them> I went on to pursue them as far as even the outlying' cities.

12 ||Among which things|| <being on a journey unto Damascus,* with the authority and commission of the High-priests> <sup>13</sup> ||at mid-day, on the road|| I saw, O King, ||from heaven, above the splendour of the sun, shining around me|| a light, and [around] them who |with me| were journeying; <sup>14</sup> and <when we were all' fallen to the ground> I heard a voice, saying unto me, in the Hebrew' language—

Saul! Saul! why |me| art thou persecuting?

It is hard for thee |against goads| to be kicking!

15 And ||I|| said—

Who art thou, Lord?

And |the Lord| said—

||I|| am Jesus, whom ||thou|| art persecuting!

16 But rise and stand upon thy feet <sup>b</sup>; for |to this end| have I appeared unto thee,—To appoint thee <sup>c</sup> an attendant and a witness,

Both of the things as to which thou hast seen me,

And of those as to which I will appear unto thee;

17 Rescuing thee from among the people, and from among the nations,<sup>d</sup>

Unto whom ||I|| am sending thee—

18 To open their eyes <sup>e</sup>;

That they turn from darkness unto light,

And the authority of Satan unto God,

That they may receive remission of sins,

And an inheritance among them who have been made holy by the faith respecting me.

19 Wherefore, O King Agrippa,—

I became not disobedient<sup>f</sup> unto the heavenly' vision;

20 But—

<Both to them in Damascus, first, and in Jerusalem,

Unto all' the country of Judæa also, and unto the nations>

I carried tidings—

That they should repent, and turn unto God,

And |works worthy of their repentance| should practise.

21 ||Because of these things|| Jews seized me in the temple, and were attempting to slay me with their own hands.

22 So then <having met with |the help that is from God|> |until this day| do I stand, witnessing to both small and great, |nothing else| saying, than those things which both |the prophets| ||and Moses|| did say should certainly come to pass :—

23 If |to suffer| the Christ was destined,

If <the first of a resurrection of the dead> <sup>a</sup> he is about to carry tidings ||of light|| both unto the people, and unto the nations.

24 Now <as he was saying these' things in his defence> ||Festus|| |with a loud' voice| saith—Thou art raving, Paul!

||Thy great learning|| is turning thee round unto |raving madness|.

25 But Paul—

I am not raving (saith he), most noble' Festus,—but ||the declarations of truth' and soberness'|| am I sounding forth :

26 For well-knoweth |the king| concerning these things, unto whom |with boldness of utterance| am I speaking; for ||that these things are not hidden from him|| I am well persuaded,—for |not in a corner| hath this thing been done.

27 Believest thou, King Agrippa, in the prophets? I know that thou believest!

28 And ||Agrippa|| [said] unto Paul—

||Almost|| art thou persuading |me| to become a |Christian|!

29 And |Paul| [answered]—

I could pray unto God that <both almost' and altogether,' not only thou' but all' they who are hearing me this day> might become such,—as even ||I|| am, ||excepting these bonds||.

30 And the king rose up, and the governor, Bernice also, and they who had been sitting with them; <sup>31</sup> and |retiring| they began conversing one with another, saying—

||Nothing worthy of death' or of bonds'|| doth this man practise.

32 And ||Agrippa|| [unto Festus] said—

This man might have been released |if he had not appealed unto Cæsar|.

§ 45. Paul's Voyage and Shipwreck.

27 Now <when it was determined that we should sail for Italy> they proceeded to deliver Paul, and certain other' prisoners, unto a centurion by name Julius, of an Augustan band. <sup>2</sup> And <going on board a ship of Adramittium, about to sail unto the places along the coast of Asia> we put to sea, there being with us, Aristarchus, a Macedonian of Thessalonica; <sup>3</sup> and [on the next day] we put into Zidon,—and Julius, treating Paul [kindly],<sup>a</sup> gave him leave to go [unto his friends] and refresh himself; <sup>4</sup> and [from thence] putting out to sea, we sailed under the lee of Cyprus, because the winds were contrary; <sup>5</sup> and <sailing across [the sea which is off Cilicia and Pamphylia]> we came down to Myra, a city of Lycia. <sup>6</sup> And the centurion <[there] finding a ship of Alexandria sailing for Italy> put us therein. <sup>7</sup> And <for a good many days sailing slowly, and getting with difficulty over against Cnidus, the wind not suffering us to get on> we sailed under the lee of Crete, over against Salmone; <sup>8</sup> and <with difficulty> coasting it> we came to a certain place called Fair Havens, near to which was the city of Lasea.

<sup>9</sup> And <when [a considerable] time had passed, and sailing was already dangerous, because [even the Fast] had already gone by> Paul began to advise, <sup>10</sup> saying to them—

Sirs! I perceive that <with damage and great loss, not only of the cargo and of the ship, but even of our persons> shall the voyage certainly be attended.

<sup>11</sup> But [the centurion] [by the master, and by the shipowner] was more persuaded, than by the things which [by Paul] were spoken. <sup>12</sup> And <the harbour being [inconvenient] to winter in> [the more part] advised to put to sea from thence, if by any means they might be able to reach Phoenix, to winter, [which was] a harbour of Crete, looking north-east and south-east. <sup>13</sup> And [a south wind blowing softly] [supposing they had secured their purpose] weighing anchor, they began to sail close in shore along Crete. <sup>14</sup> But [after no long time] there beat down from it a tempestuous wind, called Euraquilo,—<sup>15</sup> and <the ship being caught and we not being able to bring her head to the wind> we let her go, and were borne along.

<sup>16</sup> And <running under the lee [of some small island] called Cauda> we were able, with difficulty, to make ourselves masters of the boat,—<sup>17</sup> which, hoisting up, they began to use [helps], under-girding the ship; and <fearing lest [on the sand-bank of Africa]> they should run aground [lowering the gear] [so] were they borne along.

<sup>18</sup> But [we being exceedingly] tempest-tossed [on the next day] they began to throw [cargo] overboard; <sup>19</sup> and [on the third day with their own hands] [the tackling of the ship] they cast away. <sup>20</sup> And <neither [sun nor stars] appearing for many days, and [no small tempest] lying upon us> in the end [all hope that we should be saved] began to be taken from us.

Ye ought, indeed, Sirs! [yielding to me] not to have sailed away from Crete, to get this damage and loss. . . .

<sup>22</sup> And [now] I recommend you to be of good courage; for [loss of life] shall there be [none at all] from among you,—only of the ship.

<sup>23</sup> For there stood by me this' night <[belonging unto the God whose I am, unto whom also I am doing divine service]> [a messenger],

<sup>24</sup> saying—

Be not afraid, Paul! for [before Caesar] must thou needs stand.

And lo! God hath granted to thee as a favour, all' them who are sailing with thee.

<sup>25</sup> Wherefore, be of good courage, Sirs; for I believe in God—that [so] it shall be, according as it hath been told me.

<sup>26</sup> [Upon a certain island] however, must we needs be wrecked.

<sup>27</sup> And <when [the fourteenth] night had come, and we were being driven to and fro in the Adriatic> [about midnight] the sailors suspected that some country was [nearing] them;

<sup>28</sup> and [sounding] they found twenty fathoms,—and [going a little further, and again sounding] they found fifteen fathoms. <sup>29</sup> And <fearing lest haply [on rocky places] we should be wrecked> [out of stern] cast they four anchors,—and began praying that day might dawn.

<sup>30</sup> But <when [the sailors] were seeking to flee out of the ship, and had lowered the boat into the sea, by pretext, as though out of the prow they had been about to reach anchors> <sup>31</sup> Paul said unto the centurion, and unto the soldiers—<Except [these] abide in the ship> [ye yourselves] cannot be saved!

<sup>32</sup> [Then] the soldiers cut away the ropes of the boat, and let her fall off. <sup>33</sup> And

[until day was about to dawn] Paul continued to beseech one and all to take some food, saying—

This day is [the fourteenth day] that [in suspense, fasting] ye are completing,—having helped yourselves [to nothing].

<sup>34</sup> Wherefore, I beseech you to take some food,—for [this] lays a foundation for your safety; for [of no one of you] shall a hair of the head perish.

<sup>35</sup> And <having said these things, and taken a loaf> he gave thanks unto God before all, and [breaking it] began to eat. <sup>36</sup> And <all becoming [of good cheer]> [they also] helped themselves to food. <sup>37</sup> Now we were, in the ship, in all' about seventy-six<sup>a</sup> souls.

<sup>38</sup> And [when they were satisfied with food] they began lightening the ship, casting out the wheat into the sea. <sup>39</sup> And [when day came] they could not recognise [the land]; but perceived [a certain bay] having a beach,—upon which they were minded, if they could, safely to bring the ship. <sup>40</sup> And <casting off the anchors> they let them go into the sea,—[at the same time| loosening the lashings of the rudders, and |hoisting up the foresail to the wind| they made for the beach. <sup>41</sup> But <falling into a place where two seas met> they ran the ship aground; and [the foreship sticking fast] remained immoveable, while [the stern] began to break up, from the violence [of the waves]. <sup>42</sup> Now [the soldiers' counsel] turned out to be, that they should kill [the prisoners], lest any one should swim out and escape; <sup>43</sup> but [the centurion] <being minded to bring Paul safely through> hindered them of their purpose, and ordered such as were able to swim, to cast themselves overboard and [get first] to the land;—<sup>44</sup> and [the rest] <[some] on planks, and [some] on other things from the ship>... and [so] it came to pass, that [all] were brought safely through, on to the land.

§ 46. Paul in Melita. Thence to Rome.

<sup>18</sup> And [when we were safely through] [then] we knew that the island was called [Melita]. And [the natives] began to shew us no common philanthropy; for [kindling a fire] they received us all, because of the rain that had set in, and because of the cold. <sup>3</sup> But <when Paul had gathered a certain lot [of firewood] into a bundle, and laid it on the fire> [a viper] [by reason of the heat] coming forth, fastened on his hand. <sup>4</sup> And <when the natives saw the brute hanging out from his hand> they began to say [one to another]—

[Doubtless] this man is [a murderer], whom <though brought safely through out of the sea> [Justice] hath not suffered [to live].

<sup>5</sup> [He] however, <shaking off the brute into the fire> suffered no harm; <sup>6</sup> whereas [they] were expecting, that he was about to become inflamed, or to fall down suddenly dead;—but <when they had been long expecting, and had observed [nothing unusual] happening unto him> they changed their minds, and began to say he was a god.

Now [in the neighbourhood of that place] were lands, belonging to the chief man of the island, by name Publius,—who [making us welcome] [for three days] hospitably entertained us. <sup>8</sup> And it so happened that [the father of Publius] [with feverish heats and dysentery distressed] was lying prostrate: unto whom Paul entering in and praying, laid his hands on him, and healed him. <sup>9</sup> And [when this happened] [the rest also, even they in the island who were sick] were coming in and getting cured; <sup>10</sup> who also [with many honours] honoured us, and [when we were about to sail] put on board such things as we might need.

And [after three months] we sailed in a ship which had wintered in the island, [a ship] of Alexandria, whose ensign was—The Twin Brothers; <sup>12</sup> and [touching at Syracuse] we tarried three days; <sup>13</sup> whence [going round] we reached Rhegium; and [after one day] [a south wind springing up] [on the second day] we came to Puteoli; <sup>14</sup> where [finding brethren] we were entreated to tarry [with them] <sup>a</sup> seven days;—and [thus, towards Rome] we came. <sup>15</sup> And <when from thence the brethren heard the tidings concerning us> they came to meet us, as far as The Market of Appius and the Three Taverns,—[seeing whom] Paul thanked God, and took courage.

§ 47. Paul in Rome.

<sup>16</sup> And [when we entered into Rome] Paul was suffered to abide by himself, with the soldier that guarded him.

<sup>17</sup> And it came to pass, after three days, that he called together those who were the chief of the Jews; and [when they came together] he began to say unto them—

[I] brethren, <though I had done [nothing against] the people, or the customs of our fathers> [as a prisoner] [out of Jerusalem] was delivered into the hands of the Romans;—<sup>18</sup> who, indeed, [when they had examined me] were minded to set me at liberty, because there was [nothing worthy of death] in me.

<sup>19</sup> But [as the Jews spake against it] I was constrained to appeal unto Caesar,—not as though [against my nation] I had anything to bring by way of accusation.

<sup>20</sup> [For this cause] therefore, have I called for you, to see and to speak with you; for [on account of the hope of Israel] [this chain] have I about me!

<sup>21</sup> And [they] said [unto him]—

[We] have neither received [letters concerning thee] from the Jews, nor hath anyone of the brethren [who hath arrived] reported or spoken concerning thee, anything ill.

<sup>22</sup> But we deem it well, that [from thee] we should hear what are thine opinions; for, indeed, [concerning this sect] it is [known to us] that [everywhere] is it spoken against.

<sup>23</sup> And [having arranged with him a day] there came unto him, to the lodging, a larger number; unto whom he proceeded to expound, bearing full witness as to the kingdom of God, and persuading them concerning Jesus, both from the law of Moses, and from the prophets,—from morning till evening. <sup>24</sup> And [some] indeed, were persuaded by the things that were spoken, whereas [others] disbelieved; <sup>25</sup> and <not being [agreed] among themselves> they began to leave,—Paul having said one thing—

[Well] did [the Holy Spirit] speak through Isaiah the prophet, unto your fathers, saying—

Go thy way unto this people, and say—

Ye shall [surely hear] and yet will in nowise understand,

And [surely see] and yet will in nowise perceive;

<sup>27</sup> For the heart of this people [hath become dense],

<sup>a</sup> Or: "were entreated by them."

And |with their ears, heavily| have they
heard,
And |their eyes| have they closed,—
Lest once they should see with their eyes,
And |with their ears| should hear,
And |with their hearts| should understand,
and return,—
When I would certainly heal them.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>a</sup> Is. vi. 9 f; cp. Mt. xiii. 14; Jn. xii. 40.

<sup>28</sup> Be it |known unto you| therefore, That ||unto the nations|| hath been sent forth this<sup>a</sup> salvation of God<sup>a</sup>; ||they|| will also hear. [<sup>29</sup>]<sup>b</sup> <sup>30</sup> And he abode two whole years in his own<sup>a</sup> hired house, and made welcome all<sup>a</sup> who were coming in unto him,—<sup>31</sup> proclaiming the kingdom of God, and teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ, with all<sup>a</sup> freedom of speech ||without hindrance||.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE ROMANS.

- 1 Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ,<sup>a</sup>
A called<sup>b</sup> apostle,
Separated unto the glad-message of God—
2 Which he promised beforehand, through his prophets, in holy scriptures—
3 Concerning his Son,—
Who came to be of the seed of David,
according to flesh,
4 Who was distinguished<sup>c</sup> as the Son of God—
By power,
According to a Holy<sup>d</sup> Spirit,
Through means of<sup>e</sup> a resurrection of the dead,—<sup>f</sup>
Jesus Christ our Lord;
5 Through whom we have received favour and apostleship, For obedience of faith among all<sup>a</sup> the nations, in behalf of his name, <sup>6</sup> Among whom are ||ye also|| called<sup>f</sup> of Jesus Christ:
7 <Unto all<sup>a</sup> that are in Rome, beloved of God, called<sup>f</sup> saints>
Favour unto you, and peace,
From God our Father and Lord Jesus
Christ.
8 ||First|| indeed, I give thanks unto my God, through Jesus Christ, concerning you all,<sup>g</sup> Because<sup>h</sup> your faith is being announced throughout the whole<sup>i</sup> world.
9 For God is ||my witness||—
<Unto whom I am rendering divine service in my spirit, in the glad message of his Son>—

<sup>a</sup> Or (WH): "Christ Jesus."
<sup>b</sup> Or: "bidden."
<sup>c</sup> Mi: "marked off."
<sup>d</sup> Mi: "out of."
<sup>e</sup> Plural. Mi: "of dead ones"; cp. Ac. xxvi. 23.
<sup>f</sup> Or: "invited."
<sup>g</sup> 1 Co. i. 4; 1 Th. i. 2.
<sup>i</sup> Ph. i. 8.

- ||How incessantly|| I am making |mention of you| <sup>10</sup> at all times in my prayers,—
Making supplication—
If |by some means, even now, at any time|
I may have a way opened, in the will of God, to come unto you<sup>a</sup>;
11 For I am longing to see you,
That I may impart some spiritual gift unto
you,
To the end ye may be established,— 12 That is to say—There may be a mutual encouragement among you, Each by the other's faith, [Both yours and mine].
13 I do not wish, however that ye should be ignorant, brethren,
That ||many times|| have I purposed to come
unto you,
But have been hindered, until the present,—
In order that ||some<sup>a</sup> fruit|| I might have among you also, even as among the other<sup>a</sup>
nations.
14 <Both to Greeks and to Barbarians,
Both to wise and to unwise> [a debtor] I am:
15 ||Thus|| the eagerness on my<sup>a</sup> part—
||Unto you also who are in Rome||
To announce the joyful message.
16 For I am not ashamed of the joyful message;
For it is |God's power|<sup>b</sup> unto salvation, to every<sup>a</sup> one that believeth,
Both to Jew [first] and to Greek;
17 For ||a righteousness of God|| is therein revealed,—
||By faith unto faith||:
Even as it is written—

<sup>a</sup> Chap. xv. 23, 32

<sup>b</sup> 1 Co. i. 18.

But ||he that is righteous|| [by faith] shall live.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>18</sup> For there is being revealed an anger of God from heaven—

Against all' ungodliness and unrighteousness of men

Who ||the truth, in unrighteousness|| do hold down;—

<sup>19</sup> Inasmuch as ||what may be known of God|| is [manifest] among them,
For ||God|| [unto them] hath made it manifest,—

<sup>20</sup> For ||the unseen things of him|| [from a world's creation] <[By the things made] being perceived> Are clearly seen,
||Even his eternal power and divinity||,—

To the end they should be without excuse;

<sup>21</sup> Inasmuch as <having come to know God> Not ||as God|| did they glorify him, or give him thanks,

But were made-fruitless in their reasonings,

And darkened was their undiscerning' heart,

<sup>24</sup> Wherefore God [gave them up] in the covetings of their hearts, unto impurity, so as to be dishonouring their bodies among them,—

And rendered worship and service unto the creature rather than unto the Creator,—
Who is blessed unto the ages. Amen!

For ||even their females|| exchanged away the natural' use into that which is against<sup>e</sup> nature,—

<sup>27</sup> [In like manner also] ||even the males||, <Leaving the natural' use of the female>

Flamed out in their eager desire one for another,

||Males with males|| [the indecency] effecting,—

And <the necessary recompence of their error> [within themselves] duly receiving;—

<sup>28</sup> And <even as they did not approve to be holding ||God|| in acknowledgment>

God [gave them up] unto a disapproved' mind,

To be doing the things that are not becoming,—

<sup>29</sup> Filled with all' unrighteousness, wickedness, greed, baseness,

Full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, evil disposition,

<sup>30</sup> Whisperers, detractors, haters of God, insolent, arrogant, vain boasters, inventors of vices, [unto parents] unyielding,

<sup>32</sup> ||Who||, indeed, <having acknowledged [the righteous sentence of God]—

That ||they who such things as these' do practise|| are [worthy of death]>

Not only ||the same things|| are doing,
But are even delighting together with them who are practising [them].

<sup>2</sup> Wherefore ||inexcusable|| thou art, O man [whoever] judgest;

For <wherein thou judgest some one else> ||thyself|| thou dost condemn,—

For ||the very things|| thou' dost practise [who art judging]:

<sup>2</sup> We know, however,<sup>a</sup> that ||the sentence of God|| is according to truth, against them who [such things as these] do practise.

<Who dost judge them who [such things] do practise, and yet art doing the same>

That ||thou|| shalt escape the sentence of God?

<sup>4</sup> Or <the riches of his kindness, and forbearance, and long-suffering> dost thou despise,—

Not knowing that ||the kindness of God|| [unto repentance] is leading thee?

<sup>5</sup> But <according to thy hardness, and [thine] impenitent' heart>

Art treasuring up for thyself anger, in a day of anger and revelation of the righteous judgment of God,—

<sup>7</sup> <Unto them, on the one hand, who [by way of endurance in good work] are seeking [glory, honour and incorruption]> ||life age-abiding||,<sup>c</sup>

<sup>8</sup> <Unto them, on the other hand, who are of contention, and are not yielding unto the truth, but are yielding unto unrighteousness> ||anger and wrath, tribulation and anguish— against every' soul of man who worketh out what is base, Both of Jew first and of Greek||,—

<sup>10</sup> But glory and honour and peace—Unto every' one who worketh what is good,

Both unto Jew first and unto Greek;

<sup>11</sup> For there is no respect of persons with God;—

- 12 For <as many as [without law] sinned>
 [Without law] also shall perish,
 And <as many as [within law] sinned>
 [Through law] shall be judged;
- 13 For [not the hearers of law]<sup>a</sup> are righteous with God,
 But [the doers of law] shall be declared righteous;—
- 14 For <whosoever [the nations which have not law] [by nature the things of the law] may be doing> [the same] [not having law] [unto themselves] are a law,—
- 15 [Who] indeed, shew the work of the law written in their hearts, Their conscience [therewith bearing witness]. And [between one another] their reasonings accusing—or [even excusing] them:—
- 16 In the day on which God judgeth<sup>b</sup> the secrets of men [according to my glad-message through Christ Jesus].<sup>c</sup>
- 17 <If, however, [thou] art taking the name of [Jew],
 And resting thyself upon law,
 And boasting in God,
 18 And art taking note of his will,<sup>d</sup> And testing the things that differ—when receiving oral instruction out of the law, 19 Art persuaded, moreover, that [thou thyself] art—A guide of the blind,<sup>e</sup> A light of them that are in darkness, <sup>20</sup> A trainer of the simple, A teacher of babes, Having the forming of knowledge and truth in the law>—
- 21 [Thou, therefore, that art teaching someone else]
 [Thyself] art thou not teaching?
 [Thou that proclaimest—Do not steal!]
 Art thou [stealing]?
 22 [That sayest—Do not commit adultery!]
 Art thou [committing adultery]?
 [That abhorrest sacrilege]
 Art thou [robbing temples]?
 23 [That in law' dost boast] [Through the transgression of the law, art thou dishonouring God]?
 24 For [the name of God] [because of you] is defamed among the nations,— [Even as it is written].<sup>f</sup>
- 25 For [circumcision] indeed, profiteth—if [law]
 thou be practising;
 But <if thou be [a transgressor of law]> [thy circumcision] hath become [uncircumcision].
- 26 <If then [the uncircumcision] be guarding
 [the righteous requirement of the law]> Shall not [his uncircumcision] [as circumcision] be reckoned?—
- 27 And the uncircumcision by nature [completing the law]
 Shall judge [thee] who [notwithstanding letter and circumcision] art a transgressor of law!

- 28 For [not he who is one in appearance] is [a Jew],
 Nor is [that which is such in appearance in flesh] [circumcision];
- 29 But [he who is one in secret] is a Jew,—
 And [that is] [circumcision] which is of the heart, [in spirit, not in letter],— Whose [praise]<sup>g</sup> is not of men, [but of God].
- 3 What, then, is the preëminence of the Jew?
 Or what, the profit of his circumcision?
- <sup>2</sup> Much, every way:—
 [First] indeed, that they were entrusted with the oracles of God.
- 3 For what? <If some distrusted> shall their distrust make [the trust of God] void?
- 4 Far be it! But let [God] prove to be [true], albeit [every man] be false!<sup>h</sup>
 Even as it is written—
*That thou mightest be declared righteous in thy words,
 And overcome when thou art in judgment.*<sup>i</sup>
- 5 But <if [our unrighteousness] commendeth
 [God's righteousness]> what shall we say?
 Surely [not unrighteous] is God who visiteth with his anger?
 [After the manner of men] I am speaking,—
- 6 Far be it! Else how shall God judge the world?
- 7 But <if [the truth of God] [by my falsehood] hath the more abounded unto his glory>
 Why [any longer] am [even I] [as a sinner] to be judged? <sup>8</sup> And why not <according as we are injuriously charged, [and] according as some affirm that we say> Let us do the bad things, that the good ones may come? [whose sentence] is [just]?
- 9 What then? do we screen ourselves?
 Not at all! For we have before accused both Jews and Greeks of being [all under sin].
- 10 Even as it is written—
*There is none righteous, [not even one],
 There is none that discerneth, There is none that seeketh out<sup>j</sup> God:
 [All] have turned aside, [Together] have become useless,
 There is none that doeth kindness, Not so much as one<sup>k</sup>;*
- 11 *[A sepulchre opened] is their throat,
 [With their tongues] have they used deceit,
 [The poison of asps] is under their lips,<sup>l</sup> [Whose mouth] [of cursing and bitterness] is full,<sup>m</sup>
 [Swift] are their feet to shed blood<sup>n</sup>;
 [Destruction and misery] are in their way.
 And [way of peace] have they not known<sup>o</sup>!*

- 18 There is no fear of God before their eyes.<sup>a</sup> 19 Now we know,
 That <whatsoever things the law saith>
 ||To them who are within the law|| it
 speaketh,
 In order that ||every' mouth|| may be stopped,
 And all the world come ||under penal sentence|| unto God.
 20 Inasmuch as ||by works of law||<sup>b</sup> shall no'
flesh be declared righteous |before him|,—<sup>c</sup>
 ||Through law|| in fact, is discovery of sin.
 21 But |now| ||apart from law|| |a righteousness of
 God| hath been manifested,
 Borne witness to by the law and the prophets,—
 22 A righteousness of God, through faith in [Jesus] Christ, unto all' that have faith;
 For there is no distinction,—
 23 For ||all|| have sinned, and fall short of the glory of God;
 24 Being declared righteous freely by his' favour, through the redemption that is in Christ
 Jesus:—
 25 Whom God hath set forth as a propitiatory covering,<sup>d</sup> through faith<sup>e</sup> in his' blood,
 For a showing forth of his righteousness.
 By reason of the passing-by of the previously' committed sins,<sup>26</sup> |in the forbearance of God|,—
 With a view to a showing forth of his righteousness in the present' season,
 That he might be' righteous even when declaring' righteous him that hath faith in Jesus.
 27 Where, then, the boasting! It is excluded.
 Through what kind' of law? ||Of works||?
 Nay! but through a law of faith:
 28 For<sup>f</sup> we reckon that a man |is to be declared righteous by faith| ||apart from works of law||.<sup>g</sup>
 29 Or [is God] the God ||of Jews only||, and not of the nations<sup>h</sup> also?
 Yea! of the nations<sup>h</sup> also:—
 30 If, at all events, God is |one|,
 Who will declare righteous—
 The circumcision, by faith,
 And the uncircumcision, through their faith.
 31 Do we then make ||law|| void, through means of our faith?
 Far be it! On the contrary ||law|| we do establish!
 4 What, then, shall we say—||as touching Abraham our forefather||<sup>i</sup>?
 2 For <if Abraham |by works| was declared righteous> he hath whereof to boast;—
 Nevertheless, not towards God,—
 3 For what doth |the Scripture| say?

<sup>a</sup> Ps. xxxvi. 1.<sup>b</sup> Gal. ii. 16.<sup>c</sup> Ps. cxliii. 2.<sup>d</sup> Cp. Exo. xxv. 17, n.<sup>e</sup> Or (WH): "the faith."<sup>f</sup> Or (WH): "hence."<sup>g</sup> Gal. ii. 16.<sup>h</sup> Or: "such as are of the nations."<sup>i</sup> Or (WH): "affirm Abraham our father to have found."

*And Abraham believed in God,
 And it was reckoned unto him as righteousness.*<sup>a</sup>

- 4 Now <unto him that worketh> |the reward| is not reckoned by way of favour, but by way of obligation,
 5 Whereas <unto him that worketh not, but believeth on him that declareth righteous the ungodly> his faith is reckoned'
 as righteousness.
 6 Just as |David| also affirmeth the happiness of the man, unto whom |God| reckoneth righteousness, apart from works:—
 7 ||Happy|| they whose lawlessnesses have been forgiven,
 And whose sins have been covered,
 8 ||Happy|| the man |whose sin| the Lord will in nowise reckon.<sup>b</sup>
 9 ||This happiness|| then, [is it] for the circumcision, or for the uncircumcision?
 For we say—
 His faith was reckoned' unto Abraham as righteousness<sup>c</sup>:
 10 How, then, was it reckoned? When he was |in circumcision|, or in uncircum-
 cision?
 Not in circumcision, but in uncircumcision;
 11 And |a sign|| he received [namely] of circumcision,<sup>d</sup>
 A seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had while yet uncircumcised;
 To the end he might be father of all' that believe during uncircumcision,
 To the end [the same] righteousness
 |might be reckoned unto them|,—
 12 And father of circumcision—
 Unto them who are not of circumcision only,
 But who also walk in the steps of the faith
 |while yet uncircumcised| of our father
 Abraham.
 13 For ||not through means of law|| doth the promise belong unto Abraham or unto his seed,—
 That he should be heir of the<sup>e</sup> world;
 But |through a righteousness by faith|.
 14 For <if |they who are of law|<sup>f</sup> are heirs>
 Made void is faith,
 And of no effect is the promise.<sup>g</sup>
 15 For ||the law|| worketh out |anger|,
 But <where there is no law> neither is there transgression.
 16 ||For this cause|| it is by faith, in order that it may be by way of favour,
 So that the promise is |firm| unto all' the seed,—
 Not unto that by the law only,
 But unto that also [which is such] by the faith of Abraham;
 Who is father of us all',—<sup>h</sup>

<sup>a</sup> Gen. xv. 6; Gal. iii. 6; Ja.<sup>b</sup> ii. 23.<sup>c</sup> Ps. xxxii. 1 f.<sup>d</sup> Gen. xv. 6.<sup>e</sup> Gen. xvii. 11.<sup>f</sup> Or: "a."<sup>g</sup> Or: "such by law."<sup>h</sup> Cp. Gal. iii. 17, 18.<sup>i</sup> Cp. Gal. iii. 9.

- 17 Even as it is written—
 ||Father of many nations|| have I appointed thee<sup>a</sup>;
 Before him whom he believed—||God||,
 Who causeth the dead to live,
 And calleth the things that are not as things that are:—
 18 Who ||past hope|| |upon hope| believed,
 So that he became father of many
nations,—
 According to what had been said—
So shall be thy seed;—<sup>b</sup> 19 And <without becoming weak in his faith> he attentively considered his own' body, already deadened—He being a hundred years old, The deadening also of Sarah's womb; <sup>20</sup> <In respect, however, of the promise of God> he was not led to hesitate by unbelief, But received power by his faith, Giving glory unto God, <sup>21</sup> And being fully persuaded (that)—
 <What he hath promised>
 |Able| is he also to perform:
 22 Wherefore [also], it was reckoned unto him as righteousness.<sup>c</sup> 23 Now it was not written for his sake alone, that it was reckoned unto him,<sup>c</sup> 24 But for our sakes also—unto whom it is to be reckoned,— Even unto them that believe upon him who raised Jesus our Lord from among the dead:
 25 Who was delivered up on account of our offences.<sup>d</sup>
 And was raised on account of the declaring us righteous.
 5 <Having, therefore, been declared righteous by faith>
 Let us have ||peace|| towards God,
 Through our Lord Jesus Christ,—
 2 Through whom also we have had ||our introduction|| [by our faith] into this favour wherein we stand<sup>e</sup>;
 And let us boast in hope of the glory of God.
 2 And ||not only so|| But let us boast<sup>f</sup> also in our tribulations;
 Knowing that ||our tribulation|| worketh out
 |endurance|.
 4 And ||our endurance|| a testing,
 And ||our testing|| hope,
 5 And ||our hope|| putteth not to shame.<sup>g</sup>
 Because ||the love of God|| hath been poured out in our hearts, Through the Holy Spirit that hath been given unto us:
 6 Seeing that ||Christ||
 <We being weak as yet>
 |Seasonably,| in behalf of such as were ungodly| died.
 7 For ||scarcely in behalf of a righteous man|| will one die,—

- ||In behalf of the good man, indeed|| |peradventure| one even dareth to die;
 8 But God |commendeth his own' love unto us|
 In that—
 <We as yet being |sinners>|
 ||Christ|| |in our behalf| died.
 9 ||Much more|| then, <having now been declared righteous by his blood>
 Shall we be saved |through him| from the anger.<sup>h</sup>
 10 For <if being |enemies|
 We were reconciled unto God through the death of his Son>
 ||Much more|| <having been reconciled>
 Shall we be saved by his life.
 11 And ||not only|| so, But are even boasting in
 God,
 Through our Lord Jesus [Christ],—
 Through whom ||now|| |the reconciliation| we have received.
 12 ||For this cause||—
 <Just as ||through one' man|| |sin| into the world' entered,
 And ||through sin|| |death||,—
 And ||so|| |unto all' men| death passed through,
 For that |all| had sinned;—
 13 For ||until law|| sin was in the world,
 Although |sin| is not reckoned, when there is' no law,—
 14 ||Yet still|| death reigned' from Adam until Moses,
 Even over them who had not sinned
 after the likeness of the transgression of Adam,— ||Who is a type<sup>b</sup> of the Coming One||<sup>c</sup>;—
 15 But <not as the fault>
 ||So|| [also] the decree of favour,
 For <if ||by the fault of the one'|| |the many| died>
 ||Much more|| |the favour of God| and the free-gift in favour, by the one' man Jesus
 Christ| |unto the many| superabounded<sup>d</sup>;
 16 And <not as through one that sinned>
 Is that which is freely given,—
 For ||the sentence of judgment|| indeed, was—
 |Out of one [fault]| into condemnation,
 Whereas ||the decree of favour|| is—|Out of many' faults| into a recovery of righteousness.
 17 For <if ||by the fault of the one'|| |death| reigned through the one> ||Much more|| <they who |the superabundance of the favour and of [the free-gift of] the righteousness| do receive> ||In life||
 shall reign through the one, ||Jesus Christ||.<sup>e</sup>
 18 Hence, then <as |through one' fault| [the sentence was] unto all' men unto condemnation>
 ||So|| also, <through one' recovery of righteousness> [the decree of favour] is unto all men for <sup>a</sup> righteous acquittal unto life;

||So|| also ||through the obedience of the one|| 'righteous' the many shall be constituted:—

But <where the sin abounded<sup>c</sup>> the favour greatly superabounded<sup>d</sup>:—

<sup>21</sup> In order that—

<Just as [sin] reigned [in death]>

||So|| also ||favour|| might reign, through righteousness unto life age-abiding.<sup>d</sup>

||Through Jesus Christ our Lord||.

6 What, then, shall we say?

Are we still to continue in sin, that [favour] may abound?

<sup>2</sup> Far be it!

<We who have died unto sin> how [any longer] shall we live therein?

<sup>3</sup> Or know ye not, that ||we, as many as were immersed<sup>e</sup> into Christ [Jesus]||<sup>f</sup> [into his death] were immersed?

<sup>4</sup> We were, therefore, buried together with him,<sup>g</sup> through our immersion into his death,

In order that—

<Just as Christ was raised<sup>h</sup> from among the dead through the glory of the Father>

||So|| ||we also|| [in newness of life] should walk.

<sup>5</sup> For <if we have come to be [grown together] in<sup>b</sup> the likeness of his death>

Certainly ||in<sup>b</sup> that of his resurrection also|| shall we be.

<sup>6</sup> [Of this] taking note—

That ||our old<sup>i</sup> man||<sup>i</sup> was crucified together with him,

In order that the sinful<sup>k</sup> body<sup>k</sup> might be made powerless,

That we should [no longer] be in servitude to sin;

<sup>8</sup> Now <if we have died together with Christ> we believe that we shall also live together with him;

<sup>9</sup> Knowing that <[Christ] having been raised from among the dead> [no more] dieth,—

||Death|| ||over him|| [no more] hath lordship,—

<sup>12</sup> For <in that he died> ||unto sin|| died he [once for all],

But <in that he liveth> he liveth unto God.

<sup>11</sup> So ||ye also|| be reckoning yourselves to be— [Dead indeed unto sin],

But ||alive unto God, in Christ Jesus||.

<sup>12</sup> Let not sin, therefore, reign<sup>i</sup> in your death'-doomed body,

That ye should be obedient to its covetings;

<sup>13</sup> Neither be presenting your members, as weapons of unrighteousness, unto sin,

But [present yourselves] unto God, as though alive [from among the dead], And your members, as weapons of righteousness unto God;

<sup>14</sup> For ||sin|| [over you] shall not have lordship, For ye are not under law, but under favour.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>15</sup> What then?

Shall we sin, because we are not under law, but under favour?

Far be it!

<sup>16</sup> Know ye not that <unto whom ye are presenting yourselves as servants for obedience> [Servants] ye are unto [him unto] whom ye are obedient, Whether of sin unto death, Or of obedience unto righteousness?

<sup>17</sup> But thanks be unto God, that—

<Whereas ye were servants of sin>

Ye became obedient out of the heart unto the mould of teaching [into which ye were delivered]<sup>b</sup>;

<sup>18</sup> And <being freed from sin> ye were made servants unto righteousness;—

<sup>19</sup> [In human fashion] am I speaking, because of the weakness of your flesh;—

For <just as ye presented your members as servants unto impurity and unto lawlessness [for lawlessness]>.

||So, now|| present ye your members as servants unto righteousness, for sanctification.

<sup>20</sup> For <when ye were [servants] of sin> ye were [free] as to righteousness;—

<sup>21</sup> What? fruit, therefore, had ye [then]—in things for which ye [now] are taking shame to yourselves?

For ||the end of those things|| is death.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>22</sup> Whereas ||now|| <having been freed from sin, and made servants unto God>

Ye have your fruit for sanctification, And ||the end|| [life age-abiding].

But ||God's gift of favour|| is life age-abiding.<sup>d</sup> ||In Christ Jesus our Lord||.

7 Or are ye ignorant, brethren,—

<For [unto them that understand<sup>e</sup> law] am I speaking>

That ||the law|| hath lordship over a man [as long as he liveth]?

<sup>9</sup> Ml: "the body of the sin."

But <if her husband have died'>
 She hath received a full release from the law of her husband.
 3 Hence then <her husband being alive'>
 ||An adulteress|| shall she be called—|If she become another man's|,
 But <if the husband have died'> she is |free| from the law;
 So that she is not an adulteress, though she become another man's.
 4 So, then, my brethren ||ye also|| were made dead unto the law through the body of the Christ,
 To the end ye might become<sup>a</sup> another's—
 ||His who |from among the dead| was raised|,
 In order that we might bring forth fruit unto God.
 5 For <when we were in the flesh> ||the susceptibilities<sup>b</sup> of sins which were through the law|| used to be energized in our members, unto the bringing forth of fruit unto death;
 6 But ||now|| we have received full release from the law, by dying [in that] wherein we used to be held fast,
 So that we should be doing service—
 In newness of spirit,
 And not in obsolescence of letter.
 7 What, then, shall we say?
 Is the law sin? Far be it!
 ||On the contrary|| I had not discovered ||sin|| save through law,
 For even ||of coveting|| I had not been aware, if ||the law|| had not kept on saying—
Thou shalt not covet<sup>c</sup>;
 8 Howbeit sin, taking ||occasion||—
 ||Through the commandment|| wrought out in me all manner of coveting;
 For ||apart from law|| sin is dead;—
 9 And ||I|| was alive, apart from law, |at one time|,
 But <the commandment coming'>
 |Sin| sprang up to life,<sup>10</sup> whereas ||I|| died,—
 And the commandment which was unto life |was found by me| to be ||itself|| unto death;
 11 For ||sin||—taking ||occasion||—
 ||Through the commandment|| completely deceived me,
 And ||through it|| slew me:
 12 So that ||the law|| indeed, is holy, and |the commandment| ||holy, and righteous and good||,
 13 Did, then, ||that which is good|| |unto me| become death?
 Far be it!
 But [it was] sin <that it might appear' sin>
 |through that which was good| unto me' working out death,

<sup>c</sup> Exo. xx. 14, 17; Deu. v. 18, 21.

In order that ||exceeding sinful|| might sin become |through the commandment|.
 14 For we know, that ||the law|| is |spiritual|,—
 ||I|| however, am |a creature of flesh|,
 Sold under sin;
 15 For <that which I am working out>
 I do not approve,—
 For not <what I wish> |the same| I practise,<sup>a</sup>
 But <what I hate> |the same| I do;
 16 Now <if |what I wish not| the same' I do>
 I consent unto the law, that [it is] right.
 17 ||Now|| however, |no longer| am ||I|| working it out,
 But the ||sin|| |that dwelleth in me|;
 18 I know, in fact, that there dwelleth not in me <that is, in my flesh><sup>b</sup> anything |good|;
 For ||the wishing|| lieth near me,
 But ||the working out of what is right|| not!
 19 For not <the good that I wish> I do,
 But <the evil that I do not wish> |the same| I practise.
 20 Now <if |what I wish not| ||the same|| I do>
 |No longer| am ||I|| working it out,
 But the ||sin|| |that dwelleth in me|.
 21 Hence, I find the law <To me who wish' to be doing the right> That ||unto me|| |the wrong| lieth near:
 22 I have, in fact, a sympathetic pleasure in the law of God; |according to the inner' man|.
 23 But I behold a diverse' law in my members,
 Warring against the law of my mind,
 And taking me captive in<sup>c</sup> the law of sin which existeth in my members:—
 24 ||Wretched|| man am ||I||!
 Who shall rescue me out of this body |doomed to death|?
 25 [But] thanks be<sup>d</sup> unto God!—||Through Jesus Christ our Lord||,
 Hence, then,—
 ||I myself|| ||with the mind, indeed|| am in servitude unto a law of God;
 But ||with the flesh|| unto a law of sin.
 8 Hence, there is now ||no|| condemnation, unto them who are in Christ Jesus;
 2 For ||the law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus|| hath set thee<sup>e</sup> free from the law of sin and of death;—
 3 For <What was impossible by the law, in that it was weak through the flesh>
 ||God|| <by sending |his own' Son| in the likeness of sinful flesh, and concerning sin>
 Condemned sin in the flesh,
 4 In order that ||the righteous requirement of the law|| might be fulfilled in us— Who |not according to flesh| do walk. But according to spirit;

5 For ||they who according to flesh' have their being||
||The things of the flesh| do prefer,
But ||they according to the spirit||
||The things of the spirit|;
6 For ||what is preferred by the flesh|| [is]
death,
Whereas ||what is preferred by the spirit|| [is] life and peace;—
7 Inasmuch as ||what is preferred by the flesh|| [is] hostile towards God,
For ||unto the law of God|| it doth not submit itself, neither in fact can it,—
8 ||They, moreover, who in flesh' have their being|| cannot please ||God||.
9 But ||ye|| have not your being in flesh, but in spirit,—
If at least ||God's Spirit|| dwelleth in you<sup>a</sup>;
And <if anyone hath not |Christ's Spirit|>
||The same|| is not his;—
10 But <if |Christ| is in you>
||The body|| indeed, is dead by reason of sin,
Whereas ||the spirit|| is life by reason of
righteousness;
11 <If moreover ||the Spirit of him that raised
Jesus from among the dead|| dwelleth in
you>
||He that raised, from among the dead,
Christ Jesus||
Shall make alive [even] your death'- doomed bodies,
Through means<sup>b</sup> of his indwelling'
Spirit within you.
12 Hence, then, brethren—||debtors|| we are,
Not unto the flesh, that ||according to flesh||
we should live,—
13 For <if ||according to flesh| ye live> ye are about to die,
Whereas <if |in spirit| ||the practices of the flesh|| ye are putting to death> ye shall attain unto life;
14 For <as many as |by God's Spirit| are being led> ||the same|| are |God's sons|,—
15 For ye have not received a spirit of servitude, leading back into fear,
But ye have received a spirit of son-ship,<sup>c</sup>
Whereby we are exclaiming—
Abba! Oh Father!
16 ||The Spirit itself|| beareth witness together with our spirit, that we are children of God;
17 And <if children> ||heirs also||—
Heirs, indeed, of God,
But co-heirs with Christ,—
If, at least, we are suffering together,
In order that we may also be glorified together.

18 For I reckon, that |unworthy| are the sufferings of the present' season,
To be compared with the glory about' to be revealed towards<sup>a</sup> us;
19 For ||the eager outlook of creation|| ardently
awaiteth |the revealing of the sons of
God|,—
20 For ||unto vanity|| hath creation been made subject—
<Not by choice,
But by reason of him that made it subject>
In hope<sup>21</sup> that ||creation itself' also|| shall be freed—
From the bondage of the decay,
Into the freedom of the glory, of the sons
of God;
22 For we know, that ||all' creation|| is sighing together, and travailing-in-birth-throes together, |until the present|,—
23 And <not only so>
But ||we ourselves|| also, who have |the first-fruit of the Spirit|—
||[We] even ourselves|| |within our own selves| do sigh,—<sup>b</sup>
||Sonship|| ardently awaiting—|The redeeming of our body|;—
24 For ||by our hope|| have we been saved,—
But ||hope beheld|| is not' hope,
For ||what one beholdeth|| why doth
he hope for?
<If, however, |what we do not behold| we hope for>
||With endurance|| are we ardently awaiting [it];—
25 |In the selfsame way| moreover, ||even the
Spirit|| helpeth together in our weakness,—
For <what we should pray for as we ought> we know not,
But ||the Spirit itself' || maketh intercession,
with sighings unutterable,
27 And ||he that searcheth the hearts|| knoweth what is preferred by the Spirit—
That<sup>c</sup> ||according to God|| he maketh intercession in behalf of saints;
28 We know, further, that <unto them who love
God>
God causeth |all things| to work together,<sup>d</sup>
for good,—
|Unto them| who ||according to purpose|| are
|such as he hath called|;
29 For <whom he fore-approved><sup>e</sup>
He also fore-appointed, to be conformed unto the image of his Son, That he might be firstborn among many'
brethren,—
30 And <whom he fore-appointed>
||The same|| he also called,
And <whom he called>
||The same|| he also declared righteous,
And <whom he declared righteous>
||The same|| he also made glorious:—

- 31 What, then, shall we say to<sup>a</sup> these things?
 <If [God] [is] for' us> who [shall be] against' us?<sup>b</sup>
- 32 <He, at least, who [his own' Son] did not spare. But [in] behalf of us all [delivered him up]>
 How shall he not also [with him] [all things] upon us' in favour bestow?<sup>c</sup>
- 33 Who shall bring an accusation against the chosen ones of God?
 [God, who declareth righteous]?'<sup>d</sup>
- 34 Who is he that condemneth?'<sup>e</sup>
 [Christ [Jesus] who died?—
 Nay! rather' was raised [from among the dead],—
 Who is on the right hand<sup>f</sup> of God,
 Who also is making intercession in our behalf?]
- 35 Who shall separate us from the love of the Christ?<sup>g</sup>
 Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?—
 According as it is written—
 [For thy sake] are we being put to death all' the day long,
 We have been reckoned as sheep [for slaughter].—<sup>h</sup>
- 37 Nay [in all these things] we are more than conquering, [Through] him that hath loved us].
- 38 For I am persuaded that—<Neither death nor life, nor messengers nor principalities, nor things present nor things to come, nor powers,<sup>i</sup> nor height nor depth, nor any other created thing>
 [Shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord].
- 9 [Truth] say I, in Christ, I utter no falsehood,— <My conscience bearing witness' with me in the Holy Spirit>—
 2 That I have [great grief] and incessant' travail in my heart;
 3 For I could have wished to be [accursed] * [even I myself] from the Christ,
 In behalf of my brethren my kinsmen according to the flesh;—
 4 [Who] indeed, are Israelites,
 [Whose] are the sonship, and the glory, and the covenants, and the legislation, and the divine service, and the promises,
 5 [Whose] are the fathers,
 And [of whom] is the Christ—according to the flesh,—
 He who is over all, God, blessed unto the ages.<sup>h</sup> Amen.

- 6 It is not, however, as though the word of God [had failed];
 For [not all] they who are of' Israel [the same] are Israel,
 7 Neither [because they are seed of Abraham] are [all] children,—
 But [In Isaac] shall there be called unto thee a seed.<sup>a</sup>
- 8 That is—[Not the children of the flesh] [the same] are children of God;
 But [the children of the promise] are reckoned as a seed.
 9 For [of promise] is this word—
 [According to this season] will I come,
 And Sarah shall have a son.<sup>b</sup>
- 10 And <not only so>
 But <when [Rebekah also] was with child [of one]— Isaac our father,—
 11 They, in fact, not being yet born, nor having practised anything good or bad,—
 In order that the purpose of God [by way of election] might stand,—
 Not by works, But by him that was calling> 12 It was said unto her—
 [The elder] shall serve the younger<sup>c</sup>;
 13 Even as it is written—
 [Jacob] have I loved, but [Esau] have I hated.<sup>d</sup>
- 14 What, then, shall we say? Is there injustice with God? Far be it!
 15 For [unto Moses] he saith—
 I will have mercy upon whomsoever I can have<sup>e</sup> mercy,
 And I will have compassion upon whomsoever I can have<sup>f</sup> compassion.<sup>g</sup>
- 16 Hence, then, it is not of him that wisheth, nor of him that runneth,
 But of the mercy-shewing God.
 17 For the Scripture saith unto Pharaoh—
 [Unto this end] have I raised thee up,
 That I may thus shew in thee my power,
 And that I may declare my name in all' the earth.<sup>h</sup>
- 18 Hence, then,—
 [On whom he pleaseth] he hath mercy,
 And [whom he pleaseth] he doth harden.<sup>i</sup>
- 19 Thou wilt say to me, then—
 Why longer' findeth he fault?
 For [his purpose] who hath withstood?
 20 O man! Who, nevertheless, art [thou] that art answering again unto God?
 Shall [the thing formed] say [unto him that formed it]—<sup>j</sup>
 Why didst thou make me thus?
 21 Or hath not [the potter] a right [over the clay]—<sup>k</sup>

- ||Out of the same' lump||,
To make some, indeed, into a vessel for honour,
And some for dishonour?
22 And <if God—
Wishing to shew his anger, and to make known his power—
Bare, in much' patience, with vessels of anger<sup>a</sup> already fitted for destruction, 23 In order that he might make known the riches of his glory upon vessels of mercy which he prepared beforehand for glory,—
24 |Whom| he also called, |even us|
Not only from among Jews, But also from among the nations> [What then?]
25 As also |in Hosea| he saith—
*I will call the Not-my-people ||My people||,
And the Not-beloved ||Beloved||,<sup>b</sup>
26 And it shall be—
<In the place where it was said [to them]—
|Not my people| are ||ye|| !>
||There|| shall they be called—Sons of a Living God.<sup>c</sup>
27 ||Isaiah|| moreover, exclaimeth over<sup>d</sup> Israel—
<Though the number of the sons of Israel be' as the sand of the sea>
||The remnant|| shall be saved;
28 For ||a complete and concise account|| will the Lord make upon the earth.<sup>e</sup>
29 And ||even as Isaiah hath before said||—
<If ||the Lord of hosts|| had not left us a seed>
||As Sodom|| had we become,
And ||as Gomorrah|| had we been made like.<sup>f</sup>
30 What, then, shall we say?
That ||they of the nations||
<Who were not in pursuit of righteousness>
Have laid hold of righteousness,— A righteousness, however, which is by
faith;
31 Whereas ||Israel||
<Though in pursuit of a law of righteousness>
||Unto a law|| have not attained.
32 Wherefore?
Because <not by faith,
But as by works> [have they sought
it]:
They have stumbled at the stone of stumbling,<sup>g</sup>
33 Even as it is written—
*Lo! I lay in Zion,
A stone to strike against,
And a rock to stumble over,
And ||he that resteth faith thereupon|| shall not be put to shame.<sup>h</sup>
- 10 Brethren! ||the delight of my own' heart, and my supplication God-ward, in their behalf|| are for salvation;

- 2 For I bear them witness, that they have ||a zeal for God||,—but not according to correct knowledge;
3 For <Not knowing |God's| righteousness,
And ||their own|| seeking to establish> ||Unto the righteousness of God|| have they not submitted;
4 For Christ is |an end of law| ||for righteousness||, unto every' one that believeth.
5 For ||Moses|| writeth, that—
<As touching the righteousness that is by law>
||The man that hath done' [it]|| shall live thereby<sup>i</sup>;
6 Whereas ||the righteousness by faith'|| |thus|
speaketh—
*Do not say in thy heart,
Who shall ascend into heaven?<sup>j</sup>
That is, To bring ||Christ|| down,*
7 Or,
*Who shall descend into the abyss?<sup>k</sup>
That is, To bring up ||Christ, from
among the dead||;*
8 But what saith it?
||Near thee|| is |the declaration|,
||In thy mouth, and in thy heart||,—<sup>l</sup>
That is, The Declaration of the faith, which we proclaim:—
9 That <if thou shalt confess the declaration, with thy mouth—
That Jesus is ||Lord||,
And shalt believe, with thy heart—
That ||God|| raised him from among the dead>
||Thou shalt be saved||;—
10 For ||in heart||<sup>d</sup> it is to be believed unto righteousness,
And ||by mouth||<sup>d</sup> it is to be confessed
unto salvation.
11 For the scripture saith—
||No' one that resteth faith thereupon|| shall be put to shame;<sup>e</sup>
12 For there is no distinction—of Jew or Greek,—
For |the same [Lord]|| is Lord of all,
Being rich unto all' who call upon him;
13 For ||'Whosoever' shall call upon the name of the
Lord|| shall be saved<sup>f</sup>;—
14 How, then, shall men call upon one in whom they have not believed?
And how shall they believe in one of whom they have not heard?
And how shall they hear, without one to proclaim?
15 And how shall they proclaim, except they be sent?
Even as it is written—
How beautiful the feet of them that bring glad tidings of good things!<sup>g</sup>
16 But ||not all|| have become obedient unto the glad tidings;—

- For Isaiah saith—
Lord ! who believed what we have heard *?
 17 Hence our faith cometh by something heard,
 And that which is heard through a declaration of Christ.
 18 But I say : Have they not heard ?
Yea indeed—
Into all the earth hath gone forth their sound,
 And unto the ends of the inhabited world their declarations.<sup>b</sup> 19 But I say : Hath Israel not come to know ?
 First Moses saith—
I will provoke you to jealousy on account of a no-nation,
On account of an undiscerning nation will I make you very angry.<sup>c</sup>
 20 Isaiah however, waxeth daring, and saith—
I have been found by them who after me were not seeking,
Manifest have I become unto them who for me were not enquiring ;
 21 Whereas regarding Israel he saith—
All day long have I stretched forth my hands unto a people unyielding and contradicting.<sup>d</sup> 11 I say, then—
 Hath God cast off his people ?<sup>e</sup> Far be it !
 For I also am an Israelite,— Of the seed of Abraham, Of the tribe of Benjamin :
 2 God hath not cast off his people,<sup>e</sup> whom he fore-approved.<sup>f</sup>
 Or know ye not, in [the account of] Elijah, what the scripture saith, when he intercedeth with God against Israel ?
 3 Lord ! Thy prophets have they slain,
Thine altars have they overthrown,
 And I am left alone,
 And they are seeking my life !<sup>g</sup>
 4 But what saith unto him the response ?
I have left for myself seven thousand men,
Who indeed, have not bowed a knee unto Baal.<sup>h</sup>
 5 Thus then <in the present season also>
A remnant, by way of an election of favour hath come into being.
 6 <If, however, by favour> [no longer] of works ; else favour [no longer] proveth to be [favour] !
 7 What then ?
 <That which Israel seeketh after> the same it hath not obtained :—

Let their table be turned into a snare, and into a gin, and into a trap, and into a recompense unto them, 10 Darkened be their eyes, not to see,
 And their back do thou continually bow down.<sup>a</sup>
 11 I say then—Did they stumble in order that they might fall ?
 Far be it ! But by their fall [salvation] [hath come] unto the nations, to the end of provoking<sup>b</sup> them to jealousy.
 12 <If, moreover, their fall is the riches of a world,
 And their loss, the riches of nations>
 [How much rather] their fulness ?
 13 Unto you however, am I speaking,—you of the nations ;
 <Inasmuch, indeed, then, as I am [an apostle to the nations]> [my ministry] I glorify,
 14 If by any means I may provoke to jealousy my own flesh, And save some from among them ;—
 15 For <if [the casting away of them] hath become the reconciling of a world>
 What shall [the taking of them in addition] be, but [life from among the dead] ?
 16 <If, moreover, [the first fruit] [is] holy> [the lump] [shall be] also ;

 18 Be not boasting over the branches !

 Regard not [lofty] things, But be afraid
 21 For <if God hath not spared [the natural branches]>
 Neither thee will he spare !
 22 See, then, the kindness and the severity of God :
 [Upon them who have fallen] severity,—
 But [upon thee] the kindness of God,
 If thou abide still in the kindness,—
 Otherwise thou also shalt be cut out ;
 23 Whereas they also <unless they abide still in their want of faith> Shall be grafted in,
 For God is [able] again to engraft them !
 24 For <if thou [out of the naturally] wild olive] wast cut out,

And ||beyond nature|| hast been engrafted

How much rather|| shall |these, the natural

25 For I wish not, ye should be ignorant, brethren,

<Lest |within yourselves| ye be pre-

That ||a hardening in part|| hath befallen

32 For God hath shut up all together, in a refusal to yield,
In order that ||upon all|| he may bestow mercy.

33 Oh! the depth of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God!

|How unsearchable| his judgments!

And |untraceable| his ways!

34 For who hath come to know the mind of the Lord?

Or who hath become |his counsellor|?

35 Or who hath first given unto him, and it shall be recompensed to him again?<sup>d</sup>

36 Because ||of| him, and through' him, and unto'
him|| are all things:—

||Unto him|| be the glory, unto the ages.<sup>e</sup> Amen!

12 I beseech you therefore, brethren, through the compassions of God,

To present your bodies a living, holy sacrifice,
|unto God| acceptable,<sup>f</sup>—

Your rational' divine service;

2 And be not<sup>g</sup> configuring yourselves unto this age,

But be<sup>a</sup> transforming yourselves by the renewing of your mind,

To the end ye may be proving<sup>b</sup> what is the thing willed by God—the good and acceptable and perfect.

3 For I say

<Through the favour which hath been given me>

Unto every' one who is among you,—

Not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think,

But so to think as to think soberly—

As ||unto each one|| |God| hath dealt a measure of faith.

4 For <just as |in one' body| we have |many'
members|,<sup>c</sup>

Yet ||all the members|| have not the |same| office>

5 ||So|| ||we, the many|| are |one' body| in Christ,
Yet ||severally|| members |one of another|.

6 Now <having gifts of favour |according to the favour given unto us| differing>—

<Whether prophesying> [let us use it] according to the proportion of our faith,

7 <Or ministering> [use it] in our ministering,
<Or he that teacheth> [let him use his gift]
in his teaching,

8 <Or he that exhorteth> in his exhorting,
<He that imparteth> [let it be] with liberality,

<He that taketh a lead> with diligence,
<He that sheweth mercy> with cheerfulness.

9 ||Your love|| [be] without hypocrisy,—
Loathing that which is wicked,

Cleaving to that which is good;

10 <In your brotherly love> ||unto one another|| being tenderly affectioned,

<In honour> ||unto one another|| giving preference;

11 <In business> not slothful,

<In spirit> fervent,

<To the Lord> doing service,

12 <In hope> rejoicing,

<In tribulation> enduring,

<In prayer> persevering,

13 <With the needs of the saints> having fellowship,—

||Hospitality|| pursuing.

14 Bless them that persecute,<sup>d</sup> Bless, and do not curse.

15 Rejoice with them that rejoice,

Weep with them that weep:

16 ||The same thing|| |one to another| regarding,—
Not |the lofty things| regarding,

But ||by the lowly|| being led along.

Be not getting presumptuous in your own opinion<sup>e</sup>:

17 ||Unto no one|| |evil for evil| rendering:

Providing honourable<sup>f</sup> things before all' men<sup>g</sup>:

18 <If possible—so far as dependeth on you>
|with all' men| being at peace:

19 Not avenging ||yourselves||, beloved, but give place unto their anger;

<sup>g</sup> Pr. xiii. 4 (Sept.).

- For it is written—
 ¶ Mine is avenging,
 ¶ I will recompense;—saith the Lord<sup>a</sup>;
 20 But—
*<If thine enemy hunger> be feeding him,
 <If he thirst> be giving him drink;
 For <this' doing> coals of fire shall thou heap upon his head.<sup>b</sup>*
 21 Be not overcome by evil,
 But overcome evil with good.
 13 Let every soul unto protecting authorities be in subjection<sup>c</sup>;
 For there is no authority save by God,
 And they that are in being have by God been arranged,—
 2 So that he who rangeth himself against the authority
 Against the arrangement of God' opposeth himself,
 And they who oppose shall unto themselves a sentence of judgment receive.
 3 For they who bear rule are not a terror unto the good work, but unto the evil.
 Wouldst thou not be afraid of the authority?
 ¶ That which is good be thou doing, and thou shalt have praise of the same;
 4 For God's minister is he unto thee, for that which is good.
 But <if that which is evil thou be doing> be afraid!
 For not in vain the sword he beareth;
 For God's minister he is,—an avenger, unto anger, to him who practiseth what is evil.
 5 Wherefore it is necessary to be in subjection,—
 Not only because of the anger,
 But also because of the conscience;
 6 For because of this are ye paying tribute also,—
 For God's ministers of state they are.
 ¶ Unto this very thing giving constant attendance.
 7 Render unto all their dues,—
 <Unto whom tribute> tribute,
 <Unto whom tax> tax,
 <Unto whom fear> fear,
 <Unto whom honour> honour.
 8 ¶ Nothing to any be owing—save to be loving one another;
 9 For he that loveth his neighbour<sup>d</sup> hath given to law its fulfilment.
 For <this—
*Thou shalt not commit adultery,
 Thou shalt not commit murder,
 Thou shalt not steal,
 Thou shalt not covet,—<sup>e</sup>*

- ¶ In this word is summed up, [namely]—
Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.<sup>a</sup>
 10 ¶ Love unto one's neighbour worketh not ill;
 ¶ Law's fulness therefore, is Love.
 11 And <this besides>—
 Knowing the season—
 That it is an hour already for you<sup>b</sup> out of sleep to be awakened;
 For now is our salvation nearer, than when we believed:
 12 ¶ The night is far spent,
 And the day hath drawn near;
 Let us, then, cast off the works of darkness,
 ¶ And let us put on the armour of light,—
 13 ¶ As in daytime becomingly let us walk:
 Not in revellings, and in drunken bouts,<sup>c</sup>
 Not in chamberings, and in wanton deeds,<sup>d</sup>
 Not in strife, and envy<sup>e</sup>;—
 14 But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ,<sup>f</sup>
 And for the flesh take not forethought, to fulfil its covetings.
 14 ¶ Him that is weak in his faith receive ye,—
 Not for disputing opinions:—
 2 ¶ One indeed, hath faith to eat all things,
 Whereas he that is weak eateth herbs;
 3 Let not him that eateth despise him that eateth not,
 And let not him that eateth not judge him that eateth;
 For God hath received him.
 4 Who art thou, that judgest another's domestic<sup>g</sup>?
 ¶ To his own master he standeth, or falleth;
 He shall, however, be made to stand,—
 For his Master is able to make him stand.
 5 ¶ One indeed, esteemeth one day beyond another,
 Whereas another esteemeth every day:—
 Let each one in his own mind be fully persuaded.
 6 ¶ He that regardeth the day ¶ Unto the Lord regardeth it,—
 And <he that eateth> ¶ Unto the Lord doth eat,
 For he giveth thanks unto God;
 And <he that eateth not> ¶ Unto the Lord doth not eat, and give God thanks.
 7 For none of us unto himself liveth,
 And none unto himself dieth;
 8 For both <if we live> ¶ Unto the Lord we live,
 And <if we die> ¶ Unto the Lord we die;
 <Whether therefore we live, > ¶ The Lord's
 Or whether we die > we are;

<sup>g</sup> Ja. iv. 12.

- 9 For <to this end> [Christ] died and lived,<sup>a</sup>
In order that ||both of dead and living|| he might have lordship.
- 10 But ||thou|| why dost thou judge thy brother?
Aye! ||and thou|| why dost thou despise thy brother?
For ||all of us|| shall present ourselves unto the judgment seat of God<sup>b</sup>;
- 11 For it is written—
<Living am I||, saith the Lord>
||Unto me|| shall bow every' knee,
And ||every' tongue|| shall openly confess unto God.<sup>c</sup>
- 12 Hence, [then], ||each one of us|| [of himself] shall give [account] unto God.
- 13 ||No longer|| then, ||upon one another|| let us be sitting in judgment,
But ||this|| judge ye, rather—
Not to be putting a cause of stumbling before your brother, or an occasion to fall.
- 14 I know and am persuaded in the Lord Jesus—
That ||nothing|| is profane [of itself],—
Save to him who reckoneth anything to be [profane],
||Unto that man|| [it is] profane.<sup>d</sup>
- 15 <If, in fact, ||because of food|| thy brother is being grieved><sup>e</sup>
||No longer, by the rule of love|| art thou walking:—
Do not ||by thy food|| ||that man|| be destroying, on whose behalf Christ died!
- 16 Therefore, suffer not to be defamed, your own' good thing;
- 17 For [the kingdom of God] is not [eating and drinking],
But righteousness and peace and joy in Holy Spirit;
- 18 For ||he that [in this] doeth service unto the Christ||
Is acceptable unto God,
And approved unto men.
- 19 Hence, then, ||the things pertaining to peace|| let us pursue,
And the things which belong to the upbuilding one of another:
- 20 Do not ||for the sake of food|| be throwing down<sup>f</sup> the work of God!
||All things|| indeed, are pure<sup>g</sup>;
But ||ill|| is it for the man who [with occasion of stumbling] doth eat,—
- 21 ||Well|| is it, not to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor [to do aught] whereby [thy brother] is caused to stumble.
- 22 ||The faith which thou' hast|| have [to thyself] before God:
||Happy|| he that bringeth not judgment upon himself by that which he approveth;
- 23 But ||he that is in doubt|| ||if he eat|| hath condemned himself,—
Because [it was] not of faith,

- And ||everything' which is not of faith|| is [sin].
- 15 We are bound, however, ||we, who are strong||
[The weakness of them who are not strong] to be bearing,
And not ||unto ourselves|| to give pleasure.
- 2 Let ||each one of us|| [unto his neighbour] give pleasure—
For what is good, unto upbuilding;
- 3 For ||even the Christ|| [not unto himself] gave pleasure,
But, even as it is written—
||The reproaches of them that were reproaching thee|| fell upon me:—<sup>h</sup>
- 4 ||Whatsoever things, in fact, were written aforetime||
[All] for our own' instruction] were written,—
In order that <through endurance, and through the encouragement of the Scriptures> we might have their [hope].<sup>b</sup>
- 5 Now may ||the God of the endurance, and of the encouragement||
Give you ||the same thing|| to be regarding amongst one another, [according to Christ Jesus]<sup>c</sup>;
- 6 In order that ||with one accord, with one' mouth|| ye may be glorifying the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.
- 7 Wherefore receive ye one another,
Even as ||Christ also|| hath received us<sup>d</sup> [unto the glory of God]:—
- 8 For I affirm [Christ] to have become<sup>e</sup> [a minister of circumcision],
In behalf of the truth of God,—
To confirm the promises of the fathers,
And that ||the nations|| [for mercy] should glorify God:—
Even as it is written—
||For this cause|| will I openly confess unto thee among nations,
And ||unto thy name|| will I strike the strings<sup>f</sup>;
- 10 And [again] he saith—
Be glad, ye nations, with his people<sup>g</sup>;
- 11 And again—
Be giving praise, all' ye nations, unto the Lord,
And let all' the peoples repeat his praise<sup>h</sup>;
- 12 And ||again, Isaiah|| saith—
There shall be the root of Jesse,
And he that ariseth to rule nations,—
Upon ||him|| shall [nations] hope.<sup>i</sup>
- 13 Now ||the God of the hope|| fill you with all' joy and peace [in believing],
So that ye may surpass<sup>k</sup> in the hope,
In the power of Holy Spirit.

 Even ||I myself|| concerning you :
 That ||ye yourselves|| also, are Full of goodness,
 Filled with all' knowledge,
 Able also ||unto one another|| to be ministering admonition :
- 15 Howbeit ||the more boldly|| have I written unto
 you,—
 In some measure, as bringing it back to your minds,—
 By reason of the favour given unto me from
 God,—
- 16 That I should be a public minister of Christ
 Jesus unto the nations,
 Doing priestly service with the glad-message of God,
 In order that the offering up of the nations might prove to be acceptable,
 Being hallowed in Holy Spirit :
- 17 I have, therefore, [my] boasting in Christ Jesus, in the things pertaining to God,—
- 18 For I will* not dare to speak anything
 Save of the things which Christ |hath wrought out for himself| through me, for the obedience of nations,—
 By word and deed,
 By the power of signs and wonders,
 By the power of [Holy] Spirit ;
 So that I <from Jerusalem and in a circuit as far as Illyricum> have fulfilled the glad-message of the Christ,—
- 20 Although ||thus||—as ambitious to be announcing the glad-message,—

*They' shall see, unto whom had been announced no tidings concerning him,<sup>b</sup>
 And ||they who had not heard|| shall under-

- 22 Wherefore, also, I have been hindered, these through| to get sight of you, And |by you| to be set forward thither,—If |with your company| I have first' in some' measure been satisfied.

- 25 But ||now|| I am journeying unto Jerusalem,<sup>e</sup> ministering unto the saints ;

 unto them.
- 28 <||This|| then, having completed, and sealed unto them this fruit>
 I will come back, by you, unto Spain :—
- 29 And I know that <when I come unto
 you>
 ||In the fulness of the blessing of Christ||
 I shall come.
- 30 I beseech you, moreover, [brethren],

 To strive together with me, in your prayers on my behalf unto God,—
- 31 In order that I may be delivered from

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS.

- 1 Paul, a called' apostle of Jesus Christ, through God's will,—
 And Sosthenes the brother,—
- <sup>2</sup> Unto the assembly of God which is in Corinth, Sanctified in Christ Jesus,
 Called' saints,—
 With all' who call upon the name of our Lord
 Jesus Christ [in every' place],—||their
 Lord and ours||:
- <sup>3</sup> Favoured unto you, and peace,
 From God our Father, and Lord Jesus
 Christ.

- <sup>4</sup> I give thanks unto my God,<sup>a</sup> at all times, concerning you,
 By reason of the favour of God given unto you in Christ Jesus,—
- <sup>5</sup> That |in everything| ye have been enriched
 in him—
 In all' discourse and in all' knowledge;
- <sup>6</sup> Even as ||the witness of the Christ|| hath been confirmed in<sup>b</sup> you,
- <sup>7</sup> So that ye come short in no' gift of favour,—

<sup>a</sup> Ro. i. 8; 1 Th. i. 2.<sup>b</sup> Or: "among."

- Ardently awaiting the revelation of our Lord Jesus Christ:
- 8 Who will also confirm<sup>a</sup> you unto the end, Unaccusable in the day of our Lord Jesus [Christ]:
- 9 ¶[Faithful] is God, through whom ye have been called into the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord.
- 10 But I beseech you, brethren, Through the name of our Lord Jesus Christ,—
That [the same thing] ye [all] be saying,
And that there be not, among you, [divisions];
But that ye be fitly joined together—
In the same' mind,
And in the same' judgment.
- 11 For it hath been signified unto me, concerning you, my brethren,—
By them who are of [the household of] Chloe,—
That there are [strifes among you].
- 12 Now I mean this,—
That [each one of you] is saying—
¶I|| indeed, am of Paul,
But ¶I|| of Apollos,
But ¶I|| of Cephas,
But ¶I|| of Christ<sup>b</sup>:
- 13 The Christ [is divided]!<sup>c</sup>
Was ¶Paul|| crucified for you?
Or [into<sup>d</sup> the name of Paul] were ye immersed?
- 14 I give thanks<sup>e</sup> that [none of you] did I immerse—Save Crispus and Gaius,
- 15 Lest any should say—
¶Into my own' name|| I immersed;—
- 16 Yea! I immersed the house [of Stephanas] also,— ¶Besides|| I know not whether [anyone else] I immersed.
- 17 For Christ sent me not, to be immersing,
But to be telling the good news,—
Not with wisdom of discourse,
Lest [void] should be made [the cross of the Christ].
- 18 For [the discourse which concerneth the Cross]
¶Unto them, indeed, who are perishing|| is [foolishness];
But [unto them who are being saved—unto us] it is [God's power].<sup>f</sup>
- 19 For it is written—
*I will destroy the wisdom of the wise,
And [the discernment of the discerning] will I set aside.<sup>g</sup>*
- 20 Where is the wise?
Where is the scribe?<sup>h</sup>
Where is the disputer of this age?

<sup>a</sup> 1 Th. iii. 13; 2 Th. ii. 17.<sup>b</sup> Chap. iii. 4.<sup>c</sup> Or (WH): "Is the Christ divided?"<sup>d</sup> Cp. Mt. xxviii. 19.<sup>e</sup> Or (WH) add: "unto God."<sup>f</sup> Ro. i. 16.<sup>g</sup> Is. xxix. 14.<sup>h</sup> Is. xix. 11 f; xxxiii. 18.

- Hath not God made foolish' the wisdom of the world?
- 21 For <seeing that [in the wisdom of God] The world [through its wisdom] did not get to know God>
God was well-pleased—
<Through the foolishness of the thing proclaimed> to save them that believe.
- 22 Seeing that
Both ¶Jews|| [for signs] do ask,
And ¶Greeks|| [for wisdom] do seek,
- 23 Whereas ¶we|| proclaim a Christ who hath been crucified,— [Unto Jews] indeed, an occasion of stumbling,
And [unto Gentiles] foolishness;
24 But <unto the called themselves'—
Both Jews and Greeks>
¶[Christ]|| [God's] power, and [God's] wisdom.
- 25 Because ¶[God's foolish thing]|| is [wiser than men],
And ¶[God's weak thing]|| [mightier than men].
- 26 For be looking at the calling of you, brethren,—
That [there were]
Not many' wise, according to flesh,
Not many' powerful,
Not many' high-born:
- 27 On the contrary—
¶[The foolish things of the world]|| hath God chosen,
That he might put to shame them who are wise,
And [the weak things of the world]|| hath God chosen,
That he might put to shame the things that are mighty,
- 28 And <the low-born things of the world, And the things that are despised> hath God chosen,—
¶[And] the things that are not||,—
That [the things that are] he might bring to nought;
- 29 So that no' flesh should boast before God.
- 30 But ¶[of him]|| are ¶[ye]|| [in Christ Jesus],—
Who hath been made wisdom unto us, [from God],—
Both righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption:
In order that [even as it is written]—
¶He that boasteth||
¶In the Lord|| let him boast.<sup>a</sup>
- 2 ¶I|| therefore, brethren, [when I came unto you], Came [not with excellency of discourse or wisdom]
Declaring unto you the mystery<sup>b</sup> of God;
- 2 For I had not determined<sup>c</sup> to know anything among you,
Save Jesus Christ,—and [him] as one who had been crucified!
- 3 ¶I|| therefore, [in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling]
Came to be with you,

- <sup>4</sup> And ||my discourse, and what I proclaimed||
Were not in suasive words |of wisdom|,
But in demonstration of Spirit and power<sup>a</sup>;
<sup>5</sup> In order that ||your faith|| might not be
In men's wisdom,
But in God's power.
- <sup>6</sup> ||Wisdom|| however, we do speak |among the full-grown|,—
|Wisdom| indeed,
Not of this age,
Nor of the rulers of this age, who are to come to nought;
<sup>7</sup> But we speak |God's| wisdom, in a sacred secret,<sup>b</sup>
That hidden [wisdom],
Which God marked out beforehand, before the ages, for our glory,— <sup>8</sup> Which ||none of the rulers of this age had come to know||,
For ||had they known||, not, in that case,
||the Lord of the glory|| would they have crucified!
<sup>9</sup> But |even as it is written|—
*<The things which eye hath not seen, and ear hath not heard,
And upon the heart of man have not come up,— Whatever things God hath prepared for them that love him>*<sup>c</sup>
<sup>10</sup> ||Unto us|| in fact, hath God revealed through
the Spirit;
For |the Spirit| ||into all things|| maketh
search,
Yea! the deep things of God.
<sup>11</sup> For who of men knoweth the things of a man,—
Save the spirit of the man that is in him?
|Thus| ||even the things of God|| hath no one
come to know,
Save the Spirit of God.
- <sup>12</sup> But ||as for us||—
|Not the spirit of the world| have we received,
But the Spirit which is of God,—
That we might know the things which |by God| have been given in favour unto us:—
- <sup>13</sup> Which we also speak—
Not in words |taught of human wisdom|,
But in such as are taught of [the] Spirit,
||By spiritual words|| |spiritual things| explaining.
- <sup>14</sup> But ||a man of the soul||<sup>d</sup> doth not welcome the things of the Spirit of God,
For they are |foolishness unto him|, and he cannot get to know them,
Because |spiritually| are they examined;
<sup>15</sup> But ||the man of the spirit||,
On the one hand, examineth all things,
But, on the other, ||he himself|| |by no one|
is examined.

- <sup>16</sup> For who hath come to know the mind of the Lord, that shall instruct him?<sup>a</sup>
But ||we|| have |the mind of Christ|.
- <sup>3</sup> ||I|| therefore, brethren, have not been able to speak unto you,
As unto men of the Spirit,
But as unto men of the flesh—
As unto babes in Christ:—
<sup>2</sup> |With milk| have I fed you,
Not |with meat|;
For |not yet| have ye been able;—
Nay! ||not [yet] even now|| are ye able,
<sup>3</sup> For ye are |yet fleshly|.
For <whereas there are, among you, jealousy and strife><sup>b</sup>
Are ye not |fleshly|, and |after the manner of men| walking?
<sup>4</sup> For <as soon as one beginneth to say—
||I|| indeed, am of Paul!
And another—
||I|| of Apollos!>
Are ye not ||men||?
<sup>5</sup> What then is Apollos? and, What is Paul?
Ministers through whom ye believed, and |each|| as the Lord |gave| to him.
- <sup>6</sup> ||I|| planted,
||Apollos|| watered,—
But |God| caused to ||grow||.
<sup>7</sup> So that, |neither is| |he that planteth| anything,
Nor, he that watereth,—
But |God| who causeth to ||grow||.
- <sup>8</sup> Moreover ||he that planteth and he that watereth|| are |one|:—
Howbeit, ||each one|| |his own' reward| shall receive,—according to his own' labour.
- <sup>9</sup> For we are ||God's|| fellow-workmen:
Ye are ||God's' farm, God's' building||.
- <sup>10</sup> <According to the favour of God which hath been given unto me>
||As a wise' master-builder|| I laid |a foundation|,
Whereas |another| is building thereon;
But ||let each one|| see, how he buildeth
thereon;
<sup>11</sup> For ||other foundation||<sup>c</sup> can' |no one| lay,
than that which is lying,
Which is ||Jesus Christ||.
- <sup>12</sup> But <if anyone is building, upon the foundation—
Gold, silver, precious stones,
Wood, hay, straw>
<sup>13</sup> ||Each' one's work|| shall be made |manifest|;
For ||the day|| will make it plain,
Because |by fire| is it to be revealed,—
And ||each' one's work|| |of what sort it is| the fire itself' will prove:—
<sup>14</sup> <If |anyone's work| shall abide, which he built>
|A reward| shall he receive,—
<sup>15</sup> <If |anyone's work| shall be burnt up>

- He shall suffer loss,
But shall *||himself||* be saved—
Though *||thus||* *||as through fire||*.
- 16 Know ye not
That ye are *||*a shrine * of God*||*,
And that *||the Spirit of God||* *||within you||*
doth dwell?
- 17 <If anyone doth mar *||the shrine of God||*>
*||God||* will mar him*||*;
For *||the shrine of God||* is *||holy||*,—
And *||such||* are *||ye||*.
- 18 Let *||no one||* be deceiving *||himself||*:—
<If anyone imagineth himself to be *||wise||*, among you, in this age>
Let him become *||foolish||*, that he may become *||wise||*;
- 19 For *||the wisdom of this world||* is *||foolishness with God||*;
For it is written—
He that taketh the wise in their knavery,—<sup>b</sup>
- 20 And *||again||*—
*||The Lord||* taketh note of the speculations of the wise, *||that they are vain||*.<sup>c</sup>
- 21 So then, let *||no one||* be boasting in men;
For *||all things||* are *||yours||*,—
22 <Whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas,
Or the world, or life, or death,
Or things present, or things to come>
*||All||* are *||yours||*,
23 And *||ye||* are *||Christ's||*,—
And *||Christ||* is *||God's||*.
- 4 Let a man *||so||* be reckoning *||of us||*,
As officers of Christ,
And stewards of sacred secrets<sup>d</sup> of God.
- 2 *||Here||* furthermore, it is sought in stewards,
That *||faithful||* one be found.
- 3 *||With me||* however, it counteth *||for the very smallest thing||*,
That *||by you||* I should be examined,
Or by a human<sup>e</sup> day.<sup>e</sup>
Nay! I am not even examining *||myself||*,
4 For *||of nothing, to myself||* am I conscious;
Nevertheless *||not hereby||* am I declared
righteous,
But *||he that doth examine me||* is *||the Lord||*.
- 5 So then *||not before the fitting time||* be judging anything,—
Until the Lord shall come,
Who will both bring to light the hidden things of darkness,
And make manifest the counsels of the
hearts;
And *||then||* *||the praise||* shall come to each one *||from God||*.
- 6 But *||these things||*, brethren, have I transferred unto myself and Apollos *||for your sakes||*,
That *||in us||* ye might learn *||the lesson||*—
Not beyond the things that are written...!
That ye do not puff yourselves up *||individually||* *||for this one against that||*.

will search.

- 7 For who maketh thee to differ? and what hast thou which thou didst not receive?
But <if thou didst even receive it> why dost thou boast, as though thou hadst not received it?
- 8 *||Already||* ye have become full,
*||Already||* ye are become rich,—
*||Apart from us||* ye are become kings!
And I would indeed ye had' become kings,
That *||we also||* *||with you||* might have together become kings!
- 9 For I think that *||God||* hath set forth *||us the apostles, to be last of all||*, as men devoted to death,—
In that *||a spectacle||* have we been made, unto the world,—both unto messengers and unto men.
- 10 *||We||* are foolish for Christ's sake, but *||ye||*
prudent in Christ;
*||We||* are weak, but *||ye||* mighty;
*||Ye||* all-glorious, but *||we||* dishonoured.
- 11 *||Until the present' hour||* we both hunger and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and are wanderers, <sup>12</sup> and toil, working with our own' hands:
*||Being reviled||* we bless,
*||Being persecuted||* we hold on,
13 *||Being defamed||* we beseech:
*||As the sweepings of the world||* have we become,
The offscouring of all—*||until even now||*.
- 14 Not *||to shame you||* write I these things;
But *||as my beloved children||* I admonish you.
- 15 For <though *||myriads of tutors||* ye should have in Christ>
Yet not many' fathers;
For <in Christ Jesus, through means of the joyful message> *||I||* begat *||you||*.
- 16 I beseech you, therefore,—become *||*imitators * of
me*||*.
- 17 *||For this cause||* sent I unto you, Timothy,—
Who is my beloved and faithful child in the Lord,
Who shall put *||you||* in mind of my ways
which are in Christ [Jesus],
Even as *||everywhere, in every' assembly||* I
teach.
- 18 But <as though I were not coming unto you>
Some are puffed up!
19 Howbeit, I will come quickly unto you,—
If *||the Lord||* please,—
And will get to know—
<Not the speech' of them who are puffed up>
But *||the power||*;
- 20 For *||not in speech||* is the kingdom of God,
But *||in power||*.
- 21 What will ye?
That *||with a rod||* I should come unto you?
Or *||with love, and a spirit of meekness||*?
- 5 *||On all hands||* there is reported to be among
you—*||fornication||*,

<sup>a</sup> Chap. xi. 1.

- And such' fornication as this'—
Which [not among the nations] [is found],—
As that one should have [his father's] [wife]*:—
- 2 And [ye] have become puffed up,
And have not rather' mourned,
In order that he might be removed out of your midst, who [this deed] hath wrought.
- 3 For [I] indeed,— <Being absent in the body, but present in the spirit>
Have [already] judged, [As present],
Him who [thus] [this thing] hath perpetrated:—
- 4 [In the name of our Lord Jesus]
<Ye being gathered together,
And my' spirit,
With the power of our Lord Jesus>
5 To deliver such a one as this, unto Satan,
For the destruction of the flesh,—
That [the spirit] may be saved in the day of the Lord.
- 6 [Unseemly] is your boast!
Know ye not that [a little' leaven] doth leaven
[the whole' of the lump]?<sup>b</sup>
- 7 Purge ye out the old' leaven,
That ye may be a new' lump,—
Even as ye are unleavened;
For [our passover] hath even been sacrificed<sup>c</sup>—
[Christ]:
- 8 So then, let us be keeping the feast,—
Not with old leaven,
Nor with leaven of baseness and wickedness,—
But with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.
- 9 I wrote<sup>d</sup> unto you in my letter—
Not to be mixing yourselves up with forni-cators:—
- 10 [Not at all] [meaning] the fornicators of this world, or the covetous and extortioners, or idolaters,—
Else had ye been obliged, in that case, to go [out of the world].
- 11 But [now] I have written unto you not to be mixing yourselves up,—
<If anyone named [a brother]
Be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolater, or a reviler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner>
[With such a one as this] not so much [as to be eating together],
- 12 For what have [I] to do to be judging [them who are without]?
Do [ye] not judge [them who are within],
- 13 Whereas [them who are without] [God]
judgeth?
Remove ye the wicked man from among [yourselves].<sup>e</sup>
- 6 Dare any of you <having [a matter] against
his brother>

- Sue for judgment before the unrighteous,
And not before the saints?
- 2 Or know ye not
That [the saints] shall judge [the world]?
And <if [by you] [the world] is to be judged> [Unworthy] are ye of the smallest judgment-seats?
- 3 Know ye not
That we shall judge [messengers]*?
And not, then, matters of this life?
- 4 <If, then [for matters of this life] ye have judgment-seats>
<Them who are of no account in the assembly>
[these] are ye seating thereupon?
- 5 [With a view to shame you] am I speaking.
[So] is it [possible] that there is among you—not so much as one' wise man, who shall be able to judge between his brethren,—
- 6 But [brother with brother] sueth for judgment,
And that' before unbelievers?
- 7 [Already] indeed, it is [an utter' defeat<sup>b</sup> for you], that ye are having [law-suits] one with another.
Wherefore are ye not rather' taking wrong?
Wherefore are ye not rather' suffering yourselves to be defrauded?
- 8 Nay! but [ye] are doing wrong, and defrauding,—and that' [your] brethren.
- 9 Or know ye not
That [wrong-doers] shall not inherit [God's' kingdom]<sup>c</sup>?
Be not deceiving yourselves:—
Neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor sodomites, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards,
nor revilers, nor extortioners—
Shall inherit [God's kingdom].
- 10 And [these things] were some of you;
But ye bathed them away,—
But ye were sanctified,<sup>d</sup>
But ye were justified,
In the name of [our] Lord Jesus Christ,
And in the Spirit of our God.
- 11 [All things] [unto me] are allowable,<sup>e</sup>
But [not all things] are profitable:
[All things] [unto me] are allowable,
But [I] will not be brought under authority by any.
- 12 Foods for the belly, and the belly for foods;
But [God] will set aside [both it and them].
[The body] however, is not for fornication, but [for the Lord],—and [the Lord], for [the body].
- 13 [God] moreover, hath both raised up [the Lord],
And will raise [us] up from among [the dead]<sup>f</sup> through his power.<sup>g</sup>
- 14 Know ye not
That [your bodies] are [members of Christ]?
Shall I, then, take away the members of the Christ and make them members [of a harlot]?

Far be it!

<sup>15</sup> Or know ye not

That [he that joineth himself unto the harlot] is [one's body]?

For, saith he, [the two] shall become [one flesh]<sup>a</sup>;

<sup>17</sup> But [he that joineth himself unto the Lord] is [one's Spirit].

[Every sin, whatsoever a man shall commit] is [outside his body],

But [he that committeth fornication] bringeth sin [into his own body].<sup>b</sup>

<sup>19</sup> Or know ye not

That [your body] is [a shrine<sup>c</sup> of the Holy Spirit that is within you, which ye have from God]?

And ye are not your own;—

<sup>20</sup> For ye have been bought with a price<sup>d</sup>! Therefore glorify God in your body.

<sup>7</sup> Now <concerning the things whereof ye wrote>

It were [good] for a man, not to touch [a woman];

<sup>2</sup> But <on account of fornications>

Let [each man] have [his own's wife],

And [each woman] have [her own's husband];

<sup>3</sup> [Unto the wife] let [the husband] render [what is her due],

And [in like manner] [the wife also] unto the husband,—

And [in like manner] [the husband also] [over his own's body] hath not authority, [but the wife].

<sup>5</sup> Be not depriving one another—

Unless perhaps by consent for a season,

That ye may have leisure for prayer,

And [again] may be [together],—
Lest Satan be tempting you by reason of your want of self-control.

<sup>6</sup> [This] however I am saying, [by way of concession, not of injunction];

<sup>7</sup> Besides, I desire all' men to be [even as myself],—

But [each one] hath his [personal] gift from God,

[One] after this manner, and [another] after that.

<sup>8</sup> But I say <to the unmarried, and to the widows>

[Good] were it for them, that they should abide [even as I];

<sup>9</sup> But <if they have not self-control> let them marry,

For [better] is it, to marry than to burn.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>10</sup> <To the married, however> I give charge—

Not [I] but [the Lord],—

That [a wife] [from her husband] do not depart,—

<sup>11</sup> But <if she should even depart>

Let her remain unmarried,

Or [to her husband] be reconciled;

And let not [a husband] leave [his wife].

<sup>12</sup> But <unto the rest> say [I]—

[Not the Lord],—

<If [any brother] hath [a wife that believeth not],

And [she] is well pleased to dwell with him>

Let him not leave her;

<sup>13</sup> And <a woman who hath a husband that believeth not,

And [he] is well pleased to dwell with her> Let her not leave her husband;—

<sup>14</sup> For the husband that believeth not is hallowed in the wife,

And the wife that believeth not is hallowed in the brother:

Else were [your children] [impure],

But [now] are they [pure].

<sup>15</sup> But <if [the unbelieving] departeth><sup>a</sup> let him depart:

The brother or the sister hath not come into bondage, in such cases,

But [in peace] hath God called us.

<sup>16</sup> For how knowest thou, O woman, whether [thy husband] thou shalt save?

Or how knowest thou, O man, whether [thy wife] thou shalt save?

<As the Lord hath distributed [unto each one],

As God hath called [each one]>

[So] let him be walking;—

And [so] [in all the assemblies] I ordain.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>18</sup> [After being circumcised] was any called?

Let him not become uncircumcised;

[In uncircumcision] hath any been called?

Let him not be circumcised:

<sup>19</sup> [The circumcision] is [nothing],

And [the uncircumcision] is [nothing],—

But keeping the commandments of God.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>20</sup> [Each one] <in the calling wherein he was called>

[In the same] let him abide<sup>d</sup>;

<sup>21</sup> [A bond-servant] wast thou called?

Let it not cause [thee] concern;

But <if thou canst even become [free]>

Rather use it.

<sup>22</sup> For <he who in the Lord' was called, being a bond-servant>

Is [a freed-man of the Lord];

[In like manner] <he that was called being [a freeman]>

Is Christ's [bond-servant];—

<sup>23</sup> [With a price] have ye been bought,—<sup>e</sup>

Do not become bond-servants of men:

<sup>24</sup> <Each one | wherein he was called |, brethren>

<sup>25</sup> But <concerning them who are virgin>
|| Injunction of the Lord || have I none;
Yet |a judgment| do I give, as one who hath obtained mercy from the Lord to be |faithful|:—<sup>b</sup>

<sup>26</sup> I consider this, then, to be |good| in the circumstances, by reason of the existing distress,—

That it is ||good for a man|| |so| to be:

<sup>27</sup> Hast thou become bound to a wife?

Do not seek to be loosed;

Hast thou become loosed from a wife?

Do not seek a wife.

<sup>28</sup> <If, however, thou shouldst even marry>

Thou hast not sinned;

And <if one who is virgin should marry>

That one hath not sinned;—

But ||tribulation of the flesh|| shall |such| have:—

Howbeit ||I|| spare you.

<sup>29</sup> But ||this|| I say—

|The opportunity| is contracted for what remaineth—

In order that ||they who have wives||

May be |as though they had none|,

<sup>30</sup> And ||they who weep||

As though they wept not,

And ||they who rejoice||

As though they rejoiced not,

And ||they who buy||

As though they possessed not,

<sup>31</sup> And ||they who use the world||

As though they used it not to the full,—

For the fashion of this world passeth away<sup>c</sup>;

<sup>32</sup> And I desire you to be |without anxiety|:—

||The unmarried man|| is anxious for the things of the Lord,

How he may please the Lord;

<sup>33</sup> But ||he that hath married|| is anxious for the things of the world,

How he may please his wife—<sup>34</sup> |and
he is divided|;

And ||the unmarried woman, or the virgin||
is anxious for the things of the Lord,

That she may be holy [both] in her body
and in her spirit;

But ||she that hath married|| is anxious for
the things of the world,

How she may please her husband.

<sup>35</sup> ||This|| however, |with a view to your' own'
profit| am I saying,—

Not that |a snare| |upon you| I may cast,

But with a view to what is comely, and devoted unto the Lord |without distraction|.

<sup>36</sup> <If however anyone considereth it |behaving unseemly towards his virginity|,—<sup>d</sup>

If he should be beyond the bloom of life,—

And |thus| it ought to come about>

||What he chooseth|| let him do,—he sinneth
not:

Let them marry!

<sup>37</sup> But <he that standeth in his heart |steadfast|,
Having no necessity,
But hath |authority| concerning his own'
will,

And |this| hath determined in his own'
heart,—

To preserve his own' virginity>

|Well| shall he do.

<sup>38</sup> So that ||he that giveth in marriage his own' virginity||

Doeth |well|;

And ||he that giveth it not||

Shall do |better|.

<sup>39</sup> ||A wife|| is bound for as long a time as her husband is living;

But <if the husband have fallen asleep>

She is |free| to be married unto whom she pleaseth,—

|Only| in the Lord;

<sup>40</sup> But ||happier|| is she, if |so| she remain,—

In my' judgment;

For<sup>a</sup> I think ||I also|| have the<sup>b</sup> Spirit of God.

8 Now <concerning the idol-sacrifices> we are aware—

Because we ||all|| have |knowledge|,—

|Knowledge| puffeth up,

But |love| buildeth up;

<sup>2</sup> <If anyone thinketh that he knoweth anything> not yet knoweth he, as he must needs come to know,<sup>e</sup>

<sup>3</sup> But <if anyone loveth God> ||the same|| is known of him—

<sup>4</sup> <Concerning, then, the eating of idol-sacrifices>
We are aware—

That an idol is |nothing| in the world,

And that |none| is God save |one|.

<sup>5</sup> For <if indeed there are so-called gods, whether in heaven or upon earth,—

As indeed there are gods many and lords many>

<sup>6</sup> [Yet] ||to us|| there is one' God the Father,
Of' whom are all things, and |we| for
him;

And one' Lord Jesus Christ,

Through' whom are all things, and |we| through him.

<sup>7</sup> Howbeit, ||not in all|| is the knowledge;

But ||some|| <by their familiarity, until even now, with the idol> |as an idol-
sacrifice| eat it,

And ||their conscience|| being |weak| is defiled.

<sup>8</sup> ||Food|| indeed, will not commend us' unto
God,—

Neither |if we eat not| do we lack,

Nor |if we eat| do we abound.

<sup>9</sup> But be taking heed, lest ||by any means||
|your right| ||itself|| become |an occasion of stumbling| unto the weak<sup>d</sup>;

<sup>10</sup> For <if anyone should see [thee] who hast<sup>e</sup> knowledge, |in an idol-temple| reclining>

<sup>e</sup> Or (WH): "him who hath."

<sup>c</sup> 1 Jn. ii. 17.

- Will not [his conscience] being [weak], be built up for the eating of the idol-sacrifices?
- 11 In fact, he that is weak [is being destroyed] by thy knowledge—[The brother for whose sake Christ died].
- 12 But <in [thus] sinning against the brethren and wounding their conscience, [seeing it is weak]> [Against Christ] are ye sinning.
- 13 Therefore <if [food] is an occasion of stumbling unto my brother>
In nowise will I eat flesh unto the age that abideth,—
That I may not occasion [my brother] to stumble.
- 9 Am I not free?
Am I not an apostle?
[Jesus our Lord] have I not seen?
Are not [ye] [my work] in the Lord?
2 <If [unto others] I am not an apostle>
Certainly at least [unto you] I am;
For [the seal of my apostleship] [ye] are in the Lord.
- 3 [My] defence, unto them who are examining me' is [this]:—
- 4 Have we not a right to eat and drink?
- 5 Have we not a right to take round [a sister wife],—
[As even the rest' of the apostles, and the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?]
- 6 Or have [only] I and Barnabas not a right to forbear working?
- 7 Who serveth as a soldier, at his own charges, at any time?
Who planteth a vineyard,—and [the fruit thereof] doth not eat?
[Or] who shepherdeth a flock,—and [of the milk of the flock] doth not eat?
- 8 Is it [after the manner of men] that [these things] I am saying?
Or doth not [even the law] [the same things] say?
- 9 For [in the law of Moses] it is written—
Thou shalt not muzzle an ox when it is treading out the corn <sup>a</sup>:—
Is it [for the oxen] God is caring?
- 10 Or [for our sakes altogether] is he saying it?
[For our sakes] it was written;
Because [he that ploweth] ought [to plow] [in hope],—
And [he that thresheth] [to thresh] in hope [of partaking].
- 11 <If [we] [unto you] the things of the Spirit' have sown>
Is it [a great] matter, if [we] [of you] the things of the flesh' shall reap? <sup>b</sup>
- 12 <If [others] of this right, over you, are partaking> [Should] not rather [we]?]

- Nevertheless we used not this right; but [all [such] things] do we conceal,—lest we should cause [any hindrance] unto the glad message of the Christ.
- 13 Know ye not
That [they who labour in the holy' rites]
Do eat [the provisions out of the holy place]?—
[They who at the altar] wait
Do [with the altar] share? <sup>a</sup>
- 14 [Thus] also, hath [the Lord] appointed—
That [they who the glad-message tell]
Should [of the glad-message] [live].
- 15 [I] however, have not used any of these things; and have not written these things, in order that [so] it should be done [in my case];
For it were [good for me] rather to die than—[My boast] shall [no man] make void!
- 16 For <if I be telling the glad-message> it is [with me] no matter of boasting; for [necessity] [upon me] lieth,—for it is [Woe to me] if I should not be telling the glad-message;
- 17 For <if [by choice] this' thing I am doing> I have [a reward];
But <if not by choice> [with a stewardship] have I been entrusted! <sup>b</sup>
- 18 What, then, is my' reward? That <in telling the glad-message> [free of cost]
I should put the glad-message,—to the end I should not use to the full my right in the glad-message.
- 19 For <though free from all> [Unto all] [myself] I enslaved,—
That [the larger number] I might win:
- 20 Therefore became I [to the Jews] as [a Jew],—
That [Jews] I might win;
[To them who were under law] as [under law],—
Not being [myself] under law,—
That [them who were under law] I might win;
- 21 [To them who were without law] as [without law],—
Not being without law to God,
But lawfully subject to Christ,—
That I might win them who were without law.
- 22 I became [unto the weak] [weak],—
That [the weak] I might win;—
[To all men] have I become all things,
That [by all means] [some] I might save.
- 23 But [all things] am I doing [for the sake of the glad-message],
That [a joint-partaker thereof] I may become.
- 24 Know ye not
That <they who [in a racecourse] run>
[All] indeed, run,—
But [one] receiveth the prize?
[So] be running, that ye may lay hold.

<sup>a</sup> Nu. xviii. 31; Deu. xviii. 1.<sup>b</sup> Or: "entrusted" (i.e., read on into next line).

25 But <every' man who striveth in the games>
 |In all things| useth self-control;—
 ||They|| indeed, then, that |a corruptible'
 crown| they may receive;
 But ||we|| an incorruptible!

26 ||I|| therefore,
 |So| am running, as ||not uncertainly||,
 ||So|| am boxing, as ||not thrashing air'||;
 27 But am beating my body under, and leading it captive,
 Lest, by any means,—
 <||Unto others|| having proclaimed [the contest]>
 ||I myself| should be |rejected|.

10 For I wish not ye should be ignorant,
 brethren,
 That ||all our fathers|| were |under the cloud|,
 And ||all|| passed |through the sea|,—
 2 And ||all|| immersed themselves* |into
 Moses|,

||In the cloud, and in the sea||;
 3 And ||all|| did eat [the same] |spiritual'
 food|,
 4 And ||all|| drank |the same' spiritual' drink|,—
 For they continued to drink of the spiritual'
 rock that followed' them,
 And ||the rock|| was the Christ:—

5 Nevertheless ||with the most of them|| |God|
 was not well-pleased,
 For they were strewn along in the desert.<sup>b</sup>
 6 But ||in these things|| they became |ensamples
 for us|,<sup>c</sup>
 To the end we should not be covetous of evil
 things,

Even as ||they|| also coveted<sup>d</sup>;
 7 Neither become ye |idolaters|,
 As some of them,—As it is written—
*The people sat down to eat and drink,
 And rose up to be making sport*<sup>e</sup>;

8 Neither let us commit fornication,
 As ||some of them|| committed fornication,
 And there fell in one' day, three' and twenty' thousand<sup>f</sup>;

9 Neither let us be putting the Lord to the test,
 As ||some of them|| put him to the test,
 And |by the serpents| were perishing<sup>g</sup>;

10 Neither be ye murmuring,
 Even ||as some of them|| murmured,
 And perished by the destroyer.

11 But ||these things|| |by way of type| were happening unto |them|,
 And were written with a view to our admoni-
 tion,
 Unto whom |the ends of the ages| have reached along.

12 So that ||he that thinketh he is standing|| let him take heed lest he fall.

13 ||Trial| hath not taken |you|, save such as man can bear;
 ||Faithful| moreover is God, who will not suffer you to be tried above what ye are able,

 But will make |with the trial| ||also the way
 of escape|| that ye may be able to hold out.

14 Wherefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry,—
 15 As |to prudent men| I speak,—
 Judge ||ye|| what I say:—

16 <The cup of blessing which we bless>
 Is it not |a sharing together| of the blood of the Christ?
 <The loaf which we break>

Is it not |a sharing together of the body of the Christ|?
 17 Because ||one' loaf, one' body|| we |the many| are,

For we ||all|| |of the one' loaf| partake.
 18 Be looking at Israel after the flesh:—
 Are not ||they who eat the sacrifices|| |joint partakers with the altar|?

19 What, then, am I saying?—
 That ||an idol-sacrifice|| is |anything|?
 Or that ||an idol|| is |anything|?

20 On the contrary—
 That <the things which the nations* sacrifice> ||Unto demons, and not unto God|| they sacrifice<sup>b</sup>;

And I wish not that ye should become |sharers together with the demons|!
 21 Ye cannot be drinking—a cup of the Lord,
 and a cup of demons;

Ye cannot be partaking of |a table of the
 Lord|<sup>c</sup> and a table of demons.
 22 Or are we to provoke the Lord to jealousy?<sup>d</sup>
 Are we |mightier than he|?

23 |All things| are allowable—but |not all things| are profitable,<sup>e</sup>
 |All things| are allowable—but |not all things| upbuild.

24 Let ||no one|| be seeking |what concerneth
 himself|,
 But that which concerneth |some one else|.<sup>f</sup>

25 <Whatsoever |in the market| is sold> eat,—
 Asking no question, for conscience sake;
 26 For ||unto the Lord|| belongeth the earth, and the fulness thereof.<sup>g</sup>

27 <If 'one of them who believe not |invite you| and ye are disposed to go>
 ||Whatsoever is set before you|| eat,—
 Asking no question, for conscience sake.

28 But <if anyone should say |unto you|—
 ||This|| is |a holy sacrifice|>
 Do not eat, for that' man's sake who disclosed it, and for conscience sake:—

29 But ||conscience|| I mean, not thine own, but the other's,—
 For why is |my freedom| to be judged by another'<sup>h</sup> conscience?

30 <If ||I|| |with gratitude| partake>
 Why am I to be defamed |as to that for which ||I|| give thanks|?

<sup>32</sup> Give [no occasion of stumbling]—

Whether to Jews, or to Greeks, or to the assembly of God:

<sup>33</sup> Even as [I also] [in all things] do please [all], Not seeking my own' profit.

But that of the many, that they may be saved.

11 Become [imitators<sup>b</sup> of me],—even as [I also] [am] of Christ.

<sup>2</sup> Now I praise you, that [in all things] ye have me' in remembrance,

And <even as I delivered unto you the instructions> ye hold them fast.

<sup>3</sup> But I wish you to know—

That [the head of every' man] is [the Christ],<sup>c</sup>

And [the head of a woman] is [the man];

And [the head of the Christ] is [God].

<sup>4</sup> [Every' man] praying, or prophesying, having [anything upon his head] putteth to shame his head;

<sup>5</sup> But [every' woman] praying, or prophesying, with her head [unveiled] putteth to shame her head,—for it is [one and the same] with her having been shaven.

<sup>6</sup> For <if a woman doth not veil herself> let her also be shorn;

But <if it were [a shame] in a woman to be shorn or shaven> let her be veiled.

<sup>7</sup> For [a man] indeed, ought not to be veiling his head,

Being [the image and glory of God],—<sup>d</sup>

But [the woman] is [the glory of man];

<sup>8</sup> For [man] is not [of woman],

But [woman] of [man];

<sup>9</sup> For also [man] was not created' [for the sake of the woman],

But [woman] [for the sake of the man].

<sup>10</sup> [For this cause] ought the woman to have [permission]<sup>e</sup> upon her head, [because of the messengers].

Nor [man] apart [from woman]—[in the Lord];

<sup>12</sup> For <just as [the woman] is [of' the man]>

[So] also [the man] is [through means' of the woman];—

But [all things] are of' God.

<sup>13</sup> [Among your own selves] judge ye,—

Is it [becoming] for a woman—[unveiled] to be praying [unto God]?

<sup>14</sup> Doth not [even nature herself] teach you—

That <if [a man] have long hair> it is [a dishonour to him];

<sup>15</sup> But <if [a woman] have long hair> it is [a glory to her],—

For [her long hair] [instead of a veil] hath been given to her.

<sup>16</sup> But <if anyone thinketh to be [contentious]>

[We] have no [such' custom],—

Nor yet the assemblies of God.

<sup>17</sup> But <in giving you [the following] charge> I praise you not,—

In that [not for the better, but for the worse] ye come together.

<sup>18</sup> For [first of all]—

<When ye come together in assembly> I hear that [divisions among you] exist,—

And [in part] I believe it;

<sup>19</sup> For there must needs be [even parties among you],

That [the approved] [themselves] may become [manifest] among you.

<sup>20</sup> <When, therefore, ye come together into one place>

It is not to eat [a supper unto the Lord];

<sup>21</sup> For [each one] taketh beforehand [his own' supper] in your eating,

And [one] indeed, is hungry.

Whereas [another] is drinking to excess.

<sup>22</sup> What! have ye not [houses] for your eating and drinking?

Or [the assembly of God] do ye despise, and [put to shame them who have nothing]<sup>f</sup>?

What am I to say to you?

Shall I praise you?

[In this] I praise you not.

<sup>23</sup> For [I myself] received from the Lord—

That which I also delivered unto you,—

How that [the Lord Jesus],<sup>g</sup>

<In the night in which he was being delivered up>

Took a loaf,

<sup>24</sup> And, giving thanks, brake it, and said—

[This] is my' body, which is for you,—

[This] do ye,<sup>h</sup> in remembrance of [me];

<sup>25</sup> [In the same manner] [the cup also],

<After they had taken supper> saying—

[This cup] is [the new' covenant]<sup>i</sup> in my' blood,—<sup>j</sup>

[This], do ye<sup>k</sup> <as often soever as ye may be drinking it> in remembrance of [me].

<sup>26</sup> For <as often as ye may be eating this loaf,

And [the cup] may be drinking>

[The death of the Lord] do ye announce [until he come].

<sup>27</sup> So that <whosoever may be eating the loaf, or drinking the cup of the Lord [in an unworthy manner]>

Shall be [responsible] for the body and blood of the Lord.

<sup>28</sup> But let a man be proving himself,—

And [so] [of the loaf] let him eat, and [of the cup] let him drink;

<Judgment unto <sup>a</sup> himself> doth eat and drink,—
 ||If he be not setting apart <sup>b</sup> the body||.
 30 ||For this cause|| many among you<sup>c</sup> are weak and sickly;
 And |not a few| are falling asleep.
 31 <If, however, we had been setting ||ourselves|| apart>
 We had not, in that case, been coming under judgment;
 32 But <being brought under judgment>
 ||By the Lord|| are we being disciplined,
 Lest ||with the world|| we should be condemned.
 33 So then, my brethren,—
 <When ye come together for the eating>
 ||Unto one another|| be giving welcome:—
 34 <If anyone be hungry> |at home| let him eat,
 Lest ||unto judgment|| <sup>e</sup> ye be coming together.
 And ||the remaining things|| |whensoever I come| I will set in order.

12 But ||concerning the spiritually gifted|| <sup>d</sup> brethren, I am not wishing you to be ignorant.
 2 Ye know that <when ye were |of the nations|>
 ||Unto the dumb idols, howsoever ye were being led||
 Ye were seduced.
 3 Wherefore, I give you to know—
 That ||no one|| |in God's Spirit speaking| saith—Accursed' <sup>e</sup> Jesus!
 And ||no one|| can say—
 Lord' Jesus!
 Save in [the] Holy Spirit.

4 But |distributions of gifts| <sup>f</sup> there are,
 Yet the same' Spirit,
 5 And |distributions of ministries| there are,
 And the same' Lord,
 6 And |distributions of energies| there are,
 And the same' God—
 ||Who energiseth all things in all||.
 7 But ||unto each one|| is given the manifesting <sup>g</sup> of the Spirit,
 With a view to that which is profitable;
 8 For ||unto one|| indeed, |through the Spirit| is given |a word of wisdom|,
 But ||unto another|| a word of knowledge' |according to the same' Spirit|;—
 9 ||Unto a different one|| faith' |in the same' Spirit|,
 And ||unto another|| gifts of healings |in the one' Spirit|,
 10 And ||unto another|| energies of mighty works,
 [And] ||unto another|| prophesying,

[And] ||unto another|| discriminations of spirits,—
 ||Unto a different one|| kinds of tongues,
 And ||unto another|| translation of tongues;—
 11 But ||all' these|| energiseth the one' and the same' Spirit,
 Distributing unto each one |peculiarly|,
 ||Even as it is disposed||.

12 For <just as ||the body|| is |one|, and yet hath many members|,
 But ||all' the members of the body|| |though many| are one' body> <sup>a</sup>
 ||So|| also |the Christ|:—
 13 For ||even in <sup>b</sup> one' Spirit|| |we all| |into one' body| have been immersed,—<sup>c</sup>
 Whether Jews or Greeks,
 Whether bond or free,—
 And ||all|| |of one' Spirit| have been caused to drink.

14 For ||the body also|| is not one' member, but many|:
 15 <Though the foot should say—
 |Because I am not a hand| I am not of the body>
 Is it |therefore| ||not|| of the body?
 16 And <though the ear should say—
 |Because I am not an eye| I am not of the body>
 Is it |therefore| ||not|| of the body?
 17 <If ||the whole' body|| were |an eye|>
 Where were |the hearing|?
 <If the whole' were |hearing|>
 Where were |the smelling|?
 18 But ||now|| hath God set the members, each one of them in the body |even as he pleased|.

19 But <if they all' had been one' member>
 Where had been |the body|?
 20 ||Now|| however, there are many' members, yet one' body;
 21 [And] the eye cannot say unto the hand—
 I have |no need of thee|,—
 Nor ||again|| the head, unto the feet—
 I have |no need of you|:—
 22 Nay! ||much' more|| the members which seem' to be weaker' are |necessary|,
 23 And <the parts of the body which we deem to be |less honourable|>
 ||On these|| |more abundant honour| do we bestow,
 And ||our uncomely parts|| have |more abundant comeliness|,
 24 Whereas ||our comely parts|| have |no need|.
 But ||God|| hath tempered the body together,—
 ||Unto that which was lacking|| giving |more abundant' honour|:—
 25 That there might be no division in the body, *
 But that the members might have ||the same|| care |one for another|;
 26 And <whether one' member |suffereth|>
 All' the members |suffer with it|,
 Or
 All' the members |rejoice together|.

And have not |love|>

I am |nothing|;

3 And <though I morsel out<sup>e</sup> all' my goods,— And though I deliver up my body, |that I may boast|,

And have not |love|>

I am profited |nothing|.

4 ||Love|| is patient,

Is gracious.

||Love|| is not envious,

Vaunteth not itself,

Is not puffed up,

5 Acteth not unbecomingly,

Seeketh not her own things,

Is not easily provoked,

Imputeth not that which is base,<sup>f</sup>

6 Rejoiceth not over unrighteousness,

But rejoiceth in sympathy with truth,—

7 |All things| covereth,

|All things| believeth,

|All things| hopeth,

|All things| endureth.

8 ||Love|| |at no time| faileth;—

But <whether prophesying>

They shall be done away.

<Whether tongues>

They shall cease,

<Whether gaining knowledge>

It shall be done away;

9 For |in part| are we gaining knowledge,

And |in part| are we prophesying,—

10 But <as soon as |that which is complete| is come>

|That which is in part| shall be done away.

11 <When I was a child>

I used to speak as a child,

To prefer as a child,

To reason as a child:

<Now I have become a man>

I have laid aside the things of the child!

12 For we see, as yet, through a dim window |obscurely|,

But ||then|| face to face;

||As yet|| I gain knowledge |in part|,

But ||then|| shall I fully know,<sup>g</sup>

Even as I was also fully known.

13 But |now| abide—faith, hope, love,—

||These Three||;

But |the greatest of these| is ||Love||.

14 Pursue love;

Nevertheless be envious of the spiritual gifts,—<sup>h</sup>

And |rather| that ye may be prophesying.

2 For <he that speaketh with a tongue>

|Not unto men| doth speak, but |unto God|,—

For |no one| understandeth,<sup>i</sup>

Although ||in spirit|| he is speaking |sacred secrets|<sup>d</sup>;

3 But <he that prophesieth>

||Unto men|| doth speak—edification, and exhortation, and comfort.

4 <He that speaketh with a tongue>

Buildeth up |himself|,

Whereas <he that prophesieth>

Buildeth up |an assembly|.

5 Howbeit I wish you all' to speak |with tongues|,

But |rather| that ye may prophesy,—

Moreover |greater| is he that prophesieth,

Than he that speaketh with tongues,—

Unless indeed he translate.

That ||the assembly|| may receive |up-building|.

6 But ||now|| brethren—

<If I come unto you speaking |with tongues|>

What shall I profit |you|,

Except I speak |unto you|, either by way of revelation, or knowledge, or prophesying, or teaching?

7 ||In like manner|| <the things without life giving |sound|, whether pipe or harp>

<If |a distinction in the sounds| they do not give>

How shall it be known, what is being piped or harped?

8 For <if also |an uncertain' sound| ||a trumpet|| should give>

Who shall prepare himself for battle?

9 <||So|| also ||ye|| through means of the tongue>

<Except ye give |intelligible' discourse|>

How shall it be known what is being spoken?

For ye will be speaking |to the air|.

- 10 There |may happen| to be so<sup>a</sup> many kinds of languages in the world,
And |not one| unspoken:—
- 11 <If, then, I do not know the meaning of the language><sup>a</sup>
I shall be, unto him that is speaking, |a foreigner|,
And ||he that is speaking|| shall be |in my case| a foreigner.
- 12 So ||ye|| also—
<Since ye are |envious| of spirits>
||Unto the upbuilding of the assembly|| seek to be pre-eminent.
- 13 Wherefore <he that speaketh with a tongue> Let him pray that he<sup>b</sup> may translate;
- 14 [For] <if I am praying in a tongue>
||My spirit|| is praying,
But ||my mind|| is |unfruitful|.
- 15 What is it then?
I will pray |with the spirit|,
But I will pray |also with the mind|,—
I will strike the strings |with the spirit|,
[But] I will strike the strings |also with the mind|.
- 16 ||Else|| <if thou be blessing<sup>c</sup> in a spirit>
<He that filleth up the place of the ungifted person>
How shall he say the Amen upon thy<sup>d</sup> thanksgiving?
Since indeed ||what thou' art saying|| he knoweth not;
- 17 For ||thou|| indeed, |excellently| art giving thanks,
But |the other| is not being built up.
- 18 I give thanks unto God!—
||More than ye all'|| am I speaking |with tongues|;
- 19 But <in assembly>
I desire to speak |five' words with my mind|
<That |others also| I may instruct>
Than myriads' of words |in a tongue|.
- 20 Brethren! do not become |children| ||in your understandings||;
But ||in baseness|| become babes,
While ||in your understandings|| ye become |full-grown|.
- 21 ||In the law|| it is written—
<With strange tongues,
And with lips of strangers>
Will I speak unto this people;
And ||not even so|| will they hearken unto me,—<sup>d</sup> Saith the Lord.
- 22 So that ||the tongues|| are |for a sign|—
|Not unto them that believe|,
But ||unto them that believe not||;
Whereas ||prophesying|| is
|Not for them that believe not|,
But ||for them that believe||.
- 23 <If, then, the whole assembly come together with one consent,
And |all| are speaking with tongues,—

- And there come in persons unskilled or unbelieving>
Will they not say that ye are raving?
- 24 But <if |all| be prophesying,—
And there come in one who is unbelieving or unskilled>
He is convicted by all,
He is searched by all,
||The secrets of his heart|| become |manifest|;
- 25 And ||so|| <falling down upon his face>
he will do homage unto God, reporting that ||in reality|| God' is |among you||.<sup>a</sup>
- 26 What, then, is it, brethren?
<Whensoever ye are coming together>
||Each one|| hath |a psalm|, hath |a teaching|, hath |a revelation|, hath |a tongue|, hath |a translation|:—
Let ||all things|| be done |unto building up|.
- 27 <If ||with a tongue|| one is speaking>
Let it be by two, or, at the most, three,—
And by turns;
And let |one| be translating;
- 28 But <if there be none to translate>
Let him keep silence in assembly,
And |unto himself| be speaking, and |unto God|.
- 29 <Prophets, moreover>
Let |two or three| speak,
And let |the others| judge.
- 30 <If, however, |unto another| a revelation be made |as he is sitting|>
Let |the first| be silent;
- 31 For ||one by one|| ye can ||all|| be prophesying,—
That |all| may learn, and |all| be encouraged.
- 32 And ||spirits of prophets|| |unto prophets| do submit themselves;
- 33 For God is not |a God| ||of confusion|| but |of peace|:—
As in all' the assemblies of the saints.
- 34 <As for the women>
||In the assemblies|| let them be silent,<sup>b</sup>
For it is not permitted them to be speaking;
But let them be in submission,—
Even as |the law| saith.<sup>c</sup>
- 35 <If, however, they are wishing |to learn| something>
||At home|| |their own' husbands| let them question;
For it is |a shame| for a woman |to be speaking in assembly|.
- 36 Or ||from you|| did the word of God come forth?
Or ||unto you alone|| did it extend?
- 37 <If anyone thinketh himself to be |a prophet|, or spiritually gifted>
Let him acknowledge the things which I am writing to you,—
That they are |a commandment| ||of the Lord||.

- 28 But <if anyone knoweth not> he is unknown<sup>a</sup> !
- 29 So, then, my brethren,—
Be zealous to prophesy,<sup>b</sup>
And do not forbid |to be speaking with tongues| ;
- 40 But let ||all things|| |with comeliness, and
by<sup>c</sup> arrangement| be done.
- 15 Moreover, brethren, I make known unto you
The joyful message—
Which I myself announced to you,
Which also ye received,
In which also ye stand ;
- 2 Through which also ye are being saved,—<sup>d</sup>
If ye hold fast
|With what' discourse| I announced the joyful message unto you ;—
Unless indeed |in vain| ye believed.
- 3 For I delivered unto you |among the first things|
||What also I received|| :—
How that |Christ| died for our sins |according to the Scriptures| ,
- 4 And that he was buried,
And that he hath been raised,<sup>e</sup> on the third day, |according to the Scriptures| ,—
- 5 And that he appeared unto Cephas,
|Then| to the twelve,
- 6 |After that| he appeared to above' five'
hundred' brethren |at once| ,—
Of whom |the greater number| remain
until even now,
But |some| have fallen asleep,—
- 7 |After that| he appeared unto James,
|Then| unto all the apostles,
- 8 And ||last of all||
<Just as if unto the unseasonable birth>
He appeared ||even unto me|| ;
- 9 For ||I|| am the least of the apostles,<sup>f</sup>
Who am not worthy<sup>g</sup> to be called an apostle,
Because I persecuted the assembly of God.
- 10 But ||by favour of God|| I am what I am,
And ||his favour, which was unto me|| hath
not been made |void| ,—
But ||much more abundantly than they
all|| have I toiled,
Albeit not ||I||, but the favour of God
with me.
- 11 <Whether therefore ||I|| or ||they||>
|Thus| do we proclaim,
And |thus| did ye believe.
- 12 Now <if |Christ| is proclaimed,
That |from among the dead| he hath been raised>
How say some |among you|—
||Resurrection of the dead|| there is none ?
- 13 But <if ||resurrection of the dead|| there is none>
||Not even Christ|| hath been raised ;
- 14 And <if |Christ| hath not been raised>
|Void, after all| is our proclamation,
|Void, also| our<sup>a</sup> faith,—
- 15 And we are found |even false-witnesses of
God| ,
Because we have witnessed respecting God,
That he raised the Christ,—
Whom he did not raise,
|If, indeed, after all| The dead are not raised !
- 16 For <if |the dead| are not raised>
|Not even Christ| hath been raised ;
- 17 And <if |Christ| hath not been raised>
||To no purpose|| is your faith,
||Yet|| are ye in your sins !
- 18 Hence also ||they who are fallen asleep in Christ|| are lost :
- 19 <If ||in this life|| |in Christ| we have hoped'
—|and that is all||>
We are |of all men| ||most to be pitied||.
- 20 But ||now|| hath |Christ| been raised from
among the dead,—
A firstfruit of them who have fallen asleep ;
- 21 For <since indeed |through a man| came
death>
|Through a man| also cometh the raising of the dead<sup>b</sup> ;
- 22 For <just as |in the Adam| all die>
||So|| also |in the Christ| shall all be made alive.
- 23 But ||each|| in his own' rank :—
||A firstfruit|| Christ,
||After that|| they who are the Christ's |in<sup>c</sup> his Presence|,—<sup>d</sup>
- 24 ||Afterwards|| the end—
Whensoever he delivereth up the kingdom unto his God and Father, Whensoever he shall bring to nought all'
rule and all' authority and power ;
- 25 For he must needs reign, until he shall put all' his enemies under his feet<sup>e</sup> :
- 26 ||As a last' enemy|| |death| is to be destroyed ;
- 27 For—
He put ||all things|| in subjection under his feet.<sup>f</sup>
But <whensoever it shall be said—
|All things| are in subjection !—
It is evident that it means,— Except him who did put into subjection |unto him| ||the All
things||—
- 28 But whensoever have been put into subjection |unto him| ||the All
things||>
||Then|| ||the Son himself|| ||[also]|| shall be put in subjection unto him who put in subjection |unto him| ||the All
things||,—
That |God| may be ||all things in all||.

- 29 ||Else|| what will they do, who are being immersed in behalf of the dead?
 <If |not at all| are the dead to be raised>
 Why are they |even being immersed| in their behalf?
- 30 Why also are ||we|| running into peril every' hour?
- 31 ||Day by day|| am I dying!—
 Yea! by your own' boasting, brethren,
 Which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord.
- 32 <If |after the manner of men| I have fought with wild-beasts at Ephesus>
 What |to me| the profit?
 <If the dead are not raised>
*Let us eat and drink,
 For |to-morrow| we die.**
- 33 Be not deceiving yourselves,—
 Evil' communications |corrupt gentle manners| :—
- 34 Wake up to sobriety |in righteousness|,
 And be not committing sin;
 For some have ||an ignorance of God|| :
 |For shame, unto you| am I speaking!
- 35 But some one will say—
 |How| are the dead raised?
 And ||with what kind' of body|| do they come?
- 36 Simple one!
 <What ||thou|| sowest> is not quickened |except it die| ;
- 37 And <what thou sowest>
 ||Not the body that shall come into existence|| dost thou sow,
 But a naked' kernel—
 |If it so happen| of wheat, or of any of the rest,—
- 38 Howbeit ||God|| giveth it a body |as he pleased|,
 And ||unto each' of the seeds|| a body |of its own|.
- 39 |Not all' flesh| is the same' flesh ;
 But ||one|| indeed, is [the flesh] of men
 And ||another|| the flesh |of beasts|,
 And ||another|| the flesh |of birds|,
 And ||another|| |of fishes| ;
- 40 And there are heavenly bodies, and earthly bodies,—
 But ||of one kind|| indeed, is the glory |of the heavenly|,
 And ||of another kind|| is the glory |of the earthly| ;—
- 41 ||One|| is the glory |of a sun|,
 And ||another|| the glory |of a moon|,
 And ||another|| the glory |of stars|,—
 Nay! ||star from star|| differeth in glory.

42 ||Thus|| also the resurrection of the dead :
 It is sown' in |corruption|,

It is raised' in |incorruption|,

43 It is sown' in |dishonour|,

It is raised' in |glory|,

It is sown' in |weakness|,

It is raised' in |power|,

- 44 It is sown' a body |of the soul|,*
 It is raised' a body |of the spirit| ;—<sup>b</sup>
 <If there is a body |of the soul|>
 There is also |of the spirit| :—
- 45 |Thus| also, it is written—
The first' man, Adam, became |a living soul|,†
 The last' Adam |a life-giving spirit|.
- 46 Howbeit ||not first|| is the [body] |of the spirit|,
 But that |of the soul|,—
 ||Afterwards|| that of the spirit.
- 47 ||The first' man|| is of' the ground |earthly|,—<sup>c</sup>
 ||The second' man|| is |of' d heaven| :
 48 <|As| the man of earth> |such| also,
 the men of earth,
 And <|as| the man of heaven> |such| also,
 the men of heaven ;
- 49 And <even as we have borne the image of the man of earth>
 Let us also bear the image of the man of heaven.
- 50 And ||this|| I say, brethren,—
 That ||flesh and blood|| cannot inherit ||God's kingdom||.
 Neither doth ||corruption|| inherit |incorruption|.
- 51 Lo! ||a sacred secret||* |unto you| do I declare :—
 We shall not ||all|| sleep',
 But we shall ||all|| be changed',—
- 52 In a moment,
 In the twinkling of an eye,
 During the last' trumpet ;
 For it shall sound,†
 And ||the dead|| shall be raised |in- corruptible|,
 And ||we|| shall be changed.
- 53 For this corruptible |must needs| clothe itself |with incorruptibility|,
 And this mortal, clothe itself |with immortality|.
- 54 But <whensoever |this mortal| s shall clothe itself with immortality>
 ||Then|| shall be brought to pass the saying that is written—
 |Death| hath been swallowed up ||victoriously||<sup>h</sup> ;
- 55 *Where, O death, is thy victory?
 Where, O death, is thy sting?†*
- 56 Now ||the sting of death|| is |sin|,
 And ||the power of sin|| is |the law| ;—
- 57 But ||unto God|| be thanks, who is giving unto us' the victory|<sup>i</sup> through our Lord Jesus Christ|.
- 58 So, then, my beloved brethren,—
 Become ye |steadfast|, immovable,
 Superabounding in the work of the Lord |at all times| ;

- Knowing that ||your toil|| is not in vain |in the Lord|.
- 16 Now <concerning the collection which is for the saints>
<Just as I directed the assemblies of Galatia>
||So|| also do ||ye||:—
- 2 ||Upon the first of the week|| let ||each one of you|| put |by itself, in store| ||as he may be prospering||,—
Lest |as soon as I come| ||then|| |collections| should be in progress.
- 3 And ||as soon as I arrive|| <whomsoever ye shall approve by letters> ||these|| will I send, to bear away your favour unto Jerusalem:
- 4 And <if it be |meet| that |I also| be journeying> |with me| shall they journey.
- 5 Now I will come unto you, as soon as I have passed through |Macedonia|,—
For I do' pass through |Macedonia|;
- 6 And ||with you|| I may perhaps sojourn, or winter,—
That ||ye|| may set me forward |whithersoever I may be journeying|.
- 7 For I do not wish to see |you, just now, by the way|;

- 8 But I remain in Ephesus, until the Pentecost,
- 9 For |a door, unto me| hath opened ||great and effectual|| and |opposers| are ||many||.
- 10 But <if Timothy should come>
See that |without fear| he be with you,
For ||in the work of the Lord|| doth he labour, even as ||I||:
- 11 Let no one then despise |him|;*
And set ye him forward in peace, that he may come unto me,
For I expect him with the brethren.
- 12 But <concerning Apollos the brother>
||Much|| did I beseech him, that he would come unto you |with the brethren|,
But there was |by no means| any will, that he should come |now|;—
He will come, however, as soon as he hath good opportunity.
- 13 Be on the watch,
Stand firm in the faith,
Be men,—
Be strong;
- 14 Let ||all your affairs|| |in love| be carried on.
- 15 Now I beseech you, brethren,—
Ye know the house of Stephanas, that it is a first-fruit of Achaia, and ||for the purpose of ministering|| they devoted themselves |unto the saints|—
- 16 That ||ye also|| be submitting yourselves unto such as these,—and unto everyone' helping in the work and toiling.
- 17 I rejoice, moreover, in the presence of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus:
Because ||your own' shortcoming|| |these| have filled up:—
- 18 They have given rest, in fact, unto my' spirit |and yours|:
Hold in acknowledgment, therefore, |such as these|.
- 19 The assemblies of Asia salute you:
Aquila and Priscilla, with the assembly meeting at their house, salute you much in the Lord:
- 20 All the brethren salute you:—
Salute ye one another with a holy kiss.
- 21 The salutation of Paul—|with my own' hand|.
- 22 <If anyone doth not dearly love the Lord>
Lethim be anathema [that is, "accursed"]:
Maran atha [that is, "The Lord! cometh,"].
- 23 |The favour of the Lord Jesus| be with you.
- 24 |My love| be with you all' |in Christ Jesus|.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE C O R I N T H I A N S.

- 1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus, through the will of God,
And Timothy the brother,—
Unto the assembly of God which is in Corinth,
Together with all the saints who are in the whole of Achaia :
- 2 Favour unto you, and peace,
From God [our] Father, and Lord Jesus Christ.
- 3 ||Blessed|| be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,<sup>a</sup>
The Father of compassions,
And God of all' encouragement,
- 4 Who encourageth us in all' our tribulation,
To the end we may be able to encourage them who are in any' tribulation—
Through means of the encouragement wherewith we [ourselves] are encouraged by God.
- 5 Because <even as the sufferings of the Christ overflow unto us><sup>a</sup>
[So] ||through the Christ|| overfloweth [our encouragement also].
- 6 But <whether we are in tribulation>
It is for your' encouragement and salvation;
<Whether we are encouraged>
It is for your' encouragement, which worketh inwardly<sup>b</sup> by the endurance of the same sufferings which ||we also|| suffer;—
- 7 And so ||our hope|| is sure in your behalf,—
Knowing that—
<As ye are [sharers] of the sufferings><sup>c</sup>
[So] also, of the encouragement.
- 8 For we do not wish you to be ignorant, brethren, as to our tribulation which happened in Asia,—
That [exceedingly, beyond power] were we weighed down,
So that we despaired [even of life].
- 9 But ||we ourselves, within ourselves|| have had [the sentence of death],
That we might not rest our confidence upon ourselves,
But upon God [who raiseth the dead],
- 10 Who ||out of so great' a death|| rescued us, and will' rescue,— Unto whom we have turned our hope,
[that] ||even yet|| he will' rescue :
- 11 Ye also labouring together on our behalf [by your supplication],<sup>d</sup>

- That <||unto many' persons|| being due the gift of favour [unto us]>
||Through means of many|| might thanks be given in our behalf.
- 12 For ||our boasting|| is [this]—The witness of our conscience,
That <in sanctity and sincerity of God,
[And] not in fleshly wisdom, but in God's favour>
Have we behaved ourselves in the world,—
||And more abundantly towards you||.
- 13 For ||no other things|| are we writing unto you, than what ye are either reading or even acknowledging,—I hope, moreover, that [throughout] ye will' acknowledge,
- 14 According as ye have' also acknowledged us, in part,—
That ||your theme of boasting|| we are,
Even indeed as ||ye|| also [shall be] ||ours|| in the day of our Lord Jesus.
- 15 And ||in this' confidence|| I purposed, [before] to come [unto you],—
In order that ||a second' joy||<sup>a</sup> ye might have,—
- 16 And ||by your means|| to pass into Macedonia,
And [again] ||from Macedonia||<sup>b</sup> to come unto you,
And ||by you|| be set forward unto Judæa:—
- 17 <[This] then, being my purpose>
Perhaps [after all] ||with lightness|| I dealt [with the matter]?
Or <the things that I purpose> ||according to the flesh|| I purpose,—
That [with me] should be the Yea, yea, and the Nay, nay?
- 18 [Faithful] however, is God, in that ||our discourse, which was [delivered] unto you|| is not Yea and Nay;
- 19 For ||the Son of God', Christ Jesus||—
<Who [among you, through us] was proclaimed,— Through me, and Silvanus, and Timothy>
Became not Yea and Nay,—
But ||Yea, in him|| hath it become;
- 20 For <how many soever be the promises of God>
||In him|| is the Yea,—

"favour."<sup>b</sup> 1 Co. xxi. 5.

- Wherefore also [through him] [be<sup>a</sup>] the Amen, unto<sup>b</sup> God,
For glory, through us.
- 21 Now <he that confirmeth us,<sup>c</sup> together with you,
for Christ,
And hath anointed us>
Is God: 22 Who also hath sealed us,
And given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.<sup>d</sup>
- 23 But ||I|| call upon [God] ||as a witness|| against my own' soul,—
That ||to spare you|| [not yet] have I come unto Corinth:
- 24 Not that we have lordship over your' faith,
But are [helpers] of your joy,
For [by your faith] ye stand.
- 2 For I have determined, unto myself, this—
Not ||again, in grief|| to come [unto you].
- 2 For <if ||I|| grieve you>
Who then is he that is to gladden me,—
Save he who is being grieved through me;
- 3 And I wrote this very thing—
Lest ||if I came|| I should have [grief] from those over whom I had need to rejoice,— Having confidence in you all',
That ||my joy|| is the joy [of you all'].
- 4 For <out of much' tribulation and anguish of heart> wrote I unto you, [through many' tears],—
Not that ye might be grieved,
But that ||the love|| ye might know, which I have very abundantly unto you.
- 5 Now <if anyone hath caused grief>
[Not unto me] hath he caused grief,
But—that I may not bear too heavily—unto you all'.
- 6 {Sufficient| unto such a one, the punishment itself which [was inflicted] by the many<sup>e</sup>;
- 7 So that [on the contrary] ye should forgive<sup>f</sup> and encourage,
Lest, by any means, ||by his excessive' grief||
such a one should be swallowed up.
- 8 Wherefore, I beseech you, assure him [of love];
- 9 For [to this end] I also wrote,—
That I might know the proof<sup>g</sup> of you,
Whether ||in all things|| ye are [obedient].
- 10 Now <to whom ye forgive anything> ||I, also||;
For ||I also|| <what I have forgiven, if [anything] I have forgiven>
||For your sake, in the person of Christ||
[have I forgiven it].
- 11 Lest we should be overreached by Satan,
For [of his' thoughts] we are not ignorant.
- 12 Moreover <although I came unto Troas for the glad-message of the Christ, and [a door for me] had been opened in the Lord>
- 13 I had no relief in my spirit, because I found not Titus my brother;

<sup>a</sup> Or: "is."<sup>b</sup> Or: "by."<sup>c</sup> 1 Co. i. 8.<sup>d</sup> Eph. i. 13; iv. 30.<sup>e</sup> 1 Co. v. 5, 11.<sup>f</sup> Or (WH): "rather forgive."<sup>g</sup> Or: "test."

- But [taking my leave of them] I came away into Macedonia.<sup>a</sup>
- 14 But ||unto God|| be thanks
<Who [ever] leadeth us in triumph in the
Christ,
And ||the fragrance of the knowledge of him|| maketh manifest, through us, in every' place>
- 15 That ||of Christ|| [a grateful odour] are we, unto
God,—
In them who are being saved,
And in them who are being lost:
- 16 ||In these|| indeed, a fragrance out of death
into death,
But ||in those|| a fragrance out of life into life.<sup>b</sup>
And ||for these things|| who is sufficient?
- 17 For we are not, as the many, driving a petty trade<sup>c</sup> with the word of God;
But <as of sincerity>
But <as of God, before God>
[In Christ] we speak.
- 3 Are we to begin again [ourselves] to commend<sup>d</sup>
Or have we need [like some] of commendatory' letters unto you, or from you?
- 2 <Our letter> ||ye|| are,
Inscribed in our hearts,
Noted and read by all' men:
- 3 Manifesting yourselves that ye are a letter of Christ, ministered by us,— Inscribed—
Not with ink,
But with [the] Spirit of a Living God,
Not in tablets of stone,<sup>e</sup>
But in tablets [which are] hearts of flesh.<sup>f</sup>
- 4 But ||such confidence as this|| have we,
Through the Christ, towards God.
- 5 Not that ||of our own selves|| [sufficient] are we, to reckon anything as of' ourselves,
But [our sufficiency] is of God;—
- 6 Who also hath made us sufficient to be ministers of a new covenant—
Not of letter,
But of spirit,
For [the letter] killeth,
Whereas [the Spirit] maketh alive.
- 7 But <if ||the ministry of death, in letters'
engraven in stones|| [was brought into existence with glory,
So that the sons of Israel could not look steadfastly into the face of Moses,
By reason of the glory of his face—<sup>g</sup>
Which [glory] was to be<sup>h</sup> done away>
- 8 How shall not [rather] ||the ministry of the Spirit|| be with glory?
- 9 For <if ||the ministry of condemnation was
glory>
[Much' rather] doth the ministry of righteness abound' with glory.
- 10 For that which hath been made glorious<sup>i</sup> [hath not even been made glorious| in this respect,—

By reason of the surpassing' glory.

- 11 For <[if that which was to be done away [was brought in] with<sup>a</sup> glory]>

||Much more|| [that which is to abide] is in glory.

- 12 <[Having, then, such hope as this]> ||Great' openness of speech|| do we use;—

- 13 And are not just like Moses, [who] kept putting a veil upon his face.<sup>b</sup>

So that the sons of Israel should not look steadily unto the end of that which was to be done away.

- 14 But their thoughts were turned into stone :
For <[until this very day]> ||the same' veil|| [upon the reading of the old' covenant] abideth, not to be removed,
Because ||in Christ|| it is to be done away ;

- 15 But <[until this day]> ||whensoever Moses is read|| [a veil upon their heart] doth lie ;

- 16 Howbeit <[whensoever he turneth unto [the] Lord> he taketh off the veil<sup>b</sup> :

- 17 And ||the Lord|| is [the Spirit] :
Now <[where the Spirit of one who is Lord<sup>c</sup> [is] there is] freedom !

- 18 And ||we all|| <[with unveiled' face] receiving and reflecting<sup>d</sup> [the glory of [the] Lord]>

[Into the same' image] are being transformed,

From glory into glory,—

Even as from a Spirit that is Lord.

- 4 Wherefore <[having this ministry, even as we received mercy]> we faint not ;

- 2 But have renounced the hidden things of shame,

Not walking in craftiness.

Nor handling the word of God deceitfully,—

But ||by the manifestation of the truth|| commending ourselves unto every' conscience of men, in the sight of God.

- 3 And <[even if our glad-message [is veiled]> ||In them who are perishing|| it is veiled,

- 4 In whom ||the god of this age|| hath blinded the minds of the unbelieving,
To the end they may not discern the radiance<sup>e</sup> of the glad-message of the glory of the Christ—Who is the image of God.<sup>f</sup>

- 5 For ||not ourselves|| do we proclaim, but Christ' Jesus [as Lord],

And [ourselves] as your servants for Jesus' sake.

- 6 Because <[the God who said—
||Out of darkness|| light shall shine !><sup>g</sup>
[Is he] who hath shone in our hearts,

In proportion to the radiance of the glorious knowledge<sup>a</sup> of God, in the face of Christ.

- 7 Howbeit we have this treasure in earthen' vessels,

That ||the surpassing greatness of the power|| may be of God, and not from ourselves :—

- 8 [On every side] pressed hard, but not hemmed in,

Without a way, but not without a by-way,

Pursued, but not abandoned,

Thrown down, but not destroyed ;—

- 10 ||At all times, the putting to death of Jesus|| [in our body] bearing about,

In order that ||the life also of Jesus|| [in our body] may be made manifest ;

- 11 For ||evermore|| [we, the living] unto death' are being delivered, for Jesus' sake,

In order that ||the life also of Jesus|| may be made manifest in our mortal' flesh :

- 12 So that ||his death|| [in us] doth energise,
But [his life] in you.

- 13 Howbeit <[seeing that we have the same' spirit of faith,

According to that which is written—

I believed, therefore I spake><sup>b</sup>

||We|| also believe, therefore also we speak :

- 14 Knowing that ||he who raised up [the Lord] Jesus|| will raise up [us also, together with Jesus] and will present [us] together with you.<sup>c</sup>

- 15 For [all things] are for your sakes,
In order that ||the favour' abounding||

May <[through means of the greater number]> cause ||the thanksgiving|| to superabound unto the glory of God.

- 16 Wherefore we faint not,<sup>d</sup>

But <[even if ||our outer' man|| is decaying]>

Nevertheless ||our inner [man]|| is renewing<sup>e</sup> day by day.

- 17 For ||the momentary' lightness of the<sup>f</sup> tribulation||

<[In a manner yet more and more excelling]>

Is working out for us [an age-abiding' weight of glory],—

- 18 So long as we are not looking out for the visible things,

But for the invisible ;

For [the visible things] are temporary,

Whereas [the invisible] are age-abiding.

- 5 For we know that—
<[If ||our earthly' tent'-dwelling| should be taken down<sup>g</sup>

We have [a building of God],

A dwelling not made by hand,

Age-abiding in the heavens.

- desiring to clothe ourselves over ||with our habitation which is of <sup>a</sup> heaven||,—
- 3 Although, indeed <even clothing ourselves><sup>b</sup> we shall not be found [naked] ;—
- 4 And verily ||we who are in the tent|| do sigh, [being weighed down],
While yet we are not wishing to unclothe ourselves, but to clothe ourselves over,—
In order that ||what is mortal|| may be swallowed up<sup>c</sup> ||by life||.<sup>c</sup>
- 5 Now ||he that hath wrought us for this very<sup>d</sup>
thing|| is |God|,—
|Who hath given unto us the earnest of
the Spirit|,
- 6 Having good courage, therefore, at all times,
And knowing that—
Remaining at home in the body,
We are away from home from the Lord,—
- 7 |By faith| are we walking,
Not by sight ;—
- 8 We have good courage, however, and are well pleased—
Rather<sup>e</sup> to be away from home, out of the
body,
And to come home, unto the Lord.<sup>f</sup>
- 9 Wherefore also we are ambitious—<Whether at home, or away from home>
To be |well-pleasing unto him|.
- 10 For ||we all|| must needs be made manifest<sup>g</sup>
before the judgment seat of the Christ,<sup>g</sup>
That each one may get back the things done
by means of the body,
{According<sup>h</sup> to the things which he practised|,
Whether good or corrupt.
- 11 <Knowing, then, the fear of the Lord>
We persuade ||men||,
But ||unto God|| are manifest,—
I hope, moreover, ||even in your consciences|| that we are manifest :
- 12 ||Not again, ourselves|| do we commend unto
you,
But as though an occasion we were giving unto you—something to boast of, in our behalf ;
That ye may have something suited unto them who [in appearance] are boasting,
and not in heart.
- 13 For <whether we have been beside ourselves> it hath been for God,
Or <whether we are sober-minded> it is for you.
- 14 For ||the love of the Christ|| constraineth us ;—
- 15 Having judged this,—
That ||one|| [in behalf of all] died,
Hence ||they all|| died ;

- And [in behalf of all] died he,—
In order that ||they who live||
||No longer<sup>i</sup> for themselves|| should live,
But for him who [in their behalf] died and rose again.
- 16 So that ||we|| [henceforth] know [no one] ||after
the flesh||:
<If we have even been gaining, after the flesh, a knowledge of Christ>
- 17 ||On the contrary|| [now, no longer] are we gaining it.
So that <if any one is in Christ> there is a new<sup>j</sup> creation !<sup>k</sup>
||The old things|| have passed away,<sup>l</sup>—
Lo ! they have become new !
- 18 ||The all things|| moreover, are of God,—
Who hath reconciled us unto himself, through
Christ,
And hath given, unto us, the reconciling<sup>m</sup> ministry :—
- 19 How that ||God|| was in Christ,
Reconciling ||a world|| unto himself,
Not reckoning, unto them, their offences,—
And hath put, in us, the reconciling<sup>n</sup> discourse.
- 20 ||In behalf of Christ|| therefore, are we ambassadors,—
As if God were beseeching through us :
We entreat, in behalf of Christ,—
Be reconciled unto God !
- 21 <Him who knew not sin>
||In our behalf|| he made to be [sin|,
That we might become God's righteousness
in him.
- 6 <As co-workers, however> we also beseech,
That ||not in vain|| [the favour of God] ye welcome ;
- 2 For he saith—
[In an approved season] have I hearkened
unto thee,
And [in a day of salvation] have I succoured thee<sup>o</sup> :—
Lo ! [now] a well-approved season,
Lo ! [now] a day of salvation<sup>p</sup> :
- 3 Giving [no single] occasion of stumbling [in
anything|,
That the ministry<sup>q</sup> be not blamed ;
- 4 But [in everything] commending ourselves as God's ministers,—
In much endurance, in tribulations, in necessities, in straits, <sup>r</sup> in stripes, in imprisonments, in tumults, in toilings, in watchings, in fastings, <sup>s</sup> in sanctity, <sup>t</sup> in knowledge, in long-suffering, in graciousness, in Holy Spirit, in love unfeigned, in discourse of truth, in power of God ;
Through the weapons of righteousness on the right hand and left, <sup>u</sup> through glory and dishonour, through bad report and good report ;

and yet well-known, as dying, and lo! we live, as disciplined, and yet not put to death,<sup>a</sup> as grieving, yet [ever] rejoicing, as destitute, yet making [many] rich, as holding [nothing], and yet firmly holding [all things].<sup>b</sup>

<sup>12</sup> Ye are not straitened in us, But are straitened in your hearts' affections;

<sup>13</sup> Howbeit <by way of the like' recompense— as [unto children] I speak> Be enlarged, even [ye].

<sup>14</sup> Be not getting diversely yoked with unbelievers; For what partnership have righteousness and lawlessness?

<sup>15</sup> Or what fellowship hath light with darkness? And what concord hath Christ with Beliar? Or what part hath a believer with an unbeliever?

<sup>16</sup> And what agreement hath a shrine of God with idols?

For [we] are [the] [shrine of a God] that [liveth]:—

Even as God hath said—

I will dwell in them, and walk,

And will be their' God,

And [they] shall be my' people.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>17</sup> Wherefore come ye forth out of their midst,

And be separated,—saith [the] Lord,—

And [one impure] do not touch;

And [I] will give you welcome,<sup>e</sup>

<sup>18</sup> And will become your' Father,

And [ye] shall become my' sons and daughters,

Saith [the] Lord Almighty.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>7</sup> <Having therefore [these] promises, beloved>

Let us purify ourselves from all' pollution of flesh and spirit,

Perfecting holiness in fear of God.

<sup>2</sup> Give place to us!

[No one] have we wronged,

[No one] have we corrupted,

[No one] have we defrauded.

<sup>3</sup> [Unto condemnation] I am not saying [this]

For I have before said—

[In our hearts] are ye, to the end we may die together and live together.

<sup>4</sup> [Great] is my freedom of speech towards you,

[Great] is my boasting in behalf of you:

I am filled with the encouragement,

I am greatly superabounding with the joy,

In all' our tribulation.

<sup>5</sup> For <even when we came' into Macedonia><sup>g</sup>

[No relief at all] had our flesh;

But [in every way] were we in tribulation,— [Without] fightings!

[Within] fears!

<sup>6</sup> But <he who encourageth them that are brought low> encouraged us,—

Even God,—by the presence of Titus.

<sup>7</sup> Not, however, by his presence [alone], But also by the encouragement wherewith he had been encouraged over you:

Recounting<sup>a</sup> unto us your' earnest desire, your' lamentation, your' zeal in my behalf.

So that I the more' rejoiced.

<sup>8</sup> Because <if I even grieved you by the letter> I do not regret,—

Though I could even have regretted,—

I see that that letter <if even for an hour> did cause you grief.

<sup>9</sup> [Now] am I rejoicing,—

Not that ye were grieved,

But that ye were grieved unto repentance;

For ye were grieved according to God,

In order that [in nothing] should ye receive damage from us.

<sup>10</sup> For [grief according to God] worketh [repentance unto salvation, not to be regretted];

Although [the grieving of the world] worketh [death].

<sup>11</sup> For lo! this very' thing—the being caused to grieve [according to God]:—

What manner' of diligence it wrought out in you,—nay! defence,—nay! sore displeasure,—nay! fear,—nay! earnest desire,—nay! jealousy,—nay! avenging.

[In every way] ye shewed yourselves to be [chaste] in the matter.

<sup>12</sup> Hence <if I even wrote unto you>

It was not for the sake of him that did' the wrong,

[Nay] not even for the sake of him that suffered' the wrong;

But for the sake of your earnestness, which was on our account, being made manifest unto you, before God:—

<sup>13</sup> [For this cause] have we received encouragement.

<In addition to our encouragement, however>

[Much more abundantly] have we rejoiced over the joy of Titus,—

That his spirit hath received refreshment from you all',

<sup>14</sup> That <if in anything—unto him—in your behalf—I have boasted>

I have not been put to shame;

But <as [all things, in truth] we told you>

[So] [even our boasting before Titus] turned out to be [truth].

<sup>15</sup> And [his tender affections] are [much more abundantly towards you].

When he calleth to mind the obedience [of you all'],—

How [with fear and trembling] ye gave him welcome.

<sup>16</sup> I rejoice that [in everything] I am of good courage respecting you.

<sup>8</sup> Moreover we make known unto you, brethren, The favour of God which hath been given in the assemblies of Macedonia,—

<sup>2</sup> That <in a great' testing of tribulation> [The superabounding of their joy and their deep' destitution] Superabounded unto the riches of their liberality;

<sup>3</sup> That <according to power, I bear witness, and beyond power> [Of their own accord] [they acted],—

<sup>4</sup> [With much' exhortation] entreating of us the favour and the fellowship of the ministry which was for the saints;—

<sup>6</sup> And <not merely as we hoped> But [themselves] gave they, first, unto the Lord and unto us through God's will,

<sup>6</sup> To the end we should exhort Titus, in order that <According as he before made a beginning> [So] he should also complete unto you this favour also.

<sup>7</sup> But <just as [in everything] ye superabound,— In faith, and discourse, and knowledge, and all' earnestness, and in the love among you which proceedeth from us'> In order that [in this' favour also] ye would superabound.

<sup>8</sup> [Not by way of injunction] * do I speak, But through [others'] earnestness, And [the genuineness of your own' love] putting to the test.

<sup>9</sup> For ye are taking knowledge of the favour of our Lord Jesus [Christ],— How that [for your sakes] he became destitute—although he was [rich], In order that [ye] [by his destitution] might be enriched.

<sup>10</sup> And [a judgment, herein] do I give,— For [this, unto you] is profitable,— Who, indeed [not only of the doing, but of the desiring] made for yourselves a beginning a year ago;—

<sup>11</sup> Howbeit [now] [the doing also] complete ye, In order that [even according to the forwardness of the desiring] [So] may be the completing—out of what ye have.

<sup>12</sup> For <if the forwardness is set forth> [According to what one may have] he is well approved, Not according to what one hath not.

<sup>13</sup> For <not that unto others' should be relief, and unto you' distress [do I speak]. But <by equality>

[In the present' season] your' surplus for their deficiency,—

<sup>14</sup> In order that their' surplus may come to be for your' deficiency;

[That there may come about an equality]:—

<sup>15</sup> Even as it is written—

[He that [gathered] the much] had not more than enough, And [he that [gathered] the little] had not less.*

<sup>16</sup> Thanks, however, unto God!—

Who is putting the same' earnestness in your behalf in the heart of Titus, <sup>17</sup> In that <though, indeed, [the exhortation] he welcomed> Yet already being [greatly in earnest], [of his own accord] hath he gone forth unto you.

<sup>18</sup> Howbeit, we have set forward, with him, the brother [whose praise in the Glad Tidings] [hath gone] through all' the assemblies:—

<sup>19</sup> [Not only so, however] but he hath also been appointed by the assemblies, as a fellow-traveller with us in this favour, which is being ministered by us with a view to the [Lord's] glory and our earnest desire:—

<sup>20</sup> Arranging this—lest anyone [upon us] should cast blame, in this munificence which is being ministered by us;

<sup>21</sup> For we provide things honourable, not only before [the] Lord, but also before men.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>22</sup> Moreover we have set forward, with them, our brother whom we have proved [in many things, oftentimes] earnest,— But [now] much' more earnest, by reason of the great confidence [which he hath] towards you.

He is a partner of mine, and [towards you] a fellow-worker.

<Or our brethren>

Apostles of assemblies, and Christ's glory.

<sup>24</sup> <The proof of your love, therefore, and of our' boasting in your behalf> Shew ye [unto them] [in the face of the assemblies].

<sup>9</sup> For, indeed, <concerning the ministry which is for the saints>

It is [superfluous for me] to be writing to you;

<sup>2</sup> For I know your forwardness of mind—

Of which [in your behalf] I am boasting unto Macedonians,

That [Achaia] hath been prepared for a year past,—

And [your' zeal] hath stirred up the greater number of them.

<sup>3</sup> Nevertheless I have sent the brethren,

That [our boast in your behalf] be not made void [in this respect],

That [even as I was saying] ye' may be prepared,—

<sup>4</sup> Lest by any means <if there should come with me Macedonians, and find you unprepared>

[We]—not to say [ye]—should be put to shame in this confidence.

* 1 Co. vii. 6.

* Exo. xvi. 18.

<sup>b</sup> Pr. iii. 4 [Sep]; cp. Ro. xii. 17.

<sup>5</sup> [Necessary] therefore, I regarded it,
To exhort the brethren that they would go forward unto you,
And make up beforehand your previously-promised blessing.

||The same|| to be [ready]—[thus, as a blessing] and not as of constraint.

<sup>6</sup> <As to this, however>

||He that soweth sparingly||
[Sparingly] also shall reap,
And ||he that soweth with blessings||
[With blessings] also shall reap<sup>a</sup> :

<sup>7</sup> Each one, according as he hath purposed in his heart||

Not sorrowfully, nor of necessity,—

For ||a cheerful giver|| [God] loveth.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>8</sup> Moreover God is able to cause [every] gracious gift| to superabound unto you,

In order that <having in every' thing, at every time', every kind of sufficiency of your own><sup>c</sup>

Ye may be superabounding unto every'
good work ;

<sup>9</sup> Even as it is written—

He hath scattered abroad,

He hath given to the needy,—

||His righteousness|| abideth to futurity.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>10</sup> Now <he that supplieth seed to the sower, and bread for eating>

Will supply and multiply your seed for sowing,

And cause to grow your fruits of righteousness :

<sup>11</sup> [In every thing] being enriched, unto every kind' of liberality,—

Which, indeed, worketh out, through us,
thanksgiving unto God ;

<sup>12</sup> Because ||the ministry of this public service|| is not only' towards filling up the deficiencies of the saints, but also superabounding [through the thanksgiving of many'] unto God,—

<sup>13</sup> [Of many] who [through the proof of this ministry] are glorifying God for your acknowledged' submission unto the glad-message of the Christ, and for the liberality of the fellowship [unto them, and unto all],—

<sup>14</sup> ||Themselves also|| <with supplication on your behalf> longing after you, by reason of the surpassing favour of God [resting]
upon you :—

<sup>15</sup> Thanks be unto God, for his unspeakable' bounty !

<sup>10</sup> Moreover ||I, Paul, myself|| exhort you,
Through the meekness and considerate-ness of the Christ,—

I who [to look upon, indeed] am lowly among you,

But [absent] am bold towards you ;—

iv. 11.

<sup>d</sup> Ps. cxii. 9.

<sup>e</sup> Mt.: "the fruits of your righteousness." Lk. iv.
10; Hos. x. 12.

<sup>2</sup> I entreat, however,

That [when present] I may not be bold with the assurance wherewith I think to be daring against some who account of us as though [according to flesh] we were walking,—

<sup>3</sup> For <though [in flesh] we walk>

Not [according to flesh] do we war,—

<sup>4</sup> For ||the weapons of our warfare|| are not fleshly,

But mighty, by God, unto a pulling down of strongholds,—

<sup>5</sup> When we pull down [calculations] and every' height that uplifteth itself against the knowledge of God,

And when we bring into captivity every'
thought unto the obedience of the Christ,

<sup>6</sup> And when we hold ourselves [in readiness] to avenge all' disobedience,

As soon as your' obedience shall be fulfilled !

<sup>7</sup> ||The things that lie on the surface|| ye are looking at :—

<If anyone hath come to trust in himself that he is [Christ's]>

||This|| let him reckon, again, with himself—
That <even as ||he|| is Christ's>

[So] also are ||we||.

<sup>8</sup> Yea <if [somewhat more abundantly] I should boast concerning our authority—

Which the Lord hath given for building up and not for pulling you down>

I shall not be put to shame,—

<sup>9</sup> That I may not seem as though I would be terrifying you through means of my letters ;

<sup>10</sup> Because ||The letters, it is true|| (saith one),<sup>a</sup>
are weighty and strong,

But [the presence of the body] is weak, and [the discourse] contemptible ;—

<sup>11</sup> ||This|| let such a one reckon—

That <what we are, in our word, through means of letters, being absent>

[Such] also ||being present|| are we [in our deed].

<sup>12</sup> For we dare not class or compare ourselves with some' who do [themselves] commend ;

But ||they|| <among<sup>b</sup> themselves|| measuring [themselves], and comparing themselves with themselves>

Are without discernment !

<sup>13</sup> ||We|| however <not as to the things without measure> will boast ourselves,

But, according to the measure of the limit which God apportioned unto us [as a measure]—

To reach as far as even you !

<sup>14</sup> For <not as though we were not reaching unto you> are we over-stretching ourselves,

For <as far as even you> were we beforehand
in the glad-message of the Christ :

<sup>15</sup> Not <as to the things without measure> boasting ourselves in other' men's toils,

But having [hope]—your faith [growing]—

<sup>a</sup> Or (WH): "say they."

<sup>b</sup> Or: "within"

- [among you] to be enlarged [according to our limit for something beyond],—
- 16 [Unto the regions beyond you] to carry the glad-message:
- Not <within another' man's limit, as to the things made ready> to boast ourselves.
- 17 [He that boasteth] however, [in the Lord] let him boast<sup>a</sup>;
- 18 For [not he that commendeth himself] [he] is approved,
But he whom [the Lord] doth commend.
- 11 I could wish ye would bear with me as to some little' foolishness,— Nay! do even bear with me.
- 2 For I am jealous over you with a jealousy [of God];
For I myself betrothed you unto one' husband,
To present [a chaste virgin] unto the Christ,—
- 3 But I fear lest, by any means,
<As [the serpent] completely deceived Eve, in his craftiness><sup>b</sup>
Your minds should be corrupted from the singleness [and the chasteness] which are [due] unto the Christ.
- 4 For <if, indeed, [he that cometh] is proclaiming [another' Jesus],<sup>c</sup>
Whom we have not proclaimed,
Or [a different Spirit] ye are receiving,
Which ye had not received,
Or a different glad-message,
Which ye have never welcomed>
Ye are [well] bearing.<sup>d</sup>
- 5 For I reckon not to have come a whit' behind the exceeding overmuch' apostles;
- 6 And <even if uncultured in my discourse>
Certainly not in my knowledge,—
But [in every way] having made [it] manifest, in all things, unto you.
- 7 Or [a sin] did I commit—Abasing [myself] that [ye] might be exalted,—
In that [free of charge] [God's' glad-message] I announced unto you?
- 8 [Other' assemblies] I despoiled, receiving supplies that I might minister [unto you];
- 9 And <being present with you, and having come short> I was not burdensome to anyone,—
For [my deficiency] the brethren, coming from Macedonia, [helped to make up];—
And <in everything, without burden unto you> I kept [myself]—and will' keep!
- 10 [Truth of Christ is in me] that [this boasting] shall not be silenced unto me, in the regions of Achaia.
- 11 Wherefore? Because I love you not? [God] knoweth!

- 12 But [what I am' doing] I also will' do,—
That I may cut off the occasion of them who are wishing an occasion,
That [wherein they are boasting themselves] they may be found even as also [we].
- 13 For [such as these] are false apostles, deceitful workers, transfiguring themselves into apostles of Christ.
- 14 And no marvel! For [Satan himself] doth transfigure himself into a messenger of light!
- 15 [No great thing, therefore] if [his ministers also] are transfiguring themselves as ministers of righteousness!—
[Whose end] shall be according to their works.
- 16 [Again] I say—
Let no one deem me to be [foolish];
But [otherwise, at least] [as foolish] give me welcome,
That [I also] [some little] may boast myself.
- 17 <What I am saying> [Not according to the Lord] am I saying, but as in foolishness,—
In this' my boastful' confidence!
18 <Since [many] are boasting after the flesh>
[I also] will boast;
- 19 For [gladly] do ye bear with the foolish,
Being [yourselves] [discreet],—
- 20 For ye bear with it—
If anyone enslaveth you, if any devoureth, if anyone taketh, if anyone lifeth himself up, if anyone [on the face] doth smite you!
- 21 [By way of disparagement] am I speaking,—
As though [we] had been weak!
Whereas [in whatsoever anyone dareth] <in foolishness I speak> [I also] dare:—
- 22 [Hebrews] are they? [I also],
[Israelites] are they? [I also],
[Seed of Abraham] are they? [I also],
- 23 [Ministers of Christ] are they? <As one deranged I am talking> [I] above measure!—
[In toils] superabundantly,
[In prisons] superabundantly,
[In stripes] to excess,
[In deaths] oft,—
- 24 <From Jews> [five times] [forty-save-one] have I received,
- 25 [Thrice] have I been beaten with rods,
[Once] have I been stoned,
[Thrice] have I been shipwrecked,
[A day and night] [in the deep] have I spent;
- 26 In journeyings oft,
In perils of rivers, in perils of robbers, in perils from my own race, in perils from Gentiles, in perils in the city, in perils in the desert, in perils by the sea, in perils among false brethren, <sup>27</sup> in toil and hardship, [in watchings] oft, in

- hunger and thirst, |in fasting| oft, in cold and nakedness:—
- 28 <Apart from the things without> |My daily care||—my anxiety for all' the assemblies;—
- 29 Who is weak, and I am not' weak? Who is caused to stumble, and |I| am not burning?
- 30 <If |to boast| is needful> |in the things that concern my weakness| will I boast.
- 31 ||The God and Father of our Lord Jesus|| knoweth—
He who is blessed unto the ages—
That I am not speaking falsely:
- 32 ||In Damascus|| |the governor under Aretas the king| was guarding the city of Damascus, to apprehend me,—
- 33 And |through a window| was I let down by the wall,<sup>a</sup>
And escaped his hands.
- 12 |To be boasting| is needful,—it is not, indeed, profitable,<sup>b</sup>
Yet will I come to visions and revelations of [the] Lord:—
- 2 I know a man in Christ,
Who |fourteen years ago|
<Whether in the body, I know not,
Or out of the body, I know not, |God| knoweth>
Such a one as this |caught away| as far as the third heaven;
- 3 And I know such' a man as this,
<Whether in the body or apart from the body,
[I know not],—|God| knoweth>
- 4 How that he was caught away into paradise,
And heard unspeakable' things,
Which it is not allowable for a man to utter:
- 5 ||On behalf of such a one as this|| will I boast,
But ||on behalf of myself|| will I not boast
||save in my weaknesses||:—
- 6 Although in fact <if I should wish to boast>
I shall not be foolish, for |the truth| would I speak;
But I forbear, lest anyone |unto me| should reckon above what he beholdeth me [to be], or heareth from me,—
||Even by the exceeding greatness of the revelations||.
- 7 Wherefore <lest I should be unduly lifted up>
There was given to me a thorn<sup>c</sup> in the flesh,
A messenger of Satan, that he might buffet me,—
||Lest I should be unduly lifted up||.
- 8 |In this behalf| ||thrice|| besought I |the Lord|,
that it<sup>d</sup> might depart from me;
- 9 And at once he said unto me—
|Sufficient for thee| is my favour,
For ||my power|| |in weakness| is made complete.

- ||Most gladly|| therefore, will I rather' boast in my weaknesses,
That the power of Christ may spread a tent over me.
- 10 Wherefore, I take pleasure in weaknesses, in insults, in necessities, in persecutions and straits,<sup>a</sup>
|In behalf of Christ|;
For <as soon as I am weak> ||then|| am I ||powerful||.
- 11 I have become foolish,—||ye|| compelled me:—
||I||, in fact, ought |by you| to have been commended;
For |not a whit| have I come behind the exceeding' overmuch' apostles,—
|Even if I am nothing'|;
- 12 ||The signs, indeed, of an apostle||<sup>b</sup> were wrought out among you |in all' endurance|,—
[Both] in signs, and wonders, and mighty works:
- 13 For what is there wherein ye were made inferior to the rest' of the assemblies,—
Save that ||I myself|| would not allow myself to be a burden unto you?
Forgive me this wrong!
- 14 Lo! ||this third time|| I am holding myself |in readiness| to come unto you,
And I will not allow myself to be a burden;
For I seek not yours, but you;—
For |the children| ought not' to lay up |for the parents|,
But the parents for the children;—
- 15 And ||I|| |most gladly| will spend, and be fully spent, for your souls:—
<If I |exceedingly| love you> am I |the less| loved?<sup>c</sup>
- 16 But let it be!—
I ||myself|| did not burden you,—
Notwithstanding, ||being crafty|| |with guile| I caught you?<sup>d</sup>
- 17 Was there |anyone of those whom I have sent unto you| through whom I have overreached you?
- 18 I exhorted Titus, and sent with him the brother,—
Did |Titus| overreach you?
Was it not |in the same' spirit| we walked?
Was it not |in the same' steps|?
- 19 ||All this time|| think ye, that |unto you| we are making a defence?
||Before God in Christ|| we speak;—
But all these things, beloved, for your' up-building.
- 20 For I fear—
<Lest, by any means, when I come>
|Not such as I wish| should I find you,
And ||I|| should be found by you, |such as ye do not' wish|;—

profitable, Yet," &amp;c.

I am loved."

<sup>d</sup> As if: "Is that what you say?"—which he then indignantly denies.

- Lest, by any means, [I should find] strife, jealousy, outbursts of wrath, factions, railings, whisperings, puffed up pretensions, confusions;—
- 21 Lest <when I again' come> my God should humble me in regard to you,—
And I should grieve over many' who had before sinned, and not repented of the impurity and fornication, and wantonness which they had committed.
- 13 ||This third time|| am I coming unto you :—
<At the mouth of two' witnesses, or three> shall every' matter be established.<sup>b</sup>
- 2 I have said beforehand, and do say beforehand,—
<As present the second time, although now absent>
Unto them who before sinned, and unto all the rest,—
That <if I come again> I will not spare.
- 3 <Since ||a test|| ye are seeking, of the speaking in me of Christ;—
Who |unto you| is not weak,
But is powerful in you,—
- 4 For |although he was crucified through weakness|,
Yet is he living through God's power,—
For |although ||we|| are weak in<sup>c</sup> him|,
Yet shall we live with him, through God's power [unto us] >—
- 5 Be trying ||yourselves|| whether ye are in the faith,
Be putting ||yourselves|| to the test!
Or do ye not recognise yourselves,
- <sup>a</sup> Or: "am I to come unto you?"      <sup>b</sup> Deu. xix. 15.
<sup>c</sup> Or: "with."

- Seeing that |Jesus Christ| is in you,— Unless perhaps ye fail in the testing.
- 6 I hope, however, that ye shall come to know, that ||we|| fail not in the testing!
- 7 But we pray unto God, that ye may do nothing base,—
Not that ||we|| may appear |accepted|,
But that ||ye|| |the honourable thing| may be doing, even though ||we|| should be, as it were, |rejected|;
- 8 For we can do nothing against<sup>a</sup> the truth, but for<sup>a</sup> the truth;
- 9 For we rejoice—whensoever ||we|| are weak, and ||ye|| are |strong|.
- ||This|| also we pray for—your restoration :—
- 10 ||For this cause|| |these things, while absent| am I writing,
That I may not |when present| deal sharply'—
According to the authority which |the Lord| hath given me, for building up and not for pulling down.
- 11 ||Finally|| brethren, farewell!
Be getting restored, be taking encouragement, be of one mind, live in peace,—
And ||the God of love and peace|| will be with you.
- 12 Salute ye one another with a holy' kiss.
|All the saints| salute you.
- 13 ||The favour of our Lord Jesus [Christ],
And the love of God,
And the fellowship of the Holy' Spirit||<sup>a</sup>
Be with you all'.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE GALATIANS.

- 1 Paul, an apostle,—
Not from men, nor through man,
But through Jesus Christ, and God the Father who raised him from among the dead,—
- 2 And all the brethren with' me;—
Unto the assemblies of Galatia:
- 3 Favour unto you and peace,
From God our Father,
And Lord Jesus Christ,—<sup>a</sup>

- 4 Who gave himself for<sup>a</sup> our sins,<sup>b</sup>
That he might deliver us out of the present' evil age, According to the will of our God and Father,—
- 5 Unto whom be the glory unto the ages of ages: Amen!
- 6 I marvel that ||thus' quickly|| ye are moving away from him that called you in the favour of Christ,

<sup>a</sup> Or: "From God [the] Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ."

"concerning."

- Unto a different' glad-message,—
 7 Which is not [another],
 Only there are [some] that are troubling
 you,*
 And wishing to change the glad-message
 of the Christ.
 8 But <even if [we] or [a messenger out of heaven] announce a glad-message [unto you] aside from that which we announced
 unto you>
 [Accursed]<sup>b</sup> let him be!
 9 [As we have said before, even now' again' I say]:
 <If anyone is announcing unto you' a glad-message aside from that which ye accepted>
 [Accursed]<sup>b</sup> let him be!
 10 For am I [even now] persuading [men] or
 [God]?
 Or am I seeking to please [men]?
 <If I had been still' pleasing [men]> [Christ's' servant] had I not been!
 11 For I make known unto you, brethren, <As to the glad-message which was announced by me>
 That it is not after man;
 12 For neither [from man] did I accept it,
 Nor was taught [it],—
 But through a revealing of Jesus Christ.
 13 For ye have heard <as to my own' manner of life, at one time, in Judaism>
 How that [exceedingly] was I persecuting the assembly of God, and laying it waste,<sup>c</sup> 14 And was making advancement, in Judaism, above many' contemporaries in my nation,—
 Being [surpassingly' zealous] of my paternal' instructions.<sup>d</sup> 15 But <when God,<sup>e</sup> who set me apart from my mother's womb and called' me through his favour,
 Was well-pleased' <sup>16</sup> to reveal his Son in me,<sup>e</sup>
 That I might announce the glad-message regarding him among the nations> [Straightway] I conferred not with flesh and blood,
 17 Neither went I up unto Jerusalem unto them who [before me] were apostles,—
 But I went away into Arabia, and again' returned unto Damascus.
 18 [Then, after three' years] went I up unto Jerusalem, to become acquainted with Cephas, and tarried with him fifteen days;
 19 But [other of the apostles] saw I none, save
 James the brother of the Lord:—
 20 Now <as touching the things which I am writing to you> lo! [before God] I am not guilty of falsehood:—
 21 [After that] I went into the regions of Syria and Cilicia,
 22 And was still unknown, by face, unto the

- assemblies of Judæa which were in Christ,—
 23 Only they were hearing—
 [He that was persecuting us formerly] [Now] is announcing the glad-message of the faith which he formerly laid waste;
 24 And they were glorifying [God] [in me].<sup>a</sup>
 2 [After that, fourteen' years later] I [again] went up unto Jerusalem, with Barnabas,
 Taking with me Titus also;
 2 And I went up by revelation,
 And laid before them the glad-message which I proclaim among the nations;
 [Privately] however, to them of repute,— Lest, by any means, [in vain] I should be running, or had run.
 3 But [not even Titus, who was with me, though he was a Greek] was compelled to be circumcised:—
 4 But [this was] because of the false brethren secretly' introduced,— Who, indeed, came in secretly to spy out our freedom, which we have in Christ Jesus,
 That they might bring us' into bondage:—
 5 [Unto whom, not even for an hour] gave we place by the [required] submission,—
 In order' that [the truth of the glad-message] might still abide with you.
 6 Moreover <from them who were reputed to be something>— [Whatsoever at one time] they were,
 maketh no' difference to me,
 God accepteth not a man's [person],— [Unto me] in fact, they who were of repute added nothing' further;
 7 But [on the contrary]—
 <When they saw that I had been entrusted with the glad-message to the uncircumcision,
 Even as [Peter] [with that] to the circumcision,—
 8 For [he that energised in Peter] into an apostleship to the circumcision]
 Energised also in me, for the nations,— 9 And when they perceived the favour which had been given unto me> [James and Cephas and John, who were reputed to be pillars]
 Gave [the right hand of fellowship] unto me and Barnabas,
 In order that [we] [should go] unto the
 nations,
 And [they] unto the circumcision:—
 10 Only that we should remember [the destitute],—
 As to which I had given diligence [this very' thing] to do.
 11 But <when Cephas came unto Antioch>
 [To the face] [even] [him] I resisted,
 Because he stood condemned;
 * Or: "in my case"—as in v. 16.

* Chap. v. 10.

<sup>b</sup> Gr: anathema.<sup>c</sup> Ac. viii. 3; ix. 21.<sup>d</sup> Ac. xxii. 3.

* Or (WH): "he."

<sup>f</sup> Is. xlix. 1.<sup>e</sup> Or: "in my case."

- 12 For <before that certain came from James>
 ||With them of the nations|| used he to eat;
 Whereas <when they came>
 He used to withdraw, and keep himself separate,
 Fearing them of the circumcision;
 13 And the rest<sup>a</sup> of the Jews [also] used hypocrisy with him,
 So that ||even Barnabas|| was carried away
 by their hypocrisy.
 14 But <when I saw that they were not walking with straightforwardness as regardeth the truth of the glad-message>
 I said unto Cephas, before all:—
 <If ||thou|| although |a Jew| |like them of the nations, and not like the Jews|
 dost live>
 How dost thou compel ||them of the nations|| to live like Jews?
 15 ||We, by nature<sup>a</sup> Jews, and not sinners from among the nations'> 16 <Knowing, however, that a man is not declared righteous by works of law,<sup>a</sup> [Nor at all] save through faith in Christ Jesus>
 ||Even we|| |on Christ Jesus<sup>b</sup>| believed,
 That we might be declared righteous—
 By faith in<sup>c</sup> Christ,
 And not by works of law;
 Because ||by works of law|| shall no' flesh be declared righteous.<sup>d</sup> 17 Now <if in seeking to be declared righteous in Christ we ||ourselves
 also|| were found sinners>—
 Is Christ |therefore| a minister |of sin|?
 Far be it!
 18 For <if ||the things that I pulled down||
 ||these|| |again| I build>
 ||A transgressor|| I prove |myself| to be.
 19 For ||I|| |through means of law| |unto law| died,
 That |unto God| I might live:—
 20 ||With Christ|| have I been crucified;
 And |living no longer| am ||I||,
 But |living in me| is ||Christ||,— While <so far as I now' do live in flesh>
 |By faith| I live—
 The faith in<sup>e</sup> the Son of God,
 Who loved me, and gave himself up in my behalf.
 21 I do not set aside the favour of God;
 For <if |through law| is righteousness>
 Then |Christ| ||without cause|| died.

3 O thoughtless<sup>a</sup> Galatians!
 Who hath bewitched you,—
 ||Before whose very eyes|| |Jesus Christ| was openly set forth as a crucified one?

2 ||This only|| am I wishing to learn from you:—
 ||By works of law|| received ye |the Spirit|?
 Or by a believed<sup>b</sup> report?<sup>c</sup>

<sup>a</sup> Chap. iii. 11; Ro. iii. 20.

<sup>b</sup> Or (WH): "on Jesus

Christ."
<sup>c</sup> MI: "of."

<sup>e</sup> MI: "of."

 faith."

- 2 ||So thoughtless|| are ye?
 <Having made a beginning in Spirit>
 Are ye ||now, in flesh|| to be made complete?
 4 ||Such things|| suffered ye |in vain|,—
 If at least [it is] even in vain?
 5 <He then who was supplying unto you the Spirit, and energising mighty works among<sup>a</sup>
 you>
 By works of law,
 Or by a believed<sup>b</sup> report<sup>b</sup> [did he it]?
 6 Even as Abraham—
*Believed in God,
 And it was reckoned unto him as righteousness.*<sup>c</sup>
 7 Be taking note |therefore|—
 That |they who are of faith| ||the same|| are |sons| of Abraham;
 8 And ||the scripture||
 <|Foreseeing| that ||by faith|| God would declare the nations righteous>
 Fore-announced the good news unto Abraham,
 saying—
All' the nations shall be blessed in thee.<sup>d</sup>
 9 So then ||they who are of faith|| are blessed<sup>e</sup> with believing<sup>f</sup> Abraham;
 10 For ||as many as are of works of law|| are
 |under a curse|,—
 For it is written—
||Accursed|| is everyone' that continueth not in all' things that are written in the book<sup>g</sup> of the law to do them.<sup>h</sup>
 11 Moreover, <that ||in law|| |no one| is declared<sup>b</sup> righteous with God> [is] evident,—
 Because ||The righteous one|| |by faith|
shall live!
 12 And ||the law|| is not of faith, but—
||He that hath done them|| shall live in them,<sup>k</sup>
 13 ||Christ|| hath redeemed |us| out of the curse of the law;
 Having become |in our behalf| ||a curse||;—
 Because it is written—
||Cursed|| is everyone' that hangeth upon a tree!<sup>l</sup>—
 14 In order that ||unto the nations|| |the blessing of Abraham| might come about in Jesus Christ,<sup>m</sup>—
 In order that ||the promise of the Spirit|| we might receive through means of the<sup>n</sup> faith.

15 Brethren! |in human fashion|| am I speaking:
 Yet still ||a man's' confirmed' covenant|| no
 one setteth aside or addeth unto;

16 Now ||unto Abraham|| were spoken the promises—|and unto his seed|<sup>o</sup>;—
 He saith not— And unto thy seeds, as of many,
 But ||as of one||— And unto thy seed,<sup>p</sup>
 which is Christ

- 17 And [this] I say—
 <A covenant previously confirmed by God>
 [the law which |after four hundred' and thirty' years| hath been brought into being| doth not annul, so as to do away with the promise.
- 18 For <if |by law| is the inheritance>
 It is |no longer| by promise;
 But [unto Abraham] |through promise| hath God favoured it.
- 19 Why, then, the law?
 [Because of the transgressions] it was added,
 Until such time as the seed should come,
 unto whom the promise had been made,
 And was given in charge through messengers,
 at the hand of a mediator;
- 20 Now [a mediator<sup>a</sup>] is not [a mediator] [of
 one],
 But [God] is [one].
- 21 Is [the law] then, against the promises [of God]? Far be it!
 For <if a law had been given, which had been able to give life>
 Verily [in<sup>b</sup> law] would have been our righteousness;
- 22 But the Scripture [did shut up] all things [under sin],<sup>c</sup>
 That [the promise by faith in<sup>d</sup> Jesus Christ] might be given to them who have faith,
- 23 [Before the coming of the faith] however, [under law] were we being kept in ward,
 Being shut up unto the faith which should afterwards [be revealed].
- 24 So that [the law] hath proved [our tutor]
 [training us] for Christ,
 In order that [by faith] we might be declared
 righteous;
- 25 But <the faith having come> [no longer] are we [under a tutor];—
- 26 For ye [all] are [sons of God] through the<sup>e</sup> faith in Christ Jesus;
- 27 For ye [as many as] [into Christ] have been immersed<sup>f</sup> have put [Christ] on:
- 28 There cannot be Jew or Greek,
 There cannot be bond or free,
 There cannot be male and female,
 For [all ye] are [one] in Christ Jesus:
- 29 Now <if [ye] are of Christ>
 By consequence ye are [Abraham's seed],
 [According to promise] [heirs].
- 4 But I say:—
 <For as long' a time as [the heir] is [an infant]>
 He differeth [nothing] from a servant,
 though [lord of all],
- 2 But is [under guardians] and stewards, until the [day] fore-appointed of the father:
- 3 So also [we] <when we were infants> [Under the elementary principles of the world] were held in servitude;

 probably generic—"a."

- 4 But <when the fulness of the time came> God sent forth his Son,
 Who came to be of a woman,
 Who came to be under law,—
- 5 That [them who] were under law<sup>g</sup> he might redeem,
 That [the sonship] we might duly
 receive;—
- 6 And <because ye are sons>
 God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, exclaiming, Abba! Oh Father<sup>h</sup>!
- 7 So that [no longer] art thou a servant but a son;
 And [if a son] an heir also, through God.
- 8 But [at that time]—
 <Not knowing God>
 Ye were in servitude unto them who [by nature] are not Gods;
- 9 Whereas [now]—
 <Having acknowledged God,— or rather,
 Having been acknowledged by God>
 How turn ye back again unto the weak' and beggarly' elementary principles, unto which [over again] ye are wishing [to come into servitude]<sup>i</sup>?
- 10 [Days] ye do narrowly observe,<sup>e</sup> and months, and seasons, and years:—
- 11 I am afraid of you—Lest by any means [in vain] I should have toiled for you!
- 12 Become ye as [I],
 Because [I also] [was] as [ye],—brethren, I entreat you.
 [Not at all] have ye wronged me.
- 13 Howbeit ye know that [by reason of<sup>d</sup> a weakness of the flesh] I myself announced the glad-message unto you [formerly];
- 14 And [your trial, in my flesh<sup>e</sup>] ye despised not, neither spat ye [in disgust],
 But [as a messenger of God] ye welcomed me—[As Christ Jesus].
- 15 Where, then, is the happiness ye accounted yours?
 For I bear you witness—That [if possible, your eyes] ye would have dug out, and given unto me.
- 16 So then [your enemy] have I become, by dealing truthfully with you?
- 17 They shew a zeal for you, not honourably,
 But wish [to shut you out],
 In order that ye may be zealous for
 [them].
- 18 Howbeit it is [honourable] to shew zeal in what is [honourable] at all times, and not only when I am present with you;—
- 19 My dear children! for whom I [again] am in birth-pains,
 Until Christ be formed within you;—
- 20 I could wish, however, to be present with you, even now, and to change my voice,—
 Because I am perplexed regarding you.

- 21 Tell me! ye who ||under law|| are wishing to be:
||The law|| do ye not hear?
- 22 For it is written, that ||Abraham|| had |two| sons|—<sup>a</sup>
One' by the bondmaid,
And one' by |the free woman|;
23 But ||he that was of the bondmaid||
|After the flesh| had been born,
Whereas ||he that was of the free woman||
Through means of a <sup>b</sup> promise.
24 Which things, indeed, may bear another meaning;
For ||the same|| are two' covenants,—
One, indeed, from Mount Sinai,
|Into bondage| bringing forth,
The which is Hagar,—
25 And ||the Hagar|| is |Mount Sinai| in Arabia,—
She answereth, however, unto the present' Jerusalem,
For she is in bondage with her children;
26 But ||the Jerusalem above||<sup>c</sup> is |free|,—
The which is our mother;
27 For it is written—
*Be gladdened, O barren one! that wast not giving birth,
Break forth and shout, thou that wast not in birth-pains,—
Because ||more|| are the children of the deserted one,
Than of her that had the husband.<sup>d</sup>*
28 And ||we||<sup>e</sup> brethren, <after the manner of Isaac>
Are |children of a promise'|.
29 But <just as |then| ||he that after the manner of the flesh' had been born||
Did persecute him who [had been born] after the manner of the Spirit>
||Thus|| also |now|. <sup>f</sup>
30 But, what saith the scripture?
*Cast out the serving woman and her son;
For in nowise shall the son of the serving woman inherit' with the son of the free.<sup>g</sup>* 31 Wherefore, brethren, we are not children of a serving woman|, but of the free:—
5 ||With her freedom|| |Christ| hath made you' free.
Stand fast, therefore, and do not |again| ||with a yoke of servitude|| be held fast!
- 2 See! ||I, Paul|| say unto you—
<If ye be getting circumcised> |Christ| will profit you' nothing'.
3 Yea, I bear solemn witness again, unto every'
man getting circumcised,—
That he is |a debtor| to do |the whole' law|. <sup>h</sup>
4 Ye have been set aside from Christ, ye who |by law| are to be declared righteous,—
|Out of his favour| ye have fallen;
5 For ||we|| |in Spirit, by faith, for a hope of righteousness| are ardently waiting,—
6 For ||in Christ [Jesus]|| neither ||circum-

cision|| availeth anything,<sup>a</sup> nor |uncircumcision|,
But faith, |through love| energising.

- 7 Ye were running well:—
Who hath hindered you, that |by truth| ye are not to be persuaded?
- 8 ||The persuasion|| [is] not of him that calleth<sup>b</sup>
you:—
9 ||A little' leaven|| leaveneth |the whole'
lump|. <sup>c</sup>
- 10 ||I|| am persuaded regarding you, in the Lord—
That <for nothing else> ye will have any regard;
But ||he that is troubling you|| shall bear the sentence,—
||Whosoever he may be||.
- 11 ||I|| however, brethren—
<If |circumcision| I yet' proclaim>
Why am I yet' persecuted?
|After all| the stumbling-block of the cross hath been set aside.
12 Oh! that they would even leave off in dismay<sup>d</sup> who are unsettling you!
- 13 For ||ye|| |on a footing of freedom| were called brethren,—
|Only'| |turn| not your freedom into an occasion to the flesh,
But ||by means of your love|| be serving one
another;
14 For ||the whole' law|| |in one' word| is summed up—[namely] in this,—
Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.<sup>e</sup>
15 <If, however, ||one another|| ye bite and devour>
Take heed lest ||by one another|| ye be consumed!
- 16 I say, moreover—
|By Spirit| be walking,
And ||fleshly coveting|| ye will in nowise fulfil;
17 For ||the flesh|| coveteth against the Spirit,
But ||the Spirit|| against the flesh,—
For ||these|| |unto one another| are opposed.
Lest <whatsoever things ye chance to desire>
||these|| ye should be doing!
- 18 And <if |by Spirit| ye are being led>
Ye are not under law.
19 ||Manifest|| however, are the works of the flesh, which, indeed, are—Fornication, impurity, wantonness, <sup>20</sup> idolatry, enchantment, enmities, strife,<sup>f</sup> jealousy,<sup>g</sup> outbursts of wrath, factions, divisions, parties, <sup>21</sup> envyings, drunkenness,<sup>h</sup> revellings;—
And such things as these:
As to which I forewarn you, even as I have'
forewarned you,—
That ||they who such things as these' do practise||
Shall not inherit ||God's kingdom||.

22 But the fruit of the Spirit is—<sup>a</sup>
Love, joy, peace, long-suffering, graciousness, goodness, faithfulness, <sup>23</sup> meekness,
self-control;—
Against such things as these there is no
law.

24 And they who are of Christ Jesus have crucified the flesh, with its susceptibilities and covetings.

25 <If we live by Spirit>

|By Spirit| let us also walk.

26 Let us not become vain-glorious,—

One another challenging,

One another envying.

6 Brethren! <if a man should even be overtaken in any fault>

Ye, the spiritual be restoring such a one, in a spirit of meekness,

Looking to thyself, lest even thou be put to the test.

2 One another's burdens be ye bearing,

And so fill up the law of the Christ.

3 For <if anyone thinketh he is something, when he is nothing> he deceiveth himself;

4 But his own work let each one <sup>b</sup> be putting to the proof,—

And then, for himself alone the matter of boasting shall he have,

And not for some other,

5 For each one his own proper load shall bear:—

6 Howbeit, let him who is being orally instructed in the word, have fellowship with him that is so instructing him, in all good things.

7 Be not deceiving yourselves!

God is not to be mocked;

For <whatsoever a man soweth> the same shall he also reap,—

8 Because <he that soweth into his own flesh>

Out of the flesh shall reap corruption,<sup>c</sup>

Whereas <he that soweth into the Spirit>

Out of the Spirit shall reap age-abiding life.

<sup>a</sup> Cp. Eph. v. 9.

<sup>b</sup> Or (WE): "him."

<sup>c</sup> Or: "decay."

9 And <in doing that which is honourable> let us not be fainthearted;
For in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.

10 |Hence| then, <as we have opportunity>

Let us be working what is good, towards all,—

But |especially| towards the family of the faith.

11 See! with what large letters, unto you I have written, |with my own hand|:—

12 <As many as are wishing to make a good show in flesh>

The same are compelling you to get circumcised,—

Only that |for the cross of Christ [Jesus]|
they may not be suffering persecution!

13 For <not even they who are getting<sup>a</sup> circumcised> are themselves observing |law|,—

But are wishing you to be circumcised,
That in your flesh they may boast themselves.

14 <With me> however,

Far be it! to be boasting,

Save in the cross of our Lord Jesus
Christ,—

Whereby unto me |a world| hath been crucified,

And I unto |a world|;

15 For neither |circumcision| is anything, nor
|uncircumcision|,

But a new creation<sup>b</sup>;—

16 And <as many as |by this rule| shall walk>

Peace be upon them, and mercy,

And upon the Israel of God.<sup>d</sup>

17 <For the rest>

Annoyances, unto me let no one be offering;

For I |the brandmarks of Jesus, in my body| am bearing.

18 The favour of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, brethren. Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE EPHESIANS.

1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus, through God's will,

Unto the saints who are [in Ephesus] and faithful in Christ Jesus,—

2 Favour unto you, and peace,
From God our Father, and Lord Jesus Christ.

3 ||Blessed|| be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.*

Who hath blessed us with every' spiritual blessing, in the heavenlies, in Christ,

4 According as he made choice of us, in him, before the founding of a world,
That we might be holy and blameless in his presence ;

||In love|| <sup>5</sup> marking us out beforehand unto sonship, through Jesus Christ, for himself,

According to the good pleasure of his will,

6 Unto the praise of the glory of his favour wherewith he favoured us in the Beloved One,—

7 In whom we have the redemption through his blood, the remission of our offences,<sup>b</sup>

8 According to the riches of his favour, which he made to superabound towards us ;

||In all' wisdom and prudence|| <sup>9</sup> making known to us the sacred secret<sup>c</sup> of his will,<sup>d</sup>

According to his good pleasure which he purposed in him,—

10 <For<sup>e</sup> an administration of the fulness of the seasons> to reunite for himself (under one head) the all things in the Christ, The things upon the heavens,
And the things upon the earth,

||In him|| :

11 In whom also we were taken as an inheritance, According to the purpose of him who energiseth all things according to the counsel of his will,

12 That we should be for the praise of his glory—

||We who had hoped beforehand in the Christ||,—

13 In whom ||ye also||—

<Hearing the word of the truth, the glad-message of your salvation,—

In whom also believing>—

Were sealed with the Spirit of the promise, the Holy [Spirit],<sup>a</sup>

14 Which<sup>b</sup> is an earnest of our inheritance,

Unto the redemption of the acquisition ;—

||Unto his glorious' praise||.<sup>c</sup>

15 [For this cause] ||I also||—

<Having heard of the faith on your' part in the Lord Jesus, and that towards all the saints><sup>d</sup>

16 Cease not giving thanks in your behalf, Making mention in my prayers,<sup>e</sup>

17 That ||the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory|| would give you a Spirit of wisdom and understanding in gaining a personal knowledge of him,—

18 The eyes of your heart<sup>f</sup> having been enlightened',

That ye may know—

What is the hope of his calling,

What the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints,<sup>g</sup>

19 And what the surpassing' greatness of his power unto us who believe, —

According to the energy of the grasp of his might<sup>h</sup> <sup>20</sup> which he energised in the Christ, When he raised him from among the dead,<sup>i</sup>

And seated him at his right hand<sup>k</sup> in the heavenlies, <sup>21</sup> Over-above all principality, authority, and power, and lordship, and every' name that is named, not only in this age, but also in the coming one, <sup>22</sup> And did put ||all things|| in subjection beneath his feet.<sup>l</sup>

And gave him to be head over all things unto the assembly,<sup>m</sup> <sup>23</sup> Which, indeed, is his body<sup>n</sup> The fulness of him who |the all things in all| is for himself filling up.

2 [Unto] you also—

Being dead<sup>a</sup> by your offences and sins, <sup>2</sup> In which at one time ye walked,<sup>b</sup> According to the age of the world. According to the prince of the authority of the air, of the spirit that now energiseth in the sons of disobedience,<sup>c</sup> <sup>3</sup> Among whom also ||we all|| had our behaviour, at one time, in the covetings of our flesh, doing the things desired by the flesh and the mind, And were children, by nature, of anger<sup>d</sup>—even as the rest,—

4 But ||God|| <Being rich in mercy>

||By reason of the great love wherewith he loved us||

5 <Although we were' dead by our offences><sup>e</sup>

Gave us life together with the Christ,—

|By favour| ye have been saved,—

6 And raised us up together,

And seated us together in the heavenlies,<sup>f</sup>

||In Christ||:

7 That he might point out, in the on-coming ages, The surpassing' riches of his favour in graciousness upon us,

||In Christ Jesus||;

8 For |by his favour| have ye been saved, through means of faith, And this [hath come to pass]—

Not from you, |Of God| the free-gift!

9 Not from works, lest anyone should boast.

10 ||His|| in fact we are—his |workmanship|, Created in Christ Jesus upon a footing of good works,

Which God prepared beforehand, That |therein| we might walk.

11 Wherefore, keep in remembrance—

That [at one time] |ye, the nations in flesh||

<Who are called Uncircumcision by the so-called Circumcision in flesh, made by hand><sup>g</sup>

12 That ye were ||in that season||,

Separate from Christ, Alienated from the citizenship of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, Having no |hope| And godless in the world;

13 But ||just now, in Christ Jesus||,

||Ye, who at one' time were afar off||<sup>h</sup>

Were made nigh<sup>i</sup> in the blood of the Christ;

14 ||He|| in fact, is our peace—

Who made both one, And ||the enclosing' middle-wall|| took down,<sup>j</sup> ||The enmity, in his flesh—the law of commandments in decrees||<sup>k</sup>—bringing to nought,—

That ||the two|| he might create in himself, into one' man of new' mould', ||Making peace||.

16 And might fully reconcile<sup>a</sup> them both, in one' body, through means of the cross,— ||Slaying the enmity thereby||;—

17 And ||coming|| he announced the glad-message— ||Of peace|| unto you, the far off,

||And peace|| unto them that were nigh<sup>b</sup>;

18 Because ||through him|| we have our introduction—<sup>c</sup> ||we both||—in one' Spirit, unto the Father.

19 Hence, then—

||No longer|| are ye strangers and sojourners, But ye are fellow-citizens of the saints, And members of the household of God,—

20 Having been built up on the foundation of the apostles and prophets,

There being |for chief corner stone||<sup>d</sup>

||Jesus Christ himself||,—

21 |In whom!| ||an entire' building,

In process of being fitly joined together||,

Is growing into a holy shrine in [the] Lord;

22 |In whom| ||ye also|| are being builded together<sup>e</sup>

Into a habitation of God in Spirit.

3 For [this] cause ||I, Paul, the prisoner of Christ Jesus in behalf of you the nations||:—

2 If at least ye have heard of the administration of the favour of God<sup>f</sup> which hath been given unto me for you,

3 [How that] |by way of revelation| was made known unto me the sacred secret,—<sup>g</sup>

Even as I before wrote<sup>h</sup> in brief,—

4 Respecting which ye can |by reading| perceive my discernment in the sacred secret<sup>s</sup> of the Christ,—

5 Which |in other' generations| had not been made known unto the sons of men,

As it hath |now| been revealed by his holy apostles and prophets, in Spirit;—

6 That they who are of the nations should be joint heirs, and a joint body, and joint partakers of the promise in Christ Jesus through means of the glad-message,—<sup>i</sup> Of which I was made a minister, according<sup>j</sup> to the free-gift of the favour of God which was given unto me, according to the energy of his power:

7 ||Unto me||—

<The less than least of all' saints>

Was given this favour, which had been hidden away from the ages in God, who did all things create:

 10 In order that now, unto the principalities and the authorities in the heavenlies, might be made known', through means of the assembly, the manifold wisdom of God,—<sup>11</sup> According to a plan of the ages which he made in the anointed Jesus our Lord,—<sup>12</sup> In whom we have our freedom of speech and introduction<sup>a</sup> with assurance, through the faith of him;—
 13 Wherefore I request, that there be no fainting in my tribulations in your behalf, The which is your glory;—
 14 For [this] cause, I bow my knees unto the Father,—
 15 From whom every fatherhood in [the] heavens and upon the earth is named,— 16 In order that he may give unto you—
 <According to his glorious' riches><sup>b</sup>
 [With power] to be strengthened, through his Spirit, in the inner man, 17 That the Christ may dwell, through means of your faith, in your hearts, in love, 18 [Having become rooted and founded],
 In order that ye may be mighty enough
 To grasp firmly, with all the saints,—
 What is the breadth and length and depth and height,
 19 To get to know, also, the [knowledge-surpassing] love of the Christ,—
 In order that ye may be filled unto all the fulness of God<sup>c</sup>;
 20 Now <unto him who is able<sup>d</sup> to do [above all things], Exceeding abundantly above the things which we ask or conceive,—
 According to the power which doth energise itself within us,— 21 [Unto him] be the glory,
 In the assembly And in Christ Jesus—
 Unto all the generations of the age of ages;
 Amen:—
 4 I exhort you, therefore,
 <I, the prisoner in the Lord>
 To walk in a manner [worthy]<sup>e</sup> of the calling wherewith ye were called;—
 2 With all lowliness and meekness,<sup>f</sup>
 With long suffering,
 Bearing one with another in love,
 3 Giving diligence to keep—
 The oneness of the Spirit in the uniting-bond of peace,—
 4 One' body, and one' spirit, even as ye were also called in one' hope of your calling,
 5 One' Lord, one' faith, one' immersion,
 6 One' God and Father of all—
 Who is over' all, and through' all, and in' all.

<sup>a</sup> Chap. ii. 18; Ro. v. 2.<sup>b</sup> MI: "the riches of his glory."<sup>c</sup> Perh: "all divine fulness."<sup>d</sup> Ro. xvi. 25, 26.<sup>e</sup> Col. i. 10.<sup>f</sup> Col. iii. 12.

7 [To each one of you] however, hath favour been given.

According to the measure of the free-gift of the Christ;

8 Wherefore he saith—

[Ascending on high] he took captivity captive

[And] gave gifts unto men.<sup>a</sup>

9 Now this, He ascended<sup>a</sup>; what is it,— save—That he also descended<sup>b</sup> into the under' parts of the earth?

10 [He that descended] [he] it is who also ascended over-above all the heavens,

That he might fill all things;

11 And [he] gave—

Some, indeed, to be apostles,

And some, prophets,

And some, evangelists,

And some, shepherds and teachers,—

12 With a view to the fitting of the saints

For the work of ministering,

For an upbuilding of the body of the Christ;

13 Until we all advance—

Into the oneness of the faith, and the personal knowledge of the Son of God,

Into a man of full-growth,

Into the measure of the stature of the fulness of the Christ;

14 That we may [no longer] be infants—Billow-tossed and shifted round with every wind of teaching,—In the craft of men, In knavery suited to the artifice of error;

15 But [pursuing truth]—

May [in love] grow into him in all things,—
 Who is the head,<sup>c</sup> [Christ],—

16 Out of whom<sup>d</sup> all' the body—

Fits framing itself together, And connecting itself, Through means of every' joint of supply, By way of energising in the measure of each single part—

Secureth the growing of the body.

Unto an upbuilding of itself in love.<sup>e</sup>

17 [This] therefore, am I saying and protesting in the Lord:—

That [no longer] ye walk even as [the nations] walk—

In the vanity of their minds, <sup>18</sup> Being darkened in their understanding, Alienated from the life of God— By reason of the ignorance that existeth within them, By reason of their hearts being turned into stone, <sup>19</sup> Who, indeed, [having become past feeling] have delivered [themselves] up, with wantonness, unto making a trade of all impurity with greed.

20 [Ye] however, have [not thus] learned the Christ:—

21 If, at least, it is [him] ye have heard, And [in him] ye have been taught—

Even as truth is' in Jesus,—

22 That ye were to strip off—as regardeth the

- former' behaviour—the old' man,<sup>a</sup> Who corrupteth himself according to his deceitful' covetings,
- 23 And were to be getting young again in the spirit of your mind,
- 24 And were to put on the man of new' mould',<sup>b</sup> Who [after God] hath been created in his truthful' righteousness and lovingkindness.
- 25 Wherefore <stripping off what is false>
Be speaking truth each one with his neighbour,<sup>c</sup>
Because we are members one of another;
26 Be ye angry, and not committing sin,<sup>d</sup>
Let not [the sun] be going down upon your angry mood,
27 Neither be giving place unto the adversary;
28 Let [the stealer] [no more] steal,
But rather let him be toiling,— Working with his<sup>e</sup> hands the thing that is good,
That he may have [wherewith] to be giving away to him that hath [need];
29 Let [no] putrid discourse [out of your mouth] be going forth,
But if anything is good—suited to the needful' upbuilding,—<sup>f</sup>
That it may give benefit unto them that hear;
30 And be not grieving the Holy Spirit of God, Wherewith ye have been sealed unto a day of redemption<sup>g</sup>;
31 <All [the bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and outry, and profane speaking]> let it be taken away from you,<sup>h</sup> [With all] baseness;
32 And be ye gracious [one to another], tenderly affectionate, in favour forgiving one another—
Even as [God also, in Christ] hath in favour forgiven you<sup>i</sup>;
- 5 Become ye, therefore, imitators of God, as children beloved,<sup>2</sup> And walk in love—
Even as [the Christ also] loved you, And delivered himself up in your<sup>k</sup> behalf,
An offering and sacrifice<sup>l</sup> unto God, For a fragrance of sweet smell.<sup>m</sup>
- 3 But <fornication, and all' impurity, or covetousness>
Let it not be named among you— Even as becometh saints;
4 And shamelessness and foolish talking, or jesting,—
Which things are beneath you,—
But [rather] giving of thanks;
5 For [this] ye know, [if ye take note]—
That no fornicator, or impure or greedy person, [Who is an idolater], Hath any inheritance in the kingdom<sup>n</sup> of the Christ and God.<sup>o</sup>

- 6 Let no one be deceiving you with empty words;
For [because of these things] is coming the anger of God<sup>a</sup> upon the sons of obstinacy<sup>b</sup>;
- 7 Do not, then, become co-partners with them;
8 For ye were, at one time, darkness,
But [now] are ye light in the Lord,—
[As children of light] be walking,—<sup>c</sup>
9 For [the fruit of the light]<sup>d</sup> is in all' goodness, and righteousness, and truth,— 10 Putting to the test what is well-pleasing unto the Lord;
11 And be not joining in fellowship in the unfruitful works of darkness,
But [rather] be even administering reproof;
12 For <of the secret things which are brought to pass by them> it is [shameful] even to speak!
13 [All things] however, <when reproved by the light> become manifest,
For [all] that of itself maketh manifest [is light];
14 Wherefore it saith—
Up! thou sleeper,
And arise from among the dead,
And the Christ will shine upon thee.
- 15 Be taking heed, therefore, [exactly] how ye are walking,—
Not as unwise, But as wise,— 16 Buying out for yourselves the opportunity,<sup>e</sup> because [the days] are [evil];
17 [For this cause] do not become foolish, but have discernment as to what is the will of the Lord;
18 And be not getting drunk with wine,<sup>f</sup> in which is dissoluteness,
But be getting filled in Spirit;—
19 Speaking to yourselves, with psalms and hymns and spiritual songs<sup>g</sup>;
Singing, and striking the strings, with your heart unto the Lord;
20 Giving thanks, always, for all things,
<In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ>
Unto your God and Father<sup>h</sup>;
21 Submitting yourselves one to another
In reverence of Christ,—
22 Ye wives,<sup>i</sup> unto your own husbands, [as unto the Lord],
23 Because [a husband] is the head of his wife,
As [the Christ also] is the head of the assembly,
[He] being the saviour of the body,—
24 Nevertheless <as [the assembly] submitteth herself unto the Christ> [so] the wives, unto their husbands [in everything];
25 Ye husbands,<sup>k</sup> be loving your wives, Even as [the Christ also] loved the assembly, and delivered ||himself|| up in her behalf,

26 That ||her|| he might sanctify, Having purified [her] with the bath of water, in declaration,<sup>a</sup>

27 That ||he|| might present [unto himself] the assembly ||all glorious||, not having spot or wrinkle or any of such things, but that she should be holy and blameless;

28 ||So|| ought the husbands [also] to be loving their own<sup>c</sup> wives [as their own<sup>c</sup> bodies],—
||He that loveth his own wife|| loveth [himself],

29 ||No one|| in fact, ever yet hated [his own<sup>c</sup> flesh],
But nourisheth and cherisheth it,—
Even as [the Christ] the assembly,
30 Because [members] are we of his body;—

31 ||For this cause|| will a man leave his father and his mother, and will cleave unto his wife, And ||they two|| shall become<sup>c</sup> |one flesh|. <sup>b</sup>

32 ||This sacred secret||<sup>c</sup> is [great],—
||I|| however, am speaking as to Christ and [as to] the assembly<sup>d</sup>;—

33 Nevertheless ||ye also|| do ye, individually,
Each man be so loving ||his own<sup>c</sup> wife|| as himself,
And ||the wife|| [see] that she reverence her husband.

6 Ye children<sup>e</sup> be obedient unto your parents [in the Lord],
For this is right:
Honour thy father and thy mother,—
<Which indeed is the first commandment with promise>
3 That it may come to be ||well with thee||, And thou shalt be long-lived upon the land.<sup>f</sup>

4 And ye fathers,<sup>g</sup> be not provoking your children to anger,
But be nourishing them up in the discipline and admonition of the Lord.<sup>h</sup>

5 Ye servants,<sup>i</sup> be obedient unto them who [after the flesh] are your masters,
With fear and trembling,
In singleness of your heart, as unto the Christ;

6 Not by way of eye-service as man-pleasers,
But as servants of Christ, doing the will of God,

10 <For the rest>

Be empowering yourselves in the Lord, and in the grasp of his might:

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE PHILIPPIANS.

1 Paul and Timothy,
 Servants of Christ Jesus,— Unto all<sup>c</sup> the saints in Christ Jesus who are in Philippi,
 With overseers and ministers :—
<sup>2</sup> Favour unto you, and peace,
 From God our Father and Lord Jesus
 Christ.
<sup>3</sup> I am giving thanks unto my God, on occasion of all<sup>c</sup> my remembrance of you, <sup>4</sup> <At all times, in every<sup>c</sup> supplication of mine, in behalf of you all<sup>c</sup>>
 ||With joy|| 'my supplication| making,— <sup>5</sup> On account of your contribution<sup>a</sup> unto the glad-message, from the first<sup>c</sup> day until the present :
<sup>6</sup> Being persuaded of this very<sup>c</sup> thing—
 That ||he who hath begun in you a good work||
 Will perfect it, until the day of Jesus Christ<sup>b</sup> ;
<sup>7</sup> According as it is right in me to have |this| regard in behalf of you all<sup>c</sup>,— Because ye have had me in your hearts, <Both in my bonds and in the defence and confirmation of the glad-message>
 All<sup>c</sup> of you being ||joint partakers of my
 favour||.
<sup>8</sup> For God is ||my witness||<sup>e</sup> how I long for you all<sup>c</sup> in the tender affections of Christ Jesus.
<sup>9</sup> And ||this|| I pray—
 That ||your love|| may be |yet more and more| pre-eminent in personal knowledge and all<sup>c</sup> perception,
<sup>10</sup> To the end ye may be putting to the test the things that differ,
 In order that ye may be incorrupt and may give no occasion of stumbling, unto the day of Christ,

<sup>11</sup> Filled with that fruit of righteousness which is through Jesus Christ unto the glory and praise of God.
<sup>12</sup> Howbeit, I am minded, brethren, that ye should be |getting to know|
 That ||the things which relate unto myself||
 |rather, unto an advancement of the glad-message| have fallen out,<sup>a</sup>
<sup>13</sup> So that ||my bonds|| have become |manifest in Christ|, in the whole<sup>c</sup> palace,<sup>b</sup> and unto all the rest,—
<sup>14</sup> And [so that] ||the most of the brethren in the Lord| <assured by my bonds> are becoming more abundantly<sup>c</sup> bold to be fearlessly<sup>c</sup> speaking the word of God :—
<sup>15</sup> ||Some|| indeed, by reason of envy and strife—
 ||Some|| however, by reason of good will—
 are proclaiming ||the Christ|| :
<sup>16</sup> ||These|| indeed, out of love, Knowing that ||for the defence of the glad-message|| I am set ;
<sup>17</sup> But ||those|| ||out of faction|| are declaring
 |the Christ|,<sup>c</sup> Not purely—supposing to rouse up ||tribulation|| with my bonds.
<sup>18</sup> What then?
 That ||in any<sup>c</sup> way|| <Whether in pretext,
 or in truth> ||Christ|| is declared
 And ||in this|| I rejoice—Yea, and will<sup>c</sup> rejoice !
<sup>19</sup> For<sup>d</sup> I know that ||this|| shall turn unto me for salvation—<sup>e</sup> Through your<sup>c</sup> supplication, and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ,— <sup>20</sup> According to my eager outlook and hope, that ||in nothing|| shall I be put to shame,

- But ||with all' freedom of speech|| [as always, now also] shall Christ be magnified in my body, Whether through means of life, or of death.
- 21 For ||unto me||—
||Living|| is Christ,
And ||dying|| gain.
- 22 But <||if living in flesh [is Christ]> ||This, unto me|| is a fruit of work,—
And <what I shall choose><sup>a</sup> I make not known:
- 23 I am held in constraint, however, by reason of the two,—
Having [the coveting] to be released,<sup>b</sup> and to be [with Christ],
For it were far' better!
- 24 But ||to abide still in the flesh|| is more needful for your sake;
- 25 And <of [this] being assured> I know that I shall abide,—yea abide with you all', for your' advancement, and the joy of your faith;
- 26 In order that ||your matter of boasting|| may be more abundant in Christ Jesus, regarding me, through my own' presence again' with you.
- 27 ||Only|| <in a manner worthy of the glad-message of the Christ> be using your citizenship;
In order that—<Whether coming and seeing you, or being absent>
I may hear of the things which concern
you,—
That ye are standing fast in one' spirit, [With one' soul] joining for the combat along with the faith of the glad-message;
- 28 And not being affrighted in anything by the opposers,—
||The which|| is [unto them] a token of destruction, although of your' salvation. And this from God;
- 29 Because ||unto you|| hath it been given as a favour, ||in behalf of
Christ||
Not only, on him, to believe,
But also, in his behalf, to suffer:—
- 30 Having ||the same' contest|| which ye have seen in me, and now hear to be in me.
- 2 <If there be, therefore, any encouragement in Christ,
If any comfort of love,
If any fellowship of spirit,
If any tender affections and compassions>
2 Fill ye up my' joy—
That ||the same thing|| ye esteem,
||The same' love|| possessing,
<Joined in soul> ||the one<sup>c</sup> thing|| esteem-
ing,—
2 Nothing by way of faction,
Nothing by way of vain-glory,—

<sup>a</sup> Or (WH): "And what shall I choose?"

<sup>c</sup> Or (WH): "same."

- But <||in lowliness of mind> accounting ||one another|| superior to yourselves,—
- 4 Not ||to your own things|| [severally]
looking,<sup>a</sup>
But ||to the things of others|| [severally]<sup>b</sup>;
- 5 ||The same thing|| esteem [in yourselves]
which also ||in Christ Jesus|| [ye esteem],—
- 6 Who <||in form of God||<sup>c</sup> subsisting>
Not ||a thing to be seized|| accounted the being equal with God,
7 But ||himself|| emptied,
Taking ||a servant's form||,
Coming to be ||in men's likeness||;
8 And <||in fashion|| being found ||as a
man||>
Humbled himself,
Becoming obedient as far as death,
Yea, ||death upon a cross||.
- 9 Wherefore also ||God|| uplifted him far on high,
And favoured him with the name which is above every' name,—
- 10 In order that ||in the name of Jesus||
every' knee might bow—<sup>d</sup>
Of beings in heaven, and on earth, and underground,—
- 11 And ||every' tongue|| might openly confess—<sup>e</sup>
That Jesus Christ is ||Lord||,
Unto the glory of God the Father.
- 12 So, then, my beloved—<Even as ye have always' obeyed,
Not [as] in my presence only,
But [now] ||much more|| in my absence>
||With fear and trembling|| [your own' salvation] be working out;
- 13 For it is ||God|| who energiseth within you, both the desiring and the energising, in behalf of his good pleasure.
- 14 ||All things|| be doing, apart from murmurings
and disputings;
- 15 In order that ye may become faultless and inviolate,<sup>f</sup>
Children of God, blameless amidst a crooked and perverted generation,<sup>g</sup>
Amongst whom ye appear as luminaries
in the world,
- 16 ||A word of life|| holding forth,—
As a matter of boasting unto me, for the day of Christ,—
That ||not in vain|| I ran,
Nor ||in vain|| I toiled<sup>h</sup>;
- 17 Nay! <||if I am even to be poured out as a drink-offering, upon the sacrifice and public ministry of your faith>
I rejoice, yea rejoice together with you
all',—
- 18 ||For the same cause|| moreover, do ||ye

also|| rejoice, yea rejoice together with me.

19 I am hoping, however, in the Lord Jesus—
||Timothy|| |shortly| to send unto you,

In order that ||I also|| may be of cheerful soul, when I have ascertained the things that concern you.

20 For ||no one|| have I, of equal soul, Who
||genuinely|| |as to the things that concern you| will be anxious;

21 For ||they all|| |their own things| do seek,
Not the things of Christ Jesus*;

22 But ||of the proof of him|| be taking note,—
That <as child |with father|>

||With me|| hath he done service for the glad-message;

23 ||Him|| indeed, therefore, am I hoping to send—
<As soon as I can look off from the things that concern myself>—||forthwith||.

24 I am assured, however, in the Lord,—That I ||myself|| shall shortly<sup>c</sup> come.

25 ||Needful|| nevertheless have I accounted it—
||Epaphroditus||

<My brother and fellow worker and fellow soldier,

But your<sup>c</sup> apostle and public minister to my need>

To send unto you;

26 Since he hath been longing to see |you all|,<sup>b</sup>

And hath been in great distress, because ye had heard he was sick;—

27 And, in fact, he was<sup>c</sup> sick, nigh unto death;

But ||God|| had mercy on him,—

And |not on him only|,

But |on me also|,

Lest ||sorrow upon sorrow|| I should have.

28 ||The more promptly|| therefore, have I sent him,

That <seeing him again> ye may rejoice,

And ||I|| |the less sorrowful| may be.

29 Be giving him welcome, therefore, in the Lord,
||with all<sup>c</sup> joy||;

And ||such as he|| |in honour| be holding,—

30 Because ||for the sake of the work of the Lord||
|unto death| he drew nigh,

Running hazard with his life.

That he might fill up your<sup>c</sup> lack of the public service |towards me|.

3 <For the rest, my brethren>—Rejoice in the Lord.

<To be writing |the same things| unto you>
||To me|| is not irksome, while ||for you|| it is safe:—

2 Beware of the dogs,

Beware of mischievous<sup>c</sup> workers,

Beware of the mutilation<sup>c</sup>;

3 For ||we|| are the circumcision<sup>c</sup> who

||In the Spirit of God|| are doing divine service,

* Or (WH): "Jesus Christ."

<sup>b</sup> Or (WH): "as," "longing after you all."

<sup>c</sup> Or: "kata-tomee . . . peritomee": which may be rendered freely, "cutting up"—hacking; "cutting round"—hallowing.

And are boasting in Christ Jesus,

And ||not in flesh|| having confidence,—

4 Although, indeed, ||I|| might have confidence even in flesh.

<If any other thinketh to have confidence in flesh>

||I|| more:—

5 |Circumcised| the eighth day,

Of the race of Israel,

Of the tribe of Benjamin,

A Hebrew of Hebrews,—

||Regarding law|| a Pharisee,

6 ||Regarding zeal|| persecuting the assembly,

||Regarding the righteousness that is in law||

having become<sup>a</sup> blameless.

7 But <whatever things |unto me| were |gain|<sup>b</sup>>

||The same|| have I accounted |for the Christ's sake| ||loss||;

8 Yea, doubtless! and I account all things to be |loss|.

Because of the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord,

||For the sake of whom|| the loss |of all things| have I suffered,

And do account them refuse

In order that ||Christ|| I may win.<sup>a</sup> And be found in him— Not having a righteousness |of my own|, That which is by law, But that which is through faith in Christ, The righteousness

which is |of God| upon my faith,—

10 To get to know him. And the power of his resurrection and fellowship of his sufferings, Becoming conformed unto his death,—

11 If by any means I may advance to the earlier resurrection,<sup>c</sup> which is from

among the dead:

12 Not that I have |already| received,

Or have |already| reached perfection,

But I am pressing on—

If I may even lay hold of that for which<sup>d</sup> I have also been laid hold of

by Christ [Jesus]:—

13 Brethren! ||I|| |as to myself| reckon that I have |not yet| laid hold;

One thing, however,—

<|The things behind| forgetting,

And |unto the things before| eagerly reaching out>

14 ||With the goal in view|| I press on

For the prize of the upward<sup>c</sup> calling of God in Christ Jesus.

15 <As many, therefore, as are full-grown>

Let |this| be our resolve;

And <|if |somewhat differently| ye are resolved>

||This, also|| shall |God| unto you<sup>c</sup> reveal.

16 Nevertheless <whereunto we have advanced>

|In the same rank| stepping along.

17 ||Imitators together of me|| become ye, brethren,

<sup>b</sup> Mt: "gains," "items of gain."

<sup>c</sup> Mt: "the out-resurrection."

<sup>d</sup> Or: "lay hold, inasmuch as."

- And keep an eye on them who [thus] are walking,— Even as ye have [us] for [an ensample].<sup>a</sup>
 18 For [many] are walking—
 Of whom I have often' been telling you,
 And [now, even weeping] am telling,—
 The enemies of the cross of the Christ;
 19 Whose [end] is destruction, Whose [God] is the belly. And [whose] [glory] is in their shame,
 Who [upon the earthly things] are resolved.
 20 For [our' citizenship] [in the heavens] hath its rise<sup>b</sup>;
 Wherefore [a Saviour also] do we ardently await,—
 [The Lord Jesus Christ],—
 21 Who will transfigure our humbled' body,<sup>c</sup>
 Into conformity with his glorified' body, According to the energy wherewith he is able even to subdue [unto himself] [all things].
- 4 So then, my brethren, beloved and longed for,
 my joy and crown,—
 [Thus] stand fast in the Lord, beloved.
 2 [Euodia] I exhort, and [Syntyche] I exhort,— [On the same thing] to be resolved in the Lord :—
 3 Yea ! I request thee also, true' yokefellow,
 Be thou helping together with these women,— [Who] indeed, [in the joyful message] have maintained the combat with me, Along with Clement also, and the rest' of my fellow-workers, [Whose names] are in the book of life.<sup>d</sup> 4 Rejoice<sup>e</sup> in the Lord always : [Again] I will say—Rejoice !
 5 Let [your considerateness]<sup>f</sup> be known unto all' men.
 [The Lord] is near :—
 6 [For nothing] be anxious,
 But [in everything] <by your prayer and supplication with thanksgiving>
 Let [your petitions] be made known unto
 God ;
 7 And [the peace of God, which riseth above every' mind] shall guard your hearts and your thoughts, in Christ
 Jesus.
- 8 <For the rest, brethren>
 <Whatsoever things are true,
 Whatsoever things are dignified,
 Whatsoever things are righteous,
 Whatsoever things are chaste,<sup>g</sup>
 Whatsoever things are lovely,
 Whatsoever things are of good report,—

<sup>a</sup> Or: "model."<sup>b</sup> Or: "subsisteth."<sup>c</sup> Mt: "the body of our humbling" = "wherein we are humbled" . . . "the body of his glory" = "the body wherein he is glorified."<sup>d</sup> Ps. lxi. 28.<sup>e</sup> Chap. ii. 18; iii. 1.<sup>f</sup> Or: "reasonableness."<sup>g</sup> Or: "pure"; but "as there are no impurities like those fleshly, which defile the body and the spirit alike (1 Co. vi. 18, 19) so ἀγνος is an epithet predominantly employed to express freedom from these."—Trench, Syn. N. T. 317-8.

- If there be any virtue, and if any praise>
 [The same] be taking into account ;
 9 <The things which ye have both learned, and accepted, and heard, and seen in me>
 [The same] practise :—
 And [the God of peace]<sup>a</sup> shall be with
 you.
- 10 Howbeit I have been made to rejoice in the Lord greatly—
 That [now, at length] ye have flourished in your care for me',— Although, indeed, ye were' caring, but lacked opportunity.
 11 Not that [as to coming short] I am speaking,
 For [I] have learned <In whatsoever circumstances I am> to be [independent]<sup>b</sup>;
 12 I know [what it is] even to be kept low,
 And I know [what it is] to have more than enough,— [In every way, and in all things] have I been let into the secret—
 Both to be well fed, And to be hungering, Both to have more than enough, And to be coming short :
 13 I have might [for all things] in him that empowereth me.
 14 Nevertheless [nobly] have ye done, in taking fellowship with me in my tribulation.
 15 Ye know<sup>c</sup> moreover, [even ye, Philippians],—
 That <in the beginning of the glad-message,
 When I went forth from Macedonia>
 Not [so much as one' assembly] with me' had fellowship—in the matter of giving and receiving—save [ye alone],— 16 That <even in Thessalonica, both once and again> [unto my need] ye sent :— 17 Not that I seek after the gift,
 But I seek after the fruit that is to abound unto your account.
- 18 But I have all things in full, and have more than enough,
 I am filled, having welcomed from Epaphro-ditus the things that came from you,—
 A fragrance of sweet smell,<sup>d</sup>
 An acceptable sacrifice,
 Well pleasing unto God.
 19 And [my God] will fill up your every' need,
 According to his riches in glory in Christ
 Jesus.
- 20 Now [unto our God and Father] be the glory—
 Unto the ages of ages. Amen !
- 21 Salute ye every' saint in Christ Jesus,
 The brethren who are with me' [salute you] !
 22 All' the saints salute you, but especially' they who are of Caesar's<sup>e</sup> household.
 23 [The favour of our Lord Jesus Christ]
 Be with your spirit.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE

TO THE # COLOSSIANS.

- 1 ¶Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus through the will of God,
And Timothy my brother],—
- 2 |Unto the holy' and faithful' brethren in Christ that are |in Colosse|, Favour unto you, and peace, from our God and Father.
- 3 We are giving thanks<sup>a</sup> unto God, the Father of our Lord Jesus [Christ],
|Always, for you| offering prayer,—
- 4 Having heard<sup>b</sup> of your faith in Christ Jesus And of the love which ye have<sup>c</sup> unto all' the saints,—
- 5 Because of the hope that is lying by for you in the heavens,
Of which ye heard before, in the word of the truth of the glad-message,<sup>d</sup> when it presented itself unto you;
Even as |in all' the world also| it is bearing fruit and growing, even as also among you, From the day when ye heard, and came personally to know the favour of God in truth,<sup>e</sup> Even as ye learned [it] from Epaphras, our beloved' fellow-servant, Who is faithful in our<sup>f</sup> behalf, as a minister of the Christ,<sup>g</sup> Who also hath made evident unto us your' love in spirit.
- 6 <For this cause> |we also|
<From the day when we heard<sup>b</sup> [of you]>
Cease not |in your behalf| praying and asking—
That<sup>h</sup> ye may be filled unto the personal knowledge of his will, In all' spiritual wisdom and discernment,
- 7 So as to walk worthily<sup>i</sup> of the Lord, unto all' pleasing,
|In every good' work| bearing fruit,
And growing in<sup>j</sup> the personal knowledge of God,
- 8 ¶With all' power| being empowered, According to the grasp of his glory, Unto all' endurance and longsuffering with joy,
- 9 Giving thanks unto the Father<sup>k</sup> that hath made you<sup>l</sup> sufficient for your share in the inheritance of the saints in the light,

- 10 Who hath rescued us out of the authority of the darkness,
And translated [us] into the kingdom of the Son of his love;
- 11 |In whom| we have<sup>a</sup> our redemption<sup>b</sup>—the remission of our sins,—
- 12 ¶Who<sup>c</sup> is an image of the unseen God, Firstborn of all' creation,—
- 13 Because |in him| were created all things in the heavens and upon the earth, The things seen and the things unseen, Whether thrones or lordships or principalities or authorities,—|They all| |through him and for him| have been created,
And |he| is before all, And |they all| |in him| hold together;
- 14 And |he| is the head of the body, the assembly, Who is the beginning, Firstborn from among the dead, In order that |he| might become |in all things| |himself| pre-eminent;—
- 15 Because |in him| was all' the fulness well pleased to dwell,
- 16 And |through him| fully to reconcile all things unto him, Making peace through the blood of his cross,—
¶|Through him|—Whether the things upon the earth or the things in the heavens;
- 17 And |you|
<Who at one time were estranged and enemies in your mind in your wicked works><sup>d</sup>
- 18 Yet |now| hath he<sup>e</sup> fully reconciled,<sup>f</sup> in his body of flesh, through means of his death,
To present you holy and blameless and unaccusable before him,—<sup>g</sup> If, at least, ye are abiding still in the faith, founded and firm, and not to be moved away from the hope of the glad-message which ye have heard, Which hath been proclaimed in all' creation which is under heaven,—Of which |I Paul| have become minister.<sup>h</sup>
- 19 ¶Now| am I rejoicing in the sufferings on your behalf,

And am filling up the things that lack of the tribulations of the Christ, in my flesh,
 In behalf of his body, Which is the assembly,
 25 Of which ||I|| have become minister—
 According to the administration<sup>a</sup> of God which hath been given unto me to you-ward,
 To fill up the word of God,
 26 The sacred secret<sup>b</sup> which had been hidden away from the ages and from the generations,
 But ||now|| hath been made manifest unto his saints—<sup>27</sup> Unto whom God hath been pleased to make known what is the glorious<sup>c</sup> wealth of this sacred secret<sup>b</sup> among the nations, Which<sup>e</sup> is Christ in you, the hope of the glory,—
 28 Whom we are declaring,
 Admonishing every<sup>d</sup> man,
 And teaching every<sup>d</sup> man, in all wisdom,
 In order that we may present every<sup>d</sup> man complete in Christ;
 29 Unto which I am even toiling,
 Contending according to his energy which is energising itself in me with power.

2 For I desire you to know, how great<sup>d</sup> a contest I am having—in behalf of you. And of those in Laodicea, And as many as have not seen my face in the flesh;
 2 In order that their hearts may be encouraged. Being knit together in love. Even unto all<sup>d</sup> the riches of the full assurance of their understanding, Unto a personal knowledge of the sacred secret<sup>b</sup> of God,—||Christ||: <sup>3</sup> In whom are all<sup>d</sup> the treasures of wisdom and knowledge hidden away.<sup>d</sup>
 4 This I say, in order that ||no one|| may be reasoning ||you|| aside with plausible discourse;
 5 For <though, indeed, [in the flesh] I am absent>
 Yet ||in the spirit|| [with you] I am—<sup>e</sup>
 Rejoicing and beholding your<sup>d</sup> order and the solid firmness of your Christ'-ward faith.

6 <As, therefore, ye have accepted the Anointed' Jesus as your Lord>
||In him|| be walking,—
 7 Rooted, and being built up, in him, And making yourselves sure in your faith, ||Even as ye have been taught||,— Surpassing therein with thanksgiving.<sup>f</sup>
 8 Be taking heed, lest there shall be anyone leading ||you|| off as a spoil,
 Through means of their philosophy, and an empty deceit,—

According to the instruction of men,
 According to the first principles of the world,—

And not according to Christ:

9 Because ||in him|| dwelleth all<sup>d</sup> the fulness of the Godhead<sup>a</sup> ||bodily||,

10 And ye are ||in him||<sup>b</sup> filled full,—

||Who|| is the head of all<sup>d</sup> principality and authority,

11 ||In whom|| ye have also been circumcised with a circumcision not done by hand,

In the despoiling of the body of flesh,

In the circumcision of the Christ,—

12 Having been buried together with him in your immersion,<sup>c</sup>

Wherein<sup>d</sup> also ye have been raised together,

Through your faith in the energising of God—Who raised him from among the dead.

13 And <as for you—

Who were [dead] by your offences and by the uncircumcision of your flesh>

He hath brought you<sup>e</sup> to life together with him,—

Having in favour forgiven us all<sup>d</sup> our offences,

14 Having blotted out the handwriting against<sup>f</sup> us<sup>d</sup> by the decrees,—<sup>1</sup>

Which was hostile to us,—

And hath taken away ||the same|| out of the midst,

Nailing it up to the cross:

15 <Spoiling the principalities and the authorities>

He made of them an open example,

Celebrating a triumph over them thereby.

16 Let no one, therefore, be judging ||you||—

In eating and in drinking,

Or in respect of feast, or new moon, or sabbath,—

17 Which are a shadow of the things to come,<sup>g</sup>

Whereas ||the body|| is of the Christ.

18 Let ||no one|| [against you] be arbitrating [however wishful],—

In respect of lowliness of mind, and of a religious observance of the messengers:

||Upon what things he hath seen|| taking his stand,

||In vain|| puffed up by his carnal mind,—

19 And not holding fast the head<sup>h</sup>:

<[Through means of its joints and uniting bands] receiving supply, and connecting itself together>

Groweth with the growth of God.

20 <If ye have died, together with Christ, from the first principles of the world>

Why ||as though alive in the world|| are ye submitting to decrees,—

- 21 Do not handle, Nor taste, Nor touch;—
22 Which things are all for decay in the using up;—
According to the commandments and teachings of men * ?
23 ¶The which things||, indeed, <though they have ||an appearance|| of wisdom, In self-devised religious observance, and lowliness of mind, [and] ill-treatment of body>
Are [in no honourable way;]<sup>b</sup> unto a satisfying of the flesh.
- 3 <If, therefore, ye have been raised together with the Christ>
¶The things on high|| be seeking,
Where ||the Christ|| is—||On the right hand of God|| sitting<sup>c</sup>;
2 ¶The things on high|| hold in esteem, Not the things upon the earth:
3 For ye have died,
And ||your life|| is hid, together with the Christ, in God,—
4 <As soon as ||the Christ|| shall be made manifest—||Our<sup>d</sup> life||>
¶Then|| ||ye also|| [together with him] shall be made manifest in glory;
5 Make dead, therefore, your members that are on the earth—
As regardeth fornication, impurity, passion, base coveting, and greed, ||the which|| is idolatry,—<sup>e</sup>
6 On account of which things cometh the anger of God,—<sup>f</sup>
7 Wherein ||ye also|| walked, at one time, when ye were living in these things;
8 But ||now|| do ||ye also|| put them all away,—Anger, wrath, baseness, defamation, shameful talk out of your mouth<sup>g</sup>;
9 Be not guilty of falsehood one to another:
Having stript off the old<sup>h</sup> man, together with his practices, 10 And having put on the new—
Who is being moulded afresh unto personal knowledge,
After the image of him that hath created<sup>h</sup> him,—
11 Wherein there cannot be Greek and Jew, circumcision and uncircumcision, foreigner, Scythian, bond, free,—But [all things and in all] ||Christ||<sup>i</sup>;
12 Put on, therefore, <as men chosen of God, holy and beloved>
Tender affections of compassion, graciousness, lowliness of mind, meekness, long-suffering, 13 Bearing one with another, and in favour forgiving one another—if any [against any] have a complaint,—

22 Ye servants<sup>m</sup>! be obedient [in all things] unto them who [according to the flesh] are your masters,—
Not with eye-service, as man-pleasers, But with singleness of heart, revering the Lord,—
23 <Whatsoever ye may be doing> ¶From the soul|| be working at it, As unto the Lord, and not unto men,—
Knowing that ||from the Lord|| ye shall duly receive the recompense of the inheritance,—¶Unto the Lord Christ|| are ye in service;

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE THESSALONIANS.

- 1 Paul and Silvanus and Timothy—
 Unto the assembly of Thessalonians in God our Father and Lord Jesus Christ,—
 Favour unto you, and peace!
 2 We are giving thanks<sup>a</sup> unto God continually, ¶Concerning you all¶ making |mention| in our prayers,
 3 |Unceasingly| remembering—
 Your' work of faith
 And labour of love
 And endurance of hope |of our Lord Jesus Christ|,
 Before our God and Father :
 4 Knowing, brethren beloved by God, |your election|,—
 5 How that ¶our glad-message¶ came not unto you |in word only|,
 But also in power,
 And in Holy Spirit,
 And in much assurance,—
 Even as ye know what manner of men we became unto you, for your sake;
 6 And ¶ye¶ became |imitators<sup>a</sup> of us| ¶and of the Lord|,
 Giving welcome unto the word. In much tribulation, With joy of Holy Spirit;

<sup>a</sup> Th. i. 3; Col. i. 3; 2 Th. i. 3.

<sup>a</sup> 2 Th. iii. 7.

- 7 So that ye became an ensample<sup>a</sup> unto all who were coming to the faith in Macedonia and in Achaia:
- 8 [From you] in fact, hath sounded forth the word of the Lord—
 <Not only' in Macedonia and in Achaia>
 But [in every' place] |your faith which is toward God| hath gone forth,
 So that [no need] have we to be saying anything;
- 9 For [they themselves] |concerning us| do tell—
 What manner' of entrance we had unto you,
 And how ye turned unto God from the idols—
 To be serving a living and true<sup>b</sup> God,
 And awaiting his Son out of the heavens—
 Whom he raised from among the dead,—
 [Jesus]:
 Who is to rescue us out of the anger that is coming.
- 2 For [yourselves] know, brethren, our entrance which was unto you—that it hath not proved void;
- 2 But <though we had previously suffered, and been insulted, even as ye know, in Philippi>
 We waxed bold in our God to speak unto you the glad-message of God with much' conflict.
- 3 For [our exhortation] is not of error, nor of uncleanness, nor in guile,
- 4 But <even as we have been approved by God, to be entrusted with the glad-message> [so] we speak,—
 Not as [unto men] giving pleasure,
 But unto God—who proveth our hearts.<sup>c</sup>
- 5 For neither at any time were we found [using words of flattery]—even as ye know, Nor a pretext for greed—[God] is witness!
- 6 Nor [of men] seeking glory—either from you, or from others,
 Though we could have assumed [dignity] as Apostles of Christ';
- 7 But we became gentle in your midst,—
 As though [a nursing mother] had been cherishing her own children:
- 8 [Thus] [yearning after you] we could have been well-pleased to impart unto you—
 Not only' the glad-message of God,
 But [our own] lives also,— Because [very dear to us] had ye become.
- 9 For ye remember, brethren, our toil and hardship<sup>d</sup>:
 <[Night and day] working, so as not to be a burden unto any of you>
 We proclaimed unto you the glad-message of God.
- 10 [Ye] are witnesses—[God also],
 How kindly and righteously and blamelessly [unto you who were believing]<sup>e</sup> we were found to behave;

- 11 Even as ye know how [unto each one of you] we were as a father unto his own children, Consoling you, and soothing, and calling to witness,—
- 12 To the end ye might be walking in a manner worthy<sup>a</sup> of God, who is calling you unto his own' kingdom and glory.<sup>b</sup>
- 13 And [for this cause] [we] are also giving thanks unto God unceasingly, That <when ye received a spoken word from us—[which was God's]> Ye welcomed it—
 Not as a human' word,
 But [even as it truly' is] a divine' word,—
 Which is also inwardly working itself in you who believe.
- 14 For [ye] became [imitators], brethren, of the assemblies of God which are in Judaea, in Christ Jesus,
 In that [the same things] [ye] also suffered by your own' fellow-countrymen, even as [they] also by the Jews:—
- 15 Who have both slain the [Lord] Jesus—
 [and the prophets],
 And [us] have persecuted,
 And [unto God] are displeasing,
 And [unto all' men] are contrary,—
- 16 [Hindering us from speaking] [unto the nations] that they might be saved,
 To the filling up of their own' sins<sup>c</sup> [continually];
 But anger hath overtaken them at length.
- 17 Now [we] brethren <having been bereaved away from you, for the season of an hour,—
 [in presence, not in heart]>
 Gave more abundant' diligence [your face] to behold [with much' longing];
- 18 [Wherefore] we desired to come unto you—Even [I, Paul, both once and again]—
 And [Satan] thwarted us.
- 19 For what shall be our' hope, or joy, or crown of boasting?<sup>d</sup> Shall not even [ye], before our Lord Jesus, in his Presence<sup>e</sup>?
- 20 [Ye] in fact, are our glory and joy.
- 3 Wherefore <no longer concealing our anxiety>
 We were well-pleased to be left in Athens [alone],
- 2 And sent Timothy—
 Our brother, and God's minister in the glad-message of the Christ—
 That he might confirm and console you over your faith,
- 3 That [no one] might be shrinking back in these tribulations.
- For [ye yourselves] know, that [hereunto] are we appointed;
- 4 For [even when we were with' you] we told you beforehand—
 We are destined to suffer tribulation!
 Even as it also came to pass, and ye know.

<sup>a</sup> Or (WH): "ensamples."<sup>d</sup> 2 Th. iii. 8.<sup>b</sup> Or: "real."<sup>e</sup> Or: "coming to the faith."<sup>c</sup> Jer. xi. 20.<sup>a</sup> Col. i. 10; Eph. iv. 1; 2<sup>c</sup> Gen. xv. 16.

Th. i. 11.

<sup>5</sup> For this cause || I also || <no longer' concealing my anxiety>

Sent, that I might get to know your faith,
Lest by any means he that tempteth | should
have tempted you |
And |in vain| should have been our toil.

<sup>6</sup> But <when |just now| Timothy came unto us,
from you,
And brought us good tidings of your faith and
love,—
And that ye have good remembrance of us,
|Continually| longing to see |us|—even as
||we also|| to see you'>

<sup>7</sup> For this cause | were we consoled, brethren, over you, in all' our necessity and tribulation,
|through your' faith|;

<sup>8</sup> Because |now| we live,—if only ||ye|| stand fast in the Lord.

<sup>9</sup> For what thanksgiving can we render back
|unto God| concerning you,
On occasion of all' the joy wherewith we rejoice, for your sakes, before our God?—

<sup>10</sup> ||Night and day|| making very abundant'
entreaties,

That we may see your' face, and fit in the things which are lacking in your faith?

<sup>11</sup> Now may ||our God and Father himself' and our Lord Jesus|| make straight our way unto
you:

<sup>12</sup> And ||you|| may the Lord cause to abound and excel in your love one toward another
|and toward all|,—
Even as ||we|| do toward you;

<sup>13</sup> To the end he may confirm<sup>a</sup> your' hearts, faultless in holiness,

Before our God and Father,

||In the Presence<sup>b</sup> of our Lord Jesus with all' his saints||.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>4</sup> ||For the rest||,<sup>d</sup> brethren, we request and exhort you, in our Lord Jesus, [That] <even as ye received from us, how ye must needs walk and please God,—

Even as ye also do walk>

That ye would abound still more.

<sup>2</sup> For ye know what charges we gave you, through the Lord Jesus.

<sup>3</sup> For ||this|| is a thing willed of God, your sanctification,—

That ye should abstain from unchastity,

<sup>4</sup> That ye should know, each one of you, how
|of his own' vessel| to possess himself in sanctification and honour:

<sup>5</sup> Not with a passion of coveting,—
Just as even the nations who know not God,—<sup>e</sup>

<sup>6</sup> Not over-reaching and defrauding, in the matter, |his brother|;

Because |an avenger| is the Lord,<sup>f</sup> concerning all' these things,—

Even as we before told you, and solemnly called you to witness.

<sup>7</sup> For God did not call us, with a permission of impurity, but |in sanctification|.

<sup>8</sup> ||Therefore, indeed|| |he that disregardeth|—
It is |not a man| he disregardeth, |but
God|—

||Who giveth his Holy Spirit unto you||.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>9</sup> But ||concerning brotherly love||—

||No need|| have ye, that we be writing unto
you;

For ||ye yourselves|| are |God-taught| to the loving of one another;—

<sup>10</sup> And, in fact, ye are doing it unto all' the brethren [who are] in the whole' of Macedonia;—

But we exhort you, brethren, to abound still more,

<sup>11</sup> And to be ambitious to be quiet,<sup>h</sup>

And to be attending to your own affairs,

And to be working with your hands,—

Even as |unto you| we gave charge—

<sup>12</sup> That ye should walk reputably toward those without,

And ||of no one|| have |need|. <sup>i</sup>

<sup>13</sup> But we do not wish you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them who are falling asleep,—

Lest ye be sorrowing, |even as the rest also,
who are without hope|<sup>d</sup>;

<sup>14</sup> For <if we believe that |Jesus| died, and rose again>

||So|| also will |God| bring forth with him,
|them who have fallen asleep through Jesus|;

<sup>15</sup> For ||this|| |unto you| do we say, by a word of the Lord,—

That ||we, the living who are left unto the Presence<sup>e</sup> of the Lord||

Shall in nowise get before them who have fallen asleep;

<sup>16</sup> Because ||the Lord himself' ||

<With a word of command,

With a chief-messenger's voice,

And with a trumpet of God>

Shall descend from heaven,—

And ||the dead in Christ|| shall rise |first|,

<sup>17</sup> ||After that|| |we, the living who are left|

||Together with them|| shall be caught away, in clouds, to meet the Lord in the air;—

And ||thus|| |evermore, with the Lord| shall we be!

<sup>18</sup> So then, be consoling one another with these words.

<sup>5</sup> But ||concerning the times and the seasons|| brethren,—ye have |no need| that |unto
you| anything be written;

<sup>2</sup> For ||ye yourselves|| perfectly well know—
That ||the day of the Lord|| |as a thief in
the night| ||so|| cometh;

<sup>3</sup> <As soon as they begin to say—Peace!
and safety!>

- ||Then|| |suddenly, upon them| cometh destruction,—
Just as the birth-throe unto her that is with child,—
And in nowise shall they escape.
- 4 But ||ye, brethren|| are not in darkness, that
||the day|| |upon you, as upon thieves| should lay hold ;
- 5 For ||all' ye|| are |sons of light|, and sons of day,—
We are not of night, nor of darkness :
- 6 Hence, then, let us not be sleeping |as the rest|,
- But let us watch and be sober :—
- 7 For ||they that sleep|| |by night| do sleep,
And ||they that drink|| |by night| do
drink :—
- 8 But ||we|| |being of the day'| let us be sober,—
Putting on a breastplate of faith and love,
And |for helmet| the hope of salvation.<sup>a</sup>
- 9 Because God did not appoint us unto anger,
But unto acquiring salvation through our Lord Jesus [Christ] :—
- 10 Who died for us, in order that <Whether we be watching or sleeping>
|Together with him! we should live.
- 11 Wherefore be consoling one another, and building up, each the other,—
||Even as ye are also doing||.
- 12 Now we request you, brethren,—
To know them who are toiling among you, and presiding over you, in the Lord, and admonishing you ;
- 13 And to hold them in very high esteem, in love,
|for their work's sake!.

<sup>a</sup> Is. lix. 17.

- Be at peace among yourselves.
- 14 But we exhort you, brethren—
Admonish the disorderly,
Soothe them of little soul,
Help the weak,
Be longsuffering towards all :
- 15 See that none |evil for evil, unto any| do render ;
But ||evermore, what is good|| be pursuing,
|towards one another, and towards all| :
- 16 |Evermore| rejoice,
17 |Unceasingly| pray,
18 |In everything| give thanks,—
For ||this|| is a thing willed of God,
Christ Jesus, towards you :
- 19 ||The Spirit|| do not quench,
20 ||Prophecysings|| do not despise,
21 [But] ||all things|| put to the proof—
||What is comely|| hold ye fast :
22 ||From every' form of wickedness|| abstain.*
- 23 But ||the God of peace himself'|| hallow you completely,
And ||entire|| might your' spirit, and s ul,
and body,—
[So as to be] unblameable in the Presence<sup>b</sup> of our Lord Jesus Christ,—
Be preserved !
- 24 ||Faithful|| is he that is calling you,—
Who |also will perform|.
- 25 Brethren ! be praying for us [also].<sup>c</sup>
- 26 Salute all the brethren with a holy kiss.
- 27 I adjure you, by the Lord, that the letter be read unto all' the brethren<sup>d</sup> !
- 28 ||The favour of our Lord Jesus Christ|| be with you.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE THESSALONIANS.

- 1 Paul and Silvanus and Timothy—Unto the assembly of Thessalonians, in God our Father and Lord Jesus Christ,—
- 2 Favour unto you, and peace, from God [our] Father and Lord Jesus Christ.
- 3 We are bound |to be giving thanks|<sup>a</sup> unto God, continually, concerning you, brethren, even
as it is |meet| ;
- <sup>a</sup> Chap. ii. 13; Eph. i. 16; Ph. i. 3; Col. i. 3; 1 Th. i. 2.

- Because your faith groweth exceedingly,
And the love of each one of you all' one to another aboundeth,
- 4 So that ||we ourselves|| |in you| are boasting, in the assemblies of God, Over your endurance and faith in all' your persecutions and tribulations which ye are sustaining :—
- 5 A proof of the righteous' judgment of God,

To the end ye may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, in behalf of which ye are also suffering :—<sup>a</sup>

6 If, at least, it is a righteous thing with God | To recompense [affliction] | unto them that afflict you |

7 And [unto you that are afflicted] release, with us,—

By the revealing of the Lord Jesus from heaven,
With his messengers of power,
8 In a fiery flame;
Holding forth vengeance—<sup>b</sup>
Against them that refuse to know God,
And them who decline to hearken<sup>c</sup> unto the glad-message of our Lord Jesus,—

9 Who, indeed, [a penalty] shall pay—
Age-abiding destruction from the face of the Lord and from the glory of his might—

12 Whosoever he shall come,
To be made all-glorious in his saints,
And to be marvelled at in all who believed,—<sup>d</sup>
Because our witness unto you was believed,—
In that day.<sup>e</sup>

11 ¶ Unto which end ¶ we are also praying continually for you,
That our God may count [you] worthy of your calling,
And fulfil every good-pleasure of goodness and work of faith [with power],—

12 That the name of our Lord Jesus may be made all-glorious in you,<sup>f</sup> and [ye] in him,
According to the favour of our God and Lord Jesus Christ.

2 But we request you, brethren,—
In behalf of the Presence<sup>g</sup> of our Lord Jesus Christ,
And our gathering together unto him,—

2 That ye be not quickly tossed from your mind, nor be put in alarm—
Either by spirit, or by discourse, or by letter as by us,—
As that the day of the Lord [hath set in] :

3 That no one may cheat [you] in any one respect.
Because [that day will not set in]—
Except the revolt come first,
And there be revealed
The man of lawlessness,<sup>h</sup>
The son of destruction,
4 The one who opposeth and exalteth himself on high
Against every one called God,
Or an object of worship;
So that he <[within the sanctuary of God] shall take his seat><sup>i</sup>
Sheweth himself forth, that he is [God] :—

3 Remember ye not, that [while I was yet] with you [these very things] I was telling you?

6 And [what now restraineth] ye know,
To the end he may be revealed in his own fitting time;

7 For [the secret]<sup>a</sup> of lawlessness [already] is inwardly working itself,—
[Only] until [he that restraineth at present] shall be gone [out of the midst] :

8 And [then] shall be revealed the lawless one,— Whom [the Lord [Jesus]] will slay with the Spirit of his mouth,<sup>b</sup>
And paralyse with the forthshining of his Presence :—

9 Whose [presence] [shall be] according to an inworking of Satan,
With all manner of mighty work and signs and wonders of falsehood,

10 And with all manner of deceit of unrighteousness [in them who are destroying themselves],
Because [the love of the truth] they did not welcome, that they might be saved :—

11 And [for this cause] God sendeth them an inworking of error,
To the end they should believe in the falsehood,—

12 In order that all<sup>c</sup> should be judged
Who would not believe in the truth,
But were well-pleased with the unrighteousness.

13 But [we] are bound to give thanks unto God continually concerning you, Brethren beloved by the Lord,<sup>d</sup>
For that God chose you from the beginning,<sup>e</sup>
¶ Unto salvation,
In sanctification of spirit and belief of truth,—

14 Unto which he called you, through means of our glad-message, Unto an acquiring of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15 Hence, then, brethren, stand firm and hold fast the instructions which ye were taught—whether through discourse, or through our letter.

16 But may <our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and our God and Father,—
Who hath loved you, and given you
Age-abiding consolation and good hope by favour>

17 Console your hearts,
And confirm<sup>f</sup> you in every good work and word!

3 ¶ For the rest ¶ brethren, be praying for us,—
That [the word of the Lord] may be running, and gaining glory, [According as [it did] even with you] ;

- <sup>2</sup> And that we may be rescued from the presuming and wicked' men ;
For [not all] hold the faith.
- <sup>3</sup> ||Faithful|| is the Lord,—who will confirm you,
and guard you from the wicked one :
- <sup>4</sup> We are persuaded, however, in the Lord, as touching you,—
That <what things we give in charge>
Ye [both] are' doing and will' do ;—
- <sup>5</sup> But may ||the Lord|| guide your' hearts
Into the love of God,
And into the endurance of the Christ.
- <sup>6</sup> Howbeit, we charge you, brethren,—
That ||in the name of the<sup>a</sup> Lord Jesus Christ|| ye be withdrawing yourselves from every'
brother—
Who [in a disorderly way] doth walk,
And not according to the instruction which ye<sup>b</sup> received from us.
- <sup>7</sup> For ||ye yourselves|| know, how needful it is to be imitating us,<sup>c</sup>
In that we were not disorderly among
you.
- <sup>8</sup> Nor ||as a free-gift|| did eat [bread] from anyone,
But [with toil and hardship,<sup>d</sup> night and day] working,—
That we might not burden any of you ;—
- <sup>9</sup> Not because we have not authority,<sup>e</sup>
But that ||ourselves, as an ensample|| we might hold forth unto you,—
To the end ye might be imitating us.<sup>f</sup>
- <sup>10</sup> For ||even when we were with you|| [this] were we giving in charge unto you,—
That <if any will not<sup>a</sup> work> neither let him eat !
- <sup>11</sup> We hear, in fact, of some who are walking among you in a disorderly way, [At nothing] working, yet too busily working !
- <sup>12</sup> Now ||such as these|| we charge and exhort in
the Lord Jesus Christ,—
That <[with quietness] working> [Their own' bread] they be eating.
- <sup>13</sup> But ||ye|| brethren,
Be not weary in well-doing ;—<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>14</sup> And <if anyone be not giving ear unto our word through means of this letter>
[On this one] set a mark—
Not to be mixing yourselves up with him,—<sup>c</sup>
That he may be reproved ;
- <sup>15</sup> And [not as an enemy] be esteeming him,
But be admonishing him [as a brother].
- <sup>16</sup> But may ||the Lord of peace himself' || give you peace,
||Always, in every' way||.
||The Lord|| be with you all'.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO TIMOTHY

- <sup>1</sup> Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus—
By injunction of God our Saviour and Christ Jesus our hope,—
- <sup>2</sup> Unto Timothy, my true' child in faith :
Favour, mercy, peace,
From God our Father, and Christ Jesus
our Lord.
- <sup>3</sup> Even as I exhorted thee to remain in Ephesus, when I was journeying into Macedonia,
That thou mightest charge some—
- <sup>4</sup> Not to be teaching otherwise, Nor yet to be giving heed to stories and endless genealogies,—

- ||The which|| bring [arguings], rather than that stewardship of God which is with faith ;—
- <sup>5</sup> Now ||the end of the charge|| is love—
Out of a pure' heart,
And a good conscience,
And faith unfeigned,—
- <sup>6</sup> ||Which some, missing|| have turned them
aside unto idle talk,
- <sup>7</sup> Desiring to be law-teachers,—Not understanding, either what they say or whereof they confidently affirm.
- <sup>8</sup> Now we know that ||excellent|| is the law, if one put it to a lawful' use :—

9 Knowing this—

That ||to a righteous man|| |law| doth not apply,

But to the lawless and insubordinate, ungodly and sinful, irreligious<sup>a</sup> and profane, smiters of fathers and smiters of mothers, murderers, <sup>10</sup> fornicators, sodomites, man-stealers, liars, false-swearers,—

And ||if anything else|| |unto the healthful' teaching| is opposed;—

11 According to the glad-message<sup>b</sup> of the glory of the happy' God, with which entrusted am ||I||.<sup>c</sup>

12 ||Grateful|| am I unto him that empowered<sup>d</sup> me, ||Christ Jesus our Lord||,

In that ||faithful|| he accounted me,

Putting me into ministry,—

13 Though ||formerly|| a defamer, and persecutor, and insulter<sup>e</sup>;

Nevertheless mercy was shown me, because ||without knowledge|| I acted, |in unbelief|;

14 Yet exceeding abundant was the favour of our Lord, with faith and love which are in Christ Jesus.

15 ||Faithful|| the saying! and ||of all' acceptance|| worthy,—

That ||Christ Jesus|| came into the world ||sinners|| to save:

Of whom |the chief| am ||I||;—

16 Nevertheless ||on this account|| was mercy shewn me,—

That ||in me, the chief|| Christ Jesus<sup>f</sup> might shew forth his entire' long-suffering,

For an ensample of them about' to believe on him unto life age-abiding.

17 Now <unto the King of the ages,—

Incorruptible', invisible', alone' God><sup>g</sup>

Be honour and glory, unto the ages of ages.<sup>h</sup> Amen!

18 ||This' charge|| I commit unto thee, child Timothy,

According to the prophecies<sup>i</sup> |running before on thee|,

In order that thou mightest war, with them, the noble warfare,

19 Holding faith and a good' conscience,—

Which some |thrusting from them| ||Concerning their<sup>k</sup> faith|| have made shipwreck:—

20 Of whom are Hymenæus and Alexander;

Whom I have delivered unto Satan,<sup>l</sup> That they may be taught by discipline<sup>m</sup> not to be defaming.

2 I exhort, therefore, ||first of all||, that there be made—

Supplications, prayers, intercessions, thanksgivings,

In behalf of all' men,—

2 In behalf of kings, and all' them who are |in eminent station|;

In order that ||an undisturbed' and quiet' life|| we may lead. In all' godliness and gravity<sup>n</sup>:

3 ||This|| is comely and acceptable before our Saviour' God,

4 Who willeth ||all' men|| to be saved, And ||unto a personal knowledge of truth|| to come;

5 For there is ||one|| God,

||One|| mediator also, between God and men,—

||A man—Christ Jesus||:

6 Who gave himself a ransom in behalf of all,—

||The testimony|| in its own fit times:

7 Unto which ||I|| have been appointed proclaimer and apostle— Truth I speak, I utter no falsehood— A teacher of nations, in faith and truth.

8 I am minded, therefore, that—

The men in every' place be offering prayer, Uplifting hands of lovingkindness'. Apart from anger and disputings;

9 <||In the same way||> that ||the women||—<sup>b</sup>

<In seemly attire, with modesty and sober-mindedness> be adorning themselves,—

Not with platings and ornamentation of gold,<sup>c</sup> or with pearls, or with costly apparel,—

10 But <Which becometh women promising<sup>d</sup> godliness> Through means of good works.

11 Let ||a woman|| |in quietness| be learning in all' submission;

12 But ||teaching—unto a woman|| I do not permit,

Nor yet to have authority over a man,—

But to be in quietness;

13 For ||Adam|| |first| was formed,

||Then|| Eve,

14 And ||Adam|| was not deceived,

ready to wound, But considerate, averse to contention, not fond of money, *||Over his own house|| presiding |well|, Having ||children|| in submission, with all' dignity*;

Whereas <||if anyone ||over his own' house|| cannot ||preside|> How ||of an assembly of God|| shall he take care?

Not a new convert, Lest ||being beclouded|| into the sentence of the adversary| he fall;

It is needful moreover, to have ||an honourable testimony also|| from them who are without, Lest ||into reproach|| he fall, and the snare of the adversary.

||Ministers|| |in the same way|—Dignified, not double-tongued, not ||to much wine|| given, not greedy of base gain, <sup>9</sup>Holding the sacred secret<sup>b</sup> of the faith in a pure' conscience;

But let ||these also|| be proved first, ||Then|| let them be ministering, being |unaccusable|;

||Wives||<sup>c</sup> |in the same way|—Dignified, not given to intrigue, sober, faithful in all things.

Let ||ministers|| be husbands of ||one wife||, ||Over children|| presiding |well|, and over their own' houses;

For ||they who have ministered well|| |a good degree for themselves| are acquiring, and great' freedom of speech in the faith that is in Christ Jesus.

||These things|| |unto thee| I am writing, Hoping to come [unto thee] shortly,—

But <||if I should tarry>

That thou mayest know—

How it behoveth ||in a house of God|| to behave oneself,—

||The which|| is an assembly<sup>d</sup> of a Living God,

A pillar and basement of the truth;—

And ||confessedly' great|| is the sacred secret<sup>b</sup> of godliness,—

Who was made manifest in flesh,

Was declared righteous in spirit,

Was made visible unto messengers,<sup>e</sup>

Was proclaimed among nations,

Was believed on in [the] world,

Was taken up in glory.<sup>f</sup>

4 Howbeit ||the Spirit|| expressly' saith—

That ||in later' seasons||<sup>g</sup> some will revolt from the faith,

Giving heed unto seducing spirits,

And unto teachings of demons—<sup>2</sup>||in hypocrisy|| speaking falsehood,

[Of demons] cauterised in their own' conscience,—

Forbidding to marry,

[Commanding] to abstain from foods

which ||God|| created to be received with thanksgiving by them who believe and personally know the truth;

Because ||every' creature of God|| is good, And nothing to be cast away, If ||with thanksgiving|| it be received,—<sup>5</sup>For it is hallowed by the<sup>a</sup> word of God and intercession.

<||These things|| submitting to the brethren> Thou shalt be ||a noble|| minister of Christ Jesus, Nourishing thyself with the words of the faith, and of the noble' teaching which thou hast closely studied.

But <||from the profane' and old-wives' stories> excuse thyself,

And be training thyself unto godliness;

For ||the bodily' training|| |for little| is profitable,

Whereas ||godliness|| |for all things| is |profitable|,—

Having ||promise|| of life—||The present and the coming||.

||Faithful|| the saying! and |of all' acceptance| worthy;

For ||to this end|| are we toiling<sup>b</sup> and contending,<sup>c</sup>

Because we have set our hope on a Living God,

Who is Saviour of all' men—|Specially| of such as believe.

11 Be giving these things in charge, and be teaching:—

Let ||no one|| despise |thy youth|,<sup>d</sup>

But ||an ensample|| become thou, of the faithful,—

In discourse, in behaviour, in love, in faith, in chastity.

<While I am coming> be giving heed—

To the reading, to the exhorting, to the teaching:

13 Be not careless of the gift of favour |that is in thee|,

Which was given thee through means of prophesying, along with a laying on of the hands of the eldership.

15 ||These things|| be thy care, ||In these things|| be' thou,—

That ||thine advancement|| may be |manifest| unto all:

16 Be giving heed to thyself, and to thy teaching,—Abide still in them;

For <this' doing> Both ||thyself|| shalt thou save, And them that hearken to thee.

5 ||An elderly man|| do not thou reprimand,

But beseech him, as [though he were thy] father,—

Younger men, as brothers,

Elderly women, as mothers,

Younger women, as sisters, in all' chastity.

- 4 Howbeit < if any widow hath children or grandchildren >
Let them be learning—first unto their own house to be shewing reverence,
And returns to be making unto their progenitors;
For this is acceptable before God;
- 5 But she who is indeed a widow, and is left alone
Hath turned her hope towards God,<sup>a</sup>
And is giving attendance unto the supplications and the prayers, night and day,—
- 6 Whereas she that runneth riot while living is dead:
- 7 And these things be giving in charge,
That without reproach they may be;
- 8 < If, however, anyone for his own, and specially them of his household taketh not forethought > His faith hath he denied, And is worse than one without faith!
- 9 Let a widow be put on the list—
Having become not less than sixty years old,—
One man's wife,
- 10 In noble works being well-attested;—
If she hath nourished children,
If she hath shewn hospitality,
If saints' feet she hath washed,
If them who were in tribulation she hath succoured,
If in every good work she hath followed on:
- 11 But younger widows decline thou;
For < as soon as they wax wanton against the Christ >
To marry are they determined,—
- 12 Having, as sentence,—
That their first faith they have set at nought;
- 13 At the same time to be idlers are they learning,
Going about from house to house;
And not only idlers but gossips also, and busybodies,— Saying the things they ought not.
- 14 I am minded, therefore, that the younger ones marry, bear children, be mistress of the house,— Giving no single occasion unto the opposer, as a cause of reviling;
- 15 For already some have turned aside after Satan:
- 16 < If any believing woman hath widows >
Let her be giving them succour,
And not suffering the assembly to be burdened,—
That them who are indeed widows it may itself succour.

ciaries . . . the roll of sacred honour."—Reynolds.

Especially they who toil in discourse and teaching;

18 For the scripture saith—

Thou shalt not muzzle,

And—

Worthy is the workman of his hire.<sup>b</sup>

19 Against an elder entertain not an accusation, except at [the mouth of] two or three witnesses<sup>c</sup>;

20 But them who are sinning before all do thou reprove,—

That the rest also may have fear:—

21 I adjure thee before God, and Christ Jesus, and the chosen messengers—

That these things thou observe, apart from prejudgment, doing nothing by partiality.

22 Hands suddenly upon no one lay,

Neither have fellowship with sins of strangers;

Thyself keep chaste:—

23 No longer be a water-drinker,

But of a little wine make use,

Because of thy stomach and thy frequent sicknesses.

24 Some men's sins are openly evident, leading on into judgment,

With some, however, they even follow after;

25 < In the same way > the noble works also are openly evident,—

And they that are otherwise cannot be hid.

6 Let as many as are servants under a yoke be counting their own masters worthy of all honour,<sup>a</sup>

Lest the name of God and the teaching be defamed.

2 They, however, that have believing masters let them not despise them, because they are brethren,

But the more be doing them service, because believing and beloved are they who from the good workmanship receive advantage.

These things be teaching, and exhorting:—

3 < If anyone doth otherwise teach,

And doth not adhere to healthful discourses—those of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the teaching that is according to godliness >

4 He is beclouded, knowing nothing rightly,

But is diseased about questionings and word-battles—

Out of which spring envy, strife, defamations, wicked surmisings, incessant quarrellings of men wholly corrupt in their mind and bereft of the truth,—Supposing godliness to be a means of gain!

6 Now it is a great means of gain—godliness, with a sufficiency of one's own;

- 7 For [nothing] brought we into the world, Neither [to take anything out] are we able;—<sup>a</sup> And [having sustenance and covering] we shall be content;
- 9 But [they who are determined to be rich] fall into temptation,<sup>a</sup> and a snare, and many foolish and hurtful covetings, [The which]<sup>b</sup> sink men into ruin and destruction,—<sup>10</sup> For [a root of all' the vices] is the love of money, Which [some, being eager for] have been seduced from the faith, and have pierced [themselves] about with many pangs.
- 11 But [thou] O man of God!
[From these things] flee!<sup>c</sup>
And pursue<sup>c</sup> righteousness, godliness, faith, love, endurance, meekness;
- 12 Be contesting the noble' contest of the faith,—
Lay hold of the age-abiding' life—
Unto which thou wast called,
And didst make the noble' confession before many' witnesses.
- 13 I charge thee <before God, who engendereth life in all things,
And Christ Jesus,<sup>d</sup> who [before Pontius Pilate] witnessed the noble' confession>
- 14 That thou keep the commandment without spot, free from reproach, Until the forthshining of our Lord Jesus Christ—<sup>e</sup>

The King of them that reign,
And Lord of them that wield lordship,—
- 16 Who alone' hath immortality,
Dwelling in light unapproachable,—
Whom no' man hath seen'—nor can' see:
[Unto whom] be honour and might age-abiding.<sup>b</sup> Amen.
- 17 <Upon them who are rich in the present' age> lay thou charge—
Not to be high-minded,
Nor to have set their hope on [riches'] uncertainty,—
But on God, who offereth us all things richly for enjoying,
- 18 To be doing good,
To be rich in noble works,
To be [generous in giving],
Ready for fellowship,—
- 19 Treasuring up for themselves a good foundation for the future,
That they may lay hold on the life [which is life] indeed'.
- 20 O Timothy! [that which hath been entrusted] do thou guard, Avoiding the profane' pratings and oppositions of falsely' named knowledge,—
- 21 Which [some' professing] <concerning the faith> have missed the mark!
Favour be with you.

<sup>a</sup> The natural inference is that the "forthshining" will be repeated on morethan one occasion—each a "fitting time."

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE

TO ## TIMOTHY.

- 1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus,
Through the will of God,—
According to the promise of life in Christ Jesus;—
- 2 Unto Timothy, my beloved' child:
Favour, mercy, peace, from God our Father, and Christ<sup>a</sup> Jesus our Lord.
- 3 [Grateful] am I, unto God,— <Unto whom I am rendering divine ser-

<sup>a</sup> Or (WH): "Lord."

- vice from my progenitors in a pure' conscience><sup>a</sup>
- That [incessant] hold I the remembrance [concerning thee] in my supplications; [Day and night] <sup>d</sup> longing to see thee,
Being mindful of thy tears,—
In order that [with joy] I may be filled:
<sup>5</sup> [A reminder] having received, of the unfeigned' faith [that is in thee],—

- 6 ¶Such as dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice,—I am persuaded, moreover, that [it dwelleth] in thee also.
- 7 ¶For which cause I put thee in remembrance, to be stirring up God's gift of favour, Which is in thee through means of the laying on of my hands;
- 8 For God hath not given us a spirit of cowardice,<sup>a</sup> But of power, and love, and correction.
- 9 Be not thou, therefore, put to shame—
With regard to the witness of our Lord,
Nor with regard to me his prisoner;
But suffer hardship together with the glad-message, according to the power of God,—
- 10 Who hath saved us, and called us with a holy calling,
Not according to our works,
But according to the peculiar purpose and favour—
Which was given to us in Christ Jesus before age-during times,<sup>b</sup>
- 11 But hath now been made manifest through means of the forthshining of our Saviour Christ Jesus,—
Who, indeed, hath abolished death,
And hath thrown light upon life and incorruptibility, through means of the glad-message: <sup>12</sup> Whereunto [I] have been appointed herald and apostle and teacher;—<sup>13</sup> For which cause [these things also] am I suffering; Nevertheless I am not being put to shame, For I know him whom I have believed, And am persuaded that he is [able] to guard [that which I have entrusted] [to him]<sup>c</sup> unto [that] day.
- 14 ¶An outline have thou, of healthful discourses which from me thou hast heard—With the faith and love which are in Christ Jesus:
- 15 ¶The noble thing entrusted [to thee]<sup>d</sup> do thou guard.
Through means of the Holy Spirit which dwelleth within us.
- 16 Thou knowest this—
That all they who are in Asia have turned away from me,—
Of whom are Phygelus and Hermogenes.
- 17 The Lord grant mercy unto the house [of Onesiphorus],
In that [ofttimes] hath he refreshed me,
And [as regardeth my chain] hath not been put to shame.
- 18 But <happening to be in Rome> he diligently sought out and found me,—
- 19 The Lord grant him to find mercy from [the] Lord in [that] day;—
And <how many times [in Ephesus] he hath ministered> better art [thou] getting to know.

<sup>a</sup> Ro. viii. 15.<sup>b</sup> Or: "age-past"—Tt. i. 2.

Ap: "Age."

- 2 ¶Thou therefore, my child, be empowering thyself in the favour that is in Christ Jesus,
- 3 And <the things which thou hast heard from me among many witnesses>
[The same] entrust thou unto faithful men,
Such as shall be [competent] to teach [others also].
- 4 Take thy part in suffering hardship, as a brave soldier of Christ Jesus:—
- 5 ¶No one that is serving as a soldier, entangleth himself with the matters [of his livelihood],
That he may please [him that hath summoned him to serve as a soldier];
- 6 <If, moreover, any man contend even in the games>
He is not crowned, unless [lawfully] he contend;
- 7 ¶The toiling husbandman ought [first] [of the fruits] to partake;
- 8 Think, as to what I am speaking;
For the Lord will give thee discernment in all things.
- 9 Keep in mind Jesus Christ—
Raised from among the dead,
Of the seed of David,—
According to my joyful message:
- 10 In which I am suffering hardship, Even unto bonds, [As an evil-doer];
But [the word of God] is not bound.
- 11 ¶For this cause am I enduring [all things] for the sake of the chosen,
In order that [they also] may obtain [the salvation] which is in Christ Jesus, along with glory age-abiding.
- 12 ¶Faithful the saying— For <If we have died together> we shall also live together,
- 13 <If we endure> we shall also reign together;
<If we shall deny> [he also] will deny us,
- 14 <If we are faithless> [he] [faithful] abideth,—
For [deny himself] he cannot!<sup>a</sup>
- 15 ¶Of these things be putting [them] in remembrance, Adjuring [them] before God<sup>b</sup>
Not to be waging word-battles,—
Useful [for nothing],
Occasioning a subversion of them that hearken.
- 16 Give diligence [thyself, approved] to present unto God,—
A workman not to be put to shame,
Skillfully handling the word of truth.
- 17 But ¶the profane pratings shun;
For [unto more] ungodliness will they force themselves on<sup>c</sup>;
- 18 And [their discourse, as a gangrene] will eat its way;—
Of whom are Hymenæus and Philetus,
Men who [concerning the truth] have erred.

<sup>c</sup> Tt. iii. 9.

Attirming <sup>a</sup> resurrection, already to have taken place,
And are overthrowing the faith [of some].
19 Howbeit the firm<sup>a</sup> foundation of God standeth, Having this seal—

The Lord hath acknowledged<sup>b</sup> them who are his,

And

Let every one that nameth the name of the Lord stand aloof from unrighteousness.<sup>c</sup>

20 But [in a great house] there are not only gold and silver vessels, but also wooden and earthen:

And [some] indeed, for honour,
While [some] are for dishonour:

21 <If, therefore, anyone will, for pureness, sever himself from these>

He shall be a vessel for honour, hallowed, meet for the Master's use, [for every good work] prepared.

22 But [from the youthful covetings] flee!<sup>d</sup>

And pursue<sup>d</sup> righteousness, faith, love, peace,
Along with them<sup>e</sup> who call upon the Lord out of a pure heart.

23 But <from the foolish and undisciplined questionings> excuse thyself,
Knowing that they gender strifes;

24 And [a servant of the Lord] ought not to strive,

But to be [gentle] towards all, apt in teaching,<sup>f</sup> ready to endure malice,—

25 [In meekness] bringing under discipline them that oppose themselves,

Lest at any time God should give them repentance unto a personal knowledge of truth,<sup>g</sup> And they should wake up to sobriety out of [the adversary's] snare,—Though they have been taken alive by him for [that one's] will.

3 But [of this] be taking note—

That [in last days]<sup>h</sup> there will set in perilous seasons;

2 Formen will be—fond of themselves, fond of money, ostentatious, arrogant, defamers, [to parents] unyielding, unthankful, unkind, <sup>2</sup> without natural affection, accepting no truce, given to intrigue, without self-control, uncivilised, unfriendly to good men, <sup>4</sup> traitors, reckless, beclouded, lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God, <sup>5</sup> having a form of godliness, but [the power thereof] denying!<sup>h</sup>

And [from these] turn away;

6 For [of these] are they who enter<sup>i</sup> into the houses,

And captivate silly women, [women] laden with sins, led on by manifold covetings, <sup>7</sup> Ever learning and never [unto a personal knowledge of truth] able to come;

8 Moreover <like as [Jannes and Jambres] withstood Moses>

[So, these men also] withstand the truth,—

Men utterly corrupted in their mind,
Disapproved concerning their<sup>a</sup> faith;

9 But they shall not force their way further,
For [their folly] shall be [fully evident] unto all,—

As also [that of those men] became.

10 But [thou] hast closely studied—

My teaching, manner of life, purpose, faith, long-suffering, love, endurance, <sup>11</sup> persecutions, sufferings,

[What manner of things] befel me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra,

[What manner of persecutions] I endured,—
And [out of all] [the Lord] rescued me;—<sup>b</sup>

12 Yea and [all who are determined to live in a godly manner in Christ Jesus] will be persecuted;

13 Whereas [wicked men and howling imposters] will force their way to the worse,
Deceiving and being deceived.

14 But [thou]—abide in the things which thou hast learned, and been entrusted with,

Knowing [from whom] thou hast learned [them],—

15 And that <from a babe> [those sacred letters] thou hast known which are able to make thee wise unto salvation, [Through the faith which is in Christ Jesus]:

16 [Every scripture] [is] God-breathed,
And profitable—unto teaching, unto conviction, unto correction, unto the discipline that is in righteousness,—

17 In order that [ready] may be the man [of God], [Unto every good work] being well prepared.

4 I adjure [thee] before God, and Christ Jesus—<sup>c</sup>
Who is about to be judging<sup>d</sup> living and dead,—

<Both as to<sup>e</sup> his forthshining and his kingdom>

2 Proclaim the word,
Take thy position—in season, out of season,—
Convince, rebuke, encourage,—<sup>f</sup>

With all long-suffering and teaching.

3 For there will be a season—
When [the healthful teaching] they will not endure,

But [according to their own covetings] will [unto themselves] heap up teachers,
Because they have an itching ear,

4 And [from the truth] indeed, [their ear] will they turn away,
While [unto stories] they will turn themselves aside.

5 But [thou]—be sober in all things, suffer hardship, do [the work] of an evangelist, [thy ministry] completely fulfil;

2 Proclaim the word,
Take thy position—in season, out of season,—
Convince, rebuke, encourage,—<sup>f</sup>

With all long-suffering and teaching.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO TITUS.

1 Paul, a servant of God—an apostle moreover of Jesus Christ,—<sup>a</sup>

According to the faith of the chosen ones of God,

And the personal knowledge of the truth that is according to godliness,—

<sup>2</sup> In hope of life age-abiding;

Which God, *|*who cannot lie<sup>a</sup>,

Promised before age-during times,<sup>b</sup>

Even his word, in the proclamation with which entrusted am ||I||—<sup>c</sup>

By injunction of our Saviour' God:

<sup>c</sup> 1 Tim. i. 11.

<sup>4</sup> Unto Titus, my true' child according to a common faith,—

Favour and peace,

From God [our] Father and Christ Jesus our Saviour.

<sup>5</sup> ||For this cause|| left I thee in Crete,

That ||the things remaining undone|| thou mightest completely set in order,

And mightest establish *|*in every city<sup>a</sup> ||elders||,<sup>a</sup>

As ||I|| *|*with thee<sup>a</sup> | arranged:—

<sup>6</sup> If anyone is unaccusable, a husband of [one' wife], having [children] that believe, who are not charged with riotous excess, nor insubordinate;

<sup>a</sup> Ac. xiv. 23.

- 7 For it is needful that the overseer<sup>a</sup> be—|Unaccusable| as God's' steward, not self-willed, not soon angry, not given to wine, not ready to wound, not seeking gain by base means,
- 8 But hospitable, a lover of what is good, sober-minded, just, kind, possessing
self-control,
- 9 Holding fast [in the matter of his teaching] ||the faithful' word||, That he may be |able| both to encourage with his healthful instruction, and
||the gainsayers|| to refute.
- 10 For there are many' unruly men,
Vain talkers and deceivers,
||Especially' they of the circumcision||,—
Whose mouths must needs be stopped,
- 11 ||Men who|| are upsetting ||whole' houses||,
Teaching the things which ought not [to be taught]—
For the sake of |base' gain|,
- 12 Said one from among them, a prophet [of their own]—<sup>b</sup> Cretans! always' false, mischievous' wild-beasts, idle gluttons:
- 13 ||This witness|| is true,—
||For which cause|| be reproving them
sharply,
That they may be healthy in their faith,
Not giving heed to Judaical stories and commandments of men who are turning away from the truth:
- 15 ||All things|| are pure [unto the pure],
But <unto the polluted and faithless>
||Nothing|| is pure.<sup>c</sup>
But polluted are both their mind and conscience;
- 16 ||God|| they confess that they know,
But ||by their works|| they deny him,
Being ||abominable|| and obdurate,
And [as to any' good work] found
||worthless||.
- 2 But do ||thou|| speak the things which become the healthful' instruction:—
- 2 That ||aged men|| be |sober|, grave, sober-minded, healthy in their faith, love, endurance;
- 3 ||Aged women,<sup>d</sup> in the same way|| [in deportment] as becometh sacred persons, not given to intrigue, nor yet [to much wine] enslaved, teachers of virtue,—<sup>e</sup>
- 4 That they may constrain the young women to be [lovers of their husbands], lovers of their children, <sup>e</sup> soberminded, chaste, workers at home, good, Submitting themselves to their own' husbands,—That ||the word of God|| be not defamed;
- 6 ||The younger men, in the same way|| exhort
thou to be sober-minded:
- 7 ||In all things|| shewing ||thyself|| an ensample<sup>f</sup>
of noble' works,—

- ||In thine instruction|| uncorruptness, gravity, healthful discourse that cannot be condemned,
- In order that ||he that is of the contrary part|| may relent, Having |nothing| to say concerning us that is disparaging:
- 9 ||Servants,<sup>a</sup> unto their own' masters|| to be submitting themselves in all things, to be |well-pleasing|, not gainsaying, <sup>10</sup> not taking anything away, shewing ||all' good
faith||,—
That <the instruction which is of our Saviour' God> they may adorn in all things.
- 11 For the favour of God, bringing salvation for all men, hath shone' forth,
- 12 Putting us under discipline—
In order that,— <Denying ourselves of ungodliness and worldly' covetings>
||In a soberminded and righteous and godly manner|| we should live, in the present' age,
- 13 Prepared to welcome the happy' hope and forthshining of the glory of the great' God and our Saviour Christ
Jesus,—<sup>b</sup>
- 14 Who gave himself up in our behalf,
That he might redeem us from all manner' of lawlessness,<sup>c</sup>
And purify for himself a people as his own treasure <sup>d</sup>—Zealous of noble' <sup>e</sup> works.
- 15 ||As to these things|| be speaking and exhorting and reproving, with all' manner' of precept:
Let ||no one|| disregard thee!
- 3 Be putting them in mind ||unto rulerships, unto authorities|| to be in submission,<sup>f</sup> to be yielding to rule, ||For every' good work|| to be |prepared|, <sup>2</sup> To be defaming ||no one||,
to be |averse to strife|, considerate, shewing
||all|| meekness unto all' men.
- 3 For ||even we|| used, at one time, to be—
Thoughtless, unyielding, deceived, In servitude unto manifold covetings and pleasures,
||In malice and envy|| leading on, Detestable,
Hating one another.
- 4 But <when ||the graciousness and affection for man of our Saviour God|| shone
forth>
- 5 ||Not by works which we had done in righteousness' ||,
But ||according to his' mercy|| he saved us—
Through means of the bathing of a new birth,<sup>g</sup>
And the moulding anew of Holy Spirit,—
Which he poured on us richly, through Jesus Christ our Saviour,
- 7 In order that <having been declared righteous by his' favour> we should

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO PHILEMON.

- 1 Paul, prisoner of Christ Jesus, and Timothy my brother,— Unto Philemon the beloved, and a fellow-worker of ours,
- 2 And unto Apphia our sister,
And unto Archippus* our fellow-soldier,
And unto the assembly which meeteth [at thy house];
- 3 Favour unto you, and peace,
From God our Father, and Lord Jesus Christ.
- 4 I am giving thanks unto my God—
[Always] making [mention of thee] in my prayers,
- 5 Hearing of thy love, and of the faith which thou hast towards the Lord Jesus and towards all' the saints,—
- 6 To the end that ||the fellowship of thy faith|| may become [energetic] by a personal knowledge of every' good thing that is in us<sup>b</sup> towards Christ;
- 7 For ||much joy|| have I had, and encouragement, by occasion of thy love,
In that ||the tender affections of the saints|| have had rest given them by thee, brother.
- * Wherefore <though I have ||much|| freedom of speech [in Christ], to be enjoining upon thee that which is befitting>

- 9 Yet ||for love's sake|| I rather' exhort,—
Being [such a one] as Paul the aged.
||Now|| also, even a prisoner of Christ Jesus,—
- 10 I exhort thee concerning [my own] child,
Whom I have begotten in my bonds,— Onesimus*:
- 11 Him who [at one time] was [unto thee] [unserviceable],
But ||now|| [unto thee<sup>b</sup> and unto me] [serviceable];
- 12 Whom I have sent back unto thee—
||Him||,
That is [my own] tender affections!—
- 13 Whom ||I|| was minded [with myself] to detain,
That ||in thy behalf|| [unto me] he might be ministering in the bonds of the joyful message;
- 14 But ||apart from thy' mind|| I wished to do [nothing],
That [not as by necessity] thy goodness should be, but ||by choice||.
- 15 For <peradventure [for this cause] was he separated for an hour>
That ||as an age-abiding possession|| thou mightest have him back,—
- 16 No longer as a servant, But above a servant—||A brother beloved||,—

* Col. iv. 17.

<sup>b</sup> Or (VH): "you."

* = "Helpful"—cp. ver. 20, also ver. 11.

<sup>b</sup> Or (VH): "both unto thee."

Very greatly to me'.

But ||how much rather|| to thee'—||Both in the flesh and in the Lord||

17 <If, therefore, thou holdest me as one in thy fellowship>

Take him unto thee |as myself|;

18 And <if he hath wronged thee at all or oweth thee ought>

||The same unto me|| do thou reckon:—

19 ||I, Paul|| have written [it] with |my own|
hand,—

||I|| will repay [it];

That I may not tell thee—That ||thyself, unto me|| thou still owest.

20 Yea! brother ||I|| would |from thee| have help, in the Lord:

Give rest unto my tender affections in Christ.

21 ||Confident of thine obedience|| I have written
unto thee,

Knowing that ||even beyond what I say|| thou wilt do:—

22 ||At the same time|| moreover, be also getting ready for me |a lodging|;

For I am hoping that |through your prayers| I shall be granted as a favour
unto you.

23 There salute thee—Epaphras,* my fellow-captive in Christ Jesus, 24 Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, Luke,—my fellow-workers.

25 ||The favour of the <sup>b</sup> Lord Jesus Christ|| be with your spirit.

EPISTLE TO THE H E B R E W S.

1 Whereas <||in many parts and in many ways of old||

God spake unto the fathers |in the prophets|>

2 |At the end of these days|

He hath spoken unto us in |his Son|,—

Whom he hath appointed heir of all things,
Through whom also he hath made the ages;

3 Who <being an irradiated brightness of his glory,

And an exact representation of his very
being,

Also bearing up all things by the utterance of his power,

|Purification of sins| having achieved>
Sat down on the right hand <sup>a</sup> of the majesty
in high places:

4 By |so| much becoming superior' |to the messengers| <sup>b</sup>

By |as| much as, going beyond them, he hath inherited a more distinguished
||name||,

5 For |unto which of the messengers| <sup>b</sup> said he at any time—

||My Son|| art |thou|,

||I|| this day have |begotten| thee <sup>c</sup>?

and again—

||I|| will become |his father|,

And ||he|| shall become |my Son|? <sup>d</sup>

6 But <whensoever he again introduceth the first-begotten into the habitable <sup>a</sup> earth> he saith—

And let all' God's messengers worship him <sup>b</sup>!

7 ||Even as to the messengers|| indeed, he saith—
Who maketh his messengers |winds|

And his ministers of state |a fiery flame| <sup>c</sup>;

8 but ||as to the Son||—

Thy throne, O God, is unto times age-abiding, <sup>d</sup>
and—

|A sceptre of equity| is the sceptre of his <sup>e</sup>
kingdom,

9 Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated lawlessness,—

|For this cause| hath God, thy God, anointed thee with the oil of exultation |beyond thy partners| <sup>f</sup>;

10 and—

||Thou|| |by way of beginning| Lord, |the earth|
didst found,

And |the works of thy hands| are the heavens,—

11 ||They|| shall perish,

But ||thou|| abidest still,

And ||all|| |as a mantle| shall be worn out,

12 And |as if a robe| wilt thou fold them up,—

As a mantle, and they shall be changed;

But ||thou|| art |the same|,

And |thy years| shall not ||fail|| <sup>g</sup>

<sup>e</sup> Or (WH): "thy."
<sup>f</sup> Ps. xlv. 6 f.
<sup>g</sup> Ps. cii. 25 ff.

<sup>13</sup> But [to which of the messengers] hath he said, at any time—

Sit thou at my right hand,

Until I make thy foes thy footstool<sup>a</sup>?

<sup>14</sup> Are they not [all] spirits [doing public service],—[for ministry] sent forth for the sake of them who are about to inherit salvation?

<sup>2</sup> [For this cause] it behoveth us [with unwonted firmness] to be holding fast unto the things that have been heard, lest, at any time, we drift away.

<sup>2</sup> For <[if the word through messengers' spoken became firm, and [every] transgression and disobedience] received a just recompense>

<sup>3</sup> How shall [we] escape, if [so great a salvation as this] we have neglected,—[which] indeed, <[having received] [a beginning] of being spoken through the Lord> [by them who heard] unto us' was confirmed', <sup>4</sup> God [jointly witnessing also] both with signs and wonders and manifold' mighty works, and with distributions of Holy Spirit' [according to his own' will]?

<sup>5</sup> For [not unto messengers] hath he subjected the coming habitable earth<sup>b</sup> of which we are speaking;

<sup>6</sup> But one somewhere hath borne witness, saying—

What is man, that thou shouldst make mention of him?

Or the son of man, that thou shouldst put him in charge?

<sup>7</sup> Thou hast made him less, some little, than messengers,

[With glory and honour] hast thou crowned him,—

[And hast set him over the works of thy hands]:

<sup>8</sup> [All things] hast thou subjected beneath his feet.<sup>c</sup>

For <[in subjecting, [to him] the all things]>

[Nothing] left he, to him unsubjected;

But [now, not yet] do we see, to him, the all things subjected;—

<sup>9</sup> But [Jesus, made some little less than messengers] we do' behold:

[By reason of the suffering of death] crowned with glory and honour,

To the end that, by favour of God, [in behalf of every one] he might taste of death.

<sup>10</sup> For it was becoming in him—

For the sake' of whom are the all things,

And by means' of whom are the all things,—

When [many' sons] unto glory [he would lead,

[The Princely Leader<sup>d</sup> of their salvation] through sufferings' [to make perfect].<sup>e</sup>

<sup>11</sup> For [both he that maketh holy, and they who are being made holy]<sup>f</sup>

Are [all] of One';

[For which cause] he is not ashamed to be calling them [brethren], <sup>12</sup> saying—

I will declare thy name unto my brethren,

[In the midst of an assembly] will I sing praise unto thee<sup>g</sup>;

<sup>13</sup> and again—

[I] will be confident upon him<sup>h</sup>;

and again—

Lo! [I] and the children which, unto me, [God] hath given.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>14</sup> <[Seeing therefore [the children] have received a fellowship of blood and flesh]>

[He also] [in like manner] took partnership in the same,—

In order that [through death]—

He might paralyse him that held the dominion<sup>j</sup> of death,

That is, the Adversary,—

<sup>15</sup> And might release these—

As many as [by fear of death] were all their lifetime liable' [to bondage].<sup>k</sup>

<sup>16</sup> For [not surely of messengers] is he laying hold, But [of Abraham's seed] he is laying hold.<sup>l</sup>

<sup>17</sup> Whence he was obliged [in every way] [unto the brethren]<sup>m</sup> to be made like,

That he might become a merciful' and faithful high-priest,

[In the things pertaining unto God],—

For the making of propitiation for the sins of the people.

<sup>18</sup> For <[in that [he] suffered [when tested]>

He is able [unto them who are being tested] [to give succour].

<sup>3</sup> Whence, holy brethren, [partners] in a heavenly calling',

Attentively consider the Apostle and High-priest of our confession—[Jesus]

<sup>2</sup> As one [faithful] to him who made him:

As [Moses also] in [all] his house.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>2</sup> For [of more' glory than Moses] hath [this] one been counted worthy—

By as much as more' honour than [the house] hath [he that prepared it];

<sup>4</sup> For [every' house] is prepared by some' one,— But [he that hath prepared all' things] is [God].

<sup>5</sup> [Even Moses] indeed, was faithful in all' his house,

[As an attendant] [for a witness of the things which were to be spoken];

<sup>6</sup> But [Christ] as [a Son] over his house,—

Whose house are [we]—[if [the freedom of speech and boast of the hope, [throughout, firm]] we hold fast].<sup>h</sup>

<sup>7</sup> Wherefore,—

According as saith the Holy Spirit—

To-day <[if [unto his voice] ye would hear—ken>

Do not harden your hearts,—

As in the embitterment,

In the day of testing in the desert,

<sup>n</sup> Ver. 14.

- 9 When your fathers tested by proving,
And saw my works forty years.
- 10 Wherefore I was sore vexed with this generation,
And said, Always err they in their heart;—
Howbeit they learned not my ways:
So I swear in mine anger—
They shall not enter into my rest<sup>a</sup>!—
- 12 Be taking heed, brethren,
Lest at any time, there shall be in any one of you,
A wicked heart of unbelief,
In revolting from a Living God.
- 13 But be exhorting one another, on each' successive day |,—
While the To-day<sup>a</sup> is being named!
Lest any from among you be hardened by the deceitfulness of sin.
- 14 For |partners of the Christ| have we become,—
If, at least, |the beginning of the confidence, throughout, firm| we hold fast:
- 15 So long as it is said—
To-day < if |unto his voice| ye would hearken >
Do not harden your hearts,—
As in the embitterment.<sup>b</sup>
- 16 For ||who|| |though they heard| caused embitterment?
Nay, indeed! did not all' who came forth out of Egypt through Moses?
- 17 But ||with whom|| was he sore vexed forty years?
Was it not with them who sinned, |whose dead bodies<sup>c</sup> fell in the desert|<sup>d</sup>?
- 18 But ||unto whom|| swore he, that they should not enter into his rest,—
Save unto them who were obstinate?
- 19 And we see, that they were not able to enter |because of unbelief|.
- 4 Let us therefore fear, lest at any time,
Although there is left behind a promise of entering into his rest,—
Any one from amongst you should be deemed<sup>e</sup> |to have come short|;
- 2 For we have had delivered to us the joyful message, just as even |they|;
But the word which was heard did not profit |them|,
They not having been blended, by faith, with the things heard.<sup>f</sup>
- 3 For we who have believed |are to enter into the rest|,
According as he hath said—
< So I swear in mine anger >
They shall not enter into my rest<sup>g</sup>;
And yet |the works| from the foundation of the world' |had been brought into existence|,
- 4 For he hath spoken, somewhere, concerning the seventh [day], thus—
And God rested, on the seventh day, from all' his works<sup>h</sup>;

- 5 And in this again—
They shall not enter into my rest.
- 6 Seeing, therefore, that it is left over for |some| to enter into it,
And |they who formerly' had delivered to them the joyful message| entered not in by reason of obstinacy,—
- 7 |Again| he marketh out a certain' day,
||To-day|| |in David| saying— after so long' a time as this,— according as it hath been said before:—
To-day < if |unto his voice| ye would hearken >
Do not harden your hearts.
- 8 For < if |unto them|| Joshua' had given rest >
It had not in that case |concerning another' day| been speaking |after| these things.
- 9 Hence there is |left over|
A Sabbath-keeping, for the people of God.
- 10 For |he that hath entered into his rest|
||He too|| hath rested from his works,—just as |from his own| ||God|| [rested].
- 11 Let us, therefore, give diligence to enter into that' rest,
Lest anyone fall into the same' example |of obstinacy|.
- 12 For ||living|| is the word of God, and |energetic|,
And more cutting than any knife with two edges,
And penetrating as far as a dividing asunder of soul and spirit,
Of joints also, and marrow,—
And able to judge the impulses and designs of the heart;
- 13 And there is |no created thing| can be secreted before him,
But |all things| are naked and exposed to his eyes:—
As to whom is ||our discourse||<sup>a</sup>
- 14 < Having then a great high-priest who hath passed through the heavens,
||Jesus the Son of God|| >
Let us hold fast the confession;
- 15 For we have not a high-priest unable to have fellow-feeling with our weaknesses,
But one tested in all respects, by way of likeness, |apart from sin|.
- 16 Let us, then, be approaching with freedom of speech, unto the throne of favour,
That we may receive mercy,
And |favour| may find |for| seasonable succour|.
- 5 For ||every' high-priest who from among men' is taken||
|On behalf of men| is appointed, as to the things pertaining unto God,
That he may be offering [both] gifts and sacrifices for sins,—
- 2 Able |to have a measure of feeling| for the ignorant and erring,—

- 4 And |not unto himself| doth one take the honour,
But when called by God,
Just as |even Aaron|:
- 5 ||Thus|| |also the Christ| glorified not himself
to become a high-priest,
But he that spake unto him—
||My Son|| art |thou|,
||I|| |this day| have begotten thee<sup>a</sup>;

- 10 Being addressed by God as high-priest—
||According to the rank of Melchizedek||.
- 11 Concerning whom |great| is our discourse,<sup>e</sup>
And of difficult interpretation |to express|,
Seeing that |slothful| have ye become in the hearing;
- 12 For <even when ye ought to be teachers
|by reason of the time|>
||Again|| have ye |need| that one be teaching |you|
What are the first principles<sup>f</sup> of the oracles of God,
And have become such as have |need| ||of milk||<sup>g</sup> not |of strong food|;
- 13 For ||every' one partaking of milk|| is unskilled in discourse of righteousness,
For he is |a babe|;
- 14 But ||to such as are mature|| pertaineth |the strong' food|,
||To them who |by reason of habit| have their organs of perception well trained for discriminating both good and evil||.
- 6 Wherefore <dismissing the elementary discourse concerning the Christ>
|Unto maturity| let us be tending,

- 2 Of immersions—in respect of teaching,<sup>h</sup>

<sup>a</sup> Ps. i. 7.<sup>b</sup> Ap: "Age-abiding."<sup>c</sup> Ps. ex. 4.<sup>d</sup> Is. xlv. 17.<sup>e</sup> See chap. iv. 13.<sup>f</sup> Or: "elements," "rudiments."<sup>g</sup> 1 Co. iii. 2.<sup>h</sup> "So far as teaching is concerned;" or (WH): "immersions of (as the outcome of, after) teaching."

- And of the laying on of hands,
Of the resurrection of the dead,
And of judgment age-abiding;—
- 3 And |this| will we do if at least |God| permit.<sup>a</sup>
- 4 For it is impossible—
<As to those who have been |once for all| illuminated,
'Who have tasted also of the heavenly free-gift,
And have been made |partners| in a Holy Spirit,
And have tasted God's utterance to be |sweet|,
Mighty works also of a coming' age,
And who have fallen away>
|Again| to be remoulding them into repentance;
Seeing<sup>b</sup> they are again crucifying unto themselves the Son of God,
And holding him up as an example.
- 7 For ||and|| <which hath drunk in |the rain| thereupon oftentimes coming,
And which bringeth forth vegetation<sup>c</sup> fit for them for whom it is even cultivated> Partaketh of a blessing from God;
- 8 But <should it be bringing forth thorns and briars>
It is disapproved, and, unto cursing, nigh,—<sup>d</sup>
Whose |end| is for |burning|.
- 9 But we are persuaded, concerning you, beloved,
The things which are better and which contain salvation,
Though |even thus' we speak|.
- 10 For |not unrighteous| is God, to be forgetful of your work<sup>e</sup> and of the love which ye have shewn forth for his name,
In that ye have ministered unto the saints, and are' ministering,—
- 11 But we covet
That |each one of you| be shewing forth the same' diligence,
Unto the full assurance of the hope throughout:
- 12 In order that |not slothful| ye may become,
But imitators of them who, through faith and patience, were becoming heirs of the promises.<sup>f</sup>
- 13 For |when to Abraham' God made promise|
<Seeing he had no one greater by whom to swear>
He swore |by himself|,—<sup>g</sup> saying—
|Truly, if blessing| I will bless thee,
And |multiplying| I will multiply thee<sup>h</sup>;
- 15 And |thus, being patient| he attained unto the promise.
- 16 For |men| |by the greater one| swear,
And |with them| an end of ||all|| gainsaying by way of confirmation is ||the oath||:
- 17 Wherein God <being |more abundantly' disposed| to shew forth unto the heirs of the promise the unchangeableness of his counsel>
Mediated |with an oath|,—

18 In order that <through means of two' unchangeable things,
In which it was impossible for [God] to make himself false>
A mighty' consolation| we might have,
Who have fled along to grasp [the fore-
lying' hope|,
19 Which we have [as an anchor of the
soul|,
Both secure and firm,
And entering into the interior of the veil<sup>a</sup>;
20 Where [a forerunner in our behalf| hath entered [even Jesus|
Who [according to the rank of Melchizedek| hath become [a high-priest unto times age-abiding|,<sup>b</sup>
7 For [this Melchizedek<sup>c</sup> king of Salem, priest of God Most High,
Who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him,— 2 To whom even a tenth of all Abraham
apportioned|
<First, indeed, when translated, King of Righteousness,
But [after that] King of Salem also, which is King of Peace,—
3 Without father, without mother, without pedigree,
Having [neither beginning of days, nor of
life an end|,
But made like unto the Son of God>
[Abideth a priest evermore].
4 Now consider [how great| this man was, to whom [a tenth] Abraham gave out of the choicest spoils
[Yea Abraham] the Patriarch|.
5 And [they, indeed, from among the sons of Levi' who the priesthood' receive|
Have [commandment| to take tithes of the people [according to the law],—<sup>d</sup>
That is, of their brethren, [although sprung
from the loins of Abraham|;
6 But [he who deriveth not his pedigree from among them|
Hath taken' tithes of' Abraham.
And [the holder of the promises| hath he blessed'.
7 But [apart from all gainsaying|
The less' by the greater' is blessed.
8 And [here| indeed, dying' men take tithes,
But [there| one of whom it is witnessed
[that he liveth|.
9 And—so to say a word—
[Through Abraham| even Levi' who taketh'
tithes hath paid' tithes;
10 For [even then| was he [in the loins of his father| when [Melchizedek| met him.
11 <If indeed, therefore, there had been [a perfecting through means of the Levitical
priesthood|,—
For [the people, thereon| have had based a code of laws>

What further' need [according to the rank of Melchizedek| for a different' <sup>a</sup> priest to be raised up,
And [not according to the rank of Aaron| to be designated?
12 For <seeing there is to be a change of the priesthood>
[Of necessity| [of law too| a change cometh.
13 For [he as to whom these' things are said|
[With a different' tribe| hath taken partnership,
From which [no one| hath given attendance
at the altar;
14 For it is [very evident| that out of Judah'
hath sprung our Lord,—
[Respecting which tribe| [concerning priests| nothing did Moses speak,
15 And [yet more abundantly' evident| it is—
That [according to the likeness of Melchi-zedek|<sup>b</sup> there is to be raised up [a different' priest|,
16 Who <not according to a law of commandment dealing with the flesh> hath arisen, But according to the power of an indis-
soluble life;
17 For it is witnessed—
[Thou| art a priest [age-abidingly|,
[According to the rank of Melchizedek|,<sup>c</sup>
18 For [a setting aside| doth, indeed, take place,
of a foregoing' commandment,
By reason of its own' weakness and unprofit-ableness,—
19 For [the law| perfected [nothing|;
But there is the superinducing of a better'
hope,—
Through which we draw near unto God.
20 And <inasmuch as not apart from oath-taking—21 For [they| indeed, [apart from oath-taking| have been made priests,
But [he| with' an oath-taking,—
Through him that was saying unto him—
The Lord swear, and will not regret,—
[Thou| art a priest [age-abidingly|><sup>e</sup>
22 [By as much as this| hath [Jesus| become surety of a better' covenant also.
23 And [they| indeed, [in greater numbers| have been made priests,
Because [by reason of death| are they hindered from [remaining at hand|;
24 But [he|, [by reason of his remaining ageabidingly|,<sup>e</sup>
[Untransmissible| holdeth [the priesthood|.
25 Whence he is able [even to be saving unto the very end|
Them who approach, through him, unto
God;
Since he evermore' liveth to be interceding in their behalf.
26 For [such a high-priest as this| for us' was [even] suited:
Loving,<sup>d</sup> noble,<sup>e</sup> undefiled,

<sup>a</sup> Lev. xvi. 2, 12.
<sup>b</sup> Ps. ex. 4.

q 2

- Set apart from sinners,
And become' |higher than the heavens| ;
- 27 Who hath no daily' necessity, |like the high-priests|,
|Beforehand_ over his own' sins| to be offering sacrifices,
|After that| over those |of the people|,—
For |this| he did once for all when |himself| he offered up.
- 28 For ||the law|| constituteth |men| high-priests, having |weakness| ;
But |the word of the oath-taking, which cometh after the law|
||A Son|| age-abidingly' |made perfect|.
- 8 A crowning point on the things being spoken:—
||Such a one as this|| have we |as high-priest| ,
Who hath sat down on the right hand<sup>b</sup> of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens,—
- 2 |Of the Holy place|<sup>c</sup> a public minister,
And of the Real' Tent, which |the Lord| pitched<sup>d</sup> and not |man|.
- 3 For ||every' high-priest|| |for the offering of both gifts and sacrifices| is constituted ;
Whence it was |necessary| for |this one also| to have something which he might offer.
- 4 <If, indeed, therefore, he had been on earth>
He had not, in that case, even been' a priest,
Since there are' those who are offering the gifts |according to the law|:—
- 5 Who, indeed, are rendering divine service, with a glimpse' and shadow' |of the heavenly things| ;
Even as Moses hath received intimation, when about to complete the tent,—
For see! saith he—Thou shalt make all things according to the model which hath been pointed out to thee in the mount.<sup>e</sup>
- 6 But |now| hath he attained unto |a more distinguished| public ministry,—
By as much as of a better' covenant' also he is |mediator|,
Which indeed |upon better' promises| hath been legislated.
- 7 For <if ||that first|| had been |faultless|>,
|Not, in that case, for a second| had there been sought |a place|.
- 8 For |finding fault with them| he saith—
Lo! |days| are coming, saith the Lord,
When I will conclude, for the house of Israel and the house of Judah,
||A covenant of a new sort||:
- 9 Not according to the covenant which I made with their fathers,
In the day when I took them by their hand,
to lead them forth out of the land of Egypt,—
Because |they| abode not in my covenant,
And |I| disregarded them, saith the Lord.
- 10 Because |this| is the covenant which I will make with the house of Israel,
|After those days| saith the Lord:—

- <Giving my laws into their understanding>
|Upon their hearts also| will I inscribe them ;
And I will become their' God,
And |they| shall become my' people ;
- 11 And in nowise shall they teach—
Every one his fellow-citizen,
And every one his brother,
Saying,—Get to know the Lord!
Because |all| shall know me,
From the least unto the greatest of them ;
- 12 Because |propitious| will I be as to their un-righteousnesses,<sup>a</sup>
And |of their sins| in nowise will I be mindful [any more].
- 13 In saying Of a new sort<sup>b</sup> he hath made obsolete |the first| ;
But |the thing that is becoming obsolete and aged|
Is near ||disappearing||!
- 9 [Even] the first, indeed, therefore, used to have righteous appointments of divine service,
|Even the holy ritual well arranged|.
- 2 For |a tent|<sup>c</sup> was prepared, |the first|,
In which were both the lampstand and the table and the setting forth of the loaves,—
The which is called the Holy place<sup>d</sup> ;
- 3 But |after the second' veil| a tent, that which is called Most Holy :
- 4 Having a golden' altar of incense,
And the ark of the covenant covered around on every side with gold,
In which was a golden jar holding the manna,
And the rod of Aaron that sprouted,
And the tables of the covenant ;
- 5 But |over-above it| Cherubim of glory overshadowing the propitiary:—
|Concerning which things| it is not now [needful] to be speaking |particularly|.
- 6 Now <these' things having been thus' prepared>
|Into the first' tent,| indeed, |continually| do the priests enter,
The divine services completing ;
- 7 But ||into the second|| once' for all in the year',
Only' the high-priest,
Not without blood,
Which he offered for himself and the ignorances of the people :
- 8 The Holy Spirit making this' evident—
That |not yet| hath been manifested, the way through the Holy place,
|So long| as the first' tent hath |a standing|.
- 9 The which is a similitude for the present season,
According to which |both gifts and sacrifices| are offered,

with the distinction here drawn between the Holy place and the Most Holy. Cp. the six occurrences: viii. 2; ix. 8, 12, 24, 25; x. 19.

Which cannot [as to the conscience] perfect him that rendereth the divine service:—
 10 Only as to eatings, and drinkings, and diversified immersions,— Righteous-appointments of the flesh,
 Which [until a season of rectifying] are in force.

11 But <when [Christ] approached,* as high-priest of the coming<sup>b</sup> good things,<sup>c</sup>
 Through the greater' and more perfect' tent, not made by hand,
 That is, not of this' creation,—
 12 Nor yet through blood of goats and calves,
 But through his own' blood>
 He entered once for all into the Holy place, [Age-abiding' redemption discovering'].

13 For <[if the blood of goats and bulls,
 And the ashes of a heifer sprinkling the profaned,
 Halloweth unto the purity of [the flesh]>

14 [How much rather] shall [the blood of the Christ,
 Who through an age-abiding spirit
 Offered himself' unspotted unto God]
 Purify our<sup>d</sup> conscience from dead' works,
 To the rendering of divine-service [unto a Living' God]?<sup>e</sup>

15 And [for this cause] [of a new covenant] is he mediator',—
 To the end that <death coming to pass for the redemption of the transgressions against [the first] covenant>
 The called might receive [the promise] of the age-abiding' <sup>f</sup> inheritance;

16 For <where a covenant is>
 It is necessary for [the death] to be brought in, of him that hath covenanted;

17 For [a covenant over dead persons] is firm',—
 Since it is not then' of force when he is [living] that hath covenanted.

18 Whence [not even the first] [apart from blood] hath been consecrated;

19 For <when every commandment according to the law [had been spoken] by Moses unto all the people>

[Taking the blood of the calves and the goats,
 With water and scarlet wool and hyssop],
 Both [the scroll itself', and all' the people] he sprinkled;

20 Saying—
 [This] is the blood of the covenant which [God] hath sent in command unto you<sup>g</sup>;

21 Yea [the tent also, and all' the utensils of the public ministry] with blood' in like manner' he sprinkled:

22 And [nearly] all things [with blood] are purified [according to the law],
 And [apart from blood-shedding] cometh no [remission].<sup>h</sup>

23 It was indeed therefore [necessary] for [the glimpses of the things in the heavens] with these' to be purified;

But [the heavenly things themselves'] with better' sacrifices than [these].

24 For [not into a Holy place made by hand'] entered Christ,—

Counterpart of the real [Holy place];

But [into the heaven itself],

[Now] to be plainly manifested before the face of God in our behalf;—

25 Nor yet that [ofttimes] he should be offering himself,—

Just as [the high-priest] entereth into the Holy place, year by year, with alien' blood;—

26 Else had it been [needful for him] ofttimes' to suffer, from the foundation of the world;

But [now] <once for all

Upon a conjunction of the ages,<sup>a</sup>

For a setting aside of sin through means of his sacrifice>

Hath he been made manifest<sup>b</sup>;

27 And <inasmuch as it is in store for men—

Once for all' to die,

But after this' [judgment]>

28 [Thus] [the Christ also]

<Once for all' having been offered,

For the bearing of the sins [of many]><sup>c</sup>

[A second time, apart from sin] will appear,
 [To them who for him' are ardently waiting]—

[Unto salvation].

10 For the law <having [a shadow]<sup>d</sup> of the destined' good things,

Not the very' image' of the things>

They can never [with the same' sacrifices which year by year' they offer evermore]

Make them who approach [perfect];

2 Else would they not, in that case, have ceased being offered,

By reason of those rendering the divine service having no' further' conscience at all' of sins,

[Being once for all purified]?<sup>e</sup>

3 But [in them] is a recalling to mind of sins [year by year],

4 For it is impossible for [blood of bulls and goats]<sup>f</sup> to be taking away sins.

5 Wherefore <coming into the world> he saith:

[Sacrifice and offering] thou wiltdest not,

But [a body] hast thou fitted for me,—

6 [In whole-burnt-offerings and sacrifices for sins] thou didst not delight:

7 [Then] said I—

Lo! I am come,—

[In the heading of the scroll] it is written concerning me,—

To do, O God, [thy will].<sup>g</sup>

- offerings and sacrifices for sins* || thou willedest not, neither delightedst in,—
The which |according to the law| are offered>
9 |Then| hath he said—
Lo! I am come!
To do |thy will|:—
He taketh away the first, that |the second| he may ||establish||:
10 |By which will| we have been made holy,
Through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ ||once for all||.
11 And |every' priest|<sup>a</sup> indeed standeth daily publicly ministering,
And the same' sacrifices oftentimes' offering,
The which never' can clear away sins;
12 But this' priest <having offered one' sacrifice for sins evermore>
Sat down on the right hand<sup>b</sup> of God:
13 |As for the rest| waiting—
Until his foes be made his footstool<sup>b</sup>;
14 For |by one' offering| hath he perfected for evermore, them who are being made holy.
15 But even the Holy Spirit |beareth us witness|;
For <after having said—
16 |This| is the covenant which I will covenant unto them
After those days, saith the Lord,—
Giving my laws upon their hearts,
|Upon their understandings also| will I inscribe them><sup>c</sup>
17 [He] also [saith]—
|Of their sins, and of their lawlessnesses|
I will in nowise be mindful any more.<sup>d</sup>
18 But |wherever a remission of these is| there is |no further| offering |for sins|.
19 <Having therefore, brethren, freedom of speech for the entrance<sup>e</sup> through the Holy place |by the blood of Jesus|,
20 Which entrance he hath consecrated for us, as a way recent and living,
Through the veil, that is, his flesh,—
21 And having a great priest over the house of God><sup>f</sup>
22 Let us approach with a genuine' heart, in full assurance of faith,<sup>g</sup>
Having been sprinkled, as to our hearts, from an evil conscience,
And bathed, as to our bodies, with pure water;
23 Let us hold fast the confession of the hope without wavering,—
For |faithful| is he that hath promised;
24 And let us attentively consider one another, to provoke unto love and noble' works,—
25 Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together,
According to the custom of some,
But exhorting,
And by so' much the more as this'.
By as' much as ye behold ||the day|| drawing near.

- 26 For <if |by choice| we be sinning, after the receiving of the full-knowledge of the truth>
||No longer|| |for sins| is there left over |a sacrifice|,
27 But some |fearful| reception of judgment and fiery jealousy,
|About to devour the opposers|.<sup>a</sup>
28 ||Any one having set aside a law of Moses||
|Apart from compassions, upon [the testimony of] two' or three witnesses| dieth<sup>b</sup>:
29 Of |how much| sorer |punishment|, suppose ye, shall he be accounted worthy,
Who hath trampled underfoot |the Son of God|,
And |the blood of the covenant|<sup>c</sup> hath esteemed |a profane thing| ||by which he had been made holy||,
And |unto the Spirit of favour| hath offered wanton insult?
30 For we know him that hath said—
|To me| belongeth avenging,
||I|| will recompense<sup>d</sup>;
and again—
The Lord will judge his people.<sup>e</sup>
31 |A fearful thing| [it is] to fall into the hands ||of a Living God||.
32 But be calling to mind the former' days,
In which |once ye were illuminated|,
|A great combat of sufferings| ye endured;—
33 ||Partly||, indeed, because |both with reproaches and tribulations| ye were being made a spectacle,
But ||partly|| because |into fellowship with them who were so' involved| ye were brought;—
34 For |even with them who were in bonds| ye sympathised,
And |unto the seizure of your goods| with joy' ye bade welcome,—
Knowing that ye have yourselves, for a better' possession and |an abiding|.
35 Do not, then, cast away your freedom of speech,—
The which hath a great' recompense'.
36 For |of endurance| ye have need,
In order that <the will of God having done>
Ye may bear away |the promise|.
37 For <yet a little while, how short! how short!>
|The Coming One| will be here, and will not tarry;
38 But |my<sup>f</sup> righteous one| by faith |shall live|,
And |if he draw back| ||my soul delighteth not in him||.<sup>g</sup>
39 |We| however, are not of a drawing back unto destruction,
But of faith |unto an acquisition of life|.
11 But faith is' |of things hoped for| ||a confidence||,
|Of facts| a conviction ||when they are not seen||;

- <sup>2</sup> For |thereby| well-attested were the ancients.
- <sup>3</sup> ||By faith|| we understand the ages<sup>a</sup> to have been fitted together ||by declaration of God||,—
To the end that |not out of things appearing| should that which is seen ||have come into existence||.
- <sup>4</sup> ||By faith|| |a fuller' sacrifice| did Abel' ||offer unto God|| than Cain',—
|Through which| he received witness that he was |righteous|,
There being a witnessing upon his gifts ||by God||;
And |through it| though he died' ||he yet is speaking||.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>5</sup> ||By faith|| |Enoch| was translated, so as not to see death,
And was not found, because that |God| had translated him;
For |before the translation| he had received witness that he had become |well-pleasing unto God|<sup>c</sup> ;—
- <sup>6</sup> But |apart from faith| it is impossible to be well-pleasing ;
For he that approacheth unto God—
|Must needs have faith| that he is',
And that |to them who seek him out| ||a rewarder' he becometh||.
- <sup>7</sup> ||By faith|| |Noah|<sup>d</sup> <having received intimation' concerning |the things not yet seen|>
|Filled with reverence| prepared an ark to the saving of his house—
Through which he condemned the world,
And |of the righteousness by way of faith| became ||heir||.
- <sup>8</sup> ||By faith|| |being called| Abraham' obeyed—
To come forth into a place he was destined to receive for an inheritance ;
And he came forth, ||not well knowing whither he was coming||.<sup>e</sup>
- <sup>9</sup> ||By faith|| he sojourned in the land of promise |as a foreign land|,
|In tents| dwelling,
Along with Isaac and Jacob, the joint-heirs of the same promise<sup>f</sup> ;
- <sup>10</sup> For he was awaiting the city having foundations',
Whose architect and builder is |God|.
- <sup>11</sup> ||By faith|| |even Sarah herself|<sup>g</sup> received |power for founding a seed|,
|Even beyond the season of life's prime|,—
Seeing that |faithful| she reckoned |him that had promised| ;
- <sup>12</sup> Wherefore |even from one| were born,
And |as to these things| one who had become dead,—
Like the stars of the heaven, for multitude, And as the sand that is by the tip of the sea,<sup>h</sup> that cannot be numbered.

- <sup>13</sup> ||In faith||<sup>a</sup> all' these died'—
Not bearing away the promises,
But |from afar| beholding' and saluting' them,
And confessing that |strangers and sojourners| were they upon the land.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>14</sup> For |they who such things as these' are saying|
Make it clear that |of a paternal home they are in quest|;
- <sup>15</sup> And <|if indeed of that' they had been mindful, from which they had come out'|>
They might, in that case, have had an opportunity |to return|;
- <sup>16</sup> But ||now|| |after a better one| are they reaching,
That is, a heavenly ;
Wherefore God is not ashamed of them, to be invoked as |their God|,<sup>c</sup>
For he hath prepared for them |a city|.
- <sup>17</sup> ||By faith|| Abraham |when tested| offered up Isaac,<sup>d</sup>
And ||the only-begotten|| would |he| have offered up |who the promises had accepted|,—
- <sup>18</sup> Even him of whom it had been said—
||In Isaac|| shall there be called to thee |a seed|<sup>e</sup> ;
- <sup>19</sup> Accounting that |even from among the dead| ||God|| was able |to raise [him]|,—
Whence |even in similitude| he bare him away.
- <sup>20</sup> ||By faith|| |even concerning things to come| did Isaac<sup>f</sup> bless |Jacob and Esau|.
- <sup>21</sup> ||By faith|| |Jacob, when about to die|,
Blessed |each of the sons of Joseph|;
And bowed in worship on the top of his staff.<sup>g</sup>
- <sup>22</sup> ||By faith|| |Joseph,<sup>h</sup> when drawing to his end|—
|Concerning the exodus of the sons of Israel| called to remembrance,
And |concerning his bones| gave commandment.
- <sup>23</sup> ||By faith|| |Moses, when born|—
Was hid three months by his parents,
Because they saw that goodly was |the child|.<sup>i</sup>
And were not affrighted ||at the decree of the king||.
- <sup>24</sup> ||By faith|| |Moses, when grown up|—<sup>k</sup>
Refused to be called the son of a daughter of a Pharaoh,
- <sup>25</sup> Rather choosing—
To be jointly suffering ill-treatment with the people of God,
Than |for a season| to be having ||sin's enjoyment||;
- <sup>26</sup> Accounting—

Not put in fear of the wrath of the king;
For [as seeing him who cannot' be seen] ||he persevered||.
- <sup>28</sup> By faith|| he hath kept the passover and the besmearing of the blood,
Lest [he that was destroying the first-born] ||should be touching them||.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>29</sup> By faith|| they passed through the Red Sea, [as over dry land],—
Which the Egyptians [seizing an attempt' to do] were swallowed up.<sup>c</sup>
- <sup>30</sup> By faith|| [the walls of Jericho] fell,
[Having been surrounded for seven days].<sup>d</sup>
- <sup>31</sup> By faith|| [Rahab the harlot] perished not with them who refused to yield,
[She having welcomed the spies with peace].<sup>e</sup>
- <sup>32</sup> And what more' can I say?
For [time] will fail me while I go on telling—Concerning Gideon,<sup>f</sup> Barak,<sup>g</sup> Sampson,<sup>h</sup> Jephthah,<sup>i</sup>
David<sup>k</sup> also, and Samuel,<sup>l</sup> and the prophets,—
- <sup>33</sup> Who ||through faith||—
Prevailed in contest over kingdoms,
Wrought righteousness,
Attained unto promises,
Shut the mouths of lions,<sup>m</sup>
- <sup>34</sup> Quenched the power of fire,<sup>n</sup>
Escaped the mouths of the sword,
Were made powerful from weakness,
Became mighty in battle,
Overturned [camps of aliens];
- <sup>35</sup> Women received [by resurrection] ||their dead||<sup>o</sup>;
But [others] were put to the rack,
Not accepting redemption,
That [unto a better' resurrection] ||they might attain||:
- <sup>36</sup> [Others] again, [of mockings and scourgings] received trial, [Nay! further] of bonds and imprisonments;
- <sup>37</sup> They were stoned, were pierced through, [were sawn asunder],
[By murder], with a sword, ||died||,
Went about in sheep-skins, in goat-hides,—
Being in want, suffering tribulation, enduring ill-treatment;
- <sup>38</sup> Of whom the world' [was not worthy]— [Upon deserts] wandering, and mountains, and in caves,—and in the caverns of the earth.
- <sup>39</sup> And ||these all|| <though they obtained witness through their faith>
Yet bare not away [the promise]:

That [not apart from us] should they be made ||perfect||.

- <sup>12</sup> Therefore, indeed,
<Seeing that [we also] have encircling us [so great' a cloud of witnesses]>
<Stripping off every [incumbrance]<sup>a</sup> and the easily entangling sin>
[With endurance] let us be running [the race that is lying before us],
<sup>2</sup> Looking away unto our faith's Princely-leader and perfecter, ||Jesus||,—
Who <in consideration of the joy lying before him>
Endured a cross, [shame] despising!
And [on the right hand of the throne of God] ||hath taken his seat||.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>3</sup> For take ye into consideration—
Him who hath endured [such' contradiction] by sinners against themselves,<sup>c</sup>
Lest ye be wearied, [in your souls] becoming exhausted.
- <sup>4</sup> ||Not yet' unto blood|| have ye resisted, [against sin] waging a contest;
- <sup>5</sup> And ye have quite forgotten the exhortation which, indeed, [with you' as with sons] ||doth reason||:—

Neither be fainting, when by him' [thou art reproved];
- <sup>6</sup> For [whom the Lord loveth] he doth [discipline],
And scourgeth every' son whom he doth [welcome home].<sup>d</sup>
- <sup>7</sup> <For the sake of discipline> persevere!
||As towards sons|| [God] beareth himself [towards you];
For who is [a son] whom [a father] doth not discipline?
- <sup>8</sup> <If however ye are without' discipline, Whereof [all] have received a share> [Then] are ye [bastards] and [not sons].
- <sup>9</sup> ||Furthermore, indeed|| [the fathers of our flesh] we used to have, [as administrators of discipline],

But [he] unto that which is profitable, [with a view to our partaking of his holiness];

||Afterwards|| however—
<To [them who thereby' have been well trained]>
It yieldeth [peaceful fruit] ||of righteousness||.
- <sup>12</sup> Wherefore [the slackened hands and paralyzed knees] restore ye,<sup>e</sup>
- <sup>13</sup> And [straight tracks] be making for your feet,—

14 Peace be pursuing<sup>a</sup> with all, and the obtaining of holiness,—
|Without which no one shall see the Lord|;
15 Using oversight—
Lest any one be falling behind from the favour of God,—
Lest any root of bitterness |springing up above| be causing trouble<sup>b</sup>;
And |through it| the many be defiled:
16 Lest there be any fornicator, or profane person |like Esau|,—
Who |for the sake of one meal| yielded up his own firstborn rights<sup>c</sup>;
17 For ye know that <afterwards—
When he even wished' to inherit the blessing>
He was rejected;
For |place of repentance'| found he none,
Even though |with tears' he diligently sought it|.d
18 For ye have not approached—
Unto |a searching' and scorching' fire|,
And gloom, and mist, and tempest,
19 And a trumpet's peal,—
And a sound of things spoken<sup>e</sup> :—
From which they who heard excused themselves,
Lest there should be added to them |a word|;
20 For they could not bear |that which was being enjoined|,—
And |should a beast' be touching the mountain| it shall be stoned<sup>f</sup>;
21 And <so fearful was that which was showing itself>
|Moses| said—
I am terrified,<sup>g</sup> and do tremble!
22 But ye have approached—
Unto Zion's mountain,
And unto the city of a Living God, a heavenly Jerusalem,—
And unto myriads of messengers<sup>h</sup> |in high festival|,—
And unto an assembly of firstborn ones, |enrolled in the heavens|,—
And unto God |judge of all|,—
And unto the spirits of righteous ones made perfect,<sup>i</sup>—
24 And unto the mediator |of a new covenant|, |Jesus|,—
And unto the blood of sprinkling, |more excellently speaking| than |Abel|. <sup>j</sup>
25 Beware, lest ye excuse yourselves from |him that speaketh|;
For <if they escaped not, who excused themselves |from him who on earth' was warning|>
||How much less|| shall we <who from him that warneth from the heavens> |do turn ourselves away|:

26 Whose voice shook the earth' then||,
But now|| hath he promised, saying—
||Yet once for all|| |I| will shake—
<Not only the earth>
But also the heaven||.<sup>k</sup>
27 But the saying Yet once for all||
Maketh clear the<sup>l</sup> removal of the things which can be shaken,
|As of things done with|,—
That they' may remain which cannot be shaken||.
28 Wherefore
<Seeing that |of a kingdom not to be shaken| we are receiving possession>
Let us have gratitude—
Whereby we may be rendering divine service well-pleasingly unto God, |with reverence and awe|;
29 For even our God|| is a consuming fire||.<sup>m</sup>
13 Let |brotherly love| continue.
2 ||Of the entertaining of strangers|| be not forgetful,
For |hereby| unawares' have some entertained |messengers||.
3 Bear in mind them who are in bonds,
|As having become jointly bound|,—
Them who are suffering ill-treatment,
|As being yourselves' also' in the body|. <sup>n</sup>
4 Let marriage be |honourable| in all, |and the bed undefiled|,
For |fornicators and adulterers| God|| will judge.
5 |Without fondness for money| be your way of life,—
Being content with the present things,—for |he| hath said:
||In nowise| thee |will I leave|,
|No indeed! in nowise| thee will I forsake||<sup>o</sup>;
6 So that, taking courage, we may be saying—
|The Lord| hasteth to my cry,—I will not be put in fear:
What shall man|| do unto me?<sup>p</sup>
7 Be mindful of them who are guiding you,
Who, indeed, have spoken unto you |the word of God|:
<|The outgoing of whose behaviour| reviewing>
Be imitating |their faith|. <sup>q</sup>
8 ||Jesus Christ|| yesterday' and to-day |is the same|,—
||And unto the ages||.
9 ||With teachings manifold and strange|| be not carried aside;
For it is |noble| that |with gratitude| should the heart|| be getting confirmed,—
|Not with matters of food|,
In which |they who are walking| have not been profited.
10 We have an altar—
To eat out of which |they| have no right,<sup>r</sup>
|Who in the tent' are doing divine service| s;

- 10 Whereas the rich, in his being brought low,— Because as a flower of grass he will pass away<sup>a</sup>;
- 11 For the sun hath sprung up, with its scorching heat,
And hath withered the grass,
And the flower thereof hath fallen out,<sup>a</sup>
And the beauty of the face thereof hath perished,—
So also the rich, in his goings, shall languish.
- 12 Happy the man who endureth temptation!<sup>b</sup>
Because becoming approved he shall receive the crown of life—
Which he hath promised unto them that love him.
- 13 Let no one, while tempted, be saying—
From God am I tempted,—
For God cannot be tempted by things evil,
And himself tempteth no one;
- 14 But each one is tempted, when by his own coveting he is drawn out and enticed,
- 15 Then, the coveting having conceived, giveth birth to sin,
And the sin when full-grown<sup>c</sup> bringeth forth death.<sup>d</sup>
- 16 Be not deceived, my brethren beloved:—
Every good giving, and every perfect gift<sup>e</sup> is from above, Coming down from the Father of lights—
With whom is no alternation,
Nor shadow cast by turning;
- 17 Because he was so minded, he hath brought us forth with a word of truth,
To the end we should be a sort of firstfruit of his creatures.<sup>f</sup>
- 18 Ye know, my brethren beloved,—
But let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to anger,
- 19 For man's anger worketh not God's righteousness.
- 20 Wherefore putting away all filthiness and overflow of baseness<sup>g</sup>—
In meekness, welcome ye the word fitted for inward growth, which is able to save your souls;
- 21 Become ye doers of the word, and not hearers only—<sup>h</sup> Reasoning yourselves astray;
- 22 Because <if any is a word-hearer, and not a doer>
The same is like unto a man observing his natural face<sup>i</sup> in a mirror,—
- 23 For he observed himself, and is gone away, and straightway it hath escaped him—
What manner of man he was!
- 24 But <he that hath obtained a nearer view into the perfect law of liberty, And hath taken up his abode by it, Becoming—not a forgetful hearer but a work doer>
The same happy in his doing shall be.
- 25 <If any thinketh he is observant of religion, Not curbing his own tongue,<sup>a</sup>
But deceiving his own heart><sup>b</sup>
This one's religious observance<sup>c</sup> is vain:
Religious observance, pure and undefiled with our God and Father, is this—
To be visiting orphans and widows in their affliction, Unspotted to keep himself from the world.
- 2 My brethren, do not with respect for persons be holding the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ [the Lord] of glory.<sup>d</sup>
- 3 For <if there enter into your synagogue a man wearing gold rings in gay clothing, And there enter a destitute man also, in soiled clothing,—
And ye eye him that hath on the gay clothing, and say,
Thou be sitting here, pleasantly,—
And unto the destitute man say—
Thou stand, or sit there under<sup>e</sup> my footstool>
Would ye not have<sup>f</sup> been led to make distinctions among yourselves, and have become judges with wicked reasonings?
- 4 Hearken! my brethren beloved:—
Hath not God chosen the destitute in the world
[To be] rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?
- 5 Whereas ye have dishonoured the destitute man!
Do not the rich oppress you?
And themselves drag you into courts of justice?
- 6 Do not they defame the noble name which hath been invoked upon you?
- 7 <If ye are indeed fulfilling a royal law, according to the scripture—
Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself><sup>g</sup>
Nobly are ye doing;
- 8 But <if ye are shewing respect of persons>
Sin are ye working, Being convicted by the law as transgressors!
- 9 For <a man who shall keep the whole law
But shall stumble in one thing>
Hath become for all things liable,—
- 10 For he that hath said—Do not commit adultery<sup>h</sup>
Hath also said—Do not commit murder,—
Now <if thou dost not commit adultery, But dost commit murder>
Thou hast become a transgressor of law.
- 11 So be speaking, and so doing,
As they who through means of a law of freedom are about to be judged;

13 For [the judgment] [will be] without mercy, unto him that hath shewed no mercy :
[Mercy] boasteth [over judgment].

14 What profit, my brethren,—
<If one should be saying he hath [faith], but hath not [works]>

Can his faith save him?

15 <If [a brother or sister] should be [naked], and coming short of the daily food,

16 And one from among you should say unto
them—

Withdraw in peace,

Be getting warmed and fed,

But should not give them the things needful for the body> What the profit?

17 [So] also [faith] <if it have not works> is [dead] [by itself].

18 But one will say—

[Thou] hast [faith],

And [I] have [works],<sup>a</sup>

Shew me thy faith apart from thy works,

And [I] [unto thee] will shew [by my works] [my faith].

19 Thou believest that God is [one]<sup>b</sup> :

Thou doest [well]—[Even the demons] believe and shudder!

20 But art thou willing to learn, O empty man!
That [faith] apart from works is [idle]?

21 <Abraham our father>

Was it not [by works] he was declared
righteous—

When he offered Isaac his son upon the altar<sup>d</sup>?

22 Thou seest that [his faith] had been working together with his works, And by his works did his faith become full-grown,—<sup>23</sup> And the scripture was fulfilled which saith—

And Abraham believed God, And it was reckoned to him as righteousness,<sup>e</sup>

And [God's friend] was he called<sup>f</sup> :

24 Ye see that—

[By works] a man is declared righteous,
And not by faith alone.

25 And <in like manner also, Rahab the harlot><sup>g</sup>

Was it not [by works] she was declared
righteous,

When she gave welcome unto the messengers,

And [by another way] urged them
forth?

26 <Just as<sup>h</sup> [the body] apart from spirit is [dead]>

[So, our faith also] [apart from works] is [dead].

3 Not [many teachers] become ye, my brethren, Knowing that [a severer sentence] shall ye
receive;

2 For [oft] are we stumbling, [one and all] :
<If anyone [in word] doth not stumble>

[The same] is a mature<sup>a</sup> man,

Able to curb even the whole body.

2 Now <if [the horses' bits] [into their mouths]
we thrust, to the end they may be yielding to us>

[Their whole body also] do we turn about.

4 Lo! [the ships also] <[large] as they are, and [by rough winds] driven along>

Are turned about by a very small helm, Whithersoever [the impulse of the steers-man] inclineth.

5 [So, also, the tongue] is [a little member] and yet [of great things] maketh boast.

Lo! [how small] a fire! kindleth [how great] a forest;

6 And [the tongue] is a fire,—

[As] [the world of unrighteousness] [the tongue] becometh fixed among our members,

That which defileth the whole body

And setteth on fire the wheel of our natural
life,

And is set on fire [by gehenna]<sup>i</sup>!

7 For [every nature]—

<Both of wild beasts and of birds,

Both of reptiles and of things in the sea>

Is to be tamed, and hath been tamed, [by the human nature];

8 But [the tongue] none of mankind can [tame],—

A restless mischief! Full of deadly poison!

9 [Therewith] are we blessing our Lord and Father,

And [therewith] we are cursing the men who [after the likeness of God]<sup>e</sup> have been brought into being!

10 [Out of the same mouth] come forth blessing and cursing!

[Not meet] my brethren, for [these things]
[thus] to be coming to pass!

11 Doth [the fountain] [out of the same opening] teem forth the sweet and the bitter?

12 Is it possible, my brethren, for [a fig-tree] to produce [olives], or [a vine] [figs]?

Neither can [salt] water yield [sweet].

13 Who is wise and well-instructed among you?

Let him shew, out of his comely behaviour,
his works, in meekness of wisdom.

14 But <if [bitter jealousy] ye have, and rivalry, in your hearts>

Be not boasting and shewing yourselves false against the truth!

15 This wisdom is not one [from above] coming down,

But is earthly, born of the soul,<sup>d</sup> demoniacal<sup>e</sup>!

16 For <where jealousy and rivalry are>

[There] are anarchy and every ignoble deed.

17 But [the wisdom from above] is—to be entreated, fraught with mercy and good fruits, without partiality, without hypocrisy.

18 And *||a harvest of righteousness, with peace||* is sown by them that make peace.

4 Whence wars and whence fightings among you?

Are they not from hence—due to<sup>a</sup> your pleasures which are taking the field in your members?

2 Ye covet—and have not,
Ye commit murder, and are jealous,—and cannot obtain,—

*||Ye fight and war||*

Ye have not—

5 Or think ye that *||in vain||* the scripture speaketh?

Is it *||for envying||* that the spirit which hath taken an abode within us doth crave?

6 Howbeit he giveth |greater| favour.

Wherefore it saith—

Whereas *||unto the lowly||* he giveth favour.<sup>b</sup>

7 Range yourselves, therefore, under God,

But withstand the adversary, And he will flee from you:

8 Draw near unto God, And he will draw near unto you.

Cleanse hands, sinners!

Chasten hearts, double souls!

9 Be miserable and lament and weep,

Let *||your laughter||* |into lamentation| be turned,

And |your joy| into |dejection|;

10 Be made low in presence of the Lord, And he will lift you up.

11 Be not speaking one against another, brethren!

<He that speaketh against a brother,

Or judgeth his brother>

Speaketh against law,

And judgeth law;

Now <if *||upon law||* thou art passing judgment>

Thou art not a doer of law, but a judge!

But who art *||thou||* that judgest thy neighbour?<sup>c</sup>

*||To-day or To-morrow||* we will journey unto this city here,

And will spend there a year,

And will trade and get gain,—

14 Men who are not versed in the morrow—Of what sort your life [will be]<sup>a</sup>;

For ye are *||a vapour||*—

|For a little| appearing,

*||Then||* just disappearing!

15 Instead of your saying—

<If *||the Lord||* be pleased><sup>b</sup> We shall both live, and do this or that;

16 Whereas [now] are ye boasting in your pretensions:—

*||All' boasting like this||* is |wicked|,

17 <To him, therefore, who knoweth how to be doing |a right thing|, And is not doing it> It is *||sin||* |unto him|. <sup>c</sup>

5 Come now! ye wealthy!

Weep ye, howling, for your hardships which are coming upon you:

2 *||Your wealth||* hath rotted,

And *||your garments||* have become |moth-eaten|,—

3 *||Your gold and silver||* have rusted away,

And *||their rust||* shall be |witness against you|,

And shall eat your flesh, <sup>d</sup> as fire!

Ye have laid up treasure in days of extremity:—<sup>e</sup>

4 Lo <the wage of the workers who have cut down your fields—

That which hath been kept back by you> is crying out;

And *||the outcries of them who reaped||*

|Into the ears of the Lord of hosts| have entered.<sup>f</sup>

5 Ye have luxuriated upon the land, and run riot,

Ye have pampered your hearts in a day of slaughter<sup>g</sup>;

6 Ye sentenced—ye murdered the Righteous one!

Is he not arraying himself against you?<sup>h</sup>

7 Be patient, therefore, brethren, until the Presence of the Lord:—

*||Lo! the husbandman||* awaiteth the precious' fruit of the earth,

Having patience for it, until it receive the early and the latter rain.<sup>i</sup>

8 Be *||ye also||* patient. Stablish your hearts,

Because *||the Presence of the Lord||* hath drawn near.

9 Be not sighing, brethren, one against another, lest ye be judged,—

Lo! *||the Judge||* |before the doors| is standing.

10 *||An example||* take ye, brethren, of distress and patience,—

The prophets who have spoken in the name of the Lord.

Of the endurance of Job ye have heard,

And [the end of the Lord] have ye seen,—

That [of much tender affection] is the Lord, [and full of compassion]<sup>b</sup>

12 But [before all things] my brethren, do not swear,—<sup>c</sup>

Either by heaven, or by the earth, or by any other oath;

But let your Yea be yea, And your Nay, nay,—

Lest [under judgment] ye fall.

13 [In distress] is any among you?

Let him pray;

[Cheerful] is any?

Let him strike the strings;

14 [Sick] is any among you?

Let him call unto him the elders of the assembly,

And let them pray for him, Anointing him with oil in the name [of the Lord];—

And the Lord will raise him up.

[Much] availeth the supplication of a righteous man, [when it is energised]<sup>a</sup>:

17 [Elijah]<sup>b</sup> was [a man] [affected like us];

And he earnestly prayed that there might be no moisture,<sup>c</sup>

And there was no moisture on the land [for three years and six months],—

18 And [again] he prayed,

And [the heaven] gave [rain],

And [the land] shot up her fruit.

19 My brethren!

<[If one among you be led to err from the truth, and one turn him back]>

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PETER.

1 [Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ]

<Unto the chosen pilgrims of the dispersion, throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,—

2 [Chosen] according to the fore-knowledge of God the Father, In sanctification of Spirit, Unto obedience and the sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ>

Favour unto you, and peace, be multiplied!

3 [Blessed] be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,

Who <according to his great mercy>

Hath regenerated<sup>a</sup> us unto a living hope,

Through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from among the dead,

4 Unto an inheritance, incorruptible and undefiled and unfading,

Reserved in the heavens for you<sup>b</sup> who [in God's power] are being guarded through faith unto salvation—

Ready to be revealed in the last ripe time<sup>c</sup>:

<sup>a</sup> Eph. ii. 5, 7.

<sup>b</sup> Or: "in a season of extremity."

6 Wherein ye exult,

Though, for a little, just now, if needful, put to grief in manifold temptations<sup>a</sup>

7 In order that the proving of your faith—<sup>b</sup>

Much more precious than of gold that perisheth even though [by means of fire] it is proved—

May be found unto praise and glory and honour in the revealing of Jesus Christ,—

8 Whom <not having seen> ye love,

On whom <though at present not looking, but believing> ye exult with joy unspeakable and filled with glory,

9 Being about to bear away the end of your faith—a salvation of souls:

10 [Concerning which salvation]

Prophets—who concerning the favour for you<sup>c</sup> did prophesy—sought out and searched out, 11 Searching into what particular<sup>d</sup> or what manner<sup>e</sup> of season the Spirit of

<sup>b</sup> Jas. i. 3.

Christ which was in them was pointing to, when witnessing beforehand as to—

The sufferings [for Christ],
And the glories [after these],—

- 12 Unto whom it was revealed—that, ||Not unto themselves, But unto us|| they were ministering them, Which things have [now] been announced unto you through them who have told you the good tidings with Holy Spirit sent forth from heaven:

Into which things messengers are coveting to obtain a nearer view.

- 13 Wherefore <girding up the loins of your mind>*

[Keeping sober]

Perseveringly<sup>b</sup> direct your hope unto the favour [being borne along to you] in the revealing of Jesus Christ:

- 14 [As obedient persons]<sup>c</sup> not configuring yourselves unto your former covetings in your ignorance:

- 15 But <according as he that hath called you is holy> do ||ye yourselves|| also become [holy in all manner of behaviour],—

- 16 Inasmuch as it is written—

[Holy] shall ye be,

Because ||I|| am holy.<sup>d</sup>

- 17 And <[as Father] ye are invoking him* who [without respect of persons] judgeth according to each man's work>

||With reverence, for the time of your sojourning|| behave ye;

- 18 Knowing that ||Not with corruptible things, with silver or gold|| have ye been redeemed<sup>e</sup> from your unmeaning<sup>f</sup> behaviour paternally handed down,<sup>g</sup> But with precious blood <as of a lamb, unblemished and unspotted> of an Anointed One,—

- 20 Foreknown, indeed, before the foundation of the world,

But made manifest at a last stage of the times, for the sake of you<sup>h</sup> who [through him] are faithful towards God,—Who raised him from among the dead, and glory to him gave, So that your faith and hope are directed towards God:

- 22 <[Having purified ||your souls|| by the obedience of the truth, unto unfeigned brotherly affection]>

||[From the heart] love [one another] earnestly;

- 23 Having been regenerated—
Not out of corruptible seed,
But incorruptible—

Through means of the word of a Living and Abiding God<sup>i</sup>;

- 24 Inasmuch as—

||All flesh|| is as grass,

And ||all the glory thereof|| as the flower of grass,—

The grass hath withered,

And the flower hath fallen out,

- 25 But the declaration of the Lord age-abidingly remaineth<sup>j</sup>;

And ||this|| is a declaration which in the joyful message hath been announced unto you.

- 2 <[Putting away, therefore, all vice and all deceit and hypocrisy and envyings and all detractions]><sup>k</sup>

- 2 ||As new-born babes|| [for the pure milk that is for the mind] eagerly crave,
That [thereby] ye may grow unto salvation:—

- 3 If ye have tasted for yourselves that ||gracious|| is the Lord,—<sup>l</sup>

- 4 <[Unto whom coming near, as unto a living stone—

[By men] indeed, rejected,<sup>m</sup>

But [with God] chosen, held in honour><sup>n</sup>

- 5 ||Yourselves also|| [as living stones] are being built up a spiritual house, for a holy priesthood,

To offer spiritual sacrifices, well-pleasing unto God through Jesus Christ;

- 6 Inasmuch as it is contained in scripture—

Lo! I lay in Zion an outmost corner stone, chosen, held in honour,

And ||he that resteth faith thereupon|| shall not be put to shame.<sup>o</sup>

- 7 ||Unto you||, then, is the honour—[unto you] who believe;

But [unto such as disbelieve],

||The stone which the builders rejected—

The same|| hath become head of the corner,<sup>p</sup>

And a stone to strike against,

And a rock to stumble over<sup>q</sup>;

Who stumble because [unto the word] they do not yield,—

Unto which also they have been appointed;

- 9 But ||ye|| are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people for a peculiar treasure,

That ||the excellences|| ye may tell forth<sup>r</sup> of him who [out of darkness] hath called you into his marvellous light:—

- 10 Who [at one time] were a No-people,

But [now] are a people of God,—

Who had not been enjoying mercy,

But [now] have received mercy.<sup>s</sup>

To abstain from fleshly covetings,

Such as take the field against the soul;

tion, for the Lord's sake,—
Whether unto a king, as one that protecteth,<sup>b</sup>
14 Or unto governors, as |through him| sent—
For vengeance on evil-doers,
But praise to such as do good ;

doing good|| to be putting to silence
|the ignorance of heedless men| :

But <if |doing good| and suffering, ye endure it>
||This|| is thankworthy with God.

||Unto you|| leaving behind a pattern,
That ye might follow in his steps :
22 Who did not ||a sin|| commit, Neither was deceit found in his mouth,—<sup>h</sup>

judgeth righteously,—

In order that we <from our sins getting away> ||In righteousness|| might
live,—

5 For ||so|| |at one time|, ||the holy' women also,

- that is asking you a reason<sup>a</sup> concerning [the hope within you],— Nevertheless, with meekness and reverence:
- 16 Having [a good conscience],
In order that <Wherein they speak against you> they may be put to shame who cast wanton insult on [your good behaviour in Christ].
- 17 For it is [better, as well-doers] <[if it should please the pleasure of God> to be suffering, than [as evil-doers]:
- 18 Because [Christ also] [once for all, concerning sins] died,—<sup>b</sup> Just in behalf of unjust,—
In order that he might introduce us<sup>c</sup> unto God<sup>d</sup>;
Being put to death, indeed, in flesh,
But made alive<sup>e</sup> in spirit,—
- 19 In which <even unto the spirits in prison> he went and proclaimed,—
- 20 [Spirits] unyielding at one time,
When the long-suffering of God was holding forth a welcome in the days of Noah.
There being in preparation an ark—[Going] into which [a few<sup>f</sup> that is eight<sup>g</sup> souls] were brought safely through by means of water,—
- 21 Which [water] [in manner corresponding]<sup>h</sup> doth [now] save [you also]— even immersion,—Not a putting away of the filth of the flesh, But the request unto God [for a good conscience], Through the resurrection of Jesus Christ,—<sup>i</sup> Who is on the right hand of God,<sup>k</sup> Having gone into heaven, [Messengers and authorities and powers] having been made subject unto him.
- 4 <[Christ] then, having suffered in flesh>
Do [ye also] [with the same<sup>l</sup> purpose] arm
yourselves,—
Because [he that hath suffered in flesh] hath done with sins,—<sup>m</sup>
- 2 To the end that <no longer in men's covet-ings, but in God's will> ye may live [the still remaining<sup>n</sup> time].
- 3 For [sufficient] is the by-gone time—to have wrought out [the will of the
nations],
Having gone on in wanton ways, covet-ings, wine-drinkings, revellings, drinking-bouts, and impious idolatries:—
- 4 Wherein they are taken by surprise that ye run not with them into the same<sup>o</sup> overflow of riotous excess,—[uttering defamation]:
- 5 Who shall render an account unto him who is holding in readiness to judge living and dead;

- 6 For [unto this end] [even unto the dead]
was the glad-message delivered,—
In order that they might be judged, indeed, according to men in flesh,
But might live according to God in spirit.
- 7 But [the end of all<sup>p</sup> things] hath drawn near:—
Be of sound mind, therefore, and be sober for prayers;
- 8 [Before all things] keeping [fervent] your love [among yourselves],
Because [love] covereth a multitude of sins<sup>q</sup>;
- 9 Shewing hospitality one to another without murmuring,—
- 10 [Each one] <according as he hath received a gift of favour> [unto one another] ministering the same,
As careful<sup>r</sup> stewards of the manifold<sup>s</sup> favour of God:
- 11 <[If any one speaketh]> as oracles of God, <[If any one ministereth]> as of strength which [God] supplieth,—
That [in all things] God may be glorified through Jesus Christ,— Unto whom are the glory and the dominion, unto the ages of ages. Amen!
- 12 Beloved! be not held in surprise by the burning among<sup>t</sup> you, which [for putting you to the proof] is befalling you,
As though a [surprising] thing were happening unto you;
- 13 But <in so far as ye are taking fellowship in the Christ's sufferings> rejoice!
In order that [in the revealing of his glory also] ye may rejoice with exultation:
- 14 <[If ye are being reproached in the name of Christ<sup>u</sup>] happy [are ye]!
Because <the Spirit [of the glory] and the [Spirit] of God> unto you<sup>v</sup> is bringing rest.<sup>w</sup>
- 15 For let [none of you] be suffering as a murderer, or a thief, or an evil-doer, or as one prying into other men's affairs;
- 16 But <[if as a Christian] let him not be ashamed, but be glorifying God in this name.
- 17 For it is the<sup>x</sup> ripe time for the judgment to begin with<sup>y</sup> the house of God<sup>z</sup>;
But <[if first with<sup>aa</sup> us]> what shall be the end of them who yield not unto the glad-message of God?<sup>ab</sup>
- 18 And <[if the righteous man] is [with difficulty]
saved>
Where then shall [the ungodly and sinful man] appear?<sup>ac</sup>
- 19 So then, let [them who are even suffering, according to the will of God]
[Unto a faithful Creator] be committing

- <sup>3</sup> As [all things] suited for life and godliness his divine' power [unto us] hath given,
Through the personal knowledge of him that hath called us through glory and excellence,—<sup>c</sup>
- <sup>4</sup> Through which [his precious' and very great] promises [have] [unto us] been given,
In order that [through these] ye might become sharers' in a divine' nature—

<sup>a</sup> Or (WH): "Symeon."

<sup>c</sup> Or (WH): "by his own glory, &c."

- Escaping the corruption that is in the world by coveting.
- <sup>5</sup> And [for this very reason also]— <Adding, on your part, [all diligence]>
Supply [in your faith] [excellence],
And [in your excellence] [knowledge],
- <sup>6</sup> And [in your knowledge] [self-control],
And [in your self-control] [endurance],
And [in your endurance] [godliness],
- <sup>7</sup> And [in your godliness] [brotherly affection],
And [in your brotherly affection] [love].
- <sup>8</sup> <[These things] [unto you] belonging and abounding> [Neither idle nor unfruitful] constitute you, regarding the personal knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ;
- <sup>9</sup> For [he to whom these things are not present] is [blind], seeing only what is near,
Having come [to forget] his purification from his old' sins.

<sup>10</sup> Wherefore [all the more] brethren, give diligence to be making [firm] [your calling and election];

For [these things] doing, in nowise shall ye stumble at any time,

<sup>11</sup> For [thus] shall richly be further supplied unto you—the entrance into the age-abiding<sup>a</sup> kingdom<sup>b</sup> of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

<sup>12</sup> Wherefore, I shall be certain to be [always] putting you in remembrance concerning these things,—

Although, indeed, ye know them, and have become confirmed in the present<sup>c</sup> truth;

[As long as I am in this<sup>d</sup> tent]<sup>e</sup> to be stirring you up by putting you in remembrance,

<sup>14</sup> Knowing that [speedy] is the putting off of my tent—

Even as [our Lord Jesus Christ also] made clear to me<sup>d</sup> :

<sup>15</sup> Yea, I will give diligence also, that [at every time] ye may be able [after my own<sup>e</sup> departure] to be keeping up the remembrance of [these very things].

<sup>16</sup> For <not as having followed [cleverly devised stories] made we known unto you the power and presence<sup>e</sup> of our Lord Jesus Christ,

But as having been made [spectators] of his<sup>f</sup> majesty.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>17</sup> For <when he received from God the Father honour and glory,

[A voice] being borne to him such as this, by the magnificent<sup>g</sup> glory—

[My Son, the beloved] is [this], in whom [I] delight>

<sup>18</sup> [Even this<sup>h</sup> voice] [we] heard, when [out of heaven] it was borne, We being [with him] in the holy<sup>i</sup> mount.

<sup>19</sup> And we have [more firm] the prophetic<sup>j</sup> word;—

Whereunto ye are doing [well] to take heed,—

As unto a lamp shining in a dusky<sup>k</sup> place,—

Until [day] shall dawn, and [a day-star] shall arise in your hearts:—

<sup>20</sup> [Of this] first<sup>l</sup> taking note—
That [no<sup>m</sup> prophecy of scripture] becometh [self-solving];

<sup>21</sup> For not [by will of man] was prophecy brought in [at any time],

But <as [by Holy Spirit] they were borne along> spake [men] from God.

<sup>2</sup> But there arose false-prophets<sup>n</sup> also among the people,

As [among you also] there shall be [false-teachers],—

Men who will stealthily bring in destructive parties,

[Even the Master that bought<sup>o</sup> them] denying,<sup>a</sup>

Bringing upon themselves speedy<sup>p</sup> destruction;

<sup>2</sup> And [many] will follow out their<sup>q</sup> wanton ways,—

By reason of whom [the way of truth] will be defamed,<sup>b</sup>

<sup>3</sup> And [in greed, with forged<sup>r</sup> words] will they [of you] [make merchandise]:

For whom [the sentence from of old] is not idle,

And [their destruction] doth not slumber.

But [to pits of gloom] consigning them, in the lowest<sup>t</sup> hades] delivered them up to be kept [unto judgment],—

<sup>5</sup> And [an ancient<sup>u</sup> world] spared not, But [with seven others] preserved [Noah]

a proclaimer [of righteousness],

[A flood, upon a world of ungodly persons] letting loose,—

<sup>6</sup> And [the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah]<sup>v</sup> reducing to ashes, he condemned,

[An example of such as should be ungodly having set forth],—

<sup>7</sup> And [righteous<sup>w</sup> Lot, when getting worn out by the behaviour of them who were impious in wantonness] he rescued—

<sup>8</sup> For [in seeing and hearing, since he dwelt right among them, [as a righteous man] he used to torment his soul, day by day, with their lawless<sup>x</sup> deeds>—

<sup>9</sup> [Then] the Lord knoweth how to rescue [the godly out of trial];

But to keep [the unrighteous unto a day of judgment to be punished];—

<sup>10</sup> [Most of all] however, them who go their way [after the flesh,<sup>y</sup> with a coveting of defilement] and who despise [lordship],—

Daring! wilful!

[Before dignitaries] they tremble not,

Defaming,<sup>z</sup> where [messengers]† <though [greater in might and power] are not bringing against them [before the Lord]

a defamatory<sup>aa</sup> accusation,—

<As unreasoning<sup>ab</sup> creatures<sup>b</sup> that have been bred as being [by nature] for capture and destruction>

[In the things they are ignorant of] uttering defamation,

[In their spoiling] shall also be made a spoil,—

<sup>13</sup> Doing wrong themselves, for a reward of wrong,

Accounting [a delight] their day-time<sup>ac</sup> delicacy,

Spots<sup>ad</sup> and blemishes, indulging in delicacies

Enticing unstable souls,
Having [a heart trained in greed],—
Children of a curse,—
- 15 Forsaking a straight' path, they have gone astray,
Following out the way of Balaam [son] of Beor,
Who loved [a reward of wrong],

For <by whom one hath been defeated> [by the same] hath he become enslaved,—
- 20 For <[if] having escaped from the defilements of the world by a personal knowledge of the<sup>e</sup> Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ] but [by the same] having again become entangled, they are defeated>
The [last] state hath become, for them, worse' than [the first];<sup>f</sup>
- 21 For [better] had it been for them—
Not to have obtained a personal knowledge of the way of righteousness,
Than [having obtained such knowledge] to turn back out of the holy' commandment delivered unto them.
- 22 There hath befallen them the thing [spoken of] in the true' proverb—
[A dog] turning back unto his own' vomit,<sup>g</sup>
And—
[A sow, as soon as washed] unto wallowing in mire.
- 3 [This, already] beloved, is the second' letter I am writing unto you;
And, in these letters, I am stirring up—by way of calling to remembrance—your uncorrupted' mind.
To remember the fore-spoken' declarations<sup>h</sup> made by the holy' prophets, and the commandment of the Lord and Saviour [by your apostles].

Where is the promise of his presence?

For &lt;[since the fathers' fell asleep]&gt; [all things] thus' remain, from the beginning of creation.

<sup>b</sup> For this they [wilfully] forget—

That there were [heavens] from of old, and [an earth] [on account of water and by means of water] compacted [by God's word],—

<sup>c</sup> By which means [the world that then' was] [with water' being flooded] perished;<sup>d</sup> While [the heavens and the earth that now' are]

[By the same' word] have been stored with fire,

Being kept unto the day of judgment and destruction of the ungodly' men.<sup>b</sup><sup>e</sup> But [this one' thing] forget not, beloved,—
That [one day, with the Lord] is as a thousand' years,And [a thousand years] as one day.<sup>c</sup><sup>f</sup> The Lord is [not slack] concerning his promise.
As some count' [slackness];But is long-suffering with regard to you,
Not being minded that any should perish,

But that [all] [unto repentance] should come.

<sup>g</sup> Howbeit the day of the Lord will be here [as a thief],—<sup>d</sup>

In which [the heavens] [with a rushing noise] will pass away,

While [elements] [becoming intensely hot] will be dissolved,

And [earth, and the works therein] will be discovered.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF JOHN.

- 1 <That which was from the beginning,*
Which we have heard,
Which we have seen with our eyes,
Which we for ourselves gazed upon, and our hands did handle,
Concerning the Word of Life,—
2 And ||the Life|| was made manifest,<sup>b</sup> and we have seen, and are bearing witness, and announcing unto you,
||The Age-abiding<sup>c</sup> Life||,
Which, indeed,<sup>d</sup> was with the Father, and was made manifest unto us>
- 3 ||That which we have seen and heard|| are we announcing [even unto you], in order that ||ye too|| may have fellowship with us, and ||our own fellowship also|| may be with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ.
- 4 And ||these things|| are we' writing', in order that ||our<sup>e</sup> joy|| may be made full.<sup>f</sup>
- 5 And this is the message which we have heard from him, and are reporting unto you,—
That ||God|| is |light|,
And in him is ||no darkness at all||.
- 6 <If we say—
We have |fellowship| with him!
and |in darkness| are walking> we are dealing falsely, and not doing the truth; <sup>7</sup> whereas <if |in the light| we are walking, as ||he|| is in the light> we have |fellowship one with another|, and ||the blood of Jesus his Son|| is cleansing us from all' sin.<sup>g</sup>
- <sup>8</sup> <If we say—
||Sin|| have we none!>
we are deceiving ||ourselves||, and |the truth| is not in us. <sup>9</sup> <If we are confessing our sins> |faithful| is he and |righteous|, that he should forgive us our sins, and cleanse us from all' unrighteousness. <sup>10</sup> <If we say—
We have not sinned!>

- |false| are we making |him|, and |his word| is not in us. <sup>2</sup> My dear children! |these things| am I writing unto you, in order that ye may not be committing sin. And <if anyone should commit sin> [an Advocate] have we |with the Father|, ||Jesus Christ, the Righteous||; <sup>2</sup> and ||he|| is |a propitiation| concerning<sup>a</sup> our sins,—<sup>b</sup> and |not concerning<sup>a</sup> our own only| but ||also concerning those of the whole' world||. <sup>3</sup> And ||hereby|| perceive we, that we understand him,—if |his commandments| we are keeping. <sup>4</sup> <He that saith—

- I understand him!
and |his commandments| is not keeping> is |false|, and ||in him|| the truth is not!
- 5 <But whosoever may be keeping his' word> ||of a truth|| |in this man| the love of God' hath been made perfect.<sup>c</sup> |Hereby| perceive we, that |in him| we are. <sup>6</sup> <He that saith, that |in him| he abideth> ought ||just as He' walked|| |himself also| to be walking.

- 7 Beloved! ||no new commandment|| am I writing unto you; but an old commandment, which ye have been holding from the beginning: The old commandment is the word which ye have heard. <sup>8</sup> ||Again|| |a new commandment|<sup>d</sup> am I writing unto you,—which thing is true,<sup>e</sup> in him and in you, because |the darkness| is passing away, and |the real light| already' is shining.
- 9 <He that saith he is |in the light| and hateth |his brother|> is |in the darkness|, |until even now|! <sup>10</sup> <He that loveth his brother> is abiding |in the light|, and ||cause of stumbling|| |in him| is there none! <sup>11</sup> Whereas <he that hateth his brother> in the darkness |dwelleth|,<sup>f</sup> and in the darkness |walketh|; and knoweth not whither he is drifting, because the [darkness] hath blinded his eyes.

12 I write unto you, dear children,
Because your sins have been forgiven you, for the sake of his name :

13 I write unto you, fathers,
Because ye understand him who was from the beginning :

I write unto you, young men,
Because ye have overcome the wicked one.

I have written unto you, little children,
Because ye understand the Father :

14 I have written unto you, fathers,
Because ye understand him who was from the beginning :

I have written you, young men,
Because ye are [strong] ;
And the word of God [within you] abideth,
And ye have overcome the wicked one.

15 Be not loving the world,
Nor yet the things that are in the world :
< If anyone be loving the world >
The love of the Father is not in him.

16 Because < all' that is in the world—
The coveting of the flesh,
The coveting of the eyes,
And the vain grandeur of life—>

Is not of the Father, but is [of the world] ;

17 And [the world] passeth away, and the coveting [thereof],
But [he that doeth the will of God] endureth unto times age-abiding.

18 Little children ! it is [the<sup>a</sup> last hour] ;
And < just as ye have heard that [an antichrist]<sup>b</sup> is coming >

[Even now] antichrists have become [many],
Whence ye perceive that it is [the<sup>a</sup> last hour] :

19 [From among us] they went out,
But they were not of us ;
For < if [of us] they had been >
They would in that case have abode with' us ;
But [it came to pass] in order that they might be made manifest,<sup>c</sup>
Because [all] are not of' us.<sup>c</sup>

20 And [ye] have [an anointing] from the Holy One,— [Ye all] know :<sup>d</sup>

21 I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth,
But because ye know it,
And because [no' falsehood] is [of the truth].

22 [Who] is the False One ;—
Save he that denieth that [Jesus] is the Christ ?

[The same] is the Antichrist,—<sup>b</sup>

He that denieth the Father and the Son.

23 < Whosoever denieth the Son >
Neither hath he [the Father] ;
< He that confesseth the Son >
Hath [the Father also].<sup>e</sup>

24 < As for you >

[What ye have heard from the beginning]
[In you] let it abide.

< If [in you] shall abide, that which [from the beginning] ye have heard > [Ye also] [in the Son and [in] the Father] shall abide.

25 And [this] is the promise, which he hath promised unto us,—
The age-abiding life.

26 [These things] have I written unto you, concerning them who would lead you astray.

27 And < as for you >

[The anointing which ye have received from him] abideth in you, and ye have [no need] that anyone be teaching you ;
But < as [his] anointing] is teaching you,
And is [true], and is no falsehood >
[Even just as it hath taught you]
Abide ye in him.

28 And [now], dear children, abide ye in him,
In order that < if he be made manifest > we may have boldness, and not be shamed away from him by<sup>a</sup> his presence.<sup>b</sup>

29 < If ye know that he is [righteous] >
Ye perceive that—
[Whosoever doeth righteousness] [of him] hath been born.

3 Behold [what manner' of love] the Father hath bestowed upon us—

That [children of God] we should be called,—
And such we are !

[Therefore] the world understandeth us not,
Because it understood not him.<sup>c</sup>

2 Beloved ! [now] are we [children of God] ;
And [not yet] hath it been made manifest [what we shall be],—
We know that < if it<sup>d</sup> should be made manifest >

[Like unto him] shall we be,
Because we shall see him [just as he is].

3 And < whosoever hath this hope on him >
Is purifying himself, just as [He] is [pure].

4 < Whosoever is committing sin >
[Lawlessness also] is committing,
And [sin] is' [lawlessness] ;

5 And ye know, that [He] was made manifest—
In order that [our sins] he should take away,<sup>e</sup>
And [sin] [in him] is there none.

6 < Whosoever [in him] doth abide >
Is not sinning :
< Whosoever is sinning >
Hath not seen him, and doth not understand him.<sup>f</sup>

7 Dear children ! let [no one] lead you astray !
< He that is doing righteousness > is' [righteous],
Just as [He] is [righteous] :

<sup>f</sup> 3 Jn. 11.

- 8 <He that is committing sin> is [of the adversary],
Because [from the beginning] the adversary is sinning.
||To this end|| was the Son of God made manifest,
In order that he might undo<sup>a</sup> the works of the adversary.
- 9 <Whosoever hath been born of God> is not committing [sin],
Because ||a seed of him|| [within him] abideth;
And he cannot be committing<sup>b</sup> sin,
Because [of God] hath he been born.
- 10 ||Herein|| are [manifest] the children of God, and the children of the adversary:
<Whosoever is not doing righteousness> is not<sup>c</sup> of God,
Nor yet he that is not loving his brother.
- 11 Because ||this|| is the message which ye have heard from the beginning—
That we should be loving one another,—
- 12 Not just as ||Cain|| was [of the wicked one] and slew his brother!
And [for what cause] slew he him?
Because ||his works|| were [wicked],
Whereas ||those of his brother|| were [righteous].
- 13 Be not marvelling, brethren, if [the world] is hating you<sup>e</sup>:
14 ||We|| know, that we have passed over out of death into life,
Because we love the brethren:
||He that loveth not||<sup>d</sup> abideth in death.
- 15 ||Whosoever is hating his brother|| is [a murderer];
And ye know that ||no' murderer|| hath life age-during [within him abiding].
- 16 ||Hereby||<sup>e</sup> have we come to understand love:
In that ||He|| [for us] his life<sup>f</sup> laid down;
And ||we|| ought [for the brethren] our lives<sup>g</sup> to lay down.
- 17 But <whoso hath this world's goods,
And beholdeth his brother having [need],
And shutteth up his tender affections from him>
||How|| is [the love of God] abiding in him?<sup>h</sup>
- 18 Dear children!
Let us not be loving in word, nor yet with the tongue,
But in deed<sup>b</sup> and truth.
- 19 ||Hereby|| shall we get to know, that [of the truth] we are,
And [before him] shall persuade our heart;
20 Because<sup>i</sup> <if our own heart condemn us>
[Greater] is God, than our heart, and perceiveth all things.
- 21 Beloved! <if our heart be not condemning us> [Boldness] have we, towards God<sup>k</sup>;
- 22 And [whatsoever we are asking] we are receiving from him,
Because [his commandments] are we keeping,
And [the things that are pleasing before him] are we doing.
- 23 And ||this|| is his commandment,—
That we should believe<sup>a</sup> in the name of his Son Jesus Christ,
And be loving one another—
Just as he gave a commandment unto us<sup>c</sup>.
- 24 And ||he that keepeth his commandments|| [In him] abideth,
And [he] in him.
And ||hereby|| perceive we,
That he abideth in us,
By reason of the Spirit which [unto us] he hath given.
- 4 Beloved! [not in every' spirit] believe ye,
But test the spirits, whether they are [of God];
Because ||many' false prophets|| have gone out into the world.
- 2 ||Hereby|| do ye perceive the Spirit of God:—
<Every' spirit that confesseth Jesus Christ as having come [in flesh]> Is [of God];
- 3 And <every' spirit that doth not confess<sup>b</sup> Jesus>
[Of God] is not<sup>c</sup>.
And ||this|| is the [spirit] of the Antichrist,
Touching which ye have heard that it cometh:
||Even now|| is it [in the world] ||already||.
- 4 ||Ye|| are [of God], dear children, and have overcome them;
Because [greater] is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.
- 5 ||They|| are [of the world]:
||For this cause|| [of the world] they speak,
And the world [unto them] doth hearken.
- 6 ||We|| are [of God]:
||He that is getting to understand God|| hearkeneth unto us,—
||Whoso is not of God|| hearkeneth not unto us:
||From this|| perceive we—
The spirit of truth,
And the spirit of error.
- 7 Beloved! let us be loving one another;
Because ||love|| is [of God],
And ||whosoever loveth|| [Of God] hath been born,
And is getting to understand God:
- 8 ||He that doth not love||
Doth not understand God,
Because ||God|| is' [love].
- 9 ||Herein|| hath the love of God in<sup>e</sup> us [been made manifest],
That ||his only-begotten Son|| God sent into the world,
In order that we might live through him.

abideth,
And [God] in him' [abideth].
- 27 ¶Herein hath love with us ¶been made perfect],—
In order that [boldness] we might have in the day of judging,—
In that < just as ¶He is >
¶We also are ¶in this world].
- 28 ¶Fear existeth not ¶in love],
But [perfect] love casteth fear [outside];
Because [fear] hath [correction]<sup>d</sup>;
¶He that feareth hath not been made perfect ¶in love].
- 29 ¶We love, because ¶he first loved us;—
- 30 < If one should say I love God and should be hating [his brother] > [false] is he;
For < he that doth not love his brother [whom he hath seen] > ¶God, whom he hath not seen he cannot'
love <sup>e</sup> !
- 21 And ¶this commandment have we from him,—
That ¶he who loveth God love [his brother
also].
- 5 < Whosoever believeth that [Jesus] is the Christ >
¶Of God hath been born;
And < whosoever loveth him that begat >
Loveth him that hath been begotten of him.
- 2 < ¶Hereby perceive we, that we love the children of God >
As soon as ¶God we love,
And ¶his commandments we are doing.
- 3 For ¶this is the love of God—

<sup>a</sup> Chap. ii. 2.<sup>b</sup> As in Jn. i. 18, strongly emphatic: God, absolutely.<sup>c</sup> Chap. i. 1; Jn. i. 14.<sup>d</sup> NB: same word as in Mt. xxv. 46.
<sup>e</sup> Or: "how can he love?"

That ¶his commandments we be keeping,<sup>a</sup>
And ¶his commandments are not [burdensome];

- 4 Because ¶whatsoever hath been born of God
overcometh the world;
And ¶this is the victory that hath overcome the world—
¶Our faith].

5 [And] who is he that overcometh the
world,

Save he that believeth

That [Jesus] is the Son of God?

6 ¶This is he that came through means of water and blood,

¶Jesus Christ]:

Not [by the water] only,

But [by the water and by the blood],—

And ¶the Spirit it is, that is bearing witness,

Because ¶the Spirit is the truth.

7 Because ¶three are they who are bearing witness—

8 The Spirit, and the Water, and the Blood;

And ¶the three are [witnesses] unto one
thing].

9 < If ¶the witness of men we receive >

¶The witness of God is [greater].

Because ¶this is the witness of God—

In that he hath borne witness concerning his Son,—

10 < He that believeth on the Son of God >

Hath the witness [within himself] <sup>b</sup>;

< He that doth not believe God > <sup>c</sup>

[False] hath made him,—

Because he hath not believed on the witness which [God] hath witnessed [concerning his Son]—

11 And ¶this is the witness:—

That ¶life age-abiding<sup>d</sup> hath God given unto us,

And ¶this life is [in his Son];

12 ¶He that hath the Son hath [the life],—

¶He that hath not the Son of God [hath not] the life.

13 ¶These things have I written unto you—

In order that ye may know that ye have [Life
Age-abiding]—

¶Unto you who believe on the name of the Son of God].

14 And ¶this is the boldness which we have towards him:

That < if [anything] we ask [according to his will] >

He doth hearken unto us.

15 And < if we know that he doth hearken unto us,

[Whatsoever we ask] >

We know that we have the things asked,

Which we have asked of him,

16 < If one should see his brother committing a sin,<sup>e</sup> [Not unto death] >

<sup>a</sup> Jn. xv. 14.<sup>b</sup> Or (WH): "in him."<sup>c</sup> WH: "God," probably<sup>a</sup> a primitive interpolation.<sup>d</sup> Ap: "Age-abiding."<sup>e</sup> MI: "sinning a sin."

He shall ask, and He will grant unto him life,—

¶For them who are sinning, not unto death||.

There |is| a sin, unto death:

¶Not concerning that|| am I saying, that he should make request.

17 ¶All' unrighteousness|| is |sin|,
And there |is| a sin |not unto death|.

18 We know that ||whosoever' hath been born of God||

Is not committing sin,—

Nay <he that hath been born of God>

He keepeth him,*

* Or: "Nay! <as touching him that was ever born of God> He keepeth him," &c.

And ||the wicked one|| doth not touch him.

19 We know that |of God| are we;

And ||the whole world|| |in the wicked one| is lying.

20 We know, moreover, that |the Son of God| hath come,

And hath given us insight,

So that we are getting to understand ||him that is Real||,—

And we are in' him that is Real,

¶In his Son Jesus Christ||.

¶This|| is the Real' God, and life age-abiding.*

21 Dear children!

Guard yourselves from idols.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF JOHN.

1 ¶The Elder|| <unto an elect lady and her children, whom I love in truth; and not ||I|| alone, but all' those also who understand the truth,—<sup>2</sup> for the sake of the truth that abideth in us, and |with us| shall be unto times age-abiding>* <sup>3</sup> Favour, mercy, peace shall be with us, from God the Father, and from Jesus Christ the Son of the Father, in truth and love.

4 I rejoiced exceedingly,<sup>b</sup> in that I had found |from among thy children| such as were walking in truth, even as |a commandment| we received from the Father. <sup>5</sup> And |now| I request thee, lady, not as writing |a new commandment|<sup>c</sup> unto thee, but one which we were holding from the beginning—

That we should be loving one another.

6 And ||this|| is love, that we should be walking according to his commandments: ||This|| is |the commandment|, even as ye heard from the beginning, that |therein| ye should be walking.

* Ap: "Age-abiding."

7 Because ||many' deceivers|| have gone out into the world,* they who do not confess Jesus Christ coming in flesh: ||This|| is the deceiver and the antichrist.

8 Be taking heed unto yourselves, lest ye lose what things we earned,—but ||a full reward|| ye may duly receive. <sup>9</sup> <Every' one that taketh a lead, and abideth not in the teaching of Christ> hath not |God|: <he that abideth in the teaching> ||the same|| hath |both the Father and the Son|.

<sup>10</sup> <If anyone cometh unto you and |this' teaching| doth not bring> be not receiving him home, and ||Joy to thee!|| do not say; <sup>11</sup> for ||he that biddeth him rejoice|| hath fellowship with his wicked works.

12 <Though I had many things |unto you| to write> I was not minded [to say them] with paper and ink<sup>b</sup>; but I hope to come unto you, and |mouth to mouth| to talk,—that your joy may be made full.<sup>c</sup>

13 The children of thy chosen sister salute thee.

THE THIRD EPISTLE OF JOHN.

<sup>11</sup> Beloved! be not thou imitating what is bad, but what is good. ¶He that doeth good¶ is [of God]: ¶he that doeth what is bad¶ hath not seen God.

<sup>12</sup> ¶Unto Demetrius¶ hath witness been borne by all and by the truth itself; howbeit [we also] bear witness, and thou knowest that [our witness] is [true].<sup>a</sup>

<sup>13</sup> ¶Many things¶ had I to write unto thee,—but I am unwilling [with ink and pen]<sup>b</sup> to be writing; <sup>14</sup> I hope, however, [straightway] to see thee, and [mouth to mouth] will we talk.

Peace be unto thee. The friends salute thee. Salute the friends by name.

<sup>10</sup> But ||these|| <whatsoever things, indeed, they know not> they defame<sup>g</sup>; but <whatsoever things, naturally, like the irrational creatures, they well understand> |by these| are they ||bringing themselves to ruin||. <sup>11</sup> Alas for them! because—

|In the way of Cain|<sup>h</sup> have they gone,

THE REVELATION.

1 The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave to him, to point out unto his servants the things which must needs come to pass<sup>a</sup> with speed,—<sup>b</sup> and he shewed them by signs, sending through his messenger,<sup>c</sup> unto his servant John;<sup>d</sup> who bare witness as to the word of God, and the witness of Jesus Christ,—<sup>e</sup> whatsoever things he saw|.

And [the seven lamps] are [seven] assemblies<sup>a</sup>

2 <Unto the messenger of the assembly [in Ephesus]> write:—

3 I know<sup>d</sup> thy works, and thy toil, and endurance, and that thou canst not bear bad men, and thou hast tried them who were affirming themselves to be apostles, and they were not, and hast found them false; <sup>3</sup> and thou hast [endurance], and hast borne for the sake of my name, and hast not grown weary.

4 Nevertheless, I have against thee,<sup>e</sup> that [thy first love] thou hast left.

5 Remember, therefore, whence thou hast fallen, and repent, and do [thy first works]; [otherwise] I come unto thee, and will remove thy lamp out of its place, [except thou repent].

6 But [this] thou hast, that thou hatest the works of the Nicolaitanes,<sup>f</sup> which [I also] hate.

7 [He that hath an ear] let him hear what [the Spirit] is saying unto the assemblies.<sup>g</sup>

[Unto him that overcometh]—I will give [unto him] to eat of the tree of life, which is in the paradise of God.<sup>h</sup>

8 And <unto the messenger of the assembly [in Smyrna]> write:—

[These things] saith the first and the last,<sup>i</sup> who became dead, and lived<sup>j</sup>:

9 I know thy tribulation, and destitution, [nevertheless] thou art [rich], and the profane speech from among them who affirm that they themselves are [Jews], and they are not, but a synagogue of Satan.

10 Do not fear the things which thou art about to suffer. Lo! the adversary is about to cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried,<sup>k</sup> and may<sup>l</sup> have tribulation ten days. Become thou faithful until death, and I will give thee the crown of life.

11 [He that hath an ear] let him hear what [the Spirit] is saying unto the assemblies.

[He that overcometh] shall in nowise be injured by reason of the second death.<sup>m</sup>

12 And <unto the messenger of the assembly [in Pergamum]> write:—

[These things] saith he that hath the sharp, two-edged sword<sup>n</sup>:

13 I know where thou dwellest, where [the throne of Satan] is; and thou art holding fast my name, and didst not deny my faith, even in the days of Antipas, my witness, my<sup>a</sup> faithful one, who was killed near you, where [Satan] dwelleth.

14 Nevertheless, I have against thee, a few things,—that thou hast there, such as hold fast the teaching of Balaam,—<sup>b</sup> who went on to teach Balak to throw a cause of stumbling before the sons of Israel, to eat idol-sacrifices and to commit lewdness<sup>c</sup>: <sup>15</sup> [thus] even [thou] hast such as hold fast the teaching of the Nicolaitanes [in like manner].

16 Repent, therefore, [otherwise] I come unto thee speedily,—and will fight against them, with the sword of my mouth.

17 [He that hath an ear] let him hear what [the Spirit] is saying unto the assemblies.

[Unto him that overcometh] I will give [unto him] of the hidden manna,<sup>d</sup> and I will give unto him a white stone, and [upon the stone] a new name<sup>e</sup> written, which [no one] knoweth, save he that receiveth it.

18 And <unto the messenger of the assembly [in Thyatira]> write:—

[These things] saith the Son of God, who hath his eyes like a flame of fire, and his feet like unto glowing copper<sup>f</sup>:

19 I know thy works, and thy love, and faith, and ministry, and endurance,—and that [thy last works] are more than the first.

20 Nevertheless, I have against thee, that thou sufferest the woman<sup>g</sup> Jezebel, she who calleth herself a prophetess, and is teaching and leading astray my own<sup>h</sup> servants to commit lewdness and to eat idol-sacrifices<sup>i</sup>; and I gave her time, that she might repent, and she willeth not to repent out of her lewdness. <sup>21</sup> Lo! I cast her into a bed, and them who are committing adultery with her, into great tribulation,—except they repent out of her works; <sup>22</sup> and [her children] will I slay with death;—and all<sup>j</sup> the assemblies shall get to know, that [I] am he that searcheth reins and hearts, and will give unto you, each one, according to your works.<sup>k</sup>

24 But [unto you] I say,—the rest who are in Thyatira <as many as have not this teaching, such as have not come to know the deep things of Satan, as they say> I do not cast upon you any other<sup>l</sup> burden; <sup>25</sup> [nevertheless] <what ye have> hold fast, till I shall have come.

26 And [he that overcometh, and keepeth throughout my works] I will [give unto him] authority over the nations; <sup>27</sup> and he shall shepherd them with a sceptre of iron,—as [vessels of earthenware] are dashed in pieces:—<sup>1</sup> as [I also] have received from my Father. <sup>28</sup> And I will give unto him the morning star.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>29</sup> ||He that hath an ear|| let him hear what |the Spirit| is saying unto the assemblies.

3 And <unto the messenger of the assembly |in Sardis|> write:—

||These things|| saith he that hath the seven<sup>a</sup> Spirits of God,<sup>b</sup> and the seven<sup>c</sup> stars<sup>c</sup>:

I know thy works,—that |a name| thou hast, that thou art living, and art |dead|.

<sup>2</sup> Become thou watchful, and strengthen the things that remain, that were about to die; for I have not found thy works fulfilled before my God. <sup>3</sup> Remember, therefore, how thou hast received, and didst hear, and keep it and repent. <If then thou shalt not watch> I will have come as a thief<sup>d</sup> and in nowise shalt thou get to know |during what sort<sup>e</sup> of hour| I will have come upon thee.

<sup>4</sup> Nevertheless| thou hast a few<sup>f</sup> names, in Sardis, which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white, because they are |worthy|.

<sup>5</sup> ||He that overcometh|| shall |thus| array himself in white garments, and in nowise will I blot out his name, from the book of life<sup>g</sup>; and I will confess his name<sup>h</sup> before my Father, and before his messengers.

<sup>6</sup> ||He that hath an ear|| let him hear what |the Spirit| is saying unto the assemblies.

||These things|| saith he that is holy, he that is true,<sup>i</sup> he that hath the key of David, he that openeth and no one shall shut, and shutteth and no one openeth<sup>j</sup>:

<sup>8</sup> I know thy works,— lo! I have set before thee an opened door,<sup>k</sup> as to which |no one| can shut it,— that thou hast |a little<sup>l</sup> strength| and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name.

<sup>9</sup> Lo! I give them of the synagogue of Satan, who are affirming themselves to be ||Jews|| and are not,—but say what is false,—lo! I will cause them, that they shall have come, and shall bow down before thy feet,<sup>k</sup> and shall get to know that ||I|| loved thee.<sup>l</sup>

<sup>10</sup> <Because thou didst keep my word of endurance> ||I also|| will keep thee out of the hour of trial, which is about to come upon the whole habitable world, to try them that dwell upon the earth.

<sup>11</sup> I come quickly: hold fast that which thou hast, that |no one| take thy crown.

<sup>12</sup> ||He that overcometh|| I will make |him| a pillar in the sanctuary of my God, and |outside| shall he in nowise go forth any more; and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city<sup>m</sup> of my God, the new<sup>n</sup> Jerusalem,<sup>b</sup> which cometh down out of heaven from my God, and [I will write upon him] my new name.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>15</sup> I know thy works:—that neither |cold| art thou, nor hot: I would that |cold| thou hadst been, or hot.

<sup>16</sup> ||Thus|| <because |lukewarm| thou art, and neither hot nor cold> I am about to vomit thee out of my mouth. <sup>17</sup> <Because thou sayest

|Rich| am I, and have become enriched,<sup>q</sup> and |of nothing| have I need,

and knowest not that ||thou|| art the wretched one, and pitiable, and destitute, and blind, and naked> <sup>18</sup> I counsel thee to buy of me, gold refined by fire, that thou mayest become rich,—and white raiment, that thou mayest array thyself, and |the shame of thy nakedness| may not be made manifest,—and eye-salve, to anoint thine eyes, that thou mayest see. <sup>19</sup> ||I|

<as many as I tenderly love> I convict and put under discipline<sup>r</sup>: be zealous, therefore, and repent. <sup>20</sup> Lo! I am standing at the door, and knocking<sup>s</sup>; <if anyone shall hearken unto my voice, and open the door> I will come in unto him, and will sup with him, and ||he|| with |me|.

<sup>21</sup> ||He that overcometh|| I will give |unto him| to take his seat with me in my throne, as ||I also|| overcame, and took<sup>t</sup> my seat with my Father in his throne.

<sup>22</sup> ||He that hath an ear|| let him hear what |the Spirit| is saying unto the assemblies.

4 ||After these things|| I saw, and lo! a door set open in heaven; and ||the first voice which I heard as of a trumpet|| speaking with me,<sup>u</sup> saying—

Come up<sup>v</sup> hither! and I will point out to thee the things which must needs come to pass.<sup>w</sup>

||After these things|| <sup>2</sup> |straightway| I came to be in Spirit, and lo! ||a throne|| stood in heaven, and ||upon the throne|| [was] one sitting<sup>x</sup>; <sup>3</sup> and ||he that was sitting|| [was] like in appearance to a jasper stone and a sardius, and [there was] a rainbow round about the throne,<sup>y</sup> like in appearance unto an emerald. <sup>4</sup> And ||round about the throne|| were four and twenty thrones;

and upon the thrones four and twenty elders sitting, clothed in white garments, and upon their heads [were] crowns of gold.

<sup>5</sup> And out of the throne are coming forth lightnings, and voices, and thunderings<sup>a</sup>; and [there are] seven<sup>c</sup> torches of fire, burning before the throne, which are the seven<sup>c</sup> Spirits of God;

<sup>6</sup> and before the throne [is] as a glassy sea, like unto crystal.<sup>b</sup> And <in the midst of the throne, and around the throne> [are] four living creatures full of eyes,<sup>c</sup> before and behind;

<sup>7</sup> and [the first living creature] [is] like unto a lion, and [the second living creature] like unto a calf, and [the third living creature] hath the face as of a man, and [the fourth living creature] [is] like unto an eagle flying<sup>d</sup>; <sup>8</sup> and [the four living creatures] [each one of them] have severally<sup>e</sup> six wings,<sup>e</sup> [round about and within] full of eyes<sup>f</sup>; and they [cease] not,<sup>g</sup> [day and night] saying—

Holy! holy! holy! Lord, God,<sup>h</sup> the Almighty,—

Who was and Who is<sup>k</sup> and Who is coming.

<sup>9</sup> And <whosoever the living creatures shall give glory, and honour, and thanksgiving, unto him that sitteth upon the throne, unto him that liveth unto the ages<sup>i</sup> of ages> <sup>10</sup> the four and twenty<sup>j</sup> elders will fall down before him that sitteth upon the throne, and do homage unto him that liveth unto the ages of ages,—and will cast their crowns before the throne, saying—

<sup>11</sup> Worthy art thou, O Lord, and our God, to receive the glory, and the honour, and the power:

Because thou didst create all things, and<sup>l</sup> [by reason of thy will] they were, and were created.

<sup>5</sup> And I saw, upon the right hand of him that was sitting upon the throne,<sup>m</sup> a scroll; written within, and on the back,<sup>n</sup> sealed up<sup>o</sup> with seven seals. <sup>2</sup> And I saw a mighty messenger, proclaiming with a loud voice—

Who is worthy to open the scroll, and to unloose the seals thereof?

<sup>3</sup> And [no one] was able <in heaven, or on earth, or under the earth> to open the scroll, or [to look thereon]. <sup>4</sup> And [I]<sup>p</sup> began to weep much, because [no one worthy] was found, to open the scroll, or [to look thereon].

Do not weep! Lo! the lion that is of the tribe of Judah,<sup>q</sup> the root<sup>r</sup> of David, hath overcome, to open the scroll and the seven<sup>s</sup> seals thereof.

the four living creatures, and in the midst of the elders> a Lamb<sup>a</sup> standing, showing that it had been slain,—having seven horns, and seven eyes,<sup>b</sup> which are the [seven] Spirits of God sent forth into all<sup>c</sup> the earth.

<sup>7</sup> And he came, and at once took [it] out of the right hand of him that was sitting upon the throne.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>8</sup> And [when he took the scroll] the four<sup>e</sup> living creatures, and the four-and-twenty<sup>f</sup> elders, fell down before the Lamb, having [each one] a harp, and bowls of gold full of incense,—<sup>g</sup> which are the prayers of the saints; <sup>9</sup> and they sing<sup>h</sup> a new song,<sup>i</sup> saying—

[Worthy] art thou to take the scroll and to open the seals thereof;

Because thou wast slain,

And didst redeem unto God by thy blood [men] out of every<sup>j</sup> tribe, and tongue, and people, and nation,

<sup>10</sup> And didst make them, unto our God, a kingdom and priests,<sup>k</sup>—

And they reign<sup>l</sup> on the earth.

<sup>11</sup> And I saw, and heard a voice of many messengers,<sup>m</sup> round about the throne and the living creatures and the elders,—and the number of them was myriads of myriads and thousands of thousands,—<sup>n</sup> <sup>12</sup> saying with a loud voice—

Worthy is the Lamb that hath been slain,<sup>o</sup>

To receive the power, and riches, and wisdom, and might, and honour, and glory, and blessing.

<sup>13</sup> And <every> created thing which was in heaven, and upon the earth, and under the earth, and upon the sea, and all the things in them<sup>p</sup> heard I, saying—

<Unto him that sitteth upon the throne,<sup>q</sup>

And unto the Lamb>

Be the blessing, and the honour, and the glory, and the dominion

Unto the ages of ages!

<sup>14</sup> And the four<sup>r</sup> living creatures continued saying—

Amen!

And [the elders] fell down and did homage.

<sup>6</sup> And I saw <when the Lamb opened one of the seven<sup>s</sup> seals> and I heard one of the four<sup>t</sup> living creatures saying, as with a voice of thunder—

Go!<sup>u</sup>

<sup>2</sup> And I saw, and lo! a white horse,—<sup>v</sup> and he that was sitting thereon holding a bow; and there was given unto him a crown, and he went forth conquering, and that he might conquer.

<sup>3</sup> And <when he opened the second seal> I heard the second<sup>w</sup> living creature, saying—

Go!

and [unto him that was sitting thereon] it was given [unto him] to take away peace from the earth, and that [one another] they should slay; and there was given unto him a great sword.

- 5 And <when he opened the third' seal> I heard the third' living creature, saying—

Go!

And I saw, and lo! a black horse,<sup>a</sup> and he that was sitting thereon holding a pair of balances in his hand. <sup>6</sup> And I heard as a voice in the midst of the four' living creatures, saying—

A quart of wheat, for a denary,
And three' quarts of barley, for a denary,—
And [the oil and the wine] do not wrong.

- 7 And <when he opened the fourth seal> I heard the voice of the fourth' living creature, saying—

Go!

- 8 And I saw, and lo! a livid horse,—and he that was sitting thereupon had for a name [Death],<sup>b</sup> and [Hades]<sup>c</sup> was following with him; and there was given unto them authority over the fourth of the earth, to slay with sword, and with famine, and with death, and by the wild beasts of the earth.<sup>c</sup>

- 9 And <when he opened the fifth' seal> I saw, beneath the altar, the souls of them who had been slain because of the word of God and because of the witness which they held.<sup>d</sup> <sup>10</sup> And they cried out with a loud voice, saying—

[How long!], O Sovereign,<sup>e</sup> the Holy and True,<sup>f</sup> dost thou not vindicate and avenge our blood<sup>g</sup> from them that dwell upon the earth?<sup>h</sup>

- 11 And there was given to them, each one, a white robe, and it was bidden them, that they should rest yet' a little while—<sup>i</sup> until the number should be made full of their fellow-servants also, and their brethren, who were about to be slain as even [they].

- 12 And I saw <when he opened the sixth seal> that a [great earthquake] took place; and [the sun] became black as sackcloth of hair, and [the full moon] became as blood,<sup>k</sup> <sup>13</sup> and [the stars of heaven] fell to the earth, as [a fig-tree] sheddeth her winter figs, when [by a great wind] it is shaken, <sup>14</sup> and [the heaven] was withdrawn, as a scroll rolling itself up, and [every mountain and island] [out of their places] were shaken.<sup>l</sup>

- 15 And <the kings of the earth, and the great men,<sup>m</sup> and the rulers of thousands, and the rich, and the mighty, and every' bondman and freeman> hid themselves within the caves and within the rocks<sup>n</sup> of the mountains; <sup>16</sup> and they say, unto the mountains and unto the rocks—

Fall upon us, and hide us<sup>a</sup> from the face of him that sitteth upon the throne,<sup>b</sup> and from the anger of the Lamb;

- 17 Because the great day of their anger is come, and who is able to stand?<sup>c</sup>

- 7 [After this] I saw four' messengers, standing at the four' corners of the earth,<sup>d</sup> holding fast the four' winds<sup>e</sup> of the earth, that no wind might blow upon the land, or upon the sea, or upon any' tree. <sup>2</sup> And I saw another' messenger, ascending from the rising of the sun, holding the seal of the Living God; and he cried out with a loud voice unto the four' messengers unto whom it had been given to injure the land and the sea, <sup>3</sup> saying—

Do not injure the land, or the sea, or the trees, until we have sealed the servants of our God upon their foreheads.<sup>f</sup>

- 4 And I heard the number of the sealed,—a hundred' and forty-four thousand,—<sup>g</sup> sealed out of every' tribe of the sons of Israel:—

- 5 [Of the tribe of Judah] twelve thousand sealed,
[Of the tribe of Reuben] twelve' thousand,
[Of the tribe of Gad] twelve' thousand,
6 [Of the tribe of Asher] twelve' thousand,
[Of the tribe of Naphtali] twelve' thousand,
[Of the tribe of Manasseh] twelve' thousand,
7 [Of the tribe of Simeon] twelve' thousand,
[Of the tribe of Levi] twelve' thousand,
[Of the tribe of Issachar] twelve' thousand,
8 [Of the tribe of Zebulun] twelve' thousand,
[Of the tribe of Joseph] twelve' thousand,
[Of the tribe of Benjamin] twelve' thousand [sealed].<sup>h</sup>

- 9 [After these things] I saw, and lo! a great multitude,— which to number it! no one was able,— of every' nation, and [of all] tribes, and peoples, and tongues;<sup>i</sup> standing before the throne, and before the Lamb; arrayed in white robes, and palm-branches in their hands;—

- 10 and they cry out with a loud voice, saying—Salvation<sup>k</sup> unto our God who sitteth upon the throne,<sup>l</sup> and unto the Lamb!<sup>m</sup>

- 11 And [all] the messengers<sup>n</sup> were standing round about the throne and the elders and the four' living creatures; and they fell down before the throne upon their faces, and rendered homage unto God, <sup>12</sup> saying—

Amen!

<The blessing, and the glory, and the wisdom, and the thanksgiving, and the honour, and the power, and the might,—>
Be unto our God, unto the ages of ages.<sup>o</sup>

These' who are arrayed in white robes|| who are they? and whence came they?

14 And I at once said to him—

My lord! ||thou|| knowest!

And he said unto me—

These' are they who come out of the great tribulation,<sup>a</sup> and they washed their robes, and made them white in the blood<sup>b</sup> of the Lamb;

15 For this cause|| are they before the throne of God, and are rendering divine service unto him, day and night, in his sanctuary; and he that sitteth upon the throne<sup>c</sup> shall spread his tent<sup>d</sup> over them;

16 They shall hunger no more,

Neither thirst any more,

Neither in any wise shall the sun fall upon them, nor any' burning heat<sup>e</sup>;

17 Because ||the Lamb that is in the midst of the throne|| shall shepherd them,<sup>f</sup> and shall lead them unto life's fountains of waters<sup>g</sup>; And God shall wipe away every' tear out of their eyes.<sup>h</sup>

8 And <as soon as he opened the seventh seal> there came to be silence in heaven, as it were half an hour. <sup>2</sup> And I saw the seven' messengers<sup>i</sup> which [before God] do stand; and there were given unto them seven' trumpets.

3 And [another' messenger] came, and took his stand at the altar,<sup>k</sup> having a censer of gold: and there was given unto him much incense,<sup>l</sup> that he might give [it] unto the prayers of all the saints, upon the altar of gold that is before the throne. <sup>4</sup> And the smoke of the incense went up, with the prayers of the saints, out of the hand of the messenger before God. <sup>5</sup> And the messenger at once took the censer, and filled it from the fire of the altar,<sup>m</sup> and cast unto the earth; and there came to be thunders, and voices, and lightnings,<sup>n</sup> and an earthquake.

6 And ||the seven' messengers who had the seven' trumpets|| prepared themselves, that they might sound.

7 And [the first] sounded; and there came to be hail and fire mingled with blood, and it was cast unto the earth<sup>p</sup>; and [the third of the earth] was burned up, and [the third of the trees] was burned up, and [all' green herbage] was burned up.

8 And [the second' messenger] sounded; and as it were a great mountain burning with fire<sup>q</sup> || was cast into the sea; and the third of the sea became blood,<sup>r</sup> and the third of the creatures which were in the sea, which had life,<sup>s</sup> died, [the third of the ships] was destroyed.

9 And [the third' messenger] sounded; and there fell, out of heaven, a great star,<sup>t</sup> burning as a torch, and it fell upon the third of the rivers, and upon the fountains of waters. <sup>11</sup> And ||the name of the star|| is called Wormwood<sup>u</sup>; and the third of the waters became wormwood, and many of the men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 And [the fourth' messenger] sounded; and the third of the sun was smitten<sup>v</sup> and the third of the moon, and the third of the stars,—in order that the third of them might be darkened, and the day might not shine for the third of it, and the night, in like manner.

13 And I saw, and I heard one' eagle, flying in mid-heaven, saying with a loud voice—

Woe! woe! woe! unto them that are dwelling upon the earth, by reason of the remaining' voices of the trumpet, of the three' messengers who are about to sound.<sup>w</sup>

9 And [the fifth' messenger] sounded; and I saw a star, [out of heaven] fallen unto the earth,<sup>x</sup> and there was given unto him the key of the shaft of the abyss.<sup>y</sup> <sup>2</sup> And he opened the shaft<sup>z</sup> of the abyss; and there came up a smoke<sup>aa</sup> out of the shaft, as the smoke of a great furnace, and the sun and the air were darkened,<sup>ab</sup> by reason of the smoke of the shaft. <sup>3</sup> And [out of the smoke] came forth [locusts] upon the earth; and there was given unto them licence, as the scorpions of the earth have licence. <sup>4</sup> And it was bidden them that they should not injure the herbage of the earth, nor any' green thing, nor any' tree,<sup>ac</sup>—<sup>1</sup> but only the men who have not the seal of God upon their foreheads.<sup>ad</sup> <sup>5</sup> And it was given unto them, that they should not slay them, but that they should be tormented five months; and [the torture of them] was as of a scorpion's torture, whosoever it smiteth a man. <sup>6</sup> And [in those days] shall men seek death, and in nowise shall find it,<sup>ae</sup> and shall covet to die, and death flieth from them. <sup>7</sup> And [the likenesses of the locusts] were like unto horses<sup>af</sup> prepared for battle; and [upon their heads] as it were crowns, like unto gold, and [their faces] were as the faces of men,<sup>ag</sup> and [they had hair] as the hair of women, and [their teeth] were [as of lions],<sup>ah</sup> and they had breastplates as breastplates of iron, and [the sound of their wings] was as the sound of chariots of many horses, running into battle<sup>ai</sup>; and they have tails like unto scorpions, [and stings], and [in their tails] is their licence to injure men five months.

11 They have over them [as king] the messenger of the abyss, whose name, in Hebrew, is Abaddon [= "Destroyer"], and [in the Greek] he hath for name [Destroyer]. <sup>12</sup> [The first' Woe] hath passed away, lo! there come yet' two' Woes, after these things.<sup>aj</sup>

<sup>15</sup> And the four<sup>2</sup> messengers were loosed, who had been prepared for the hour, and day, and month, and year, that they should slay the third of men.

<sup>16</sup> And ||the number of the armies of the horse-men|| was twice ten thousand times ten thousand—I heard the number of them. <sup>17</sup> And

||thus|| saw I the horses in the vision,—and them who were sitting upon them, having breast-plates as of fire and hyacinth and brimstone;—and ||the heads of the horses|| were as heads of lions, and ||out of their mouths|| come forth fire and smoke and brimstone: <sup>18</sup> ||by these three<sup>3</sup> plagues|| were slain, the third part of mankind, by reason of the fire and the smoke and the brimstone, that proceedeth out of their mouths; <sup>19</sup> for ||the licence of the horses|| is ||in their mouth, and in their tails||, for ||their tails|| are like unto serpents, having heads, and ||with them|| they injure. <sup>20</sup> And <the rest of mankind who were not slain by these plagues> repented<sup>c</sup> not of the works of their hands,<sup>d</sup>—that they should not do homage unto the demons,<sup>e</sup> nor unto the idols of gold and of silver and of copper and of stone and of wood, which can neither see nor hear nor walk<sup>f</sup>;

<sup>10</sup> And I saw another<sup>1</sup>, a mighty messenger, descending out of heaven,—arrayed with a cloud, and ||the rainbow|| was upon his head, and ||his face|| was as the sun, and ||his feet|| were as pillars of fire, <sup>2</sup> and [he was] holding in his hand a little scroll, opened<sup>h</sup>; and he set his right foot upon the sea, and his left upon the land, <sup>3</sup> and cried out with a loud voice ||just as a lion roareth||. And ||when he cried out|| the seven<sup>4</sup> thunders uttered their own voices. <sup>4</sup> And ||when the seven thunders had spoken|| I was about to write, and I heard a voice out of heaven, saying—

Seal up<sup>i</sup> the things which the seven<sup>4</sup> thunders have uttered, and do not write ||them||.

<sup>5</sup> And ||the messenger, whom I saw standing upon the sea and upon the land|| lifted up his right hand unto heaven, <sup>6</sup> and swore <by him that liveth unto the ages of ages, who created heaven, and the things that are therein, and the earth, and the things that are therein, [and the sea, and the things that are therein]><sup>k</sup>

||Delay||<sup>l</sup> ||no longer|| shall there be; <sup>7</sup> but <in the days of the sounding of the seventh<sup>5</sup> messenger, as soon as he is about to blow his trumpet> then shall have been completed the sacred secret<sup>m</sup> of God as he told the good-news unto his own<sup>n</sup> servants the prophets.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>8</sup> And ||the voice which I had heard out of heaven|| [I] again [heard] talking with me, and saying—

Go take the opened scroll, that is in the hand of the messenger who is standing upon the sea and upon the land.

<sup>9</sup> And I went away unto the messenger, asking him to give me the little scroll; and he saith unto me—

Take it, and eat it up; and it shall embitter thy belly, but ||in thy mouth|| shall be sweet as honey.

<sup>10</sup> And I took the little scroll out of the hand of the messenger, and did eat it up; and it was ||in my mouth|| as honey ||sweet||, and ||when I had eaten it|| embittered was my belly.<sup>o</sup> <sup>11</sup> And they say unto me—

It behoveth thee again<sup>p</sup> to prophesy against peoples and nations and tongues, and many kings.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>11</sup> And there was given unto me a reed,<sup>r</sup> like unto a staff, saying—

Rise, and measure the Sanctuary of God,<sup>s</sup> and the altar,<sup>t</sup> and them who are doing homage therein; <sup>2</sup> and ||the court that is outside the Sanctuary|| cast thou outside, and do not measure ||it||, because it hath been given unto the nations, and ||the holy city|| shall they tread under foot,<sup>u</sup> forty and two months.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>3</sup> And I will give unto my two<sup>v</sup> witnesses, that they shall prophesy, a thousand two hundred and sixty days, ||arrayed in sack-cloth||.

And <as soon as they have completed their witnessing> ||the wild-beast that is to come up out of the abyss||<sup>p</sup> will make war with them.

and overcome them,* and slay them. * And their dead bodies [lie] upon the broadway of the great city, the which is called, spiritually, [Sodom* and Egypt], where [their Lord also was crucified]. * And [some] of the peoples, and tribes, and tongues, and nations [see] their dead bodies three days and a half, and [their dead bodies] do they not suffer to be put into a tomb. <sup>10</sup> And [they who are dwelling upon the earth] rejoice over them, and make merry, and [gifts] will they send one to another,—<sup>c</sup> because [these] two* prophets [tormented them that were dwelling upon the earth].

And <after [the] three* days and a half> [a spirit of life from God] entered within them, and they stood upon their feet<sup>d</sup>; and [great fear] fell upon them who were beholding them.<sup>e</sup>

And they heard a loud voice out of heaven, saying unto them—

Come up hither!

And they went up into heaven,<sup>f</sup> in the cloud, and [their enemies] beheld them.

And [in that] hour [there came to be a great earthquake*]; and [the tenth of the city] fell, and there were slain, in the earthquake, names of men—seven thousand. And [the rest] became [greatly afraid], and gave glory unto the God of heaven.<sup>h</sup>

[The second Woe] hath passed away,—lo! [the third Woe] cometh speedily.<sup>i</sup>

And [the seventh* messenger] sounded; and there came to be loud voices in heaven, saying—

[The kingdom of the world] hath become [the kingdom] of our Lord* and of his Christ,<sup>j</sup> and he shall reign unto the ages of ages.<sup>k</sup>

And <the twenty-four elders who [before God] do sit upon their thrones> fell down upon their faces, and rendered homage unto God,<sup>l</sup> saying—

We give thanks unto thee, O Lord God, the Almighty,<sup>m</sup> Who is<sup>n</sup> and Who was; because thou hast taken thy great power, and hast become king.<sup>o</sup>

And [the nations] were angered<sup>p</sup>; and thine anger [came], and the fit time of the dead, to be vindicated,<sup>q</sup> and to give their reward unto thy servants the prophets,* and unto the saints, and unto them who revere thy name—the small and the great,<sup>r</sup> and to despoil them who were despoiling the earth.

And the sanctuary of God which is in heaven [was opened], and the ark of his covenant in his sanctuary<sup>s</sup> [appeared], and there came to be lightnings, and voices, and thunderings,* and an earthquake, and great hail.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>12</sup> And [a great sign] appeared in heaven: a woman arrayed with the sun, and [the moon] beneath her feet, and [upon her head] a crown of twelve stars; <sup>2</sup> and she was with child, and crieth out, being in pangs and in anguish to bring forth.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>3</sup> And there appeared another* sign in heaven; and lo! a great red dragon,—<sup>v</sup> having seven heads and ten horns,* and [upon his heads] seven* diadems; <sup>4</sup> and [his tail] draweth the third part of the stars of heaven, and did cast them to the earth.<sup>w</sup>

And [the dragon] stood before the woman who was about to bring forth, that <as soon as she should bring forth> he might devour [her child]. <sup>5</sup> And she brought forth a son, a manchild,* who was about<sup>x</sup> to shepherd all* the nations with a sceptre of iron; and her child was caught away unto God and unto his throne. <sup>6</sup> And [the woman] fled into the desert, where she hath a place prepared of God, that [there] they should nourish her a thousand, two hundred, and sixty days.<sup>y</sup>

<sup>7</sup> And there came to be war in heaven: Michael<sup>z</sup> and his messengers [going forth] to war with the dragon; and [the dragon] fought, and his messengers; <sup>8</sup> and he prevailed not, neither was place found for them any longer in heaven. <sup>9</sup> And the great dragon was cast out,—the ancient serpent,<sup>aa</sup> he that is called Adversary and the Satan,<sup>ab</sup> that deceiveth the whole habitable world,—he was cast to the earth, and his messengers [with him] were cast. <sup>10</sup> And I heard a loud voice in heaven,<sup>c</sup> saying—

[Now] hath come the salvation, and the power, and the kingdom of our God, and the authority<sup>d</sup> of his Christ;

Because the accuser of our brethren hath been cast out, who was accusing them before our God day and night;

<sup>11</sup> And [they] overcame him by reason of the blood of the Lamb, and by reason of their witnessing* word, and they loved not their life [even unto death].

<sup>12</sup> [For this cause] be joyful, O heavens,* and ye who [therein] are tabernacled. Woe! unto the earth, and the sea, because the Adversary hath come down unto you, having great wrath—knowing that [but a little* season]<sup>e</sup> he hath.

her place,—where she is nourished, a season and seasons and half a season,<sup>a</sup> from the face of the serpent. <sup>15</sup> And the serpent cast out of his mouth, after the woman, water as a river, that he might cause her to be carried away by the stream. <sup>16</sup> And the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the river which the dragon cast out of his mouth. <sup>17</sup> And the dragon was angered against the woman, and went away to make war with the rest of her seed—with them who were keeping the commandments of God, and holding the witness of Jesus;—and he stood upon the sand of the sea.<sup>b</sup>

13 And I saw, [out of the sea] a wild-beast coming up; having ten horns,<sup>c</sup> and seven heads,<sup>d</sup> and [upon his horns] ten diadems, and [upon his heads] names of blasphemy. <sup>2</sup> And [the beast which I saw] was like unto a leopard<sup>e</sup>; and [his feet] as of a bear,<sup>f</sup> and [his mouth] as the mouth of a lion.<sup>g</sup> And the dragon gave unto him his power, and his throne, and great authority. <sup>3</sup> And [I saw] one of his heads, showing that it had been slain<sup>h</sup> unto death, and [the stroke of his death]<sup>i</sup> was healed. And the whole earth marvelled after the wild-beast,<sup>k</sup> and did homage unto the dragon, because he gave his authority unto the wild-beast; and they did homage unto the wild-beast, saying—

Who is like unto the wild-beast? and Who can make war with him?<sup>l</sup>

<sup>5</sup> And there was given unto him, a mouth speaking great things<sup>m</sup> and blasphemies; and it was given unto him to act,<sup>n</sup> forty and two months.<sup>o</sup> <sup>6</sup> And he opened his mouth for blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his name, and his tent,—them who [in heaven] were tabernacled.<sup>p</sup> <sup>7</sup> [And it was given unto him, to make war with the saints, and to overcome them<sup>q</sup>]; and there was given him authority<sup>r</sup> against every tribe and people and tongue and nation. <sup>8</sup> And all they who are dwelling upon the earth will do homage unto him,—[every one] whose name is not written in the scroll of life<sup>s</sup> of the Lamb slain<sup>t</sup> for the foundation of the world. <sup>9</sup> <If any one hath an ear> let him hear.

<sup>10</sup> <If anyone [carrieth] into captivity> [into captivity] he goeth away.

<If anyone [with a sword] doth slay> he must [with a sword] be slain.<sup>u</sup>

[Here] is the endurance and the faith of the saints.<sup>v</sup>

beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns, like unto a lamb, and began speaking as a dragon. <sup>12</sup> And [all the authority of the first wild-beast] he useth before him; and causeth the earth, and them who [therein] are dwelling, that they shall do homage unto the first wild-beast, [whose stroke of death] was healed. <sup>13</sup> And he doeth great signs, so that [even fire] he causeth to be coming down unto the earth before men; <sup>14</sup> and he deceiveth them who are dwelling upon the earth, by reason of the signs which it was given him to do before the wild-beast,—saying unto them who are dwelling upon the earth, that they should make an image unto the wild-beast who hath the stroke of the sword, and yet did live.<sup>w</sup> <sup>15</sup> And it was given unto it, to give spirit unto the image of the wild-beast, in order that the image of the wild-beast should both speak and should cause that [as many as should not do homage unto the image<sup>x</sup> of the wild-beast] should be slain. <sup>16</sup> And he causeth all—the small and the great, and the rich and the poor, and the free and the bond,—that they should give unto them a mark upon their right hand or upon their forehead; <sup>17</sup> [and] that no one should be able to buy or to sell, save he that hath the mark, the name of the beast, or the number of his name.

<sup>18</sup> [Here] is [wisdom]:<sup>y</sup> [he that hath understanding] let him count the number of the beast, for it is [the number of a man]; and [his number] is 666.

14 And I saw, and lo! [the Lamb] standing upon the mount Zion,—and [with him] a hundred and forty-four thousand,<sup>z</sup> having his name and his Father's name written upon their foreheads.<sup>aa</sup> <sup>2</sup> And I heard a sound out of heaven, as the sound of many waters,<sup>ab</sup> and as the sound of loud thunders; and [the sound which I heard] was as of harp-singers harping with their harps. <sup>3</sup> And they sing<sup>ac</sup> as it were a new song<sup>ad</sup> before the throne, and before the four living creatures and the elders. And [no one] was able to learn the song, save the hundred and forty-four thousand, who had been redeemed from the earth.

<sup>4</sup> [These] are they [who with women] were not defiled, for they are [virgin].

[These] are they who follow the Lamb whithersoever he is going.

[These] were redeemed from mankind, as a firstfruit unto God and the Lamb; <sup>5</sup> and [in their mouth] was found no falsehood,—<sup>ae</sup> [faultless] they are.

<sup>6</sup> And I saw another messenger, flying in mid-heaven, having an age-abiding glad-message to announce unto them who are dwelling upon the earth, even unto every nation and tribe and tongue and people, <sup>7</sup> saying with a loud voice—

<sup>a</sup> = 3½ years, seen by comparing vers. 6 and 14. Dan. vii. 25; xii. 7.

Fallen! fallen! is Babylon<sup>b</sup> the great, who <of the wine of the wrath of her lewdness> hath caused all' the nations to drink.

<sup>9</sup> And [another', a third messenger]] followed them, saying with a loud voice—

<If anyone doeth homage unto the beast and his image, and receiveth a mark upon his forehead, or upon his hand> <sup>10</sup> [he also] shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is prepared, unmixed, in the cup of his anger;— and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone,<sup>d</sup> before holy messengers and before the Lamb;

And they have no rest day or night,<sup>e</sup> who do homage unto the beast and his image, or if anyone receiveth the mark of his name.

<sup>12</sup> [Here] is [the endurance of the saints],—<sup>f</sup> they who keep the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus.

<sup>13</sup> And I heard a voice out of heaven, saying—Write!

[Happy] the dead who [in the Lord] do die [from henceforth].

Yea! (saith the Spirit) that they may rest from their toils, for [their works] do follow with them.

<sup>14</sup> And I saw, and to! a white cloud, and [upon the cloud] one sitting like unto a son of man,<sup>g</sup> having [upon his head] a crown of gold, and [in his hand] a sharp sickle.

<sup>15</sup> And [another' messenger] came forth out of the sanctuary, crying out with a loud voice, unto him that was sitting upon the cloud—

Thrust in thy sickle, and reap; because the hour to reap is come, because the harvest of the earth is ripe.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>16</sup> And he that was sitting upon the cloud [thrust in] his sickle upon the earth; and the earth was reaped.

<sup>17</sup> And [another' messenger] came forth out of the sanctuary that is in heaven,—[he also] having a sharp sickle.

<sup>18</sup> And [another' messenger] [came forth] out of the altar, who hath<sup>i</sup> authority over the fire,—and called out with a loud voice, unto him who had the sharp sickle, saying—

Thrust in thy sharp sickle,<sup>h</sup> and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth; because the grapes thereof are fully ripe.

<sup>19</sup> And the messenger [thrust in] his sickle into the earth, and gathered the vine of the earth, and cast [it] into the great wine-press of the wrath of God. <sup>20</sup> And the wine-press was trodden<sup>a</sup> outside the city, and there came forth blood out of the wine-press, even unto the bits of the horses, at a distance of a thousand six hundred furlongs.

<sup>15</sup> And I saw another' sign in heaven, great and marvellous,—seven messengers having seven plagues [the last], because [in them] was ended the wrath of God. <sup>2</sup> And I saw as a glassy sea mingled with fire, and them who escape victorious from the beast, and from his image, and from the number of his name, standing upon the glassy sea, having harps of God; <sup>3</sup> and they sing<sup>b</sup> the song of Moses the servant of God<sup>c</sup> and the song of the Lamb, saying—

[Great and marvellous] are thy works,<sup>d</sup>

Lord, God, the Almighty!<sup>e</sup>

[Righteous and true]<sup>f</sup> are thy ways,<sup>g</sup>

O King of the ages!<sup>h</sup>

<sup>4</sup> Who shall in anywise not be put in fear.<sup>i</sup>

O Lord, and glorify thy name,—

Because [alone] full of lovingkindness<sup>k</sup>;

Because [all' the nations] will have come, and will do homage before thee,<sup>l</sup>

Because [thy righteous deeds] were made manifest?

<sup>5</sup> And [after these things] I saw, and the sanctuary of The Tent of Witness<sup>m</sup> in heaven [was opened]; <sup>6</sup> and the seven' messengers who had the seven plagues<sup>n</sup> [came forth] out of the sanctuary clothed with a [precious] stone,<sup>o</sup> pure, bright, and girt about the breasts with girdles of gold. <sup>7</sup> And [one of the four' living creatures] gave, unto the seven' messengers, seven' golden bowls, full of the wrath of God who liveth unto the ages of ages. <sup>8</sup> And the sanctuary was filled with smoke by reason of the glory of God,<sup>p</sup> and by reason of his power; and [no one] was able to enter<sup>q</sup> into the sanctuary, until the seven' plagues<sup>r</sup> of the seven' messengers should be ended. <sup>16</sup> And I heard a loud' voice, out of the sanctuary,<sup>s</sup> saying unto the seven' messengers—

Go, and be pouring out the seven bowls of the wrath of God unto the earth.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>2</sup> And the first departed, and poured out his bowl unto the earth; and there came to be a baneful and painful ulcer,<sup>u</sup> upon the men who had the mark of the beast, and them who were doing homage unto his image.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>12</sup> And [the sixth] poured out his bowl upon the great river [the] Euphrates<sup>m</sup>; and the water thereof [was dried up],<sup>n</sup> that the way might be prepared, of the kings who were from the rising of the sun.<sup>o</sup> <sup>13</sup> And I saw <out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false-prophet>

<sup>18</sup> And there came to be lightnings, and voices, and thunders<sup>a</sup>; and [a great earthquake] took place,—such as had never taken place since men came to be on the earth,—<sup>b</sup> such a mighty earthquake, so great; <sup>19</sup> and the great city became [divided] into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell; and ||Babylon the Great||<sup>c</sup> was brought into remembrance before God, to give unto her the cup of the wine of the wrath of his anger<sup>d</sup>; <sup>20</sup> and [every] island fled, and [mountains] were not found. <sup>21</sup> And ||great hail, as talents|| cometh down out of heaven upon mankind; and men blasphemed God, by reason of the plague of hail,—because the plague thereof was ||exceeding great||.<sup>e</sup>

Hither! I will point out to thee the judgment<sup>f</sup> of the great harlot, who sitteth upon many waters,<sup>g</sup> <sup>2</sup> with whom the kings of the earth committed lewdness,—and they who were dwelling upon the earth were made drunk with the wine of her lewdness.<sup>h</sup>

9 ||Here|| is the mind that hath wisdom.<sup>a</sup>

||The seven' heads|| are |seven' mountains| whereupon the woman sitteth;<sup>10</sup> and they are |seven' kings|: |the five| have fallen, |the one| is, |the other| hath not yet come; and <whosoever he shall come> a little while|| must he remain,<sup>11</sup> and<sup>b</sup> the wild-beast which was and is not. ||And he|| is an eighth, and is |of the seven|,—and |into destruction| goeth away.

12 And ||the ten' horns which thou sawest|| are |ten kings|,—<sup>c</sup> who, indeed, have not received ||sovereignty|| as yet', but ||authority, as kings, for one' hour|| shall receive, with the wild-beast. <sup>13</sup> ||These|| have |one' mind|,<sup>d</sup> and ||their power and authority|| unto the wild-beast|| they give. <sup>14</sup> ||These|| with the Lamb| will make war; and ||the Lamb|| will overcome them, because he is |Lord of lords|, and |King of kings|,—<sup>e</sup> and ||they who are with him|| are called and chosen and faithful.

15 And he saith unto me—

||The waters' which thou sawest, where the harlot sitteth|| are |peoples and multitudes| and nations and tongues.

16 And the ten' horns which thou sawest, and the wild-beast ||these|| shall hate the harlot, and |desolate| shall make her, and naked, and ||her flesh|| shall they eat, and ||herself|| shall they burn up with fire.

17 For ||God|| hath put into their hearts, to do his mind, and to do one' mind,—and to give their sovereignty unto the wild-beast,<sup>f</sup> until the words of God shall be completed.

18 And ||the woman whom thou sawest|| is the great city, which hath sovereignty over the kings of the earth.<sup>h</sup>

18 ||After these things|| I saw another' messenger, coming down out of heaven,—having great authority; and ||the earth|| was illumined with his glory. <sup>2</sup> And he cried out, with a mighty' voice, saying—

Fallen! fallen! is Babylon the Great, and hath become a habitation of demons,<sup>i</sup> and a prison of every' impure spirit, and a prison of every' impure and hated bird;

<sup>3</sup> Because <by reason [of the wine] of the wrath of her lewdness> have all' the nations fallen,<sup>k</sup> and ||the kings of the earth|| |with her| did commit lewdness,<sup>l</sup> and ||the merchants of the earth|| |by reason of the power of her wantonness| waxed rich.

<sup>4</sup> And I heard another' voice out of heaven, saying—

Come forth, my people, out of her,—<sup>m</sup> that ye

may have no fellowship with her sins, and ||of her plagues|| that ye may not receive; because her' sins were joined together as far as heaven,<sup>a</sup> and God hath remembered her unrighteous deeds.

<sup>6</sup> Render ye unto her,

As ||she also|| rendered,
And double [the] double.

According to her works,—<sup>b</sup>

<Because |in her heart| she saith—
I sit a Queen.

And |widow| am I not.

And ||grief|| in nowise shall I see!>

<sup>8</sup> ||Therefore|| |in one' day| shall have come her plagues,—death and grief and famine; and |with fire| shall she be burned up;—because ||mighty|| is the [Lord] God who hath judged her.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>9</sup> And they shall weep and wail over her—shall the kings of the earth who |with her| committed lewdness<sup>d</sup> and waxed wanton,—|as soon as they see the smoke of her burning|,—<sup>10</sup> |afar off| standing, because of their fear of her torment, saying—

Alas! alas! the great city! Babylon, the mighty city!<sup>e</sup>

That |in one' hour| hath come thy judgment.

11 And ||the merchants of the earth|| weep and grieve<sup>f</sup> over her, because ||their cargo|| |no one| buyeth any more; <sup>12</sup> cargo of gold, and silver, and precious stone, and pearls, and fine linen, and purple, and silk, and scarlet, and all' thyne wood, and every article of ivory, and every' article of wood most precious, and of copper, and of iron, and of marble,<sup>g</sup> and of cinnamon, and spice, and incense, and unguent, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and fine flour, and wheat, and cattle, and sheep, and [cargo] of horses, and of chariots, and of bodies, and lives<sup>h</sup> of men.

21 And one' mighty messenger lifted a stone, as it

saying—

Thus, with main force [shall be cast down,

In nowise be found in thee any more;

19 [After these things] I heard as it were, a

saying—

Hallelujah!<sup>n</sup>

2 Because [true<sup>a</sup> and righteous] are his judg-

Because he hath judged the great harlot, who,

And hath avenged the blood of his servants [at 3 And [a second time] have they said—

Hallelujah!

4 And the twenty-four elders and the four' living

5 And [a voice] [from the throne] came forth,
saying—

6 And I heard as a voice<sup>g</sup> of a great multitude, and

9 And he saith unto me—

Write!

[Happy] they who [unto the marriage supper of the Lamb] have been bidden!

And he saith unto me—

10 And I fell down at his feet, to do him homage<sup>k</sup>;
and he saith unto me—

See! [thou do it] not! [A fellow-servant] am I, of thee and of thy brethren who have the witness of Jesus: [unto God] do homage!

For [the witness of Jesus] is the spirit of the prophecy.

11 And I saw heaven, set open,<sup>l</sup> and lo! a white horse, and [he that was sitting thereon] [called] which had the seven bowls, that were full of the seven last plagues,<sup>o</sup> and spake with me, saying—Hither! I will point out to thee the bride, the wife of the Lamb.

<sup>p</sup> And he carried me away, in spirit, unto a mountain great and high,<sup>q</sup> and pointed out to me the holy city, Jerusalem,<sup>r</sup> coming down out of heaven from God; <sup>s</sup> having the glory of God,<sup>t</sup>—[her lustre] like unto a stone most precious, as a jasper stone, shining as crystal; <sup>u</sup> having a wall great and high, having twelve gates, and [at the gates] twelve messengers, and names inscribed, which are [the names] of the twelve tribes of the sons of Israel,—<sup>v</sup> <sup>w</sup> [on the east] three gates, and [on the north] three gates, and [on the south] three gates, and [on the west] three gates; <sup>x</sup> and [the wall of the city] having twelve foundations, and [upon them] twelve names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

<sup>y</sup> And [he that was talking with me] had, for a measure, a reed<sup>z</sup> of gold, that he might measure the city, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof. <sup>aa</sup> And [the city] [four-square]<sup>ab</sup> is, and [the length thereof] is as great as the breadth. And he measured the city, with the reed,—twelve thousand furlongs: [the length, and the breadth, and the height thereof] are [equal]. <sup>ac</sup> And he measured the wall thereof,—<sup>ad</sup> a hundred and forty-four cubits: the measure of a man, which is [the measure] of a messenger. <sup>ae</sup> And [the structure of the wall thereof] was jasper, and [the city] was pure gold, like unto pure glass. <sup>af</sup> The foundations of the wall of the city with every precious stone were adorned:

[the first foundation] was jasper, [the second] sapphire, [the third] chalcedony, [the fourth] emerald, <sup>ag</sup> [the fifth] sardonyx, [the sixth] sardius, [the seventh] chrysolite, [the eighth] beryl, [the ninth] topaz, [the tenth] chryso-prase, [the eleventh] hyacinth, [the twelfth] amethyst; <sup>ah</sup> and [the twelve gates] were twelve pearls,—each one of the gates severally [was] of one pearl; and [the broad-way of the city] was pure gold, as transparent glass.

<sup>ai</sup> And [sanctuary] saw I none therein; for [the Lord, God, the Almighty]<sup>aj</sup> is the sanctuary thereof, and the Lamb. <sup>ak</sup> And [the city] hath no need of the sun, nor of the moon, that they should shine therein; for [the glory of God] illumined it, and [the lamp thereof] was the Lamb. <sup>al</sup> And the nations [shall walk] through her light; and [the kings of the earth] do bring their glory into it, <sup>am</sup> and [the gates thereof] shall in nowise be shut [by day],—[night] in fact, shall not be [there],—<sup>an</sup> and they shall bring the glory and the honour of the nations into it.

<sup>ao</sup> And in nowise shall there enter into it, anything common, or he that doeth abomination and falsehood,—<sup>ap</sup> but only they who are written in the Lamb's book of life.

<sup>aq</sup> And he pointed out to me a river of water of life,<sup>ar</sup> bright as crystal, issuing forth out of the throne of God and of the Lamb, <sup>as</sup> in the midst of the broadway thereof. And [on this side of the river and on that] was a tree<sup>at</sup> of life, bearing twelve crops of fruit, [every several month] yielding its fruit;
and [the leaves of the tree] were for the healing of the nations. <sup>au</sup> And [no curse] shall there be [any more];<sup>av</sup> and [the throne of God and of the Lamb] shall be [therein],—and his servants will render divine service unto him, <sup>aw</sup> and they shall see his face,<sup>ax</sup> and [his name] [shall be] upon their foreheads. <sup>ay</sup> And [night] shall be [no more]; and they have no need of the light of a lamp or the light of a sun,<sup>az</sup> because [the Lord God] will give them light,—<sup>ba</sup> and they shall reign unto the ages of ages.

<sup>bb</sup> And he said unto me—

[These words] are faithful and true;<sup>bc</sup> and [the Lord, the God of the spirits of the prophets] hath sent his messenger,<sup>bd</sup> to point out, unto his servants, the things which must needs come to pass<sup>be</sup> with speed.

APPENDIX.

ABYSS.

It is easy to say that this word, according to its derivation, signifies "bottomless"; and that it is sometimes employed, more generally, to denote "unfathomed," "boundless," "enormous"; but its chief interest, as a N. T. word, lies in the question how far it is synonymous with "hades." Suffice it here to connect it with that larger subject, and to observe that in the Christian Writings it occurs only in the following places: Lu. viii. 31; Ro. x. 7; Rev. ix. 1, 2, 11; xi. 7; xvii. 8; xx. 1, 3.

AGE.

To trace the Biblical development of the Ages is to gain a point from which many far-reaching observations may be made. The first thing to note is, that the idea of an "age" is one of comparatively slow growth. The Biblical parent of the Greek aion is the Hebrew olam, and the root conception of olam is concealed duration. Concealed duration is naturally unknown and unbounded; and it should be carefully remembered that it is from this radical conception of the nouns olam and aion that the force of the qualifying terms oldam and aionios springs. (See below on Age-abiding.) The second thing to observe is, that duration does not fall into "ages" until it acquires character, and there is a transition of the times from one character into another. Only by degrees can a period round itself off into a "golden age," and then, by some observable transition, the time become so changed as to appear as only a "silver age" in comparison; or "an age of barbarism" undergo such an amelioration as to become gradually merged into "an age of civilisation." Accordingly it is not till we get far on in the O. T. that we meet with oldam in the plural. The third thing to notice is, that "ages" may be so modified by local conditions as to vary with country and sphere; so that the ages in different lands may be far from simultaneous. While one country is advancing in civilisation or religion, another may be receding. A golden age may not be world-wide; a barbaric period may not afflict all lands at once; and an age of activity in one direction may be an age of stagnation or retrogression in another. In fine, ages may overlap and interlace and interchange; and the result may be one of the utmost complexity, calling for the most thoughtful and guarded discrimination. "The patriarchal age" may, for the Hebrews, be changed into "the Mosaic," and yet for other nations remain patriarchal still. "The Mosaic age" naturally affects those only who come under Moses. It is folly for Gentiles to speak as if they had once been under Moses if they never were. The fourth point of importance is, that only as a change of age is supernaturally superinduced can we assume to characterise a given age as a divine dispensation. It cannot be affirmed that God has placed under Moses nations whom at the same time he is "suffering to walk after their own ways" (Ac. xiv. 16). The fifth consideration that arises is, that larger ages may include smaller ones. The larger age of Mosaic may embrace the smaller ages of the Judges, of the Kings, of the Dispersions. The final Christian age may resolve itself into the age of the Church, to be followed by the age of the Kingdom. Nay, we may go further and affirm, that all ages, up to a given point, may be predominantly evil, and then, from that point onward, be wholly or prevailingly good. When the foregoing factors of thought have been patiently digested, the student to whom the subject is new may find it comparatively easy to accommodate his mind to the crowning discrimination which can be traced in the Christian Scriptures, and in tracing which the eye will rest on the following land-marks. "This age" and "the coming" are terms which describe a distinction which runs through the New Testament (Mt. xii. 32; Eph. i. 21). (i.) "This Age" is characterised as one of anxieties (Mk. iv. 19); of a commingling of good seed and bad in the field sown by the Son of Man (Mt. xiii. 24-30, 36-43); of persecutions (Mk. x. 30); of a need for non-conformity (Ro. xii. 2; 1 Pt. ii. 12); of the crucifying of the Lord of glory by its rulers (1 Co. ii. 8); of the defilement of Satan (2 Co. iv. 4); of the prevalence of evil (Gal. i. 4, cp. Eph. ii. 2; 2 Tim. iv. 10). (ii.) "The coming age" will be signalled by the forthshining of the glory of the Lord (1 Pt. ii. 13; 1 Co. xv. 23); the resurrection from among the dead (Lu. xx. 35); the bestowal of age-abiding life (Mk. x. 30; Lu. xviii. 30); and the forthshining of the righteous in the kingdom (Mt. xiii. 39, 43).—"The conclusion of the age" is spoken of in Mt. xiii. 39, 40, 49; xxiv. 3; xxviii. 20; "the conjunction of the ages," Heb. ix. 26; and "the ends of the ages," 1 Co. x. 11. (Cp. note on "Age-abiding" below.)

AGE-ABIDING.

Age-abiding: that is, lasting for an indefinite or perpetual age; or abiding from age to age. The reasons for adopting this rendering of the Greek adjective aionios are: (i.) to keep up a close connection with the word "age" as the translation, in this New Testament, of the cognate noun aion; and (ii.) to avoid, as too restricted, the confinement of the idea to any particular, limited age. It is true that aion does not of itself mean absolute eternity, otherwise it would not submit to be multiplied by itself, as in the familiar phrase "aions of aions," which would then be equivalent to "eternities of eternities"; and it is further true that, in the history of divine revelation, aion sometimes puts a dispensational limit upon itself, so far as that the dawn of a new aion or "age" serves to close and exclude an old aion or "age," the end of which was aforetime concealed in the mists of an undefined futurity (cp. note on "Age," above). But, with all this, it is most important to remember that "age" is not the primary meaning of aion; rather, "duration indefinitely extended." Moreover, it seems to be as clothed with this more primitive significance, that the qualifying word aionios comes into use. The noun aion itself clings to this fundamental notion in the well known idiomatic phrase eis ton aiona (lit. "into" or "unto the age"); in the interpretation of which, if the force of idiom be ignored, and each word be pressed on its individual merits, the reader will be continually teased by feeling that he is being referred to some particular and pre-eminent age, which ought to be well-known, while all the time it is unknown. He may say: "Unto the age—unto what age?" and there will be nothing in context or circumstance to tell him; whereas, once assume the existence of an idiom, and then all perplexity is at an end—oldam, aionios and eis ton aiona become very nearly equivalent expressions, the essence of which is "indefinite continuance." The Hebrew servant's bondage, for example, is to be indefinitely prolonged: it is to be for life—the end of which cannot be seen (Exo. xxi. 6). So also the Hebrew priesthood was appointed for indefinite continuance, when as yet it could not be foreseen that a change in the priesthood would necessitate a change in the law (Exo. xl. 15; He. vii. 12). The surrender of Samuel, by his mother, to the priestly service is to be taken as equally undefined (1 S. i. 22). To the barrenness of the fig-tree no limit can be assigned (Mt. xxi. 19). The son does not cease to be welcome in his father's house, save by externally induced bounds to possibility (Jn. viii. 35). Upon the "aionion correction" (Mt. xxv. 46) no arbitrary limit can be laid, —unless indeed the essential nature of "correction" implies it—aionios of itself utterly refuses to settle the dread question. If the equally "aionion life" is to be endless, that is best made out from the mighty negatives of Scripture ("immortal," "incorruptible," "unfading": 1 Co. xv. 51-54; 1 P. i. 4), and from the correlative promise, "Because I live ye also shall live" (Jn. xiv. 19; He. vii. 16).

ANGEL. See MESSENGER.

ASSEMBLY.

It is well-known that the Greek word for "Church" is ecclesia; and that ecclesia strictly and fully means "called-out-assembly"; but inasmuch as a phrase only very awkwardly represents a single word, and by frequent repetition may become wearisome, not to say even misleading (by forcing one element of the significance into unnatural prominence), it has been deemed sufficient in this version to let "assembly" uniformly stand for the original ecclesia, and to leave the reader to invest the word with that accession of ideas which the known facts gather about it. The "call" of the glad-message can be read by everyone who cares to inform himself; the separateness of the standing and life to which the summons invites can be readily ascertained; and so the lofty ideal set before the assembly of the Son of God may soon disclose itself to the humble and ardent inquirer. It must be left for each reader to judge how far existing ecclesiastical organisations help or hinder the attainment of that ideal. Only let no one presume to dim the divinely given image.

BAPTISM. See IMMERSION.

BEELZEBUL (BEELZEBOL).

This and not "Beelzebub" is the form ordinarily found in Greek New Testaments; but Westcott and Hort print the name as "Beelzeboul," after the Sinai and Vatican MSS., and think there is "no sufficient reason for discarding this form of an obscure name, unknown except from the N. T." They go on to say that "In the N. T. Beelzebub has no Greek authority." (Appendix to Introduction, p. 159.) "Baal-zebul," we may observe, however, is found in 2 K. i. 2, 3, 6, and signifies "Lord of flies." Baal-zebul, according to Fuerst, means "Lord of the heavenly dwelling." Cp. 2 Co. iv. 4; Eph. ii. 2. Dr. Davies, however, in his Heb. Lex. gives a different account of the word Beelzeboul. He says: "The proper name baalzebul, beelzeboul, Mt. x. 25, prob. means lord of dung, zebul being hereakin to Chal. zebul, dung; the slight change from zebul serving perh. to express contempt for the Philistine god, and perh. alluding to the connection between flies and dung or putrid things." Heb. Lex. p. 176.

CHRIST.

Or, "Anointed"—a term to be understood by the types and prophecies found in Exo. xxx. 22-33; 1 S. x. 1; xvi. 13; xxiv. 6; Ps. ii. 2; xlv. 7; Is. xi. 2-5; lxi. 1-3; Dan. ix. 25, 26; and by the great fact stated in Mt. iii. 16; Acts iv. 27; x. 38. Sometimes the word is used as a simple appellative, or descriptive epithet, in which cases the meaning comes to the front, and the word should be translated; more commonly, however, the word is an official title approaching a proper name: hence, in the majority of its occurrences, it is here merely transferred. It is impossible to be absolutely sure in all cases whether it should be translated or whether it should be transferred. W and H say: "We doubt whether the appellative force, with its various associations and implications, is ever entirely lost in the New Testament, and are convinced that the number of passages is small in which Messiahship, of course in the enlarged apostolic sense, is not the principal intention of the word." (Intro. p. 317.) When we reflect that proper names themselves are now and again used with an evident reference to their meaning, and yet that to insist on always translating proper names would work such havoc in literature as to make intelligible history well-nigh impossible, we may become tolerant with a translator even if he should occasionally err in dealing with significant titles, sometimes (it may be thought) translating where he should transfer, and at other times transferring where he should rather translate. Something, moreover, may be left to the expositor, who will do well to remind his hearers of the meaning of titles and even proper names whenever he feels that so to do will add to the luminousness and force of the text before him.—For the intimate relation between the anointing of the Head and that of the Body, see Ps. cxxxiii. 2; 2 Co. i. 21, and 1 Jn. ii. 20, 27.

COVENANT.

The N. T. word diathēkē signifies "covenant," because it is the Sep. rendering of the Heb. b'ērēh which everywhere in the O. T. means covenant and covenant only. This argument from Septuagintal usage is immensely strengthened by observing along what a highway of Divine dealing the word diathēkē passes into the N. T. Let us look at these two points in succession. That "covenant" is the meaning of b'ērēh is sufficiently attested by the fact that the Oxford "Gesenius" assigns to it no other. If, however, we pass from lexical authority to actual usage, we discover the most abundant and varied evidence that "covenant" is indeed the one meaning of b'ērēh. It is a word in common use to denote all sorts of covenants between all sorts of persons: e.g. between Abraham and Amosites (Gen. xiv. 13), Jacob and Laban (xxxi. 44), Joshua and Gibeonites (Jos. ix. 6-16), Solomon and Hiram (1 K. v. 12)—to instance only a few examples out of many. In some cases, moreover, there is such a passing from the human to the divine, or from the divine to the human, as to fix the sense in the higher application by the undeniable force of the lower reference: "I will never break my covenant (b'ērēh, di thē ē) with you; and ye shall make no covenant (b'ērēh, diathēkē) with the inhabitants of this land" (Jdg. ii. 1, 2). And it should be observed that never once, as between man and man, does b'ērēh mean a "testament" or "will," to come into force when the testator is dead. Advancing now to the second point. The word diathēkē first appears in the N. T. over the Lord's table, from the lips of the Lord himself: "This is my blood of the diathēkē," (Mt. xxvi. 28; Mk. xiv. 24); The words "blood of the diathēkē" are from Exo. xxiv. 8; from which passage we learn that there was a diathēkē entered into at Sinai—was it a "testament" or a "covenant"? According to Lu. xxii. 20 and 1 Co. xi. 25, the word "new" was prefixed to diathēkē; and this at once sends us to Jer. xxxi. 31, where old and new are brought into contrast (cp. He. viii. 13). This then is the highway by which the word diathēkē comes into our Christian Scriptures—from Moses by way of Jeremiah into the upper room at Jerusalem. Under these circumstances it is confidently submitted that the same meaning must hold good throughout: if it was a "testament" at the Last Supper, then it must have been a "testament" in Jeremiah, and a "testament" in Exodus—which even the A. V. does not affirm; whereas, working in the opposite direction, if it was a "covenant" in Exodus and a "covenant" in Jeremiah, as even the A. V. has it, then the word must have meant "covenant" and not "testament" on the lips of our Lord and in the letter of his Apostle. It is granted that diathēkē in the classics sometimes means "will," but heathen writings can be of no avail to darken the line of light which shines through our sacred classics. The only legitimate doubt is whether the writer to the Hebrews does or does not for just a moment (chap. ix. 16, 17) step aside from the sacred usage to the profane. Even if he does, it is only for a moment; it being clear, for reasons given above, that the word "covenant" certainly ought to stand in verses 16 and 20. In this N. T. the one word has been carried through the whole passage, not even excepting verses 16 and 17; since it was felt, that it may have been assumed by the sacred writer that no covenant between man and man was at any time regarded as final and binding until in some way a solemnising death had been interposed; not the actual death, of course, of the covenanting parties, but a representative death: as if to proclaim once for all that each party was as good as dead to any further change of mind, and as if to invoke the penalty of death on the violator of the compact. There was this further apprehension also: that even as between God and man, it may have been a part of the Divine condescension to freely accept the suggestion that the ever-Living One could as soon die as break his word. This is ground upon which the reverent mind would fain tread with the utmost caution; but when once the horror of a great darkness has come upon us for our sins, the stricken soul may be glad to see in the smoking hearth and torch of fire by which the patriarch Abraham was conducted into covenant relationship with God an impressive symbol of the Mystery of the Cross. As surely as God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself (2 Co. v. 19), so surely does God himself lead the way into an abiding covenant of life and peace. Will the reader, before altogether declining this suggestion, very carefully consider the following three passages: namely Gen. xv. 7-21; Jer. xxxiv. 18, 19; and Heb. xiii. 20, 21. In any case, the foregoing considerations have influenced the present translator in declining to think it likely that the eloquent writer to the Hebrews would suddenly start aside from the sacred associations of the ancient Divine Covenants to strengthen his argument by an altogether unlooked-for and rather inconsequent allusion to ordinary testamentary dispositions. So much towards the settlement of the correct rendering. Once that is settled, there remains scope for the exercise of sweet reasonableness; since, even among men, contracts are entered into with varying degrees of freedom. There may be, and often is, more authority to impose terms on the one side than there is liberty on the other to decline them; and yet the advantages of a truly covenanting transaction may by no means be lost.

DEMON.

Without entering upon the much-debated question as to who or what the demons of the N. T. were, the following points, if carefully observed, may prepare the reader for fuller investigation: first that demons are ranged under Satan as their ruler (Mt. xii. 24-28); second that they, or some of them, were "impure" (Mk. iii. 30; v. 8; Lu. iv. 33); third that they had an earlier perception of the truth that Jesus was the Son of God than had the men around him (Mk. i. 24; Lu. viii. 28); fourth that they had a dread of torment and a desire to avoid premature consignment thereto (Mt. viii. 29); fifth that they shrank from the "abyss" (Lu. viii. 31; see above, "Abyss"); sixth that demon worship is noted as a fact in the Holy Scriptures (1 Co. x. 20; Rev. ix. 20); seventh that their knowledge of God causes them to "shudder" (Jas. ii. 19); and eighth that the Apostle Paul (in 1 Tim. iv. 1-5), makes a remarkable allusion to them, as the authors of seductive teaching, in which passage it is clear from the Greek that they are the demons who speak falsely, are cauterised in their own consciences, forbid to marry, etc. Before dismissing this phase of the question, it should be observed in the following O. T. passages the word "demon" should appear: Lev. xvii. 7; Deut. xxxii. 17; 2 Ch. xi. 15; Ps. cvi. 37. At the same time it is right to remember the latitude with which the word was employed among heathen nations, among whom "demons" were sometimes regarded as deities not necessarily evil; else we may fail to see that the Apostle Paul was far from needlessly offending the Athenians, whom, of course, he wished to conciliate (Ac. xvii. 22).—In this version demons are never termed "devils."

EVIL ONE.

The Greek ponērou may be either masculine or neuter; and therefore mean either "evil one" or "evil." But, says Trench (Parables, p. 468), "the analogy of Mat. xiii. 19, 39; Ep. vi. 16; 2 Thess. iii. 3 would lead us to translate in the Lord's prayer ponērou as a masculine. It was always so interpreted in the Greek Church."

GEHENNA.

This word occurs only in the following places in the New Testament: Mt. v. 22, 29, 30; x. 28; xviii. 9; xxiii. 15, 33; Mk. ix. 43, 45, 47; Lu. xii. 5; Ja. iii. 6. The word itself seems to have been formed by abbreviation from the Hebrew phrase for "the valley of the son or sons of Hinnom" gēy ben (b'ne) hinnom; then "valley of Hinnom," gēy hinnom; and so, at length, simply, ge-henna: Jer. vii. 32; 2 K. xxiii. 10; Ja. xv. 8. Hinnom, says Dr. Davies (Heb. Lex.), is "probably the proper name masculine of the town to whom the valley on the south side of Jerusalem once belonged, where children were sacrificed to Moloch." Whether the N. T. use of the word does not point to something beyond the present life, must be left to the solemn consideration of the student. It would seem evident, in the N. T. at least, that a marked distinction exists between hades and gehenna; but whether the O. T. notion of "the lowest hades" did or did not approximate to the N. T. conception of gehenna, might perhaps be worthy of consideration.

GLAD-MESSAGE.

Or "good news," "joyful-tidings"; but no English word, single or compound, seems equal to the beautiful Greek word euangelion. "Glad-message" suits well the appointment of messengers (Mk. xvi. 15; Ro. x. 15); the notion of a trust (Gal. ii. 7; 1 Tim. i. 11); the purpose of a witness (Mt. xxiv. 14); and the claim for submission (Ro. x. 16; 1 P. iv. 17). But in teaching and preaching, synonyms may be effectively interchanged. Euangelion in the N. T. deals with: (1) the kingdom (Mt. iv. 23; ix. 35; xxiv. 14; Mk. i. 14, 15; Lu. iv. 43; viii. 1; xvi. 16; Ac. viii. 12, cp. xx. 25);—(2) "Jesus Christ" (Mk. i. 1; Lu. ii. 10; Ac. v. 42; viii. 12, 35; xi. 20; Ro. i. 9; 1 Co. ix. 12; 2 Co. ii. 12; Gal. i. 7, 16; Eph. iii. 8; Ph. i. 27; 1 Th. iii. 2; 2 Th. i. 8); (3) "God" (Ro. i. 1; xv. 16; 2 Co. xi. 7);—(4) "the favour of God" (Ac. xx. 24);—(5) "the glory of God" (2 Co. iv. 4; 1 Tim. i. 11); (6) "peace" (Ac. x. 36; Eph. ii. 17; vi. 15);—(7) "salvation" (Eph. i. 13); (8) "the word" (Ac. viii. 4);—(9) "the faith" (Gal. i. 23). It is described as a "great joy" (Lu. ii. 10); and—either the general message, or a special one for a crisis—as "age-abiding" (Rev. xiv. 6). We also read of the "word" (Ac. xv. 7), the "hope" (Col. i. 23), the "truth" (Gal. ii. 14), the "readiness" (Eph. vi. 15), and the "sacred secret" (Eph. vi. 19) of the glad-message; and the Apostle Paul speaks of "my glad-message" (Ro. ii. 16; xvi. 25; 2 Tim. ii. 8), and of "our glad-message" (1 Th. i. 5; 2 Th. ii. 14). The word in the titles to the four evangelical narratives is understood to be traditional, the most ancient copies having simply "According to Matthew," etc.; at the same time there is much force in the observation of Westcott and Hort (who head each narrative in the manner just described—KATA MATTHAION, etc.—but place the one word EUANGELION on a preliminary page by itself) that "In prefixing the name EUANGELION in the singular to the quarter-nation of 'Gospels,' we have wished to supply the antecedent which alone gives an adequate sense to the preposition KATA ["according to"] in the several titles." Intro. p. 231.

HADES.

This word occurs ten times in the N. T.; viz., Mt. xi. 23; xvi. 18; Lu. x. 15; xvi. 23; Ac. ii. 27, 31; Rev. i. 18; v. 8; x. 13, 14. It is the almost uniform Septuagint rendering of the Hebrew sheol, which is found sixty-five times in the O. T. In order to form proper Biblical ideas of Hades it is plainly important that all the Scriptures on the subject should be considered; and it is hoped that THE EMPHASIS BIBLE will materially assist in the prosecution of the enquiry,—especially by its uniform rendering of sheol throughout the O. T. by the term "hades," which may be regarded as sufficiently naturalised in the English language for this purpose. Whether the O. T. conception of sheol is the same as the N. T. conception of hades, the reader can judge for himself; whether even the O. T. characterisation of hades or sheol is uniformly consistent with itself,—of this also the student can now form his own opinion. Let him only trace the word "hades" throughout, from Genesis to Revelation, and the whole matter will be before him; because, although there may be other words (such as "soul," "death," "grave," etc.) which will have something to say on the subject, yet these other words will be sure to come well into view in the long line of contexts which will be found clustering about the one word "hades."

IMMERSION.

Early in life the translator became convinced that the meaning of the Greek verb baptizein is "to immerse." He accordingly, in the first and second editions of this work, so rendered the word. Having met with nothing during the past twenty years to convict him of error in the course he then took, nothing is left for him but to continue the same rendering. Without entering upon the usual arguments employed by immersionists, he may mention, as an interesting fact, that the translators of the Hebrew version published by the Trinitarian Bible Society, have rendered baptizein by the Hebrew word tsal, which it is well-known signifies "to dip." Indeed the Oxford Gesenius, edited by Drs. Driver, Briggs and Brown, assigns to that word no other meaning than "dip" and "dye"; and as the latter has no relevancy to the ordinance instituted by Christ, we may take it as indisputable that the Trinitarian Bible Society, through means of this version, plainly teaches all converts from Judaism to Christianity that the duty of such Israelites as believe Jesus to be the promised Messiah, is to be immersed into Him as their new leader. Plainly what is true for Jew is true also for Gentile.

JESUS.

It may be worth knowing that the J of this name is undoubtedly due to a combination of "Jehovah" with "salvation." "Yah is help," tersely says Dr. Davies, in explanation of the O. T. form of the same name (J=Y= Yah=Yahweh=Jehovah). Alone, this proves nothing, since it cannot mean that Joshua was a divine person; but it is competent to the sacred story to invest the name with a profounder significance than it ever had before the advent of the Messiah (Ph. Nu. xiii. 8, 16; Exo. xvii. 9; He. iv. 8; Mt. i. 21; Ph. ii. 9, 10).

JUDGE.

The biblical terms for "judge" and "judgment" become immensely more interesting when widened out to include the ideas, on the one hand, of vindicating the wronged, and on the other, of ruling in general.

KINGDOM.

The history of the King, is to a large extent the history of the Kingdom: promised, presented, rejected, taken into heaven and reserved there to await a more glorious revelation (cp. Is. ix. 6, 7; Mt. iii. 2; iv. 17; xxi. 43; Lu. xix. 11-27; 2 Tim. iv. 1; Rev. vii. 14; xix. 16).

KNOW.

Important shades of meaning are: "get to know" (Jn. xvii. 3, 7, 8, 25), "understand" (1 Jn. ii. 3, 13; iv. 16; v. 20), and "approve," "acknowledge," (Ps. i. 6; Mt. vii. 23; Ro. vii. 23; 2 Tim. ii. 19).

MAMMON.

It is well-known that the word "mammon" denotes the Syrian god of riches. As that familiar term has practically become fossilised, and its application to deified wealth has become so blunted as to be scarcely felt, it has been deemed better to use, instead, the word Riches with a capital, so restoring to the Master's warning something of the force he intended it to wield. The word "mammon" occurs in the following places only: Mt. vi. 24; Lu. xvi. 9, 11, 13.

MARK, END OF THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO.

After a lengthened examination of the evidence, internal, intrinsic and transcriptional, Westcott and Hort conclude that "there is . . . no difficulty . . . in supposing (1) that the true intended continuation of vv. 1-8 either was very early lost by the detachment of a leaf or was never written down; and (2) that a scribe or editor, unwilling to change the words of the text before him or to add words of his own, was willing to furnish the Gospel with what seemed a worthy conclusion by incorporating with it unchanged a narrative of Christ's appearances after the Resurrection which he found in some secondary record then surviving from a preceding generation. If these suppositions are made, the whole tenor of the evidence becomes clear and harmonious. Every other view is, we believe, untenable. . . . It (the addition, vv. 9-20) manifestly cannot claim any apostolic authority; but is doubtless founded on some tradition of the apostolic age." (Appendix to Introduction, p. 51.)

MESSENGER.

This is confessedly the meaning of the Greek word angelos, as it is also of the corresponding Hebrew term malak. When it was that either word was applied to a heavenly messenger and when to an earthly, had always to be learned from context and circumstance, never from the mere word; although perhaps, here and there, a slight presumption may be inferred in favour of a heavenly errand-bearer. How slight that presumption is, may be inferred from a glance at the use of the words. Angelos in the N. T. is applied indifferently to John the Immerser (Mt. xii. 40; Mk. i. 2; Lu. vii. 27), to John's disciples (Lu. vii. 24), to Jesus' disciples (Lu. ix. 52), to the thorn in the flesh (2 Co. xii. 7), and to the Hebrew spies (Ja. ii. 25). In all these examples the original word is angelos. The like use of the Hebrew word malak may be illustrated by a single instance. From Gen. xxxiii. 1-3, we learn that, at about the same time that God sent "messengers" to meet Jacob, Jacob sent "messengers" to meet Esau: the simplicity of the grand old history knew nothing of the device of applying a sacred term to God's messengers and a common one to Jacob's; it termed both alike malakim (as the Septuagint, after it, termed both alike angelos), and left the reader to judge of the rest. To follow this style may cause temporary inconvenience, but will bring gain in the end,—by fixing the mind the more intently upon the errand-work of the messengers of heaven; also by rousing it to perceive that God has other heavenly servants than his "messengers," even those his attendants, whose peculiar business it is to "stand and wait," as Ps. ciii. 20, 21 naturally suggests. There are, indeed, still other lessons which the rightful insistence on the word "messenger" is fitted to impart; such as that "the world," as now constituted, includes "both messengers and men" (1 Co. iv. 9), and that the coming habitable earth will not be, as the earth now is, subject unto messengers, but unto man (He. ii. 5, 6 ff.), as though man's minority, during which he is subject to beings of a foreign race, were to be superseded by his majority, which is to be spent here, in this home, divinely given to him as his inheritance.

MYSTERY. See SACRED SECRET.

PRESENCE.

In this edition the word parousia is uniformly rendered "presence" ("coming," as a representative of this word, being set aside). The original term occurs twenty-four times in the N. T., viz.: Mt. xxiv. 3, 27, 37, 39; 1 Co. xv. 23; xvi. 17; 2 Co. vii. 6, 7; x. 10; Ph. i. 26; ii. 12; 1 Th. ii. 19; iii. 13; iv. 15; v. 23; 2 Th. ii. 1, 8, 9; Ja. v. 7, 8; 2 P. i. 16; iii. 4, 12 and 1 Jn. ii. 28. The sense of "presence" is so plainly shown by the contrast with "absence" (implied in 2 Co. x. 10, and expressed in Ph. ii. 12) that the question naturally arises,—Why not always so render it? The more so, inasmuch as there is in 2 P. i. 16 also, a peculiar fitness in our English word "presence." This passage, it will be remembered, relates to our Lord's transformation upon the Mount. The wonderful manifestation there made was display and sample of "presence" rather than of "coming." The Lord was already there; and, being there, he was transformed (cp. Mt. xvii. 2, n.) and the "majesty" of his glorified person was then disclosed. His bodily "presence" was one which implied and exerted "power"; so that "power and presence" go excellently well together—the "power" befitting such a "presence"; and the three favoured disciples were at one and the same moment witnesses of both. The difficulty expressed in the notes to the second edition of this N. T. in the way of so yielding to this weight of evidence as to render parousia always by "presence," lay in the seeming incongruity of regarding "presence" as an event which would happen at a particular time and which would fall into rank as one of a series of events, as 1 Co. xv. 23, especially appeared to require. The translator still feels the force of this objection, but is withdrawn from taking his stand upon it any longer by the reflection that, after all, the difficulty may be imaginary. The parousia, in any case, is still in the future, and may therefore be enshrouded in a measure of obscurity which only fulfilment can clear away; it may, in fine, be both a period,—more or less extended, during which certain things shall happen,—and an event, coming on and passing away as one of a series of divine interpositions. Christ is raised as a firstfruit—that is one event; He returns and vouchsafes his "presence," during which he raises his own—that is another event, however large and prolonged; and finally comes another cluster of events constituting "the end." Hence, after all, "presence" may be the most widely and permanently satisfying translation of the looked-for parousia of the Son of Man.

REST. See SABBATH.

SABBATH.

Not to enter upon the larger questions which concern the Sabbath or the Lord's Day, a few critical remarks on the word sabbath as it appears in the N. T. may be useful. First, this word seems to be sometimes an appellative and sometimes a proper name ("day of rest," Sabbath). Second, the term sabbath is, in several texts, used in the plural in the Greek, where nevertheless it is evident that only one particular day is intended. Under this head, the following texts are worthy of note: Mt. xii. 1, 11; Mk. i. 21; ii. 23; iii. 2; Lu. iv. 16; xiii. 10; Ac. xiii. 14; xvi. 13. In all these passages the word in the original is in the plural, and yet it is plain that a particular, individual day is intended. Nor is there anything surprising in this; for "the Hebrew at times uses plural forms where other languages employ the singular." (For this, see Gesenius by Davies, p. 243.) Third, the word sabbath is extended to signify "week." Even in this there is nothing very far-fetched; since the transition from the idea of "rest" to that of "a rest-bounded period of seven days" is a comparatively natural one. Still the question must be considered mainly as one of fact; although, even so, more demonstrative evidence should not be demanded than the nature of the case admits of; and it often suffices to attach a new meaning to a word, that the ordinary application of it is repeatedly seen to be unnatural, illogical, bewildering, or absurd. Hence the current opinion is probably correct that finds in Lu. xviii. 12, the meaning "I fast twice in the week," notwithstanding that the word for "week" is here sabbaton in the singular; since it would appear a very paltry boast to say, "I fast twice on the sabbath" when anyone (with more pleasantry than pharisaism) might reply, "I fast three times." To this example of sabbaton in the singular, used in the sense of "week," may now be added 1 Co. xvi. 2, where not only Westcott and Hort, but the entire board of Revisers find the word in the singular number; and it would seem enough simply to ask the question, Is it credible that the Apostle Paul meant to enjoin on the assemblies of Galatia and on that of Corinth to lay by on "the first [hour] of sabbath" without so much as specifying that it was the first hour of the day that he intended? If not, and if "first day of the day" is impossible, what is left but to assume that he meant "first [day] of the week"? "Week" also approves itself in Mt. xxviii. 1; Mk. xvi. 2; Lu. xxiv. 1; Jn. xx. 1, 19; Ac. xx. 7. Does the word in the plural, as it undoubtedly is here, mean "week" or does it allude to a cluster of extraordinary sabbath days on the first of which Jesus arose? There is nothing unnatural in supposing the meaning to be "week"; for, as we have seen: (a) the word in the plural form may convey a singular idea; (b) the word in the singular is twice used in the sense of week. Now let us test the two words, "sabbaths" and "week": "Late in the sabbaths, as it was on the point of dawning into the first of the sabbaths." Will that stand? Now try "week": "Late in the week, as it was on the point of dawning into the first of the week." Here everything is harmonious. With the Hebrews the sabbath closed the week. Late on the sabbath would be late in the week, and the transition is natural from the end of one week to the beginning of the next. Hence the correct rendering here is "week."

SACRED SECRET.

We have no secrets to hide from the uninitiated. The "sacred secret" of this dispensation has been divulged (Eph. iii. 3-9) and should be blazed abroad (Ro. xvi. 25, 26; Eph. vi. 19); but yet is of a nature unlikely to interest any who are careless of God's dispensational ways; and of this the Greek mysterion aptly reminds us (cp. "Age" above, and 2 Th. ii. 7, n.).

SHEPHERD.

The analogy is obvious between tending a flock and ruling a kingdom; but note, that protecting a flock often calls for force against assailants (cp. 2 S. v. 2; 1 Ch. xi. 2; Ps. xciii. 1; Is. xl. 11; Eze. xxxiv., xxxvii. 24; Mt. ii. 6; Rev. ii. 27; vii. 17).

SHRINE. See TEMPLE.

SOUL.

One cannot but regret the impossibility of making our English word "soul" express just as much as is conveyed by the Greek word psychê and the Hebrew word nephesh. The translator may confess that, after a determined endeavour to render the latter term uniformly "soul" throughout the O. T., he was reluctantly constrained to give up the attempt. When, in the book of Esther, it came in at the climax that the Jews were permitted "to stand for their soul (nephesh)"—Est. viii. 11, this example proved to be the turning of the scale, and "life" was promptly substituted. It certainly may be worth enquiry, how it comes about that the sacred originals so freely use a concrete word where we sorely feel our need of employing our abstract term "life"; and that this is so, notwithstanding the existence of chayah in the Hebrew and zoe in the Greek, more exactly answering (as it might have seemed) to the English word "life." But the fact of stubborn diversity of usage above indicated remains, and it appears necessary to allow "life" to stand in a respectable minority of instances for nephesh and psychê. In this edition, therefore, "life" has been admitted into a certain class of passages, of which Mt. xvi. 25, 26 may be named as an example.

SOUL, MAN OF; BODY OF THE.

Notwithstanding what has been said above, "soul" of course remains our leading representative of psychê; and we greatly need an adjective which holds the same relation to "soul" as "spiritual" holds to "spirit." "Natural" is evidently not the exact word. We might of course say "psychical man" and "psychical body," in 1 Co. ii. 14, and xv. 44, 46, if we were in the habit of using "psychê" everywhere instead of "soul." As that is not the case, and as "soulical" has no recognised place in the English language, it seems to the translator, after much thought upon the subject, that the simple circumlocutions placed at the head of this note may prove a not unhappy solution of the difficulty. The Greek adjective psychikos, here discussed, occurs, in the N. T., only in 1 Co. ii. 14; xv. 44, 46; Ja. iii. 15 and Jude 19.

SPIRIT, PERSONALITY OF THE HOLY.

The reader is requested to observe that the very literal rendering, "Holy Spirit" (with no "the" prefixed—rather frequent in the "Acts") is in no sense due to any doubt of "the personality of the Holy Spirit." The translator simply declines to admit that the idea of personality is so dominating and exhaustive as to require, by a species of English forcing, to be kept ever to the front. Over and above those precious conceptions which by consent are couched under the word "person," there are others (scarcely less important), of pervasive influence, of secret, subtle, interpenetrating and embracing energy, which by us in our weakness are sometimes more easily caught when the notion of personality is, for the time, in abeyance. Moreover, as the authors of The Unseen Universe well say (p. 173, third edition): "It ought to be remembered that here the word person does not mean the same thing as it does when applied to ourselves, but only denotes some distinction that may be regarded as best expressed by this word. Our idea of person or individual is derived solely from our experience of that position which we occupy in the universe."

SPIRIT VERSUS "GHOST."

It is satisfactory to find The Revised English Bible (Eyre & Spottiswoode) substituting the word "Spirit" for the venerable but objectionable word "Ghost." Objectionable, certainly, the latter is; notwithstanding that, in many minds, it is clustered about with sacred associations, and is by some strangely regarded as a very bulwark of orthodoxy. The primary objection to it ranges high above any question of taste; and is derived from the circumstance that it makes, in English, an artificial, unfounded distinction, which separates passages which ought to be closely linked together by uniformity of rendering. For example, we have, in the public Versions of 2 Co. xiii. 14 "the communion of the Holy Ghost;" but, in Phi. ii. 1, the "fellowship of the Spirit," a double break, it will be observed, jerking the reader from "communion" to "fellowship," and from "Ghost" to "Spirit," although in the Greek the one passage is the very echo of the other. And this brings us to a subordinate, though very weighty, objection to "Ghost," namely, the essential incongruity of the word at this time of day. For, mark: should anyone think to restore the broken link by a reverse movement, that is to say, by extending Ghost to both passages ("If there be, therefore, any fellowship of the Ghost"), would he not be instantly beaten back by a general cry of dismay? It remains to add this only: Given, devout persons who for years have intelligently preferred and used "Spirit," and in them a strong revulsion of feeling unites with a clear decision of judgment to decline, as bordering on profanity, any voluntary application of the term "Ghost" to the mighty and gracious Spirit of the Living God.

TEMPLE.

The attempt has here been made to distinguish between hieron (temple, inclusive of courts, precincts) and naos, the inner building, marking the latter by a capital initial (Mt. xxiii. 16-21, 35) or rendering it "shrine" (Jn. ii. 19; 1 Co. iii. 16; vi. 19) and "sanctuary" (Rev. iii. 12; xi. 1, 2; xiv. xvi.; xxi. 22).

TENT.

There is a simple beauty in the word "tent" which "tabernacle," notwithstanding its loftier sound, does not possess; and if the Heb. mishkân be rendered "habitation," there is neither need nor ground for further distinction.

TORCH.

"The true Hindu way of lighting up is by torches held by men, who feed the flame from a sort of bottle constructed for the purpose."—Elphinstone, quoted by Trench. (Cp. Jdg. vii. 16, 20; xv. 4, 5; Job xli. 19.)

VIRGINITY.

The example of the translator of an excellent version published by Morrish (understood to have been the late J. N. Darby) has emboldened the present translator to adopt "virginity" in 1 Co. vii. 36-38. The immense relief from difficulty thus obtained, and the fact that the word parthenos is "sometimes masculine, an unmarried youth" (Liddell and Scott), have been accepted as a justification of this rendering.
